Providing tips and strategies for generating and maintaining member interest in the goals and mission of your organization.

OPEN TO ALL K-STATE STUDENTS!

Questions? Call 532-6541

cats in the hall

COURTESY PHOTO

Steve Fritz runs the 100-meter dash during the decathlon competition in the 1996 Olympic Games in Atlanta. Fritz is one of seven former K-State athletes who will be inducted into the K-State Hall of Fame this fall.

Steve Fritz runs the 1500 meters during the decathlon competition in the 1996 Olympic Games in Atlanta.

COURTESY PHOTO

7 invited into K-State hall of fame

By SAM STIERS
Kansas State Collegian

Seven people will be inducted into the K-State Athletic Hall of Fame during an 8:30 p.m. ceremony Oct. 13 at the K-State Student Union.

Inductees in this year's class include Steve Fritz, Frank Groves, George Maddox, Teri Anderson, Gary Spani, Vince Gibson and Bob Snell.

Fritz, K-State assistant track and field coach, said being from Kansas made his selection very special.

"This has to be the biggest honor I've ever received," he said. "I've been lucky to be part of some pretty neat things, but to be chosen by an outside group, to be put in the company of the people who've already been inducted, is pretty amazing."

Fritz is probably best known for finishing fourth in the decathlon during the 1996 Olympics, and his athletic career at K-State is equally impressive. He has the Cats' decathlon record with 7,924 points, and won the event in 1989 and 1990 at the Big 8 Conference Championships. He earned All-America status in 1989 and 1990.

Fritz also lettered twice in basketball and said his favorite K-State memory came not in track and field, but on the hardwood court while playing for the Cats.

"When I played basketball here, we were able to beat KU," Fritz said. "That was the biggest thing that stands out to me. It was huge, especially because I grew up just an hour from here."

Sports Information Director Doug Dull is the chairman of the nominating and selection committees for the K-State Athletic Hall of Fame. He said the individuals inducted are honored for their achievements and the prestige that they have brought to K-State.

"We're thrilled about the current class," Dull said. "They have to receive 3/4 vote to get in, and they all deserve it."

A brief sketch of the remaining six inductees' careers at K-State:

■ Groves (1935-37) played basketball at K-State and was the second All-American ever to play for the Cats. He was the first three-time all-conference men's basketball selection in Wildcat history, earning the honor in 1935, 1936 and 1937.

■ Maddox (1932-34) lettered for three seasons as a tackle on the football team. He captained the Cats to a 7-2-1 record in 1934, as K-State won the Big 6 championship. Maddox is one of 13 first team All-America selections at K-State.

■ Anderson (1972-76) has the distinction of being K-State's first woman All-American in track and field. She is the head coach for Penn State's women's track and field team.

■ Spani (1974-77) was a two-time All-American, lettering in football for four seasons at K-State. Spani played linebacker and holds school records for tackles in a season (178) and a career (543). He was voted the Cats team MVP in both 1976 and 1977.

■ Gibson (1967-74) was a former Wildcat football coach and sits third on the all-time victory list at K-State. Gibson finished his career with a 33-52 record.

■ Snell (1975-99) was K-State's faculty athletic representative for 25 years, and was the first chair of the Intercollegiate Athletic Council.

Cocktails will be served at 6 p.m., followed by a 7 p.m. dinner prior to the induction ceremony. Tickets to the dinner cost $75 and can be purchased by calling the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics at 532-6912. The inductees also will be honored at a halftime ceremony, Oct. 14, during the K-State-Oklahoma football game.

Indiana coach, Chiefs' running attack among top nuggets from week in sports

RICHARD SMITH

Oh, there simply are too many sports nuggets out there this week for me to limit myself to only one. Sure, one of the responsibilities of good sports column writing is to pick one topic and expound upon it.

But, on the other hand, weaseling out of responsibility is an important skill for me to master as well. After all, it's what separates us from the animals. Well, except the weasel.

So, I now pass on the headaches to my editors, who have to deal with this year's first edition of Loosely Connected Thoughts.

■ Speaking of weasels, did you hear about Bobby Knight? Yep, the General has savagely beaten his last folding chair, and cursed at his last elderly secretary. Now that Indiana University has fired him, Knight will have time to devote to his true passions: attending daily Mass, volunteering for the Big Brothers and Big Sisters of America Inc. and doing environmental work for Greenpeace.

OK, seriously. We all hate Bob Knight. Everyone who's not an IU fan does. There was no question his boorish antics were going to get him canned sooner or later — I just didn't expect it to be so soon. Now the new question is, will Knight coach again?

The answer: of course. Yes, Knight is a PR liability that would make even Firestone cringe, but he's a winner. In the business of sports, often that's all that matters. Knight might have to serve a sort of penance by working his way back up through a small college school, but he'll be back in the saddle again soon. And we'll again have a convenient outlet for our hate. So it's a win-win situation, sort of.

■ Speaking of win-win, the Chiefs haven't accomplished either in their first two games of the season. Unlike most Chiefs fans, I was happy with a relatively close loss to Indianapolis (arguably the conference's best team) in week one. But after Sunday's 17-14 overtime loss to the Tennessee Titans, I'm getting frustrated with the Chiefs earlier than usual this season.

OK, the Chiefs want to run the ball. I think we've all figured that one out now. I would be all for that strategy if Kansas City were even remotely effective at doing it. But the problem with this "running" thing is that the Chiefs don't have any good "running" backs. Tony Richardson isn't one. Mike Cloud? Nope, sorry. Frank Moreau? Never mind — you probably don't even know who he is.

Given this setup, is calling four consecutive runs with first-and-goal at the 5 an advisable strategy?

Probably not.

Are repeated running plays in third-and-long situations going to strike fear into opponents' hearts or produce first downs? They haven't so far.

Regardless of what type of offense they wish to have, the Chiefs' coaches have to own up to the fact that it's not happening. The defense has played lights-out in the first two weeks and still the team is 0-2. Offensive coordinator Jimmy Raye needs to open up the offense, or else he needs to be fired, but the conservative play-calling has to go if the Chiefs want any chance of contending for the playoffs.

■ Speaking of offense, if Chris Simms starts another game for the Texas Longhorns this season, I personally will be offended. I probably will punch Mack Brown in the head, in fact.

Not that I especially want to see Texas do well, but it was asinine (and unfair) of Brown to replace Applewhite, the returning co-Big 12 player of the year, with super-sophomore Simms. And Simms proved it in his start against mighty Louisiana-LaFayette on Saturday. Under him, the offense did absolutely nothing, and Simms' interception helped the mighty Ragin' Cajuns rage out to a 10-point lead.

Applewhite quickly replaced him and played flawlessly in leading the Horns to 45 unanswered points. The moral of the story? Applewhite should be the starter. Period. Yet, Mack Brown still seems so starry-eyed and in love with Simms, he can't put his foot down. Brown needs to do the smart thing and put a rest to the controversy he's created before it ruins Texas' chances in the Big 12.

■ Speaking of chances in the Big 12, Colorado might be 0-2, but it will be dangerous when league play rolls around. The Buffs are the only conference team with a truly challenging non-conference schedule (Colorado State, USC, Washington), and it will make them a better team than their record might reflect.

I've said it before, and I'll say it again — K-State fans, you should be at least as concerned about the Cats' trip to Boulder in three weeks as you are about the Nebraska game. CU is good, and they've always given K-State fits — even the past couple of seasons when the Buffs have been down.

Now, K-State has to try to knock them off in Boulder.

I won't make any bold predictions until I've seen each team play a couple more times, but keep your eyes on that matchup.

It could wind up making or breaking the Wildcats' season.

Richard is a senior in marketing and electronic journalism. You can e-mail him at rsmith@collegianmail.com.

Freshman's choices lead to golf greens at K-State

By NICK BRATKOVIC
Kansas State Collegian

Choosing between hockey and golf and between Canada and the United States were just some of the decisions K-State freshman golfer Christine Boucher had to make leading to her arrival in Manhattan.

A native of Canada, Boucher said she always has loved to compete. As a child, she was an avid hockey player and often found herself crossing gender barriers.

"When I was very young, I played hockey with the guys," Boucher said. "I enjoyed the competition and the team. I was, like, the only girl, so there was a lot of competition."

Her hockey escapades lasted a few years, but Boucher said she still loves the game today, preferring to watch the sport as opposed to any other.

However, Boucher said she discovered golf at age 12. It began simply as a break from hockey, but it would cause her to give up the cold of the ice rinks for the green fairways and clubhouses.

In Boucher's case, concentrating on golf went beyond simply putting down the skates for a set of clubs. It also meant the sacrifice of leaving home and attending a golf-specific school in Canada, which had a heavy emphasis on the sport.

"The first time I played golf, it was just like in-between hockey, but then I went into that program, and golf has been my goal ever since," Boucher said. "Now, it is golf and school."

Boucher, who is majoring in sports psychology, said she doesn't regret her dedication to golf and that her the hard work has paid off in her improvement. Over the summer, Boucher won the Junior Western Open and, in doing so, broke another barrier.

"I am the first Canadian to win that tournament, so it was kind of exciting," she said.

Boucher said her one disappointment from the tournament was that her family was not there to watch her, but having fans from afar is something she has become accustomed to.

It is a mentality that has made her transition to K-State easier.

"I miss my family, my friends and all that, but I left home at age 12 to go into the golf program," Boucher said. "So, it is kind of the same thing. It's just further away."

The practice also has paid off for Boucher, who was one of five K-State golfers playing in this week's tournament in Lincoln, Neb.

K-State women's golf coach Kristi Knight said Boucher qualified by playing well in the teams qualifying tournament, and the freshman has been a valuable contributor in practice.

Teammate Miranda Smith said she agreed, and said Boucher is a nice addition to the program.

"She is incredible. Don't let her fool you. She is really good," Smith said. "We are so excited to have her."

Remaining football tickets for sale

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

A limited number of student season football tickets will go on sale at the Bramlage Coliseum Ticket Office at 8 a.m. today. Students who haven't purchased a student season ticket are eligible.

Students must have a current I.D. — one per student unless married (have proof of marriage). There are both General Admission and Reserved tickets available at $100 each. Also, a few General Admission with ICAT are available for $130. Ticket sales will be sold on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Cryptoquip & CROSSWORD presented by: JAVA 1219 Moro Aggieville (785) 587-8888

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 A Doe
5 Go after flies
9 Conk on the noggin
12 Author Haley
13 — Flynn Boyle
14 Ram's ma'am
15 Steel city
17 X rating?
18 Rice/John show
19 Sanctify
21 Telegram type
24 Blueprint
25 Sheltered
26 Arousing sorrow
30 Realty unit
31 Bed-frame parts
32 "— Little Spanish Town"
33 Vendor
35 Stagehand
36 Mimicked
37 Borscht base
38 City honcho
40 Any day now
42 Pitching stat
43 Engagement
48 Tin Man's need
49 Tend texts
50 Moth variety
51 Past of 7-Down
52 "Daktari" producer Ivan
53 Vortex

DOWN
1 Poke
2 Pub potation
3 Lepidopterist's item
4 "Waiting to —"
5 Coaster
6 That's a laugh!
7 Exist
8 Patronizes Vegas
9 Object of dread
10 Has bills
11 Nerd-pack contents
16 Perjure yourself
20 Restroom, for short
21 Tranquil
22 Medicinal plant
23 Breaches of faith
24 "Meet Joe Black" star
26 Pleased
27 Scooted
28 Monad
29 Enervates
31 Ice-cream alternative
34 Navy rank (Abbr.)
35 Mild
37 Halloween shout
38 Cat call
39 Sills solo
40 Mix
41 Doggie-bag fill
44 Conductor de Waart
45 Paul Newman movie
46 Besides
47 Do brickwork

Solution time: 25 mins.

Y	A	N	K	■	B	I	V	■	T	I	T	O
E	L	O	N	G	A	T	E	■	A	C	I	D
S	P	L	E	N	D	O	R	■	L	E	N	O
■	■	■	E	A	U	■	B	O	L	D	E	R
S	H	A	L	T	■	T	A	P	E	■	■	■
P	A	N	S	■	C	O	T	E	R	I	E	■
A	N	D	■	T	O	N	I	C	■	C	A	W
■	S	Y	N	O	N	Y	M	■	F	O	R	A
■	■	■	E	G	G	S	■	S	U	N	N	Y
C	R	E	A	S	E	■	D	O	N	■	■	■
H	O	L	T	■	S	Q	U	A	N	D	E	R
A	P	S	E	■	T	U	P	P	E	N	C	E
P	E	E	R	■	S	E	E	■	L	A	O	S

Yesterday's answer 9-12

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-12 CRYPTOQUIP

O MHQXRD MIRBIRD SRHSNR MIH FDR FZDFOX HZ FQOLFNG GHLRBOLRG ZRRN SRB-DOZORX.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: A REPORTER MIGHT GO TO AN ICE-CREAM SHOP SO HE CAN GET THE SCOOP.

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: M equals W

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2000 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

AROUND CAMPUS

WHO: Gina Kimble, Interim program adviser for Union Program Council

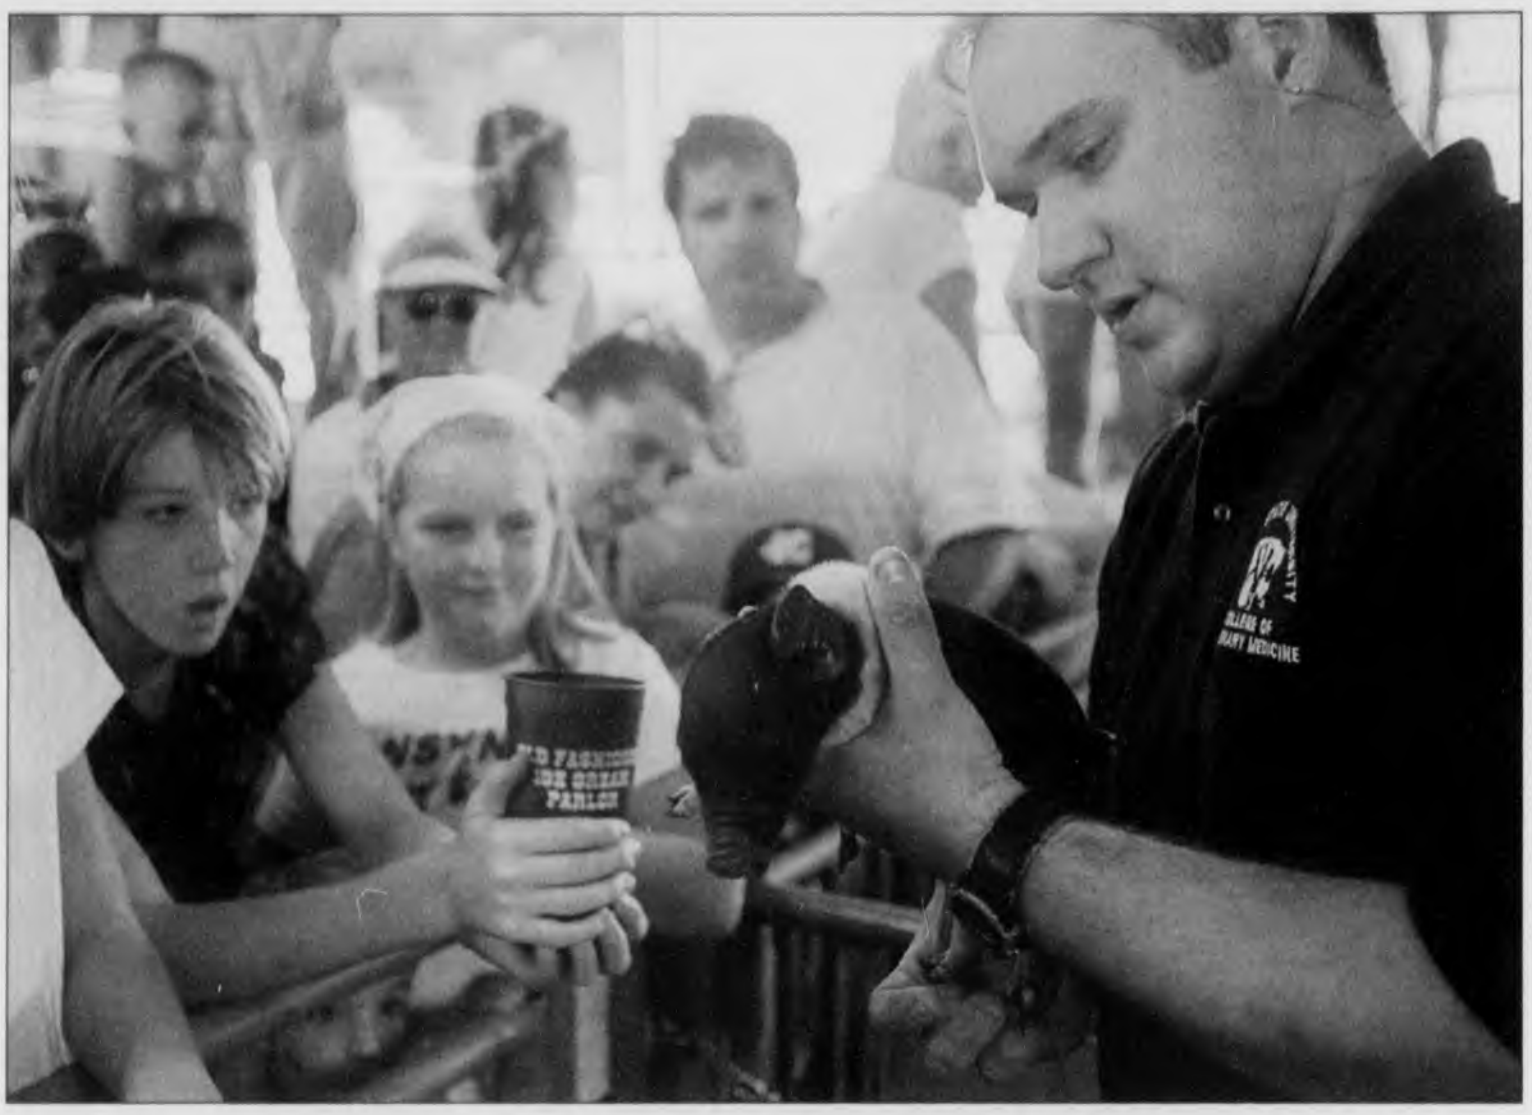
KIMBLE

Gina Kimble, interim program adviser for Union Program Council, can be found in the middle of campus activities.

Not only is she the adviser for Feature and Kaleidoscope films committees, the Multicultural Committee and the Eclectic Entertainment Committee, she also coordinates Family Day activities and summer programs.

Kimble said she became involved with UPC because of the opportunities for experience.

"I've gotten to know the campus community and how supportive the Union is for students and educational programs at K-State," she said.



Kimble, who graduated from Pittsburg State University, said she likes to spend time with friends and family and watch college football.

"Even though it's Division II, I love Pittsburg State football," she said. "I'm a die-hard alum."

If you have a suggestion for an interesting person to profile in brief, contact the arts and entertainment editor at arts@spub.ksu.edu.

STUDENTS GO HOG WILD FOR PIGLETS

Fairgoers witness births in display orchestrated by Vet-Med students

PHOTOS BY KAREN MIKOLS/Collegian

TOP: Bill Wood, senior in veterinary medicine, shows a newborn piglet to visitors at the Kansas State Fair on Saturday. A sow, which delivered 11 piglets in about three hours, was part of an annual demonstration by the College of Veterinary Medicine.
MIDDLE: Robert Dudley, senior in veterinary medicine, hoses off pregnant swine in the K-State College of Veterinary Medicine's Birthing Center at the Kansas State Fair.
BOTTOM LEFT: Rebekah Zwink, 5, Maxville, Kan., pets a chick that Becky Graf, senior in veterinary medicine, holds at the Kansas State Fair on Saturday. Along with live animals, there were x-rays for fairgoers to see, along with information about the veterinary program at K-State.

KANSAS State Fair
SEPTEMBER 8-17, 2000
HUTCHINSON

By KRISTEN DYMACEK
Kansas State Collegian

With almost 100 people watching, including several doctors and an extra push from the mother, the first of her 11 babies was born last weekend at the Kansas State Fair.

It took an additional two hours for the mother, a several-hundred pound sow, to have the other 10 babies.

The pig births were part of the K-State Veterinary Medicine Teaching Hospital and Birthing Center set up at the state fair this week in Hutchinson, Kan.

Becky Graf, senior in veterinary medicine, said the birthing center is a chance for fairgoers to see farm animals up close.

"We bring in different livestock that most people aren't used to seeing," Graf said. "Most people don't have an agricultural background, so they're lucky if they've ever touched an animal besides a dog or a cat."

The birthing center includes live cows, pigs and baby chickens, as well as animal photos, x-rays and displays.

Graf said seniors in the College of Veterinary Medicine are at the birthing center every day of the fair to answer questions as well as assist the animals with births.

"We get a lot of questions about how long they've been pregnant, where they're from and what happens to them next," she said.

The cows and pigs are on loan from local farms and brought to the fair.

"We try to make it so we get animals that are due around this week," Graf said. "Once the babies are born, we only let them stay a day."

Even though the veterinary students have a general idea of when the babies are due, Graf said each animal is different and there's no guarantee on an exact time they will be born.

Besides having the opportunity to watch births, she said visitors are able to see veterinarians in action.

"We do everything human doctors do. We just have many more species to deal with," Graf said. "It's more complex than what people realize."

Bill Wood, senior in veterinary medicine, said he agreed it was important for people to see the duties of veterinarians.

"It's nice for people to see some of the things we do," Wood said. "A lot of people don't know that K-State even has a vet school."

Ben Nessmith, senior in veterinary medicine, said another advantage of the center is that it offers the chance for visitors to see the positive aspects of agriculture.

"We want to provide simple education on how agricultural industry works," Nessmith said. "They can see that these animals are happy and are raised in a safe environment. We want them to understand that we provide good care."

Not only is the birthing center a good opportunity for visitor education, Wood said it also is a chance for the vet students to learn how to interact with the visitors.

"We spend a lot of time in school, up in lab, studying in books," he said. "But a lot of what we do is being able to relate to clients. Our job involves a lot of human interaction."

Graf said she enjoys the visitor interaction.

"It's really fun for us. It's exciting to talk to the public and tell them what we're doing," she said. "It also teaches me how to deal with the public and explain complicated, scientific things. This is really a big thing for us."

But it's not just a big event for the vet students. Jenni Guerrero, Topeka, said her family doesn't get the opportunity to see farm animals in the city.

"This is a great thing to visit," Guerrero said. "We don't get to see a lot of farm life, but we want our kids to see some of that."

Sam St. Peter, Wichita, said he never had seen animals give birth before he visited the birthing center.

"It was cool," the 12-year-old said. "I love baby pigs. They're my favorite."

Wood said that was the goal the vet students wanted to accomplish.

"We just want to expose them to things they may not have seen," he said. "The average person is never going to see this in a lifetime."

"Most people don't have an agricultural background, so they're lucky if they've ever touched an animal besides a dog or a cat."

Becky Graf, senior in veterinary medicine

THE GONGFARMER

BY RANDY REGIER

Monkey Boy

BY BRENT ENGSTROM

Tennis player adjusts to Kansas life, works to develop skills on, off court

By BRYAN MURPHY
Kansas State Collegian

MICHAEL YOUNG/Collegian

Paulina Castillejos, freshman in management information systems, works on homework during some of her spare time. Through Castillejos' first few weeks at K-State, she said she has found herself extremely busy between classes and tennis practice.

Language barriers and tennis are what freshman Paulina Castillejos has had time to worry about during her first few weeks at K-State.

Castillejos, freshman in management information systems and a native of Puebla, Mexico, said she has been through quite a bit in her first few weeks of class. She has been able to get a taste of Manhattan in a way that many students from Kansas cannot. In addition, she has taken advantage of the opportunity to get to know her fellow tennis teammates and some peers from Mexico.

As far as tennis is concerned, Castillejos said she already feels as if she is becoming more physically fit to compete at the Division I collegiate level.

"I've been going to the lifting room on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday early in the morning," she said.

"I've also been doing some running and agility exercises so that I can get in better shape."

Castillejos said she has improved her sprint times and is working on a stronger swing to prepare for the upcoming tennis season.

"We've been playing on the courts two times per week until practice starts on September 11," Castillejos said.

"I work out just around eight hours a week before practice starts."

This physical fitness so far did not come without a small price to pay after leaving a more relaxed system of tennis to join one with a lot more intensity. Castillejos said some sports in Mexico tend to be more laid back than other sports, and tennis certainly is no exception.

"In Mexico, you can take a break when you feel tired. Things are different with tennis in the U.S.," Castillejos said. "The first day I got really tired and was pretty sore the next morning. But now, I can run more and I don't feel tired."

As far as her experiences with fellow tennis players and her new coach is concerned, Castillejos has a positive attitude toward both. Although Coach Steve Bietau could not be reached for comment, Castillejos said she likes his coaching style.

"He knows a lot and shows us all of our mistakes," she said. "And the girls on the team are pretty cool, too."

Although the language barrier has been an obstacle in some of her classes, Castillejos she is enjoying classes such as algebra and geography.

"Geography tends to be difficult because I listen to the professor in English but I take my notes in Spanish," Castillejos said.

"It can be difficult at times, but I am starting to understand more."

Castillejos said Manhattan itself is quite a change from what she is used to in her hometown. She said she enjoys the kind of social life that many K-State students are part of, just hanging out with friends that she knows and meeting new people.

Missy Herron, junior in business, is one of Castillejos' new friends.

"We like a lot of diversity, and everyone that Paulina lives around gets along well with her and each other," Herron said. "She is a very intelligent girl, and one thing I really like about her is that she has her goals set."

Although she has been keeping rather busy with school and tennis, Castillejos has had the opportunity to meet many of the girls living with her in West Hall, including Dana Dwyer, freshman in accounting.

"She's just a very nice person and by talking to her, you get the feeling that she's really starting to open up," Dwyer said. "Basically, we've got fourth-floor love. That's our motto."

Hometown blues do not seem to be as pressing for Castillejos as it is for many other students.

"Two weeks ago I was homesick, but I get over it pretty well because I talk to my family about twice a week," she said.

Even though the adjustment to college life in a new country with new people can be somewhat threatening, Castillejos appears to be meeting the challenge full swing. She said she has a good attitude about her new situation and is working to be successful.

"I know that hard work now will have a good result later, and I look forward to everything ahead of me," Castillejos said.

FROM THE BEGINNING

Former SGA employee sentenced to prison

By NANCY HULL
Kansas State Collegian

A former account specialist for K-State's Student Governing Association was sentenced to a year and a day in federal prison Friday for defrauding the university and a bank of about $160,000 over three years.

Susanna M. Hernandez, 39, Manhattan, pleaded guilty in May to one count of bank fraud and one count of attempting to evade income taxes.

Between January 1993 and October 1995, Hernandez opened an account at United Missouri Bank under the false name "Hispanics of Today." The U.S. attorney's office said she claimed the account was part of SGA.

Hernandez also admitted that she diverted checks from the KSU Foundation to the bank account and withdrew money from the account for her personal use.

U.S. District Judge Dale Saffels also ordered Hernandez to pay more than $168,000 in restitution and spend five years on parole after her release from prison.

Pat Bosco, associate vice president of institutional advancement, said the illegal activity was realized when the university received a call from vendors.

"They said they hadn't been paid, and our records didn't show that," Bosco said. "Within an hour, we knew we had a problem."

Safeguards on both procedures and personnel were immediately implemented, Bosco said.

K-State added two positions in the student activities area to serve student government and the organization. The entire area has been fully audited three times over the past four years to ensure that procedures are being followed.

Jake Worcester, student body president, said a number of internal controls have been implemented.

"Now there must be signatures from a number of people on everything," he said.

Worcester said multiple people at SGA must sign, as well as people at the Office of Student Life.

Taco Tuesday
4:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.
50¢ tacos
Karaoke
9 p.m. - 1 a.m.
Wednesday Steak Night
$5.99 8 oz. K.C. strip or Sirloin
$8.99 16 oz. K.C. strip or T-bone
$2.00 Coronas
$1.50 Margaritas Reg. or Strawberry
$1.00 Draws
Bobby T's
Open 11 a.m. - 'till the partys over
$3 Big Bob Beers
3240 Kimball Ave. 537-8383

LONGHORNS BAR & GRILL
Club Tuesday
• non-stop dance party • no country music
$1.50 wells
$2.00 pitchers

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
Limited Delivery Area
1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Semester Off?
No classes Tuesdays or Thursdays?
No classes Mondays Wednesdays, or Fridays
Quality Inventory
Help needed to take inventory in retail sales
We have jobs starting at $7.50 per hour.
Apply in person
State Room, Ramada Inn
September 12 at 4:30pm or 6:00pm
Interviews will start promptly

Bring it.

Where it matters most.

As one of the world's leading diversified technology companies, we're breaking new ground in everything from defense and commercial electronics, to aviation, to engineering and construction. As a Raytheon employee, you'll contribute to the development of exciting, revolutionary technology designed to make life better, easier, and safer throughout the world. Such as our STARS air traffic control system. And our award-winning NightSight™ technology.

But it all starts with you. Your creativity. Your knowledge. And enthusiasm about the future. In return, we offer exceptional training and professional development opportunities. A supportive, down-to-earth work environment. And incredible benefits, including flexible schedules designed to respect your quality of life.

So you can still show off all those great qualities of yours outside of work, too.

We have a lot to tell you about Raytheon and the exciting opportunities we have available. Plan on visiting our booth at your college career fair. If you are unable to attend the fair, please e-mail your resume to: resume@rayjobs.com (ASCII text only; no attachments), or mail to: Raytheon Company, Attn: National Staffing Data Center, P.O. Box 660246, MS-201, Dallas, TX 75266. U.S. citizenship may be required. We are an equal opportunity employer.

Opportunities are available for exceptional students with the following majors:

- Aeronautical Engineering
- Chemical Engineering
- Civil Engineering and Construction Management
- Computer Engineering
- Computer Science
- Electrical Engineering
- Finance/Accounting
- Human Resources
- Industrial and Labor Relations
- Management
- Marketing/Communications
- Math
- Mechanical Engineering
- Physics

Check out our Website at www.rayjobs.com/campus for further information, including a calendar of recruiting events. At Raytheon, we strive to be the employer of choice for a diverse workforce by attracting, retaining, and recognizing the most talented, resourceful and creative people.

Bringing technology to the edge

Raytheon

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FALL LEASING available! Call now! Fully furnished, washer/ dryer, fully equipped kitchen, alarm systems, computer lab, copier, and fax availability, fitness center/ rec room, swimming pool, reserved parking, tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. University Commons Apartments, 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

CAMPUS FIVE BLOCKS. Very large two-bedroom with air-conditioning. Clean, quiet location. Electric, gas, water, trash paid. No dogs. 537-8389.

EXCELLENT TWO-BEDROOM one block from campus. $550 per month, water/ trash paid. 341-4496.

LET US HELP you find a place to live. We may have what you need. No dogs. Leave message, 537-8389.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOMS, dishwasher, washer/ dryer, central air. $450- $475. Now available. (785)776-8455.

VERY NICE two-bedroom with air-conditioning. NEWLY REDECORATED, clean, quiet, convenient location. Heat, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. 537-8389.

115 Rooms Available

ROOM AVAILABLE NOW in four-bedroom house. Pets allowed, two bathrooms, utilities shared four ways. 1207 Houston. $300/ month. (785)770-9484, (785)556-1745.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR- FIVE-BEDROOM house, CLOSE TO CAMPUS, central air, two baths, (785)770-7230. Available now.

MUST SEE this BEAUTIFUL two story west side home. Three-bedroom, two and one-half bath, central air, park like one-half acre yard, two car garage. Available now. Good references a must. (785)776-8455.

NEW DUPLEX. FOUR-BEDROOM, two bath, two living rooms. Available October 1. $1000/ month. Pierre St. (785)456-7655.

TWO STORY BRICK, very large, three- four-bedroom, two baths, central air, laundry hook-ups, quiet location, fenced yard, parking. 537-8389.

150 Sublease

CLOSE TO CAMPUS! A very spacious one-bedroom basement apartment in a nice house. Rent: $340 a month. You only pay for electricty, phone and cable! 770-3537.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bath, furnished, washer/ dryer, dishwasher, privacy deck at University Commons. Sublease, two tenants needed. $325/ person/ month. 537-8226.

310 Help Wanted

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!! Looking for part- time dealers. Multi- level market selling Indoor Air Purification Machines. Fun business, good money!!! Call Mitch at (888)814-2893.

310 Help Wanted

CHARTWELLS, K-STATE STUDENT UNION FOODSERVICE, 121 K-State Student Union. Across from Ramada on Anderson Ave. Apply in person only. REQUIREMENTS: All successful applicants must be able to maintain a high standard of sanitation within the operation. Also, they must exhibit excellent personal hygiene habits and be reliable, efficient and punctual in their work assignments. Excellent customer service skills and effective communication skills are a must in all areas. CATERING ATTENDANTS: Part-time positions. Various hours plus some evening and weekend shifts. CASHIERS: Part-time positions: 8:15a.m.- 2p.m. or 10:15a.m.- 1:30p.m., Monday- Friday. Will train the right person. ICE CREAM/PIZZA: Hours needed are: 9a.m.- 4p.m. (full-time) and 3:30- 7:30p.m. (part-time), Monday- Friday. CHICK-FIL-A: One full-time, 8a.m.- 4p.m. Monday- Friday; one part-time 3- 8p.m., Monday- Thursday. COOK: One full-time, hours vary. Could be 6a.m.- 2p.m. or 8a.m.- 4p.m., Monday- Friday. FOOD COURT ATTENDANTS: One full-time, 6a.m. to 2p.m., Monday- Friday; one part-time, 2- 7:30p.m., Monday- Thursday. REFRESHMENTS: Evening hours. Hours: 3- 8p.m., Monday- Friday. CHARTWELLS IS AND EOE/AA EMPLOYER.

CHURCH SEEKING additional paid personnel: Church School Coordinator, Youth Director, Adult and Family Ministries Coordinator. Part-time, hours flexible and adaptable, great resources, friendly, supportive church. Contact: Trinity Presbyterian Church, 1110 College Ave., Manhattan, KS 66502. Phone 539-3921.

COLLEGE AVENUE Infant/ Toddler Center is now hiring substitute teachers. Call 539-6885.

COMPUTING AND Network Services is seeking to hire a student university computing lab assistant. This position monitors and checks the equipment operational status in the university computing labs. Available to work first and second shift hours, in 2-4 hour blocks of time, 15- 30 hours a week, including weekends, holidays, breaks, and summer months. Experience with computers is a plus. Applicants with two or more years employment potential will be given preference. Contact Wendy Wann for more information at 532-4941.

CUSTOMER SERVICE! A perfect match if you have 15-75 pounds to lose, we pay you! (866)215-0727.

RILEY COUNTY Community Corrections has an opening for a student intern who is participating in the KCWS program. The position involves assisting community correction offender supervision officers in the delivery of entry-level offender services. These duties could include providing offender transportation, computer information entry, drug testing collection and observation, and serving as the "second officer" during field visits to offender's homes and/ or employment sites. Requirements include senior year standing in a human service field (preferably criminal justice), ability to work a flexible work schedule, including some evenings, and a valid Kansas driver's license. This position is part-time status, with the average number of hours per week expected to be in the 15- 20 hour range. The hourly wage is $8.35 and the position will be based at our Adult Services office, 105 Courthouse Plaza, Manhattan. Applications may be obtained from the Riley County Counselor/ Personnel Office, 115 N. 4th St., 3rd Floor East, Courthouse Plaza East Building, Manhattan, KS 66502. (785)565-6464. Position open until filled. jdean@co.riley.ks.us EOE.

310 Help Wanted

DIRECTOR, INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY ASSISTANCE CENTER, (Interim Position) The Information Technology Assistance Center (iTAC) is the Kansas State University entry point for faculty, staff and students to find quick solutions to their IT needs. The Director supervises a full-time staff of five and several part-time employees, currently housed in Hale Library. The iTAC Director reports to the Vice Provost of Academic Services and Technology (VPAST). SALARY: Commensurate with experience: $50,000- $60,000/ annually. QUALIFICATIONS: Necessary: Masters degree in some field of Information Technology or a highly related field. Preferred: Ph.D. in Computer Science, Information Systems, Management Information System, Educational Technology or a highly related field. For a complete description and application details contact: Rusty Taylor, Chair, iTAC Director Search Committee 128 Dole Hall, Educational Communications Center, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506, Telephone (785)532-3125 or on the World Wide Web: http://main.itac.ksu.edu/dir_pos/itac_dir.pdf or http://www.ksu.edu/vpast/position.ann.html Review of applications will begin September 29, 2000. Start date will be negotiable upon selection of qualified applicant with target start date of November 1, 2000.

EXOTIC DANCERS high pay, low hours. Apply in person at Ginger's Spot, 1014 Grant Ave., Junction City or call (785)762-3847 after 8p.m.

FREE ROOM! September board for female in exchange for some house work and to feed sheep. Part-time. (785)457-3582.

FULL-TIME WAREHOUSE/ delivery person at Faith Furniture. Please apply in person at 302 E. Highway 24, Manhattan.

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. Info. 1-504-646-1700 Dept. KS-6438.

NOW TAKING applications for kitchen help. Apply at Rusty's, 1213 Moro in Aggieville.

PARENT ASSISTANT: Before and after school care. For three children, ages 6, 9, 11. Must have reliable transportation. (785)776-7764.

PART-TIME HELP wanted. Roof truss manufacturing plant, 5107 Murray Rd., (785)776-5081.

RILEY COUNTY INFORMATION SYSTEMS: Help Desk Intern: Knowledge of Windows 95/ 98, Windows NT, Office 97/ 2000, network wiring and a desire to gain experience in these areas. Proficiency with troubleshooting software, hardware, PC's and PC peripherals. Familiarity with Linux, Windows 2000, HTML, Microsoft Access a plus. Strong communication skills are essential as position requires substantial contact with all end users. This position should fulfill partial requirements for a degree; progress toward completion of the degree will be reviewed on a yearly basis for continuing employment. Applicants must be available to work part-time. Hourly rate is $8.35. All available positions require that a job application be completed and on file for employment consideration. Contact the Department of Administrative Services, Division of Human Resources located at 115 N. 4th St., 3rd Floor East, Manhattan, KS 66502. For more information call (785)565-6464, or e-mail to jdean@co.riley.ks.us. Riley County is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

STUDENT WANTED to work in microbiology lab 16- 20 hours during fall and spring semester and full-time in summer. Prefer microbiology major student. If interested, call (785)532-4258 for information.

310 Help Wanted

RILEY COUNTY INFORMATION SYSTEMS: Web Development Intern: Position will assist in developing Intranet and Internet web pages including database integration. Applicants should be familiar with Windows 95/ 98, HTML, Web technologies, Microsoft IIS, JAVA, ASP, Cold Fusion. Creativity and strong communications skills are essential. This position should fulfill partial requirements for a degree; progress toward completion of the degree will be reviewed on a yearly basis for continuing employment. Applicants must be available to work part-time. Hourly rate is $8.35. All available positions require that a job application be completed and on file for employment consideration. Contact the Department of Administrative Services, Division of Human Resources located at 115 N. 4th St., 3rd Floor East, Manhattan, KS 66502. For more information call (785)565-6464, or e-mail to jdean@co.riley.ks.us. Riley County is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

THE PAINT Bucket is looking for a full-time sales person. Some wallpaper experience helpful, but will train. Send letter with qualifications or resume to 2613 B Anderson Ave., Manhattan, Kansas 66502.

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

NEED CASH? Sell your KSU vs. NU ticket! $100 plus. (785)539-4133.

WANTED TO buy: two Colorado football tickets, reasonable price. (785)286-2433.

WANTED: FOUR reserved and two General Admission tickets for the October 14 game with Oklahoma. Call (785)776-4808. Can leave message.

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1987 DODGE 600, four-door, automatic, air-conditioned, power steering, good condition, $2500 or best offer. Call (785)539-1628.

1989 HONDA Accord, power windows, power locks, automatic, cold air-conditioner, runs great, 124k, $2000 or best offer, (785)539-4867, Quinn.

1989 PROBE GT, five-speed, turbo, loaded, sunroof, spoiler, air-conditioned, well maintained, 130k highway. Looks/ runs great. $3500 or best offer. (785)857-3753.

1990 THUNDERBIRD super-coupe, white, loaded, nice. $5000 or best offer. (785)770-3280.

1994 BLACK, Jeep Wrangler. Must Sell! Reduced $7500 or best offer. Lift kit, six cylinder, five-speed. Great sound system. Soft top. (785)539-8540.

1995 FIREBIRD, automatic, t-tops, excellent condition, $9495. (785)565-9764.

FOR SALE: teal 1996 Ford Taurus GL four-door sedan in excellent condition. Keyless entry, power windows, doors, locks and seat, premium alloy wheels, scheduled maintenance, 51,000 miles, $10,300 negotiable. Call 587-9326.

FOR SALE: 1994 Dodge Dakota Sport, 3.9L, V-6, automatic overdrive, air-conditioning, power steering, anti-lock break system, cruise. Dent on driver's side. 71,000 miles. $6500 or best offer. Call 532-6664 (day); 776-6722 (night). Ask for Jim.

530 Motorcycles

1981 HONDA CM400-T. Purple, black, chrome. Looks sharp! Runs great! Detachable windshield/ saddlebags. Great gas milage. $975. Call Donald 539-5020.

1985 HONDA shadow 700CC. Black, like new, always garaged, very well maintained, 15K miles, helmet included. $2500. 539-8610.

1997 KAWASAKI EX250R Ninja , 5000 miles, great working condition, new rear tire, many accessories, clear title, $2100. (785)395-2630. davidduffey.com/ninja

MOTORCYCLES FOR sale 1982 Honda FT 500 $500, 1979 Honda Hawk 400 $800 (785)539-6507 after 7 p.m.

600 travel/ trips

630 Spring Break

EIGHT DAY Florida, Caribbean vacations. Orlando, Ft. Lauderdale, hotel, rental car, round trip cruise for two. $398 plus docking. 1-888-353-1813.

WINTER BREAK/ SPRING BREAK. Ski and beach trips on sale now! www.sunchase.com or call 1-800-SUNCHASE today!

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call (785)456-2795, www.ksu.edu/ksfc

LAPTOP COMPUTERS seeking companionship. Dependability, looks, and style important. NorthStar Solutions. 1800 Claflin Rd., #160 or ksulaptops.com

SKIN PROBLEMS? Contact 1-888-353-1813.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

100 housing/ real estate

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

TWO-BEDROOM, WALK to campus, ample parking quiet conditions, furnished or unfurnished, laundry. Reasonable rent. 539-3638.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

Come home to relax in comfort

•Cambridge Square
•Sandstone Apts.

•Fireplaces •Carports
•Pool •Private Deck
•Laundry Facilities
•Large 2-bedroom Units

Call TODAY!!!

537-9064

Weekdays 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Showings by appointment

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

BRAND NEW three-bedroom/ three bathroom apartment available September 11th, washer/ dryer included, close to campus and Aggieville. Call MDI 776-3804.

LEASING NOW! Winston Place Apartments. One and two-bedroom. Water/ trash paid. Small pets welcome. $250 deposit. Call 539-9339.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, 431 Leavenworth, $360, bills paid. 539-8401.

Trying to sell your car?
Try the Collegian Classifieds
Kansas State Collegian
103 Kedzie • 532-6555

Semester Off?
No classes Tuesdays or Thursdays?
No classes Mondays Wednesdays, or Fridays?
Quality Inventory
Help needed to take inventory in retail sales
We have jobs starting at $7.50 per hour.
Apply in person
State Room, Ramada Inn
September 12 at 4:30pm or 6:00pm
Interviews will start promptly

145 Roommate Wanted

ROOMMATE WANTED for clean house. Washer/ dryer available. (785)584-5991 or (785)776-1904.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate wanted to share four-bedroom, two bathroom house. Close to campus, washer/ dryer, central heat. $245/ month. 323-0459.

155 Stable/ Pasture

HOME FOR YOUR HORSE. Stall or pasture, $135/ $90 per month. Use of arena and tack room. Please call (785)537-3773.

300 employment/ opportunities

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

310 Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For info call (203)977-1720.

ACCEPTING APPLICATIONS for cooks and servers. Please drop by Bob's Diner for more information. *No Phone calls. 1103 N. 3 rd.

HARRY'S UPTOWN is now accepting applications for dishwashers. Monday, Wednesday, Friday 10a.m.- 3p.m. and Tuesday, Thursday 10a.m.- 3p.m. Apply in person: 418 Poyntz.

ASSISTANT DATABASE SPECIALIST. Information Support Services for Agriculture (ISSA) is a program that provides agricultural content to the KSU Digital Library by means of special collections and databases. We are seeking an individual who can search external databases and other information resources for new content, interact with patrons who are learning to use the resources, enter data to our databases and interact in-person and on-line with patrons who are in need of reference services and who are learning to use library resources. Requirements: Bachelor's Degree, with evidence of proficiency in conducting academic library research; excellent communication skills for interpersonal interviews or group presentations; significant employment experience using Microsoft ACCESS database software; demonstrable skills in writing/ editing technical English. Customer service or group problem solving experience helpful, as well as advanced use of text/ image management software and ability to work independently toward deadlines. Send a cover letter with resume and three references to M. Jean Darbyshire, Director of Administrative Services, Kansas State University Libraries, Hale Library, Manhattan, Ks 66506-1200 phone: (785)532-7465 fax: (785)532-7415 e-mail: Jdarby@ksu.edu. Review of applications will begin September 25th. Kansas State University Libraries wish to attract individuals whose interest, presence, and contributions will expand our commitment and ability to serve an increasingly diverse campus population. For more information see www.lib.ksu.edu/gen/o/open positions.html. Kansas State University is an Affirmative Action/ Equal Opportunity Employer strongly committed to diversity. We value qualified candidates who can bring to our community a variety of backgrounds and experiences.

CAT'S CLOSET Sales Associates: This position offers competitive pay and a great schedule that won't interfere with classes! Applicants need to be available a minimum of all home football and some basketball games. Stop by It's Greek To Me, 520 McCall Rd., to complete an application. EOE.

Spring Break 2001
Jamaica, Cancun, Florida, Barbados, Bahamas
Now hiring campus reps. Earn 2 fee trips. Free Meals. Books by Nov. 2nd. Call for FREE info pack or visit online sunsplashtours.com
1-800-426-7710

ADVERTISE
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING
118 KEDZIE
532-6560
in the KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
CLASSIFIED PAGE

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.85
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.90
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.90
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 bulletin board
100 housing/ real estate
200 service directory
300 employment/ opportunities
400 open market
500 transportation
600 travel/ trips

BUDGET CUTS

■ continued from page 1

The state and the university then decide whether some of the money in the college's budgets was needed elsewhere.

Last year, the state requested money for the regents' scholarship fund, for state payroll assessment, library faculty salary increase, qualified admission recruiting support and funds for graduate teaching assistants waivers.

The university asked for funds for Career and Employment Services, library faculty salaries, a scholarship adviser, student recruiting, a payment for Edwards Hall and a human resources consulting fee.

In the spring, colleges were notified they would have to give up part of the funding in their budgets for other needs at the university and in the regents system. The total reallocation was $618,214.

Almost $500,000 of the reallocations will be permanent cuts from other budgets.

Cochran said he was concerned some of these budget items should have been foreseen and addressed much earlier in the process. Out of the past six years, this makes the fifth that the university needed to pay the Department of Housing and Dining Services for Edwards Hall, which was remolded into offices.

This is the last payment of five for the consulting fee.

In past years, colleges have been able to reallocate money at their level, and some of K-State's colleges were able to do that this year. The College of Arts and Sciences was not.

BUDGET CUTS BY AREA

President	$7,390
Provost (excludes colleges and library)	$49,639
Vice President for Administration and Finance	$78,641
Vice President for Institutional Advancement	$33,069
College of Agriculture (excludes Research and Extension)	$27,281
College of Architecture	$21,895
College of Arts and Sciences	$133,845
College of Business Administration	$21,958
College of Education	$27,694
College of Engineering	$58,377
College of Human Ecology	$20,743
College of Technology and Aviation	$9,581
College of Veterinary Medicine	$20,882
Library	$32,746
Total	$618,214

How much these reallocations will and are affecting students is difficult to say, Cochran said.

In some instances within the colleges, it might be matters of missed opportunities. The College of Engineering diverted some outside funds from gifts and grants to cover the cuts.

That money might have been used for research projects or to start new programs, said Terry King, dean of the College of Engineering.

"It has been uncomfortable, but we have been able to live with them," he said.

The College of Human Ecology took money it would have saved from unfilled faculty positions and used it to fill the gaps caused by the call backs. Human Ecology had to contribute about $20,000, according to the budget office.

That would be the equivalent of at least two GTA positions, had they been needed, said Rita Newell, assistant to the dean of the College of Human Ecology. It also could mean lost opportunities to purchase or repair equipment or upgrade classrooms, she said.

"It has extended effects all the way down the line," Newell said.

The university is not going to be able to keep functioning well on dwindling budgets, Cochran said. Either the state is going to have to kick in more money or tuition rates are going to have to go up — or both.

"Ultimately, we need more money to do our jobs," Cochran said.

HOMESICK

■ continued from page 1

"He spent the summers eight hours away on the north slopes, so we kind of got broke into the thought of him being gone," he said.

Also, knowing that family was near helped to ease their worries.

"My mom and brother are still living in Manhattan, so we know he can still be taken care of if he needs anything," Chris Yaege said.

Kyle Yaege said he's visited his family's farm once since he's been here.

Beginning classes, getting involved on campus and making new friends have all kept him extremely busy, he said, not giving him a lot of time for much else.

"I don't spend more than an hour a day in my room," he said. "I've just been running around."

Yaege said he decided to get introduced to different organizations around campus due to personal interest.

"I've been interested in doing these things for a while, so I thought, 'Why not try them?' They're things I've been interested in in the past, and now I have the opportunity to get involved in," Yaege said.

He said he didn't want to name specific organizations in which he was getting involved, but that other activities he was getting involved in included intramural sports, such as flag football and sand volleyball, and Habitat for Humanity.

He is also thinking of joining the greek community.

"I'm kind of flirting with the idea of joining a fraternity, but it's too late to join this semester, so I'm looking at next semester," he said.

He said he has learned having a core base of people to fall back on is a good idea, and thinks he will find this in a fraternity.

"And once I met the guys, I really liked them, too," he said.

As for the university, Yaege said he hasn't had any trouble finding classes, and he said he likes the style in which the campus is set up. Prior to classes starting, Yaege was trying to rearrange his schedule, moving earlier classes to later in the day. After going to them, however, he decided to keep his schedule the same.

"I found out the way I had it was probably better after all for my learning style," Yaege said.

So far, nothing has surprised him too much, he said. Everything has gone the way he expected it to. He and his potluck roommate are getting along fine, classes are classes and the people have been friendly, Yaege said.

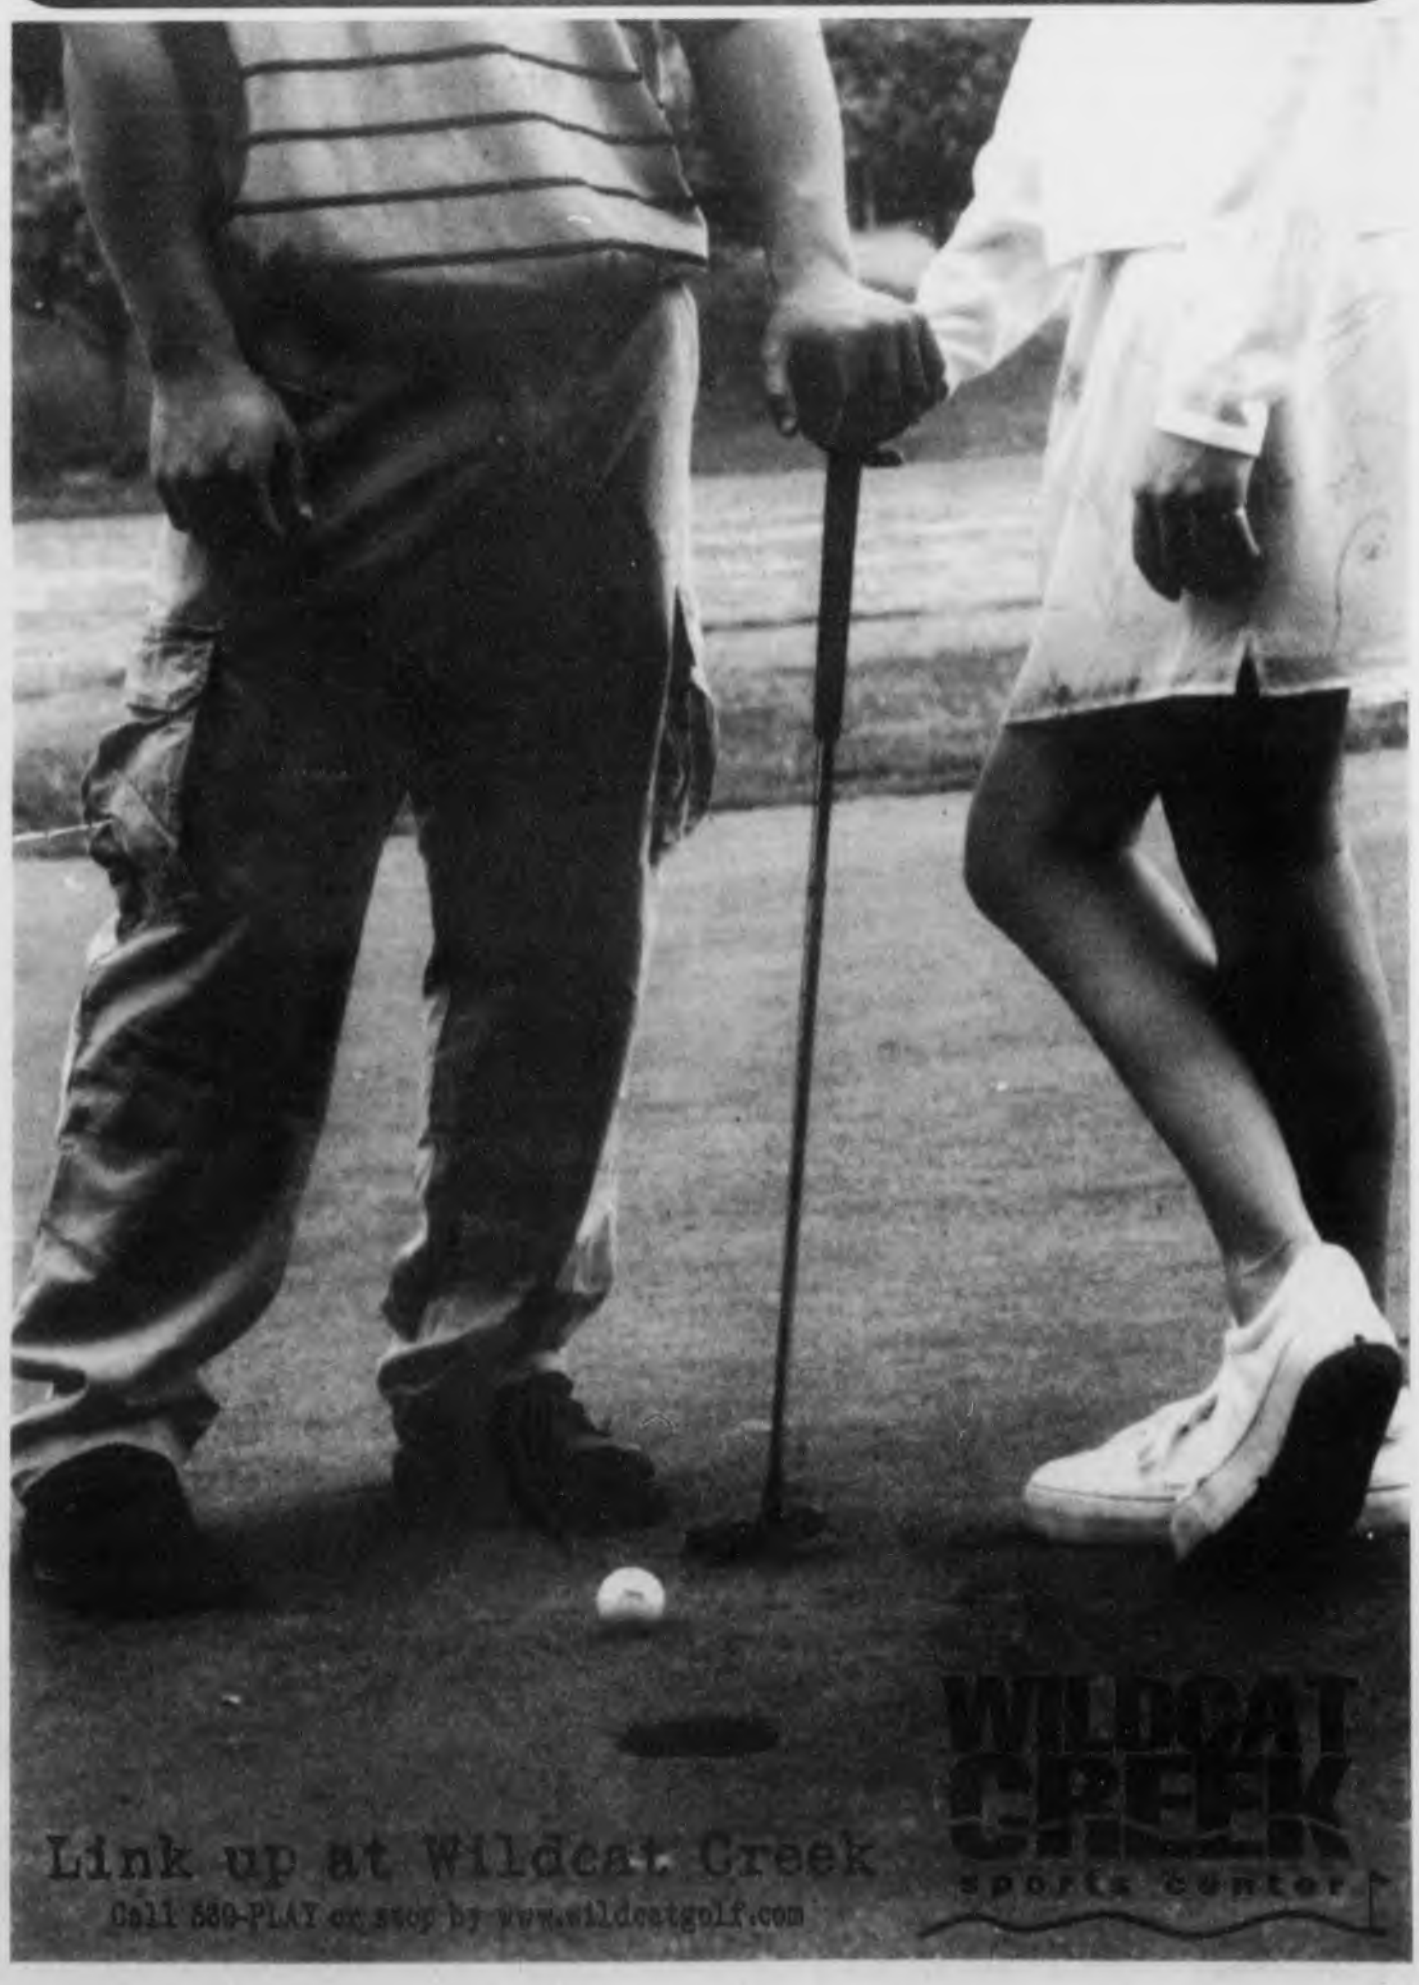
"Back at home, people were a little more standoffish, not as friendly," Yaege said. "People here are more willing to talk, more friendly and not so much off in their own worlds."

Yaege said he went to his first K-State football game Saturday and had a great time, though he's regretting not purchasing tickets.

"I went out tailgating all afternoon and got fried," he said.

The only problems he's encountered since he's been here, he said, was getting his Ethernet hooked up and almost having to make a hospital trip.

"I just about killed myself Saturday," he said. "I cut my head open on a doorway and went downstairs with a bloody head. A guy was closing the door, and I didn't want it to close all the way and have to open it again, so I jumped to kick it open and smacked my head on it."



1116 Moro St. Aggieville (Only a few blocks south of KSU)
HUNAM EXPRESS
 Chinese Food Lover's Choice ***
20% Off
Lunch & Dinner Buffet
Offer good till 9/30/00
Free Delivery: 537-0886
Hours: Sun. - Thurs. 11 - Midnight; Fri. - Sat. 11 - 2 am

TACO HUT
"Where good friends get together since 1969"
WEDNESDAY SPECIALS
Sancho or Burrito $1.65
Taco Dinner $2.45
Drive thru now open!
MON. thru THURS. 10:30 P.M.-10:00 P.M
FRI 10:30 A.M.- 11:00 P.M.
SAT. 11:00 A.M.- 11:00 P.M.
SUN.11:00 A.M.- 10:00 P.M.
2809 CLAFLIN 539-2091

BLOOD DIRT CONTROVERSY
sound off about the cats at
GoPowercat.com
Powercat Illustrated's online supplement
http://www.gopowercat.com
message boards • chat • audio & video highlights
breaking news • recruiting • in-depth team analysis • k-state gear
©2000 Rivals.com All Rights Reserved.
GoPowercat.com is not the official team site.

SPECIALS
Sunday & Monday
$1 wells & bottles
Tuesday
$1.50 domestic pitchers & wells
Wednesday
$1 wells & $2 everything
Thursday
$1.50 bottles & wells
Live DJs Tuesday-Sunday
Come pick up our movie schedule
Outdoor Movie Theatre

Bob's DINER
1103 N. 3RD
THE ONLY RESTAURANT
OPEN 24 HOURS A DAY
7 DAYS A WEEK
Head to Bob's to hang out and study
MONDAY-FRIDAY
$1.99
BREAKFAST
ALL THE TIME

Kansas State Collegian

CAREER FAIR GUIDE

SEPTEMBER 12, 2000

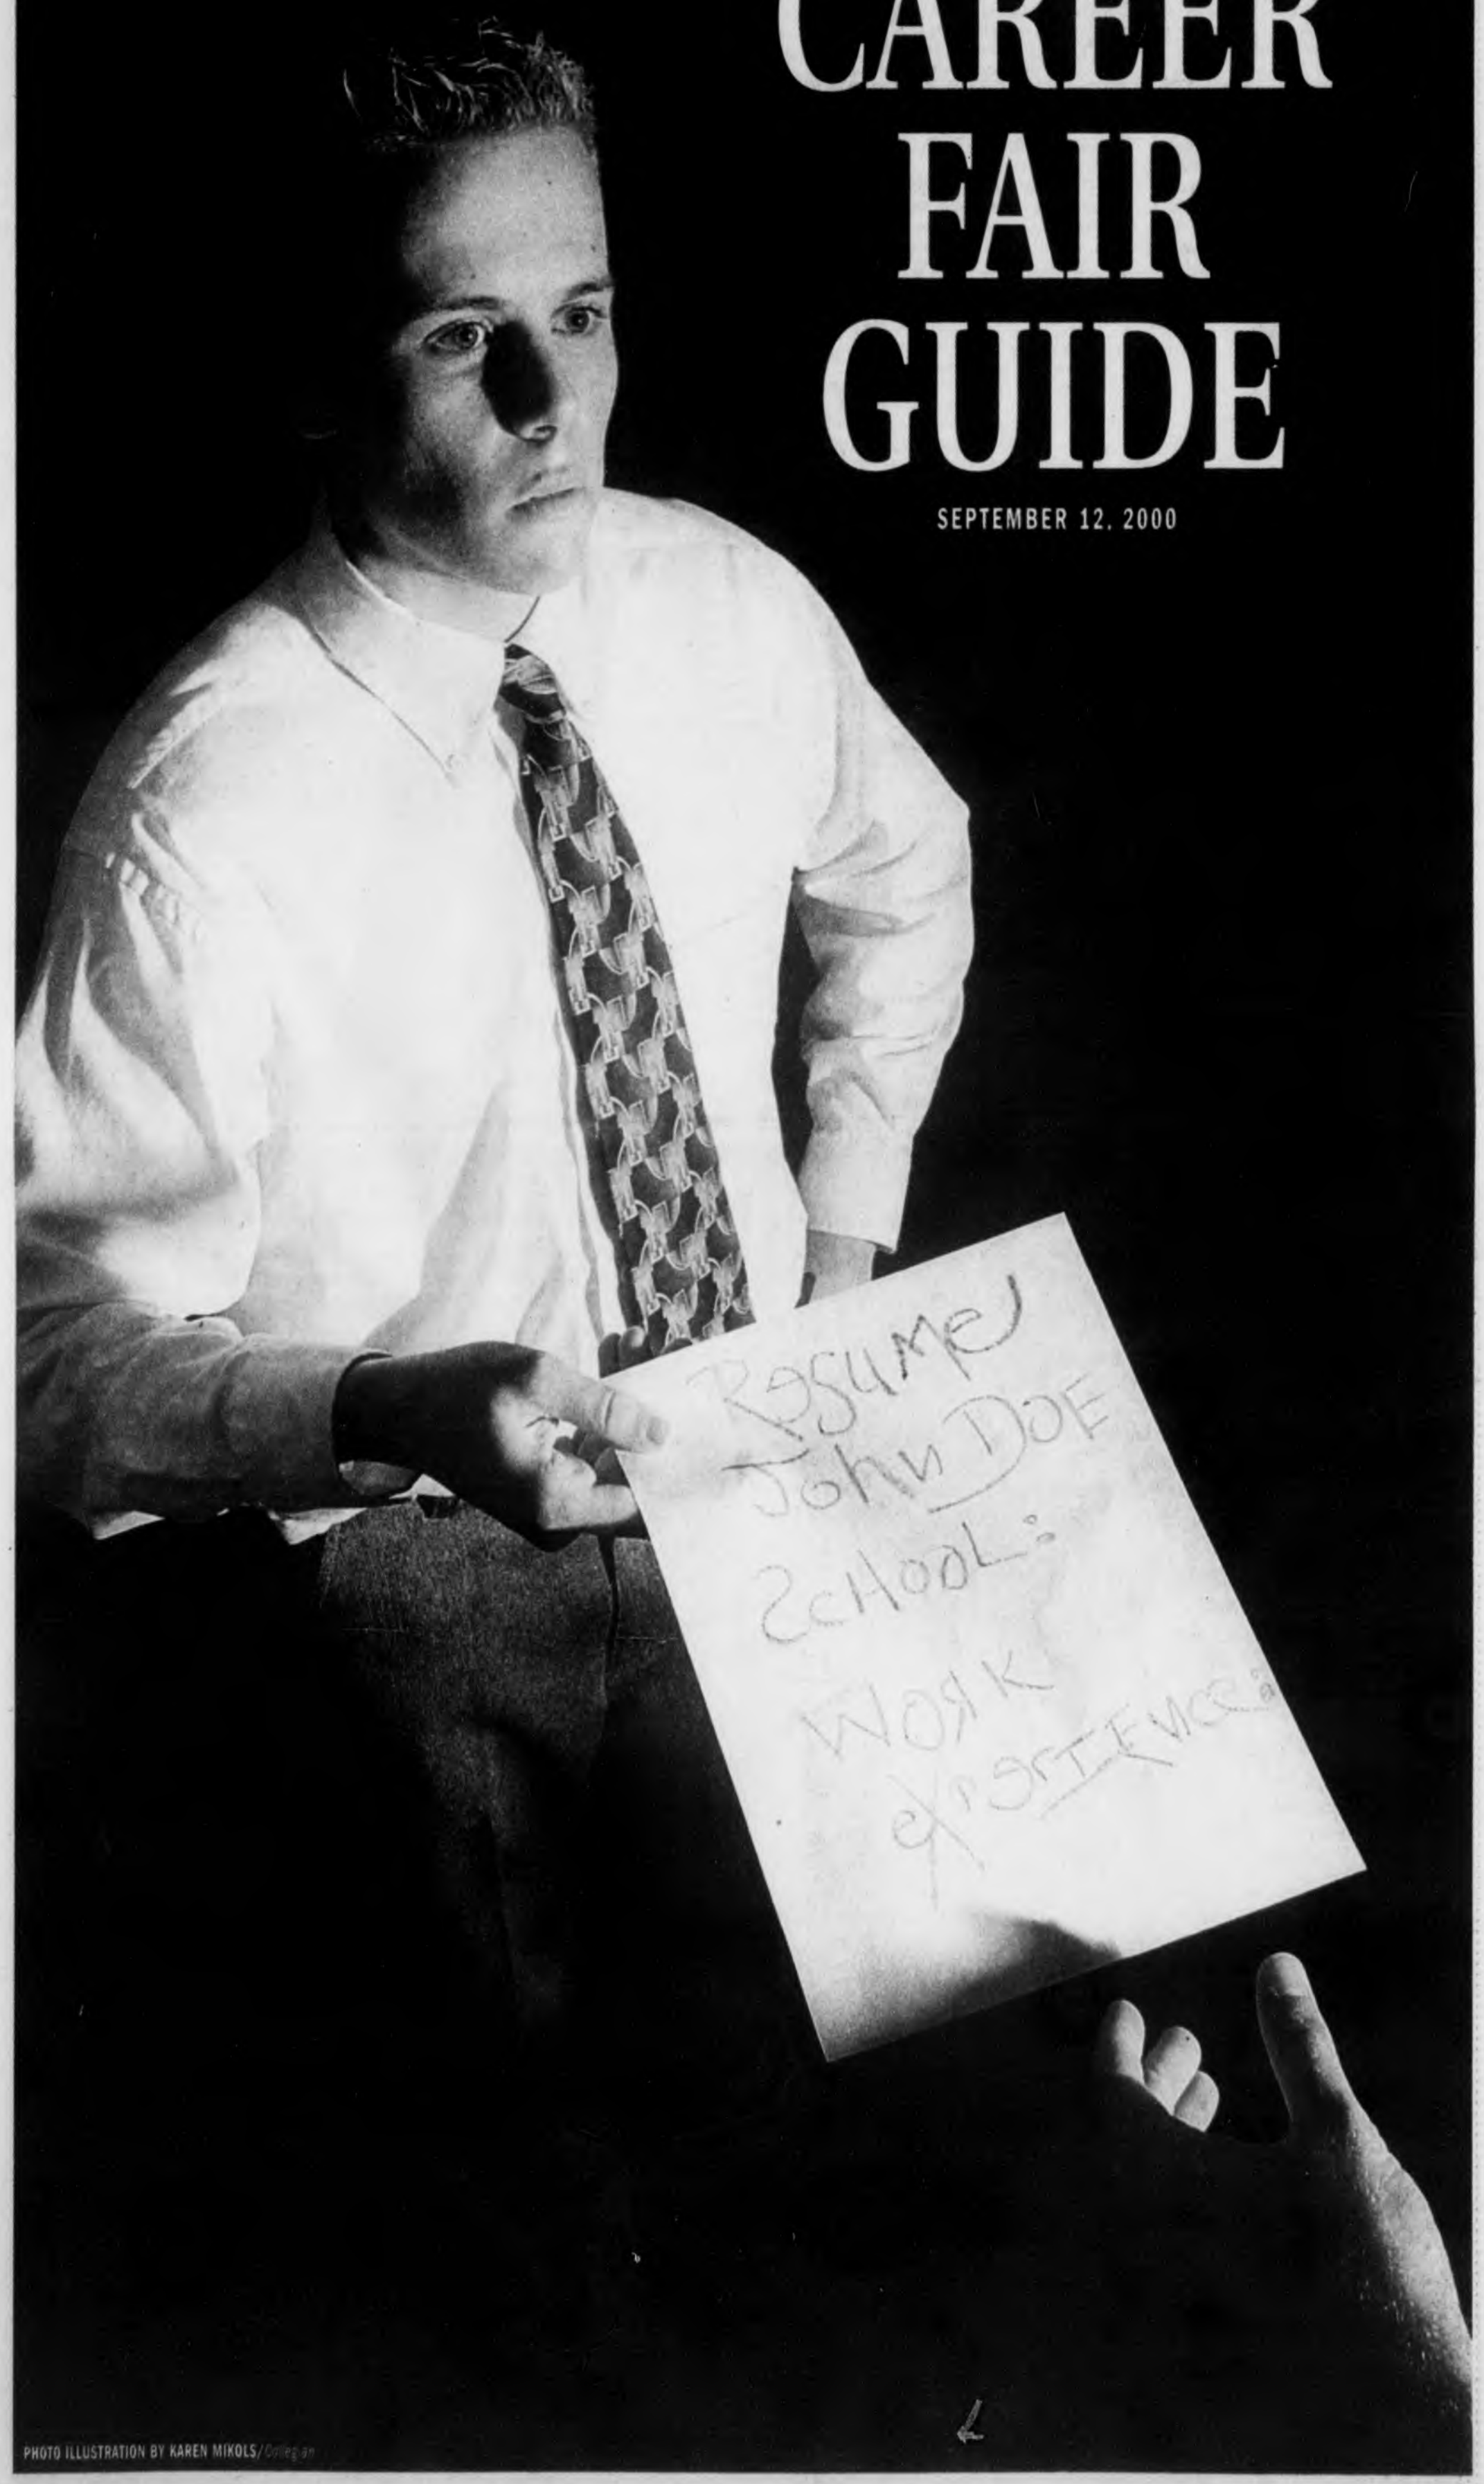

PHOTO ILLUSTRATION BY KAREN MIKOLS/Collegian

1st impressions important in interview

By JENNIFER O'NEILL
Kansas State Collegian

Finding a job is a job in itself.

Once a job seeker has a company's attention, it's time to prepare for the first impression — the interview.

When going on an interview, there is a lot to consider, said Tim Henderson, assistant director of Career and Employment Services.

"First impressions are the key," Henderson said. "Your attire, demeanor and body language all play a huge part in making a lasting impression."

There are always the basics that students and graduates fresh out of school struggle with, such as appropriate dress, things to talk about and questions to ask a potential employer, he said.

Dressing the part is a main factor in standing out, said Rick Martin, president of Team Effort, a Manhattan employment agency. Martin said dressing appropriately requires a bit of preparation.

"Hopefully, you've researched the place you're interviewing at," he said. "When you go in and get an application, look at how everyone is dressed."

Martin said dressing in darker colors indicate power and confidence. Women shouldn't wear extremely bright colors because it will detract from the person. He said it's best to limit the amount of jewelry and especially not to show a lot of skin.

How someone dresses also depends on the place they are applying. Some places would find "business casual" perfectly acceptable, while bigger companies expect men in two-piece suits with a crisp white shirt and silk tie. Women have an advantage of a little more variety in their wardrobe.

"Pant suits are being worn more and more by women in business settings, but some employers are a little more conservative and still prefer skirt suits and dresses," Henderson said.

If women choose to wear skirts and dresses, they need to make sure they're not too short.

"Regardless of the field, you should look like you've got it together," said Carol Oukrop, professor and internship coordinator of journalism and mass communications.

Another area job seekers should be familiar with is interview topics and discussion.

"I know a successful interview by a good conversation and the feeling that I got to know someone in that short period of time," Martin said. "A not-so-successful one is when the interviewee tries to take control over the interview."

He said an important thing to keep in mind is to know exactly what's on your résumé or application. Employers tend to ask about things on résumés as well as inquire about previous jobs.

"Be sure to be able to back up your résumé with accuracy and spice," Martin said.

People just starting off in the job search should be prepared to discuss why they chose the field, while those who are looking at new positions should be ready to explain why they're changing career fields.

Other popular topics include educational background, one's strengths and weaknesses and what the prospective employee can offer the company.

An important thing to remember about an interview is that a good one goes both ways.

"It's so important for someone to have a good, open rapport," Martin said. "I know an interview goes well if the person I'm interviewing asks me a lot of questions I can answer fully."

Henderson said salary and benefit inquiries should not be discussed on a first interview, however, this is a good opportunity to further your research on the company.

"Questions about employee expectations and responsibilities, training opportunities and specific duties are all valid and shows the employer you've taken an interest," Henderson said.

Another good question to ask is how long the oldest employee has been there in order to get an idea of employee turnover rate, Martin said.

"Through your questions show stability, dedication, reliability and dependability," he said.

While all of this is going on, it's essential to maintain proper interview etiquette. Firm handshakes, good eye contact and minimal hand gestures are things to keep in mind, Oukrop said

"The idea is to be as naturally composed as you can," she said.

Finally, the last step in preparing for an interview is knowing what to bring.

Henderson said it's a good idea to have extra copies of your résumé and letters of recommendation on hand, university transcripts and, depending on your field, a portfolio of your work.

"Whether people are nearing graduation or just beginning school, it's never too early to start preparing and developing good interview skills," he said.

For more information and help with interviews and to schedule mock interviews, Career and Employment Services has a wide variety of programs specifically designed to help students prepare for the interview process.

"Practice is the best way to prepare for a successful interview," Henderson said. "Lack of preparation and not taking it seriously will only lead to a bad interview."

PHOTO ILLUSTRATIONS BY STEVEN DEARINGER/Collegian

KSU Career Fair offers openings in school, jobs

By BRIAN OLBERDING
Kansas State Collegian

Students, get your résumés ready.

The All-University Career Fair will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sept. 19 with more than 300 employers setting up booths in Bramlage Coliseum.

Marcia Schuley, Career Fair Committee chairwoman, said a number of graduate schools attend the fair to talk with prospective students.

Last year, about 5,000 students attended the fair to talk with more than 800 representatives from 302 companies

Students can talk to employers about possibilities for careers, internships and even some part-time employment.

"I went last year and got to talk to a lot of companies just to learn about jobs in my major, and I'm going this year to try to get an internship from a plane manufacturer," Matt Beavers, junior in mechanical engineering, said.

Although most of the employers are recruiting for full-time employment, even underclassman not looking for a job in their major right now can attend the fair and talk with people in their field of study.

"Employers usually bring fairly recent graduates to the fair who can talk about the transition from school to their career," Schuley said.

For those who are looking for internships or full-time employment, many of the employers conduct next-day interviews.

This year, the interviews will take place on the second floor of the K-State Student Union at times that will be set between the students and the potential employers.

Students attending the fair will register at the door and will be given a guide to the location of employers' booths.

Brenda Schoendaller, project manager for the Career Fair, said a 20-member committee of both faculty members of different majors, a student group and 216 student volunteers will be working on the fair this year.

"The committee is very good and works well together to get a lot done," Schoendaller said. "It meets once a month starting in February and weekly in September."

The committee splits into numerous subcommittees that handle everything from company registration to hospitality at the fair.

Volunteers for the fair help with the registration and booth setup of participating companies, hand out refreshments, make name tags and generally keep the fair running smoothly, Schoendaller said.

Engineering LOOKING FOR A NEW POSITION?

GARMIN International is a world leader in GPS navigation and communication systems for aviation, marine, land, automotive, cellular and recreational markets. In 9 short years, GARMIN has grown from a start-up organization in our current position as a leader of the marines/recreational Global Positioning System sales worldwide. We seek the following professionals to help us design winning new products.

ELECTRONICS TECHNICIANS
Will troubleshoot and repair manufacturing units to the component level. Must have keen test and diagnostic capabilities, an AS in Electronics or equivalent, 3 years experience preferred. Soldiering abilities helpful.

DESIGN ENGINEERS
Design cost efficient analog, digital, ASIC, processor and display circuits. Will blend mechanical expertise, creativity and leadership skills for on-time delivery of winning products. RSEC required Exp in RF Design and/or a major plus.

RELIABILITY ENGINEER
Define and implement reliability test processes, promote and train reliability, concepts and practices and report reliability test results and facilitate corrective actions. The ideal candidate will have 5 years experience in reliability, analysis and problem solving. In electronic systems and an advanced Engineering degree with formal reliability training. Including CEF. Excellent communication and presentation skills and a gift for DOE and a passion to solve problems.

MECHANICAL ENGINEERS
Apply broad skills and creativity to design winning products, RSME with experience in CAD/ProE and/or Solidworks and knowledge of manufacturing process required.

PROCESS ENGINEERS
Requires BSEE and 2-5 years experience in nu-electronics assembly/test environment. Desired experience in design for manufacturablity and test, digital and RF circuit design/analysis, continuous flow manufacturing, test equipment and test process design, process data driven problem solving, in-circut testing, coaching electronic technicians and testers, strong attention to process documentation, strong interpersonal skills and a team player.

Requires BSME, BSEE, or equivalent and 2-5 years experience in assembly environment. Desired experience in creating detailed work instructions, design for manufacturability, continuous flow manufacturing, tooling/fixture design, process data driven problem solving, coaching/training assembly operators, strong attention to process documentation, CAD experience, strong interpersonal skills and a team player.

EMBEDDED SOFT WARE ENGINEERS
Design and test real time embedded software BSCS/BSEE, and experience with C, C++ and Assembly language programming is required. Experience in GPS navigation, wireless product design, embedded database applications or man-machine interface/GUI is a major plus.

PC SOFTWARE ENGINEERS
and test PC/Windows software. BSCS/BSEE, Microsoft Visual C++ experience required. Experience in SQL Server, client/server development GIS systems or caringraphic display systems a major plus. (Opportunities available in Kansas City and Pheonix, AZ).

GARMIN offers competitive compensation and excellent benefits, Including a 401(k) plan.
Send resume and salary requirements to:

GARMIN

GARMIN INTERNATIONAL, HUMAN RESOURCES, 1200 East 151st St., Olathe, KS 66052
Fax: 913-397-0835 • Visit us at www.garmin.com • E-Mail: recruiting @garmin.com • Job Line 913-397-0206

MAY WE SUGGEST N 38° 51.333' W 94° 47.941'

Campus offers job-search help

By LYNNE HERMANSEN
Kansas State Collegian

K-State's All-University Annual Career Fair helps students in the process of searching for careers or internships.

Students unable to attend the Career Fair can seek help through the Career and Employment Services or take advantage of other job opportunities during the year.

More than 400 employers visit the campus throughout the year, recruiting students and conducting interviews for full-time positions or internships.

Students can register with Career and Employment Services for $15, allowing them to upload a résumé on the Internet and apply for jobs online. Employers also can receive access to students' résumés through search queries.

"Employers are interviewing on campus both semesters, looking for college students with a little experience," said Laurie Garrett, assistant director of Career and Employment Services.

Garrett said employers visiting campus help the students by having the companies come to them.

"Students who can't travel to the company locations can take advantage of the employers recruiting students here on campus," Garrett said.

Students also can receive help in the job search process through the Career and Employment Services' Web site at www.ksu.edu/ces, which contains part-time jobs and online jobs.

Employers are listed with their date of campus visit on the Web site. Students can view the scheduled dates and then sign up to meet with employers.

Career and Employment Services provides resources for the students, allowing them to research employers ahead of time and receive one-on-one career advising. Workshops also are available to prepare students for interviews and to assist in the job search process.

"Some colleges hold mock interview clinics, where employers donate their time to have 10-minute interviews and then critique the student," Garrett said. "This helps prepare the student for the real deal."

Career and Employment Services also has a binder for students, listing more than 1,000 job opportunities, called in by employers. They are categorized by major and then grouped by jobs and internships.

Students also can search for job opportunities through classified ads.

"Students who cannot attend the career fair, or find jobs that interest them, can search the classified ads in their local papers for another source," Schuley said.

Schuley said any student needing assistance in interviewing and the job search process should come to the Career and Employment Services.

Internships prove useful during college

By SHANNON MARSHALL
Kansas State Collegian

Many students don't realize the importance of having an internship while they are still in college.

Tracey Fraser, director of Career and Employment Services at K-State, said an internship often makes a career decision easier.

"An internship provides the opportunity to test-drive a career to see if it's something you're interested in," she said.

She also explained that internships can be used as a recruitment tool.

"It's a tight labor market, and a lot of hiring takes place as a result of companies being impressed with the work of their interns," she said.

Dan Bernardo, professor and head of the Department of Agricultural Economy, also coordinates the Agricultural Economy internship program. He stressed the importance of an internship.

"I think that with the employers that our students are seeking, an internship is almost a prerequisite," he said. "It puts the student at an advantage over those who don't have the same experience."

Many companies look for students for their internship programs who possess the same qualities as their employees. Emily Rhoden, personnel specialist for Burns and McDonnell Engineering of Kansas City, Mo., a company that will be represented at the Career Fair, said she looks for a number of qualities.

"We look for interns who, most importantly, are interested in our company. I look for those students who are willing to learn about our different projects, and also students who don't mind doing some administrative work, and have a good attitude about it," she said.

Rhoden said students should begin looking for internships early.

"Start looking now, do research, get advice from older people," she said. "Begin researching companies as early as possible."

She said that students don't have to go far to do their research.

"Career and Employment Services has a ton of resources. Also talk to professors — they will often have potential employers calling and asking if they know of any students who would make good interns. And the Career Fair is a great opportunity, too," she said.

Fraser also advised students to begin looking for internships early.

"I encourage people to leave no stone unturned, and to cast a wide net while looking for internship opportunities," she said. "Explore every opportunity in every avenue."

Social Security Administration

Make a difference and earn a good salary

Join the SSA Team as a Claims Representative

SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION USA

Qualifications:
- USA citizen
- BA/BS degree

Salary	Start	2yrs
• 3.45 GPA	$28,265	$41.834
•Bilingual	$22,819	$34,575

FARMERS INSURANCE GROUP FARMERS

Visit our Booth at the Career Fair

Farmers Insurance is accepting applications for Office Claims Representatives in our National Catastrophe Center and Customer Care Center. Responsibilities include investigating claims, determining liability, confirming coverage, establishing damages and negotiating settlement of a claim.

Farmers offers an impressive benefits package including:
- Medical, Dental and Vision Insurance
- Paid Holidays, Vacation Days, Sick Days and Personal Days
- 100% Company Funded Profit Sharing
- 100% Company Funded Pension Plans
- Tuition Assistance (including 100% of books

If you are unable to attend the job fair please send your resume to Farmers Insurance Group, Attn. Trudi, 10850 Lowell Avenue, Overland Park, KS 66210, Fax (913) 345-2794, trudi_andernacht@farmersinsurance.com

EOE

K-STATE Kansas State University

Consider a career as an Extension Agent with K-State Research and Extension

Interested in:
- Working in a team environment
- Using your initiative, creativity, and leadership skills
- Making a difference in people's lives
- Using technology to relay researched-based researched-based information

Extension Agents provide their community with information on:
- Youth, Family and Community Development
- Food, Nutrition, Health and Safety
- Natural Resources and Environmental Management
- Agricultural Industry Competitiveness

Check us out at the Career Fair if you have a degree in Agriculture, Human Ecology, Education or a related major

"Knowledge for Life"

www.oznet.ksu.edu

What is Exxon Mobil Corporation?

It was formed from the combination of two premier companies — Exxon and Mobil. The company is an industry leader in almost every aspect of the worldwide petroleum and petrochemical business. Not just a new company, but a new kind of company—one that is different from either of its components and from any other in the petroleum and petrochemical industry today.

It's an organizational structure built on a concept of global businesses, and is designed to allow ExxonMobil to compete most effectively in the ever changing worldwide petroleum and petrochemical industry.

Success in the petroleum and petrochemical business — or any industry — largely depends on how you stack up versus competition. ExxonMobil's employees give us our most valuable and lasting competitive advantage. Our substantial, premier resources — financial, technological and human — increase our ability to participate in more of the new opportunities in the global petroleum and petrochemical businesses.

At ExxonMobil you'll discover a world where your individual goals can coincide with ours to create unprecedented growth opportunities. Ask your placement office for more details.

ExxonMobil

www.exxon.mobil.com/working

An Equal Opportunity Employer

Career Fair allows students to view prospective employers

By JESSICA PITTS
Kansas State Collegian

Engineering students will be in luck this year at K-State's All-University Career Fair.

The fair will have 160 booths of potential employers looking for students with an engineering major.

"Engineering is one of the more popular majors at the career fair," said Marcia Schuley, Career Fair Committee chairwoman and associate director of Career and Employment Services. "The fair attracts those companies."

However, Schuley said she wants to encourage students with other majors to check out the fair as well.

"There are 321 booths," she said. "Sure, 160 are looking for engineering majors, but a lot of those 160 are also requesting other majors."

Andersen Consulting, of Overland Park, Kan., is one of those companies. It might have listed engineering as one of their preferences, but it is also looking for students in computer science, liberal arts, business, economics and accounting.

"We mainly want well-rounded students," said Tricia Wendling, recruitment officer for Andersen Consulting. "They do not necessarily have to be from the engineering major, but they need to have an interest and understanding of what kind of work we do."

Schuley agreed that employers look for students who know the company.

"Research the company before you go in there," she said. "Look at our Web site in advance, because you might find a company is looking for your major that you never would of thought of. Research is critical."

Schuley also encourages students to look at their skills, not just their major.

"Defining self in terms of a major is really going to narrow your career selection," Schuley said. "Presenting yourself in a well-organized résumé is way more important than whether you majored in engineering or not."

However, there are some booths at the fair who are looking for students in a specific major. CitiFinancial, of Kansas City, Mo., is one such company.

"We need students who have majored in business management or banking and finance," said Brian Mills, regional training manager for CitiFinancial. "We deal with numbers, and the employees have to really know what they are doing. However, we wouldn't turn anyone away, we just encourage the business majors to visit us."

Schuley said that although some employers will be specific like that, she still believes that students should check out all of their interests.

"The arts and sciences student should just go up there and knock on their booth," she said. "If they know the company, know what skills they possess and present themselves well, who knows what could happen?"

Maintaining professional résumé critical to obtaining employment

By STEVEN DEARINGER
Kansas State Collegian

Building a good résumé and presenting it in a professional way is one of the most important things college students can do.

"Your résumé is one of the most important tools in finding a job," said Tracey Fraser, director of Career and Employment Services.

Fraser called the résumé a billboard used to show off a potential employee's skills.

"It's chance to bring forward your strengths and get you the interview," Fraser said.

The upcoming All-University Career Fair is one of the best times to polish résumés, Fraser said.

In order to help students prepare a good résumé, Career and Employment Services has organized a résumé critique from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday in Holtz Hall.

Fraser also said students can stop in the Career and Employment Services offices to receive assistance.

"There's not a right or wrong way to do it. Be creative in presenting your strengths. Look at your skills, course work, internships, work history, leadership and service."

Tracey Fraser, director of Career and Employment Services

Students sometimes do not realize there are many critical things to keep in mind when forming a résumé.

"There's not a right or wrong way to do it," Fraser said. "Be creative in presenting your strengths. Look at your skills, course work, internships, work history, leadership and service."

Fraser also recommended going to a résumé-building workshop and using their ideas to form your own unique product.

Jill Rooney, junior in finance, said she thinks her résumé is an important part of presenting herself to employers, and went to a workshop to get some hints on how to build an impressive one.

"I went to a workshop and gathered tips and information for building one and then did it," Rooney said. "Then I took the résumé in and got a critique of the good and bad things to improve on what I had."

Fraser said most employers at the Career Fair take a close look at every résumé they come across.

"It's good to get feedback from someone else who looks at so many résumés," said Erica Guries, junior in marketing and international business. "They make you think about the tiny details, and they have a lot more insight than a roommate or an adviser."

MORE INFO?

Visit this Web site for more info.

www.ksu.edu/ces/intjob/guides.

Helpful things to think about when building a résumé:

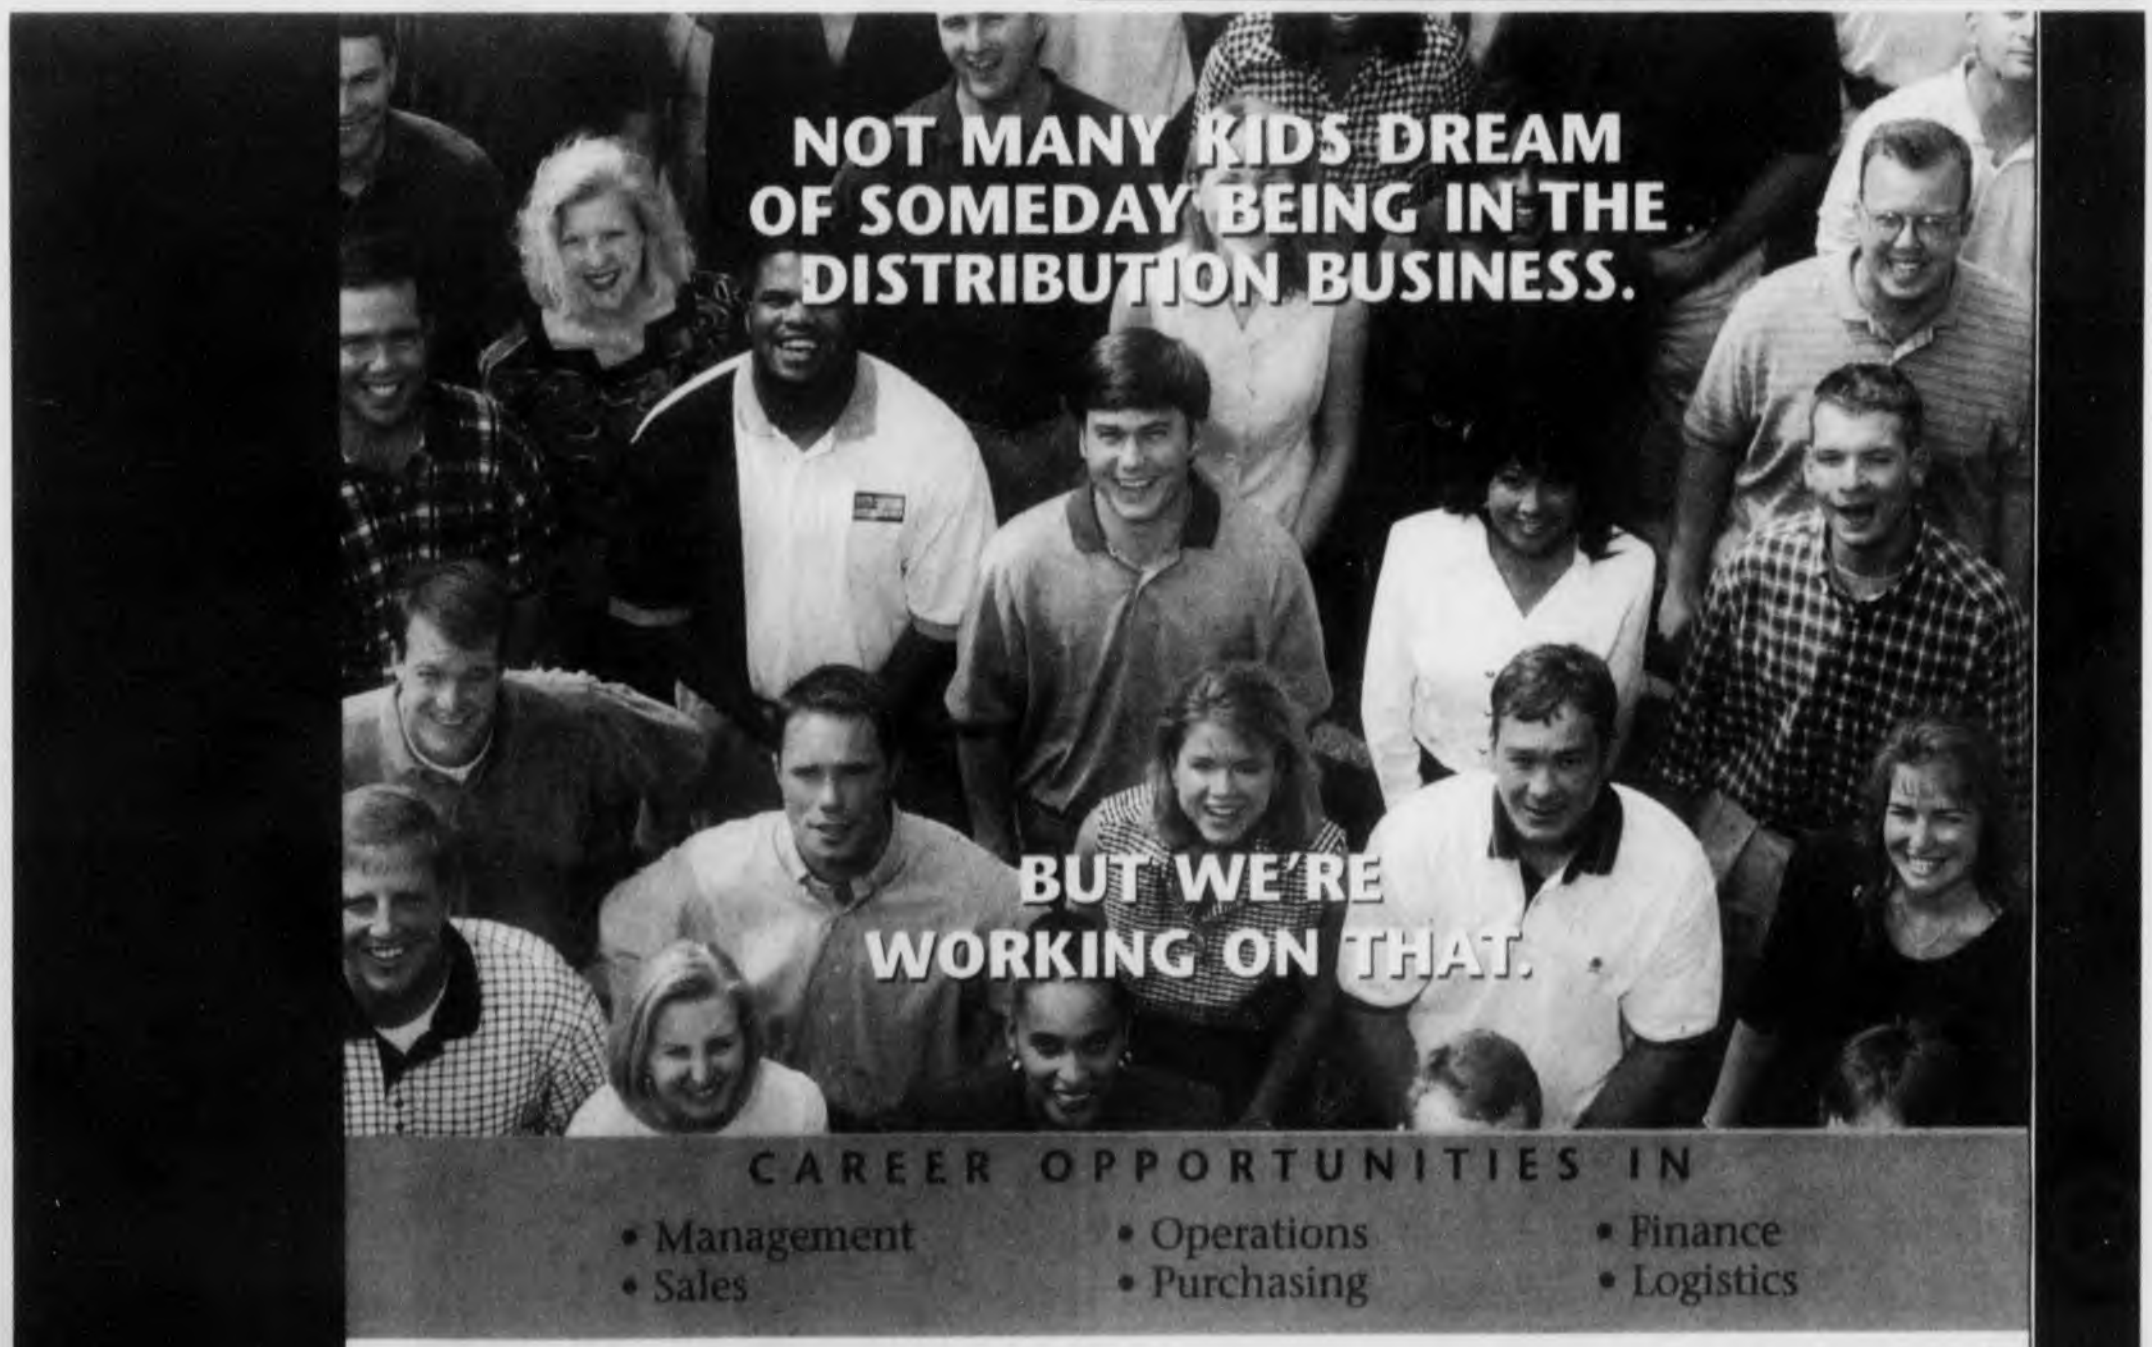
- Inventory your experience.
- Identify your skills.
- Match your experience and skills with an employer's needs.
- Organize your résumé effectively.
- Create your draft.
- Ask for comments on your résumé.
- Evaluate your résumé.
- Length is traditionally one page, but two pages are OK if work experience requires the extra space.
- Be creative.
- Inventory your skills to what is most important for the job you are applying for.
- There is no right or wrong way to do it.
- Résumé paper is good, but most business communication is done on white paper.
- Bullets are not to be the dominate visual, but should guide employers through.
- Design to highlight your strengths.

DALLAS SEMICONDUCTOR AND

At DALLAS SEMICONDUCTOR, you'll enjoy our TEAM ORIENTED environment. From the very first day you'll become an INTEGRAL part of the company, IMPACTING business decisions first hand. Your contributions and ideas are ENCOURAGES. Your professional development is IMPORTANT.

COMPANY DESCRIPTION: Dallas Semiconductor Corporation develops, manufactures and markets high performance CMOS integrated circuits and semiconductor-based systems that provide innovative and cost-effective solutions to electronic design problems in a wide range of existing and emerging markets. In its 16 years history, the company has sold its products to more than 14,000 customers worldwide.

Come build your career at Dallas Semiconductor!!



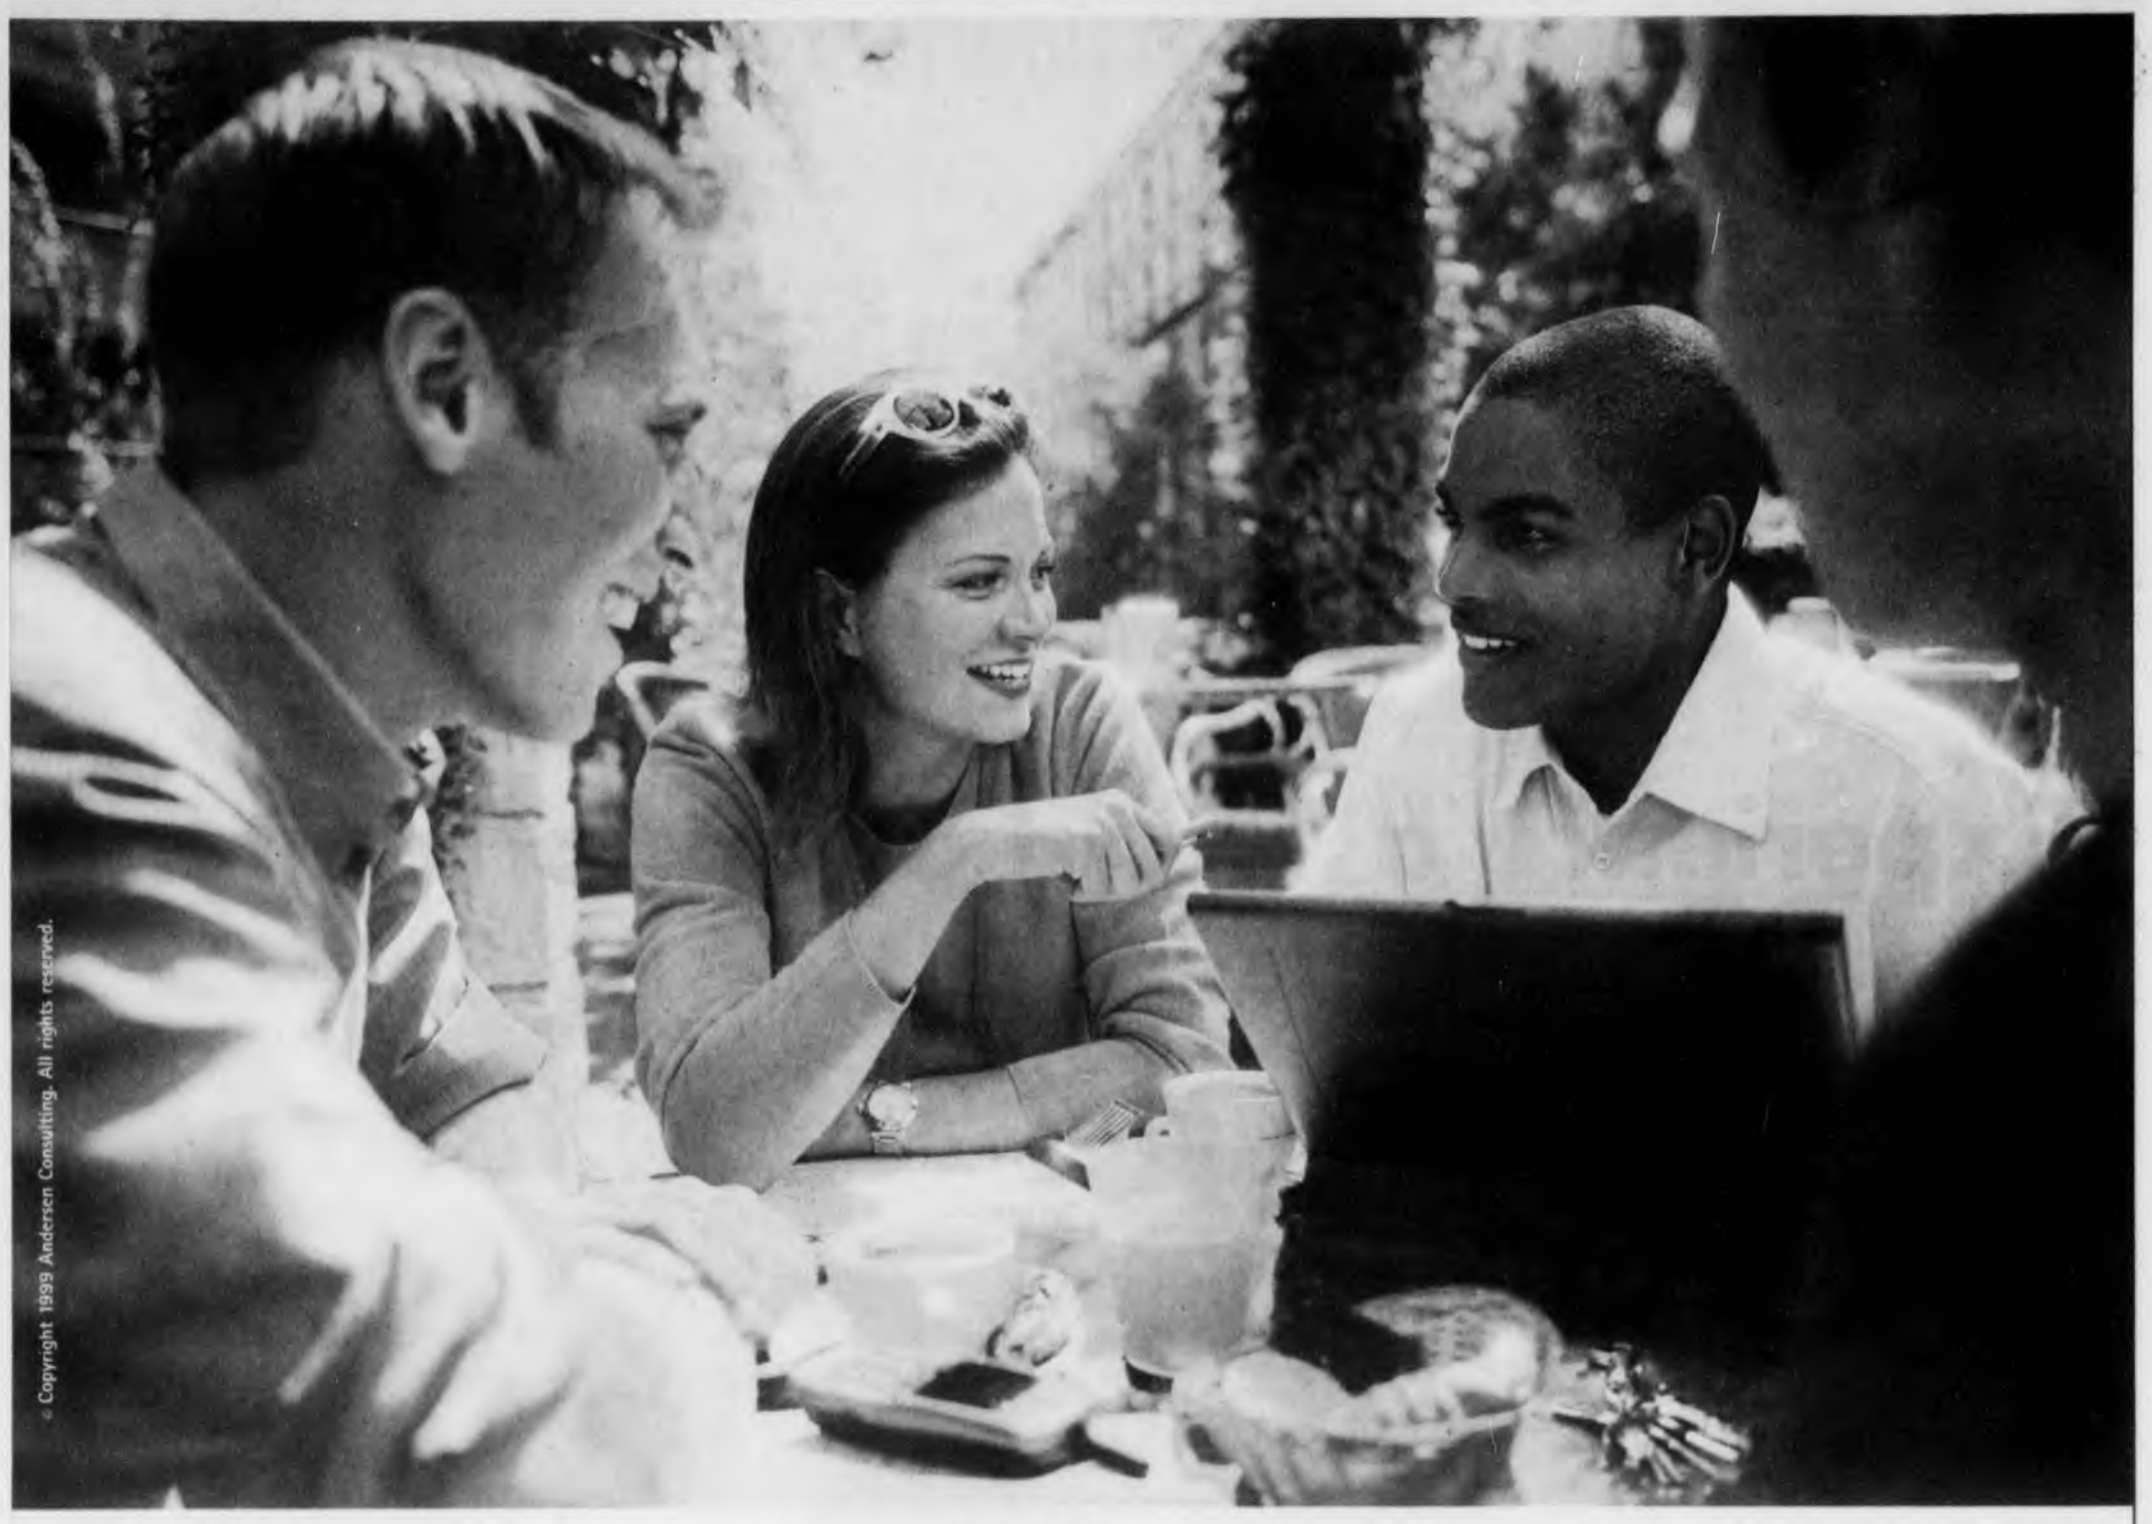
Dallas Semiconductor Corporation offers full time, as well as internship opportunities year round. We offer competitive wages and competitive benefits. Dallas Semiconductor is a growing company with a niche product market looking for top talent in the areas of Electrical and Computer Engineering.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Position Title	Requirements
Product Engineer	BS/MS, Electrical or Computer Engineering
Test Engineer	BS/MS, Electrical Engineering
Software Engineer	BS/MS, Electrical or Computer Engineering or Computer Science
CAD Engineer	BS/MS, Electrical or Computer Engineering
College Intern	Completion of Sophomore year, EE or CE program

COME GROW WITH US !

For more information, visit out booth at the All-University Career Fair or at www.dalsemi.com or submit your resume to recruiter@dalsemi.com
On-Campus interviews will be held September 20, 2000



CAREER OPPORTUNITIES IN

- Management
- Sales
- Operations
- Purchasing
- Finance
- Logistics

Ferguson has doubled in size every five years since our beginning in 1953. Today we're the largest U.S. distributor of plumbing products, third in industrial pipe, valves and fittings, fifth in heating and cooling products – and we're still growing. That growth offers the kind of opportunity that dreams are made of. Contact us today, and start dreaming!

FERGUSON®

P.O. Box 2778, Newport News, VA 23609-0778 • (757) 874-7795 • www.ferguson.com

Fresh beginning. Wide-open possibilities. It's all about staying connected.

Create a future with us.

Please join us on September 19th for the Andersen Consulting Information Session, held in the KSU Student Union (Little Theatre) from 5:00-7:00pm. Andersen Consulting will also be attending the Career Fair on Sept. 19th at Bramlage Coliseum.

All majors are encouraged to apply and to attend these events. To interview with Andersen Consulting, please submit your resume, an unofficial copy of your transcript, and our Pre-Qualification Form to the KSU Career and Employment Services by Monday, September 25th. First interviews begin Monday, October 9th.

In the electronic economy, sharing ideas can lead to new outlooks - and new opportunities to succeed. By joining Andersen Consulting, you'll help transform world-class organizations as they compete for leadership in the future.

As one of the leading global management and technology consulting organizations, our integrated approach helps put our clients at the forefront of a changing business world. You'll work in a supportive environment alongside colleagues from different cultures and backgrounds. Your contributions will have a real impact on our clients' success - and your own as well.

An organization is only as strong as its people. That's why we invest so much in continually developing your skills and your potential. You'll receive top-level training and exposure to a variety of projects and industries. All of which builds a solid foundation for your ongoing career growth.

Let your ideas open up new possibilities. To discover career opportunities, visit www.ac.com

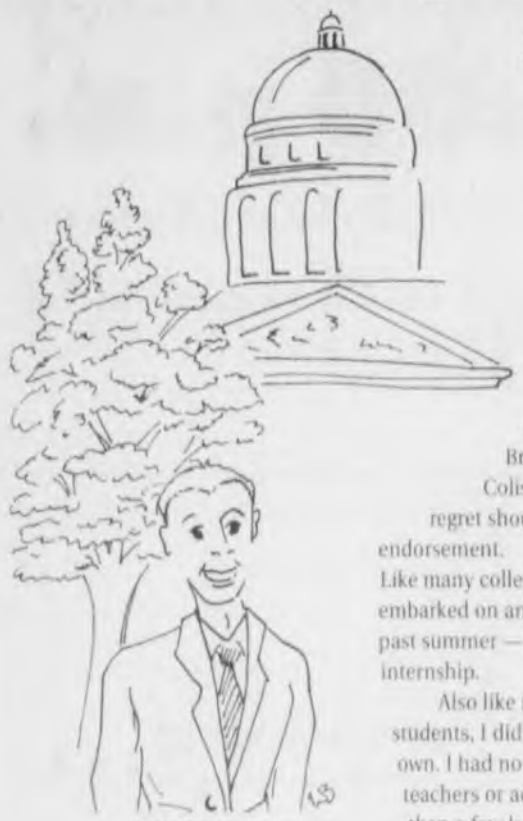
This is a great time to be part of our firm as we create a new identity and seize new opportunities.

Andersen Consulting

New name. New opportunities. 01.01.01

Sprint®

Experience a world of opportunity...



Sprint offers a world of opportunity for talented individuals in the areas of applied and emerging technology, business and finance. If you have what it takes to turn vision into reality, we'd like to talk to you.

To learn more about Sprint's career opportunities, contact your Career and Employment Office or visit our website at www.sprint.com/hr. Equal opportunity employer M/F/D/V.

Experience Sprint.

Career Fair provides opportunity to avoid others' mistakes

BECKY WILSON/Collegian

my view

JOSEPH HURLA

I have never gone to the All-University Career Fair.

This might not sound like a ringing endorsement for the event, which kicks off Sept. 19 at Bramlage Coliseum, but my regret should act as an endorsement.

Like many college students, I embarked on an adventure this past summer — I obtained an internship.

Also like many college students, I did so totally on my own. I had no help from teachers or advisers, other than a few letters of recommendation.

I thought I knew what kind of internship I wanted, so I faxed out a few résumés and waited for the phone to start ringing.

While it didn't ring quite as much as I would have hoped, the phone did ring. In fact, it rang enough that I was offered the internship I wanted — a congressional internship in Washington, D.C.

I quickly learned that what sounds best and what actually is best are often worlds apart. Such was the case with my internship.

I arrived in D.C. looking forward to getting involved in the political process and getting my foot in the congressional door. I had high hopes about what I would be doing during my three-month stay in the nation's capital: I had no intentions of writing groundbreaking legislation, but I did hope to get to sink my teeth into life on Capitol Hill.

Instead, I got to make copies.
And file papers.
And do data entry.
And answer phones.
And open mail.
In fact, I got to do most everything — except anything beneficial to me, my career or my future.

Sure, I tried my darndest to earn the right to do something meaningful. I worked diligently each day for weeks hoping to be recognized for my hard work and immense intelligence (you'll just have to take my word on that one).

But after several weeks it became obvious that, no matter how much time I put in and how hard I pushed, I would be relegated to trained-monkey work for the duration of my summer.

The last few weeks of the summer therefore were spent biding my time before returning to beloved Kansas.

Were it not for all of the sights I had the opportunity to visit and the friends I got to spend my spare time with, I probably would have stabbed my eyes out.

Instead, I returned home, eyes still intact, disappointed with my summer experience.

While most of my disappointment focused on my summer employers — who had failed to provide me with even a taste of the luscious experiences they promised me — I was also somewhat disappointed with myself for accepting an internship that should have been an obvious bust.

That is why I will be at the Career Fair. Three months at a job that makes me want gnaw my arms off is bearable … but I graduate in December, and I can't imagine spending several years at a job that is the bane of my existence.

This is not an advertisement for the Career Fair. I do not care if anyone shows up at it — in fact, the fewer people who show up, the better chance I will have of finding something promising.

But I do encourage anyone searching for an internship to avoid the mistakes I made — namely having their heart so set on a particular internship that they overlook the potential drawbacks that should be overwhelmingly obvious.

Explore a little. If not at the Career Fair, then on your own or with the help of your adviser — if your adviser is one of the few who are remotely helpful.

Whatever you do, make sure you will gain something from your time.

I am now proficient with many different types of copy machines.

How is that going to look on my résumé?

Joseph is a senior in public relations. You can e-mail him at jhurla@collegianmail.com.

LAND O'LAKES, INC.

NOW SEEKING:

- Research Technology & Engineering
- Sow Unit Managers
- Livestock Production Specialists
- Human Resources
- Enterprise Consultants
- Corporate Finance & Accounting
- Information Systems
- Public Affairs
- Interns
- Feed Plant Managers

"Grow your future with Land O' Lakes, Inc."
www.landolakesinc.com

Premium Standard Farms
The Leader of Pork Technology

Several Representatives will be available to discuss career opportunities in a fully integrated environment. Career opportunities in Meat Science, Animal Science, Feed Milling, Accounting, Agricultural Business, Environmental, and much, much more!

We're looking forward to meeting you at the Kansas State Career Fair on
September 19, 2000

YOU CAN DEFINE THE DIGITAL FUTURE.

Start your career with a Kansas City-based software company that revolutionizes the way Global 1000 enterprises do business via the Internet.

Career opportunities are available in:
- Computer Science
- Marketing
- Sales

Learn more about Kansas City's fastest growing company at the campus Career Fair on September 19.

Interested candidates are invited to attend an Informational Meeting at 6 p.m. Tuesday, September 26, at the Ramada Plaza Hotel.

On-campus interviews for full-time and internship positions will be held October 9 and 10.

For more information, visit www.innovision.com/yourfuture/

INNOVISION CORPORATION

DO YOU KNOW WHERE YOUR FUTURE IS?

Stop by the Bartlett & West booth for a free guide to planning your engineering career.

Bartlett & West Engineers, Inc.

Topeka KS • Lenexa KS • Lawrence KS • St. Joseph MO • Jefferson City MO
Little Rock AR • Bismarck ND • West Des Moines IA • Irving TX
888.200.6464 • www.bartwest.com

Career FAIR

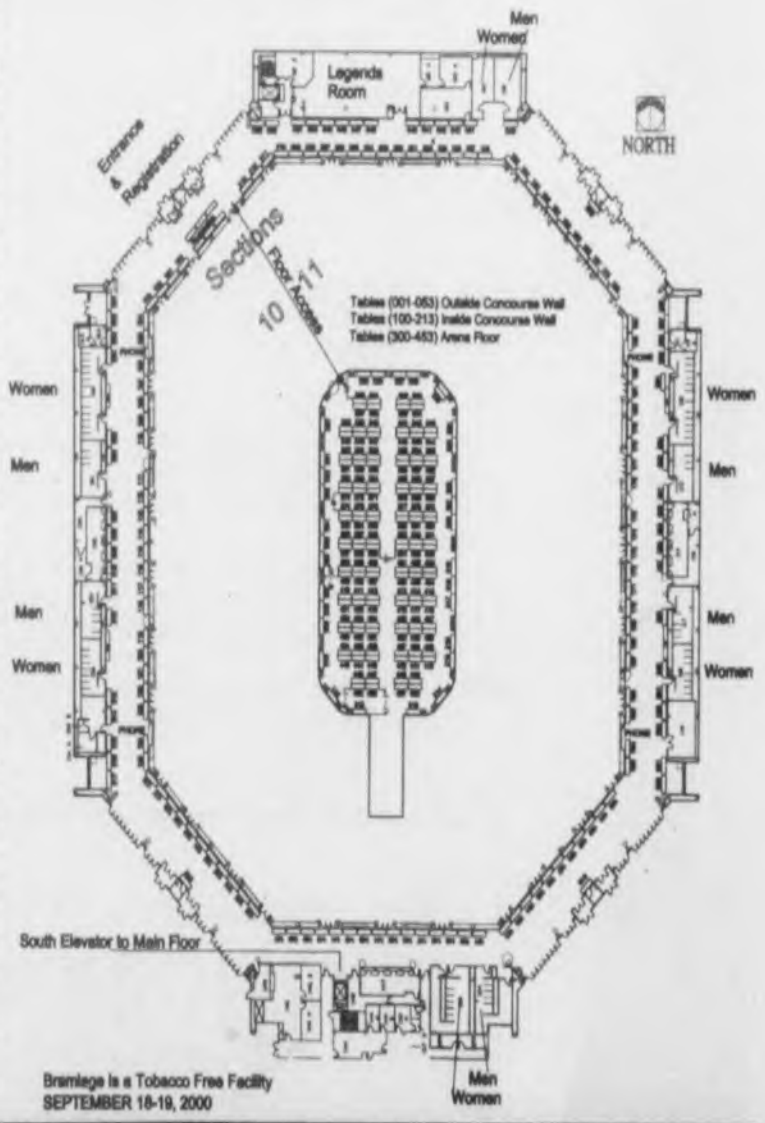
K-STATE CAREER FAIR

TUESDAY SEPTEMBER 19TH BRAMLAGE COLISEUM

10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Meet employers, network for internships and jobs, get career information -- plus more than 50 employers plan next day interviews.

FREE SHUTTLE BUS runs every 15 minutes between Student Union south parking lot and Bramlage Coliseum.



FREE PARKING available at Bramlage Coliseum west parking lot

Bring multiple copies of your resume, dress professionly and spend all day!

Register for Door Prizes

Company	Door Prize
AEROTEK	Jacket
ANDERSEN CONSULTING	Fleece blanket
ARCHER DANIELS MIDLAND COMPANY	Duffle Bag
BHA GROUP HOLDINGS INC	Polo Shirt & Football
BLACK & VEATCH	Notebooks with Calculators
BOEING COMPANY	Baseball caps (3)
CARGILL	Backpack; T-Shirt (3); CD Holder (2); Koozie (4); Sweatshirt; Hat (2)
CITGO PETROLEUM CORPORATION	Portfolio (1)
DEBRUCE GRAIN COMPANY	$50 Gift Card to K-State Student Union (4)
DEERE & COMPANY	Leather Portfolio; Toy Tractor
EPIC LANDSCAPE PRODUCTIONS LC	Short-sleeved Polo Shirt (1)
EXXON MOBIL	Saddlebag Briefcase (2)
FARM CREDIT	Pens (4)
FERGUSON ENTERPRISES INC	T-Shirt (2); Hat (2)
FISHER CONTROLS INTERNATIONAL INC	Shirts (2)
GARMIN INTERNATIONAL INC	Travel Tote Bag (1); Hats (2); T-Shirts (3)
HALLIBURTON COMPANY	Gym Bag (2)
HYATT REGENCY CROWN CENTER	Dinner for 2 @ Peppercorn Duck Club; Dinner for 2 @ Skies Restaurant
IBP INC	Golf Shirt
KENNEDY & COE LLC	Denim Shirts (2); Pen/Pencil Set (1)
MOTOROLA	Bag & Mugs (2)
NATIONAL INSTRUMENTS	Backpacks (2)
NESTLE USA	10 lb Crunch Bar (2)
NEW ENGLAND FINANCIAL	Large Duffle Bag (1)
REINKE MANUFACTURING COMPANY INC	Jacket (2)
SAS INSTITUTE INC.	Bulova Alarm Clock
SHAFER KLINE & WARREN INC	Weber Grill
SPRINT	Sprint Umbrellas (24); $20 Calling Card (5)
STATE STREET - KANSAS CITY	Portfolio
UNITED METHODIST YOUTHVILLE	Puzzles (10); Pens (10); Stress Stars (10; Portfolios (3)
WAL-MART STORES INC	$50 Gift Certificate
WATERLOO INDUSTRIES	6- Drawer Tool Chest (2)
WILSON & COMPANY ENGINEERS & ARCHITECTS	Mini Swiss Army Knife (5)

Company	Table #
ABF FREIGHT SYSTEM INC	329
ADP/AUTOMATIC DATA PROCESSING	330
AEROTEK	433
AFFORDABLE RESIDENTIAL COMMUNITIES (ARC)	377
AG PROCESSING INC	369
AGRA PLACEMENTS LTD	311
AGRILIANCE	184
AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY - HEARTLAND DIVISION INC	326
AMERICAN EXPRESS FINANCIAL ADVISORS	18
ANDERSEN CONSULTING 001,	002
ARCHER DANIELS MIDLAND COMPANY	173
ARMY & AIRFORCE EXCHANGE SERVICES	352
ARTHUR ANDERSEN	115
BAIRD KURTZ & DOBSON	419
BANK OF AMERICA	442
BARTLETT & COMPANY	179
BARTLETT & WEST ENGINEERS INC	186
BDO SEIDMAN LLP	331
BECKER CONVISER CPA REVIEW	9
BETTIS ATOMIC POWER LABORATORY	129
BHA GROUP HOLDINGS INC	339
BIBB & ASSOCIATES INC	451
BIRCH TELECOM	22
BLACK & DECKER/DEWALT	27
BLACK & VEATCH	205
BLUE VALLEY SCHOOLS	300
BOEING COMPANY	52
BOMBARDIER AEROSPACE - LEARJET	448
BROWN REYNOLDS WATFORD ARCHITECTS INC	53
BRUNGARDT HONOMICHL & CO PA	301
BURLINGTON NORTHERN SANTA FE	302
BURNS & MCDONNELL ENGINEERING	49
BUTLER ROSENBURY & PARTNERS INC.	353
CAL-MAINE FOODS	39
CAMERON ASHLEY BUILDING PRODUCTS	359
CANDLEWOOD SUITES	386
CAP GEMINI ERNST & YOUNG US LLC	101
CAPITOL FEDERAL SAVINGS BANK	449
CARGILL	146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151
CARTER & BURGESS INC	171
CASH AMERICA INTERNATIONAL	383
CATERPILLAR INC	45
CCH INCORPORATED	189
CDFM2 ARCHITECTURE INC.	209
CESSNA AIRCRAFT COMPANY	315, 316
CGB ENTERPRISES INC/CONSOLIDATED GRAIN & BARGE CO	204
CH ROBINSON WORLDWIDE	387
CHARLES MACHINE WORKS INC (THE)	391
CHILI'S	163
CHRISTNER INC (ARCHITECTS)	185
CHRYSLER FINANCIAL LLC	426
CINTAS CORPORATION	142
CITGO PETROLEUM CORPORATION	446
CITIFINANCIAL	420
CITY OF WICHITA PUBLIC WORKS-ENGINEERING	427
COLORADO DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS	312
COMPASS GROUP	380
CONOCO INC - FINANCE DOWNSTREAM REFINING & TECHNOLOGY	120
CONSOLIDATED ELECTRICAL DISTRIBUTORS	395
CONTIBEEF LLC	152
CROP QUEST INC	160
CROP-TIMIZER/COLLINGWOOD GRAIN	172
CSHQA A PROFESSIONAL ASSOCIATION	200
CSM AMERICA	450
DALLAS SEMICONDUCTOR	169
DANBRED USA	400
DEBRUCE GRAIN COMPANY	23
DEERE & COMPANY	170
DELOITTE & TOUCHE	7
DEPT OF ADMINISTRATION - PERSONNEL	389
DILLARDS	103
DLR GROUP	145
DOCUMENT COMPANY XEROX (THE)	213
DOW AGROSCIENCES	32
DOW CHEMICAL COMPANY (THE)	176
DYNEGY INC	322
EARL MAY SEED & NURSERY	174
ECKERD DRUG COMPANY	398
EDWARD JONES INVESTMENTS	3
EMPORIA STATE UNIVERSITY-GRADUATE OFFICE	306
ENTERCOM COMMUNICATIONS	410
ENTERPRISE RENT-A-CAR	341, 342
EPIC LANDSCAPE PRODUCTIONS LC	50
ERNST & YOUNG LLP	104
EXCEL CORPORATION	203
EXXON MOBIL	413
FARM CREDIT	211
FARMERS ALLIANCE MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY	187
FARMERS INSURANCE GROUP	165
FARMLAND INDUSTRIES INC	182
FBI	430
FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION	421
FEDERAL RESERVE BANK OF KANSAS CITY	416
FERGUSON ENTERPRISES INC	43
FISHER CONTROLS INTERNATIONAL INC	123
FORT DODGE ANIMAL HEALTH	31
FRITO-LAY TOPEKA PLANT	20
FURST-MCNESS COMPANY	118
G A SULLIVAN	139
GAP INC	124
GARMIN INTERNATIONAL INC	130
GE JOHNSON CONSTRUCTION COMPANY	024, 025
GE TRANSPORTATION SYSTEMS	154
GENERAL INVESMENT AND DEVELOPMENT	424
GENERAL SERVICES ADMINISTRATION	307
GEOPROBE SYSTEMS	303
GEORGE BUTLER ASSOCIATES INC	119
GIRLS & BOYS TOWN	360
GLAD MANUFACTURING COMPANY	042, 323
GLEN MARTIN ENGINEERING INC	100
GMPRC	414
GOLDEN HARVEST	196
GOODYEAR TIRE AND RUBBER CO	128
GOSSEN LIVINGSTON ASSOCIATES INC	166
GOULD EVANS AFFILIATES	452
GRADUATE SCHOOL	415
GRANT THORNTON LLP	393
GRAY DESIGN GROUP OF COLORADO INC	161
HALLIBURTON COMPANY	51
HALLMARK CARDS INC	320, 321
HASELDEN CONSTRUCTION INC.	362
HBE CORPORATION	156
HERSHEY CHOCOLATE USA	19
HNTB CORPORATION	336, 337
HORMEL FOODS CORPORATION	34
HORST TERRILL & KARST ARCHITECTS PA	181
HWS CONSULTING GROUP INC	131
HYATT REGENCY CROWN CENTER	144
HYATT REGENCY WICHITA	164
IBP INC	158
INET TECHNOLOGIES INC	328
INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY INC	344
INNOVISION CORPORATION	361
INTERTEC PUBLISHING	358
IOWA SELECT FARMS	41
J ALEXANDER'S RESTAURANT	159
JAPAN EXCHANGE & TEACHING (JET) PROGRAM	351
JC PENNEY	8
JOHN HANCOCK FINANCIAL SERVICES	125
JOHN Q HAMMONS HOTELS	402
JOHNSON COUNTY HUMAN RESOURCES	309
JOHNSON COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT	340
K-STATE RESEARCH AND EXTENSION	201
KANSAS CHILDREN'S SERVICE LEAGUE	365
KANSAS DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS	372
KANSAS DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION	363
KANSAS FARM BUREAU SERVICES INC	206
KANSAS HIGHWAY PATROL	310
KAW VALLEY CENTER	354
KELLY SCIENTIFIC RESOURES & KELLY IT RESOURCES	394
KENNEDY & COE LLC	388
KETCH (KANSAS ELKS TRAINING CENTER FOR THE HANDICAPPED)	397
KMART	364
KOCH INDUSTRIES	016, 017
KPMG	106
KUSTOM SIGNALS INC	190
KWIK SHOP	405
LA QUINTA INNS INC	406
LAND O' LAKES	183
LARKIN GROUP INC (THE)	411
LAW/KINGDON INC	110
LEGACY FINANCIAL GROUP	409
LEXTRON INC - PROVET*KANSAS CITY	136
LOCKHEED MARTIN AERONAUTICS COMPANY	425
LSI LOGIC	180
MANHATTAN BROADCASTING	418
MANTEL & TETER ARCHITECTS INC	44
MARLEY COOLING TOWER CO	198
MARRIOTT INTERNATIONAL	21
MATHIS GROUP (THE)	194
MAURICES	114
MAXIM HEALTHCARE SERVICES	422
MAYER HOFFMAN MCCANN LC	440
MCI WORLDCOM	113
MENNONITE CENTRAL COMMITTEE	356
METLIFE FINANCIAL SERVICES	428
MICROSOFT	6
MID KANSAS COOP	324
MIDLAND LOAN SERVICES INC	432
MIDWEST POULTRY CONSORTIUM	46
MISSOURI DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION	350
MODINE MANUFACTURING CO	33
MORGAN STANLEY DEAN WITTER	121
MOTOROLA	133
NABISCO BRANDS INC	29
NATIONAL AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS SERVICE	47
NATIONAL INSTRUMENTS	167, 168
NEBRASKA BOILER COMPANY DIV OF AQUA-CHEM	332
NESTLE USA	137, 138
NEW ENGLAND FINANCIAL	127
NORTEL NETWORKS	141
NORTHWESTERN MUTUAL FINANCIAL NETWORK-ERTZ GROUP	108
NORTHWESTERN MUTUAL FINANCIAL NETWORK/HAMES FINANCIAL GROUP	4
NOVARTIS CROP PROTECTION	48
OLATHE DISTRICT SCHOOLS USD #233	349
OLDE DISCOUNT CORPORATION	122
OLSSON ASSOCIATES	401
OMAHA PUBLIC POWER DISTRICT	162
ONSITE COMPANIES	385
OSBORNE INDUSTRIES INC	132
OSCO DRUG/SAV-ON DRUGS/ALBERTSONS	382
OVERLAND PARK POLICE DEPARTMENT	314
PANERA BREAD	403
PAYLESS SHOESOURCE	439
PBA ARCHITECTS	197
PELLA CORPORATION	445
PHILIPS LIGHTING COMPANY	390
PHILLIPS PETROLEUM COMPANY	384
PREMIER PERSONNEL	404
PREMIUM STANDARD FARMS	153
PRICEWATERHOUSECOOPERS LLP	13
PRICEWATERHOUSECOOPERS-BPO	14
PRIMERICA	126
PROCTER AND GAMBLE	195
PRUDENTIAL INDIVIDUAL FINANCIAL SERVICES	434
PULTE HOME CORPORATION	40
QWEST INFORMATION TECHNOLOGIES	423
RALSTON PURINA COMPANY	202
RAMADA PLAZA-MANHATTAN	407
RAYTHEON COMPANY	207, 208
RBC INC	333
RED LOBSTER	381
REINKE MANUFACTURING COMPANY INC	177
ROSS & BARUZZINI	10
RUSSELL STOVER CANDIES INC	408
SAPIENT	334
SAS INSTITUTE INC.	444
SCHERING-PLOUGH ANIMAL HEALTH	28
SCHLUMBERGER	317
SCHOOL OF FAMILY STUDIES & HUMAN SERVICES, KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY	374
SEABOARD FARMS INC	30
SEAGATE TECHNOLOGY	11
SECURITY BENEFIT GROUP OF COMPANIES	193
SEGA INC	15
SERVI-TECH INC.	26
SHAFER KLINE & WARREN INC	447
SHAW INDUSTRIES	12
SHAWNEE COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS	367
SHERWIN-WILLIAMS COMPANY (THE)	134
SMITH SECKMAN REID INC	135
SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION	375
SODEXHO MARRIOTT SERVICES	412
SOFTEK SOLUTIONS INC	109
SPARLING	318
SPRINT	035, 036, 037, 038
STATE STREET - KANSAS CITY	102
SWANSON RINK INC	355
SYSTEM SOLUTIONS	348
TALBOTS	116
TARGET STORES	107
TAYLOR BALL	117
TDINDUSTRIES INC	155
TEKSYSTEMS	376
TELECOMMUNICATIONS RESEARCH ASSOCIATES	105
TEXAS INSTRUMENTS	346
TEXAS TECH UNIVERSITY	313
TONYS PIZZA SERVICE	140
TOYS R US	327
TRACTOR SUPPLY COMPANY	157
TRANSYSTEMS CORPORATION	325
TREANOR ARCHITECTS PA	192
TRICON GLOBAL RESTAURANTS	345
TRINITY CONSULTANTS	338
TURNER CONSTRUCTION CO	366
UMKC LAW SCHOOL	357
UNION PACIFIC	453
UNITED METHODIST YOUTHVILLE	370
UNITED PARCEL SERVICE	441
UNITED STATES NAVY OFFICER PROGRAMS	304
UNITY SOFTWARE SYSTEMS	212
UNIVERSAL UNDERWRITERS GROUP	436
UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS - MBA PROGRAM	319
UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI-COLUMBIA SCHOOL OF LAW	435
UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA COLLEGE OF LAW	399
US AIR FORCE	373
US ARMY CORPS OF ENGINEERS	438
US BORDER PATROL	347
US DEPT OF HEALTH & HUMAN SVCS/OFC OF INSPECTOR GENERAL/OFC OF AUDIT SVCS	308
US MARINE CORPS OFFICER SELECTION	429
US PEACE CORPS	368
USD 305 SALINA PUBLIC SCHOOLS	305
USDA - NATURAL RESOURCES CONSERVATION SERVICE	175
VANCE PUBLISHING CORPORATION	378
VERMEER MANUFACTURING	199
VILLAGE INN RESTAURANTS	143
VISHAY DALE ELECTRONICS	396
WAL-MART STORES INC	111, 112
WALGREENS	5
WATER SERVICES DEPT OF KANSAS CITY MISSOURI	188
WATERLOO INDUSTRIES	443
WELLS FARGO FINANCIAL	343
WESTERN RESOURCES	210
WICHITA EAGLE (THE)	437
WILSON & COMPANY ENGINEERS & ARCHITECTS	191
WMA CONSULTING ENGINEERS LTD	178
WOLF CREEK NUCLEAR OPERATING CORPORATION	379
WORLDS OF FUN/OCEANS OF FUN	417
YELLOW FREIGHT SYSTEM	335
ZALES CORPORATION	431

K-State Career Fair is sponsored by Agriculture Ambassadors/Ag RELPS (College of Agriculture); Dean's Student Advisory Council (College of Architecture, Planning and Design); Arts and Sciences Ambassadors (College of Arts and Sciences); Marketing Club (College of Business Administration); Education Student Ambassadors (College of Education); Engineering Student Council (College of Engineering); Human Ecology Council (College of Human Ecology); Salina Student Government Association (College of Technology and Aviation); and Career and Employment Services

TODAY'S WEATHER
HIGH 93 ■ LOW 65
WEDNESDAY

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
Sept. 13, 2000 ■ Kansas State University ■ Manhattan, Kan. ■ Volume 105, Number 17

Jensen twins play well together

■ page 6

Commission considers smoking ordinance

By SCOTT ALDIS-WILSON
Kansas State Collegian

There might have been a lot of talk about smoke at the Manhattan City Commission's Tuesday night work session but, for a hot issue, there was no fire.

In what Commissioner Bruce Snead later described as a "civic and civil dialogue," citizens, students and business owners each waited their turns to speak about the potential of a smoking ban in Manhattan.

The meeting also presented results from a recent city survey to estimate support for two rough drafts of anti-smoking ordinances for Manhattan restaurants, bars and other food establishments. A total of 193 questionnaires were distributed to restaurant owners, managers and building owners, asking which version they approved of.

Version one proposes that owners purchase an annual permit to allow smoking within the establishment, but all permits would expire Dec. 31, 2005.

Version two permitted smoking in establishments with proper signage but would ban all smoking once a permit was granted for any alterations, renovations or changes of ownership.

City Attorney Bill Frost, who helped draw up the ordinances, said a fee for the ordinances and the 2005 termination date were just arbitrary ideas to generate discussion, just like the drafts themselves.

Of the 55 returned, 88 percent of respondents rejected version one, and the same number rejected version two. When asked which version they preferred, 84 percent answered "neither." City staff estimated a response rate of about 28 percent, but that might be in doubt as more than one survey has apparently gone to some owners and managers.

See SMOKING on PAGE 12

Smoking survey results

City Commissioners sent out 193 questionnaires with two draft ordinances to building owners, business owners and business managers. 55 of the surveys were sent back. The results are as follows:

Version 1

Ordinance would require businesses to acquire a smoking permit annually, phasing out smoking in public facilities by the year 2005.

Results: Approve – 4, Disapprove – 48, Indifferent – 2

Version 2

Ordinance would allow smoking in any restaurant that exists now. Smoking would not be allowed in the future if a building permit is granted for alterations, renovations or the ownership of the restaurant changes.

Results : Approve – 2, Disapprove – 48, Indifferent – 4

Source: City Commission agenda

RIGHT: Jim Markley, plumber for Powell Brothers, repairs the sewer line running from a toilet in the apartment at 1031 Kearney St. Roots from a nearby tree invaded the line causing it to back up and flood the bathroom. BELOW: Nisha Niar and Kaushal Mehta's apartment at 1031 Kearney St. was declared uninhabitable Friday afternoon. The two were notified to vacate the premises by 5 that evening.

MICHAEL YOUNG/ Collegian

inspection leads to EVACUATION

Apartment vacated due to problems, uninhabitable conditions

By TANNER EHMKE
Kansas State Collegian

Nisha Niar and Kaushal Mehta had endured enough. It was time for action — a code inspection of their apartment at 1031 Kearney St.

When the toilet clogged and raw sewage leached up the drain and flooded the floor of the shower and when a pipe broke in the kitchen, spurting water across the floor, Niar and Mehta tried to contact their landlord, Mike Lin. A plumber was scheduled to come a week later to fix the sewage problem.

For the two students from India, enough was enough.

"We were missing class for the problems," Mehta, graduate student in economics, said. "We couldn't study."

Robert Duteau, graduate student in economics and a friend of Niar and Mehta, contacted Mayor Karen McCulloh about the matter. An inspection of the rental property then took place.

The basement apartment is now vacated.

"The inspector asked us to vacate the apartment by 5 p.m.," said Niar, graduate student in industrial engineering. "The inspector said it was not a hygienic place to live."

Pat Ball has been a code inspector for Manhattan for 10 years. Ball checked 1031 Kearney St. for housing violations Friday morning.

During the inspection, it was discovered that Lin was leasing the east side of the basement, which was declared uninhabitable in 1992. A notice has been sent to vacate the east side of the basement.

"Legal action can be brought against Mike Lin for renting an apartment that had been declared uninhabitable in 1992," Ball said.

Brad Claussen, building official for the city of Manhattan, said the tenants could not live there because the apartment was uninhabitable. Claussen also said there were other code violations in addition to the sewage problem.

The official report of the code inspection ordered that the apartment be evacuated and repaired by the owner. Niar and Mehta were required to find other living arrangements until the repairs had been made. Claussen said the landlord was required under the Kansas Residential Landlord and Tenant Act to provide alternative living quarters to the tenants removed from the property.

"We are trying to find a way to get out of the lease," Mehta said. "But, for now, we are out in the streets."

Mike Lin could not be reached for comment. His associate denied the apartment ever being vacated and declined further comment.

— Sarah Bahari contributed to this article.

Hardee's lot to be renovated

By SCOTT ALDIS-WILSON
Kansas State Collegian

Hardee's might be long-gone from Aggieville, but the new owners of the building at 606 N. Manhattan Ave. are tidying up for the future.

Kurstin Peirce, who now co-owns the building with husband Kevin and partner Julie Haynes, said they probably surprised quite a few people when they began the cleanup on Labor Day.

"Really, up until the day the boards came down, nobody had any idea we had it," she said.

The surprise wasn't intentional, Peirce said, but things have moved quickly in the last month. She and the others saw the building over the summer, Peirce said, and closed the negotiations only three to four weeks ago.

"The ball just kept rolling," she said.

Cheryl Sieben, director of the Aggieville Business Association, said she had heard something about new owners, but she didn't know who they were.

It turned out they were not strangers. Haynes is part owner in Rock-A-Belly Bar and Deli, Coco Bolos and Harry's Uptown Supper Club. The Peirces, in addition to selling the Fairchild Inn nearly one year ago, have worked in Aggieville.

"I think most people are happy that the boards came down and someone with ties to Aggieville has taken it over," Sieben said.

For some, the new owners were less of a shock than the departure of the last tenants. Hutchinson attorney John Hayes estimates he

See HARDEE'S on PAGE 10

Scrutiny of School of Americas discussed at 1st Lou Douglas Lecture of semester

By LYNNE HERMANSEN
Kansas State Collegian

Father Roy Bourgeois became involved with the country of El Salvador after the raping and killing of four U. S. church women by soldiers trained at the School of Americas.

These experiences helped fuel his cause in trying to shut down the "School of Assassins."

Bourgeois spoke about these experiences as well as his missionary work with the poor in Bolivia at the first Lou Douglas Lecture, "School of Assassins: The U.S. Army School of the Americas," Tuesday night in Forum Hall.

In 1990, Bourgeois founded the School of Americas Watch, which researches the School of Americas at Fort Benning, Ga. The school trains 1,500 soldiers from Latin America in combat skills every year.

JUSTIN HAYWORTH/ Collegian

Father Roy Bourgeois speaks about the time he spent in Bolivia working with the poor during the first Lou Douglas Lecture of the semester Tuesday evening in Forum Hall.

"If we had known from the beginning, and the research had reached the general public, people would pay attention, and people would respond," Bourgeois said.

Bourgeois spoke about his attempts to protest the School of Americas.

One of Bourgeois' main themes was the "truth cannot be silenced."

"Its about being faithful, and what

See LECTURE on PAGE 12

Faculty Senate approves resolution regarding future budget allocations

By JESSICA PITTS
Kansas State Collegian

Faculty Senate unanimously approved a resolution Tuesday urging administration to involve faculty more frequently in the decision-making process in future budget re-allocations.

The resolution was presented after departments within the College of Arts and Sciences were asked to cut budgets for this fiscal year with little notice.

"We want to encourage the administration to seek faculty input before going forward with budget cuts," Michel Ransom, Faculty Senate president, said. "This resolution is the first step in that process."

Al Cochran, Arts and Sciences faculty senator, said budget cuts are nothing new, but this particular one hit hard because of the lack of preparation and little extra money to work with.

"That is the main reason the faculty is upset," Cochran said.

"We have been cutting into our budget for several years, and now all the fat is gone. This one hit into the meat."

Cochran also said a great percentage of the budget cuts were permanent.

"This means that the pot is permanently smaller unless we can find a way to get the funds back," he said.

"The bottom line is they took something that we badly needed, and now we don't have it."

Cochran said K-State administration is admitting its mistake and expressed interest in working with the senate.

"I found it refreshing while speaking to (Provost Jim Coffman). He basically said, 'I goofed.' He said he didn't realize the profound effect it would have on the colleges," Cochran said.

Cochran said that is the main reason for the resolution.

"Even though this is hard to deal with, if it brings us closer together with the central administration, then we all benefit tremendously."

Faculty Sen. Buddy Gray also said he agrees with the passing of resolution.

"It is very important that the faculty goes on record showing their feelings to the administration," he said.

"This will strengthen our position and also strengthen the administration who will support us."

TODAY HIGH 93 LOW 65

THURSDAY HIGH 89 LOW 55

NEWS DIGEST

DOW JONES 11,233 +37.74

NEWS EDITOR: JENN DAVOREN
532-6556 ■ collegn@ksu.edu

CONTACT US

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
532-0729 rdunn@collegianmail.com

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
532-0729 tehmke@collegianmail.com

Steve Dearinger Photo Editor
532-5492 sdearinger@collegianmail.com

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
532-0730 jbarrett@collegianmail.com

Sarah Bahari City & Government Editor
532-0730 sbahari@collegianmail.com

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
532-0732 kdymacek@collegianmail.com

Derek Boss Sports Editor
532-0732 dboss@collegianmail.com

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
532-0732 eschneweis@collegianmail.com

Ken Wells Online Editor
532-6556 kwells@collegianmail.com

Becky Wilson Copy Chief
532-0732 bwilson@collegianmail.com

Sara Martin Design Editor
532-0731 smartin@collegianmail.com

Jim Calvert Ad Manager
532-6560 jimcalvert@collegianmail.com

Alissa Duncan Assistant Ad Manager
532-6560 aduncan@collegianmail.com

Molly Brammer Online Ad Manager
532-6560 molly@collegianmail.com

BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Display advertising	532-6560
Classified advertising	532-6555
Delivery Problems	532-6555
Photo Reprints	532-6304

BY MAIL
Kansas State Collegian
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

ON THE WEB
www.kstatecollegian.com

The Kansas State Collegian
(USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7102

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 2000

Investigation continues in attack on KSU student

Officers with the Riley County Police Department are continuing their investigation in the case of a K-State student who was attacked last weekend.

The victim said he was walking home late Saturday night from his friends' apartment near campus when he was approached by an unknown man, Lt. Rod Jager said. When the suspect began verbally harassing the victim, the victim indicated to the man he didn't want any trouble.

The suspect, a black man, about 6 feet, 2 inches tall, and weighing more than 200 pounds, punched the victim repeatedly in the face, Jager said. He then hit him once more with a glass bottle.

The victim was treated and released from Mercy Health Center on College Avenue for lacerations to his hand and earlobe, Jager said.

This investigation is ongoing, Jager said.

"Several witnesses have been interviewed," he said. "We would like this case to be solved in the near future with an arrest."

— Sarah Bahari

Steakhouse ends plans to open in Manhattan

Manhattan will not be seeing the likes of Pecos Red's Steakhouse.

Signs at the Sirloin Stockade along U.S. Highway 24 advertised the introduction of the new steakhouse, but employees of the businesses said plans have changed.

"We killed those plans about a year and a half ago," said Tim Trechter, general manager of Sirloin Stockade in Manhattan. "We took the signs down and the whole bit."

Trechter said Pecos was afraid to open the restaurant in Manhattan due to the fact that some locations already have closed their doors.

"They already shut some down in the Texas area," Trechter said.

Pecos Red's, Sirloin Stockade, Coyote Canyon and Montana Mike's are under the same corporate umbrella, which has headquarters in Hutchinson, Kan.

Trechter said it was a corporate decision not to open Pecos Red's in Manhattan.

"They didn't think it would be a good idea because of their track record of not being successful," Trechter said. "If we got it in Manhattan, we probably could have shown them how to make a go of it. We could have made it profitable."

— Jim Reintjes

Boeing recalls lay-offs, increases employment

WICHITA — Boeing Wichita is recalling some of the 4,500 workers it laid off last year, but the facility's top executive said he expects employment numbers to remain stable through the end of the year.

Most of those recalls are in production, said Jeff Turner, Boeing Wichita's vice president and general manager. But at the same time, Turner said Monday, the company is cutting jobs in other areas.

Employment is slightly higher than it was a month ago. The plant now employs 16,521, up from 16,400 Aug. 1, according to Boeing officials.

"One of my personal big goals is to do what I can to dampen the big ups and the big downs," Turner said Monday, after a speech to a Wichita service club.

Boeing is preparing to increase production of the 737 from 24 to 28 airplanes a month, bolstered by a stronger market.

"Asia was the big bugaboo a few years ago. They've come back pretty strong," he said. "That provides some opportunities."

Boeing's market outlook projects a demand for nearly 22,000 airplanes over the next 20 years — a potential $4 trillion market for new airplanes and services, Turner said.

To remain competitive in that market, he said, Boeing must continue to streamline its processes, improve its quality, maintain delivery and reduce costs.

For example, Turner said, the Joint Strike Fighter aircraft was designed at multiple sites, then the pieces assembled into two different airplanes by a work force of only 58 mechanics.

In the past, he said, Boeing has had a reputation for being "a little bit stodgy ... a little bit slow," to the point that some in the industry referred to it as "the Lazy B."

"Let me assure you that the company that bears the name of Boeing today is breaking out of those molds," he said.

— The Associated Press

CORRECTIONS & CLARIFICATIONS

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Jenn Davoren at 532-6556 or e-mail collegn@ksu.edu.

ON RECORD

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

- Did you miss the Sept. 12 deadline for changing passwords for K-State Computing IDs? Reactivate your ID on the www.ksu.edu/activateID page.
- Career and Employment Services will conduct a mock interview clinic for the College of Business at 9 a.m. today in Holtz Hall and a How to Work a Career Fair workshop at 4 p.m. today in Cardwell 103.
- STAR meeting for spring 2001 student teachers will be at 3:30 p.m. today in Justin 109.
- Water-exercise classes will meet at 7:30 and 8:30 tonight in the Natatorium's six-lane pool.
- Play chess from 6 to 10 p.m. every Wednesday in Union 206.
- Golden Key Executive Board will meet at 6:15 tonight in Union Council Chambers.
- KSU Aikido will meet at 7 tonight in Ahearn 301.
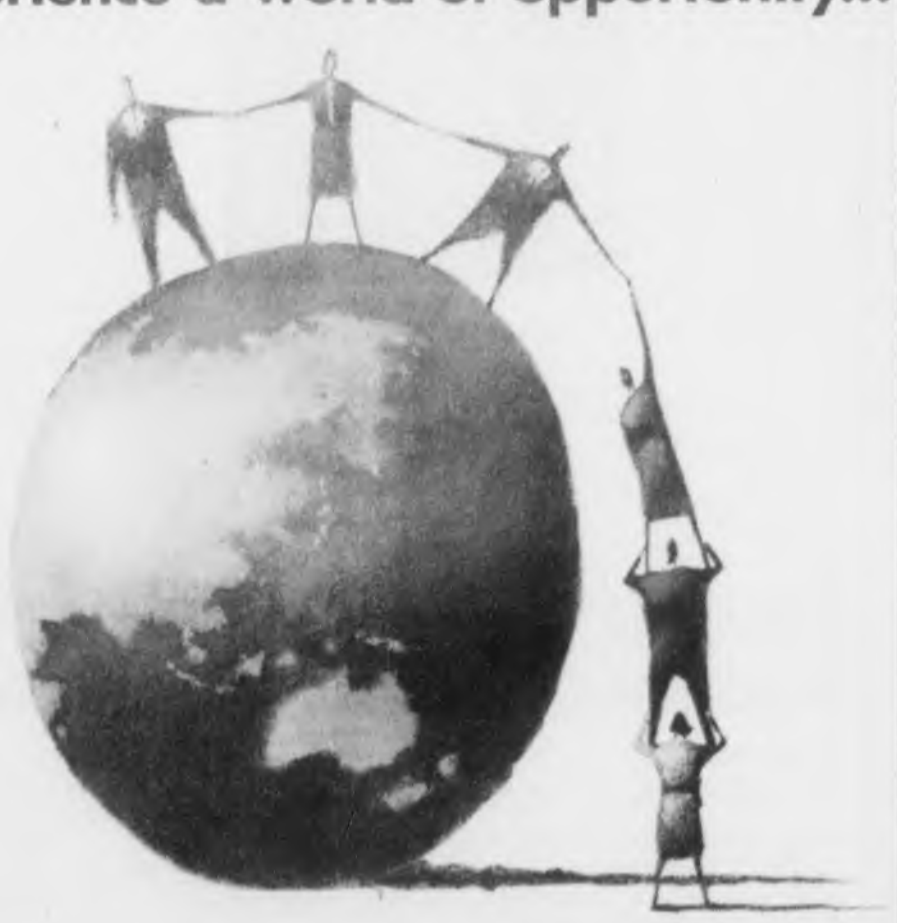
- Christian Explorers Bible discussion will meet at 9 tonight at the ECM Campus Center, 1021 Denison Ave.
- Family Studies and Human Services Interest Group will meet at 5:30 p.m. Thursday in Justin 254.
- Student Dietetic Association will meet at 6 p.m. Thursday in Justin 150.
- Golden Key National Honor Society will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday in Union 207.
- Alpha Kappa Psi will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Eisenhower 15. A representative of Myers and Stauffer will speak, so dress is business casual.
- Alpha Phi Alpha will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Union 206. Those interested in the Miss Black and Gold 2000 competition are invited to attend.
- Hillel Jewish Student Organization will meet at 9 p.m. Thursday at Java Espresso & Bakery.
- Students for Environmental Action will meet at 9 p.m. Thursday in the Union Council Chambers.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Riley County

Monday, Sept. 11



- At 10 a.m., Patrick A. Murphy, 2118 Casement Road, was arrested for possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of a controlled substance. Bond was set at $1500.
- At 11 a.m., Harry C. Salt, Jr., 210 S. Manhattan Ave., was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $500.
- At 3:30 p.m., Tameka M. Jones, Fort Riley, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $500.
- At 3:30 p.m., Rodrigo R. Mondaca, Fort Riley, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $80.
- At 4:50 p.m., Daniel R. Westgate, 805 Colorado St., was arrested for burglary, possession of drug paraphernalia, possession of a controlled substance and no drug tax stamp.

K-State Police

- No reports of note were made.

Sprint

Experience a world of opportunity...

Sprint offers a world of opportunity for talented individuals in the areas of applied and emerging technology, business and finance. If you have what it takes to turn vision into reality,

we'd like to talk to you.

To learn more about Sprint's career opportunities, contact your Career and Employment Office or visit our website at www.sprint.com/hr. Equal opportunity employer M/F/D/V.

Experience Sprint.

FAMILY DAY 2000

WELCOME TO THE WILLIE-ENIUM

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

Saturday, September 16

-Air Force ROTC and Drill Exhibitions. Ahearn Field House. 8:30am

-Army ROTC Vehicle Display, Weapons Demonstrations, Army Displays and Tactics Demonstrations. Military Science Building. 9:00 am to noon

-College of Engineering Reception and Presentations. Durland/Rathbone/Fiedler Hall. 9:00am to 10:15am

-Portraits with Willie. Ground Floor of the K-State Student Union. 9:00am to 11:00am.

-Insects and People Through History. 133 Waters Hall. 9:00am to noon.

-Taste of K-State. Dairy Bar, Call Hall. 9:00am to noon. Meat Sales Laboratory, 111 Weber Hall. 9:00am to noon. Bakery, Shellenberger Hall. 9:00am to noon

-Guided Tours of K-State's Main Campus. Tours meet on the Ground Floor of the K-State Student Union. 9:30am and 10:00am.

-College of Business Administration Reception and Tour. Calvin Hall. 8:30am to 10:30am.

-College of Agriculture Reception. K-State Gardens, Denison Avenue-north of Claflin Avenue. 10:00am to noon.

-College of Veterinary Medicine Tour. Meet in the lobby of Trotter Hall (middle building of the Veterinary Medicine Complex). Please note, this tour will start promptly at 10:00am.

-Botanical Garden and Conservatory. Denison Avenue-north of Claflin Avenue. 10:00am to noon.

-Chemistry Magic Show. 114 Willard Hall. 10:00am & 11:00am.

-Macdonald Laboratory Tour. 119 Cardwell Hall. 10:30am & 2:00pm.

-Food Court open. 10:00 am to 2:00pm. Buger King, Taco Bell and Ice Cream 11:00am to 2:00pm. Subway 9:00am to 10:30pm

-Family Day Lunch Specials: K-State Student Union Food Court. Dine in or take out. Shaved BBQ beef or pork piled high on a homemade bun, home fries, southern baked beans, corn fritters and salad: $3.95. Burger King, Taco Bell, Chick-fil-a, pizza and ice cream specials also available for 4, 6 or 8 meal deals. 10:00am - 5:00pm

-K-State Student Union Bookstore Fashion Show. Ground Floor, K-State Student Union. 2:30pm & 3:30pm.

-K-State Football vs. Ball State. Wagner Stadium. 6:10pm. Call 800-221-CATS for tickets.

-Union Program Council Movie - "Shaft" - Forum Hall, Ground Floor, K-State Student Union. $1.75 per person at the door. 7:00pm and 9:30pm.

SPONSORS

Aggieville Barbershop
Aggieville Business Association
Alan Clark Body Shop, Inc.
Alpha Xi Delta
The Barn at Kimble Cliff
BURGER KING® at K-State Student Union
Cambridge Square Apartment Homes
KSU Career and Employment Services
The City of Manhattan, Kansas
Danenberg Jewelers, Inc.
Dr. Paul E. Bullock Optometry
Farmhouse Fraternity
Fine Line Tattoo, Inc.
Glenn's Music
Grand Mere Development, Inc.
Henton Plumbing & Air Conditioning, Inc.
Hunam Express Chinese Restaurant
J and I Gifts & Ceramics
K-State Federal Credit Union
Kansas Electric Supply Company
Kansas Farm Bureau Services, Inc.
Kansas On-Line Systems, Inc.
Kansas State Bank
Kansas State University Alumni Association
Kansas State University Foundation
The Ken Ebert Design Group Architects and Planning Consultants
Management & Training Corporation
Manhattan Center for the Arts
Manpower Temporary Services
McCullough Property Management
Mercy Health Center
Murdock Auto Mall
Optical Perspectives
Oz Online
Pfeifley Jewelers
Pugh Communications Services, Inc.
Rad-A-Tat Tattoo
Reed and Elliot Jewelers, Inc.
Resco Chiropractic
Rusty's Last Chance
Thomas Sign Advertising, Inc
UMB Bank, N.A.
Universal Insurance Services
Valley View Memorial Gardens
Village Inn
Wal-Mart
Woody's Ladies Shop

Saturday, September 16

Manhattan resident enjoys rewarding profession as firefighter

By JAMIE BARRETT
Kansas State Collegian

working in the COMMUNITY
Who: Scott French
Position: Manhattan firefighter

Manhattan firefighter Scott French never intended to become a firefighter.

"I don't think I ever wanted to become a firefighter," French said. "I got into it as a student, and just fell in love with the job."

French began working for the Manhattan Fire Department six years ago as a student firefighter while he was attending K-State. He since has moved up in rank to the position of fire driver 1.

"Firefighters are not just firefighters," he said. "There is a hierarchy of ranks that you go through beginning with firefighter, moving to firefighter 1 and 2, and then to fire drivers 1 and 2."

French said a normal day at work begins at 8 a.m. and ends at 5 p.m., but he isn't off duty when the normal workday is over.

"We work 24-hour schedules, so when our day ends at 5 p.m., we are still technically on duty till 8 the next day," French said.

A normal workday for a firefighter consists of checking in trucks and equipment, cleaning up the station, servicing any hydrants that need it and taking a variety of classes.

French said the stereotype that firefighters just sit around and wait for a fire to happen isn't true.

"We always have something to do," he said. "One of the best things about my job is that it is never monotonous. We do have daily things that we have to take care of, but at any given moment we could have to go out on a fire or rescue."

For French, the stress of being a firefighter can be tough at times, but he said there are so many rewarding aspects of his job that it all makes up for it.

"The stressful part of being a firefighter mainly depends on the individual," he said. "You have to be able to put it in the perspective that it is just a job. The stress can be bad, but it is just a matter of outlet."

French said being a firefighter in Manhattan has significant ups and downs. He said the number of fire and rescue calls increases when school is in session.

There have been 78 incident reports since school began Aug. 21, and French said there has only been one structure fire since then as well.

Lt. Dirk Cott said being a firefighter in Manhattan is unusual because they depend on the students for work.

"A unique thing about being a firefighter in Manhattan is that we would not have jobs if it we not for the students," Cott said.

However, he said he agrees with French that there never is a dull moment as a firefighter.

"It is an interesting job," Cott said. "We run things so they are never the same, and, of course, we always have something new that happens and has to be taken care of."

French said he enjoys the fact that his job is not typical, but sometimes finds it difficult to spend as much time with his family as he would like.

"I have a wife and two small children, so it is sometimes hard for them when I am gone for 24-hour periods at a time," he said. "Sometimes I have to work on holidays and be away from them, so it takes a special kind of wife and family to help deal with that."

Deanell French, French's wife, said she sees her husband's job as prestigious and rewarding, despite the downfalls that might come every once in a while.

"I support him very much because he loves what he does," Deanell French said. "My son looks up to him not only as a dad, but also as a sort of hero. That is a rewarding thing, and it makes me feel good that he does something to help people."

French said he believes the heroism associated with being a firefighter is overrated, but the sense of accomplishment he gets from his job makes it almost seem heroic.

"Few and far between are considered heroes," he said. "Most of us are not out here to be heroes — we just want to help people."

MICHAEL YOUNG/Collegian
Firefighter Scott French has been working for the Manhattan Fire Department for six years.

UPC program offers entertainment, food to help students relax after busy week

By JESSICA PITTS
Kansas State Collegian

Students looking for a way to relieve stress after a busy week might have found an answer.

The Union Program Council is beginning a new program Thursday nights called "Weekly Wind-down."

"We originally started this to feature the new barbecue restaurant in the Union," said Cristy Welsh, UPC Promotions Committee chairwoman and senior in public relations. "Then, an idea came about that live entertainment and the restaurant would go great together, and we thought it was something students could enjoy."

The events, which are free to students, will feature a variety of entertainment according to the week of the month.

The first Thursday of the month is designated as Comedy Night, followed by Game Night. Music Night and Movie Night on the following Thursday nights.

"We want students to be able to come and have fun," said Michael Rottinghaus, UPC president and senior in elementary education. "We thought by having a variety of fun, free events it was a good way to attract students to check out the Union Station and everything it has to offer."

This Thursday will kick off the program with Game Night. It will feature Grocery Market Bingo beginning at 8 p.m. in the Union Station.

"Basically, the students will play bingo for a chance to win groceries," Rottinghaus said. "We think the students will have a great time, plus they are going to be receiving some free groceries. What could be better?"

The following Thursday, a live jazz band, The Bobby Watson Quartet, will perform at 8 p.m.

Ending the month, an Adam Sandler Movie Night will begin at 6 p.m. Sept. 28.

"We will show three movies that night, so students can come and go as they please," Welsh said. "It should be a great, fun way to relax after a busy week."

The movies will be "Billy Madison," "Happy Gilmore" and "The Waterboy."

Amy Musil, sophomore in public relations, said she plans to attend some of the events because they sound like a fun way to relax.

"I think they are a great idea," she said. "I think it gives students something to do that doesn't cost a lot of money. I'll probably go and see what is all going on."

The events are on a trial basis for the semester, Welsh said.

"We have the schedule for the entire semester planned," Welsh said. "If everything goes good and we have a good turnout, students can expect to see the same program next semester. This is a whole Union effort, and we are hoping for success."

LONGHORNS LADIES NIGHT LONGHORNS
$1.00 Domestic Bottles

YOU HAVE THE POWER TO CHANGE THE WORLD AROUND YOU!
United Way
...helping kids in Riley County
The power of U™

• Big Brothers/ Big Sisters • Boys and Girls Club of Manhattan • Kaw Valley Girls Scout Council
When you give to United Way, you are providing after-school tutoring, helping our youth find a friend, or learn a new skill.
By donating to agencies like Girl Scouts, Big Brothers/Big Sisters and Boys and Girls Club, your gift gives children the opportunity to develop the skills and abilities needed to make healthy choices throughout their lives.
Don't underestimate "The Power of You" to make a difference! Please give to United Way.
United Way of Riley County 106 S. 4th Street Manhattan, KS 66502 (785) 776-3779

K-State Student Union HAIR CARE CENTER
Save on a cut or perm with BECKY at the K-State Student Union Hair Care Center.
Present this coupon:
K-State Student Union Hair Care Center
SAVE $2 OFF a Haircut
or
SAVE $5 OFF a Perm
Offer good 5-8 p.m. WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY and Saturday by appointment. Valid through 10/30/00
Located in the Union's Lower Level Recreation Area

McDonald's of Manhattan Employment Opportunities

CREW POSITIONS AVAILABLE
FLEXIBLE HOURS THAT WORK AROUND YOUR CLASS SCHEDULE
Full time and part time-Competitive pay
Premium pay for opening and closing shifts
Available shifts:
5am-8am 5am-10:30am 5am-1pm
6am-10am 6am-2pm
11am-1pm 11am-4pm 11am-7pm
4pm-7pm 4pm-12am 8pm-12am
Please apply in person at 815 N. 3rd Street
or 1011 Westloop

Sometimes it's worth the wait...
Sometimes it's worth the RUSH...
Leslie Ahlvers, Bryanne Albert, Kari Baldonado, Ali Basore, Jenny Beauchamp, Jody Bell, Abby Blackwell, Jenny Boeh, Megan Bolton, Sarah Brown, Larisa Budnovitch, Amy Buller, Erin Cole, Challie Deniston, Angie Diederich, Jackie Dill, Briana DiPierro, Andrea Drake, Erin Eskie, Jennifer Feist, Elizabeth Francis, Krista Guental, Jill Hammerschmidt, Allison Hansen, Jennifer Hattan, Kylie Haverkamp, Carrie Johnson, Amy Long, Ashley Lutz, Tiffany Mattson, Megan McPheter, Dianna Meyer, Georgia Mulligan, Katie Naughton, Erin O'Connor, Stephanie Rector, Kimberly Riffel, Reina Rodriguez, Rebecca Ruggles, Amy Schultz, Kate Spaeth, Lindsey Sullivan, Amy Summers, Tara Surface, Jena Thom, Kylie Van Dyne, Amy Verstraete, Natalie Wardlow, Kristin Warren, Heather Wheeler, Lacey Zellers
Congratulations to the new members of Delta Delta Delta!
Δ your sisters

City officials have no right to ban smoking

Every restaurant and bar in Manhattan received two drafts of an ordinance concerning a citywide smoking ban to gage the response of local businesses.

Responses from these surveys were brought back to the attention of the Manhattan City Commission meeting Tuesday night.

The decision to ban smoking in restaurants and bars should not be made by the government and strictly enforced on local business owners. The government should encourage people to be more considerate about smoking, but there should not be any laws demanding that people refrain from the habit.

The decision to allow people to smoke, or not to smoke, should be made by those who own and run the businesses.

Perhaps those in restaurants should try to put more room between designated smoking and non-smoking areas.

People who are strongly against smoking should avoid going to places that do not agree with their stance on this subject.

Keep in mind there is a difference between going to a bar in Aggieville on Saturday night and a nice restaurant for an evening meal. With that stated, there should be no law, but instead common courtesy, especially in restaurants with a family atmosphere. To go without smoking for an hour is not asking that much of anyone.

The bottom line is that the commission should not try to go overboard with their power. The decision to allow smoking should be made by those whose business it directly affects.

▶ OUR VIEW
is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Reed Dunn
Editor in Chief

Tanner Ehmke
Managing Editor

Jenn Davoren
News Editor

Erin Schneweis
Opinion Editor

Jamie Barrett
Campus Editor

Sarah Bahari
City/Government Editor

Kristen Dymacek
Arts & Entertainment Editor

Derek Boss
Sports Editor

Becky Wilson
Copy Chief

Sara Martin
Design Editor

CAMPUS fourum 395-4444

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions on topics relevant to the publication.

I agree that cell phones are irritating when used in class, but walking across campus while talking on a cell phone means you have a social life. If you had one, you would understand.

■

Is anyone else suffering from senioritis? It's the fourth week of class and I have yet to crack a book.

■

Zac Cook's right — we should be able to drink at the games. Hell, it used to be the only way you could watch a K-State game.

■

Did anybody else see Ryan Young say that he played for the University of Kansas State on "Monday Night Football?"

■

On average, a KSU student has zero to five exams on Tuesdays. Hey, professors, what part of "Monday Night Football" don't you understand?

■

Yeah, I was calling wondering why there wasn't a riot after Asbury got fired from being a coach here at Kansas State?

■

This goes out to anyone with ICAT tickets. Three words: class action lawsuit.

■

Asbury's contract bought for $655,000. Budget cuts to the Kansas State University of $618,000. Coincidence?

■

Coach Wooldridge, please, ignore some of our brain-impaired students. Thank you.

■

Second day, no police reports. Thank you, K-State Police.

■

Yeah, I was wondering if the elevators in Haymaker have always been this slow?

OFFICIAL state column

NIN, ticks also vie for nominations

KEN WELLS

They call it the "X-fish." No, it's not some "X-Men" spinoff; it's not a superheroic trout with powers and abilities beyond those of normal fish.

It's an extinct, longer-than-a-car, pointy-toothed critter who swam the seas that filled this region back, oh, 90 million years ago. It's a voracious predator, uglier than the Saints-Chargers game Sunday and just might be our official state fossil.

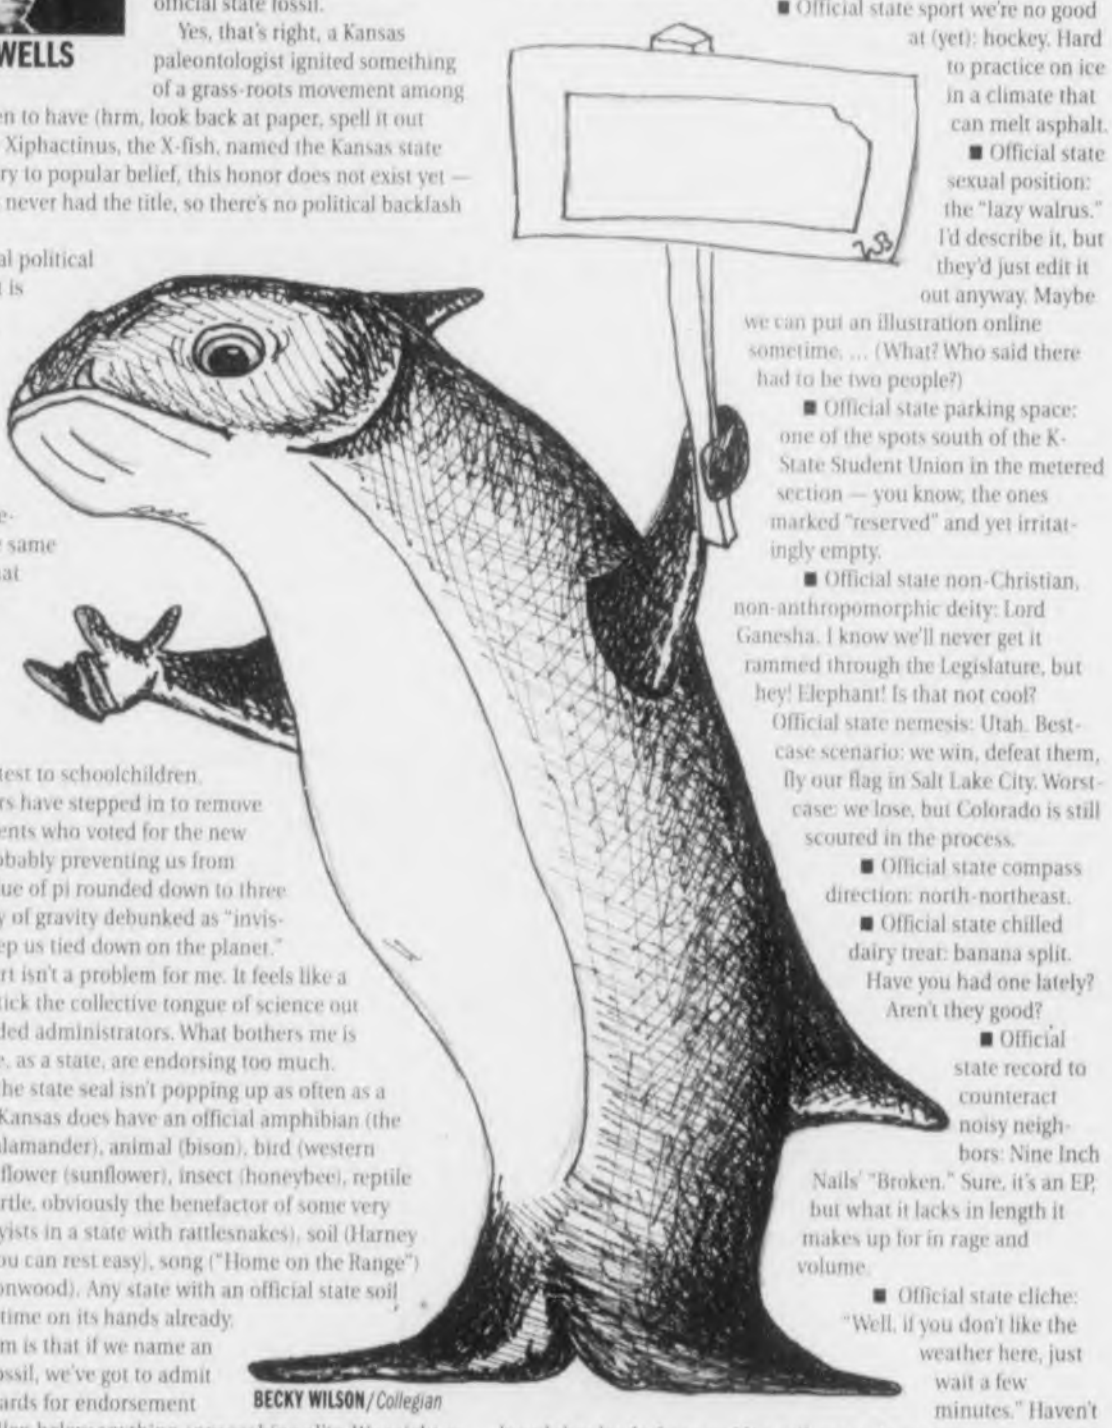
Yes, that's right, a Kansas paleontologist ignited something of a grass-roots movement among schoolchildren to have (hrm, look back at paper, spell it out phonetically) Xiphactinus, the X-fish, named the Kansas state fossil. Contrary to popular belief, this honor does not exist yet — Bob Dole has never had the title, so there's no political backlash there.

No, the real political sticking point is that this proposal is being floated by the State Board of Education for its endorsement. Yes, the same state board that drew international criticism for voting to de-emphasize evolution on standardized test to schoolchildren. Granted, voters have stepped in to remove a few incumbents who voted for the new standards, probably preventing us from having the value of pi rounded down to three and the theory of gravity debunked as "invisible angels keep us tied down on the planet."

But this part isn't a problem for me. It feels like a great way to stick the collective tongue of science out at guppy-minded administrators. What bothers me is that maybe we, as a state, are endorsing too much.

So maybe the state seal isn't popping up as often as a Nike swoosh. Kansas does have an official amphibian (the barred tiger salamander), animal (bison), bird (western meadowlark), flower (sunflower), insect (honeybee), reptile (ornate box turtle, obviously the benefactor of some very powerful lobbyists in a state with rattlesnakes), soil (Harney silt loam, so you can rest easy), song ("Home on the Range") and tree (cottonwood). Any state with an official state soil has too much time on its hands already.

The problem is that if we name an official state fossil, we've got to admit that our standards for endorsement finally have fallen below anything approaching elite. We might as well open the floodgates, create more possible state-of-Kansas tie-ins, merchandise the hell out of our endorsements. And I know just where to start.



■ Official state marsupial: the 'possum, of course. No, not an o-possum. 'Possum. If you're thinking of a cute, hanging-from-a-tree-by-its-tail critter, you're probably pronouncing it "o-possum." Huh-uh.

If you know the snarling, hissing, faking-death, henhouse-infiltrating, egg-eating varmint, then odds are you're sayin' "'possum." It's our marsupial by default, because we're plum outta kangaroos.

■ Official state blood-sucking parasite: the tick. No, not the blue-clad avenger who cries "Spoooon!" but those kernel-sized arachnids that latch on and drain their victims dry until they swell up and change colors. The fortunate know them from their feeding on animals. The less fortunate of us know them from feeding on us. (No, not me, I'm not that tasty.)

■ Official state sign: a "no hunting" sign painted on an old tire and mounted on a fencepost. We don't have enough of those.

■ Official state gang sign: make your hand into a "secret devil sign" — all fingers extended and outstretched except the middle and ring fingers — and point the fingers down. It's an udder. You're now flashing the sign of the Moo-Tang Clan. Word is bond.

BECKY WILSON/Collegian

■ Official state sport we're no good at (yet): hockey. Hard to practice on ice in a climate that can melt asphalt.

■ Official state sexual position: the "lazy walrus." I'd describe it, but they'd just edit it out anyway. Maybe we can put an illustration online sometime. ... (What? Who said there had to be two people?)

■ Official state parking space: one of the spots south of the K-State Student Union in the metered section — you know, the ones marked "reserved" and yet irritatingly empty.

■ Official state non-Christian, non-anthropomorphic deity: Lord Ganesha. I know we'll never get it rammed through the Legislature, but hey! Elephant! Is that not cool?

Official state nemesis: Utah. Best-case scenario: we win, defeat them, fly our flag in Salt Lake City. Worst-case: we lose, but Colorado is still scoured in the process.

■ Official state compass direction: north-northeast.

■ Official state chilled dairy treat: banana split. Have you had one lately? Aren't they good?

■ Official state record to counteract noisy neighbors: Nine Inch Nails' "Broken." Sure, it's an EP, but what it lacks in length it makes up for in rage and volume.

■ Official state cliche: "Well, if you don't like the weather here, just wait a few minutes." Haven't heard that lately, have we? We will again. Trust me.

■ Official state taunt: "raising the roof." It's cardiovascular.

■ Official state breakfast beverage: coffee. Duh.

■ Official state breakup excuse: "It's not you, it's me." Vague, effective and puncture-proof. How can they say it's not you?

The possibilities are endless, of course, some would say excessive. But if we're going to honor a long-dead guppy-eating gill-breather, why can't we celebrate the diversity and wonder that is our state?

Or if we can clone a cow ... maybe we can restock the X-fish someday ... maybe in Tuttle Creek. ...

Ken is a graduate student in English. You can e-mail him at sigma7@ksu.edu

READERS WRITE

Basketball team needs coaching from Knight

Editor,

I am an '80 Dallas alumnus who is extremely proud of how improved K-State is in football.

However, my fondest memories of K-State were when basketball was king with Jack Hartman at the helm. K-State had just as much respect in men's basketball then as they have in football now.

It is sad to see KU pound our basketball teams over the past 15 plus years. It would be a blessing if K-State's president had the leadership nerve to bring Bobby Knight to Manhattan.

Ah ... the recruiting possibilities and the basketball respect could also return to Manhattan. Wow ... now that new arena y'all have could be renamed Ahearn Field House II ... Like the sequel continues ... What memories. Go Cats!

— David Longhofer
Lewisville, Texas

Columnist's criticism of candidate ignorant

Editor,

I must disagree with Terry Welch's assessment of George W. Bush's faith.

It is strange that he would take such issue with Bush saying that Jesus was his favorite political philosopher, while not even mentioning Sen. Joe Liebermann's repeated proclamations of faith. In fact, Liebermann has made his Jewish faith one of the central issues of his campaign.

Apparently Welch, like most of the left, believes that a religious statement by a politician is fine unless it is a Christian one, in which case it is to be mocked, ridiculed and despised.

He takes Bush to task for "presiding over" more than 120 executions in Texas. Yet he never mentions that Al Gore, as vice president in the Clinton administration, has presided over the deaths of nearly 9 million innocent unborn children and is radically pro-abortion.

There is a vast difference between presiding over justice, which is a God-given role of government (see Romans 13:4), and presiding over murder.

If Welch really believes that the Bible teaches communism or socialism, he should be reminded that every instance of wealth redistribution in the New Testament is purely voluntary.

In fact, the more the government takes of my money, the less I am able to give to those charities which actually succeed in helping those who are in need.

I understand that Welch doesn't like Bush, but he shouldn't be so quick to accuse Bush of being a hypocrite.

— Scott M. Roney
junior in chemical engineering

Fathers need to assert more control over daughters

RICK WOOTEN

At the risk of lowering my chances for physical involvement with a female this semester from 1 percent to 0.01 percent, I would like to offer the following as an organization for membership: Fathers Against Daughters. Don't get me wrong. If I were to be fortunate enough to have a daughter, I would love and defend her with everything I have.

And it is the latter of those that is the reason why I would rather have sons than daughters. I am protective of all the women in my life, but if someone were to hurt a daughter of mine it would be returned tenfold.

This subject stems from the recent MTV Video Music Awards in which the dress of Christina Aguilera and the undressing of Britney Spears made my jaw hit the floor.

No teen-age daughter of mine would ever be caught wearing such a thing, let alone on national television. Then again, some of what our own coeds wear leaves as much to the imagination as me dreaming of saying good night to Mrs. Britney Spears-Wooten.

As a 22-year-old, red-blooded American male, I have no problem watching music videos or ogling Classy Cats. But as a potential father, I might have a problem with my daughter taking her clothes off and making out with another topless girl on top of the bar at Porter's. Such events both tease and displease.

That moment is only rivaled by a former neighbor of mine who frequently complained about receiving obscene phone calls. I didn't have the heart to tell him that his high school-aged daughter already had participated in an amateur adult movie.

Strangely, her backyard tanning sessions frequently coincided with my mowing of the lawn. Her household had the hottest girl in the neighborhood, and mine had the shortest grass. I heard recently that she had given birth to a baby boy. Thank goodness.

This brings me to my next question for all potential fathers out there: Would you rather pay for your daughter's birth control or abortion?

Perhaps you might get to pay for the herpes treatment or cocktail of AIDS drugs. Adam Corolla of "Loveline" has proposed that all adolescent girls send him their hymens and he will return them at the age of 35. Being a little more sane and a little less stoned, I would just sew my daughter's knees together until the age of 20.

The "Loveline" radio program provides much of the material for what scares me about daughters. Fourteen-year-old girls call up to brag that they still are virgins although they have lost their "be-hymens." Or a 12-year-old girl will call and ask Dr. Drew if her providing of oral sex is to blame for her acne. Her dad must be proud.

I already have informed Melissa Etheridge and her partner that my sperm should be used only for the development of the XY chromosome pair.

They have refused to help start our follow-up organization, Mothers Against Daughters. So has Madonna. Damn role models.

From what I know, I am not a father yet, so my involvement in Fathers Against Daughters will be limited. Until that time ... Britney, will you marry me?

Rick is a senior in radio/TV broadcasting. You can e-mail him at rwooten@collegianmail.com

Students return from study-abroad semester in Prague

By NANCY HULL
Kansas State Collegian

Seventeen K-State students no longer walk on cobblestone streets, pass gothic castles, stone cathedrals and a tin church on their way to class.

Now that the 17 students who studied in the Czech Republic's historic city of Prague through the International Student Exchange Program are back in Manhattan, they fondly remember the place they called home last spring.

"I miss being surrounded by beautiful buildings that are hundreds of years old," Melody Ellis, senior in architecture, said. "But more than that, I miss the ambience of waking up in a European city and knowing that I can survive and can handle any situation."

Survival in this foreign city brought frustration at times for Ellis.

"Grocery shopping was very chaotic," Ellis said. "From the time I was little and went grocery shopping with my mom, I've just known the food labels here. There isn't any English on the labels there, so you don't know what you're getting into."

She said the language barrier didn't cause large problems for her.

"I lived with three Czechs and three that were Finnish. They learned more English than I learned of their language, so I was lucky," Ellis said.

Mark Harrison, senior in mechanical engineering, said although people speaking the dominant Czech language usually were cooperative and friendly, it was frustrating at times.

"It was nice to see Americans or K-Staters. Then I didn't have to worry if they understood me or not," Harrison said. "I could let the accent go and was able to speak normally."

Ellis said getting to know the citizens of Prague gave her a better understanding of the country.

"I realized that this is an interesting time period for them," she said. "They're struggling economically, which allows us to visit very affordably, but they have so much potential right now."

Harrison said everything was cheap in Prague compared to the cost of things in the United States.

"You could eat sausage, soup, steak, fries and two large beers, and get it all for $3.50," he said.

Jeff Glasco, senior in industrial engineering, said he saved money while studying in Prague.

Glasco is from Missouri, so he pays out-of-state tuition at K-State. However, through the direct exchange program between K-State and Prague's Czech Technology University, he didn't have to pay the extra tuition.

He said that for engineering, there were a limited number of abroad places that offered the direct exchange.

"At Prague, I understood all the teachers well. All you had to deal with were teachers with a bit of an accent," he said.

Glasco took 10 hours at Czech Tech that will transfer toward a degree at K-State. Class was in session once a week there, but for a longer period of time than a typical K-State class.

In Prague, 11 K-State students attended Czech Tech, and six students attended Charles University.

"They didn't do any hold-your-hand homework, but you had to be ready to take the test," Glasco said. "Things got to be tough at the end of the semester."

While studying, the K-State students stayed in student residence halls in Prague.

"My dorm had just been remodeled," Glasco said. "There was a club and a pub in the basement where we'd hang out a lot."

Glasco travelled to other places in Europe while studying in Prague. He said he visited a total of eight countries, and usually traveled with a few other people. In Prague, the students relied on public transportation to travel.

"It was a big difference to take the trains everywhere," he said. "Over there, they never drive anywhere, but I didn't miss my car at all."

MICHAEL YOUNG/Collegian

Jeff Glasco (back left), Aaron Rickley, Julio Guerrero (front left), Betsy Chilen and Erika Kuntzman were some of the students who went to Prague over the summer.

Glasco said he'd love to go back and travel to more places in Europe.

"The farthest west I went was Germany. I'd go back and spend another month seeing Italy and the rest of the Netherlands."

After school was finished most of the K-State students returned home, but Betsy Chilen, junior in business administration, traveled for an additional three months. She saw a total of 15 countries in Europe.

"It was interesting to see the differences everywhere," Chilen said. "In eastern Europe it's just not as westernized, not as technologically advanced or trendy."

She said she became close to the people she traveled with, and that she has stayed in touch with them.

"I really miss the freedom and time to myself I had there. I always had time to relax in the park and read a book and just walk around during the days in Prague," Chilen said.

While Chilen said she misses many aspects of her semester in Prague, she said the experience made positive changes in her life.

"I do appreciate America, but now I'm more accepting to others and what they want to do," she said.

Chilen said she grew up a lot by having to live on her own in a different country.

"I have a different perspective on how much there is to do," she said. "After seeing Europe, I know how many types of people there are and how much there is to see and do in the world."

KSU organizations
Join an organization and get involved!

Interested in the environment?
Students for Environmental Action
Join SEA for wonderful opportunities to help KSU and Manhattan's environment. Meetings are Thursday evenings at 9 p.m. in the Student Union Council Chambers.
Chair, Amy Dix, 395-2713; Adviser, Ryan Green, 532-4995.

National Sorority, Inc.
SIGMA LAMBDA GAMMA
Founded on principles of academics, morals and ethics, cultural awareness, community service, and social interaction. For more information, contact evillarr@hotmail.com.
"Cultura es orgullo . . . orgullo es exito."

KSU Paintball Club is fun!
Kansas State Paintball Club
We play twice a month and have meetings twice a month. Members get discounts at the local fields and store.
For more information call 770-8646 or e-mail Gavin Anderson gda1560@ksu.edu or Paintball Trader, 111 S. 5th, 785-539-5979.

Get involved.
Union Program Council
UPC is the largest student-run programming organization on campus. You can help choose what comedians, lecturers, movies and events come to the K-State Student Union.
Contact the UPC office: K-State Student Union Room 301, 532-6571.

Weekly Flour Sale
12 noon - 4 p.m. Wednesday
Shellenberger 220
5 and 50 lb. bags
Many varieties available
GRAIN SCIENCE CLUB
532-6161

Hey, Student Organizations!
★EXTRA★ Register Your Club Today!
Registration Deadline:
Friday, September 22nd
Registration forms are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services (Ground Floor K-State Union). 532-6541

⚠Why be registered?⚠
Registered groups can:
1. Reserve university meeting rooms and facilities
2. Request funds from Student Governing Association
3. Obtain approval of fund-raising activities

■ Look for the rowing feature on the Smedley twins on Thursday's sports page.

SPORTS EDITOR: DEREK BOSS
532-0732 ■ sports@spub.ksu.edu

When twin sisters Cari and Kris Jensen enrolled at K-State for their freshman year, they stuck together. They have the exact same class schedule and both play volleyball for the Wildcats.
JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

mirror images

Jealousy no issue for sisters on Wildcat volleyball team

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

Throughout her entire volleyball career, Kris Jensen has been overshadowed by her twin sister, Cari.

Both Jensens were outside hitters at Fowler High School in Fowler, Colo., but now at K-State, Cari is leading the team in kills, while Kris is learning the new position of defensive specialist.

Even a K-State volleyball press release seems to relegate Kris to a sidekick status. Cari is described as "a big surprise," while Kris is touted as the "Twin of Cari."

The constant comparisons would cause some to wonder why Kris — is a fine athlete in her own right, reigning as Ms. Basketball Colorado the last two years — would want to attend the same school and play on the same team as Cari.

The answer is simple: Kris doesn't care if Cari receives most of the attention. They're sisters, and that's all that matters.

"There's no jealousy or anything between us," Kris said. "I think it's really awesome having your best friend, so it's really fun to be playing together. I like it."

Even the difference in playing time couldn't deter Kris from coming to K-State with her sister, she said.

"I knew I was coming here to be a defensive specialist," Kris said. "To learn new things, you're going to have frustrating times. You've just got to overcome them and have fewer and fewer frustrating times.

"We both knew coming in that there's places to play. If I work hard every day, sooner or later there will be a place for me."

Kris might be outshone by Cari, but one shouldn't assume it's because of a deep-seated sibling rivalry, though, Cari said.

"We don't get jealous of each other, we don't try to outdo each other. We just both work hard," Cari said. "It comes from both of us having the same attitude."

Sharing that same kind of mindset, in addition to keeping them at peace on the court, keeps them friends off the court as well. The sisters not only play together, but room together, too, Cari said.

"We've been around each other for so long that being apart from each other, I think, would be hard," she said. "We've just done everything together so far. Going away from each other would have been a lot different."

Having a friend who can honestly give an affirmative answer to the question, "You know what I'm thinking?" also helps relieve the stress produced by that often tumultuous first semester of college, Cari said.

"There's confusing times, and just learning new stuff, it gets all bottled up sometimes," Cari said. "I think its easier coming in with a twin. You just have somebody else going through it with you."

While Cari and Kris share many of the same characteristics and values, they are not carbon copies of each other. At 6 feet, Cari is almost four inches taller than Kris, so it should be easy to tell the two apart. That's not always the case, however, Kris said.

"We don't look too much alike, so a lot of people just think we're sisters," she said. "But once they do know that we're twins, they kind of get us mixed up. I don't if it's just a twin thing or what."

Random people are not the only ones to suffer from a case of mistaken identity. The entire K-State volleyball team has failed to make the distinction on more than one occasion, Kris said.

"It's pretty funny, because they think we both sound exactly alike," Kris said. "Like on the court, they can't tell the difference between the two of our voices."

Their voices aside, the Jensens are totally different people, though, Cari said.

"I think we're probably the same in the way we think, just from growing up and having the same values from our parents," Cari said. "But we don't rely on each other to get through life. We are both our own individual and can make our own choices."

For Kris, that choice was to play for K-State with her sister, and she hasn't looked back.

"I've been asked that a lot, especially in high school, because she got tons of awards," Kris said, "but I don't really think of it as her winning and me losing, because I'm right there with her."

K-State to take on Cyclones

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

Even though K-State plays in a conference known for volleyball, one would assume the No. 22 Cats should easily win their Big 12 Conference opener at Iowa State.

Last year, the Cyclones (2-5) only posted a 1-19 conference record, and so far this year, they've only been able to muster two victories. And with No. 24 Baylor looming largely Saturday, K-State (6-2) is in danger of looking past tonight.

As a result, K-State head coach Jim McLaughlin said he's worried about Iowa State, despite their losing record.

"Sometimes there's a tendency to not be fully prepared for an opponent that maybe isn't up at your standards," McLaughlin said. "It just scares me."

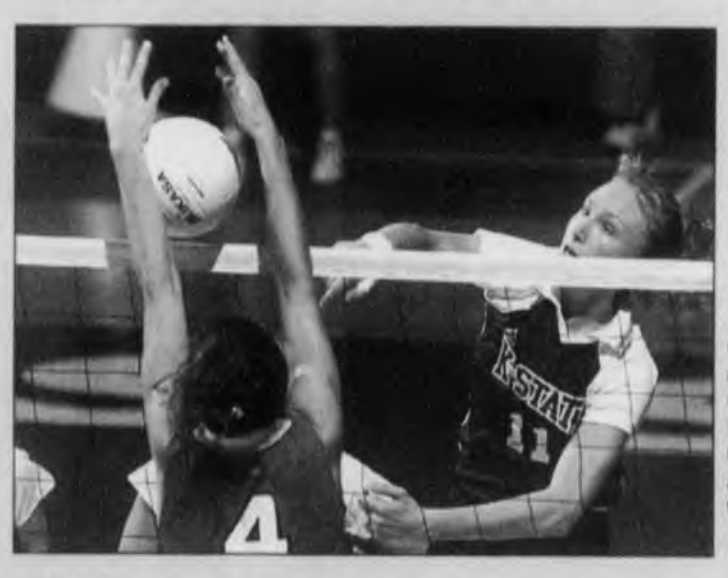
To combat the potential upset, the Cats have practiced for the Cyclones as they would the No. 1 team in the nation, McLaughlin said.

"We prepared for Iowa State like we prepare for Nebraska, and we don't leave anything to chance," he said. "So we're going to be very prepared for this match."

To prepare for conference play, K-State first had to improve its blocking. The Cats were not making mistakes; they just were not blocking well enough to defeat a championship caliber team, McLaughlin said.

"It's not a problem. We just want to be great at it," he said. "It's the hardest part of the game for a number of reasons. In every other part of the game, you have feedback based on results.

"In blocking, it's tough to be successful. When passing, you can see where the ball goes, but in blocking, you can do it right, and they can still have success."



The importance of blocking is exhibited by the play of outside hitter Jenny Pollard. She has performed well, but with the addition of blocking to her arsenal, she has become even more dangerous, McLaughlin said.

"Jenny learns relatively fast," he said. "She's handling her role well. She passes the ball extremely well. Her approach, her timing, her rhythm is getting better, and now she's learning how to block. So her plate's pretty full."

While Pollard is playing better than expected, Liz Wegner still is looking for a complete game. The junior outside hitter was mentioned in preseason publications as a possible All-American, but has struggled at times due to switching sides of the court. McLaughlin said he's not worried, however.

"Her movement patterns are a little bit different, her timing with (setter) Disney (Bronnenberg) is very different and she needs the opportunities to respond," McLaughlin said, "and she's getting those opportunities. She will get better as we go."

The opening serve between the Cats and Cyclones will hit the court at 7 tonight in Ames, Iowa's Hilton Coliseum.

Cari Jensen spikes a ball during the 2000 Wildcat Classic at Ahearn Field House last weekend. Cari's twin sister, Kris, also is on the volleyball team.
JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

True freshman Leckey gets playing time on offensive line

By DAN SMITH
Kansas State Collegian

Freshmen at KSU Stadium learn early that wearing anything but purple for a gameday is awkward and unpopular. In fact, some might say that wearing red simply is unacceptable in Manhattan.

So, when K-State's offensive line coach Paul Dunn approached redshirt freshman Nick Leckey, his decision was easy.

When Dunn asked Leckey to exchange that redshirt for a purple number 53 on the Wednesday before the Louisiana Tech game, Leckey was more than willing to say, "Yes, I'll take it off."

At 6 feet, 4 inches and 285 pounds, Leckey is expected to add depth to this year's offensive line.

Head coach Bill Snyder said that if Leckey continues to improve and work hard in practice, he could expect to see 25 percent of the snaps on Saturdays.

What makes Leckey so useful to the Wildcats is his versatility. Leckey improved his chances to play by becoming more adept to both sides of the offensive line last spring and this summer.

The majority of Leckey's snaps came from left tackle in high school, so he needed to learn how to play guard to compete for a job on the line.

"He's got a good base of fundamentals that relate to what we do here," Snyder said. "Nick has impressed all of us. He works extremely hard and he's a focused practice player.

LECKEY

Leckey's hard work and focus during practice and film sessions have helped him to become the first true freshman to get playing time under Snyder since defensive end Monty Beisel in 1997. Considering his high school career, it's understandable.

While at Grapevine High School, Leckey started three years, helping the Mustangs to two Texas state titles in 1996 and 1998.

The freshman's résumé already is filled with honors. Leckey was listed as one of the top-80 players in the Big 12 region by Rivals.com, and was selected by PrepStar as one of the top-13 offensive-line prospects in the Midlands.

However, Leckey is modest of his accomplishments, especially those in a Wildcat uniform.

"I strung a few good practices together," Leckey said.

Those good practices have built expectations for Leckey. He will be relied on heavily to string good game time decisions together in protecting senior quarterback Jonathan Beasley and K-State's three-headed rushing game.

However, Leckey said it's no easy task at the collegiate level with such a high caliber opposition.

"The lineman and linebackers are all bigger, faster, better and smarter," Leckey said, "but I adapt well."

Leckey's adaptation to the college game is made easier because of the support the experienced players give him during practice.

"In practice, sometimes he messes up, and he gets these big eyes like, 'Oh man, I messed up,'" Beasley said, "but the older guys tell him to calm down and don't worry about it."

Beasley said any player on this team must be willing to open the door when both opportunity and Snyder come knocking.

"If you're going to get the opportunity," Beasley said of Leckey's appearance, "then we're going to count on you. Just go out there and play the best you can."

Knight has positive NCAA reputation, despite recent incidents

FRANK FLATON

Bobby Knight's a jerk. Those four little words usually are the first out of anyone's mouth when the topic of his firing approaches.

Sure, I admit it. He's a jerk. He throws chairs, shows his feces to his players, cusses and beats people up. He's a bully, a tyrant.

What people seem to be forgetting, though, is that Bobby Knight, despite being brash and belligerent, is a legend. Maybe one of the best.

Few coaches in NCAA history have done what he's done.

He's the only coach ever to win an NCAA championship, NIT title, the Pan American Gold and the Olympic gold medal. He has three national titles, is a four-time national coach of the year and needed just 117 wins to surpass Dean Smith as the all-time winningest coach in NCAA history.

He boasts a stellar graduation rating and has never been subject to an NCAA violation.

Unfortunately, Knight's positives have been thrown out the window, and now the "General" will be forever known as the jerk who couldn't follow the rules. It's a tragedy.

It's a shame that one of the most talked about and respected coaches in NCAA history had to get fired over something as stupid as a scuffle with a student.

But his firing really has nothing to do with his behavior. It goes deeper than that. Knight was canned not because he's the jerk of all jerks, but he was pink-slipped because: 1) Myles Brand, president of Indiana University, wanted everyone to know that he is the god of Indiana, not Bobby Knight, and 2) Knight's method of coaching is more outdated than bell bottoms.

Bobby Knight's ego is bigger and brighter than that tacky red sweater he always wears. He will never change. Not for himself, not for basketball and definitely not for Brand.

So when Brand and the university gave Knight the ultimatum in May, you can guarantee that Knight could have cared less. Besides, he's Bobby Knight. No man in Indiana is as powerful as he. Take what Bill Snyder is to K-State football, add Genghis Khan and you'll get Bobby Knight's status in Indiana.

Bobby Knight made Indiana basketball. He helped put them on the map. So don't think for one minute that he was going to follow any rules.

Brand knew this. So, he had to show God that he wasn't going to be messed with. Brand was getting pressured by Indiana's faculty and the media to not take any more of Bobby Knight's attitude. And he didn't waste any time.

Indiana University Police hadn't even finished the investigation of Knight's incident with a student Thursday. Brand heard about it and decided right then and there that Knight was gone.

I guess no matter how big and bad one can get, there's always someone who can put you in your place. And Coach Knight forgot that.

Lastly, Bobby Knight's coaching style is outdated. He grew up during the hard-nosed days of college basketball, when discipline was more important than conditioning, and when great defense was far more beloved than a great jump shot.

Knight has been known to yell at players, get in their face and grab them. But college basketball isn't like that anymore.

Now, flashy coaches with slicked-back hair like Florida's Billy Donovan have taken the stage, and hard-nosed disciplinarians like Knight and John Wooden are gone.

It's a different sports world now, and Knight couldn't change. Knight wouldn't know how not to yell at a player, or discuss their problems rather than grabbing them by the neck and throwing them into possession.

That's just not his style.

As great and as smart of a coach as he is, Bobby Knight isn't flexible. He can't change. It's either his way or no way.

And the gritty stubbornness that once led to three national titles cost him his job. It's a damn shame.

Frank is a junior in print journalism. You can e-mail him at fflaton@collegianmail.com.

Career FAIR
Bramlage Colisuem
Tues. Sept 19
10a.m.–4 p.m.

Would you accept $25 to save kids' lives?
Donate your life-saving blood plasma & receive
$25 TODAY
(for approx. 2 hours of your time)
Call or stop by:
Nabi Biomedical Center,
1130 Gardenway, Manhattan
785-776-9177
Fees & donation time may vary. Call for details.
www.nabi.com

AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE
AUTO HOME BUSINESS HEALTH LIFE

Tim Engle
K-State Grad 88
"Call us for your Health and Auto Insurance"
3320 Anderson
539-9200
American Family Mutual Insurance Co. subsidiaries
Home Office-Madison, WI 53783-0001
E-Mail tengle@amfam.com

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

12th Street PUB
Mexican Night
$5.95 Taco Dinner
$2.00 Margaritas
$2.00 Coronas
$4.95 Enchilada Dinner
$6.95 Burrito Dinner
$2.00 Big Beers
ALL MEALS INCLUDE REFRIED BEANS, RICE, AND SALAD.

Purple Pig
Celebrating 4 Years
Seniors, do you remember when?
$1.00 Purple Pig Pints (keep the cup)
75¢ cans
424 Houston St. Downtown
Mon.-Sat. 4p.m.-Midnight 539-7444

Now at 2 Locations
Rose MUFFLER HOUSE
"Our business is exhausting"
Mon.-Fri. 7:30a.m.-5:30p.m.
MUFFLERS & TAILPIPES
DUAL SYSTEMS
AUTOS (American & Foreign)
RVs LIGHT & HEAVY DUTY TRUCKS
CUSTOM PIPE BENDING
COMPLETE BRAKE SERVICE FOR AMERICAN, FOREIGN, & LIGHT TRUCKS
SHOCK ABSORBERS & STRUTS
2329 Sky-Vue Ln.
776-8955 or 1-800-439-8956

Rose HOUSE OF TINT
"A Division of Rose Muffler House"
GLASS TINTING SERVICES AVAILABLE FOR YOUR AUTO, HOME OR BUSINESS
DRAW-TITE
TRAILER HITCHES - SALES & INSTALLATION
2049 Ft Riley Blvd
537-4247 or 1-888-537-4229
Take advantage of our courtesy van for rides to school and home while your vehicle is being serviced.
Both Locations!
FREE ESTIMATES

Union Program Council Events
Showing This Week
SHAFT
Friday 9/15
and
Saturday 9/16
7:00 & 9:30 pm
Forum Hall
Ground Floor
K-State
Student Union
Admission: $1.75
Weekly Wind-down
GAME NIGHT GROCERY MARKET
BINGO
Thursday, September 14
8:00 pm
In the Union Station
K-State Student Union
Sponsored by Dillons
14TH ANNUAL OPUS BAND COMPETITION
FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15
5:00 PM
K-STATE UNION PLAZA
LUNCHTIME LOUNGE
Featuring Ian Davidson with Live Music Entertainment!
Wednesday, September 13
NOON - 1:00 PM
UNION COURTYARD
For Event and Membership Information:
Visit Us! 3rd Floor K-State Student Union!
Call Us! 532-6571
Visit us Online! www.ksu.edu/events

Congratulations!
To The Winners Of
Varney's Book Store
Fabulous Prizes!
Sony Trinitron T.V. ..... Mark Bergner
Sony Trinitron T.V. ..... Shawn Marks
RCA Stereo System ..... Jason Noble
Sony Discman ..... Nathan Bean
Sony Walkman ..... Jaimee Hazlett
Swiss Army Watch ..... Cody Choate
K-StateTeddy Bear ..... Sheila Jarecke
Soccer Ball ..... Randy Martin
Soccer Ball ..... Julie Murphy
Soccer Ball ..... Angela Berry
Soccer Ball ..... Andrew Dean
Soccer Ball ..... Tammy Goodman
Soccer Ball ..... Holly Mettlen
Soccer Ball ..... Marcia DeBoer
Soccer Ball ..... Chad Pease
Varney's Book Store • 623 N. Manhattan Ave.

Once in a Lifetime
engagements and weddings

Sharing your engagement and wedding announcements in the Collegian the first Friday of every month.

Your engagement and wedding are special moments in your life. Let the Kansas State Collegian share the news with family and friends. You can put your announcement with a picture in the Collegian's "Once in a Lifetime" special section for FREE.

"Once in a Lifetime" runs the first Friday of every month, with deadline the Wednesday before.

To publish your announcement, please complete the form and take it to Student Publications, Kedzie 103 (east of the K-State Student Union).

To place a FREE engagement or wedding announcement in the Collegian, complete and submit the following form with a vertical photo to Kedzie 103.

Your name_____
Address_____
City, state, zip _____
Telephone number_____
o I wish to place an engagement announcement.
o I wish to place a wedding announcement.
o I also want to include a photo (must be vertical)
Signature_____

Announcement Information
Groom's name:_____
Year in school: _____
Major: _____
Bride's name:_____
Year in school:_____
Major:_____
Bride's parents:_____
City/State:_____
Groom's parents: _____
City/State:_____
Wedding date:_____
Location (city/state):_____
include information below for wedding announcements
Wedding attendants:_____

Plant pathology professor receives fellowship

By AMY BRIGGS
Kansas State Collegian

Working with plant bacteria and viruses might not sound like a glamorous job, but for one K-State faculty member, it's what her career is all about.

Jan Leach, professor of plant pathology, studies and researches pathogens and has received a fellowship for it.

On Aug. 2, Leach received a letter announcing her election to the Fellowship in the Academy of Microbiology, an honored leadership group within the American Society for Microbiology. The fellowship was for Leach's distinguished career in research.

"I think it's a recognition of many years of her dedication to microbiology," said Bob Zeigler, head of the Department of Plant Pathology. "She's placed the interest of students and colleagues before hers.

"She has considerable contributions to understanding host pathogens interacting at the molecular and genetic level and contributions to the growth of microbiology as a field."

Leach's research centers around rice and its pathogens. She said she chose to study rice for several reasons. It is an important crop around the world, and rice research can be applied to other crops.

"We research rice and how it is resistant to pathogens," Leach said. "Its genome is very small compared to wheat, which is huge. We apply questions to rice and then apply answers to wheat."

To study rice and its pathogens, Leach created a model system. This system is what she is best known for, Leach said.

"We use the model system to understand how a pathogen population changes in rice fields in response to the host plant," Leach said.

In addition to her research at K-State and the International Rice Research Institute in the Philippines, Leach serves an an instructor and adviser for master and doctoral students.

"She has one of the most effective styles of teaching," Zeigler said. "Her dedication to teaching was exemplified by her taking the lead last year in developing a graduate-level course in molecular plant microbe interaction that joined classrooms from three campuses using the Internet."

Students working in Leach's lab focus on molecular plant microbe interaction, and the student research is closely related to Leach's, said Kim Webb, doctoral student in plant pathology.

Working alongside students to help them develop and to foster their learning is one of the advantages to teaching, Leach said.

"I like to see them evolve as they go through the process of becoming good researchers," she said.

"It's fun to watch them get excited about their successes."

Leach helps the students to stay current with advances in their field, Webb said.

"She is very willing to introduce us to other scientists," Webb said. "We are constantly being exposed to new and different thoughts and ideas and research techniques."

Advancing in her research and discoveries and helping to teach students to do the same are part of why Leach received the honorary fellowship, Zeigler said.

"Her example and dedication to excellence in research, teaching and service are a model for all of us at Kansas State University," he said.

We haven't heard from you yet: 395-4444 Campus Fourum

SPECIALS
Sunday & Monday
$1 wells & bottles
Tuesday
$1.50 domestic pitchers & wells
Wednesday
$1 wells & $2 everything
Thursday
$1.50 bottles & wells
Live DJs Tuesday–Sunday
Come pick up our movie schedule
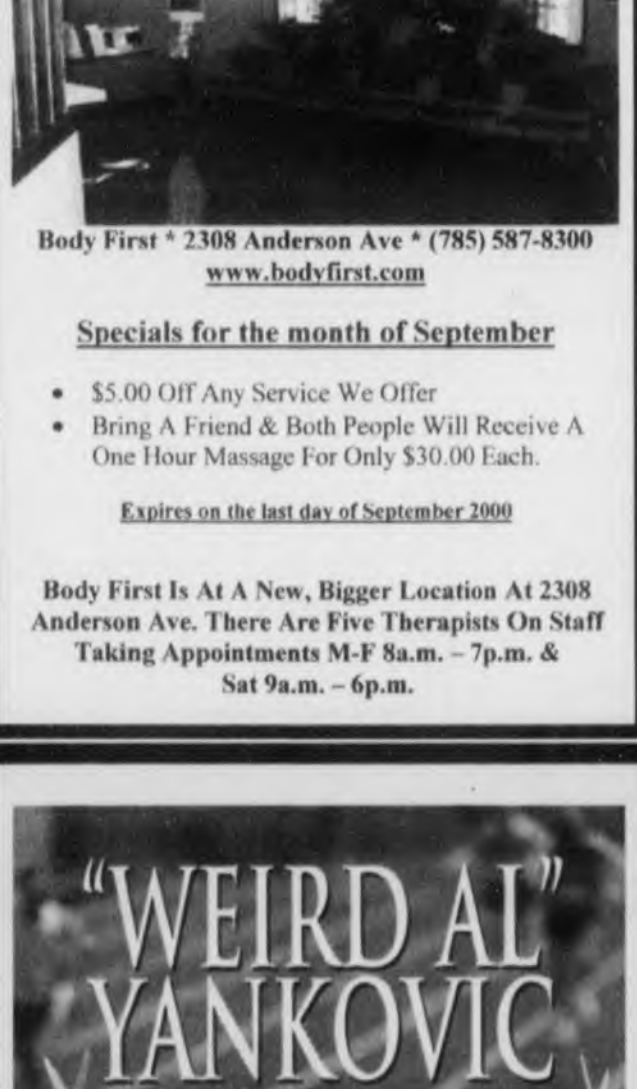
Outdoor Movie Theatre

1/2 Price Drinks
all day & night
Live at Tula's SOUTHWIND
1/2 Price Appetizer
Monday-Wednesday 5p.m.- 2a.m.
Thursday-Sunday 11a.m.- 2a.m.
Sunday 9p.m.- 2a.m.
5-7 p.m.
1129 Laramie
537-4049

R You N?
GOLDEN KEY NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY
Golden Key National Honor Society
Visit us at the Union 1st floor,
Sept. 13-15, 8 a.m.-4 p.m.
or come to Information Night
Sept. 14, 7 p.m., Union 207



1st Anniversary
HAIR EXTRAORDINARE
K-Mart • Town East Shopping Center • 537-2223

$1.00 off Haircut
10% off products
Free Gift w/Chemical Services
Men reg. $12 (includes shampoo)
Women reg. $14 (includes shampoo)
SEPT. 18-23 ONLY

Body First * 2308 Anderson Ave * (785) 587-8300
www.bodyfirst.com
Specials for the month of September
- $5.00 Off Any Service We Offer
- Bring A Friend & Both People Will Receive A One Hour Massage For Only $30.00 Each.

Expires on the last day of September 2000

Body First Is At A New, Bigger Location At 2308 Anderson Ave. There Are Five Therapists On Staff Taking Appointments M-F 8a.m. – 7p.m. & Sat 9a.m. – 6p.m.

September 21, 2000 at 7:30 p.m.
McCain Auditorium - Kansas State University
To order tickets come to McCain box office
Monday-Friday Noon-5p.m. or call 532-6428.
Tickets: $20.00

win a
FREE

RAZOR™ SCOOTER
from flashcards.com
because life is a flash!™
Daily winners! Enter to win at www.flashcards.com
Add life and power to your online communications with Flashcards fully-animated greeting cards. Flashcards lets you personalize your greetings with your own words and pictures. It's so easy and it's totally FREE! Check the Web site everyday to see if you're a winner.

Cryptoquip & CROSSWORD
presented by:
1219 Moro
Aggieville
JAVA
(785) 587-8888

FOR RELEASE WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 2000

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Gun the engine
4 First victim
8 Ray type
12 Thoroughfare abbr.
13 Skin opening
14 Pianist Gilels
15 Little louse
16 It'll bring you down to earth
18 Boston newspaper
20 Chart format
21 Beach float
24 Mohammedanism
28 Like some lines
32 Poi base
33 Lumberjack's prop
34 Type of boom
36 Go at a hearty clip
37 Bivalve
39 Render immobile
41 Gendarmes' millinery
43 Cameron Diaz role
44 Massage
46 Man of morals
50 Doctor's aide
55 Skirmish
56 Enthusiastic
57 Al Hirschfeld's daughter
58 "Eureka!"
59 Judicial garb
60 Hideaways
61 Purchase

DOWN
1 Telephoned
2 Satan's specialty
3 Just say no
4 Seeks a higher court
5 Feathery accessory
6 Blunder
7 Jeté
8 Directive
9 Aussie bird
10 — for tat
11 Milwaukee product
17 XXXIV trebled
19 Car-front protector
22 Broadway dud
23 Coffee-break time
25 Indolent
26 Flagstaff's st.
27 Sulk
28 Prepare for a trip
29 Wheelbase terminus
30 Harvest
31 Trevi toss
35 Venezuela's capital
38 Sahara illusion
40 Caustic solution
42 Total
45 Flex
47 Mop
48 Hawaiian island
49 Supplicate
50 Average
51 Past
52 Plagiarize
53 Gambling cube
54 B&B

Solution time: 25 mins.

J	A	N	E	■	S	H	A	G	■	B	O	P
A	L	E	X	■	L	A	R	A	■	E	W	E
B	E	T	H	L	E	H	E	M	■	T	E	N
■	■	■	A	I	D	A	■	B	L	E	S	S
C	A	B	L	E	■	■	P	L	A	N	■	■
A	L	E	E	■	G	R	I	E	V	O	U	S
L	O	T	■	S	L	A	T	S	■	I	N	A
M	E	R	C	H	A	N	T	■	G	R	I	P
■	■	A	P	E	D	■	■	B	E	E	T	S
M	A	Y	O	R	■	S	O	O	N	■	■	■
E	R	A	■	B	E	T	R	O	T	H	A	L
O	I	L	■	E	D	I	T	■	L	U	N	A
W	A	S	■	T	O	R	S	■	E	D	D	Y

Yesterday's answer 9-13

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-13 CRYPTOQUIP

S E R Y Z M L H L D M Y N M Y Q T , S A N P P M L P R Y Z ' H I Q Y A L A J R I J L R E Y Y P T Y P N D .

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: I WONDER WHETHER PEOPLE WHO ARE AFRAID OF ANIMALS SOMETIMES FEEL PET-RIFIED.

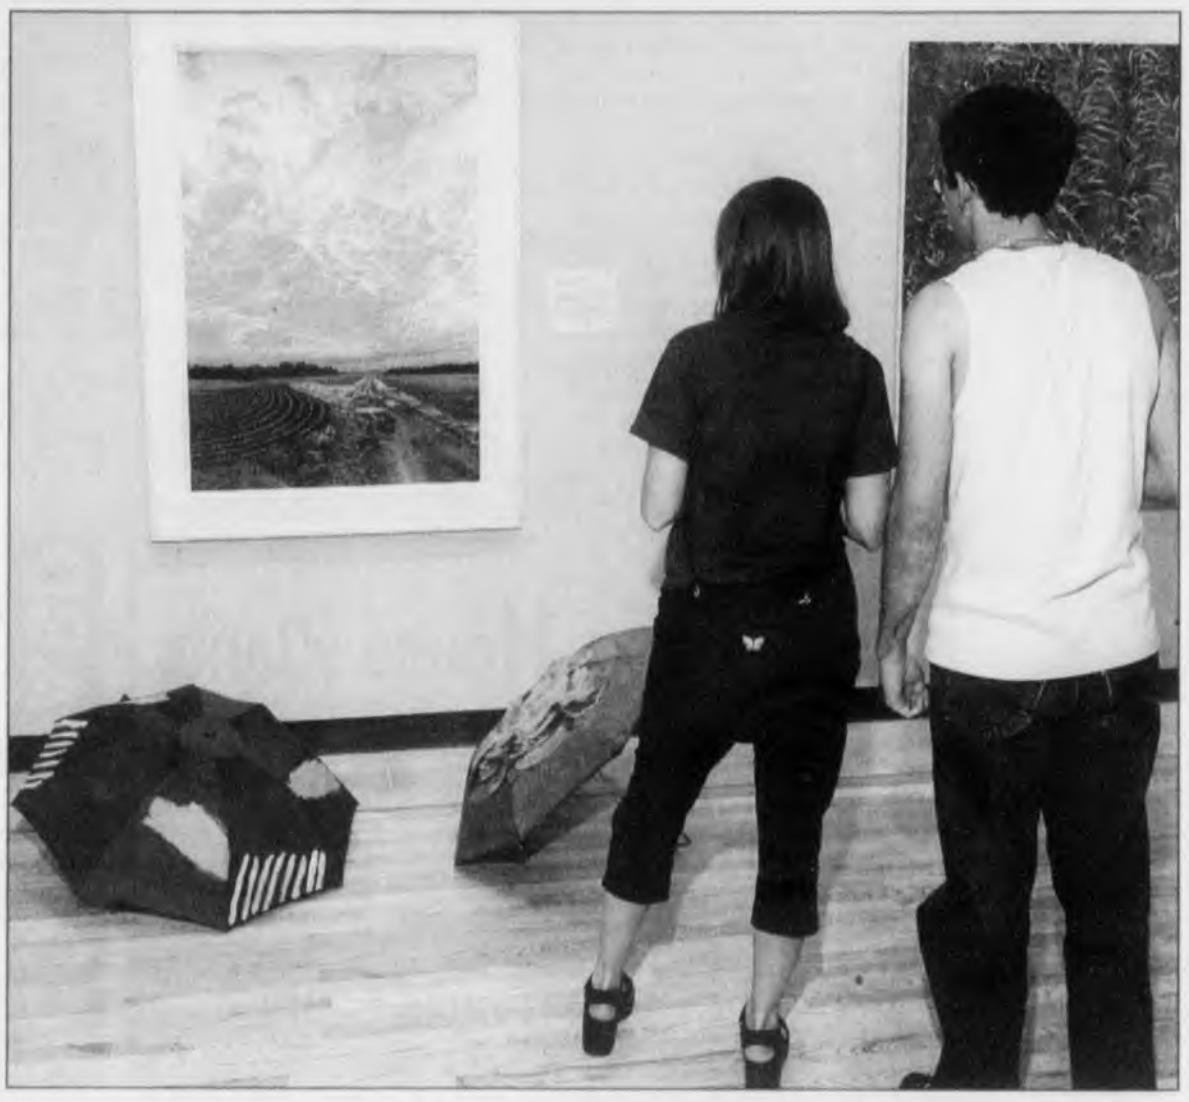
Today's Cryptoquip Clue: L equals A

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2000 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WHAT'S HAPPENING



CAMPUS

- "A Reading of Homer," presented by Stanley Lombardo, 7 tonight, Hemisphere Room in Hale Library
- "Does Order Matter?" presented by Thomas Körner, 2:30 p.m. Thursday, Cardwell 102
- Arts Above the Arch painted umbrella workshop, 7 p.m. Thursday, Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art
- Opus Band Competition, 5 p.m. Friday, Union Plaza
- "Shaft," 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Forum Hall

MANHATTAN & REGION

- Pomeroy with Clever, 9 p.m. Thursday, Silvérado Saloon
- Kansas State Fair, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. today through Sunday, Hutchinson, Kan.
- Renaissance Festival, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, Bonner Springs.

If you know of upcoming events in and around Manhattan, e-mail them to arts@spub.ksu.edu.

Laura Reagan and Ian Etter, junior in art, look at George Atkinson's "Skyscrape Series #45," pastel chalk on paper. This piece is part of the Walking Through a Weather Wonderland: Images of Weather from the Beach Museum of Art. The showcase lasts until Oct. 1.

MATT STAMEY/Collegian

Workshop to provide chance to decorate umbrellas, explore several artistic styles

By JJ DUNCAN
Kansas State Collegian

Mary Poppins had a black one, and the Penguin had one that spouted sleeping gas. It is bad luck to open one inside, and soon, anyone will be able to design their own.

At 7 p.m. Thursday, people are invited to paint their own umbrellas at the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art as part of the Arts Above the Arch program.

The workshop costs $2 to cover the cost for supplies. Attendees must bring their own umbrellas, and reservations should be made beforehand.

The workshop is open to anyone, and it will make an excellent family event, said Katherine Schlageck, education and public services supervisor for the museum.

"When we do these workshops, we really get a wide variety of people," Schlageck said. "We get families coming in, we usually get a couple of K-State students who think it might be fun and we normally get a couple of adults who just think it's a fun idea."

Schlageck said the workshop, which correlates with the current art exhibit, "Walking Through A Weather Wonderland," is an art lesson as well.

RESERVATIONS
To make reservations for the workshop, call 532-7718.

First, the group will be ushered through the art exhibit to learn about the artists' backgrounds and styles. Then, participants will choose a piece that they particularly liked and paint a rendition of it on their umbrella.

Despite the paint, the umbrellas still will work to ward off the rain, Schlageck said. The paint is a water-resistant acrylic base, which will let water glide off.

"We will have newspapers spread out with a selection of paints available," she said. "If they want to do free-form they can just get started and if they want to be more technical, they can use chalk to draw the design before painting it."

Umbrellas were chosen because of their relationship with the weather, which is the theme for the current display, Schlageck said.

The workshop is part of the museum's Young Curators program. Last spring, sixth graders from Marlatt School helped conceive the idea for the weather workshop.

Chelsea Parker, a seventh grader at Susan B. Anthony Middle School, was involved in the exhibition from the beginning. She said she attended many meetings, put in extra work and recently painted her own umbrella as a sample for the workshop.

Parker said she chose to paint her umbrella as a rendition of "On the Crest of the Wave" by John Crane because it grabbed her attention.

"I like the waves in it and the way it looks," she said. "I also like the ways the colors contrast to make it look interesting."

Emily Cochran, registrarial assistant at the Beach art museum, helped the students in the brainstorming process when they were thinking of ideas for the exhibition.

At first, she said, it was difficult to teach them about the art. After a little work, it was interesting to see them start to understand the artwork and how it struck them, she said.

"After about 10 minutes they were describing with emotion how the piece made them feel," she said.

Parker said she enjoyed learning how to prepare an exhibit and encouraged visitors to take advantage of the workshop.

"It's a nice family event and it's a nice exhibit to see," she said. "The sixth graders at Marlatt put a lot of work into it."

Tickets available for McCain Performance Series

By DENISE GUTTERY
Kansas State Collegian

Football tickets are almost sold out, but season tickets for the McCain Performance Series still are available for weekend entertainment.

Students enrolled in at least seven hours of classes are given the opportunity to purchase tickets for 20 McCain events for $95, a discount of 80 percent.

"If you wanted to see one of these shows on Broadway, it would cost about $90 for one ticket," said Thom Jackson, marketing and development director at McCain Auditorium.

TICKET INFO
To order tickets, call McCain box office at 532-6428 or visit www.ksu.edu/mccain.

The price includes tickets for 10 orchestra seats and 10 balcony seats, and are available for purchase until the first performance.

The McCain Performance Series opens Sept. 24 with "Anything Goes," a lighthearted combination of song, dance and romance aboard the S.S. America.

October brings old and new performers to McCain. Lilya Zilberstein, a McCain performer from 1997, returns this year to offer an all-Chopin piano program Oct. 1.

Mark Morris Dance Group, which formed in 1980, makes its first trip to McCain on Oct. 6.

Jackson said "Die Fledermaus" on Oct. 17 is a comedic opera that focuses on a married couple.

"It's got comedy, great music and spectacular visuals," he said.

The seven members of the Chilean-based ensemble, Inti-Illimani, will be performing Oct. 27 with their blends of instrumentals and vocals.

"They play over 30 different wind instruments," Jackson said. "They're very well-known throughout Central and South America."

Second City comes to Manhattan on Nov. 3 with a medley of classic scenes, song and improvisations, followed by the Carmina String Quartet on Nov. 5.

Stefan Milenkovich, a violinist, will be performing at All Faiths Chapel on Nov. 17.

The classic tale by Charles Dickens, "A Christmas Carol," makes its way to McCain in December to close out the fall semester.

In January, performances pick up right where they left off with Joyce Cobb's Delta Blues Women. Memphis diva Cobb weaves stories and songs of classic blues singers backed by a six-piece band.

"Chicago," winner of six Tony Awards, hits the McCain stage in February. This sexy musical tells a story of greed, murder, adultery and corruption.

"Students will enjoy 'Chicago' because it is racy and intended for those over 18," Jackson said.

"The Diary of Anne Frank," a 1998 Tony Award-winner, also will be showing in February, followed by the Russia National Orchestra.

Jackson said Garry Krinsky, with his animated characters and nonstop energy, resembles a living cartoon and will create an array of illusions in February.

Award-winning trumpet sensation Nicholas Payton will celebrate the 100th birthday of Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong on Feb. 17.

The McCain series will finish up with Altan, "Aida," Catrin Finch and the Musicians from Marlboro.

Richard Martin, director of McCain, said the series has something for almost everyone.

"You'll find plays, blues, jazz, as well as family-oriented programs," Martin said. "We have a great season, and it would be a shame for anyone to miss out."

COURTESY PHOTO

THE GONGFARMER

BY RANDY REGIER

Monkey Boy

BY BRENT ENGSTROM

Investigation of 2 Topeka deaths continues

■ Officers find woman's body after fatal accident involving victim's vehicle.

The Associated Press

TOPEKA — Local and state authorities are investigating two deaths, linked by a car, but say they're not sure just how the two are connected beyond that.

Jennifer Holmes, 21, was found dead inside her southwest Topeka apartment Monday afternoon, more than six hours after a man driving her car was killed in a two-vehicle accident.

Both deaths are considered suspicious, police said, based on reports that the man killed in the wreck might have caused it on purpose.

The woman was found shortly before 4 p.m. inside the apartment. Police went there after the Kansas Highway Patrol asked for help in locating the owner of a vehicle involved in a fatal accident Monday morning in northwest Shawnee County, police Lt. John Sidwell said.

Sidwell said Tuesday Holmes' death was determined a homicide, but he couldn't say exactly how she died.

Officers arrived to find the door to the woman's apartment ajar, apparently forced open, Sidwell said. They entered, found her body inside and pronounced her dead at the scene.

Holmes was the owner of a vehicle that collided head-on with a bottled-water delivery truck Monday morning on U.S. Highway 24 west of Rossville.

The accident killed James P. Abernathy, 39, also of Topeka. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

Police are investigating whether Abernathy was involved in Holmes' death but also are pursuing other leads, Sidwell said.

So far, they confirmed only that the two were acquaintances.

The truck was owned by Lindy Spring Water Co., and the driver, who wasn't injured, had been delivering bottled water to Wamego and Manhattan. Company owner John Levin went to the accident scene and spoke with the truck driver about what happened.

"He told me the driver came across suddenly into his lane," Levin said. "The collision sent both vehicles off the highway. There was no time to react. And there were no skid marks at all."

The highway was blocked for a few hours.

It initially wasn't clear why Abernathy veered left of center, but Topeka police were informed by patrol investigators Monday afternoon that the accident looked suspicious, Sidwell said.

HARDEE'S

■ continued from page 1

owned the building for about 25 years, when it was built to house Hardee's.

Though the restaurant pulled out in December 1999, the company kept paying the rent. Hayes said he didn't find out his building was vacant and boarded up until the following February.

"I was a little disgusted," he said.

Hardee's later bought out the lease, and he sold to Haynes and the Peirces, Hayes said.

Right now, Peirce said there are no concrete plans for what to do with the 3,000-square-foot purchase. As a prominent location to begin with and one of the few spaces in Aggieville with its own parking lot, there are a lot of possibilities, she said.

"The truth is, we haven't wanted to tie ourselves down to one thing," she said, "so we're leaving our options open."

In addition, Monday was the beginning of pulling out the chairs and counter space, a chance to become more familiar with the building, she said.

However, Peirce said, renting the space out is a possibility.

In the meantime, parking has been closed off in front of the building for debris removal, but streetside parking is fine, she said.

full moon
WHAT'S YOUR MOON SIGN?
Claflin Books and Copies

Fall into Birkenstock®.
Olson's Birkenstock
Aggieville
539-8571
September Sale
Arizona $10.00 off
Nashville $10.00 off
Boston $10.00 off
Birk Hiking Boots $30.00 off
BIRKENSTOCK

Ramblers
STEAK HOUSE & SALOON
HOMEMADE CHICKEN FRIED STEAK with all the trimmings
$6.95
DRINK SPECIALS
$1 Draws
$1.75 Well's
$3.75 Pitchers
8711 E. Hwy. 24 • 539-4889
Manhattan, KS

House Plants
Large Selection
$3.99 - $10.99
Horticultural Services
Garden Center
M-Sat 9-6
Sun 12-6
776-5764
30th Year
2 mi E. of Manhattan on Hwy. 24

SCOREBOARD
WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY NIGHT
$1 NIGHT
All domestic bottles
Calls - Jack, Captain, Quervo, etc.
Fries, Burgers, Tots, Onion Rings
All for a buck!
$1.50 Micro & Import Bottles - Corona, Heineken, etc.
$2.00 Premiums - Crown, Sapphire, Absolut
1119 Moro • 776-7714 • Open at 5:00 p.m.
SCOREBOARD

Bob's DINER
1103 N. 3RD
THE ONLY RESTAURANT OPEN 24 HOURS A DAY 7 DAYS A WEEK
Head to Bob's to hang out and study
MONDAY-FRIDAY
$1.99
BREAKFAST ALL THE TIME

Shear Dynamics
Hair & Nail Design
1125 Laramie • Laramie Plaza
In Aggieville
(785) 776-9100
WELCOMES ERICA
Services Offered
acrylic nails, facials, and massages
Salon hours
Mon. - Tues. 9 a.m. - 6 p.m.
Fri. - Sat.
Wed. - Thurs. 9 a.m. - 8 p.m.
Open Mondays and Evenings
25% off these services w/ERICA
• Cuts • Perms • Updo's • Colors •
• Madicures • Pedicures • Waxing •
MasterCard VISA
expires 9-30-00

TIPPMANN PMI
PAINTBALL TRADER
111 S. 5th
Hours: Wed., Thur., Fri., 6 - 9 p.m. Sat. 1 - 5 p.m.
Hunter's Island Paintball Park
Open play starts at 10 a.m. Sat.
West end of Collins Lane off S. Manhattan Ave.
539-5979

Needing Groceries?
READY FOR A "WEEKLY WIND-DOWN!"
Go to Union Station, in the K-State Student Union this THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 2000 at 8:00pm for Grocery Market BINGO!!
Admission is FREE
Groceries will be awarded for prizes and a $50 gift certificate to a local grocery store for the grand prize.
SPONSORED BY UPC

GEJOHNSON
CONSTRUCTION COMPANY
COLORADO CONTRACTOR OF CHOICE
College of Engineering
Architectural Engineering / Civil Engineering
Construction Science and Management
Power Cats - Come Join Us!
Bramlage Coliseum, Sept. 19

Naturally, the country's premiere leadership school offers only the finest classrooms.

Marines
The Few. The Proud

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.
CALL 532-6555

LET'S RENT

105 For Rent- Apts.Furnished

FALL LEASING available! Call now! Fully furnished, washer/ dryer, fully equipped kitchen, alarm systems, computer lab, copier, and fax availability, fitness center/ rec room, swimming pool, reserved parking, tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. University Commons Apartments, 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

CAMPUS FIVE BLOCKS. Very large two-bedroom with air-conditioning. Clean, quiet location. Electric, gas, water, trash paid. No dogs. 537-8389.

EXCELLENT TWO-BEDROOM one block from campus. $550 per month, water/ trash paid. 341-4496.

110 For Rent- Apts. Unfurnished

LET US HELP you find a place to live. We may have what you need. No dogs. Leave message, 537-8389.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOMS, dishwasher, washer/ dryer, central air $450- $475. Now available. (785)776-8455.

VERY NICE two-bedroom with air-conditioning. NEWLY REDECORATED, clean, quiet, convenient location. Heat, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. 537-8389.

115 Rooms Available

ROOM AVAILABLE NOW in four-bedroom house. Pets allowed, two bathrooms, utilities shared four ways. 1207 Houston. $300/ month. (785)770-9484, (785)556-1745.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR- FIVE-BEDROOM house. CLOSE TO CAMPUS. central air, two baths. (785)770-7230. Available now.

MUST SEE this BEAUTIFUL two story west side home. Three-bedroom, two and one-half bath, central air, park like one-half acre yard, two car garage. Available now. Good references a must. (785)776-8455.

NEW DUPLEX. FOUR-BEDROOM, two bath, two living rooms. Available October 1. $1000/ month. Pierre St. (785)456-7655.

TWO STORY BRICK, very large, three- four-bedroom, two baths, central air, laundry hook-ups, quiet location, fenced yard, parking. 537-8389.

150 Subleases

CLOSE TO CAMPUS! A very spacious one-bedroom basement apartment in a nice house. Rent: $340 a month. You only pay for electricty, phone and cable! 770-3537.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bath, furnished, washer/ dryer, dishwasher, privacy deck at University Commons. Sublease, two tenants needed. $325/ person/ month. 537-8226.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING
532-6560

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information, call (785)456-2795, www.ksu.edu/ksfc

LAPTOP COMPUTERS seeking companionship. Dependability, looks, and style important. NorthStar Solutions. 1800 Claflin Rd., #160 or ksulaptops.com

SKIN PROBLEMS? Contact 1-888-353-1813.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

100 housing/ real estate

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

TWO-BEDROOM, WALK to campus, ample parking quiet conditions, furnished or unfurnished, laundry. Reasonable rent. 539-3638.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

BRAND NEW three-bedroom/ three bathroom apartment available September 11th. washer/ dryer included, close to campus and Aggieville. Call MDI 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, in four-plex, available now. 2110 Elm. $475/ month. Water and trash paid. -Washer/ dryer hook-ups. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, 431 Leavenworth, $360, bills paid. 539-8401.

135 For Sale- Mobile Homes

1997 DOUBLE wide mobile home. Three-bedroom, two bath, family and living room, washer/ dryer hook-ups. $41,000 negotiable (785)717-2840. Colonial Gardens.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE, $265/ month, one-third utilities. Chase Manhattan Apartments. 539-7824.

ROOMMATE WANTED for clean house. Washer/ dryer available. (785)584-5991 or (785)776-1904.

TWO FEMALE roommates wanted to join three others in a five person house. Newly renovated, two bathrooms, close to campus. Call 565-9838.

155 Stable/ Pasture

HOME FOR YOUR HORSE. Stall or pasture, $135/ $90 per month. Use of arena and tack room. Please call (785)537-3773.

200 service directory

220 Weight Loss & / Nutrition

Body Wrapping & More
For a slimmer and trimmer you
539-8391

255 Other Services

LOOKING TO clean houses. Have experience. Call 565-9838.

255 Other Services

Therapeutic Massage
50% Off
First Visit $16.00
776-0022
www.flinthills.com/~tmassage

300 employment/ opportunities

310 Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For info call (203)977-1720.

ACCEPTING APPLICATIONS for cooks and servers. Please drop by Bob's Diner for more information. *No Phone calls 1103 N. 3 rd.

DIRECTOR, INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY ASSISTANCE CENTER, (Interim Position) The Information Technology Assistance Center (iTAC) is the Kansas State University entry point for faculty, staff and students to find quick solutions to their IT needs. The Director supervises a full-time staff of five and several part-time employees, currently housed in Hale Library. The iTAC Director reports to the Vice Provost of Academic Services and Technology (VPAST). SALARY: Commensurate with experience: $50,000- $60,000/ annually. QUALIFICATIONS: Necessary: Masters degree in some field of Information Technology or a highly related field. Preferred: Ph.D. in Computer Science, Information Systems, Management Information System, Educational Technology or a highly related field. For a complete description and application details contact: Rusty Taylor, Chair, iTAC Director Search Committee 128 Dole Hall, Educational Communications Center, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506, Telephone: (785)532-3125 or on the World Wide Web: http://main.itac.ksu.edu/dir_pos/itac_dir.pdf or http://www.ksu.edu/vpast/position.ann.html
Review of applications will begin September 29, 2000. Start date will be negotiable upon selection of qualified applicant with target start date of November 1, 2000.

310 Help Wanted

ASSISTANT DATABASE SPECIALIST. Information Support Services for Agriculture (ISSA) is a program that provides agricultural content to the KSU Digital Library by means of special collections and databases. We are seeking an individual who can search external databases and other information resources for new content, interact with patrons who are learning to use the resources, enter data to our databases and interact in-person and on-line with patrons who are in need of reference services and who are learning to use library resources. Requirements: Bachelor's Degree, with evidence of proficiency in conducting academic library research; excellent communication skills for interpersonal interviews or group presentations; significant employment experience using Microsoft ACCESS database software; demonstrable skills in writing/ editing technical English. Customer service or group problem- solving experience helpful, as well as advanced use of text/ image management software and ability to work independently toward deadlines. Send a cover letter with resume and three references to M. Jean Darbyshire, Director of Administrative Services, Kansas State University Libraries, Hale Library, Manhattan, Ks 66506-1200 phone: (785)532-7465 fax: (785)532-7415 e-mail Jdarby@ksu.edu Review of applications will begin September 25th. Kansas State University Libraries wish to attract individuals whose interest, presence, and contributions will expand our commitment and ability to serve an increasingly diverse campus population. For more information see www.lib.ksu.edu/genifo/openpositions.html Kansas State University is an Affirmative Action/ Equal Opportunity Employer strongly committed to diversity. We value qualified candidates who can bring to our community a variety of backgrounds and experiences.

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!! Looking for part- time dealers. Multi- level market selling Indoor Air Purification Machines. Fun business, good money!!! Call Mitch at (888)814-2893.

CAT'S CLOSET Sales Associates: This position offers competitive pay and a great schedule that won't interfere with classes! Applicants need to be available a minimum of all home football and some basketball games. Stop by It's Greek To Me, 520 McCall Rd., to complete an application. EOE.

PART-TIME EMPLOYMENT- Want a GREAT part-time job, working on a GREAT team, in a Great on-campus location! Derby, Kramer and Van Zile Dining Centers are hiring KSU students for service and custodial positions. Beginning pay $5.65 per hour. Raises scheduled. Very flexible, you choose the times you want to work. Morning, noon, evening and weekend hours available. Apply in person between the hours of 9a.m.- 4p.m. at Derby Dining Center (room 129, ask for Michael), Kramer Dining Center (hiring office, ask for Sara), or Van Zile Dining Center (food service office). AA/ EOE.

COLLEGE AVENUE Infant/ Toddler Center is now hiring substitute teachers. Call 539-6885.

310 Help Wanted

CHARTWELLS, K-STATE STUDENT UNION FOODSERVICE, 121 K-State Student Union. Across from Ramada on Anderson Ave. Apply in person only. REQUIREMENTS: All successful applicants must be able to maintain a high standard of sanitation within the operation. Also, they must exhibit excellent personal hygiene habits and be reliable, efficient and punctual in their work assignments. Excellent customer service skills and effective communication skills are a must in all areas. CATERING ATTENDANTS: Part-time positions. Various hours plus some evening and weekend shifts. CASHIERS: Part-time positions: 8:15a.m.- 2p.m. or 10:15a.m.- 1:30p.m., Monday- Friday. Will train the right person. ICE CREAM/PIZZA: Hours needed are: 9a.m.- 4p.m. (full-time) and 3:30- 7:30p.m. (part-time), Monday- Friday. CHICK-FIL-A: One full-time, 8a.m.- 4p.m. Monday-Friday; one part-time 3-6p.m., Monday- Thursday. COOK: One full-time, hours vary. Could be 6a.m.- 2p.m. or 8a.m.- 4p.m., Monday-Friday. FOOD COURT ATTENDANTS: One full-time, 6a.m. to 2p.m., Monday- Friday; one part-time, 2- 7:30p.m., Monday-Thursday. REFRESHMENTS: Evening hours. Hours, 3- 8p.m., Monday-Friday. CHARTWELLS IS AND EOE/AA EMPLOYER.

CIVIL ENGINEERING graduate teaching assistant for part-time instruction at KSU at Salina. Knowledge of KDOT Soils, Aggregate, and Concrete lab techniques a plus. Send letter of inquiry and resume to: CIT2 Program, 2310 Centennial Rd., TAC Building, Suite 119, Salina, KS 67401.

COMPUTING AND Network Services is seeking to hire a student university computing lab assistant. This position monitors and checks the equipment operational status in the university computing labs. Available to work first and second shift hours, in 2-4 hour blocks of time, 15- 30 hours a week, including weekends, holidays, breaks, and summer months. Experience with computers is a plus. Applicants with two or more years employment potential will be given preference. Contact Wendy Wann for more information at 532-4941.

CUSTOMER SERVICE! A perfect match if you have 15-75 pounds to lose, we pay you! (866)215-0727.

EXOTIC DANCERS: high pay, low hours. Apply in person at Ginger's Spot, 1014 Grant Ave., Junction City or call (785)762-3847 after 8p.m.

FRATERNITIES+ SOROITIES+ CLUBS+ STUDENT GROUPS. Earn $1000- $2000 this quarter with the easy Campusfundraiser.com three hour fundraising event. No sales required. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so call today! Contact Campusfundraiser.com at (888)923-3238, or visit www.campusfundraisier.com

FREE ROOM! September board for female in exchange for some house work and to feed sheep. Part-time. (785)457-3582.

FULL-TIME WAREHOUSE/ delivery person at Faith Furniture. Please apply in person at 302 E. Highway 24, Manhattan.

HARRY'S UPTOWN is now accepting applications for dishwashers. Monday, Wednesday, Friday 10a.m.- 3p.m. and Tuesday, Thursday 10a.m.- 3p.m. Apply in person. 418 Poyntz.

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. Info 1-504-646-1700 Dept. KS-6438.

J & J Contractors, Inc. Iola, KS, has a bridge contract near Wakefield, KS which will start on September 18, 2000 and last for several weeks. Can work any hours from early morning to late evening. Possibility Saturday and Sunday work. Labor work needed. EOE. No experience required. Call Jackie/ Nicole at (316)365-5428 or (316)365-5500.

LONGHORNS: WAITRESSES needed. Apply in person or call between 2- 4p.m. 776-8770, 1115 Moro.

LUNCHROOM/ PLAYGROUND Supervisors- Hall Monitors needed for the 2000-01 school term. $5.15 per hour, one and one-half- two hours per day. 11a.m.- 1p.m. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, KS 66502. (785)587-2000. EOE.

NOW TAKING applications for kitchen help. Apply at Rusty's, 1213 Moro in Aggieville.

PARENT ASSISTANT: Before and after school care. For three children, ages 6, 9, 11. Must have reliable transportation. (785)776-7764.

PART-TIME HELP wanted. Roof truss manufacturing plant, 5107 Murray Rd., (785)776-5081.

PROGRAMMER- NETWORKS Plus, the leader in providing business technology services, has openings for programmers in Manhattan. Two or more years proven experience in Visual Basic or Microsoft SQL is required, project management experience is preferred. All new hires are required to obtain Microsoft Certified Solution Developer status within 90 days of employment. $70,000- $90,000- plus health, 401(k), vacation and company paid training. E-mail resume to jobs@networksplus.com in Microsoft Word or Text format.

RILEY COUNTY INFORMATION SYSTEMS: Help Desk Intern: Knowledge of Windows 95/ 98, Windows NT, Office 97/ 2000, network wiring and a desire to gain experience in these areas. Proficiency with troubleshooting software, hardware, PC's and PC peripherals. Familiarity with Linux, Windows 2000, HTML, Microsoft Access a plus. Strong communication skills are essential as position requires substantial contact with all end users. This position should fulfill partial requirements for a degree; progress toward completion of the degree will be reviewed on a yearly basis for continuing employment. Applicants must be available to work part-time. Hourly rate is $8.35. All available positions require that a job application be completed and on file for employment consideration. Contact the Department of Administrative Services, Division of Human Resources located at 115 N. 4th St., 3rd Floor East, Manhattan, KS 66502. For more information call (785)565-6464, or e-mail to jdean@co.riley.ks.us Riley County is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

RILEY COUNTY INFORMATION SYSTEMS: Web Development Intern: Position will assist in developing Intranet and Internet web pages including database integration. Applicants should be familiar with Windows 95/ 98, HTML, Web technologies, Microsoft IIS, JAVA, ASP, Cold Fusion. Creativity and strong communications skills are essential. This position should fulfill partial requirements for a degree; progress toward completion of the degree will be reviewed on a yearly basis for continuing employment. Applicants must be available to work part-time. Hourly rate is $8.35. All available positions require that a job application be completed and on file for employment consideration. Contact the Department of Administrative Services, Division of Human Resources located at 115 N. 4th St., 3rd Floor East, Manhattan, KS 66502. For more information call (785)565-6464, or e-mail to jdean@co.riley.ks.us Riley County is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

STUDENT WANTED to work in microbiology lab 16- 20 hours during fall and spring semester and full-time in summer. Prefer microbiology major student. If interested, call (785)532-4258 for information.

SUBSTITUTE TEACHERS with USD 383 2000-01 school term. Must have valid Kansas teaching certificate. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, KS 66502. (785)587-2000. EOE.

Spring Break 2001
Jamaica, Cancun, Florida, Barbados, Bahamas.
Now hiring campus reps. Earn 2 fee trips. Free Meals. Books by Nov. 2nd. Call for FREE info pack or visit online sunsplashtours.com
1-800-426-7710

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie 532-6555
A REAL Life-Saver

Come home to relax in comfort
•Cambridge Square
•Sandstone Apts.
•Fireplaces •Carports
•Pool •Private Deck
•Laundry Facilities
•Large 2-bedroom Units
Call TODAY!!!
537-9064
Weekdays 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Showings by appointment

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

1999 HARO Cosmo street bike. Three piece cranks. New redline rims. $225 or best offer. Call (785)776-6019.

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. Open 12- 5p.m. Closed Sundays. Mondays. 539-4684.

SLOT MACHINE for sale. Reno Triple 7. Like new. Has keys, tokens, lights, whistles. $450 call (785)461-5884.

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

COUCH FOR sale. Beige, cozy, $140 or best offer. Call Jennie or Kirk 776-8359.

TWO COUCHES and two TV's available. Call 539-6338 after 6:30p.m.

435 Computers

AFFORDABLE LAPTOPS- Visit NorthStar Solutions at 1800 Claflin Rd. Suite 160 (M- F, 9a.m.- 7 p.m.) or at ksulaptops.com

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

DISCOUNTED FOOTBALL (Section 430) tickets vs. North Texas for sale! Call Mike at (612)943-8113 for details.

FOR SALE: ICAT season tickets. Call 565-0275.

FOR SALE: two general admission KSU vs. NU football tickets. Best offer. Call (785)770-9620.

NEED CASH? Sell your KSU vs. NU ticket! $100 plus. (785)539-4133.

WANTED TO buy season football ticket, prefer student but will buy general admission. Will pay $400. Call (785)770-8165, Manhattan.

WANTED TO buy two Colorado football tickets, reasonable price. (785)286-2433.

WANTED: FOUR general admission tickets, K-State vs. Ball State. Please call (785)537-3827, leave message if no answer.

WANTED: FOUR reserved and two General Admission tickets for the October 14 game with Oklahoma. Call (785)776-4808. Can leave message.

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1987 DODGE 600, four-door, automatic, air-conditioned, power steering, good condition, $2000 or best offer. Call (785)539-1628.

1989 PROBE GT, five-speed, turbo, loaded, sunroof, spoiler, air-conditioned, well maintained, 130k highway. Looks/ runs great. $3500 or best offer. (785)857-3753.

1990 THUNDERBIRD super-coupe, white, loaded, nice. $5000 or best offer. (785)770-3280.

1994 BLACK, Jeep Wrangler. Must Sell! Reduced $7500 or best offer. Lift kit, six cylinder, five-speed. Great sound system. Soft top. (785)539-8540.

1995 FIREBIRD, automatic, t-tops, excellent condition, $9495. (785)565-9764.

1997 FORD Ranger V-6- automatic- air-conditioning, 1991 Mazda Cab Plus B2200 automatic- air-conditioning, 1993 Ford Escort Wagon loaded 59K, 1993 Plymouth Grand Voyager loaded. Call 565-9458 or 317-0144.

FOR SALE, teal 1996 Ford Taurus GL four-door sedan in excellent condition. Keyless entry, power windows, doors, locks and seat, premium alloy wheels, scheduled maintenance, 51,000 miles, $10,300 negotiable. Call 587-9326.

FOR SALE: 1994 Dodge Dakota Sport, 3.9L, V-6, automatic overdrive, air-conditioning, power steering, anti-lock break system, cruise. Dent on driver's side. 71,000 miles. $6500 or best offer. Call 532-6664 (day); 776-6722 (night). Ask for Jim.

530 Motorcycles

1981 HONDA CM400-T. Purple, black, chrome. Looks sharp! Runs great! Detachable windshield/ saddlebags. Great gas milage. $975. Call Donald 539-5020.

1985 HONDA shadow 700CC. Black, like new, always garaged, very well maintained, 15K miles, helmet included. $2500. 539-8610.

1997 KAWASAKI EX250R Ninja , 5000 miles, great working condition, new rear tire, many accessories, clear title, $2100. (785)395-2630. davidduffey.com/ninja

MOTORCYCLES FOR sale 1982 Honda FT 500 $500, 1979 Honda Hawk 400 $800 (785)539-6507 after 7 p.m.

600 travel/ trips

630 Spring Break

EIGHT DAY Florida, Caribbean vacations. Orlando, Ft. Lauderdale, hotel, rental car, round trip cruise for two. $398 plus docking. 1-888-353-1813.

SPRING BREAK! Deluxe hotels, reliable air, free food, drinks and parties! Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Mazatlan and Florida. Travel Free and Earn Cash! Do it on the Web! Go to StudentCity.com or call (800)293-1443 for info.

SPRING BREAK!!! Cancun, Mazatlan, Bahamas, Jamaica & Florida. Call Sunbreak Student Vacations for info on going free and earning cash. Call 1(800)446-8355 or email sales@sunbreaks.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Cancun, Bahamas, Florida, Jamaica & Mazatlan. Call Sun Coast Vacationers for a free brochure and ask how you can organize a small group and Eat, Drink, Travel Free and Earn Cash! Call (888)777-4642 or email sales@suncoastvacations.com

WINTER BREAK/ SPRING BREAK. Ski and beach trips on sale now! www.sunchase.com or call 1-800-SUNCHASE today!

NEED HELP? FIND HELP.
Place your ad in the Help Wanted section of the Collegian classifieds today!
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie • 532-6555

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.85
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.90
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.90
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 bulletin board
100 housing/ real estate
200 service directory
300 employment/ opportunities
400 open market
500 transportation
600 travel/ trips

SMOKING

■ continued from page 1

Many of the business owners in attendance expressed resentment at potential government control.

"We pay our taxes. We have our permits. Leave us alone," Wayne Winfrey, owner of Mel's Tavern, said.

Like many owners, Winfrey said he'd heard no outcry from his patrons to ban smoking.

Rusty Wilson, owner of Rusty's Last Chance Restaurant & Saloon and the new Rusty's Next Door smokeless bar, said he is anti-smoking.

"But I do believe business owners should have a choice, and people should have a choice," he said.

If non-smoking bars are what the people want, entrepreneurs will open them in the name of profit, he said.

Public health, however, takes priority, Student Body President Jake Worcester said.

"We believe the right to breathe clean air takes precedence over the right to smoke," he said.

Previous Student Body President Jason Heinrich proposed and Student Senate adopted a resolution supporting an anti-smoking ordinance last spring. The idea was sparked by a trip to the Culligan Holiday Bowl in California, where similar ordinances have passed.

Worcester did say he would put his support behind version one's permit system over version two.

"Version one allows owners to decide how and when to go smoke free," he said.

Mayor Karen McCulloh said the issue will likely go through more work sessions before it is resolved and offered to establish committees representing the interests of business owners, K-State and the health community.

City Manager Ron Fehr said interested persons may contact city offices.

LECTURE

■ continued from page 1

we know in our hearts to be the truth," Bourgeois said.

Bourgeois' supporters in the movement have risen every year. This past November, 12,000 people participated in a non-violent protest at Fort Benning.

Bourgeois' main concern was the oppression in Latin America caused by these trained soldiers. Bourgeois said many people in Latin America are struggling to survive, and the soldiers are the ones with the power.

Bourgeois' protest attempts landed him in U.S. prisons for a total of four years. He told how his time spent in jail made him and his cause stronger.

"The time spent in prison made me a stronger person and more angry at the same time," Bourgeois said.

He said the issue is an important matter, because $1 million of U.S. citizens' taxes a day is given to the school.

"Our money is supporting the training of dictators," Bourgeois said. "The soldiers keep getting rich and the poor keep getting poorer."

The lecture was sponsored by the UFM Community Learning Center.

"I thought that it was an excellent speech," said John Filter, chairman of the UFM Committee. "It brought home the need to close the school. It got my blood boiling."

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
Limited Delivery Area
1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center

Interested in Physical Therapy?
If so, come to our first Annual meeting for Pre P.T. Club!
Thursday, September 14, 2000
Union Room 206
Talk to reps, schools, and get acquainted with other peers interested in P.T.
This is an awesome opportunity, don't miss out!

Hair Experts Design Team
Discover the Difference
New school year, new season and time to try something new. 15% off any service you have never experienced before.
1323 Anderson Ave.
Aggieville, Manhattan
776-4455

Attention Computer, Electrical, and Computer Science Engineers-

Are you seeking a challenging full-time career, with a cutting-edge technology company? If so, consider LSI Logic Storage Systems, Inc. We are currently hiring for the following entry-level positions:

- Software and Firmware Engineers in Austin, Texas and Wichita, Kansas
- System Integration, Unit Test, ASIC Design, and Subsystem Engineers in Wichita, Kansas
- Mechanical Engineers in Wichita, Kansas

Along with the great experience you will also receive competitive salary, bonus opportunity, three weeks vacation in your first year, 401(k), and an employee stock purchase plan. You can visit us online at www.lslogic.com. IF you can not make it to the career fair, e-mail your resume to hr.recruiterlsil.com Include KSU in the subject line.

LSI LOGIC®

K-State Student Union HAIR CARE CENTER
20% Off all Haircare Products September 11-15
Grand Opening
Wednesday, September 13
10:00am - 8:00pm
*Ribbon cutting ceremony at 10:00am
*Join us for refreshments
Register for free prizes!!
*Grand Prize - $50 K-State Student Union Gift Card
Meet our Professional Stylists and visit them for all your hair care needs!
Authorized Paul Mitchell, Redken and Dudley products retailer!
Located in the Union's Lower Level Recreation Area
Regular Hours
Monday 9:00am-6:00pm
Tuesday-Friday 9:00am-8:00pm
Saturday 9:00am-Noon(By Appt. Only)
Sunday Closed

Big Benefits Coming for Kansas Long Distance Consumers

The recent decision by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to let Southwestern Bell compete for long-distance telephone service in Texas forecasts Texas-sized benefits for Kansas.

Cindy Zapletal

Here's how: Currently, Southwestern Bell can't offer long-distance for calls outside of your area code until we can prove to regulators that our local telephone markets are open to competitors. Here in Kansas, they are. In fact, we currently have competitors in more than 95% of the local exchanges we serve.

Right now, the Kansas Corporation Commission is considering our application, and we are working to gain their endorsement by the end of the month. Our chances are improving all the time: August 21, the staff of the Kansas Corporation Commission recommended approval. The FCC has the final word, so once the KCC takes action in late September, we'll take our application to Washington.

With the FCC's permission, the big benefits will begin. When we're allowed to enter into Kansas' long-distance market, Kansans will see simple, no-gimmicks long-distance service.

It's already happening down in Texas. For instance, Southwestern Bell Texas is now offering basic residential long-distance service for 9 cents a minute with no monthly fee. The No-Nonsense Flat Rate plan is one rate for all calls, anytime, in-state or out-of-state, with no monthly fee.

Southwestern Bell Kansas plans to have similar, easy-to-understand long-distance plans — as well as one-stop shopping for all communications and entertainment services — available to our customers.

Here's the bottom line for us: Southwestern Bell Kansas has been providing Kansans with dependable, affordable local telephone service for more than 115 years. We're ready to do the same for long-distance by giving our customers one-stop shopping, competitive rates and top-quality service.

Today, Texans are enjoying more choices and better value — and so will Kansans once Southwestern Bell Kansas is allowed to compete for long-distance.

Take Control & Take Action
www.connectkansas.org

Cindy Zapletal
Director
External Affairs

Southwestern Bell friendly. neighborhood. global.℠

RETIREMENT INSURANCE MUTUAL FUNDS TRUST SERVICES TUITION FINANCING

TIAA-CREF provides financial solutions to last a lifetime.

Call us for a free consultation

Building your assets is one thing. Figuring out how those assets can provide you with a comfortable retirement is quite another.

At TIAA-CREF, we can help you with both. You can count on us not only while you're saving and planning for retirement, but in retirement, too.

Just call us. We'll show you how our flexible range of payout options can meet your retirement goals.

With TIAA-CREF, you benefit from something few other companies can offer: a total commitment to your financial well-being, today and tomorrow.

With TIAA-CREF, you can receive:*
- Cash withdrawals
- Systematic or fixed-penod payments
- Interest-only payments
- Lifetime income payments
- A combination of these

Guaranteed by our claims-paying ability.

CREF GROWTH ACCOUNT†

26.70%	27.87%	26.60%
1 YEAR AS OF 6/30/00	5 YEARS 6/30/00	SINCE INCEPTION 4/29/94

CREF Growth is one of many CREF variable annuities.

*Note: Availability may depend on your employer's retirement plan provisions contract. Under federal tax law, withdrawals prior to age 59½ may be subject to restrictions, and may also be subject to a 10% additional tax. Additional restrictions also apply to the TIAA Traditional Annuity.

TIAA CREF Ensuring the future for those who shape it.℠
1.800.842.2776
www.tiaa-cref.org

For more complete information on our securities products, please call 1.800.842.2733, ext. 5509, to request prospectuses. Read them carefully before you invest. † Due to current market volatility, our securities products' performance today may be less than shown above. The investment results shown for CREF Growth variable annuity reflects past performance and are not indicative of future rates of return. These returns and the value of the principal you have invested will fluctuate, so the shares you own may be more or less than their original price upon redemption. • TIAA-CREF Individual and Institutional Services, Inc. distributes the CREF and TIAA Real Estate variable annuities. • Teachers Personal Investors Services, Inc. distributes the Personal Annuities variable annuity component, mutual funds and tuition savings agreements. • TIAA and TIAA-CREF Life Insurance Co., New York, NY, issue insurance and annuities. • TIAA-CREF Trust Company, FSB provides trust services. • Investment products are not FDIC insured, may lose value and are not bank guaranteed. © 2000 TIAA-CREF 08/03

TODAY'S WEATHER
HIGH 86 ■ LOW 54
THURSDAY

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

TM

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sept. 14, 2000 ■ Kansas State University ■ Manhattan, Kan. ■ Volume 105, Number 18

State Fair offers Kansas delights
■ page 9

Greek 101 focuses on dangers of date rape

By ANGIE JOHNSON
Kansas State Collegian

Saying "no" repeatedly should have been enough, but it wasn't.

Katie Koestner, Greek 101 presenter, spoke Wednesday night about date-rape and her experience during her first year in college in 1990.

"It's not something any normal girl would expect out of harmlessly inviting a male into her dorm room after a date," Koestner said.

As a woman who has been all over the country presenting her account to thousands of college and high schools students and military institutes, she has struggled with a traumatic life.

MORE INFO
The K-State Women's Education Center in Holton Hall provides education on date rape through peer consultation.

"As a little girl I dreamed of becoming a ballerina and then maybe joining the Air Force, or attending college," Koestner said. "I will never forget what took place the evening my dreams were taken away."

No matter how much you like a person, saying no should not be a difficult thing to do, she said. For her, she said she felt an immediate sense of discomfort and entrapment before she had the opportunity.

"It is amazing how people think extraordinarily different than others. Stopping was not a thought in this man's mind as he tackled me to the ground," Koestner said.

Ten years ago, the difference between rape and sex was force. Today it is consent, which entails a freely given, usually understandable, agreement.

Koestner's message included that communication, responsibility and respect are three important components of staying safe. Women who try to protect their image should be upfront with themselves and others, and not act misleading, Koestner said.

"I believe self-defense lies in your own self-esteem," she said.

Not only did Koestner tell her story, but she asked the audience what it would be like to have a day without a single rape occurring. She challenged both men and women to take a stand now, and admit that rape is wrong, before it is too late.

"I challenge men and women to do better than me and think before the

See LECTURE on PAGE 12

Katie Koestner, a Virginia State-trained peer educator and sexual assault counselor, has related her date-rape story to thousands of students at more than 600 colleges, high school and military institutions. She brought her message to McCain Auditorium on Wednesday night and spoke to K-State students.

EVAN SEMON/ Collegian

National Van Jam hits area today

By NICK BRATKOVIC
Kansas State Collegian

Although the closest NBA team is located in Denver, the league still found a way to reach out to Manhattan.

The NBA Van Jam rolls into town today and will be featured from 3 to 8 p.m. at the Fairfield Inn.

Festivities include a variety of basketball activities featuring a opportunities to play just like the pros, including "Camp NBA," a program designed to teach children the fundamentals of basketball.

According to NBA.com, the event was created to give fans everywhere an experience they might not normally receive.

Also, members of both the K-State men's and women's basketball teams will be on hand to sign autographs from 4 to 6 p.m.

Donnie Wallace and Kerry Darting, among others, will be in attendance for the men's squad to benefit a nationwide youth organization.

"It is kind of in conjunction with the Boys and Girls Clubs from around the country, and that's the connection here," said Shawn Nestor, K-State assistant sports information director.

NBA Van Jam is a part of a 30-city tour across America during the professional basketball offseason. The 68,000-pound 18-wheel truck extends 67 feet in length and unfolds to reveal 5,000 square feet of basketball activities.

Teresa Erickson, junior in computer science, does her calculus homework in the K-State Student Union on Wednesday afternoon. Erickson is a nontraditional student with two college-aged children and commutes from Clay Center for classes every day.

PHOTOS BY MATT STAMEY/ Collegian

Charges brought against caretaker

■ Kansas City, Kan., man charged in deaths of men left behind in hot vehicle.

The Associated Press

MERRIAM, Kan. — The caretaker of two developmentally disabled men who died after being left in a hot car has been charged with two counts of involuntary manslaughter, the Johnson County prosecutor's office said.

Cedric D. James, 26, of Kansas City made his first court appearance Tuesday; his next appearance is scheduled for Sept. 21. He remains in custody on $100,000 bond. He was not required to enter a plea Tuesday, and a public defender was appointed to represent him.

He drove Steven Warren, 34, and Michael O'Neal, 55, from their Community Living Opportunities group home in Merriam to Swope Park in Kansas City, Mo. The men were left in a station wagon during record-breaking, 106-degree heat.

James found them unresponsive and drove them to Shawnee Mission Medical Center in Kansas, where a doctor declared them dead.

According to police, James said he drove the men from the Community Living Opportunities home in Merriam to the park and left them alone in the vehicle with the air conditioning running.

The investigation centered on where James took the men and what he was doing that day, said Johnson County District Attorney Paul Morrison.

Morrison declined to discuss details of the investigation, but said the case was comparable to one where an adult leaves a child alone in a car.

"We believe that he kept those men for an extended period in an unattended car during the hottest day of the year and it resulted in their deaths," he said.

The group home's executive director, Michael Strouse, said James violated the organization's policies by taking the men to the park and again by leaving them alone.

"The Johnson County district attorney's office sees it as a crime and so do we," Strouse said. "We're glad they're prosecuting."

It wasn't James' first brush with the law. He also was charged in a December 1999 warrant with possessing marijuana with intent to distribute it.

Strouse has said Community Living Opportunities did not know about the drug charge.

Since the two men died Sept. 2, Strouse said, the agency has been reviewing its process for screening job applicants.

Current policy includes performing statewide background checks in both Kansas and Missouri and in states where an applicant has lived during the past five years.

Regents to focus on planning

By NICK BRATKOVIC
Kansas State Collegian

A variety of items are on the agenda for the first Kansas Board of Regents meetings Tuesday through Sept. 21 at Fort Hays State University.

INSIDE
Learn about regents members' job responsibilities.
Page 3

Topping the agenda is final approval of the board's long-term strategic plan. The board is in its second year of functioning under the bill that restructured it, and after one year, the regents are prepared to approve a long-range plan.

Regent Fred Kerr said developing the long-range plan was something that has interested the board since the changes were made.

"We wanted to develop a long-range plan, and this has been a process which has been going on for more than a year," Kerr said.

Kansas Senate Bill 345 was designed to consolidate all of higher education under one board. It made the supervision of all two-year and technical schools the responsibility of the board, which previously oversaw

See REGENTS on PAGE 12

Nontraditional student earns women's engineering award

By ALISON PHALEN
Kansas State Collegian

Driving 80 miles every day, Teresa Erickson, junior in computer science, is living an unusual lifestyle.

Erickson, a non-traditional student who lives in Clay Center, Kan., worked in banking for 26 years before coming to K-State.

"I started in bookkeeping and worked my way up to vice president and cashier," Erickson said.

Over the summer, Erickson was awarded the Society of Women Engineers/Adobe Systems $1,000 scholarship. She competed at the national level and was selected from more than 400 other students.

Erickson received a letter that told her she won the award and encouraged her to fly to Washington, D.C., for the presentation. Because she was in summer classes, she wasn't able to attend the conference.

"I have a pretty strong résumé. It may have made an impact that I try to balance that part of my life along with my home," Erickson said.

Suzanne E. Franks, Women in Engineering and Science Programs director, said the scholarship was quite competitive.

Teresa Erickson, junior in computer science, walks to her calculus class Wednesday afternoon.

"It's a pretty prestigious scholarship," Franks said.

Erickson began at K-State in spring 1999, and because she had taken community college courses over the years, she is at junior status. She said even though she is taking 12 hours, she adds about 10 more to it to account for driving time.

"When I started back, I didn't want to overwhelm myself," she said.

Even though she took community college courses, most didn't count toward her major. She said she hopes to graduate either in December 2002 or May 2003.

Franks, who is Erickson's adviser, said she encourages all women in the College of Engineering to apply for the internship.

"Teresa was really competing with women in engineering across the country," Franks said. "I think Teresa definitely deserved it."

Erickson decided to come to K-State and earn her degree when the bank she worked at was going through some changes with which she didn't agree.

"I chose to direct my energy to challenges that were fulfilling," Erickson said.

To make her decision as to what field to study, Erickson took a placement test that revealed she would excel in

See SCHOLARSHIP on PAGE 12

CONTACT US

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
532-0729 rdunn@collegianmail.com

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
532-0729 tehmke@collegianmail.com

Steve Dearinger Photo Editor
532-5492 sdearinger@collegianmail.com

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
532-0730 jbarrett@collegianmail.com

Sarah Bahari City & Government Editor
532-0730 sbahari@collegianmail.com

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
532-0732 kdymacek@collegianmail.com

Derek Boss Sports Editor
532-0732 dboss@collegianmail.com

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
532-0732 eschneweis@collegianmail.com

Ken Wells Online Editor
532-6556 kwells@collegianmail.com

Becky Wilson Copy Chief
532-0732 bwilson@collegianmail.com

Sara Martin Design Editor
532-0731 smartin@collegianmail.com

Jim Calvert Ad Manager
532-6560 jimcalvert@collegianmail.com

Alissa Duncan Assistant Ad Manager
532-6560 aduncan@collegianmail.com

Molly Brammer Online Ad Manager
532-6560 molly@collegianmail.com

BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Display advertising	532-6560
Classified advertising	532-6555
Delivery Problems	532-6555
Photo Reprints	532-6304

BY MAIL

Kansas State Collegian
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

ON THE WEB

www.kstatecollegian.com

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 2000

Topeka students witness man's death at school

TOPEKA — A man working on the roof of an elementary school fell through a skylight to his death as about 20 students and six adults looked on.

Jose Bravo, 48, Emporia, fell into a multi-purpose room at the McClure Elementary School about noon Tuesday.

The school set up counseling sessions for students and faculty.

Bravo worked for Midwest Coating, Inc. of Topeka.

— The Associated Press

Judge sets scientist free after 9 months in solitary

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — After nine months in solitary, Wen Ho Lee pleaded guilty Wednesday to just one count of mishandling nuclear secrets and was set free by an apologetic judge who said the government's actions "embarrassed our entire nation."

U.S. District Judge James Parker was bound by the plea agreement to sentence the fired Los Alamos National Laboratory scientist to 278 days — essentially, time served since his arrest last December.

"I sincerely apologize to you, Dr. Lee, for the unfair manner in which you were held in custody by the executive branch," Parker told him.

The judge said he was only sorry that the plea agreement prevented disclosure of information that would have shed light on the reasons for the detention. Lee's supporters have said he was singled out as a Chinese-American.

The judge said he did not blame the prosecutors.

"It is only the top decision-makers in the executive branch of the government, in particular the Department of Justice and the Department of Energy," he said.

Earlier, Lee read a statement in court in which he admitted using an unsecure computer to download a document relating to national defense onto a tape. He said he knew possession of the tape outside of the top-secret area where he worked was unauthorized.

He pleaded guilty to having unauthorized possession of, access to, or control over documents and writings related to national defense — that is, the tape.

Lee had agreed to cooperate with the government and tell them everything he knows about seven tapes.

The investigation began as an offshoot of a fizzled Chinese espionage case, with government attorneys making dire accusations that Lee downloaded the crown jewels of U.S. nuclear science and might be poised to hand them over to a foreign power.

— The Associated Press

European leaders meet to negotiate fuel taxes

LONDON — Prime Minister Tony Blair, joined by leaders in Belgium and Germany, rejected any concessions on fuel taxes Wednesday, despite worsening protests that have snarled traffic and left gas pumps bone-dry across much of Britain.

"Real damage is now being done to real people," Blair said on nationwide television, blaming protesters for fuel shortages that triggered school closings, delayed non-vital surgery in hospitals and even threatened deliveries by Britain's famously reliable Royal Mail.

Late Wednesday, the National Blood Authority went on alert, saying it feared its blood supplies soon could be affected. The government put military fuel tankers on standby in case they are needed to get deliveries through, and banks reassured worried customers they still would be able to get cash.

William Hague, leader of the opposition Conservative Party, urged that Parliament be called back from its summer recess to deal with the crisis, as Blair prepared for more urgent meetings Thursday with top advisers.

Europeans — especially Britons — pay some of the highest gasoline prices in the world. British pump prices average $4.31 a gallon, with taxes accounting for three-quarters of the cost.

Because of heavy taxes, public anger has been largely aimed at the government rather than at the protesters who, last week, began tying up traffic and strangling fuel supplies with refinery blockades and go-slow convoys.

Other European countries, including France, Belgium, Germany and the Netherlands, experienced scattered protests in recent days, but Britain was the hardest hit by far.

As the flow of gas dried up, so did rush-hour traffic on normally busy London arteries. Some undertakers said they might have to halt funerals if they can't find fuel for their hearses. School closures were expected to affect thousands of pupils Thursday.

Despite the increasing disruption, Blair said he would not be pressured into lowering fuel taxes, saying it would shatter his government's credibility.

"Whatever the protesters do ... it cannot be right to try to force a change in policy by these means," the prime minister said at a news conference televised live nationwide.

"We will not be intimidated. We will not give into violence, to blockades, to threats."

— The Associated Press

CORRECTIONS & CLARIFICATIONS

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Jenn Davoren at 532-6556 or e-mail collegn@ksu.edu.

ON RECORD

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Did you miss the Sept. 12 deadline for changing passwords for K-State computing IDs? Reactivate your ID on the www.ksu.edu/activateID page.

■ KNEA-SP will meet from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. today and Friday in the lobby of Bluemont Hall.

■ Career and Employment Services will conduct a How to Work a Career Fair Workshop at 5 p.m. today in Kedzie 106.

■ TRIO-GSS will meet at 5 p.m. today in Union 205. Every graduate student is welcome to attend.

■ Family Studies and Human Services Interest Group will meet at 5:30 p.m. today in Justin 254.

■ College Republicans will meet at 5:30 p.m. today in Union 213.

■ Student Dietetic Association will meet at 6 tonight in Justin 150.

■ Physical Therapy Club will meet at 6 tonight in Union 206.

■ Golden Key National Honor Society will meet at 7 tonight in Union 207.

■ Alpha Kappa Psi will meet at 7:30 tonight in Eisenhower 15. A representative from Myers and Stauffer will speak, so dress is business casual.

■ Alpha Phi Alpha will meet at 7:30 tonight in Union 206. Those interested in the Miss Black and Gold 2000 competition are invited to attend.

■ Navigators will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Union Flint Hills Room.

■ Hillel Jewish Student Organization will meet at 9 tonight at Java Espresso & Bakery in Aggieville.

■ Students for Environmental Action will meet at 9 tonight in the Union Council Chambers.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Riley County

Tuesday, Sept. 12

■ At 2:14 p.m., Scott B. Rasmussen, 801 Bluemont Ave., was arrested for possession of drug paraphernalia, possession of marijuana and driving on a suspended license. Bond was set at $1,500.

■ At 4:50 p.m., Charles Wilson, 295 Redbud Estates, was arrested for probation violation and contempt of court. Bond was set at $1,300.

Wednesday, Sept. 13

■ At 1:13 a.m., Christian A. Barnett, 4440 Tuttle Creek Blvd., was arrested for probation violation and driving on a suspended license. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 1:51 a.m., Mike P. McClelland, 3117 Lundin Drive, Apt. 2, was arrested for forgery, possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of marijuana. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 4:23 a.m., Rusty D. Fallwell, 2830 Nelson's Landing, was arrested for criminal use of a weapon, possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of a controlled substance.

K-State Police

■ No reports of note were made.

www.kstatecollegian.com

The Women of
Alpha Xi Delta
Would Like to Congratulate Julie Kircher
For Becoming a Greek Ambassador

—continuing education—

Kids That Bully

Strategies to Prevent Bullying Behavior

September 27 ~ 12:45-3:45
Houston Street Center (5th & Houston), Manhattan

For helping professionals, parents, volunteers

Learn strategies to redirect and change bullying behavior in kids of all ages and to empower children and others to avoid being targets or victims. Randy Wiler is Director of the Kansas Bullying Prevention Program and Community Prevention/ DARE Officer in Leawood, KS. $24 if payment received by Sept. 22, $30 later. 3 CEU's for social workers, others. 3 credit hours for nurses.

For information call 785- 587-4326
PAWNEE Mental Health Services

R You N?

GOLDEN KEY NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Golden Key National Honor Society
Visit us at the Union 1st floor, Sept. 13-15, 8 a.m.-4 p.m. or come to Information Night Sept. 14, 7 p.m., Union 207

YOU'RE FOCUSED.
YOU'RE DETERMINED.
AND YOU HAVE NO IDEA WHAT YOU'RE DOING.

Find everything you need to know about grad school at www.petersons.com/campus

Gathering information for grad school can be absolutely mind-boggling. At Petersons.com, you'll find detailed information on programs, student loan information, online practice tests and online applications. Go to Petersons.com. And un-boggle that brilliant mind of yours.

PETERSONS.COM
THOMSON LEARNING

ONLINE AND IN PRINT
AOL Keyword: Peterson's

Board of Regents responsible for hiring university presidents, setting tuition rates

■ Statewide organization also oversees community colleges, technical schools.

By NICK BRATKOVIC
Kansas State Collegian

Their pictures hang on a wall in Anderson Hall.

Members of the Kansas Board of Regents are perhaps the most powerful people in higher education, hiring university presidents and chancellors and setting tuition rates for students. Regent William Docking said the board's duties could be classified broadly.

"One is accountability, which involves hiring university presidents, and setting tuition rates," he said.

"Another is advocacy, which is our role, and responsibility to be advocates for proper funding legislation."

Still, the regents are not too visible and can be easy to overlook, Regent Floris Hampton said.

"I suspect the average student does not have a great amount of time to think about it," she said. "They are probably busy with their own work and life."

The board also is responsible for overseeing all of public higher education and Washburn University, something Regent Fred Kerr said is a little unusual.

"Most states have regents sent up to oversee the universities," Kerr said, "but it is pretty unusual for one board to have as much responsibility over higher education."

Docking said that, in addition to the meetings and decisions being made, regents spend time on campuses throughout the year.

"This fall, when K-State has President's Club day, several of our regents will be on campus," Docking said.

"While we may not be as visible to students, we try to be on campuses frequently."

One K-State student who has experience working with the board is Student Body President Jake Worcester, a member of the student advisory committee.

"We work very closely with the board to promote issues and initiatives we feel are important to students," Worcester said.

MATT STAMEY/Collegian

Rachael McIntire, freshman in psychology, gets her hair cut by Sequita Tillman at the K-State Student Union Hair Care Center. It is open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m Tuesdays through Fridays, and 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays.

Hair center celebrates opening

By JJ DUNCAN
Kansas State Collegian

For a hair cut, hair-care products or even a new color, the K-State Student Union's Hair Care Center is available for anyone who doesn't want to travel off campus.

The ribbon-cutting for the new feature in the Union took place at 10 a.m. Wednesday to commemorate the opening of the salon.

Having a salon on campus will be a convenience for students, Don Becker, project coordinator, said.

"Whether you're studying or in between classes, this makes it easier," he said. "You don't have to go off campus to get a quick hair cut or get a hair-care product. You just do down to the Union and take care of it."

The idea for the salon was brought to light in a 1995 survey of K-State students who were asked what they would like to see with the renovation. One common answer was that they would like to have a hair-care center, Becker said.

A special committee, led by David Griffin, Union Governing Board Faculty Senate representative, championed the idea for the center, Becker said.

The salon is located in the recreation level of the Union, next to the bowling lanes. Having a good location with competitive prices already has drawn many students to the center, Craig Meinhardt, UGB president, said.

"So far, from what I understand, it's been pretty busy, so it's good that students are using it," he said.

Since the opening July 18, the salon has experienced enough business to keep the staff of four busy. Business has been steady enough that hiring another stylist is already being considered, Chareline Cain, master stylist, said.

"So far, students are really impressed with our service, and we may need to find more stylists because we're kind of cramped right now," Cain said.

Appointments as well as walk-ins are welcome in the center. Right now, various hair services are available, but options such as manicures may be offered later, Cain said.

"From the feedback I've heard so far, students have really been impressed," she said. "For those who don't have the transportation, they now feel like the Union is almost a one-stop shop. They don't even have to go off campus to get a hair cut."

Becker said the outlook for the facility's future is good and he is interested in seeing it develop.

"We're very excited to have this new service in the K-State Student Union, and we invite all the students to stop by and see how convenient it is," he said.

Highway construction continues

By CHARLIE MORASCH
Kansas State Collegian

Highway construction has plagued students with heavy traffic on Interstate 70, and it isn't going to get better anytime soon, officials said.

Starting at the Kansas Highway 177 exit, Exit 313, and extending east until Kansas City, Mo., several highway construction projects are under way, and more are to come after a bill last year allocated funds for reconstruction of older highways.

Many travelers have found the worst traffic during typical travel times like the Friday before Labor Day and the weekend of the Eddie Robinson Kickoff Classic.

Erica Guries, junior in business, said she had a particularly exhausting time getting to Kansas City the Friday before the Kickoff Classic due to the construction surrounding Topeka.

"It took well over three hours to get to Kansas City, and at least 45 minutes just to get from the west end of Topeka to the toll," Guries said.

"There were cars stopped for miles before that turnpike, and once we did get going it was only 15 miles per hour."

The I-70 construction closest to Manhattan is a 6-mile stretch that begins at Exit 316 and extends east. Kansas Department of Transportation Spokesman Stan Whitley said that particular project should be finished soon.

"There were cars stopped for miles before that turnpike, and once we did get going it was only 15 miles per hour."

Erica Guries, junior in business

"That project is expected to be completed and open to traffic in mid-November," Whitley said.

Although the length of the projects has seemed to concern students, the projects have moved at a pace typical of construction.

"They've stayed on schedule," Whitley said.

"The anticipated date to be completed was November, so we're right on schedule."

Whitley said the state allocated $12.9 billion for a highway program that was enacted last year, and is designed to repair the older parts of mainly interstate highways.

"One of the emphasis of the program is on interstates, like I-70, because of their age, so that's why you're seeing a lot of work done on those interstates right now," he said.

Although the project near exit 316 will be completed soon, Whitley said much more highway construction is on the way.

"We're going to see a high level of construction continuing through the interstate system and throughout Kansas because of this highway program that passed," he said.

"We've got projects that will continue for the next 10 years, so there is a lot of work that's still going to be going on not only on the interstate but throughout the state."

Delivers the latest!

OPEN LATE! GUMBY'S Pizza & Pub OPEN LATE!

702 N. 11th Street
770-3333
Sunday 11a.m. - 2 a.m.
Mon. - Wed. 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.
Thur. - Sat. 11a.m. - 3:30 a.m.

Checks add 50¢

770-3333 Fast Delivery, Dine-In, Carry-Out

JAWHAWK HATER
Two Large 14" 2-Topping Pizzas for $12.99
Additional Toppings $1.00 per pizza

CARRY-OUT SPECIALS
16" 1-Topping $6.99
14" 1-Topping $5.99
BONUS BUYS MENU with any food purchase
- 10 Wings...ONLY $3.99
- Medium Pokey Stix ONLY $3.99
- 4 Pepperoni Rolls...ONLY$2.99

THE BIG ASS
One 20" Massive 1-Topping Pizza
$10.99
2 for $19.99
Additional Toppings $1.30 per pizza

EVERY PIZZA GETS A FREE RANCH • EVERY MONDAY IS DOUBLE RANCH DAY!

Needing Groceries?
READY FOR A "WEEKLY WIND-DOWN?"

Go to Union Station, in the K-State Student Union this THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 2000 at 8:00pm for Grocery Market BINGO!!

Admission is FREE

Groceries will be awarded for prizes and a $50 gift certificate to a local grocery store for the grand prize.
SPONSORED BY UPC

Be SEEN
where it counts

The Royal Purple yearbook and Thornton Studio are coming to you for FREE portrait pictures.

TODAY
Thursday, Sept. 14
Kappa Delta
9 a.m. - 5 p.m.

FRIDAY
Friday, Sept. 15
Kappa Kappa Gamma
9 a.m - 5 p.m.

and in the K-State Student Union Courtyard
9 a.m. - 5 p.m. every day.

Order your yearbook for $29.95.
royalpurple.ksu.edu

2001 Royal Purple YEARBOOK

Communication necessary for regents board

Tuition rates, faculty recruitment and educational standards should concern all of us across the campus and statewide.

The Kansas Board of Regents has the task of keeping track of these things and more.

The first year under the restructuring mandated by SB 345, which added community colleges and vocational schools to the board's purview, has helped expand communication within higher education across the state.

However, communication levels always can be improved.

Regents members visit post-secondary institutions statewide to hear from students, faculty and staff and to stay grounded on what is happening on campuses.

The board also maintains a Web site, www.kansasregents.org, with information about what the regents have done and what will be discussed next.

Contact information is available on the Web site. Board members visit K-State — both the Manhattan and the Salina campuses. K-State representatives, both from administration and students such as Student Body President Jake Worcester, communicate with the regents on a regular basis.

So, if people are concerned about higher education in the state, there are avenues available to make their voices heard. E-mail the board members. Attend a regents meeting on campus. Contact Worcester with concerns. Simply get involved.

Current agenda items that deserve attention include the Faculty of Distinction program, meant to help school districts and universities keep their top teachers. Part of this program is to encourage gifts from private donors to attract and retain distinct faculty members, which only can benefit K-State.

The regents are advocates for those of us in higher education. They should have our help in what they do.

▶ OUR VIEW is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
Jenn Davoren News Editor
Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
Sarah Bahari City/Government Editor
Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
Derek Boss Sports Editor
Becky Wilson Copy Chief
Sara Martin Design Editor

Reality BITES

Media embraces trend of voyeurism into lives of ordinary people

MIAH WHITAKER

Ages ago, MTV premiered a series called "The Real World," which seemed to show anything but.

The premise was outrageously new at the time. Unobtrusive (snerk) cameramen would follow the cast members, recording almost every aspect of their private lives for the whole world, or at least everyone whose cable company carried MTV, to see. We were supposed to see what happened when people "stopped being polite and started being real."

Other than "Road Rules," which was "The Real World" on wheels, MTV had produced a singularity in programming. A soap opera starring everyday people with everyday problems. What could be better than that?

The "is it true, is it not true" story of Heather Donahue, Michael Williams and Joshua Leonard could. The grainy, black-and-white, herky-jerky lost footage of "The Blair Witch Project" was the unofficial kickoff of the reality craze that has spawned such reality-based fare as "Survivor" and "Big Brother."

Millions of people tuned in to see who would get kicked off the "Survivor" island each week. Millions more log onto the "Big Brother" Web site — webcenter.bigbrother2000.aol.com/entertainment/NON — to chat about who should be kicked out of the "Big Brother" house. The sequel to "The Blair Witch Project" will be released next month. A little-known film called "The Last Broadcast" has found a new audience.

And yet another group of unknown actors has been given a chance to provide us, the gullible, voyeuristic public, with a peek into their trauma. A new, as-yet-unreleased film called "The St. Francisville Experiment" shares almost the same premise as "The Blair Witch Project" — send a bunch of unknowns into a scary situation and film the whole thing.

We'll love it.

Whether we want to admit it or not, we have become a society of voyeurs. Everyone I know refuses to admit to watching more than one episode of "Survivor," and then only because it was on at someone's house. I admit it: I watched the show. I wanted to see how long it took for everyone on the island to hate each other. The ratings prove I wasn't the only one.

Not once did I ever believe that the people on any of the reality shows I've seen, including the aging "Real World," were being real. How could they? Could you act normal with a camera operator following your every move?

In most of the interviews with friends and family of the "Survivor" contestants, someone commented that so-and-so never really acts like that at home: "He's always nicer around us," "She's never been that rude before."

Could it be — drum roll, please — they're acting?

Reality-based programming isn't even remotely based in reality. No one is dragged out to a deserted island and taunted with promises of food for performing tricks in the real world. Reality isn't having people call a 1-900 number to banish you because you double-dipped your chips at snack time. It is running out of toilet paper in the middle of the night and making a Dillons run in your pajamas.

No one wants to see that.

Miah is a junior in English/social sciences and media. You can e-mail her at mwhitaker@collegianmail.com.

ADAM HAYES/Collegian

CAMPUS fourum 395-4444

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions on topics relevant to the publication.

By the way, Rick Wooten, why do you think it's the father's prerogative to take care of his daughter's sex life and not the mother's? That is an interesting, sexist point of view that you have there.

■

Gosh, I wish Rick Wooten could be my dad. Did he even realize in his incessant rambling that he was basically saying he wants to protect girls from horny idiots like himself? What a smart cookie.

■

Talking on a cell phone does not constitute having a social life. It just means that your friends don't want to be seen talking with you.

■

Yeah, we had the same problem with Mike Lin, too. When do we get our article in the paper?

■

Where did the bike cops go? I am sick of bikers busting through the dismount zones.

■

Okay, here's the deal: when I am walking around campus and I see 50 people and one of them is talking to a piece of plastic, I think they look stupid. That's about it.

Political ideologies must be based on thought, not stereotypes

EMILY COCHRAN

When John Fitzgerald Kennedy was sworn in as our 35th president in January 1961, he made a most profound statement in his inaugural address: "Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country."

The irony of these words lies in the fact that Kennedy and presidential contender Al Gore are of the same party — a party that today stands convinced that government knows best and should do more for us. This line of thinking undermines the essence of the American spirit as well as the noble words of Kennedy. We might have come a long way, baby, but in which direction?

When I was a high school junior, my history teacher described the difference between the liberal left and the conservative right. She characterized the right as being uptight, boring, grey-haired, Bible-beating traditionalists, while the leftists were young, hip and open to new lifestyles. It was Lawrence Welk versus rock 'n' roll.

Now, it doesn't take a rocket scientist to figure out on which side we wanted to be. How inappropriate of her as a teacher to misinform her impressionable audience so simplistically.

Unfortunately, impressionable is the operative word here, as millions of Americans will go to the polls this fall and vote based on feel-good impressions as opposed to informed opinions.

To be informed, perhaps we should look at the right versus the left by examining three main issues that continue to confront this nation.

More than 30 years and $5 trillion later, the war on poverty, i.e. welfare, hasn't been won. In fact, the percentage of poor people remains the same. However well-intentioned, the left continues to fund programs that perpetuate generational welfare and foster a handout mentality. Although the liberal's heart appears to be in the right place, where is the accountability?

On the other hand, a conservative views welfare as a wolf in sheep's clothing. The right would rather offer a "hand up" as opposed to a handout. The idea is to temporarily help a person in need with behavioral strings attached. Recent work-for-welfare programs are proving to be quite successful and have reduced welfare roles by up to 50 percent in the past six years.

The difference between a liberal and a conservative when looking at education boils down to one word — accountability. Liberals support better facilities, higher pay for teachers and smaller class size. I do, too, but where is the academic achievement measurement? Gore's plan comes at a cost of $100 billion with no plan for accountability.

Conservatives support school vouchers. The price tag: $13 billion. This plan rocks a liberal's boat, as it instigates competitiveness and forces accountability — two of those American spirit words.

Vouchers offer students and families the right to seek the best education available. In other words, schools with the best teachers and highest performance credentials attract the most students and are funded accordingly.

To examine the honorable intent of affirmative action is a no-brainer. It is compassionate and well-meant, but it has failed miserably. How can a program that substitutes merit-based incentive for social equality ever hope to offer any of us the opportunity to be the best we can be? To justify anything based on the color of one's skin or gender is a disservice to the principles upon which this nation was built. You can rationalize all you want, but in the long run, the only things that count are performance and accountability.

If we continue to believe that well-intended government programs, no matter the cost, will solve all of our problems and that more government is the answer, we haven't come far at all. In fact, we might even have to start all over again. One size doesn't fit all. Examine the consequences of a left-versus-right platform by delving beyond what sounds good and fair on the surface. Vote accordingly.

Emily is a senior in art history. You can e-mail her at erc3397@ksu.edu.

READERS WRITE

Wooten should alter views, realize mistakes in argument

Editor,

Thankfully, Rick Wooten is not yet a father, because he obviously doesn't realize he can change people's perceptions of young women and should change his own. I don't agree with his repulsion when young girls prance around entirely naked. However, most people don't understand that you are giving them exactly what they want — attention.

Females, from the ranks of teen-age heartthrobs to your next-door neighbor, use their sexuality to be noticed. By making a point to gawk at them, you're only adding fuel to the fire.

Every girl born recently in America has learned by observation that looking cute or exploiting their sexual prowess will get them noticed. I've been guilty of this since age 5, when I used to smile at my father's banker to get a Tootsie Pop. All females do this at some point, because we are taught to learn by example, and we rarely hear someone say, "Check out the set of brain lobes on her!"

Even though I have no respect for how Britney Spears makes her money, I do admire her for capitalization on the idiocy of young men.

In addition, Wooten's statement about the 12-year-old girl who was performing oral sex proves he ranks among the highest of idiots. It didn't occur to Wooten that there probably was a 12-year-old boy, or (even more disturbing and probably true) a 16-year-old boy receiving oral sex.

Wooten should stop seeing the world so one-sided, and if he stopped watching his neighbor's amateur porn, he'd realize females act this way because men like Wooten encourage it and take no blame.

—Stephanie Billups
senior in industrial engineering

JEANEL DRAKE/Collegian

FLOUR POWER

Shellenberger Hall was busy from noon to 4 p.m. Wednesday with the Grain Science Club selling flour, followed by the K-State Bakery Science Club bake sale from 3 to 5 p.m. The "Got Flour?" sign referred to the six different types of flour and the six specialty items being sold. The sales of freshly milled flour raised money for the Grain Science Club to tour some larger mills.

Golden Key offers Awareness Week

By SHANNON MARSHALL
Kansas State Collegian

Academic performance, leadership and community service are qualities many prospective employers value in the search for successful employees.

Golden Key National Honor Society allows students to be rewarded for and to continue to develop these qualities.

This week, students will have an opportunity to learn more about Golden Key through the honor society's annual Awareness Week.

A booth will be set up in the K-State Student Union today and Friday, giving students an opportunity to talk with members and officers about the benefits of Golden Key.

Jennifer Witt, senior in biology and microbiology and Golden Key officer, said the purpose of the organization's awareness week is to recruit new members.

"We are informing students about Golden Key, just letting them know that we're here on campus and informing them about eligibility," she said. "This is our biggest drive that we do, and anyone can get in if they're eligible."

The honor society, established 23 years ago at Georgia State University in Atlanta, inducts college juniors and seniors in the top-10 percent of their graduating class.

"The top-10 percent of a class usually translates to students with a grade point average of 3.4 or 3.5 and above," said Dacia Daniels, senior in accounting and Golden Key president. "We generally have about 700 people involved at a time."

There will be an information session at 7 tonight in Union 207 for any students who are interested.

"We talk about the history of Golden Key and also about the types of activities we do during the year," Witt said.

Kristi Peterson, senior in secondary education and chairwoman for Awareness Week, said these activities are both entertaining and beneficial for Golden Key members.

"Golden Key offers leadership experience as well as community service opportunities for students," she said. "We have 12 to 13 positions that members can apply for, and members have opportunities throughout the year to participate in community service as well."

Witt said she encourages all students to come by the Union this week to ask questions about Golden Key.

"We really want to inform students," she said. "This is just a great opportunity.

Fraternity takes national honors

■ K-State's Kappa Sigma chapter earns awards for brotherhood, scholarship.

By ANGIE JOHNSON
Kansas State Collegian

Members of Kappa Sigma fraternity recently were awarded for outstanding achievement.

During the last weekend of July, 11 K-State members of the Gamma Chi Chapter of Kappa Sigma Fraternity attended the Area-Four leadership conference in Dallas.

The students attended various workshops, lectures and banquets where they were presented with more acknowledgements than expected.

"This summer just captivated off a lot of our chapter's hard work and showed that it has finally paid off," said Tad Drescher, senior in industrial engineering and Kappa Sigma president.

Awards received at the conference were the outstanding brotherhood development program, campus involvement, community service, intramurals and scholarship.

The Founders Award of Chapter Excellence proved to be the chapter's most valued award. It is the highest achievement and was given to only 19 of the 212 chapters of Kappa Sigma.

"This is a catalyst for motivation to potential members of the house to want to be a part of it, and for the current members of our house," said Dustin Holub, junior in management information systems.

Another significant acknowledgement, given to five people in the entire nation, was the GT proficiency award, which Jason Mayers, senior in accounting, earned, giving him the title of top grand treasurer.

Besides the numerous awards earned, Gamma Chi was named the seventh best chapter in the international chapters of Kappa Sigma.

"We are completely ecstatic," said Judd Herbster, senior in political science and Kappa Sigma secretary.

"One year ago our 92 members at K-State were virtually unknown, and now we stand out among all of them."

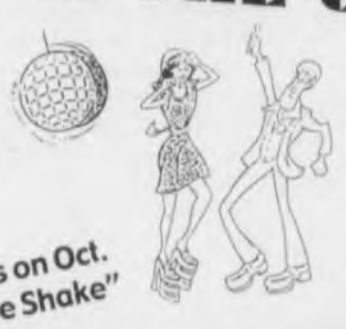
In the process of bringing in alumni support, working on a renovation plan, excelling in grades and intramurals, the awards topped it off for Kappa Sigma. It couldn't have come at a better time, Drescher said.

"Everyone has to work together to make this happen, not just one member can do it, and we have just proved that we make up a team of hard workers," Jason Heffner, junior in agricultural business, said.

The K-State chapter was described as a well-rounded house at the conference.

More than 85 percent of the house is involved and active on campus. Also, the house does not solely rise in grades, but in all areas, Drescher said.

"We plan to keep building on this reputation," he said.



"At the ceremony this summer, the emcee called out our names as a broken record, saying once again the award goes to the Gamma Chi chapter. And the international Kappa Sigma president declared that he now has his eye on us. I can't explain that awesome feeling."

Aggieville Business Association
Presents

- Call all of your friends!
- Breakout the polyester!
- Disco night in Aggieville!
- No Cover Charge
- Adult Beverages!

All Star DJ Dave Lewis

DISCO DAVE IN THE CAGE

Also join us on Oct. 13th for "The Shake"

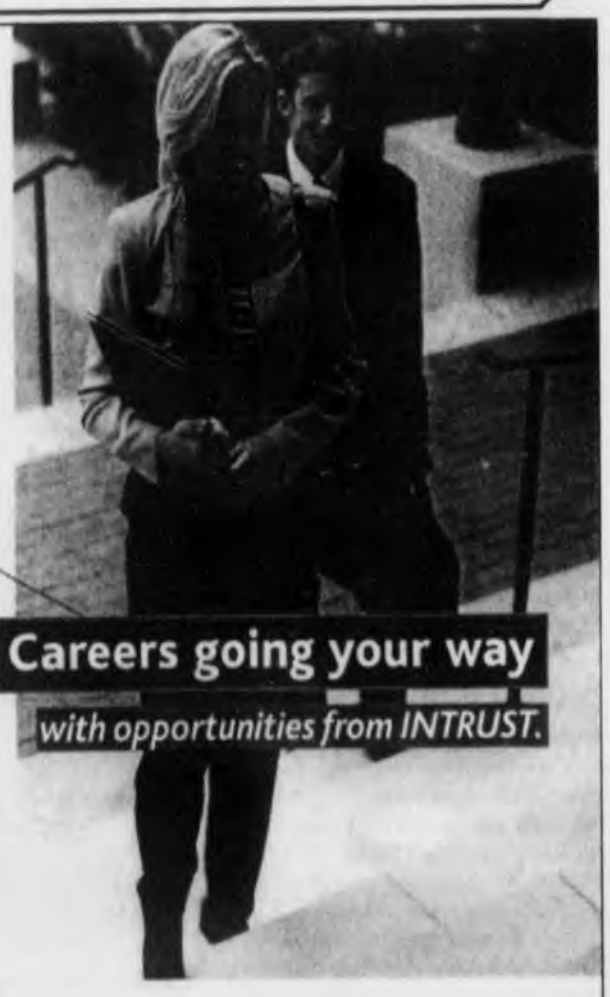
Friday, September 15
8:00–11:00 p.m.
empty lot 1100 blk. Moro

LIMITED TIME STUDENT OFFER
$29.99 for 1000 Minutes

250 Anytime Minutes
250 Night & Weekend Minutes
500 Total Minutes

You can call anywhere in the country from anywhere on our network. And there are plenty of other great plans to choose from, so you're sure to get exactly what you want. This special offer is available to new customers only. Sprint PCS built the only all-digital, all-PCS nationwide network from the ground up, serving more than 300 major metropolitan areas. Hear the difference today.

Sprint. The clear alternative to cellular.™ Sprint PCS®



To find out more or to order your phone with free delivery, visit www.sprintpcs.com, call 1-800-480-4PCS or stop by one of the locations below:

Sprint PCS Center:
404 Poyntz Ave.
Manhattan, KS 66502
(785) 537-3500

Also available at The Sprint Store At RadioShack.

Offer of $29.99/500 minutes available under new Sprint PCS Free & Clear Plan available with purchase and activation of a new Sprint PCS Phone™ between September 1, 2000 and September 30, 2000. Cannot be combined with certain other promotional offers. 250 Anytime Minutes are standard with $29.99 Free & Clear Plan. Long Distance is available on the $29.99 plan as the subscriber's Free & Clear Option, and an additional 250 Night & Weekend Minutes can be chosen at no additional charge with a one-year Sprint PCS Advantage Agreement℠. If Long Distance is selected, all 500 minutes will include long distance. If Long Distance is not selected, a $0.15-per-minute charge will apply to all domestic long-distance calls, as it does to such calls made in excess of the included minutes. Benefits of the offered plan continue as long as customer remains on the $29.99 plan with these options. This plan is only available with new or additional subscriptions. A $150 early termination fee applies to the Sprint PCS Advantage Agreement. A complete statement of the terms and restrictions of the Sprint PCS Free & Clear Plan is available in the Sprint PCS Clear and Simple Facts Guide. Except in select markets, a nonrefundable $29.99 phone activation fee applies. All plans subject to credit approval. Roaming calls and minutes in excess of plan minutes are not included in Sprint PCS Free & Clear Options. Domestic long-distance calls made while roaming off the Sprint PCS Network will be charged at an additional $0.25 per minute. Night & Weekend Minutes are Monday–Thursday 9pm–7am and Friday 9pm–Monday 7am. Included minutes are not good for calls made while roaming off the Sprint PCS Nationwide Network, whether local or long distance. Roaming calls are charged at $0.69 per minute or $0.39 per minute, depending on specific local-market offers. Sprint PCS Wireless Web℠ service is available only on the Sprint PCS Nationwide Network and may not be available in select affiliate markets. Sprint PCS Wireless Web service requires a wireless Internet-ready phone. A rate of $0.99 per minute applies to all wireless Internet usage without a Sprint PCS Wireless Web option. ©2000 Sprint Spectrum L.P. All rights reserved. Sprint, Sprint PCS, Sprint PCS Wireless Web, Sprint PCS Phone and the diamond logo are trademarks of Sprint Communications Company L.P.

If you're looking to move up you need choices. And that's what you'll get with a career at INTRUST. As the largest Kansas owned bank we've got positions available with opportunity for you to show your potential. Call INTRUST Human Resources today and find out how you can get a position that rewards your good work.

Apply at INTRUST Bank OnLine, stop by or call:
630 Humboldt • (785) 565-5400
1-888-458-7366
www.intrustbank.com

Equal Opportunity Employer, M/F/D/V
Member FDIC

YES YOU CAN. INTRUST.

FAMILY TIES

Twins' closeness converges with homegrown attitudes in rowing

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

STEVEN DEARINGER/Collegian

Twins Jane (left) and Jenny Smedley are on the K-State women's crew team. They are new to the coxswain position this fall.

When K-State crew freshmen Jenny and Jane Smedley were in high school, many people had a hard time distinguishing between the two.

Although they still look similar now, Jane, the older twin by five minutes, has cut her hair and grown two inches, so people can see a visible difference. This was not the case at Mathews High School in Mathews, Va., Jenny Smedley said.

"I don't have as large as scars as she does," she said. "That's the way people used to tell us apart when we looked exactly alike, is that she has a dogbite scar and I have a chicken pox scar."

Therein lies a big difference between the twins — Jane is the accident-prone one. However, even through the mishaps, the two have stayed together.

"Jenny does go to the emergency room with me," Jane Smedley said.

Despite the presence of Jane's scars, though, the Smedleys still were mistaken for each other, often to the chagrin of their teachers or coaches.

"We've switched on teachers before," Jenny Smedley said. "Our coach couldn't tell us apart for the longest time in high school, so it was 'Smed.' That's what they referred to us as, 'Smed' and 'Smed.'

"So it got confusing when we were in the same boat, and he'd be like, 'Smed, you're dipping your hands,' and we'd be like, 'Which one?'"

Jane and Jenny Smedley might have caused both their high school teachers and coaches fits at times, but they probably should leave those tricks at home, Kevin Harris, K-State head novice coach, said.

"I think they know that's not the smartest thing to do on this team," he said.

The Smedleys haven't pulled a prank so far, but that isn't to say they never will. They just haven't thought of a good joke, Jenny Smedley said.

"Not yet, but we're working on it," she said. "We have to come up with something good because we can't really go by the looks anymore, because we kind of look differently."

Looks aren't the only differences between these twins. In many ways, their personalities are different, too.

"Jenny's more artsy-fartsy," Jane Smedley said.

"And Jane's more social," Jenny Smedley said. "I stick to myself more."

The differences also extend to rowing, even if the twins themselves can't see the distinction. In high school, the Smedleys were rowers, but at K-State, both have been converted to coxswains. As a result, they've both had to learn a new position quickly, Jenny Smedley said.

"I can't really say that one of us is picking it up differently than the other," she said. "But I've heard from others that she does one thing a little bit better than I do, but then there's something else that I do a little bit better than her."

The fact that their teammates can pick out some of the differences more readily than they can is a credit to the family-like atmosphere on the rowing team, Jane Smedley said.

"I feel like I have a big group of sisters," she said. "They're really great girls. We can't go home for Thanksgiving, and we've had almost everybody on the team offer us a place to stay. They've all been really nice."

As close as the rowers are to one another, they will have a difficult time matching the bond developed between the Smedleys. For instance, they have never spent a single day apart from one another in their lifetimes, and as a result, they usually know what the other is thinking, Jenny Smedley said.

"When you live with somebody for so long and are so close to them, you kind of get an idea of how their mind works," she said, "so you pretty much know what they're going to be thinking when something happens."

The twins' mental connection extends beyond just boating. That mirror image also can be found in their humor.

"It's fun to play around with them sometimes, like the whole twin fight. Like, 'I never want to see your face again,'" Jenny Smedley said to her sister.

"Well then, don't look in the mirror," Jane Smedley replied.

Volleyball team beats Iowa State in 3 games

By TOM GILBERT
K-State Sports Information

AMES, Iowa — The 22nd-ranked K-State women's volleyball team opened Big 12 Conference play last night with a 15-6, 15-5, 15-9 victory over Iowa State.

With the win, K-State moved to 7-2 overall and 1-0 in Big 12 Conference play with its fourth straight victory, while Iowa State dropped to 2-6 on the season and 0-1 in league play.

In the series, K-State extended its overall winning streak over Iowa State to nine matches. The Wildcats have also won 27 straight games against Cyclones in nine meetings and have not lost a game of a match since 1996.

Junior outside hitter Liz Wegner led the way for the Wildcats in game one, as she posted six kills on .625 hitting with two service aces in the 15-6 victory.

Freshman outside hitter Cari Jensen tallied five kills on .571 hitting, and senior middle blocker Kelle Branting turned in four kills on .429 hitting, as the Wildcats coasted to a victory in game two at 15-5.

In the third and decisive game, the Wildcats got a strong effort from a number of individuals, as Wegner led five players with two or more kills with six kills in a 15-9 victory.

"We played well enough to win tonight," head coach Jim McLaughlin said. "We were able to put enough pressure on them and score our points in bunches. However, I would like to see more of a consistent effort from the team from start to finish.

"I think we have a tendency to let up once we have the momentum in a match. This is something that has to change as we get deeper inside conference play, especially on Saturday against a very tough Baylor squad."

Wegner led the way for K-State with a total of 15 kills, eight digs and a team-best three service aces. Jensen finished with 13 kills on .381 hitting, while sophomore outside hitter Jenny Pollard tallied double-digit digs for the seventh time in nine matches with a team-high 10 digs.

FILE PHOTO BY JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

K-State setter Disney Bronnenberg sets the ball during action Saturday against Virgina Tech.

Sophomore outside hitter Sarah Rollman led the Cyclones across the board with 10 kills on .292 hitting and seven digs, while senior middle blocker Stacy Nicks posted a team-high six blocks along with five kills.

K-State will next be in action Saturday when the Wildcats are host to 24th-ranked Baylor at Ahearn Field House beginning at 1 p.m. K-State will be looking to avenge a Baylor squad that swept both conference matches last season.

Women's golfer places 3rd in tourney

By NICK BRATKOVIC
Kansas State Collegian

Christine Boucher made history at the Husker Invitational, and along the way, led K-State women's golf to a sixth-place finish.

In her first collegiate tournament, Boucher shot a three-round score of 226, for the lowest 54-hole score in school history. However, Boucher said that while she was pleased with her third-place finish, it could have been better.

"I was happy with the score, but I didn't make putt," Boucher said. "The greens were not rough but airified, so it is hard to make putts."

Airified means that the greens are holed out and filled with sand, which makes putting more challenging. In the third round, Boucher four-putted the second hole, which could have hindered her performance.

WOMEN'S GOLF SCORES

Place	Player	Score
T3	Christine Boucher	226
T13	Carrie Chambers (individual)	229
T29	Miranda Smith	236
T33	Edie Murdoch	238
T33	Elise Carpentier	238
T56	Lindsay Hammerschmidt	246

K-State head coach Kristi Knight said she was pleased with Boucher's performance, despite the putting difficulties.

"Christine played well," Knight said. "I am real pleased with how she played, but she would tell you she didn't make putt all three rounds. She hit the ball well and made a ton of greens."

However, she bounced back by consistently hitting the green in regulation, shooting a 73.

"I think throughout the tournament I hit like 15 greens in regulation, and that was a positive," Boucher said.

When the tournament was over, Boucher said she called home to Canada and spoke with her parents.

"I just talked to them and told them I finished third," she said. "They were pretty happy."

It was her first opportunity to play in a collegiate tournament, and her score impressed teammates.

"She did awesome getting third, and she is a really good player," junior Lindsay Hammerschmidt said.

Boucher said at this point in her career, she is working towards constant improvement.

"Right now, I am playing against myself each tournament and looking to get a better score than the last one," Boucher said.

The women's team will next compete in the Sept. 22-24 Mary Fossum Invitational in East Lansing, Mich.

Junior men's golfer takes 1st in Lincoln invitational

By NICK BRATKOVIC
Kansas State Collegian

K-State golfer Bryan Milberger just keeps on improving.

The junior emerged victorious at the Fairway Club Invitational on Monday and Tuesday in Lincoln, Neb.

Milberger bounced back from a first-round score of 74 to finish the last two rounds with scores of 69 and 71, respectively. Of the three rounds, K-State men's golf coach Tim Norris said his second round was his best.

"His second round, 69, was a good round. I think the next best score was either 71 and a couple of 72s," Norris said. "The thing that made it so special was that the wind blew one direction in morning and afternoon, so it was like a completely different golf course."

The victory comes after Milberger's eighth-place finish at the Big 12 tournament last year. Norris said he has worked hard to improve.

MEN'S GOLF SCORES

Place	Player	Score
1st	Bryan Milberger	214
T5	Aaron Watkins (individual)	220
T35	Daryn Soldan	231
T40	Dan Demory	232
T41	Scott McNeely	233
T41	A.J. Elgert	233

"He's improved every year he's been here, continually improving," Norris said. "That's what you are looking for, somebody to get better each day."

Milberger's victory, Norris said, comes despite his struggles in approaching the green during the third round.

"I think mentally, he held it together," Norris said. "He one-putted 11 greens and was even-par for the round. So, he didn't worry about hitting the ball. He just went out there and played."

The first-place finish was not the only strong performance for K-State.

The Cats also received a strong individual performance from freshman Aaron Watkins, who shot a score of 220 and finished fifth, but competed independently and not as a member of the team.

As a team, K-State finished fifth in the tournament, and Norris said it's a day-by-day progression.

"Yeah, just a day at a time," Norris said. "This weekend's tournament has no district schools for us, but it will still be a good challenge."

Up next, the men will compete in Monday and Tuesday in the PSI Net Collegiate Invitational in Dellwood, Minn.

LET

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

FREEDOM

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

ROCK

DORITOS® BRAND WANTS YOU TO ROCK THE VOTE IN 2000.

ROCK THE VOTE

EMPOWERED BY

Doritos TORTILLA CHIPS

Log on to doritos.com or rockthevote.org and register to vote.

DORITOS and the DORITOS Logo are trademarks used by Frito-Lay, Inc. © Recot, Inc., 2000. Rock The Vote is a registered trademark of the Rock The Vote Education Fund.

Wooldridge succeeds in recruiting promising players

MIKE VIETTI

Attention, K-State fans: you're baffling me once again.

On the day Bobby Knight gets fired, some clearly insane fans call into the Campus Fourum, requesting that our new basketball coach, Jim Wooldridge, immediately be replaced by, quite possibly, the biggest jerk on the face of the earth.

What gives?

I know we've gone through six years of Tom Asbury, but are we already giving up on a coach who's been here five months?

Are we ready to give up on a coach who frantically traveled across the country making recruiting pitches at the last possible minute, in an attempt to lure men to play for the worst team in the Big 12 last year, and succeeded given the circumstances?

Are we ready to give up on a coach who already has signed two recruits for next season who quite possibly rival any whom Asbury signed in his six years?

I certainly hope not.

It's not fair to Wooldridge, to his new assistants Mike Miller, Charles Baker and Robbie Laing, and it's not fair to any of his players.

Give the man a chance — he's already shown in his time here that he will bring better players to Manhattan.

The latest two are Nick Williams and Janerio Spurlock, so start practicing their names for the 2001-02 season.

Spurlock, a 6-foot-6-inch, 200-pound shooting guard from Chipola Junior College in Marianna, Fla., scored 19.1 points per game last year, while shooting 50 percent from the field. He's from Ohio, but originally signed with Louisville out of high school, which, as we all know, isn't too shabby of a program.

Williams, a 6-foot-4-inch, 175-pound guard from Mansfield, Texas, is considered to be one of the top guards in the state and was a three-star player by recruiting Web site Rivals.com.

Again, both players seem to have credentials worthy of schools that have been better than K-State in the past few years, which can be viewed as nothing but a good sign for the future. If Wooldridge can recruit these kinds of players before he even coaches his first game, just think about the possibilities after he's been in action.

Of course, you're all saying, "Mike, I don't care about two years from now, what about next season? We're gonna suck."

Ahh, how strange it is to hear words like that from the same people who want Ell Roberson to play instead of Jonathan Beasley — I just didn't see that one coming.

Maybe we'll be good this year, maybe we won't, but the pieces are in place for the next several years. Two of the community recruits who will play this season will have three years of eligibility.

Power forward Matt Siebrandt was the Nevada player of the year out of high school and signed with UNLV, then got a medical redshirt for the 1998-99 season before spending last year at the College of Southern Idaho. At 6-foot-8-inches, 240-pounds, he gives the Cats an inside presence that will be a little thin next year with only Kelvin Howell, Travis Reynolds and Joe Leonard returning.

The other recruit with three years to play as a Wildcat is Richie Terry, a 6-foot-3-inch, 210-pound guard who averaged almost 19 points per game last year at Jacksonville (Texas) Community College.

I hate placing labels on people, but incoming junior Larry Reid just might turn out to be K-State's best player since Elliot Hatcher. Reid averaged 18.5 points last year while dishing out six assists per game in leading Northern Oklahoma Community College to the NJCAA Tournament. If he's as quick and as good of a shooter as I've heard, pencil him in as the starting point guard for next year.

With the new recruits, the question is, who will start?

Reid should man the point with senior Galen Morrison sliding over to shooting guard. He shot more than 40 percent from three-point range last year, and if he's not handling the ball as much, that will give him more opportunities to drain threes.

K-State could go with a small lineup and start Terry as an extra guard or the Cats could start sophomore Quentin Buchanan, who steadily improved throughout his freshman season.

The post situation is a little tricky with the addition of Siebrandt. Reynolds, despite probably being K-State's best defender, is a little undersized to play power forward. Depending on the progress of Leonard, the Wildcats could play him at center with Howell or Siebrandt at power forward and move Reynolds down to small forward.

Whatever happens with the starting lineup, the point is that in his short time at K-State, Wooldridge already has improved the team from a year ago. All I'm asking is that we give the guy a chance before writing him off as the next Asbury, a label we surely don't want to jinx Wooldridge with.

Mike is a senior in print and broadcast journalism. You can e-mail him at mvietti@collegianmail.com.

SCOREBOARD
WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY NIGHT
$1 NIGHT
Seagrams, All domestic bottles
Calls - Captain, Quervo, etc.
Fries, Burgers, Tots
All for a buck!
$1.50 Micro & Import Bottles - Corona,Heineken,Newcastle, etc.
$2.00 Premiums - Crown, Sapphire, Absolut
1119 Moro • 776-7714 • Open at 5:00 p.m.
SCOREBOARD

WEEKEND DRINK SPECIALS

THURSDAY
10¢ wings 5-9 p.m.
BIG SCREEN TV 2 DART BOARDS
2 FOOSBALL TABLES
$2 Captain Morgan
Captain Silver
Parrot Bay
OUT OF BOUNDS SPORTS BAR & GRILL
Mon. - Wed. 5pm-2am• Thurs. - Sat. 11am- 2am• Sun. 9pm-2am
1129 Laramie •537-4045

Ramblers
STEAK HOUSE & SALOON
Thursday
Night Special
12 oz. Top Sirloin
w/baked potato, salad and dinner roll
or
"The Couples Special"
2 complete dinners for only $12.99
8711 E. Hwy. 24
Manhattan, KS
539-4989

12th STREET PUB
STEAK NIGHT
SIRLOIN STRIP · SIDE SALAD
BAKED POTATO · TEXAS TOAST
ALL FOR $5.95
LIVE BAND TONIGHT
FEATURING RUSTIN SMITH
$2.00 ANYTHING · NO COVER

785-537-4445
got beer? we do.
FRIDAYS
XX Black Angus Stout pints $1.50
CRAZY CAT SATURDAYS
Wildcat Wheat pints $1.50
SUNDAYS
Fresh Beer to go 11-6pm
RESERVE YOUR KEG TODAY
Little Apple Brewing Co.
Fresh Handcrafted Beer
Certified Angus Beef
1110 Westloop 539-5500

Party on the Patio every Thursday
The Irish Way
Live Music from 7-11 p.m.
O'Malleys
Home of the Black and Tan
$2.50 Parrot Bay Madros "keep the glass"
Slam a Belfast Bomber
Guiness, Harp & Bass on Tap
$2.00 Bud & Bud Light bottles
$2.00 Michelob bottles
Live Reggae Music with Cry Out Live with special Guest Time Has Come
O'Malleys Alley
Sponsored by Budweiser, Parrot Bay, & K-Rock 101.5
1210 Moro 537-0775
Next Thurs. don't miss El Fontain with Egomaniacs

785-539-5500
SPANK BALL St.
Busch Light Keg $44.75 Save Over $14.00
Seagram 7, Bacardi Light Rum, Jim Beam 4 Year ALL $8.88 Save $2.00
750 ml Plastic Gameday Travelers
Mad Dog 20/20 $2.50 Over 30% off
CAPT. MORGAN SILVER SPICED 1.75 ml $19.97 SAVE $4.50
Bud and Bud Light 20 pack bottles $12.94 Almost $3.00 off
Foster's 12 packcans $8.75 Over $2.00 off
COORS LIGHT & ORIGINAL 12 pack bottles $7.46 $1.75 OFF
Corner of 12th & Laramie
Aggieville (next to Domino's)
DEAN LIQUOR
*PRICES GOOD WHILE QUANTITIES LAST

e
elements of taste
Techno Tuesday
Any Martini $3.00
Bud and Bud Light Draws $1.00
Jello Shots $1.00
Fuego Fridays
Corona Bottles $1.50
Margaritas $1.75
Bud/Bud Light Draws $1.50
Wicked Wednesday
ALL Well and Call Drinks $1.50
The Wednesday Wine $3.50
Sippin' Saturday
ALL Collins Drinks $1.50
Domestic Bottles $1.50
Game Day 16 oz. Domestic Draws $2.25
Thirsty Thursday
Long Island Iced Tea & Hurricane Pitchers $10.00
Domestic Draws $.75
Domestic Pitchers $4.50
Swingin' Sundays
1/2 Price Everything
Live Entertainment:
Saturday • Sept. 16 • Orange
Every Friday Salsa and Merenque Dancing
Wednesday • Sept. 20 • Just Bill
11 a.m.-2a.m. Tues-Sun. • 1131 Moro • Aggieville • 770-3000

Cryptoquip & CROSSWORD
presented by:
1219 Moro
Aggieville
JAVA
(785) 587-6888

FOR RELEASE THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 2000

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Homer Simpson's "Rats!"
4 Rover's companion
8 Truck-stop fare
12 Uruguayan's year
13 Irritate
14 Hodge-podge
15 Cultivation structure
17 Labels
18 Do tailoring
19 White House-Kremlin link
21 Wonky or Woodward
24 Sicilian's 6
25 End of Web-site addresses
26 "Green eggs and ham" purveyor
28 Garden pest
32 Actress Nina
34 Bathroom fixture
36 Angry
37 CFC refrigerant
39 "— for the million ..."
41 Sunbathe
42 Asian holiday
44 Seal of approval
46 Uncomfortable situation
50 One of the Stooges
51 On
52 Portable cooking device
56 Via, for short
57 Vaccine type
58 Clamor
59 Palm reader, maybe
60 Overhang
61 Blue

DOWN
1 "Zip-a-Dee-Doo-—"
2 Lennon's love
3 Topping for nachos
4 Unhappy faces
5 Debtor's letters
6 Satellite antenna
7 Bread spreads
8 "M*A*S*H" role
9 Jail follower
10 Affix your John Hancock
11 Firetruck need
16 Coop occupant
20 1773 jetsam
21 Mutt's pal
22 Potpourri target
23 Nosh
27 Silent
29 The quick-tempered
30 "Dies —"
31 Fender bender result
33 Impetuous one
35 Pen name?
38 Born
40 Taste
43 Western resort lake
45 Army rank (Abbr.)
46 Millinery
47 Will- — -wisp
48 Ripped
49 Triple this for a movie title
53 Hebrew letter
54 Actress Carrere
55 Remnant

Solution time: 27 mins.

Yesterday's answer 9-14

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 95¢ per minute; touch-tone/rotary phones (18+ only.) © King Features service, NYC.

9-14 CRYPTOQUIP

V P K H G I P K M U P V S P V J P G W A E U E J W H I E G W U J E A I F Y F I O U Y M W O ? F I J S W E Q Q Y J J H W O .

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: IF YOU HAD A SHOEHORN, I BET THAT YOU'D PROBABLY PLAY FOOTNOTES.

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: J equals T

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2000 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

MIX MASTERS

WHO: Julie Ellsworth Porter's

Ellsworth

Julie Ellsworth, senior in social science, has been a bartender at Porter's for two years.

DRINK: Miller's Ecto Cooler

2 counts Peach Stoli
2 counts Peachtree Schnapps
2 counts Blue Curacao
2 counts orange juice

Combine and pour into a shot glass.

ONLINE:
Learn to make this drink from the master. Go to www.kstatecollegian.com for exclusive video footage.

state fair Foods

Vendors provide tradition to fairgoers

By REED DUNN
Kansas State Collegian

Pronto Pups and caramel apples might be rumored favorites at the Kansas State Fair, but not all food offered during the 10 days of festivities is fried or covered in caramel.

"The things that go good at the fair are things you can't get at home," concessioneer Charles Griffin Sr. said. "What goes good at the fair is what 40 years ago you got every day at home."

Deana Nobak, space sales director, said stands such as the one run by South Hutchinson Methodist Church have a lot of history behind their menus. Chicken and noodles served at the stand has become one of the most popular meals, she said.

Along with the healthy food, fair visitors look forward to fried foods, too.

"A lot of people say they come to get their annual Pronto Pup," Nobak said.

Griffin, a vendor of 18 years, started his first food stand at the Kansas State Fair when he opened Porky's Palace. Since that time, he has taken over grandstand concessions, a roasted corn booth, four root beer stands and several other locations around the fairgrounds.

The idea to start a food stand at the fair came after Griffin and his wife, Jartice, spent several consecutive days at the Hutchinson, Kan. fairgrounds. He said the fair was a fond childhood memory for his wife.

"My wife was raised in Hutchinson, so she drug me to the fair every day," he said. "Honestly, we saw it as an opportunity to make money."

Another longtime concessioneer at the fair is Jim Bell, an Omaha, Neb. resident. He has served a variety of foods for the past 20 years, and now has 20 service windows all centrally located on the fairgrounds.

Bell, who works for a packaging company during the off season, spends his yearly vacation working at Kansas Catfish Kitchen, and two other stands he owns. He became involved in the concession business through a friend.

"I had a friend invite me to work at a concession stand, and I got hooked," Bell said.

When preparing his menu, Bell said he keeps family in mind. Since most of the fair is focused on family, he said it is important to remember this when deciding how to put portions together.

"I believe in serving something there is a lot of pieces, so the family can eat out of the same bowl," he said.

Some of the better sellers for Bell have been items such as bierocks, onion blossoms and catfish dinners. More than anything, he said people are attracted to his funnel cakes.

"They're visual," he said. "People like the fact you can see the funnel cakes being made, and they are ready in very little time."

Like many independent vendors, Bell said it is important to make as many of the items at the time of order as possible.

"We want to make it so it's fresh," he said. "We don't make anything out of a box. All of our batters, and everything, is from scratch."

Nobak said each year there are several additions to the vendor's menus. This year she said there is a stand selling ostrich burgers. She said the vendor is a Kansas man who specializes in selling ostrich meat, and serving the burgers at the fair is a way for him to advertise his business.

"It's a good way to get your name out there," she said. "We have a list of everything that is served at the fairgrounds, so we can tell people how to get in touch with the vendor."

KANSAS State Fair
SEPTEMBER 8-17, 2000
HUTCHINSON

Photos by Karen Mikols

THE GONGFARMER

HEY VIC, SORRY ABOUT THE POUND THING.
YOU'RE TAKIN' IT LIKE A MAN THOUGH!
WHICH IS A GOOD THING BECAUSE YOU HAVE TO BE REPAIRED BEFORE I CAN ADOPT YOU OUT OF HERE.
REPAIRED?!
UM... FIXED.
REGIER 9/14
WHAT A WUSS. I'M THE ONE OUT 60 BUCKS.
WOOO

Students discuss leadership

By MAGGIE BLUNK
Kansas State Collegian

Now that the school year is under way, some K-State students are utilizing the skills they learned during their LeaderShape experience to improve their organizations.

"The purpose of LeaderShape is to bring student leaders together from different aspects of student life," said Amy Dix, junior in biochemistry and student worker for Leadership studies and programs.

The weeklong workshop took place this summer at Rock Springs Ranch near Junction City. It was sponsored by a collaborative effort between many campus entities.

LeaderShape's definition of leadership is making a commitment to a vision, developing relationships to bring the vision into reality and sustaining a high level of integrity.

"The workshop focuses on team building and leadership training," said Dana Pracht, senior in pre-occupational therapy and student body vice president. "It's about combining student leaders from one university because they'll be working together on a daily basis."

Ben Hopper, senior in agricultural communications and political science, said the workshop was a leadership camp with a K-State twist.

"It taught us to enhance our leadership qualities, communication and organizational skills, and showed us how to work with others," he said.

Forty-three K-State students attended this year's workshop. Some of the organizations represented were religious organizations, the K-State Marching Band, Black Student Union, the Royal Purple, greek housing, Student Governing Association, Biology Club and the rowing team.

"It was interesting to see how we interacted with different personalities," Hopper said. "It was neat to see how different people perceive things."

Hopper said it was nice to have the K-State atmosphere throughout the week. Since everybody had the same background, the leaders had something in common to begin with, he said.

Pracht said she came back to campus with an open mind.

"I know more about people and their organizations and the goals of their organizations," she said. "I'll be working with these people, and it's helpful to know where they are coming from."

After attending the conference, Pracht said she foresees more joint programming. She also said believes there will be a greater appreciation, understanding and support between organizations.

The workshop takes place every summer. For those interested in participating, applications will be available during finals week.

"I was humbled to be a part of such an awesome group of people," Hopper said. "I would encourage people to go to meet people on campus, evaluate their priorities and find something that they have a real passion about and seek it out."

Car bomb in Indonesian stock exchange parking garage kills 13, injures 27 others

By DANIEL COONEY
The Associated Press

JAKARTA, Indonesia — A car bomb ripped through a garage beneath Jakarta's stock exchange Wednesday, setting off a chain of exploding vehicles that killed at least 13 people and injuring 27 others.

Thick black smoke billowed into the capital's main avenue and hampered rescuers trying to reach victims trapped in the three-level underground garage, where the blast caused dozens of cars inside the crowded lot to catch fire and explode, police said.

It was the latest in a series of unexplained bombings in Indonesia and was a blow to President Abdurrahman Wahid, who has accused his political enemies of using terror tactics to destabilize his reformist government.

"It was a really big bang and the earth shook. Then we just ran for our lives," said Rudi Herawanto, a driver who was on the garage's first level, a floor above where the blast went off.

Firefighters doused the flames and fumbled through the darkness of the garage to pull out victims hours after the blast. Many of the dead were drivers who had been waiting for their stock-broker bosses at the end of the business day. Some of the bodies were found huddled in the burned-out shells of their cars. Thirteen dead were reported by spokesmen from Pertamina and Cipto Mangunkusumo hospitals.

More than 1,000 office workers were evacuated after the blast, which went off 45 minutes before the closing of markets. Police ordered that trading be suspended for the rest of the week while they investigate.

"The explosion is believed to have originated in a red car parked in the second basement level," said national police chief Gen. Rusdihardjo, who, like many Indonesians, uses only one name.

Agency sued for ads

By JONATHAN D. SALANT
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Supporters of overhauling the campaign finance laws filed suit in federal court Wednesday, arguing that political party-financed ads in support of the presidential candidates are illegal.

The suit was brought by Scott Harshbarger, the current president of the advocacy group Common Cause; former Watergate special prosecutor Archibald Cox, a past chairman of the organization; and a former Common Cause President, Fred Wertheimer, who now runs his own group that lobbies to change the way campaigns are funded.

The three men are suing the Federal Election Commission, which has refused to rule that the ads are illegal. FEC spokesman Ron Harris said the agency does not comment on litigation.

After receiving their parties' nominations, Vice President Al Gore and Texas Gov. George W. Bush each received $67.6 million in public funds for their fall campaigns. In return, they agreed not to raise outside funds nor spend any additional money, except to pay legal and accounting costs.

The lawsuit argues that the Bush and Gore campaigns are violating the law because they are helping to develop the massive political party financed advertising efforts designed to help their campaigns.

"It is our hope that the courts will make clear what is obvious to everyone in this country except the FEC," Harshbarger said.

"These party ad campaigns are a massive subversion of our campaign finance laws — laws meant to protect all of us from the corrupting influence of big special-interest money."

Both the Democratic and Republican National Committees have run ads in support of their presidential candidates. Because the commercials do not specifically urge a vote for or against Bush or Gore, the FEC considers them issue ads and therefore does not regulate them.

Indeed, in 1998, the commission unanimously rejected a recommendation from its auditors that the presidential campaigns of President Clinton and Bob Dole repay millions of dollars to the U.S. Treasury because ads aired by their parties should count against the spending limits. The auditors initially recommended that the Clinton campaign repay $7 million and the Dole campaign $17.7 million.

1116 Moro St. Aggieville (Only a few blocks south of KSU)

HUNAM EXPRESS

Chinese Food Lover's Choice

20% Off

Lunch & Dinner Buffet

Offer good till 9/30/00

Free Delivery: 537-0886

Hours: Sun. - Thurs. 11 - Midnight; Fri. - Sat. 11 - 2 am

Bring it.

Where it matters most.

As one of the world's leading diversified technology companies, we're breaking new ground in everything from defense and commercial electronics, and business aviation and special mission aircraft. As a Raytheon employee, you'll contribute to the development of exciting, revolutionary technology designed to make life better, easier, and safer throughout the world. Such as our STARS air traffic control system. And our award-winning NightSight™ technology.

But it all starts with you. Your creativity. Your knowledge and innovation. And enthusiasm about the future. In return, we offer exceptional training and professional development opportunities. A supportive, down-to-earth work environment. And incredible benefits including flexible schedules designed to respect your quality of life.

So you can still show off all those great qualities of yours outside of work, too.

We have a lot to tell you about Raytheon and the exciting opportunities we have available. Plan on visiting our booth at your college career fair. If you are unable to attend the fair, please e-mail your resume to: resume@rayjobs.com (ASCII text only; no attachments), or mail to: Raytheon Company, Attn: National Staffing Data Center, P.O. Box 660246, MS-201, Dallas, TX 75266. U.S. Citizenship may be required. We are an equal opportunity employer.

Opportunities are available for exceptional students with the following majors:

- Computer Science
- Computer Engineering
- Electrical Engineering
- Mechanical Engineering
- Math
- Physics
- Chemical Engineering
- Aeronautical Engineering
- Finance/Accounting
- Human Resources
- Industrial and Labor Relations
- Marketing/Communications
- Management

Check out our Website at www.rayjobs.com/campus for further information including a calendar of recruiting events. At Raytheon, we strive to be the employer of choice for a diverse workforce by attracting, retaining, and recognizing the most talented, resourceful and creative people.

Bringing technology to the edge

Raytheon

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.
CALL 532-6555

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FALL LEASING available! Call now! Fully furnished, washer/ dryer, fully equipped kitchen, alarm systems, computer lab, copier, and fax availability, fitness center/ rec room, swimming pool, reserved parking, tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. University Commons Apartments, 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

CAMPUS FIVE BLOCKS. Very large two-bedroom with air-conditioning. Clean, quiet location. Electric, gas, water, trash paid. No dogs. 537-8389.

EXCELLENT TWO-BEDROOM one block from campus. $550 per month, water/ trash paid. 341-4496.

LET US HELP you find a place to live. We may have what you need. No dogs. Leave message. 537-8389.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOMS, dishwasher, washer/ dryer, central air $450- $475. Now available. (785)776-8455.

VERY NICE two-bedroom with air-conditioning. NEWLY REDECORATED, clean, quiet, convenient location. Heat, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. 537-8389.

115 Rooms Available

ROOM AVAILABLE NOW in four-bedroom house. Pets allowed, two bathrooms, utilities shared four ways. 1207 Houston. $300/ month. (785)770-9484, (785)556-1745.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR- FIVE-BEDROOM house, CLOSE TO CAMPUS, central air, two baths, (785)770-7230. Available now.

MUST SEE this BEAUTIFUL two story west side home. Three-bedroom, two and one-half bath, central air, park like one-half acre yard, two car garage. Available now. Good references a must. (785)776-8455.

NEW DUPLEX. FOUR-BEDROOM, two bath, two living rooms. Available October 1. $1000/ month. Pierre St. (785)456-7655.

TWO STORY BRICK, very large, three- four-bedroom, two baths, central air, laundry hook-ups, quiet location, fenced yard, parking. 537-8389.

150 Sublease

CLOSE TO CAMPUS! A very spacious one-bedroom basement apartment in a nice house. Rent: $340 a month. You only pay for electricty, phone and cable! 770-3537.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bath, furnished, washer/ dryer, dishwasher, privacy deck at University Commons. Sublease, two tenants needed. $325/ person/ month. 537-8226.

310 Help Wanted

CHARTWELLS, K-STATE STUDENT UNION FOODSERVICE, 121 K-State Student Union. Across from Ramada on Anderson Ave. Apply in person only. REQUIREMENTS: All successful applicants must be able to maintain a high standard of sanitation within the operation. Also, they must exhibit excellent personal hygiene habits and be reliable, efficient and punctual in their work assignments. Excellent customer service skills and effective communication skills are a must in all areas. CATERING ATTENDANTS: Part-time positions. Various hours plus some evening and weekend shifts. CASHIERS: Part-time positions: 8:15a.m.- 2p.m. or 10:15a.m.- 1:30p.m., Monday- Friday. Will train the right person. ICE CREAM/PIZZA: Hours needed are: 9a.m.- 4p.m. (full-time) and 3:30- 7:30p.m. (part-time), Monday- Friday. CHICK-FIL-A: One full-time, 8a.m.- 4p.m. Monday-Friday; one part-time 3-8p.m., Monday- Thursday. COOK: One full-time, hours vary. Could be 6a.m.- 2p.m. or 8a.m.- 4p.m., Monday-Friday. FOOD COURT ATTENDANTS: One full-time, 6a.m. to 2p.m., Monday- Friday; one part-time, 2- 7:30p.m., Monday-Thursday. REFRESHMENTS: Evening hours. Hours, 3- 8p.m., Monday-Friday. CHARTWELLS IS AND EOE/AA EMPLOYER.

CUSTOMER SERVICE! A perfect match if you have 15-75 pounds to lose, we pay you! (866)215-0727.

EXOTIC DANCERS: high pay, low hours. Apply in person at Ginger's Spot, 1014 Grant Ave., Junction City or call (785)762-3847 after 8p.m.

F R A T E R N I T I E S - S O R O I T I E S - C L U B S - STUDENT GROUPS. Earn $1000- $2000 this quarter with the easy Campusfundraiser.com three hour fundraising event. No sales required. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so call today! C o n t a c t Campufundraiser.com at (888)923-3238, or visit www.campusfundraiser.com

FULL-TIME WAREHOUSE/ delivery person at Faith Furniture. Please apply in person at 302 E. Highway 24, Manhattan.

HARRY'S UPTOWN is now accepting applications for dishwashers. Monday, Wednesday, Friday 10a.m.- 3p.m. and Tuesday, Thursday 10a.m.- 3p.m. Apply in person. 418 Poyntz.

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. Info 1-504-646-1700 Dept. KS-6438.

J & J Contractors, Inc. Iola, KS, has a bridge contract near Wakefield, KS which will start on September 18, 2000 and last for several weeks. Can work any hours from early morning to late evening. Possibility Saturday and Sunday work. Labor work needed. EOE. No experience required. Call Jackie/ Nicole at (316)365-5428 or (316)365-5500.

L O N G H O R N S WAITRESSES needed. Apply in person or call between 2- 4p.m. 776-8770, 1115 Moro.

PARENT ASSISTANT. Before and after school care. For three children, ages 6, 9, 11. Must have reliable transportation. (785)776-7764.

PART-TIME HELP wanted. Roof truss manufacturing plant, 5107 Murray Rd., (785)776-5081.

Spring Break 2001
Jamaica, Cancun, Florida, Barbados, Bahamas
Now hiring campus reps. Earn 2 fee trips. Free Meals. Books by Nov. 2nd. Call for FREE info pack or visit online sunsplashtours.com
1-800-426-7710

310 Help Wanted

PROPERTY MANAGER needed for large College Community. Position requires strong account and communication skills. Must be able to work independently and handle multiple tasks at once. Salary, plus apartment and benefits. Submit resume to First Management, PO Box 1797, Lawrence, KS 66049 or fax to (785)841-8492.

RILEY COUNTY INFORMATION SYSTEMS: Help Desk Intern: Knowledge of Windows 95/ 98, Windows NT, Office 97/ 2000, network wiring and a desire to gain experience in these areas. Proficiency with troubleshooting software, hardware, PC's and PC peripherals. Familiarity with Linux, Windows 2000, HTML, Microsoft Access a plus. Strong communication skills are essential as position requires substantial contact with all end users. This position should fulfill partial requirements for a degree; progress toward completion of the degree will be reviewed on a yearly basis for continuing employment. Applicants must be available to work part-time. Hourly rate is $8.35. All available positions require that a job application be completed and on file for employment consideration. Contact the Department of Administrative Services, Division of Human Resources located at 115 N. 4th St., 3rd Floor East, Manhattan, KS 66502. For more information call (785)565-6464, or e-mail to jdean@co.riley.ks.us Riley County is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

RILEY COUNTY INFORMATION SYSTEMS: Web Development Intern: Position will assist in developing Intranet and Internet web pages including database integration. Applicants should be familiar with Windows 95/ 98, HTML, Web technologies, Microsoft IIS, JAVA, ASP, Cold Fusion. Creativity and strong communications skills are essential. This position should fulfill partial requirements for a degree; progress toward completion of the degree will be reviewed on a yearly basis for continuing employment. Applicants must be available to work part-time. Hourly rate is $8.35. All available positions require that a job application be completed and on file for employment consideration. Contact the Department of Administrative Services, Division of Human Resources located at 115 N. 4th St., 3rd Floor East, Manhattan, KS 66502. For more information call (785)565-6464, or e-mail to jdean@co.riley.ks.us Riley County is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

WANTED: PART-TIME babysitter for toddlers in Christian home near Wamego. Need caring, reliable applicant with own transportation. Call (785)456-7899.

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

A N T I Q U E S , COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. Open 12- 5p.m. Closed Sundays Mondays. 539-4684.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS Camouflage clothing (including PURPLE) field jackets- Boots sleeping bags- overshoes, hunting wear. Also CARHARTT workwear. Open Mon.- Fri., 9- 5:30; Sat. 9- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS 66536. (785)437-2734.

SLOT MACHINE for sale. Reno Triple 7. Like new. Has keys, tokens, lights, whistles. $450 call (785)461-5884.

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

TWO COUCHES and two TV's available. Call 539-6338 after 6:30p.m.

420 Garage/Yard Sales

ANNUAL GARAGE SALE, Nevada St., Indiana Ln., Montana Ct., Fri. Sept. 15, 9 a.m.- 1 p.m. Sat., Sept. 16, 8 a.m.- 12:30 p.m. Mountain bike, Dynaco FM tuner, load equalizer, stereo, speakers, lawnmower, TVs, beer signs, ceiling fan, lamps, upright freezer, sewing machine, Camry wheels, children's books, clothes, camping equip, golf clubs, silk flower arrangements, Avon bottles. NO EARLY SALES.

GARAGE SALE! Friday, September 15 4:30- 7. Saturday, September 16 8a.m.-1p.m. Miscellaneous items and few baby items. 2907 Jeffrey Circle.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

DISCOUNTED FOOTBALL (Section 430) tickets vs North Texas for sale! Call Mike at (612)943-8113 for details.

FOR SALE: two general admission KSU vs. NU football tickets. Best offer. Call (785)770-9820.

NEED CASH? Sell your KSU vs. NU ticket! $100 plus. (785)539-4133.

TWO GENERAL admission tickets for all home games except Nebraska, best offer. E m a i l : footballksu@hotmail.com or call (530)297-4094.

WANTED TO buy: two Colorado football tickets, reasonable price. (785)286-2433.

WANTED- ONE general admission ticket to Ball State game. Call 537-7225.

WANTED: FOUR general admission tickets, K-State vs. Ball State. Please call (785)537-3827, leave message if no answer.

WANTED: FOUR reserved and two General Admission tickets for the October 14 game with Oklahoma. Call (785)776-4808. Can leave message.

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1987 DODGE 600, four-door, automatic, air-conditioned, power steering, good condition, $2000 or best offer. Call (785)539-1628.

1995 FIREBIRD, automatic, t-tops, excellent condition, $9495. (785)565-9764.

1997 FORD Ranger V-6- automatic- air-conditioning, 1991 Mazda Cab Plus B2200 automatic- air-conditioning, 1993 Ford Escort Wagon loaded 59K, 1993 Plymouth Grand Voyager loaded. Call 565-9458 or 317-0144.

FOR SALE, teal 1996 Ford Taurus GL four-door sedan in excellent condition. Keyless entry, power windows, doors, locks and seat, premium alloy wheels, scheduled maintenance, 51,000 miles, $10,300 negotiable. Call 587-9326.

FOR SALE: 1994 Dodge Dakota Sport, 3.9L, V-6, automatic overdrive, air-conditioning, power steering, anti-lock break system, cruise. Dent on driver's side. 71,000 miles. $6500 or best offer. Call 532-6664 (day); 776-6722 (night). Ask for Jim.

530 Motorcycles

1981 HONDA CM400-T. Purple, black, chrome. Looks sharp! Runs great! Detachable windshield/ saddlebags. Great gas milage. $975. Call Donald 539-5020.

1985 HONDA shadow 700CC. Black, like new, always garaged, very well maintained, 15K miles, helmet included. $2500. 539-8610.

1997 KAWASAKI EX250R Ninja , 5000 miles, great working condition, new rear tire, many accessories, clear title, $2100. (785)395-2630. davidduffey.com/ninja

600 travel/ trips

630 Spring Break

EIGHT DAY Florida, Caribbean vacations. Orlando, Ft. Lauderdale, hotel, rental car, round trip cruise for two. $398 plus docking. 1-888-353-1813.

SPRING BREAK! Deluxe hotels, reliable air, free food, drinks and parties! Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Mazatlan and Florida. Travel Free and Earn Cash! Do it on the Web! Go to StudentCity.com or call (800)293-1443 for info.

SPRING BREAK!!! Cancun, Mazatlan, Bahamas, Jamaica & Florida. Call Sunbreak Student Vacations for info on going free and earning cash. Call 1(800)446-8355 or email sales@sunbreaks.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Cancun, Bahamas, Florida, Jamaica & Mazatlan. Call Sun Coast Vacationers for a free brochure and ask how you can organize a small group and Eat, Drink, Travel Free and Earn Cash! Call (888)777-4642 or email-sales@suncoastvacations.com

WINTER BREAK/ SPRING BREAK. Ski and beach trips on sale now! www.sunchase.com or call 1-800-SUNCHASE today!

BUY-HIRE-SELL-RENT KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 103 Kedzie 532-6555

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.85
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.90
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.90
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information, call (785)456-2795, www.ksu.edu/ksfc

LAPTOP COMPUTERS seeking companionship. Dependability, looks, and style important. NorthStar Solutions: 1800 Claflin Rd., #160 or ksulaptops.com

SKIN PROBLEMS? Contact 1-888-353-1813.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

HAPPY 22ND BIRTHDAY SHANELE! We're so glad we met you! Let the partying begin! Love, Nikki, Lindsay, Josie and Brianna

040 Meetings/ Events

MANHATTAN PROJECT- a discussion group for gay/bi/transgender men focusing on social issues. Next meeting Sept. 18 from 7- 8 p.m. Call for location at (785)587-1999.

Special Announcement

Youthville would like to invite you to stop by our booth during this month's career fair. We'd enjoy visiting with you about the career opportunities we offer to help improve the lives of vulnerable children and their families.

UNITED METHODIST Youthville

100 housing/ real estate

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

Come home to relax in comfort

•Cambridge Square
•Sandstone Apts.

•Fireplaces •Carports
•Pool •Private Deck
•Laundry Facilities
•Large 2-bedroom Units

Call TODAY!!!
537-9064
Weekdays 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Showings by appointment

TWO-BEDROOM, WALK to campus, ample parking quiet conditions, furnished or unfurnished, laundry. Reasonable rent. 539-3638.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

BRAND NEW three-bedroom/ three bathroom apartment available September 11th, washer/ dryer included, close to campus and Aggieville. Call MDI 776-3804.

NICE, ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment near City Park. $300/ month, utilities paid except phone and cable. Call 537-6899.

T W O - B E D R O O M BASEMENT apartment, 431 Leavenworth, $360, bills paid. 539-8401.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

1997 DOUBLE wide mobile home. Three-bedroom, two bath, family and living room, washer/ dryer hook-ups. $41,000 negotiable. (785)717-2840. Colonial Gardens.

135 For Sale- Mobile Homes

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE, $265/ month, one-third utilities, Chase Manhattan Apartments, 539-7824.

ROOMMATE WANTED for clean house. Washer/ dryer available. (785)584-5991 or (785)776-1904.

TWO FEMALE roommates wanted to join three others in a five person house. Newly renovated, two bathrooms, close to campus. Call 565-9838.

155 Stable/ Pasture

HOME FOR YOUR HORSE. Stall or pasture, $135/ $90 per month. Use of arena and tack room. Please call (785)537-3773.

200 service directory

255 Other Services

LOOKING TO clean houses. Have experience. Call 565-9838.

300 employment/ opportunities

310 Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

ACCEPTING APPLICATIONS for cooks and servers. Please drop by Bob's Diner for more information. *No Phone calls 1103 N. 3 rd.

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!! Looking for part- time dealers. Multi- level market selling Indoor Air Purification Machines. Fun business, good money!!! Call Mitch at (888)814-2893.

CAT'S CLOSET Sales Associates: This position offers competitive pay and a great schedule that won't interfere with classes! Applicants need to be available a minimum of all home football and some basketball games. Stop by it's Greek To Me, 520 McCall Rd., to complete an application. EOE.

COMPUTING AND Network Services is seeking to hire a student university computing lab assistant. This position monitors and checks the equipment operational status in the university computing labs. Available to work first and second shift hours, in 2-4 hour blocks of time, 15- 30 hours a week, including weekends, holidays, breaks, and summer months. Experience with computers is a plus. Applicants with two or more years employment potential will be given preference. Contact Wendy Wann for more information at 532-4941.

COLLEGE AVENUE Infant/ Toddler Center is now hiring substitute teachers. Call 539-6885.

310 Help Wanted

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For info call (203)977-1720.

FREE ROOM! September board for female in exchange for some house work and to feed sheep. Part-time. (785)457-3582.

Meet Your Match

You sit two rows behind him during your class in that big lecture hall.
You've been admiring him from afar since the first day of class.
You're too shy to go up and talk to him.
Let us help you.
Advertise in the Collegian personals, and pretty soon...you'll get to sit right next to him.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE 532-6555

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

Kansans voice opposition to federal water-quality standards

By DAVID MILES
The Associated Press

TOPEKA — Hundreds of Kansans showed up at a public hearing Wednesday to voice their objections to proposed water quality standards written by the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

Opponents contend the standards are unnecessary, represent an intrusion by the federal government and will end up costing the state millions of dollars to implement.

"Truly, this is big government at its worst," said Al LeDoux, director of the Kansas Water Office.

About 400 farmers, ranchers and state officials packed a meeting room at the Kansas Museum of History, while a larger crowd sat outside the building and listened to the hearing via speakers. The EPA has scheduled another hearing for tonight in Dodge City.

The standards address what the EPA sees as deficiencies in state standards on designating rivers and lakes for different uses, streams with low flows, stream beds where waste discharges create the only flow and limitations on certain pollutants.

The EPA's regulations also would extend water quality standards to lakes and ponds on private land, such as farms, and that idea has drawn strong objections from state officials and agriculture groups.

The negative response has been so strong that the Kansas chapter of the Sierra Club has accused critics of overstating the effect of the regulations and unfairly whipping up Kansans' emotions.

The farm pond proposal has drawn attention because agriculture groups argue it represents an increased intrusion by the federal government on private property rights. They also note that many farm ponds are used exclusively for watering livestock.

Charles Benjamin, an attorney for the state chapter of the Sierra Club, has said the EPA won't regulate ponds if they are man-made and not connected to any other body of water. The EPA has said it only wants to have the ability to intervene when a serious pollution problem arises.

The EPA agreed to write new water quality regulations as the result of a settlement of a 1999 lawsuit filed by the Sierra Club and the Kansas Natural Resource Council. The groups argued that EPA wasn't doing its duty under the federal Clean Water Act to replace state water standards that the agency found deficient.

John Simpson, the council's attorney who worked on the lawsuit, described the standards as reasonable.

"The EPA's only doing what the law requires them to do," said Simpson, who listened to the hearing outside the museum.

But Simpson clearly was in the minority Wednesday.

Karl Mueldener, director of the Kansas Department of Health and Environment's Bureau of Water, estimated it would cost the state between $100 million and $240 million to implement the standards.

REGENTS

■ continued from page 1

only the state's public four-year schools.

Since the changes were made, the board has worked to reach a final strategy. Executive director Kim Wilcox said the process of developing a long-term strategy began last spring, and the plan likely will be approved.

"This meeting we will have a discussion of a strategic plan, and we anticipate approval by the board," Wilcox said. "We will also begin developing a working plan which lays out which groups are responsible for what."

The board has been successful overseeing its new responsibilities, Regent Floris Hampton said.

"It has been successful because of the commitment from the Board of Regents to do the job the right way," Hampton said. "In a year's time, we have worked to expand communications and form a better working relationship."

Wilcox said another item on the agenda was the Faculty of Distinction program, designed to help schools and universities keep its top teachers. The program, according to the regents' September agenda, is designed to encourage sizable gifts from private donors in order to attract and retain faculty of distinction.

"It is a program where if someone, say, gives half a million dollars to K-State, then the state would match the interest," Wilcox said. "It will help us retain our good ones, as well as recruit other outstanding faculty."

LECTURE

■ continued from page 1

fact," she said.

Koestner's message related personally to some members of the audience.

"Her speech really hit home for me because I have friends that have experienced rape," Lacey Keller, freshman in apparel marketing, said. "It made me realize how traumatizing it is to a person, and you can't ever take that back."

Phil Stein, senior in political science and pre-law and Interfraternity Council vice president, said he also thought Koestner's message affected many of the people at the lecture.

"The message was an incredible one that I definitely think impacted everyone here," Stein said.

Koestner said she hopes her experience makes both men and women think about their behaviors and what it might lead to.

"I hope men will be introspective about their behaviors in relationships," Koestner said. "I hope people will think twice after hearing what I have had to say."

Give us your opinion.
Campus Fourum: 395-4444

SCHOLARSHIP

■ continued from page 1

accounting and computer programming. The computer programming grabbed her attention because it was something she had done before.

"Computer and information systems is managing the information and the way it interacts. It helps make the computer a useful tool," she said.

As with most students, Erickson is not entirely sure what she will do after she graduates. She said she plans to have a career in which she would work with people.

"I think what I probably would like to do is work in business applications. I have people skills and I have managerial skills," she said.

Erickson's two daughters also are in college. Beth Erickson, second-year student in veterinary medicine, said she is glad her mother is in school.

"At first it was a little weird, but I'm just glad she's happy," she said.

BLOOD DIRT. CONTROVERSY
sound off about the cats at
GoPowercat.com
Powercat Illustrated's online supplement
http://www.gopowercat.com
message boards • chat • audio & video highlights
breaking news • recruiting • in-depth team analysis • k-state gear
© 2000 Rivals.com All Rights Reserved.
GoPowercat.com is not the official team site.

We are excited to announce
Angela Albin
has joined our professional staff!
Angela is offering
$5 off haircut good through Oct. 31
"START A NEW BEGINNING"
Call now for an appointment
NEW BEGINNINGS
HAIRSTYLING & TANNING
1130 Westport Dr. #6• Manhatttan • 537-1003

Fax Service
fax: 776-1009
Claflin Books and Copies

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
Limited Delivery Area
1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

RC McGraws
Karaoke Nite
50¢
Taco Nite
Hard or soft tacos
$1.99
Island Oasis Margarita & Hurricanes
2317 Tuttle Creek Blvd.
Manhattan, KS
776-9588

Most K-state students have 0 to 5
drinks when they party
Project WELLNESS
Kansas State University
www.ksu.edu/projectwellness
1 drink = one bottle of beer, one glass of wine, one wine cooler, or one shot of liquor.
*Based on a 1999 campus wide survey of 1,297 KSU students that was representatvie of the K-Student population with regard to demographics such as age, GPA, college, class and gender

TODAY'S WEATHER
HIGH 80 ■ LOW 52
FRIDAY

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

AM.COM

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sept. 15, 2000 ■ Kansas State University ■ Manhattan, Kan. ■ Volume 105, Number 19

Jam
ts al children

■ page 6

PHOTOS BY MATT STAMEY/Collegian

John Stamey sits in the tiller seat of a 1971 Seagrave on a stretch of Interstate 70 in Illinois. The fire truck had a top speed of 60 mph and got 5.8 miles to the gallon. The trip home from Virginia took 24 hours.

FIRE UP

With the ladder extended to 100 feet, the fire truck is parked at the Topeka Fire Department's training building.

Wildcat fans, firefighters create tailgate truck

By SARAH MCCAFFREY
Kansas State Collegian

It began with a love of firefighting and a passion for K-State athletics.

Doug Messer, John Stamey and Kevin Thomas, all former firefighters for the Manhattan fire department, came together to form the Powercat Hook and Ladder Company when they recently acquired their own fire truck.

"It's kind of something that's been in my mind for several years," Stamey said.

The trio purchased a 1971 hook and ladder firetruck Sept. 3 from the fire department in Woodstock, Va.

The truck is 55 feet long with a 100-foot aerial ladder, making it even taller than the 95-foot ladder on Manhattan's newest firetruck. Thomas said one of the truck's distinctive features are drivers in the rear and the front, a design aspect that isn't common on modern fire engines.

"It looks better than newer ones," he said. "It has an antique quality to it."

Although the group plans to have the firetruck at tailgating festivities, Stamey said it originally was purchased out of a love for firefighting and the symbols that go with the job.

"It's such a great apparatus," he said. "It's not only the envy of firemen, but of non-firefighters, too."

When the trio purchased the firetruck, they had four areas in which they hoped to involve the truck, Messer said.

They plan to restore the truck, maintain it in its original condition, educate people about the truck and fire-related matters and personal recreation, he said.

Messer said Powercat Hook and Ladder plans to use the truck to give back to the community.

"It all boiled down to the fire service in general, which is a big brotherhood," he said. "We naturally want to give to the community."

The truck will be maintained in working condition with minimal changes being made to the original firetruck. The only changes will be a new paint job, switching from a red body to a white one with purple striping and

See FIRE TRUCK on PAGE 8

Public race to benefit community

By NANCY FOSTER
Kansas State Collegian

More than 275 people will strap on their running shoes Saturday to participate in the fourth annual WildKAT Chase.

The race, sponsored by Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, is one of the many events happening during K-State's Family Day this weekend.

Anyone can participate, and all have the option of competing in either a 5K or 10K race and can choose to run or walk it.

Family Events

Saturday
9 to 11 a.m. Free pictures with Willie the Wildcat, Union Bookstore
10 a.m. and 11 a.m. Chemistry Magic Show, Willard Hall
2:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. Fashion Show, K-State Student Union

"We have people under 10 that come out and run, and then we have people coming out to walk in their 60s," said Shelly Laubhan, junior in human ecology and mass communications and race coordinator.

Those participating have to register and pay a $15 fee. All of the money raised is given to CASA, a program pairing volunteers with children who have been placed into the court system for one reason or another. The children — usually in the system for abuse or neglect — spend time with CASA volunteers on a regular basis. CASA learns about the case and gives the court a recommendation as to how the case should be handled.

"The really nice thing is it benefits Riley and Clay counties, so all the money stays here and benefits this community," Laubhan said.

Last year, the event raised around $4,600 for CASA, and Laubhan said she hopes to raise at least $2,500 this year in order to put them over the $10,000 mark for their four years of existence.

Having the event on Family Day helps get more people involved, Laubhan said, because parents and siblings who are in town can participate.

Their goal this year is to get at least 300 runners, and Laubhan said looking at the current numbers, she is confident they will accomplish it.

"They are looking really good right now compared to where they have been in the past couple of years," she said. "I think we definitely have a good chance of getting 300 and hopefully beating last year."

Awards will be given to the top-three male and female individual finalists, and also to the top male and female running team. Greek and scholarship housing have the opportunity to compose a five-person team to compete in the 5K race.

Registration is from 8 to 9 a.m., and the race begins at 9:30 a.m.

Don Foster, academic calendar committee member, said the day is a nice social event for the entire university.

Gayle Spencer, coordinator of student activities, said Family Day provides everyone with different opportunities.

"I think it's a great opportunity - especially for new students on campus - for their parents to come up and see how they're doing on campus," she said. "And it's always nice to have a chance to see your family."

University, city, school district to provide multicultural education

By MICHELLE BERTUGLIA
Kansas State Collegian

Getting people talking together, learning together and moving together toward a richer and more inclusive K-State and Manhattan are the main goals for Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week, said Doug Benson, associate professor of Spanish.

The 12th annual Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week begins Sunday night and will last until Friday. The week is a cooperative effort of the university, the city of Manhattan and Manhattan/Ogden U.S.D. to provide the community with multicultural education. The theme is "A World of Differences Bound By Our Common Humanity."

Cathy Harmes, director of human resources and customer services for the city of Manhattan, said the theme focuses on seeing diversity as a one-on-one issue.

"We are all humans, all bound by the common humanity," she said. "Diversity starts on a one-on-one basis."

Benson said the week will provide many opportunities for personal and professional development for students, faculty and staff.

"It is greatly enriching on a personal level to come into contact with people who have different ways of thinking," he said. "And employers want people who can work in a diverse environment."

Candi Pitts, associate director of leadership studies and programs, said she thinks the week is important because all people have so much to learn about one another.

"We should all go out and educate and celebrate diverse cultures and the expansion of the knowledge base of our community," she said.

Some of the key events of the week that Pitts suggested for students to attend is the keynote address by Gary Howard from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday in the Union Forum Hall; The Multicultural "Town Hall" panel from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Wednesday in Forum Hall; and the Diversity Workshop with Juanita Cox-Burton from 1:30 to 3 p.m. Thursday at the Jardine Terrace Apartment Complex.

Pitts said the week is a celebration of different cultures coming together toward a greater understanding of one another.

"Although diversity means differences we are all bound by humanity," she said, "It is important that diversity be celebrated."

■ Racial/ethnic togetherness to be celebrated on campus Sunday with Harmony Walk.

By NANCY FOSTER
Kansas State Collegian

More than 13 years ago, a K-State graduate was at the Bushwacker Comedy Club — now called the Silverado Saloon — when she witnessed a racially degrading incident against several Cubans. Infuriated, she began working with multicultural students and founded what K-State now celebrates as Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week.

To symbolize the marches and fights that many endured, the week is kicking off with a Harmony Walk on Sunday.

"It's a statement saying, 'We're in this together. We're on the journey,'" said Candi Pitts, co-chairwoman of the planning committee.

See HARMONY on PAGE 8

FILE PHOTO BY KELLY GLASSCOCK/Collegian

Black Student Union members participate in last year's Harmony Walk.

CONTACT US

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
532-0729 rdunn@collegianmail.com

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
532-0729 tehmke@collegianmail.com

Steve Dearinger Photo Editor
532-5492 sdearinger@collegianmail.com

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
532-0730 jbarrett@collegianmail.com

Sarah Bahari City & Government Editor
532-0730 sbahari@collegianmail.com

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
532-0732 kdymacek@collegianmail.com

Derek Boss Sports Editor
532-0732 dboss@collegianmail.com

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
532-0732 eschneweis@collegianmail.com

Ken Wells Online Editor
532-6556 kwells@collegianmail.com

Becky Wilson Copy Chief
532-0732 bwilson@collegianmail.com

Sara Martin Design Editor
532-0731 smartin@collegianmail.com

Jim Calvert Ad Manager
532-6560 jimcalvert@collegianmail.com

Alissa Duncan Assistant Ad Manager
532-6560 aduncan@collegianmail.com

Molly Brammer Online Ad Manager
532-6560 molly@collegianmail.com

BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Display advertising	532-6560
Classified advertising	532-6555
Delivery Problems	532-6555
Photo Reprints	532-6304

BY MAIL
Kansas State Collegian
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

ON THE WEB
www.kstatecollegian.com

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 2000

Sorority, fraternities join forces for philanthropy

Around 250 K-State students will join efforts Saturday to collect food for the Flint Hills Breadbasket.

Members of Alpha Tau Omega, Pi Kappa Phi and Pi Beta Phi will search all areas of Manhattan for donations of non-perishable canned or packaged food items.

Shirley Bramhall, executive director of the Breadbasket, said the food drive collected around 12,000 pounds of non-perishable food items last year.

"It helps out a lot of people in our community," she said.

This year, there will be 60 different teams involved. Each team will cover five or six blocks, going from house to house looking for donations. Bramhall said they're going just about everywhere.

"Everybody is pretty excited about it," said Whitney Jarvis, Pi Beta Phi homecoming co-chair. "It's an incredibly good philanthropy to do. There's nothing better I can think of to do. It really gives back to the community."

Bramhall said she hopes they collect as much for this year, but that no matter how much it is, it helps.

"Every little bit helps, so no matter how much they bring in, we can use it," she said. "The amount of people we're helping out right now is astronomical."

— Nancy Foster

Police investigating rape incidents at State Fair

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — Police are investigating two sexual assault cases involving teen-age girls at the Kansas State Fair.

Police Lieutenant John Tracy said a 15-year-old girl was sexually assaulted on the fairgrounds about 10 p.m. Tuesday, one hour before the fair's carnival was slated to close for the day. The incident was not reported until Wednesday, and Tracy said details were not yet available.

In another case, Buckley Garrick, 32, of St. Paul, Minn., was charged Thursday with aggravated indecent liberties with a child.

Garrick, a carnival worker at the fair, was accused of assaulting a 13-year-old girl about 5 a.m. Monday. He was being kept in the Reno County Jail on $50,000 bond.

— The Associated Press

Mayor charged of felony for sodomizing inmates

BASEHOR, Kan. — Mayor John Pfannenstiel says he won't step down, despite a request by two City Council members that he resign from office until felony charges against him are resolved.

Pfannenstiel, 38, a sergeant at the Lansing Correctional Facility, is accused of engaging in consensual sodomy with two male inmates while working at the prison. He faces two counts of having unlawful sexual relations with an inmate and one count of smuggling contraband.

The contraband charge involves a watch battery and three pairs of jeans that authorities say were given to an inmate without the consent of an administrator.

"It would be best, for the citizens of Basehor, for me to remain in office and continue to work to move our city forward," Pfannenstiel said in a written statement issued Wednesday.

Councilmen Joseph Odle and Robert Vervaecke told Pfannenstiel during a special meeting Monday that they thought he couldn't run the city while dealing with the criminal charges. After the meeting, Odle said he would not attend another meeting until Pfannenstiel temporarily stepped down.

The three other councilmen — Victor Ziegler, Chris Garcia and Burl Gratny — said it would be premature for Pfannenstiel to temporarily relinquish his responsibilities.

Pfannenstiel was elected mayor in 1994 and has served on the city council since 1991 for the town of about 2,000 residents in southern Leavenworth County. He is a former Leavenworth County Republican party chairman.

Pfannenstiel was suspended from his prison job Sept. 5, the day he was arrested.

— The Associated Press

Texas law firm accused of illegal contributions

WASHINGTON, D.C. — In the four years since Vice President Al Gore was asked to make a fund-raising phone call to a Texas trial lawyer, the attorney and his law firm involved in tobacco industry litigation have funneled $790,000 to the Democratic Party.

Memos being reviewed by Justice Department investigators suggest Democratic officials were concerned that the donor, Walter Umphrey, wouldn't begin writing six-figure checks until after President Clinton vetoed limits on liability lawsuits.

An aide to Gore dismissed the matter Wednesday night, saying the vice president never made the suggested phone call to Umphrey.

Gore was asked to make the call in 1995 by a Democratic National Committee official after having had dinner in Texas with trial lawyers — at a time when they were concerned with Republican legislation that would have put limits on lawsuit awards.

The recent interest of the Justice Department fund-raising task force in the call sheets was described by a federal law enforcement source, speaking on condition of anonymity.

The task force is led by Robert Conrad, who previously recommended a special counsel to investigate Gore in connection with his statements about fund raising. Attorney General Janet Reno declined to appoint one.

Reno refused to say Thursday whether the task force had begun a preliminary inquiry into the call sheets and the donations. But she advised caution about any such allegation during an election campaign.

— The Associated Press

CORRECTIONS & CLARIFICATIONS

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Jenn Davoren at 532-6556 or e-mail collegn@ksu.edu.

ON RECORD

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Did you miss the Sept. 12 deadline for changing passwords for K-State computing IDs? Reactivate your ID on the www.ksu.edu/activateID page.

■ KNEA-SP will meet from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. today in the lobby of Bluemont Hall.

■ Career and Employment Services will conduct a Résumé Critique Workshop at 3:30 p.m. today in Holtz Hall.

■ KSU Aikido will meet at 7 tonight in Aheam 301.

■ Lutheran Campus Ministry – ELCA will meet at 7 p.m. Sunday in Danforth Chapel.

■ Homecare & Hospice is offering volunteer training from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Monday evenings beginning Monday and continuing Sept. 25, Oct. 2, Oct. 9 and Oct. 16, in the Homecare and Hospice Conference Room, 323 Poyntz Ave. To register, call 537-0688.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Riley County

Wednesday, Sept. 13

■ At 10:20 a.m., Shataqwa Carter, Junction City, was arrested for worthless checks. Bond was set at $250.

■ At 10:26 a.m., Willie L. Carter, Junction City, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 1 p.m., David E. Walker, Kansas City, Mo., was arrested for failure to appear and probation violation. Bond was set at $9,000.

■ At 2:15 p.m., Shannon L. Bryant, 1313 W. Ash St., was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 4 p.m., Joanne Skidmore, Fort Riley, was arrested for worthless checks. Bond was set at $1,306.

■ At 8:50 p.m., Kathleen E. Alves, Ogden, was arrested for worthless checks. Bond was set at $240.81.

■ At 11 p.m., Hongsun Chai, Ogden, was arrested for driving on a suspended license. Bond was set at $500.

K-State Police

■ No reports of note were made.

NO MATTER HOW HARD YOU TRY
IN THIRTY YEARS
YOU WON'T REMEMBER IT ALL
DON'T WORRY, THAT'S OUR JOB.
2001 Royal Purple
$29.95
order yours today.
103 kedzie. 532-6555. royalpurple@ksu.edu.

SAVE 15%
Flash your valid college I.D. and save 15% on regular or clearance priced merchandise
Offer valid August 1st - September 30th
See store for details
100 Manhattan Town Center
(785) 587-0456
Get in touch with your senses
Pier 1 imports

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

American Legion
BINGO!
Sunday 2 p.m.
Tuesday 1:30 p.m.
Wednesday 7:30 p.m.
"Progressive Bingo"
Sundays & Wednesdays
- Win Big Bucks -
114 McCall Rd.

Claflin Books and Copies
Dependable Quality Service
Color Copying
Across from Goodnow Hall

New Donors Earn $25 TODAY* & Help Save Lives!
Your blood plasma donations are urgently needed by hemophiliacs, burn victims, surgery patients & many more!
Call or stop by:
Nabi Biomedical Center,
1130 Gardenway, Manhattan
785-776-9177
www.nabi.com

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING 118 KEDZIE 532-6560

Personal Weight Management & Fitness Program

Free introductory session: Monday, Sept. 25, 6-7 p.m.

Mercy Health Center proudly presents an 8-week program on weight management and fitness led by a licensed, registered dietitian and an exercise physiologist. Your program fee includes:
• three group sessions
•four individual nutrition consultations
•four workout sessions with a personal fitness trainer
•two month membership to the Mercy Fitness Center
•class materials

Group sessions will meet Monday, Oct. 2, Monday, Oct. 16 and Tuesday, Nov. 21 from 6-7 p.m.

Individual sessions will be scheduled at your convenience. The class fee is $200 for individuals and $350 for couples.

To register, contact Mercy Health Center's Wellness Program at 785-587-5470

MERCY HEALTH CENTER OF MANHATTAN

LECTURE
NASA's new focus on health and safety for all of humanity

SPACE MEDICINE:
Advancing Healthcare in Today's World

NASA's Chief Health and Medical Officer
ARNAULD NICOGOSSIAN, M.D.

Tuesday, September 19, 2000
7:00 p.m. • Free Admission
K-State • All Faiths Chapel

Sponsored by: BioServe Space Technologies and the George S. Bascom Workshop Series - KSU Cancer Center

Please call (785) 532-6705 for more information.

Fashionably Forward

Woody's ladies
Aggieville

Work at fire station doubles as credit

By APRIL MIDDLETON
Kansas State Collegian

John Vaughan, senior in criminology, hopes to work in arsenal investigations someday.

With a degree in fire science from Kansas City Kansas Community College and only one more year to finish his criminology degree, most people would say he is well on his way to making his dreams come true.

Vaughan, however, has another asset working in his favor — experience.

Vaughan was hired at the Manhattan Fire Department in May 1999 as a student firefighter.

He is one of seven students employed by the Manhattan Fire Department as part of the work study program. There is a maximum of nine positions available for students.

To be eligible for the program, students must attend K-State, Manhattan Christian College or Manhattan Area Technical College. Undergraduates must maintain a course load of 12 hours and graduate students must be enrolled at least 6 credit hours. All students are required to maintain a 2.0 grade point average.

Chuck Tannehill, acting director of fire services, said students must be available to work one evening each week during the school semesters. If the students are scheduled during the week they work from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m. If they work on a Saturday or Sunday they will work a 24-hour shift. During the summer, students work 24-hour shifts each week.

"These students we hire perform basic firefighter functions," Tannehill said. "They are actually getting experience with dispatching communications and responding to calls."

Jason Hudson, senior in general mid-management, said he is expected to perform the same duties as any other firefighter.

"My duties are the same as a full-time firefighter — to protect the lives and property of the citizens of Manhattan," Hudson said.

KAREN MIKOLS/Collegian

Jason Hudson, senior in business, studies the Manhattan road map for his hour of training at the Manhattan Fire Department during his night shift as dispatcher. Hudson is in the student firefighting program that lets students train as firefighters and take on some responsibilities around the station. Hudson's father is a firefighter, and Hudson plans on applying with the city of Manhattan once he graduates.

Tannehill said this program is increasingly important because it is becoming necessary for firefighters to have a college degree.

"More and more, we are wanting people with college experience. It is helpful for them to spread their wings and get degrees in outside areas," he said.

Hudson said he realizes the importance of having a college degree if he wants to advance in the field.

"All I've ever wanted to do in life is become a firefighter, but I'm majoring in business so I can eventually advance to a chief position," Hudson said. "Fire departments are businesses just like any other."

Getting experience in the field while obtaining their degree can be helpful for the students, the department and the field.

"When these students graduate they have experience working as a firefighter," Tannehill said. "Also, they have obtained the communication skills, both verbal and written, by going to school. These skills are essential."

The program was developed nine years ago, and Tannehill said he has found it to be beneficial.

"It has given us a group who has the training they will need to pursue a career in the field," Tannehill said. "It doesn't necessarily guarantee them a job. They will have to test and interview for the position just like anyone else, but we know they have the background."

The students involved in this program are required to work one night each week. Vaughan said keeping hours like this sounds like it would be more difficult, but it isn't.

He said he usually is able to study in the evening and get some sleep. Mostly, Vaughan said, the schedule is unpredictable.

"Sometimes I can get a good night's sleep," Vaughan said. "But when we get lots of calls at night, you never know how much sleep you will get and how difficult it might be to go to class the next day."

Hudson said the program is good to be involved with because the fire department realizes that although they are employees, their top priority is school.

"It's low-impact, and they know our first priority is school," he said. "I'm getting experience doing what I've always dreamed of. I couldn't have a more exciting or rewarding job."

Union officially completed; building of plaza nears finish

By ALISON PHALEN
Kansas State Collegian

After 2 1/2 years of construction and $9,041,000 spent renovating the inside, the K-State Student Union enhancement project is now complete.

Although construction on the Union Plaza north of the Union will stretch into November, the enhancement of the inside is officially done.

"It will enhance the university's chance to recruit and maintain students," Bernard Pitts, Union director, said.

The renovations began spring 1998, and the list of items that were worked on is innumerable. The most obvious changes were the remodeling of the K-State Union Bookstore and Union Food Court, including the Coffee/Sweet Shoppe and dining areas, and the opening of the Cats' Den. Commerce Bank was relocated to the south end of the building, and the Union Copy Center was expanded to accommodate a university computer lab.

Although the bulk of the work was complete in July by McPherson Contractors of Topeka, crews have been critiquing their work since then. They also have been installing the fire alarm system, which requires most of the work to be done in concealed areas.

"The contract was broken down into over 45 subdisciplines," said Greg Stueve, project manager of McPherson Contractors.

The enhancement project went on schedule for the most part and contained few problems.

"When a problem or challenge arose, we did not look for a scapegoat," Stueve said. "We look at it as an opportunity to test our brains and find workable solutions."

Over the course of the 2 1/2 years, Union employees had many things to contend with.

"The jackhammer radiated throughout the Union," said Cindie Snyder, marketing and promotions manager for the Union.

She also said some people pulled old floor tile out of the trash to have a keepsake of the project.

The project began in order to comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act and uniform building codes, as well as to upgrade the infrastructure and remodel the building, which is approximately 40 years old.

"I am extremely proud of all the people who worked on the project and delivered a fine facility for the students," Bruce McPherson, president of McPherson Contractors, said.

The renovations made to the Union will make it easier to serve the campus, Pitts said.

"We can accommodate more of campus. We will become more convenient, and offer better programs and services which will assist in bringing the university together," he said.

Although countless numbers of people were involved, main contributors to the project included the Ken Ebert Design Group, Orazam, Scalora Engineering, Central Mechanical, Shelley Electric, and the Union administration.

"They are who made the project happen. We feel fortunate to have worked with this group," Stueve said.

"We embraced a partnering concept and have used it throughout the project. The cooperation is unbeatable."

The focus of the project was to serve the students, and Snyder said that seems to be accomplished.

"We are hearing such good remarks," she said. "Students really do like it."

DRY CLEAN CITY INC.
PREPAY
$2.49
STORE HOURS
M-F 7-7
SAT 8-5
MOST DRYCLEAN ITEMS
LAUNDRY • JEANS $2.75 • SHIRTS $1.50 • KHAKIS $2.75
WHY PAY MORE?
427 E. POYNTZ • NEXT TO HASTINGS • 776-1515

Do you need to turn electronics, jewelry, sporting goods, music cameras, guns, DVDs, etc. into cash?
We loan or buy any of these at the highest prices in town.
705 North 11th
Aggieville
565-0046
$MISTER MONEY USA Pawn Loans INC.
8370 E. Hwy. 24
2 mi. east of Mall
537-1803

ECM Christian Explorers present:
VICTORY
In Concert!
•Friday, Sept. 22
•8:00 p.m.
•KSU Union Little Theater
Come join the Christian Explorers for an awesome night of praise and song!
For More Information, call: 539-4281

R You N?
GOLDEN KEY NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY
Golden Key National Honor Society
Visit us at the Union 1st floor, Sept. 13-15, 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

"Great Bargains for you at Lee's"
Cinch Jeans $29.88
Cruel Girl Jeans $34.88
Cinch Shirts $35.88
Levi 501 Shrink to Fit $31.95
Levi 501 Prewash $32.95
Wrangler 13mwz $18.95
Lee's Western Wear
8426 E. HWY 24
2 1/2 miles E. of Manhattan
(785) 776-6715
open M-F 10-6
Sat. 10-5

Saturday
doors open at 11 a.m.
$3.00 Wildcat Tea
Come join us for lunch!
KSU's version of Long Island Iced Tea
M-W 5 p.m. - 2 a.m.
Thurs-Sat 11 a.m. - 2 a.m.
Sun. 9 p.m. - 2 a.m.
Sunday $1.00 Everything
(premiums, bottles, shots, etc.)
doors open at 9 p.m.
OUT OF BOUNDS SPORTS BAR & GRILL
1129 Laramie
537-4045

1/2 Price Sale
Why pay full full price at other stores when you can pay 1/2 for clothing at The Bookstore?
"It's the same thing!"
Family Weekend Store Hours:
Fri., Sept. 15.... 8 a.m.-8 p.m.
Sat., Sept 16 .... 8 p.m.-8 p.m.
Sun., Sept. 17 .... 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Buy one regularly priced clothing item and receive a second clothing item of equal or lesser value at 1/2 price.
K-STATE STUDENT UNION BOOKSTORE
Your Official KSU Bookstore

Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week provides unity

The 12th annual Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week begins Monday with the theme "A World of Differences Bound By Our Common Humanity."

With weeks such as this, it is important to remember what unites and individualizes ethnic groups.

This also is an important, educational opportunity for people to experience and learn about their own ethnic background, as well as others.

Where there is an awareness, there is more of a sense of understanding that separates ethnic and racial barriers.

From 7 to 9 p.m. Monday night in the K-State Student Union's Forum Hall, Gary Howard will give the keynote address, "River of Diversity: A Personal Journey." The opportunity to hear and learn from speakers such as Howard is just another benefit to this special week.

Even though the events of Racial Ethnic Harmony Week are limited to seven days, it should be looked at as a much broader learning experience that extends throughout the year.

▶ OUR VIEW is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor

Jenn Davoren News Editor

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor

Sarah Bahari City/Government Editor

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor

Derek Boss Sports Editor

Becky Wilson Copy Chief

Sara Martin Design Editor

CAMPUS fourum 395-4444

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions on topics relevant to the publication.

After zero to five drinks, most K-State students feel smoking a cigarette makes you look cooler.

■

Why is it that high school was so cool then, and it's so dumb now?

■

Yeah, I was wondering what time they're opening the gates for the Friday campout. I was just hoping I could get into my ICAT seat on Saturday.

■

Isn't there a law against having more than six exams in one week?

■

Do you think we can get Bobby Knight to be the new adviser for the Fathers Against Daughters organization?

■

Is it bad if I recognize every cop in town because they show up at every party I go to?

■

Thanks, Mike. It's nice to see somebody has a positive opinion of K-State basketball again.

■

Great column, Mike Vietti. Rome was not built in one day, and Bill Snyder didn't produce a bowl season his first year. In other words, good luck, basketball team, and we all should cheer on Coach Wooldridge.

■

Rick Wooten for President 2000.

■

Way to go, Emily Cochran. You figured it out. The liberals only want us to be indebted to them. Thank you for your great column.

■

I think the Project Wellness ads are funded by liquor stores. They're just trying to taunt us and make us drink more.

INNER VALUES

Forgetting self-respect only leads to negative attention

In junior high, I went to a Color Me Badd concert.

I never thought I actually would admit that, but there is a point to this humiliating past experience. At the concert I purchased a black tank top with the words, "I Want To Sex You Up" printed on it. Needless to say, my mother was not thrilled about my selection and insisted that I never, ever wear it in public.

ERIN SCHNEWEIS

Out of rebellion, I decided to wear it the next chance I could: not to the mall or the grocery store, but to school.

Before the first class had even begun, I was instructed to turn my shirt inside out, and I was the talk of the junior high.

Those years in junior high were some of the toughest of my life. I had few friends, no social life to speak of and no self-esteem. This was a highlight for me — the attention, the gossip, all of it. I basked in it without realizing it was the wrong kind of attention and the negative kind of gossip.

Things have changed since then.

I am not ashamed of wearing a shirt that promoted sex, necessarily, but I am ashamed that I allowed myself to stoop to an extremely low level to get attention.

Unfortunately, this form of getting attention is not something that is in the past. It can be seen, heard and grasped everywhere you look.

For instance, there are 12-year-old girls who boast about messing around with a boy while still technically being virgins. Usually, this act occurs with an older, more "experienced" guy who is only after one thing — and it isn't her mind, either. The girl is thinking she is being sexy when instead someone is taking advantage of her. She often is too naive to realize the guy doesn't want into her heart, but into her pants.

Far too many people — of both genders — seem to get sexiness confused with attention and the sexual act itself.

The question remains, what is the difference between sexy and sleazy?

Is sexiness dancing topless on a bar? Is it sexy for misguided women to think that taking off their clothes is the only way they can attract men — men who do not, and will not, care about them? These men, for the most part, only see women who do this sort of thing as a pair of breasts and a piece of tail. These men see what is presented to them, and due to that, they don't see the heart that resides under the breasts or the woman who resides inside the body. The reason is because the woman doesn't think those are worthwhile traits for the men to see.

Men are not the only people to blame for having a low perception of these women. The women who think they are sexy because they can take their clothes off for these men are just as much a part of the problem.

If women think that their physical body is all they have to offer, that is a shame. And if men think the exterior of a woman is the most important element, they, too, are missing out. Thoughts like these are degrading to both genders.

Being sexy has a lot to do with intelligence, wit, charm, kindness and inner beauty. Sexiness is how a person carries themselves with pride and confidence, not performing acts like that of an animal.

Sexuality is nothing to be ashamed of, but it should not be the only way one can get attention.

For the women out there who think their body is all they have to offer, all eyes might be on them, but it is for all the wrong reasons. There will come a day when their breasts sag and their thighs turn to Jell-O. And when that day arrives, they will begin to realize what some of us have known all along: the most attractive part of one's body is their mind.

Erin is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail her at eschneweis@collegian-mail.com.

KELLIE FARRELL/Collegian

End of world not reason to stop living

I find myself sympathizing with a splinter group of polygamous Mormons once again.

OK, this is the first time. In fact, I disagree with most polygamous splinter groups of all religions — not just Mormons — on nearly every level and in nearly every dimension.

JOSEPH HURLA

But, for once, I do sympathize with their plight, even if I do not agree with their views.

Hundreds of members of a polygamous Mormon splinter group recently pulled their children out of public schools along the Utah-Arizona state line in preparation for the end of the world.

Enrollment in the four area schools has plummeted from 1,400 last year to 350 this year. Dozens of teachers belonging to the Fundamentalist Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints also have quit.

This is a perfect illustration of the way I feel right now.

No, not the multiple-wife thing. I think one will be plenty for me. What I am referring to is that end-of-the-world feeling.

Less than one month into the semester, I am gasping for air.

Sleep is an addiction more difficult to support than my pesky crack thing.

Three weeks of class, and I already am three weeks behind.

I spend each day trying to accomplish what should have been finished sometime in August — of 1987.

I know what I need to do to catch up, but I just don't foresee any time to actually do so. It feels like the world is caving in around me and all I can do is keep running behind, waiting to be annihilated as it edges closer to me.

The sect of Mormons has pulled its children from school in preparation for the End of Days. I, on the other hand, stand idly by as the rest of the world moves past me.

I was parked along Interstate 70 changing another flat tire earlier this week, watching cars zoom past, when I realized it is impossible to lead the pack. No matter how fast I speed down the highway, there always will be another car somewhere down the road in front of me.

Yet I continue to drive — a little faster each day, trying to pass one more car, despite the inevitability of my impending failure.

Each one I pass brings with it a small amount of pride. But the most ridiculous thing is that life's highway (Tom Cochrane would be proud) for a college student is nothing more than a big roundabout.

In less than one month, the spring course schedule will be released. The rest of this semester will be spent working toward the spring semester, and then the spring semester preparing for the next Fall.

Once you finally enter your last semester — as I have — you have to turn your focus to finding a job.

When does it all end?

Soon, if you ask the polygamous Mormon splinter group.

It should be mentioned, however, that even they make some mistakes.

In 1993, the leader of the group told high school graduates not to attend college since the end of the world would arrive before they could finish.

Oops.

Unless they had all planned on medical school, this prediction was a bit off.

So, rather than err on the side of the religiously radical, I will go ahead and plan for the continuation of life as we know it.

But a break will be nice.

Both myself and the Mormon group need a chance to catch up and get rid of that feeling that the apocalypse is right around the corner.

Perhaps the sect should consider a fall break.

Joseph is a senior in public relations. You can e-mail him at jhurla@collegianmail.com.

READERS WRITE

Men's basketball coach deserves students' respect

Editor,

I am responding to all the people who want the basketball coach fired before he has even coached one game. The man came highly recommended by a K-State legend, Tex Winter. Just because you've never heard of the man doesn't mean the man can't coach. Snyder wasn't famous before he came here.

His first season was 1-10. I don't see anybody who says we should have fired him, though. A few years ago, the University of Kansas hired a little-known assistant from North Carolina (I think his name was Roy something). Let us see what Wooldridge can do before we fire him.

As for getting Bobby Knight, I think K-State got enough bad press with Manny Dies and Pero What's-his-name.

Good luck, Coach Wooldridge. I hope you don't judge K-State fan support by what you see in the paper.

—Travis Foland
class of '95

State fair provides traditional, historic boat ride

REED DUNN/Collegian

Helen Johannang has worked at Ye Old Mill for 20 years. "When I was little and growing up, we always came," she said.

By REED DUNN
Kansas State Collegian

Watermelon-print fabric was used to spell "oldmill" as one word in all capital letters across the front of Helen Johannang's pink T-shirt. Her personal belongings were strapped into the hot-pink fanny pack fastened around her waist.

For the past 20 years of the fair, Johannang has been sitting at the same location inside the gate of Ye Old Mill, taking tickets for one of Kansas State Fair's most historic attractions.

"Through the years it's changed, but people used to think of it as the tunnel of love," she said.

Ye Old Mill opened in 1915, and over the years has evolved into one of the most-visited attractions at the state fair. Johannang said there is a lot of family tradition behind the boat ride.

"I've had people come and tell me they proposed in it," she said. "It's a tradition people don't want to see leave."

At one time, there was doubt the ride would be in operation much longer, but Charles Griffin, Sr., Kansas State Fair concessionist, took the ride over to keep traditions going.

"The Old Mill has been here so long everyone's grandmother has ridden it," Griffin said. "That's just part of going to the fair. One of the things you talk about is riding the Old Mill."

KANSAS State Fair
SEPTEMBER 8-17, 2000
HUTCHINSON

As boats pass through the dark tunnels of the ride's path, they encounter a number of animated scenes. Griffin said the scenes were updated this year, and more are being planned for the future.

"This is just our first year, so next year is going to be better," he said. "We're going to bring the ride into the 21st century."

The number of employees working inside the ride also was increased for security purposes, Griffin said.

Juaquina Castillo, fifth-year senior in secondary education, said not only is the ride a tradition, but admission is only $2.

"The reason I got on it is because it's the cheapest ride at the fair," she said. "It's a scary ride, and everybody likes a scary ride. That's part of the tradition."

Tara Conklin, sophomore in fisheries and wildlife biology, was with Castillo at the fair. She said the darkness is what sets the Old Mill apart from other rides on the midway.

"The darkness adds something to it that all the other rides don't have," Conklin said. "The worst part is when you're going through the darkness, you don't know what's going to happen next."

Topeka autocrossing competition attracts drivers from across North America; Kansas woman competes in race for 4th year

By JIM REINTJES
Kansas State Collegian

Helmut the Racing Bear hasn't missed a race in four years.

Out of tradition, Sabra Cazel, 21, of Wichita, buckles up her teddy bear, Helmut, in the back seat of her 1986 Volkswagen Jetta GL when she is racing.

"He's gone to every race with me," she said.

Cazel is one of more than 1,100 drivers from across North America at Forbes Field in Topeka this week to compete in The Tire Rack Sports Car Club of America Solo II 2000 National Championship, the largest sports-car competition gathering in the world.

Drivers and their competition vehicles have traveled from 46 states, including Alaska, Hawaii and three Canadian provinces.

"This is our 29th year of continuous operation and our fifth year in Topeka," said Kurt Spitzner with the SCCA Rally and Solo Marketing and Media.

Solo competition doesn't utilize a race track, but an open, paved area, like an empty parking lot or air strip. Orange traffic cones are set up to form a course. Solo events are not high speed — speeds normally are no more than legal highway speeds — and each run normally is 60 seconds or less. Any type of car can compete.

"If it's got four wheels, you might see it out here," Spitzner said. "Because we're a club, we have to cater to members' wants and needs. We provide a playing field for anything you want to drive."

Chuck Buysse, of Kalamazoo, Mich., likes the affordability, safety and the opportunities of Solo competition.

"It's a very safe way to drive a car very fast," Buysse said. "It's relatively inexpensive, and you don't have to have a race car to do it. You can use a daily driver."

Cazel's Jetta is a daily driver with 300,000 miles and runs on its original engine. This Solo season will be the car's last, however.

"It's officially retired," Cazel said. "It will still be a daily driver."

In Cazel's family, autocrossing is a family affair. She has been autocrossing since she was 17.

"Mom said, 'If you want to borrow my car, you have to go autocrossing,'" she said. "I liked the first time so much, I just had to come back, and look where I am now, four years later."

Cazel said autocrossing has made her a better driver.

"It teaches me how to handle a car and how to control it, and above all, it's really, really fun," she said.

Drivers compete in Solo events nationwide throughout the season, which begins in the spring and run until the start of nationals.

"This is a culmination of a full season of Solo competition around the country," Spitzner said. "That's why it's called the 'Road to Topeka.'"

There are six classes of cars, with each class having six divisions. The majority of the cars competing are V-8 pony cars such as Mustangs, Camaros, and sports cars such as Corvettes, Mazda Miatas and RX-7s, BMW M3s and a variety of Hondas and Volkswagens.

Whether a driver is competing in a Yugo or Dodge Viper, Spitzner likened Solo II competition to Indy car racers qualifying for starting position.

"Every Solo event is like qualifying for the Indy 500," he said. "The car has to set up the perfect lap. For us, it's like we're always trying to qualify at Indy."

He said seconds separate the fastest and the slowest car in a class.

"Speed and neatness count," Spitzner said. "A driver gets a two-second penalty for knocking down a cone. At this level of competition, two seconds is night and day."

In Solo II, drivers are competing against the clock.

"Here, unlike being on a race track, we take one variable away, which is all of the other cars," Spitzner said. "With that variable removed, one thing becomes important, everyone is watching you. The clock starts, and the clock stops."

Spitzner said an entrant from Virginia had a 2001 Corvette Z06 delivered to Topeka for the Nationals. The Z06 is a brand-new, high-performance option package for the 2001 Corvette.

"This is the first Z06 in actual competition," Spitzner said.

The SCCA's goal this year was "1,000 in 2000." That goal was exceeded by more than 100 entrants, which caused the SCCA to announce its first-ever entry cap for the event.

Wayne Bennett, president of the Topeka Convention & Visitors Bureau, helped get the SCCA Solo Nationals to Topeka, which previously took place in Salina. Wayne even competed this week in his 1985 Mazda RX-7.

"It's worked really well by having it in Topeka," Bennett said. "It's allowed the event to grow."

Wayne said the Kansas Region SCCA estimates that the Solo Nationals bring in $10 million to Topeka's economy.

"A lot of these people are here for four to five days," Bennett said. "There are a lot of transactions."

Kansas State University
DON'T LET IT ZOOM BY, GET YOUR COPY OF THE NEW CAMPUS PHONEBOOK, NOW

First Baptist Church
Sunday Worship 11 a.m.
Church School 9:45 a.m.
For free transportation within city limits, call the church.
Pastors Karen & Alan Selig
2121 Blue Hills Rd.
539-8691
An American Baptist Congregation

Blue Valley Memorial UMC
835 Church St.
539-8790 or 539-7015
Contem. service: Sat. 5:30 p.m.
Traditional service: Sun. 10:30 a.m.
Free meal after services first Sunday of the month.
One block north of Kimball & Tuttle Creek, right on Northfield to Church
e-mail: revs2@flinthills.com
Reverend Carolyn Wills

Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church
Missouri Synod
776-2227
9 a.m. Sunday School & Bible Class
10:30 a.m. Divine Worship
KSU - DANFORTH CHAPEL
christluth.@networksplus.net

Welcome to FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH
Saturday Service 5:30 p.m.
Sunday Worship 8:30 & 11 a.m.
Church School for all ages 9:40 a.m.
10th & Poyntz 537-8532

Make your voice heard!
CampusFourum:
395-4444

Manhattan Mennonite Church
Sunday School 9:30 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m.
Richard & Barbara Gehring, Co-Pastors
10th and Fremont 539-4079
Welcome Students and Staff!

Word of Faith Family Church
Meeting at Ramada Plaza Hotel (17th & Anderson)
Sunday, 10:30 a.m.
Pastor Mike Aldrich 539-7902

Agape Family Church
An Affiliate of RHEMA Bible Church
aka Kenneth Hagin Ministries
SUNDAY
Sunday Broadcast 9:05 a.m. on 95.3 FM
School of the Bible 9:30 a.m.
Worship Service 10:30 a.m.
Evening Fellowships 7:00 p.m.
Wednesday Service 7:30 p.m.
Everyone is welcome to come and be part of our family
STERLING HUDGINS-PASTOR
(formerly Living Water Ranch Church)
116 S. 4th, Downtown Manhattan
(785) 539-3570

First Presbyterian Church
801 Leavenworth St. • 537-0518
Sunday Schedule
Contemporary Worship at 9:00 a.m.
Sunday School for all ages at 9:00 a.m.
Traditional Worship at 10:30 a.m.

You're Invited To CALVARY CHAPEL
A Casual Contemporary Verse-By-Verse Bible Study
Thursdays @ 7:00 p.m.
2700 Brittany Terrace #10
"The Georgetown Apts."
(785) 539-3667
ccoffmanhattan@aol.com
Come Just As You Are

Lutheran Campus Ministry
at Luther House 1745 Anderson
Sunday Evening Worship
7:15 p.m. at Danforth Chapel
www.ksu.edu/lcm-elca
Pastor Jayne Thompson
(pastorj@ksu.edu) 539-4451
— Open to All —

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
(DISCIPLES OF CHRIST)
Sunday
8:30 a.m. - Early Service
9:45 a.m. - Sunday School
10:55 a.m. - Late Service
11:30 a.m. - Live Broadcast Angel 95.3 FM
5th & Humboldt
776-8790

Peace Lutheran Church
2500 Kimball
539-7371
Worship: Sundays 8:30 & 11 a.m.
Christian Education: all ages- 9:45
www.flinthills.com/~peace/
Email: peace@flinthills.com
Rev. Richard Hermstad, pastor
With Christ... Gather, Grow and Go Forth

Grace Baptist Church
2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child
◆ Sunday ◆
Morning Worship 8:15 & 10:45 a.m.
Bible Classes For All Ages 9:30 a.m.
Evening Service or Care Cells 6 p.m.
776-0424

LIVING WORD CHURCH
DYNAMIC PRAISE & WORSHIP
POWERFUL MINISTRY OF THE WORD
Sunday Worship 10 a.m.
Sunday School 9 a.m.
Wednesday 7 p.m.
For Information Call 776-0940
Church Located 1 Mi. S. on Hwy 177
(Offices: 2711 Amherst • Sun. Call 776-0980)

Hillel Welcomes You To Join The Campus Jewish Student Association
HILLEL
For Information Please Call:
Adviser / Activities Director
Andrea Blair 532-6441
STUDENTS WELCOME AT MANHATTAN JEWISH CONGREGATION
1509 Wreath Ave. • 539-8462
(services Friday 7:30 p.m.)

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY CHURCH
Contemporary PRAISE & WORSHIP
8:15 & 9:30 & 11:00 AM
CHILDREN'S CHURCH offered at 1st & 3rd services
College & Young Married Bible Studies at 9:30 a.m. and 11:00 a.m.
* Youth Ministries Opportunities
* College Career Class * Handicap Accessible
Senior Pastor: David Thompson
3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. Manhattan ... 537-7173
Youth Ministries ... 537-7136
web site: www.westviewcommunity.com
Come as you are!

First Congregational Church
700 Poyntz (Poyntz and Juliette) 537-2
Sunday School and Adult Ed. Class at 9:30 a.m.
Worship at 10:45 a.m.
Thurs. 7 p.m. Taizé Worship
Sunday Messages "Reflections"

Manhattan Baptist Church
Independent Services
Sunday
10 a.m. Bible Study
11 a.m. Morning Service
6:30 p.m. Evening Service
Wednesday
7 p.m. Evening Service
510 Tuttle Street
776-9069

Cats for CHRIST
MATT CARTER
Campus Minister
(785) 539-6138
E-mail: catsforchrist@manhattankschurch.org or visit us on the web for other activities
www.ksu.edu/cfc
Sunday
Class 9:30-10:30 a.m.
Worship 10:30-11:45 a.m.
Evening Devotional 6-7 p.m.
Student Dinner following
Church of Christ
2510 Dickens Avenue

ECM Christian Explorers
Food, Fun & Fellowship
Sunday 5:30-7:30 p.m.
Bible Study
Wednesday 7 a.m.
Meditation Class
Wednesday 9 p.m.
1021 Denison Ave.
539-4281 or email at ecm@ksu.edu

St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center
MASS SCHEDULE
Tuesday-Thursday 10:00 p.m.
Friday 12:10 p.m.
Saturday 5 p.m.
Sunday 9:30 a.m., 11 a.m.
Sun. 4:30 p.m., 6 p.m.
Father Keith Weber, Chaplain
711 Denison 539-7496

Manhattan FRIENDS Quaker MEETING
Silent meeting for worship and discussion following
For time and place call 539-2636 or 539-2046

College Avenue United Methodist Church
1609 College Avenue 539-4191
Sundays: Worship 10:45 a.m.
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
Praise Worship 7:30 p.m.
(Come as you are and sing along.)
We welcome all visitors — Please join us!

You are welcome at . . .
First Assembly of God
Weekly Schedule of Services

Sunday	Wednesday	Thursday
Worship Services 8:30 & 11:00 a.m.	all ministries begin at 7:00	Chi Alpha Christian Fellowship
Kid's Church 8:30 & 11:00 a.m.	Prayer Meeting	7:00 p.m. for
Sunday School 10:00 a.m.	Nueve Vida Ministry (Spanish)	College Students
Nueve Vida 10:00 a.m.	Youth Group (grades 7-12)	(K-State Union
Worship Choir 4:15 p.m.	Royal rangers (Boys Club)	room 212)
Evening Worship 6:00 p.m.	Missionettes (Girls Club)

Nursery Provided for All Services
Rev. Todd Weston, Pastor
2310 Candlewood Dr. Manhattan, KS
(785) 537-7633 www.manhattanag.org

Unitarian-Universalist Fellowship of Manhattan
481 Zeandale Road. (South on K-177 across viaduct, left on K-18 1/2 mile)
Programs each Sunday at 10:45 a.m. Religious education classes for youth.
Day care for toddlers.
The Rev. David Grimm.
For information call (785) 537-2349
www.flinthills.com/~uufellow/

ST. MARY MAGDALENE ORTHODOX CHRISTIAN MISSION
ECM Bldg, 1021 Denison, 2 South.
539-3440
Services: Divine Liturgy 9:30 AM First and Third Saturdays Monthly in the ECM Nave
Visit the K-State OCF webpage at www.ksu.edu/orthodox

St. Luke's Lutheran Church
Saturday
6 p.m. Traditional Service
Sunday
8:30 a.m. Traditional Service
9:30 a.m. Fellowship
9:45 a.m. Sunday School & Bible Study
11:00 a.m. Contemporary Service
Campus Missionary -Pastor Eric Wood
http://www.flinthills.com/~stlukes
330 Sunset Ave. 539-2604

JOIN THE DIRECTORY
Call 532-6560

Volleyball team seeks revenge in upcoming Baylor match

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

When No. 24 Baylor comes to town Saturday to play No. 22 K-State at 1 p.m., more will be on the Cats' minds than just getting a win.

They'll want revenge.

Last year, Baylor (7-2, 1-0) swept the Cats (7-2, 1-0) decisively, winning both matches 3-1, two defeats K-State hasn't forgotten, setter Disney Bronnenberg said.

"We want to kill them. Yeah, we want to beat them," Bronnenberg said. "I think they were the only team that swept us last year in the Big 12, and that sort of sits in the back of our minds every time we step out on the court with them."

In order to rectify that wrong, however, K-State must improve their offensive rhythm. Against Iowa State on Wednesday, the Cats won 3-0 but never established any kind of offensive flow, Bronnenberg said.

"Our offensive system didn't run very smoothly," she said. "We never really got in a rhythm. Whether it be passers, or me or hitters, just all three combined. We just weren't in any kind of unified system."

Establishing effective offensive play will be especially important against a Baylor team that has been known to frustrate offenses, Bronnenberg said.

"They're a very spontaneous team. They dig a lot of balls," she said. "They dug a lot of balls against us last year, and it kind of threw us off guard that we had to keep transitioning until we finally got a kill out of the play."

Getting kills will be made easier against Baylor, however, if outside hitter Liz Wegner performs well. At the beginning of the season, Wegner was moved from the left side to the right side of the court and has had a difficult time adjusting.

She finally is starting to figure the right side out, though, Wegner said.

"I think I'm kind of getting into a rhythm, getting into a rhythm with Disney," Wegner said. "My role has changed a little bit, and I'm just trying to help the younger girls on the outside adjust. I'm going do whatever I can to just keep putting up some good numbers."

Wegner put up good numbers against Iowa State, but Baylor is a considerably better opponent, she said.

"Iowa State isn't as excited and as focused, and when you play a team like Baylor, they're in your face, aggressive all the time," Wegner said. "They never break down. When you play Iowa State, you have to really be more intense and more focused, but when you play Baylor, you've just got to never give up."

Lisa Mimick saw her first playing time of the year against Iowa State. During an Aug. 17 preseason workout, the junior outside hitter suffered a stress fracture in her foot and has been in rehabilitation ever since.

Against the Cyclones, however, Mimick played two games on the back row as a defensive specialist. Yet, Mimick's return to outside hitter still remains uncertain, Wegner said.

"She's slowly going to get back into it," Wegner said. "We practiced before we played, and she was jumping quite a bit and blocking and hitting. She's just got to get her rhythm back, and I think she'll be back in the game."

To get back in the game, though, she will have to compete with freshman Cari Jensen, who leads the team in kills. However, instead of causing internal strife, that competition will be good for the team, Wegner said.

"She'll have a hard time, but you never know what's going to happen in the game of volleyball," Wegner said.

"I think it's good that we're going to have so many options. If something happens, we'll have the bench, we'll have people to turn to."

PHOTOS BY JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

K-State basketball player Ryan Weigel flies in for a slam dunk as children watch at the NBA Van Jam in front of the Fairfield Inn on Thursday afternoon. The Van Jam stopped in Manhattan as part of its 30-city tour across America during the NBA's off season.

NBA stars help children fulfill their

HOOP DREAMS

Weigel lifts up 5-year-old Wayne Ingram for a slam dunk at the NBA Van Jam in front of the Fairfield Inn on Thursday afternoon. More than 50 kids visited the Van Jam.

By NICK BRATKOVIC
Kansas State Collegian

Children finished their homework inside the Manhattan Boys and Girls Club while a rare opportunity waited — an opportunity that could be defined with a single acronym: NBA.

Outside, officials from the league waited for the kids to come out and do a little shooting — and a lot of jamming.

They waited with five hoops ready for shots and a van with an NBA gallery, which featured pictures of league legends Larry Bird and Magic Johnson, along with a life-size poster of Vince Carter.

Those in attendance had the opportunity to stand and compare measurements with Carter's image, while a ruler behind Carter told them how tall they actually were.

The children would make good on that opportunity, finishing their homework and running out to play.

"I'd get my homework done to be here anytime," said Josh Vipond, an 11-year-old from the Boys and Girls Club. "If we had this all of the time, I'd be zipping through my homework."

Vipond said he has dreams of working with the NBA someday, but not as a player.

"My friends and I play sometimes," he said. "They are going to be basketball players, they hope, and I am going to be a logo designer."

Vipond and the rest of the crowd had the opportunity to mix and mingle with K-State men's and women's basketball players. Donnie Wallace, in addition to serving as a rebounder at the shooting goals, also spent time interacting with the children.

"I like talking to the kids. It is a great opportunity," Wallace said.

Wallace said he couldn't believe the size of some the NBA players featured in the Van. One such display was the shoes of Dikembe Mutombo, as Wallace placed his size-17 sneakers in Mutombo's 22-inch shoes.

See NBA on PAGE 7

U.S. women's soccer team defeats Norway

By JOSEPH WHITE
The Associated Press

MELBOURNE, Australia — Soggy field. Small crowd. Tough opponent. Other side of the world.

How's that for a setting for one of the best games ever from the U.S. women's soccer team?

The much-accomplished team accomplished a little more in its 2-0 victory over Norway in its opening game of the Olympic tournament Thursday. The Americans found a way to dominate the only team in the world with a winning record against the United States, a Norwegian team whose aerial style has often thrown a wrench in the U.S. team's preference to keep the game on the ground.

"This is a breakthrough game for us in terms of learning how to play against them," Coach April Heinrichs said. "I told the team that was the best performance against the best opponent in the first round of any major world championship, and it was the best result.

"I also reminded them it's not where you start, it's where you finish."

The U.S. team next plays China on Sunday in a rematch of last year's World Cup final before finishing group play against Nigeria next week. A victory in either game should be enough for the reigning Olympic and World Cup champions to advance to the semifinals.

The Americans came out aggressively, winning three corner kicks in the first five minutes. When high balls were kicked into the midfield, they would outleap or out-hustle the Norwegians to head them in the right direction. Tiffeny Milbrett and Mia Hamm scored before the game was a half-hour old, and their opponents were reeling.

"After that, we looked very nervous," said Norwegian coach Per-Mathias Hogmo, whose team is 14-13-2 all-time versus. the United States. "We were never able to play our game. We were lucky we didn't lose by more. The United States had seven, eight chances. We gave away too many easy balls."

Milbrett alone was a terror for the Norwegians. She not only scored a goal, she hit the left post, the right post, the crossbar and had one other chance sail wide on a solo breakaway.

"She has amazing agility, athletic ability to change directions, to change speed, control her body," Heinrichs said. "I can only liken it to a point guard in basketball."

After playing before sellout crowds at home during the 1999 World Cup, the Americans looked like part of a tame sporting event when they marched on the field before just a few thousand fans in the cavernous, 90,000-seat Melbourne Cricket Ground.

"It's odd, but it's a nice odd," Milbrett said. "We don't have that added pressure. We just can forget about the crowd, forget about everything and come out on the field and play our game."

Rains had soaked the field for more than a week, and showers were falling again earlier in the day. But the sun broke through just before kickoff, and the only distraction from the sky was the multitude of seagulls who kept landing on the field in the second half.

Still, players slipped and slid, leading to some sloppy moments in front of the American goal. Siri

See SOCCER on PAGE 8

Men's, women's cross county teams to compete in Nebraska invitational

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

Following an off-week of preparation, the K-State men's and women's cross country squads will travel to Lincoln, Neb., with fresh legs to compete in Saturday's Woody Greeno/Nebraska Invitational.

The 11th-annual tournament at Pioneer Park is set to begin at 10 a.m. with the women's 5,000 meters, followed by the men's 8,000 meters at 10:40 a.m. The 4th-ranked women are coming off a season-opening win at the Wichita State Gold Classic, while the men finished third.

Junior Shadrack Kimeli and sophomore Amy Mortimer won the men's and women's individual titles, respectively, en route to Big 12 Runner of the Week honors.

In Lincoln, more than 35 teams and 700 competitors will race in two divisions, university and college, with unattached runners also competing.

More than 35 schools from nine states will be represented, making the Woody Greeno/Nebraska Invitational the largest cross country event in the state of Nebraska.

"I think it sets up to be nice, exciting venue," fourth-year head coach Randy Cole said, "and allows our teams to run in a big field and get that big meet experience that they will have to face at the Pre-NCAA or Regional meet, where you're running in a large pack of runners.

"Just the number of runners will help lend us some experience down the road."

That vast number of competitors Saturday will create a sizable difference in the speed of the race from the Cats' opener in Wichita, Cole said.

"The nature of the race will probably mean that the pace will get out stronger than the first meet," he said. "That will give us a chance to work on getting out fast and maintaining that pace.

"It just gets down to maintaining a strong mental commitment and mental focus."

K-State will look to mirror that focus from last year, when the women walked away with the Woody Greeno/Nebraska Invitational championship, snapping nine straight wins by the University of Nebraska women.

Meanwhile, the men placed third a year ago behind Nebraska and Air Force, who tied for the title.

Nevertheless, Cole said Lincoln will be just another meet to help the squads improve in a variety of aspects.

"Each meet we go through is a chance to improve on our pace judgment and our team running," he said. "We've got to improve on that a great deal and especially work on good contact with our teammate.

"We're hoping to get in there and run well as a pack, with both groups."

— K-State Sports Information contributed to this article.

NBA

■ continued from page 6

Other Wildcat basketball players participating said it was a nice opportunity to help in the community.

Former K-State women's basketball player Dee Deshay said it was great for the youth of Manhattan to catch a glimpse of the NBA.

"I like kids," Deshay said.

"For them to take time out and come to Manhattan definitely does a lot for the community."

Blaine Young, event producer for the NBA, said reaching out to communities is something that both the league as well as event sponsors Gatorade and TBS like to do.

"We want the people to have the NBA experience," Young said. "We have contests throughout the day and this is basically a mobile Jam Session."

The Van Jam, which does a lot of work with various youth organizations, works to provide positive influences to the children.

It is something that Barb Allen, executive director of the Boys and Girls Club, said the non-profit organization appreciates.

"This is pretty big for us," Allen said. "We weren't going to tell them 'no.'"

Young said his job, which keeps him on the road most of the year, is worthwhile because of the constant interaction with children.

"To see the kids have a good time, and be able to see them come out and enjoy themselves, that is really cool," he said.

SOCCER

■ continued from page 6

Mullinix, in her first game in an important tournament as the No. 1 goalkeeper, was fortunate not to get ejected for a tackle on Dagny Mellgren.

"Maybe it was a little overaggressive," said Mullinix, who extended her U.S. team record with her 14th shutout of the year. "But I was just going after the ball the way I would any other day."

Milbrett's goal, her 80th in international competition, came in the 18th minute with help from Mullinix, who made the just the sort of play that won her the starting job over World Cup hero Scurry.

Mullinix sent a 60-yard clearance toward Milbrett, who beat two defenders to head the ball forward with only goalkeeper Bente Nordby to beat. Milbrett's first shot was deflected by Nordby, but the easy rebound made her follow-up a formality.

We haven't heard from you yet:
CAMPUS FOURUM:
395-4444

House Plants
Large Selection
$3.99 - $10.99
Horticultural Services
Garden Center
30th Year
2 mi E. of Manhattan on Hwy. 24
M-Sat 9-6
Sun 12-6
776-5764

Mesquite Cooking
We only use genuine Texas mesquite wood to bring you the smoky sweet flavor of the Old West.
Try us for lunch or dinner today. You'll taste the difference in every bite.
Amarillo No South Grill
Our flavor's unique, 'cause we grill with mesquite!.
420 Tuttle Creek Boulevard • 565-0404

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
Limited Delivery Area
1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center

KSU Meat Sale
WEDNESDAY 3-6 p.m. & FRIDAY Noon-6 p.m.
Rm. 166 Weber Hall
BEEF
roast, steak, ground beef, bratwurst
PORK
pork chops, pork steaks, sausage, ground pork, bacon
MLB EAT BRAND
PRODUCT OF THE DEPT. OF ANIMAL SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY MANHATTAN, KS 66506
For information call
532-1279

Mrs. Clyde's KANSAS STEAKHOUSE
Game Day Steak and Shrimp Buffet
Grilled Sirloin Steak, BBQ Ribs, Honey Dijon Chicken, Pasta, Baked Salmon, Breaded Shrimp, Salad Bar and Much More!
$7.95 Beat the Heat Served 3-9:30 p.m.
Don't forget our Awesome BREAKFAST/ BRUNCH BUFFET!
Sat. & Sun. 8 a.m.-1:30 p.m. Only $4.95
Mrs. Clyde's for your next party!
• Catering
• Private room for banquets, hail & farewells, receptions.
100 Bluemont Ave. Manhattan 537-2650
Next to Wal-Mart Open 6 a.m.-10 p.m. daily

All New. All Yours. All Free
MadAdz welcomes
Kansas State University
The first three students in each category to place ads will get a free T-shirt. Just another way in which MadAdz.com will hook you up.
Limit one T-shirt per student.

mad
No Brainer.
$500 cash that you can put towards rent, tuition, books, or whatever, awarded to two students a day, five days a week, just for posting a classified on www.madadz.com.
Live & Learn.
MadAdz.com hooked me up.
No purchase necessary. Void where prohibited.

creativity innovation knowledge enthusiasm
Bring it.
Where it matters most.
As one of the world's leading diversified technology companies, we're breaking new ground in everything from defense and commercial electronics, and business aviation and special mission aircraft. As a Raytheon employee, you'll contribute to the development of exciting, revolutionary technology designed to make life better, easier, and safer throughout the world. Such as our STARS air traffic control system. And our award-winning NightSight™ technology.
But it all starts with you. Your creativity. Your knowledge and innovation. And enthusiasm about the future. In return, we offer exceptional training and professional development opportunities. A supportive, down-to-earth work environment. And incredible benefits including flexible schedules designed to respect your quality of life.
So you can still show off all those great qualities of yours outside of work, too.
We have a lot to tell you about Raytheon and the exciting opportunities we have available. Plan on visiting our booth at your college career fair. If you are unable to attend the fair, please e-mail your resume to: resume@rayjobs.com (ASCII text only; no attachments), or mail to: Raytheon Company, Attn: National Staffing Data Center, P.O. Box 660246, MS-201, Dallas, TX 75266. U.S. Citizenship may be required. We are an equal opportunity employer.
Opportunities are available for exceptional students with the following majors:
• Computer Science • Computer Engineering • Electrical Engineering • Mechanical Engineering • Math
• Physics • Chemical Engineering • Aeronautical Engineering • Finance/Accounting • Human Resources
• Industrial and Labor Relations • Marketing/Communications • Management
Check out our Website at www.rayjobs.com/campus for further information including a calendar of recruiting events. At Raytheon, we strive to be the employer of choice for a diverse workforce by attracting, retaining, and recognizing the most talented, resourceful and creative people.
Bringing technology to the edge
Raytheon

Student Senate approves city/university project list

By BRYAN SCRIBNER
Kansas State Collegian

The City/University Tax Fund Student Priority List was unanimously adopted Thursday night by Student Senate.

The resolution outlined many city and university projects that K-State students and the Student Governing Association felt were necessary. Agricultural Sen. Matt Wolters, Government Relations chair, said the legislation introduces recommendations to the Manhattan City Commission.

Student Senate supported the annexation of the campus by the city of Manhattan about six years ago. This annexation gave Senate the responsibility for the allotment of student funds.

Wolters said the money is collected through taxes imposed on all university properties, such as the K-State Student Union. The commission controls the use of these tax revenues.

Some of the projects will be completed this year if passed by commission, Wolters said. The majority of the recommendations, though, might not be initiated. Wolters said the priority list proposes these projects for future consideration.

"A lot of them are safety issues," he said. "I guess the nature of the fund lends it to those types of projects."

He said safety issues are typical concerns of students.

"Safety issues are there — you see them every day," he said.

Issues include improvements to various intersections on campus, left-hand turning signals, pedestrian-activated crosswalk flashing lights, crosswalk signs and improvements to sidewalks and crosswalks.

Phil Anderson, faculty representative to Student Senate, said safety issues might reduce parking problems on campus. He said pedestrian traffic on campus is important.

"I am in support of this wholeheartedly," he said.

Funding for long-term projects was also recommended. These include a pilot recycling project and improvements to Memorial Stadium.

A copy of the resolution will be given to the projects fund committee, City Commission, K-State President Jon Wefald and City Manager Ron Fehr.

The legislation was written by the governmental relations committee. Wolters said the committee processes legislation that concerns local and statewide governmental affairs.

Senate also approved a resolution proclaiming next week Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week.

HARMONY

■ continued from page 1

Walking together, she said, will symbolize that participants are working together to help society become more accepting and inclusive.

The walk begins at 2:30 p.m. at the Triangle Park in Aggieville and leads to Manhattan Town Center, where three speakers will address issues pertaining to the week and how they relate to their walk of life.

The speakers include Mayor Karen McCulloh, Tom Hawk, acting superintendent of Manhattan/Ogden USD 383, and Ruth Dryer, assistant to the provost.

"Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week isn't something just K-State is involved in," Pitts said. "The city is involved, the schools are involved — it's a total community effort."

Mordean Taylor-Archer, associate provost and professor of diversity and dual career development, said the walk is one of the more unifying events of the week.

"It's when K-State, the city of Manhattan and USD 383 can come together and celebrate our differences, as well as the common threads, that bond us together," Taylor-Archer said.

Doug Benson, co-chairman of the planning committee, will be playing his guitar and leading the groups in songs, such as "We Shall Overcome."

Benson said that although he likes the music and singing, it isn't the most important aspect of the day.

"The singing isn't as important as just getting together and celebrating the diversity of Manhattan," he said.

Surrounding oneself with diversity is critical, Benson said.

"Knowing people from other cultures and knowing how to work with them not only enriches you as an individual, but it also enriches your work environment," he said. "It's what's made this country tick since even before we became a nation."

Without coming into contact with other cultures, the United States wouldn't have such things as cowboys, Christmas trees, jazz, rock or Latino music, Benson said.

Benson said the walk gathered together about 130 walkers last year, and that this year they expect even more.

"We hope that the K-State community will come out in support of the events and attend some of the activities we have because this is a week that we have to appreciate and celebrate the diversity on K-State campus," he said.

Schedule of Events

Sunday
2:30 p.m. Harmony Walk, begins in Triangle Park in Aggieville
3:15 p.m. Presentations from mayor and others, Manhattan Town Center
3:30 p.m. Doug Benson, guitarist, Manhattan Town Center
7 p.m. Opening keynote panel: "The Many Voices of Asians in America," Union Forum Hall

Monday
10 a.m. - noon Diversity workshop, K-State-Salina
12:30-1:30 Keynote address: "Profiling, social Justice and the Legal System," Union Big 12 Room
7-9 p.m. Keynote address: "River of Diversity: A Personal Journey" Union Forum Hall

Tuesday
12:30-1:30 p.m. Dialogue on Religion, "Hands On Harmony: Faith Communities Reaching Out in Service," Union Courtyard
3:30-5 p.m. Diversity workshop, Robinson Education Center
4-5:30 p.m. International "Town Hall" panel, Union Forum Hall

FIRE TRUCK

■ continued from page 1

removable Powercat logos on the doors.

Messer said he thinks the paint will attract attention from fans.

"With it being all white with a purple stripe, K-State fans will naturally progress toward it," he said.

At tailgate parties, the group plans to use the 100-foot ladder to fly a K-State flag above the stadium.

"We're avid K-State fans, and we wanted to fly our flag higher than anyone else," Messer said. "We're a bunch of guys who love K-State football and K-State sports. We hope it will rub off on fans."

Because of its antique appearance and symbolic representation, Messer said the firetruck already has been garnering much attention.

"Every age group is curious to see what it is," he said. "People always come up to us and ask us questions. It's just kind of an oddity and not something you see every day."

The group plans to make the firetruck available to those interested in using it as a backdrop for pictures or to attract attention to their event.

"Just donate a little fuel and we'll show up," Messer said.

BLOOD DIRT. CONTROVERSY
sound off about the cats at
GoPowercat.com
Powercat Illustrated's online supplement
http://www.gopowercat.com
message boards • chat • audio & video highlights
breaking news • recruiting • in-depth team analysis • k-state gear
©2000 Rivals.com All Rights Reserved.
GoPowercat.com is not the official team site.

Don't screw up!

One illegal drink can cost you:
$200 fine
$125 drug evaluation
$111
40 hours community service

One bad check can cost you:
Jail, a big fine and court costs!
It's a fraud conviction!

One conviction for use or possession of marijuana or other drugs can get you: Jail time! And cost you your scholarship!

Stealing or "finding" a parking permit and not turning it in could get you arrested.

A DUI conviction costs $500 and mandatory jail time.
Three lousy drinks will do it.

Therefore:
MAKE YOUR MOTHER PROUD

Don't drink unless you're 21, Balance your checkbook, Don't take another's parking permit, Don't drink and drive, Remember drugs are for sick people.

Please accept my best wishes for a challenging school year, and remember that being a responsible adult means using your head.

Have a good year,
YOUR FRIENDLY RILEY COUNTY ATTORNEY
William E. Kennedy III

WENDY'S OLD FASHIONED HAMBURGERS
NOW HIRING
For Days and Late Night Positions
FULL OR PART TIME

ABOVE AVERAGE COMPENSATION
• Discounted Meals
• Flexible Schedule
• Crew Incentive Programs
• Medical Insurance
• Retirement Plan

APPLY TODAY
WORK TODAY
at
3006 Anderson Ave.
or
421 N. 3rd St.

EOE/Drug Free Workplace

Want a Successful Fall Semester!

Attend our
"TOOLS FOR SUCCESS"
workshop series:

Learn Optimism
Develop Hope
Improve your Relationships
Raise your Emotional Intelligence

Open enrollment all semester.
Call 532-6927
University Counseling Services
http://www.ksu.edu/ucs

The Men of Sigma Nu would like to cordially invite the following women...

Lindsay Vogel	Megan Croft	Amy Long
Mindy Stafford	Julie Quackenbush	Mary Schwartz
Kortney Williams	Julie Williams	Katie Meyer
Molly Morgan	Becky Day	Elizabeth Frances
Emily Bolin	Megan Pechin	Megan Bradbury
Abby Dotson	Jennifer Bellmeyer	Meredith Demel
Stacey Montee	Kelly Vossen	Jamie Kepler
Sarah Rumsey	Amy McAllister	Lin Blair
Melissa Bowman	Carly Kassen	Megan Myer
Lauren Berlin	Lindsay Anderson	Katie Hedberg
Kelly Ernst	Samantha Mangino	Karri Pasaresi
Katie Molitor	Jenny Wilcox	Lynn Trevin
Kelly West	Judy Barber	Alison Badger
Lindsay Larson	Hana Pak	Erica Martin
Nikki Lieurance	Mandy Strano	Erica Sanderson
Allison Marten	Courtney Sedlock	Kristen Corbin
Julie Kircher	Lara Litton	Rebecca Ellis
Erin Joiner

The Men of Alpha Tau Omega would like to cordially invite th following women to Black Foot White Foot

Kendra Kelly	ΔΔΔ	Jessica Butterfield	XΩ	Lori Engel	XΩ
Mindy Gerber	ΠΒΦ	Lindsey Hites		Jocelyn Ladd	XΩ
Kelly Lyons	ΠΒΦ	Amy LaGesse	AΔΠ	Kerry Gilkerson	ΚΑΘ
Haley Whiton	XΩ	Darcy Durfee		Cheryl Ebert
Molly Miller	AΔΠ	Elizabeth Robben	AΞΔ	Gayla Azember
Lindsey Maskem		Audra Klassen	ΠΒΦ	Jenni Beauchamp	ΔΔΔ
Andrea Hufford		Angela Wiens	ΓΦΒ	Erin Cutshall	ΠΒΦ
Meredith Duncan	ΠΒΦ	Sara Evans	ΠΒΦ	Phong Tran	ΠΒΦ
Kim Woodward	XΩ	Tracy Schoepflin	ΔΔΔ	Ande Hoy	ΠΒΦ
Jesse Steele		Jamie Oder	AΔΠ	Erin Molcahy	XΩ
Courtney Ash	ΚΔ	Natalie Ebbert	ΓΦΒ	Amy Henderson	ΠΒΦ
Averie Windsor	ΔΔΔ	Erin Kessinger	AΔΠ	Sandra Springer	ΠΒΦ
Ashley Petter		Ann Enig	ΠΒΦ	Elizabeth Dickey	XΩ
Carody Kephart	ΠΒΦ	Ali Miller	AΔΠ	Becky Broxterman	ΑΧΩ
Ali Basore	ΔΔΔ	Sara Tirrell	ΠΒ	Tara Pauly	XΩ
Amy Scanlan	AΔΠ	Barbie Moreen	ΠΒΦ	Shannon Richardson	ΠΒΦ
Hanna Vanoversheild	XΩ	Jana Brian	ΠΒΦ
Melissa Scheneman	ΠΒΦ	Janell Pallanich	ΠΒΦ

Cryptoquip & CROSSWORD
presented by:
1219 Moro
Aggieville
JAVA
(785) 587-8888

FOR RELEASE FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 2000

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Scratch
4 1860s inits.
7 Gold, silver or bronze
12 Honest politician
13 Abby's sis
14 Got up
15 Voight or Lovitz
16 Wallendas' equipment
18 Praiseful piece
19 Bender
20 Oboe insert
22 Storm center
23 Layer
27 Always, in poetry
29 Menial laborer
31 "The Crucible" setting
34 Under way
35 Mass outgo
37 Prepared
38 Entanglements
39 Trim
41 Booty
45 Bulgaria's capital
47 Sapporo sash
48 Cheapskates
52 Soviet flier
53 Bakery lure
54 Comprehend
55 Commotion
56 Violet's kin
57 Historic period
58 Bottom line

DOWN
1 Primary field of study
2 Residence
3 Actress Zellweger
4 Long-running Broadway musical
5 Hidden assailant
6 Ticked off
7 Partner
8 Drop the ball
9 Additionally
10 Cleo's slayer
11 Civil War general
17 Pay attention
21 Gary Cooper role
23 Medford, Mass. school
24 "Honey, 'deed —!"
25 Swelled head
26 Pensioned (Abbr.)
28 Ostrich's kin
30 "Norma —"
31 Do alterations
32 Pink-slip
33 Tennis shot
36 Snail-like
37 Web resident
40 Old enough
42 John Lennon song
43 Tolerate
44 Jackie Gleason title role
45 Remain
46 The Charles' pooch
48 Spigot
49 Playwright Levin
50 Geometry suffix
51 Pinafore letters

Solution time: 28 mins.

D	O	H		F	I	D	O		H	A	S	H
A	N	O		R	O	I	L		O	L	I	O
H	O	T	H	O	U	S	E		T	A	G	S
		S	E	W		H	O	T	L	I	N	E
J	O	A	N	N	E		S	E	I
E	D	U		S	A	M		A	P	H	I	D
R	O	C	H		T	U	B		S	O	R	E
F	R	E	O	N		M	I	S		T	A	N
			T	E	T		C	A	C	H	E	T
H	O	T	S	E	A	T		M	O	E
A	T	O	P		H	O	T	P	L	A	T	E
T	H	R	U		O	R	A	L		D	I	N
S	E	E	R		E	A	V	E		S	A	D

Yesterday's answer 9-15

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-15 CRYPTOQUIP

H Y N L K G H O D Z G L N S F S N D Z G G F : P D P Y W W F D K S Y F S W W O Y F D H M G F S M W S O F S O D.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: WOULD YOU KNOW HOW TO DEFINITELY IDENTIFY BABY SNAKES? BY THEIR RATTLES.

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: F equals R

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 21 Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2000 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Digital Shelf DVD Rental
We buy video games and DVDs.
www.ksudigitalshelf.com
now online and updated
713 N. 11th
776-6959

MOVIE TIMES

SETH CHILDS CINEMA

"The Replacements"
4:30, 7 and 9:30 p.m.
"Nurse Betty"
4:35, 7:05 and 9:40 p.m.
"Coyote Ugly"
4:45, 7:30 and 9:45 p.m.
"Bait"
4:20, 7 and 9:25 p.m.
"Way of the Gun"
4:35, 7:20 and 9:50 p.m.
"What Lies Beneath"
4:25, 7:10 and 9:50 p.m.
"The Watcher"
4:40, 7:30 and 9:55 p.m.
"Highlander: Endgame"
4:30, 7:15 and 9:20 p.m.
"Bring It On"
4:20, 7:10 and 9:40 p.m.
"The Cell"
4:25, 7:15 and 9:45 p.m.
"Space Cowboys"
4:15, 7 and 9:35 p.m.
"Scary Movie"
4:40, 7:25 and 9:35 p.m.

Movies at Seth Childs Cinema are $4.50 for matinees and $6.75 for evening shows.

COMPOSITION COMPETITION

FILE PHOTOS BY EVAN SEMON/Collegian

Local band Flicker performs at the 13th annual Opus Band Competition, which took place in the free-speech zone behind the K-State Student Union last year. The Union Program Council awarded a first place prize of $400 to Sharkey's Little Groove Box. This year's Opus concert begins at 5 tonight at the Union Plaza. Admission is free.

Amateur bands to compete for recognition, prizes at 14th Opus event

By SHAUNA COFFINDAFFER
Kansas State Collegian

Scott Guggifberg has a dream that sits in the back of his mind: to someday make it to the top with his band.

"Every band kind of carries that thought with them every time they play," Guggifberg said.

While Guggifberg isn't sure if that dream will ever come true, he said he is looking forward to playing at the 14th annual Opus Band Competition, sponsored by the Union Program Council. Not only will he and his five-member band, Flicker, get the chance to show off their talent, they also will be competing against six other local and amateur bands for prize money.

Gina Kimble, intern program adviser for UPC, said getting to perform at Opus isn't easy. She said bands have to audition before a committee before even being considered to play.

"They have to send in a demo, and then they are judged by their originality and vocal and instrumental talents," Kimble said.

During the concert, each band is allowed 20 minutes to perform in front of a panel of five judges who base their scores on stage presence, delivery and audience appeal in addition to the audition requirements.

Lead vocalist of Crooked Pinky, Trevor Dubbert, caps the band's set by playing an energized version of the "Hokey Pokey" last year during the Opus competition.

Kimble said the judging panel is a mix of people including a UPC representative, a local reporter, a radio disc jockey, a record store employee and, because stage presence is so important, a member of the audience selected randomly.

"For some of these bands, it's their first exposure, and how they present themselves can be very important, like a first impression," Kimble said.

Prize money then goes out to the three bands with the highest scores, with first place receiving $400, second place $250 and third place $150.

While the pressure of performing in front of judges, as well as an expected crowd of 300 to 500 students, might make some bands a little nervous, Guggifberg said he is ready to perform.

"I'm more excited than anything else. We have not had a lot of opportunities to play around town and this might be a good chance for us to get a name for ourselves," Guggifberg said.

John Evans, member of the Egomaniacs, said performing at Opus will give students the chance to see some bands they wouldn't normally get to hear.

"We play at a lot of 21-and-over bars where a lot of students can't get in. The bad part about that is that most of the people who buy CDs are 20 and under," Evans said. "Now, even my 6-year-old daughter will get to see me play."

Guggifberg said students needed to show their support by letting the bands and clubs know what they like.

"In the end, the audience has the ultimate say in this," he said.

Kimble said she believed this concert will provide good opportunities for a lot of bands who don't know where to begin.

"Several of the bands who played last year ended up booked around town. This opens the doors for people who otherwise might not have a chance to use their talents," she said. "Plus, it's a great chance for students to get out and see what the local musical scene has to offer. It's free and it should be a good time."

Although Evans said competing for money is a good incentive for the band to try their best, the real motivation behind his performance will be the opportunity to play.

"We play for ourselves," he said.

Local bands to perform concert in Hays

By ERIN SCHNEWEIS
Kansas State Collegian

Sharkey's Little Groove Box and Ruskabank are performing this weekend, but not in Manhattan.

The two local bands are traveling to Hays, Kan., to participate, along with The Urge, O'Phil, 8 Degrees and Pomeroy, in the third annual September Jam on Saturday afternoon.

Mindy Lies, president of Fort Hays State University Activities Board, said the September Jam participation has doubled every year of the event.

She said they are trying to promote the event so that more out-of-town visitors attend the event.

"In the past, it has been just a local event," Lies said. "We want to reach out as far as we can."

Other activities, including a skateboard demonstration featuring teams from across the state and a post party at the Sip 'N Spin, a local laundromat/dining establishment, will be offered in addition to the music.

Jamie Rogers, Ruskabank trumpet player, said the band enjoyed performing at September Jam last year.

"It was really good exposure and experience for us," he said. "If it is as good as it was last year we'll be very happy."

David Studnicka, Ruskabank trombone player, said the band also enjoyed performing with the other bands, especially The Urge.

Because of last year's success, he said he is looking forward to playing for a larger, more enthusiastic crowd.

"Last year there was between 1,000 and 1,500 people," Studnicka said. "I'm almost positive there will be a bigger crowd."

He said Ruskabank wants to please the crowd, but its main goal is to support local music and have a good time.

"Hopefully, some people from Manhattan will come and enjoy the show," Studnicka said.

September Jam

The concert is at Hays Municipal Park. The gates open at 2:30 p.m., and the event will last from 3 to 11 p.m. Admission is $10 in advance, $12 at the door. Call (785) 628-5306 to order tickets. Bands performing are The Urge, Sharkey's Little Groove Box, 8 Degrees, O'Phil, Ruskabank and Pomeroy.

THE GONGFARMER

BY RANDY REGIER

Monkey Boy

BY BRENT ENGSTROM

CLINIQUE BONUS TIME

Free. New. Now.
Come claim six Clinique beauty essentials, plus a fashion forward, take-everywhere cosmetics bag.

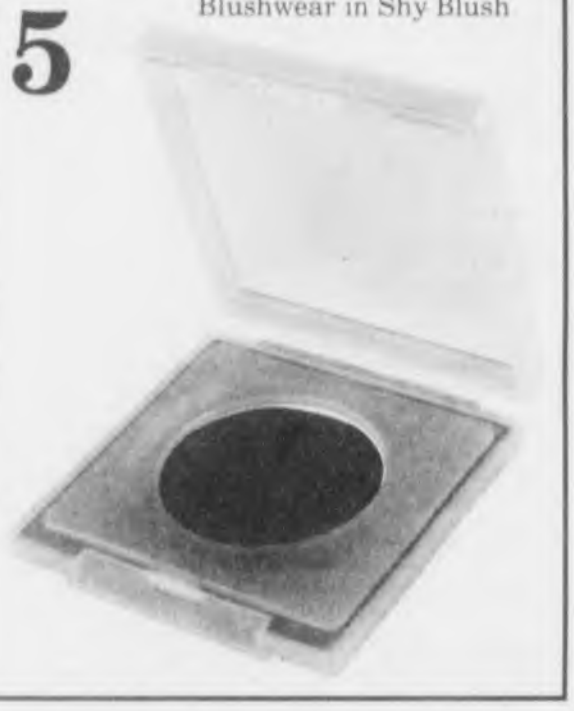
Yours at no extra charge with any Clinique purchase of $16.50 or more.

1

2

Different Lipstick Mini-Sampler in Ripe Raisin/Black Lily

3



Clinique Happy Body Smoother

4

Dramatically Different Moisturizing Lotion

5

Blushwear in Shy Blush

6

Long Last Soft Matte Lipstick in Iced Punch

7

Clarifying Lotion 2

Your Bonus, Plus.

Or spend $35.00 and receive this larger limited edition tote, too.

Clinique's new Simple Hair Care System. Designed to cleanse, condition, style. And to custom-fit to your hair type--whether it's oily, normal or dry. For the healthiest results. The best effects. The look you want. $10.00-$13.50 each.

CLINIQUE
Allergy Tested.
100% Fragrance Free.
(With the exception of Clinique Happy products.)

Dillard's

We will not be undersold on identical merchandise...guaranteed!

TOWN CENTRE

Quantities are limited.
One Bonus to a customer, please.
While supplies last. Better hurry.

For Your Convenience We Accept Your Dillard's Charge, Visa, MasterCard, American Express, Discover, Carte Blanche, Or Diner's Club Card.

SHOP MONDAY THROUGH SATURDAY 10 A.M. - 9 P.M.; SUNDAY 12 NOON - 6 P.M.

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.
CALL 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FALL LEASING available! Call now! Fully furnished, washer/ dryer, fully equipped kitchen, alarm systems, computer lab, copier, and tax availability, fitness center/ rec room, swimming pool, reserved parking, tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. University Commons Apartments, 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

CAMPUS FIVE BLOCKS. Very large two-bedroom with air-conditioning. Clean, quiet location. Electric, gas, water, trash paid. No dogs. 537-8389.

EXCELLENT TWO-BEDROOM one block from campus. $550 per month, water/ trash paid. 341-4496.

LET US HELP you find a place to live. We may have what you need. No dogs. Leave message, 537-8389.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOMS, dishwasher, washer/ dryer, central air $450- $475. Now available. (785)776-8455.

VERY NICE two-bedroom with air-conditioning. NEWLY REDECORATED, clean, quiet, convenient location. Heat, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. 537-8389.

115 Rooms Available

ROOM AVAILABLE NOW in four-bedroom house. Pets allowed, two bathrooms, utilities shared four ways. 1207 Houston. $300/ month. (785)770-9484, (785)556-1745.

120 For Rent- Houses

MUST SEE this BEAUTIFUL two story west side home. Three-bedroom, two and one-half bath, central air, park like one-half acre yard, two car garage. Available now. Good references a must. (785)776-8455.

NEW DUPLEX. FOUR-BEDROOM, two bath, two living rooms. Available October 1. $1000/ month. Pierre St. (785)456-7655.

TWO STORY BRICK, very large, three- four-bedroom, two baths, central air, laundry hook-ups, quiet location, fenced yard, parking. 537-8389.

ADVERTISE YOUR SUBLEASE IN THE LET'S RENT SECTION.
103 Kedzie • 532-6555

145 Roommate Wanted

ROOMMATE WANTED for house one block from campus. Gas, water and trash paid. Off-street parking. 776-5422.

150 Sublease

CLOSE TO CAMPUS! A very spacious one-bedroom basement apartment in a nice house. Rent: $340 a month. You only pay for electricty, phone and cable! 770-3537.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO bath, furnished, washer/ dryer, dishwasher, privacy deck at University Commons. Sublease, two tenants needed. $325/ person/ month. 537-8226.

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information, call (785)456-2795, www.ksu.edu/kstc

Bobby T's
Live Entertainment
Sharkey's Little Groove Box
Friday, Sept. 8
The Habit
Saturday, Sept. 9

SKIN PROBLEMS? Contact 1-888-353-1813.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

040 Meetings/ Events

MANHATTAN PROJECT- a discussion group for gay/bi/transgender men focusing on social issues. Next meeting Sept. 18 from 7- 8 p.m. Call for location at (785)587-1999.

Special Announcement

Youthville would like to invite you to stop by our booth during this month's career fair. We'd enjoy visiting with you about the career opportunities we offer to help improve the lives of vulnerable children and their families.

UNITED METHODIST Youthville

100 housing/ real estate

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

Come home to relax in comfort
•Cambridge Square
•Sandstone Apts.
•Fireplaces •Carports
•Pool •Private Deck
•Laundry Facilities
•Large 2-bedroom Units
Call TODAY!!!
537-9064
Weekdays 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Showings by appointment

TWO-BEDROOM, WALK to campus, ample parking quiet conditions, furnished or unfurnished, laundry. Reasonable rent. 539-3638.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

BRAND NEW three-bedroom/ three bathroom apartment available September 11th, washer/ dryer included, close to campus and Aggieville. Call MDI 776-3804.

NICE, ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment near City Park. $300/ month, utilities paid except phone and cable. Call 537-6899.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, 431 Leavenworth, $360, bills paid. 539-8401.

135 For Sale- Mobile Homes

1997 DOUBLE wide mobile home. Three-bedroom, two bath, family and living room, washer/ dryer hook-ups. $41,000 negotiable. (785)717-2840. Colonial Gardens.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE, $265/ month, one-third utilities, Chase Manhattan Apartments, 539-7824.

ROOMMATE WANTED for clean house. Washer/ dryer available. (785)584-5991 or (785)776-1904.

TWO FEMALE roommates wanted to join three others in a five person house. Newly renovated, two bathrooms, close to campus. Call 565-9838.

155 Stable/ Pasture

HOME FOR YOUR HORSE. Stall or pasture, $135/ $90 per month. Use of arena and tack room. Please call (785)537-3773.

200 service directory

255 Other Services

LOOKING TO clean houses. Have experience. Call 565-9838.

300 employment/ opportunities

310 Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For info call (203)977-1720.

FRATERNITIES• SOROITIES• CLUBS• STUDENT GROUPS. Earn $1000- $2000 this quarter with the easy Campusfundraiser.com three hour fundraising event. No sales required. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so call today! Contact Campufundraiser.com at (888)923-3238, or visit www.campusfundraisier.com

Professional Resume Writing
Services Offered:
✔ Personal Interviews
✔ Choice of Layout
✔ Photo or Artwork
✔ Cover Letters
✔ Rewrites & Updates
✔ Curricula Vitae
✔ Final edited copy on disk
WILDCAT RÉSUMÉ SERVICE
785-770-8165
8526 East US Hwy. 24
Manhattan, KS

310 Help Wanted

HOME FOR YOUR HORSE. Stall or pasture, $135/ $90 per month. Use of arena and tack room. Please call (785)537-3773.

CAT'S CLOSET Sales Associates: This position offers competitive pay and a great schedule that won't interfere with classes! Applicants need to be available a minimum of all home football and some basketball games. Stop by It's Greek To Me, 520 McCall Rd., to complete an application. EOE.

LONGHORNS WAITRESSES needed. Apply in person or call between 2- 4p.m. 776-8770, 1115 Moro.

CUSTOMER SERVICE! A perfect match if you have 15-75 pounds to lose, we pay you! (866)215-0727.

PART-TIME HELP wanted. Roof truss manufacturing plant. 5107 Murray Rd., (785)776-5081.

FREE ROOM! September board for female in exchange for some house work and to feed sheep. Part-time. (785)457-3582.

ARE YOU a SECONDARY EDUCATION major or GRADUATE STUDENT looking for some teaching experience? TEACHERS ARE WANTED with experience or interest in basic skills (English, communications, social studies, math and science). You must be able to operate independently, and have an interest in activity- based instruction, mastery learning, and the principles of educational psychology. Send self addressed stamped envelope to the Online High School, PO Box 1287, Manhattan, KS 66505-1287. Email to davel@network-splus.net

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!! Looking for part- time dealers. Multi- level market selling Indoor Air Purification Machines. Fun business, good money!!! Call Mitch at (888)814-2893.

CIVIL ENGINEERING graduate teaching assistant for part-time instruction at KSU at Salina. Knowledge of KDOT Soils, Aggregate, and Concrete lab techniques a plus. Send letter of inquiry and resume to: CIT2 Program, 2310 Centennial Rd., TAC Building, Suite 119, Salina, KS 67401.

COLLEGE AVENUE Infant/ Toddler Center is now hiring substitute teachers. Call 539-6885.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDENT to do clerical work. Filing, answering phone, and general duties as required by staff. $6 an hour, 10- 15 hours a week between 8am and 5pm Monday- Friday. E-mail resume with three references to kccto@iso.ksu.edu

COMPUTING AND Network Services is seeking to hire a student university computing lab assistant. This position monitors and checks the equipment operational status in the university computing labs. Available to work first and second shift hours, in 2-4 hour blocks of time, 15- 30 hours a week, including weekends, holidays, breaks, and summer months. Experience with computers is a plus. Applicants with two or more years employment potential will be given preference. Contact Wendy Wann for more information at 532-4941.

CHARTWELLS, K-STATE STUDENT UNION FOODSERVICE, 121 K-State Student Union, Across from Ramada on Anderson Ave. Apply in person only. REQUIREMENTS: All successful applicants must be able to maintain a high standard of sanitation within the operation. Also, they must exhibit excellent personal hygiene habits and be reliable, efficient and punctual in their work assignments. Excellent customer service skills and effective communication skills are a must in all areas. CATERING ATTENDANTS: Part-time positions. Various hours plus some evening and weekend shifts. CASHIERS: Part-time positions: 8:15a.m.- 2p.m. or 10:15a.m.- 1:30p.m., Monday- Friday. Will train the right person. ICE CREAM/PIZZA: Hours needed are: 9a.m.- 4p.m. (full-time) and 3:30- 7:30p.m. (part-time), Monday- Friday. CHICK-FIL-A: One full-time, 8a.m.- 4p.m. Monday-Friday; one part-time 3-8p.m., Monday- Thursday. COOK: One full-time, hours vary. Could be 6a.m.- 2p.m. or 8a.m.- 4p.m., Monday-Friday. FOOD COURT ATTENDANTS: One full-time, 6a.m. to 2p.m., Monday- Friday; one part-time, 2- 7:30p.m., Monday-Thursday. REFRESHMENTS: Evening hours. Hours, 3- 8p.m., Monday-Friday. CHARTWELLS IS AND EOE/AA EMPLOYER.

EXOTIC DANCERS: high pay, low hours. Apply in person at Ginger's Spot, 1014 Grant Ave., Junction City or call (785)762-3847 after 8p.m.

LUNAR TUNES, a local D.J. Company, is looking for energetic students to fill D.J. positions. Experience preferred. Will train the right person. (785)776-9140.

PARENT ASSISTANT. Before and after school care. For three children, ages 6, 9, 11. Must have reliable transportation. (785)776-7764.

PAYROLL/ ACCOUNTS Payable position. Strong accounting skills needed. Minimum three years experience (or equivalent upper level college credit) in payroll, accounts payable, accounts receivable, cash receipts and general accounting practices. Extensive computer experience to include Microsoft Excel and Accounting Software. Must possess top-notch organization skills and ability to work unassisted on multiple tasks. Salary is $17,500- $20,000 plus benefits. Send cover letter, resume and three references to Screening Committee, North Central- Flint Hills Agency on Aging, 437 Houston St., Manhattan, KS. EOE/ AA.

PROPERTY MANAGER needed for large College Community. Position requires strong account and communication skills. Must be able to work independently and handle multiple tasks at once. Salary, plus apartment and benefits. Submit resume to First Management, PO Box 1797, Lawrence, KS 66049 or fax to (785)841-8492.

RILEY COUNTY INFORMATION SYSTEMS: Help Desk Intern: Knowledge of Windows 95/ 98, Windows NT, Office 97/ 2000, network wiring and a desire to gain experience in these areas. Proficiency with troubleshooting software, hardware, PC's and PC peripherals. Familiarity with Linux, Windows 2000, HTML, Microsoft Access a plus. Strong communication skills are essential as position requires substantial contact with all end users. This position should fulfill partial requirements for a degree; progress toward completion of the degree will be reviewed on a yearly basis for continuing employment. Applicants must be available to work part-time. Hourly rate is $8.35. All available positions require that a job application be completed and on file for employment consideration. Contact the Department of Administrative Services, Division of Human Resources located at 115 N. 4th St., 3rd Floor East, Manhattan, KS 66502. For more information call (785)565-6464, or e-mail to jdean@co.riley.ks.us Riley County is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

310 Help Wanted

RILEY COUNTY INFORMATION SYSTEMS: Web Development Intern: Position will assist in developing Intranet and Internet web pages including database integration. Applicants should be familiar with Windows 95/ 98, HTML, Web technologies, Microsoft IIS, JAVA, ASP, Cold Fusion. Creativity and strong communications skills are essential. This position should fulfill partial requirements for a degree; progress toward completion of the degree will be reviewed on a yearly basis for continuing employment. Applicants must be available to work part-time. Hourly rate is $8.35. All available positions require that a job application be completed and on file for employment consideration. Contact the Department of Administrative Services, Division of Human Resources located at 115 N. 4th St., 3rd Floor East, Manhattan, KS 66502. For more information call (785)565-6464, or e-mail to jdean@co.riley.ks.us Riley County is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

FULL-TIME WAREHOUSE/ delivery person at Faith Furniture. Please apply in person at 302 E. Highway 24, Manhattan.

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. Info 1-504-646-1700 Dept. KS-6438.

HUMIDOR DREAMS has an opening for position of "cigar girl," to work in the Aggievile area two- three nights a week. Friendly and good people skills a must, call (785)537-7444, ask for Heath.

J & J Contractors, Inc. Iola, KS, has a bridge contract near Wakefield, KS which will start on September 18, 2000 and last for several weeks. Can work any hours from early morning to late evening. Possibility Saturday and Sunday work. Labor work needed. EOE. No experience required. Call Jackie/ Nicole at (316)365-5428 or (316)365-5500.

Spring Break 2001
Jamaica, Cancun, Florida, Barbados, Bahamas.
Now hiring campus reps. Earn 2 free trips. Free Meals. Books by Nov. 2nd. Call for FREE info pack or visit online sunsplashtours.com
1-800-426-7710

TUTOR NEEDED for biochemistry (CHEM 265). Please call 770-8186.

WANTED: PART-TIME babysitter for toddlers in Christian home near Wamego. Need caring, reliable applicant with own transportation. Call (785)456-7899.

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

615 N 3rd. Buy, sell, trade CDs, videos, misc. bar items, furniture and much more! 539-3919.

410 Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. Open 12- 5p.m. Closed Sundays. Mondays. 539-4684.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS Camouflage clothing (including PURPLE) field jackets- Boots sleeping bags- overshoes, hunting wear. Also CARHARTT workwear. Open Mon.- Fri., 9- 5:30; Sat. 9- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS 66536. (785)437-2734.

BUY SELL TRADE
Video Games, Computer Games & DVD Movies
GAME*BUY
704 N. 11th Aggieville
537-0989

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

COUCH/ SOFA-BED, TV, microwave for sale. Call 537-1177 evenings.

EXTRA LONG flex-steel couch for sale. Call 776-1457.

TWO COUCHES and two TV's available. Call 539-6338 after 6:30p.m.

420 Garage/Yard Sales

ANNUAL GARAGE SALE. Nevada St., Indiana Ln., Montana Ct., Fri. Sept. 15, 9 a.m.- 1 p.m. Sat., Sept. 16, 8 a.m.- 12:30 p.m. Mountain bike, Dynaco FM tuner, load equalizer, stereo, speakers, lawnmower, TVs, beer signs, ceiling fan, lamps, upright freezer, sewing machine, Camry wheels, children's books, clothes, camping equip, golf clubs, silk flower arrangements, Avon bottles. NO EARLY SALES.

COMPUTER SWAP Meet September 16, 9a.m.- 12p.m., 413 S. Manhattan Ave. Everybody welcome. www.ittlapple.com/imug/swpmeet

GARAGE SALE! Friday, September 15 4:30- ?. Saturday, September 16 8a.m.-1p.m. Miscellaneous items and few baby items. 2907 Jeffrey Circle.

430 Antiques

Little Apple Antiques
339 Colorado
9:30 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. Mon. - Sat.
Noon - 5:00 p.m. Sun.
537-3800

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

DISCOUNTED FOOTBALL (Section 430) tickets vs. North Texas for sale! Call Mike at (612)943-8113 for details.

FOOTBALL TICKETS for sale. 537-3686.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOR SALE: K-State vs. Nebraska football tickets. Three student reserved available. $250/ ticket or best offer! Please call (785)565-0007.

FOR SALE: two general admission KSU vs. NU football tickets. Best offer. Call (785)770-9820.

FOR SALE: two sets of tickets for all home games except Nebraska. Will sell individually. Call (785)565-9359.

NEED CASH? Sell your KSU vs. NU ticket! $100 plus. (785)539-4133.

TWO GENERAL admission tickets for all home games except Nebraska, best offer. Email: footballksu@hotmail.com or call (530)297-4094.

WANTED TO buy: two Colorado football tickets, reasonable price. (785)286-2433.

WANTED: FOUR reserved and two General Admission tickets for the October 14 game with Oklahoma. Call (785)776-4808. Can leave message.

WANTED: TWO general admission tickets for game on 23rd. One general admission ticket for 16th. For Sale: two reserved tickets for 16th and Nebraska. Call 537-0692.

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1987 DODGE 600, four-door, automatic, air-conditioned, power steering, good condition, $2000 or best offer. Call (785)539-1628.

1997 FORD Ranger V-6- automatic- air-conditioning, 1991 Mazda Cab Plus B2200 automatic- air-conditioning, 1993 Ford Escort Wagon loaded 59K, 1993 Plymouth Grand Voyager loaded. Call 565-9458 or 317-0144.

FOR SALE: 1994 Dodge Dakota Sport, 3.9L, V-6, automatic overdrive, air-conditioning, power steering, anti-lock break system, cruise. Dent on driver's side. 71,000 miles. $6500 or best offer. Call 532-6664 (day); 776-6722 (night). Ask for Jim.

530 Motorcycles

1985 HONDA shadow 700CC. Black, like new, always garaged, very well maintained, 15K miles, helmet included. $2500. 539-8610.

1997 KAWASAKI EX250R Ninja , 5000 miles, great working condition, new rear tire, many accessories, clear title, $2100. (785)395-2630. davidduffey.com/ninja

600 travel/ trips

630 Spring Break

EIGHT DAY Florida, Caribbean vacations. Orlando, Ft. Lauderdale, hotel, rental car, round trip cruise for two. $398 plus docking. 1-888-353-1813.

~~WINTER BREAK/ SPRING BREAK.~~ Ski and beach trips on sale now! www.sunchase.com or call 1-800-SUNCHASE today!

Let the World see your classified ad by using the Collegian as a resource!
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE 532-6555

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.85
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.90
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.90
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 bulletin board
100 housing/ real estate
200 service directory
300 employment/ opportunities
400 open market
500 transportation
600 travel/ trips

FAMILY DAY 2000

Check out these Manhattan area businesses!

Salon Essentials

Hair • Nails • Tanning • Spa Services

FREE lip or eyebrow wax with any chemical service

Open 7 days a week

$5 off Basic/European Facials or $3 off spa manicure new customers only

Buy 1 tan get 1 FREE any tanning bed

Ask about our 1/2 and full day of Spa Essentials

3003 Anderson Ave. Suite 917 • 758-539-5752

Hair Experts Design Team

Discover the Difference

New school year, new season and time to try something new. 15% off any service you have never experienced before.

1323 Anderson Ave.
Aggieville, Manhattan
776-4455

SUN CONNECTION I & II

1125 LARAMIE 776-2426
1814 CLAFLIN 537-0744

1 FREE WEEK
of tanning
w/purchase of 1 month unlimited

Buy 10 Super Tans, Get 2 Mega or Cyberdome Tans FREE

EXPIRES 9/30/00

Satellite prices that anyone can afford!

You'll walk out with a complete satellite system.

RadioShack.
"You've got questions. We've got answers."

2609 Anderson
In Anderson Square 539-6151
With This Coupon
Expires 9/30/00

THE Palace Cards & Gifts

Show your support with K-State giftware, partyware and apparel!

COUPON
20% OFF
All K-STATE GIFTWARE AND APPAREL
EXCLUDES ANY ITEMS ALREADY ON SALE!
EXPIRES SEPT. 22, 2000

704 N. Manhattan Ave. • In Aggieville • 539-7654
Mon.-Fri. 8:30-8:30 • Sat. 8:30-5:30 • Sun. 12:00-5:00

Delivers the latest!

OPEN LATE! GUMBY'S Pizza & Pub OPEN LATE!

702 N. 11th Street
770-3333
Sunday 11a.m. - 2 a.m.
Mon. - Wed. 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.
Thur. - Sat. 11a.m. - 3:30 a.m.

Checks add 50¢

770-3333 Fast Delivery, Dine-In, Carry-Out

JAWHAWK HATER	CARRY-OUT SPECIALS	THE BIG ASS
Two Large 14" 2-Topping Pizzas for $12.99	16" 1-Topping $6.99 14" 1-Topping $5.99 BONUS BUYS MENU with any food purchase • 10 Wings...ONLY $3.99 • Medium Pokey Stix ONLY $3.99 • 4 Pepperoni Rolls...ONLY$2.99	One 20" Massive 1-Topping Pizza $10.99 2 for $19.99
Additional Toppings $1.00 per pizza		Additional Toppings $1.30 per pizza

EVERY PIZZA GETS A FREE RANCH • EVERY MONDAY IS DOUBLE RANCH DAY!

what's happening on the street these days?

COLORFUL SCENES

Buttery blondes. Edgy reds. Bittersweet brunettes. Ask us to personalize a Redken haircolor for you.

Aggie Hair Shapers
1220 Moro
776-3600

Bring this ad in for $10 off any color service

PICK UP A PORTABLE & SAVE

SALE 39.99
Clear-sounding 900MHz cordless phone.
Store and dial three phone numbers using one-touch memory buttons.
42% OFF

SALE 129.99
Laser/radar detector with built-in electronic compass.
360° coverage including Ultra-Lyte laser.
SAVE $50
Use may be regulated by state or local law.

SALE 69.99 each
Water-resistant 2-way personal radio. Up to 2-mile range.
14 channels, 38 quiet codes — ideal for high-use areas.
SAVE $60 ON A PAIR

SALE 9.99
Lightweight headphones with inline volume control.
50% OFF

SALE 19.99
4-device "smart" remote.
33% OFF

SALE 4.99
AM/FM pocket radio.
50% OFF

SALE 19.99
Desktop recorder. Includes earphone.
33% OFF

2609 Anderson
In Anderson Square

RadioShack. Associate Store
"You've got questions. We've got answers."

539-6151
Mon. thru Fri. 9-6, Sat. 9-5

Offers/prices not available in all stores. Please inquire. Sale prices good through 09/30/2000.

FAMILY DAY 2000

WELCOME TO THE WILLIE-ENIUM

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

Saturday, September 16

-Air Force ROTC and Drill Exhibitions. Ahearn Field House. 8:30am.

-Army ROTC Vehicle Display, Weapons Demonstrations, Army Displays and Tactics Demonstrations. Military Science Building. 9:00 am to noon.

-College of Engineering Reception and Presentations. Durland/Rathbone/Fiedler Hall. 9:00am to 10:15am.

-Portraits with Willie. Ground Floor of the K-State Student Union 9:00am to 11:00am

-Insects and People Through History. 133 Waters Hall. 9:00am to noon.

-Taste of K-State. Dairy Bar, Call Hall, 9:00am to noon. Meat Sales Laboratory, 111 Weber Hall. 9:00am to noon. Bakery, Shellenberger Hall. 9:00am to noon.

-Guided Tours of K-State's Main Campus. Tours meet on the Ground Floor of the K-State Student Union. 9:30am and 10:00am

-College of Business Administration Reception and Tour. Calvin Hall. 8:30am to 10:30am.

-College of Agriculture Reception. K-State Gardens, Denison Avenue-north of Claflin Avenue. 10:00am to noon.

-College of Veterinary Medicine Tour. Meet in the lobby of Trotter Hall (middle building of the Veterinary Medicine Complex). Please note: this tour will start promptly at 10:00am.

-Botanical Garden and Conservatory. Denison Avenue-north of Claflin Avenue. 10:00am to noon.

-Chemistry Magic Show. 114 Willard Hall. 10:00am & 11:00am.

-Macdonald Laboratory Tour. 119 Cardwell Hall. 10:30am & 2:00pm.

-Food Court open. 10:00 am to 2:00pm. Buger King, Taco Bell and Ice Cream 11:00am to 2:00pm. Subway 9:00am to 10:30pm.

-Family Day Lunch Specials: K-State Student Union Food Court. Dine in or take out. Shaved BBQ beef or pork piled high on a homemade bun, home fries, southern baked beans, corn fritters and salad: $3.95. Burger King, Taco Bell, Chick-fil-a, pizza and ice cream specials also available for 4, 6 or 8 meal deals. 10:00am - 5:00pm

-K-State Student Union Bookstore Fashion Show. Ground Floor, K-State Student Union. 2:30pm & 3:30pm.

-K-State Football vs. Ball State. Wagner Stadium. 6:10pm. Call 800-221-CATS for tickets.

-Union Program Council Movie - "Shaft" - Forum Hall, Ground Floor, K-State Student Union. $1.75 per person at the door. 7:00pm and 9:30pm.

SPONSORS

Aggieville Barbershop
Aggieville Business Association
Alan Clark Body Shop, Inc.
Alpha Xi Delta
The Barn at Kimble Cliff
BURGER KING® at K-State Student Union
Cambridge Square Apartment Homes
KSU Career and Employment Services
The City of Manhattan, Kansas
Danenberg Jewelers, Inc.
Dr. Paul E. Bullock Optometry
Farmhouse Fraternity
Fine Line Tattoo, Inc.
Glenn's Music
Grand Mere Development, Inc.
Henton Plumbing & Air Conditioning, Inc.
Hunam Express Chinese Restaurant
J and I Gifts & Ceramics
K-State Federal Credit Union
Kansas Electric Supply Company
Kansas Farm Bureau Services, Inc.
Kansas On-Line Systems, Inc.
Kansas State Bank
Kansas State University Alumni Association
Kansas State University Foundation
The Ken Ebert Design Group Architects and Planning Consultants
Management & Training Corporation
Manhattan Center for the Arts
Manpower Temporary Services
McCullough Property Management
Mercy Health Center
Murdock Auto Mall
Optical Perspectives
Oz Online
Pfeifley Jewelers
Pugh Communications Services, Inc.
Rad-A-Tat Tattoo
Reed and Elliot Jewelers, Inc.
Resco Chiropractic
Rusty's Last Chance
Thomas Sign Advertising, Inc.
UMB Bank, N.A.
Universal Insurance Services
Valley View Memorial Gardens
Village Inn
Wal-Mart
Woody's Ladies Shop

Saturday, September 16

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
GAMEDAY

GAME NO. 3 BALL STATE

FRIDAY, SEPT. 15, 2000

Bringing out the BEAST

Chris Johnson takes charge in Darren Howard's shadow

By SAM STIERS
Kansas State Collegian

Filling the void created by the graduation of Darren Howard, K-State's all-time sack leader, might sound like a daunting task, but senior defensive end Chris Johnson has excelled this season, and the Wildcat defense hasn't missed a beat.

The former running back turned defensive standout is leading the Cats with 2.5 sacks this season and has earned the respect of both his teammates and coaches.

"He walks softly but carries a big stick," Phil Bennett, defensive coordinator, said. "He's a guy who's been around here a long time and when he says something, people know it's a well thought out response. And I think he has every player on this team's respect, and to me that's part of being a leader."

Bennett said he thinks Johnson is a complete package and brings both physical and mental attributes to the team.

"His strength, leverage, quickness and knowledge are the biggest assets Chris brings to his position," Bennett said. "Stability comes to mind. He's just a guy who does his job every day, play in and play out. He enjoys football and he's a mature young man."

Johnson came to K-State in 1996 from Chickasha, Okla. where he played both running back and linebacker. As a freshman, he continued to play ironman football during K-State practices.

"The hardest thing about playing both sides was running back and forth from the offense to the defense, because they practice on different fields," Johnson said. "But I was excited about it. Eventually, I found my home on the defensive side. When I moved over there, the coaches couldn't get me back on offense."

Johnson has played running back, fullback, linebacker and defensive end during his tenure at K-State. He switched to defense full-time during the spring of his freshman year, and began the 1997 season as linebacker.

Last season, Johnson found his niche in the Cat defense when he was thrown into the defensive end rotation with Darren Howard and Monty Beisel. Johnson made the most of his time on the field, recording 4.5 sacks for the season.

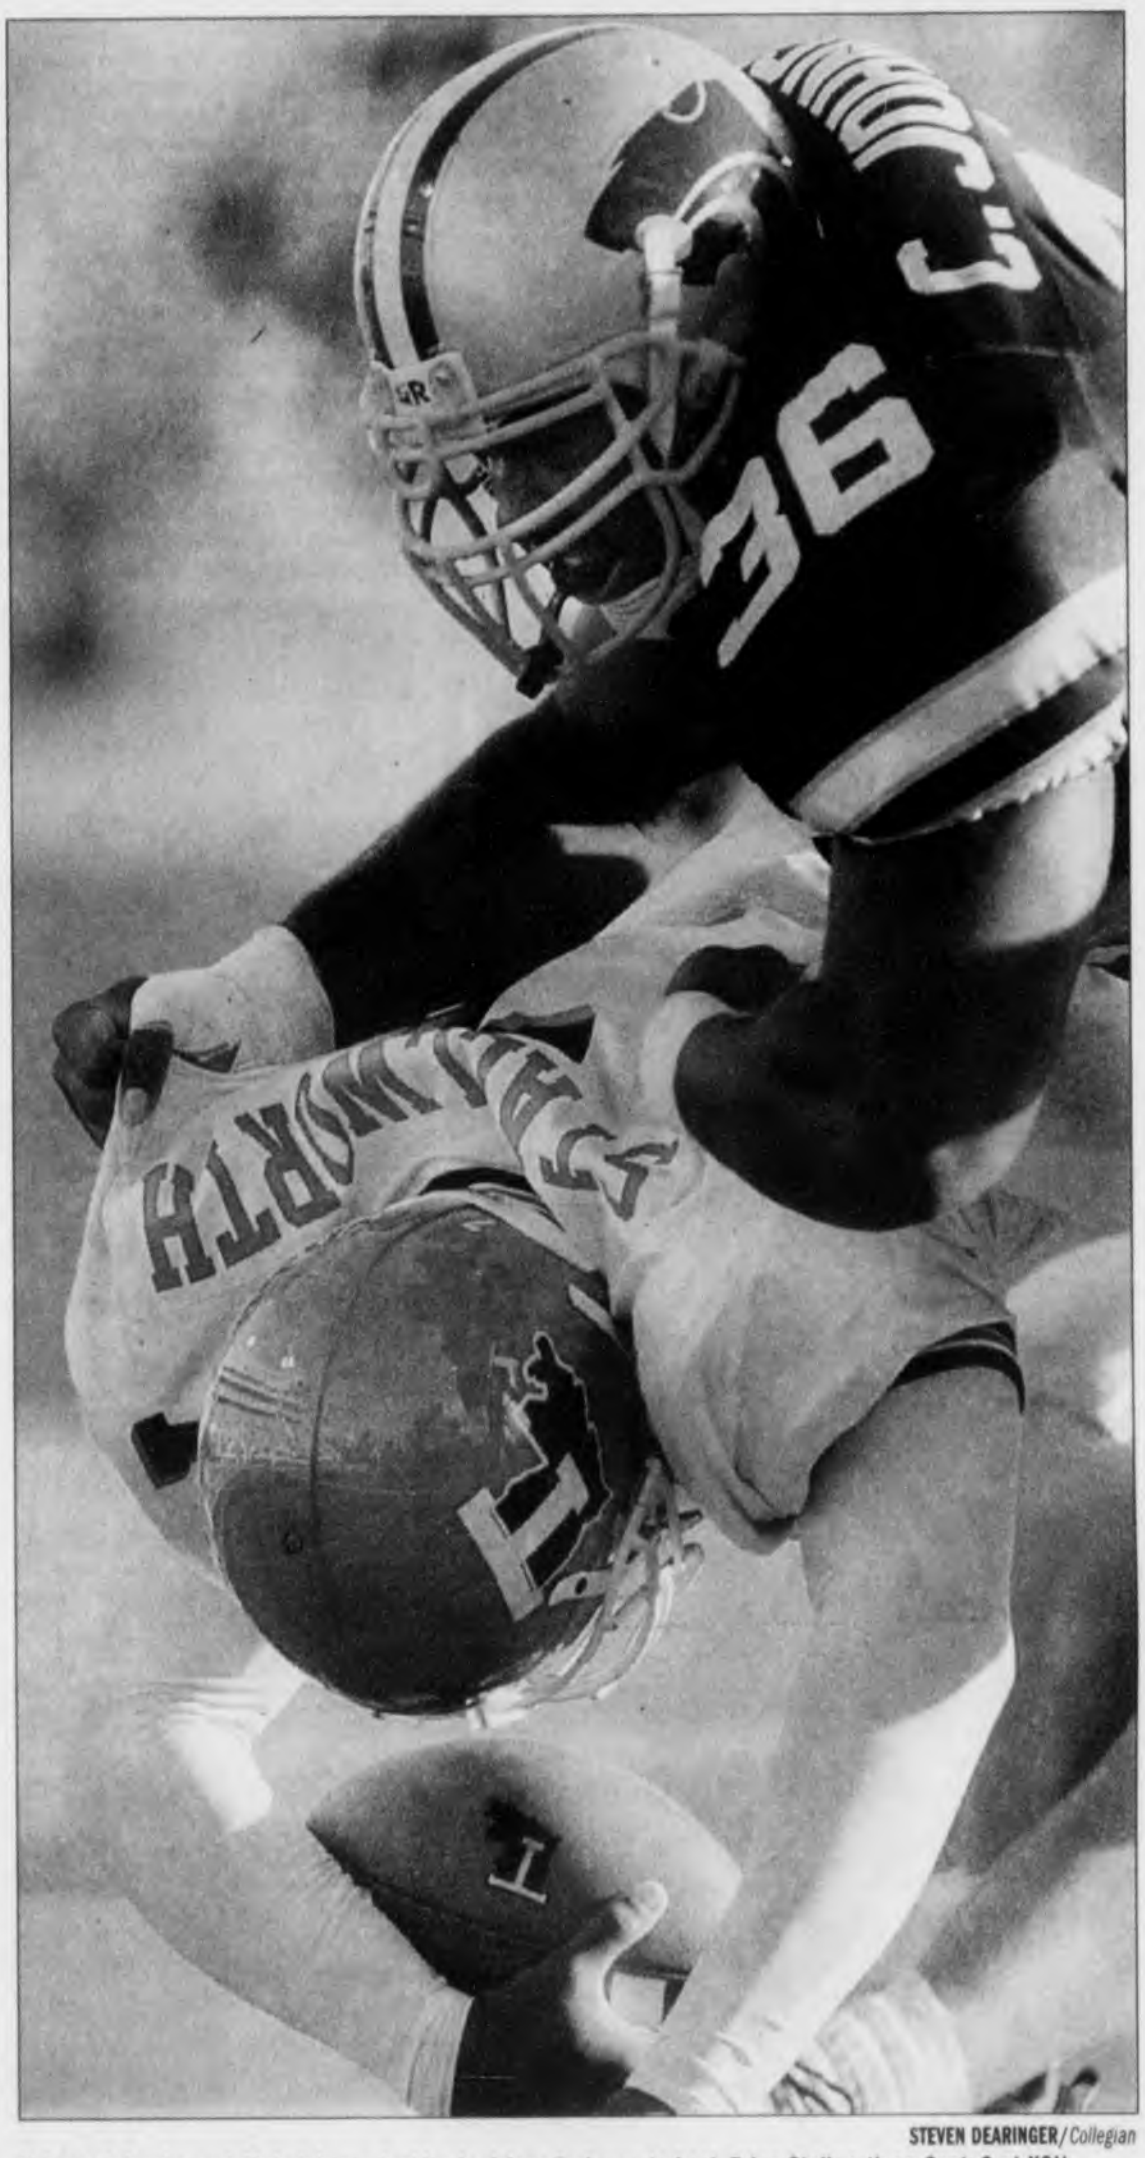
This year, Johnson is in the starting role, and Bob Fello, defensive ends coach, said Johnson has used the pressure to become a better player.

"I've not seen the pressure affect him in a negative way. He sees it more as a motivation," Fello said. "I think Chris Johnson always tries to play to his best ability and play with a lot of effort. He doesn't need to be anyone but himself, 'cause he's pretty good, and as along as he takes care of business on every snap, we'll be OK."

Johnson said he worked hard to make sure his teammates and coaches had complete confidence in him heading into the season.

"I did feel a little pressure this summer," Johnson said. "People were saying 'Mark Simoneau is gone, Lamar Chapman is gone, Darren Howard is gone, so who's going to step it up?' And of course, you want to be that person who steps up. You don't want the fans and coaches thinking you're the weak link."

In turn, middle linebacker Turelle Williams said Johnson lets his play on the field speak for itself.



"Chris Johnson is a leader by example, he doesn't talk that much," Williams said. "I worked out with him the last two summers, and my bench has went up tremendously.

"He makes big plays for us and he puts good pressure on the quarterback. He's just one of those guys you want on your side, and you thank God he's on your team."

Offensive tackle Milford Stephenson is Johnson's friend, and said he has a great attitude on and off the field.

"On the field he's a beast, off the field he's a beast," Stephenson said. "On the field, he does things you wouldn't believe.

"His confidence has definitely improved this year. Now he knows that he can make plays and dominate, and I see it in his eyes in practice — I see it on the field, and I have no doubt, when he's out on the field, he's going to make the play."

STEVEN DEARINGER/Collegian

K-State defensive end Chris Johnson tackles Louisiana Tech quarterback Brian Stallworth on Sept. 2 at KSU Stadium. Johnson has had 2.5 sacks this season.

Wesley adds talent, versatility, options to 3-receiver offensive passing strategy

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

Last year, K-State quarterback Jonathan Beasley had a great receiving combination in Aaron Lockett and Quincy Morgan.

This year, that duo has transformed into a trio with the emergence of senior wide-out Martez Wesley.

The fifth-year senior caught only seven passes last year for 89 yards, but this season, he's already snagged four passes for 101 yards and one touchdown.

Wesley's statistical increase is a credit to his knowledge of the game, head coach Bill Snyder said.

"Martez is a pretty sharp young guy and has a good understanding of what we do, and can play virtually any of the wide receiver positions," Snyder said.

Wesley's sudden appearance as an important cog in the K-State offensive machine amid Lockett and Morgan might surprise some, but not a true student of the K-State offense, Wesley said.

"There's definitely room for another receiver," Wesley said. "This offense has always been built by three receivers."

By having that third viable receiver on the field, the entire offense has improved, Lockett said.

"Anytime you have three receivers that are able to get open," he said, "it kind of opens up the offense, and the defense can't focus on one or two people. Honestly, I don't think me and Quincy have seen too much of any double teams this year.

K-State wide receiver Martez Wesley looks back as he runs for 60 yards on a reception at the Eddie Robinson Classic, setting up a touchdown on the Wildcats' first drive of the game.

FILE PHOTO BY STEVEN DEARINGER/Collegian

"I think that Martez has brought in a part of his game that makes it kind of easy to pass the ball around."

That part of Wesley's game might be hard to describe, but he's still willing to try and define it.

"If I had to pick someone that I would similate my game to, it would have to be (Andre) Rison," Wesley said. "He's not too fast, he makes a lot of big plays, runs good routes and you can depend on him."

Wesley might have stepped up his game, but he's still the third receiver, not one or two. It's not a role he'd pick if he had a choice, but Wesley said he's not complaining.

"You never really can say you like a role like that, but it feels good to be part of a such a caliber team that we have," Wesley said.

See WESLEY on PAGE 2

Snyder focuses on improvement despite Ball State's losing streak

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

The number 18 might raise a difficult topic of conversation for the Ball State football team.

That numeral accounts for the consecutive number of losses for the Cardinals, dating back to Oct. 3, 1998, when Ball State defeated Northern Illinois18-13 in Muncie, Ind.

However, head coach Bill Snyder and the Wildcats won't let the Cardinals' losing streak change their focus in Saturday's ball game, when No. 7 K-State (2-0) meets Ball State (0-2) at KSU Stadium.

Snyder said his focus, as always, is to prepare his team to play at their optimum level.

"If you do, and approach every single ball game that you play exactly that way, regardless of who the opponent is, then you are far more likely of being successful in the long haul," Snyder said.

"Why would you prefer not to play as well as you can on any given day? Basing that on who your opponent is, why would you not prepare yourself as well as you can?"

Snyder said preparation carries over to games later in the season.

"If you prepare yourself well for a non-conference opponent, you are preparing yourself to be better when that time comes that you enter into conference play," he said.

ONLINE
Keep up with the Collegian staff picks at www.kstatecollegian.com.

"In other words, whatever we accomplish in practice today not only helps us for Ball State, but it's going to help us down the road."

Nevertheless, before the Cats look down that road, they must take care of business against the Cardinals, a team that showed heart in their 40-19 season opening loss to Florida, Snyder said.

"If Ball State plays like they did against Florida, they'll be a good football team," he said. "They'll play extremely hard, and I've seen them have the ability to do exactly that."

Despite the Cardinals' losing skid, senior linebacker Jason Kazar said Snyder can relate to what Ball State and head coach Bill Lynch are going through, since the Cat coach encountered much of the same predicament when he arrived in Manhattan in 1989.

"He knows what that's like," Kazar said of Snyder. "He came from that kind of attitude around here. But look what he did to this program, so I'm sure Ball State can do the same thing to their program."

But until then, nationally ranked programs will more than likely receive

See GAME on PAGE 4

SIGNINGS

■ continued from page 1

he wants to be the main target at least a third of the time. The rest of the time, he'll just do his job, Wesley said.

"I like to be considered the third-down guy," Wesley said. "Of course, I want to make a play anytime the opportunity comes, but I just go out there and be a good blocker, be consistent as far as making plays, and whenever my number gets called, I just want to step up and make the play."

Wesley said he doesn't doubt his ability to make those plays. If Lockett and Morgan are covered, defenses had better watch out for No. 89.

"I just want to be that guy, that when they are covered, they can come to me and depend on me, and I'll be able to make that play," Wesley said, "which I know I will."

Wesley's confidence doesn't stop with himself, however. He said the entire receiving corps expects to put up big yards against everybody they face this season.

"I like to be considered the third-down guy."

Martez Wesley, wide-out

That ability to beat any and all opposing defensive backfields largely is due to the K-State secondary, Wesley said.

"Each day we're going against the best DBs in the nation," Wesley said. "I feel when it comes game time — not to speak bad of anyone — but we're not going against that type of caliber of defenders.

"That's what makes a national championship team, being able to play against guys that are just as good as any of them you would face."

The K-State defense is quick to return the praise, however, free safety Jon McGraw said.

"I'd say the same thing," he said. "The defense has a tough job, going up against the kind of receivers we do every day."

Cornerback recovers from injury

By DAN SMITH
Kansas State Collegian

K-State's 54-10 victory against Louisiana Tech on Sept. 2 was more than just another stepping stone for Terence Newman.

In his first game back in the purple and white since recovering from a painful collarbone injury suffered in scrimmage last spring, Newman started in the dime package against the Bulldogs.

Newman played 66 plays, logging five tackles, three of which were unassisted.

Those five tackles weren't the difference between a win or loss for the Wildcats, but for the sophomore cornerback from Salina, it meant something more.

After breaking his collarbone before spring practices were over, Newman, who also is a star athlete on K-State's track and field team, was confused as to what his role might be with the Wildcats in 2000.

Confusion was replaced by excitement Saturday when Newman stepped on the field for the first play.

"When I first came in the game, I had 'bubble guts,'" Newman said of his first start, "but after the first series, I calmed down and let my game come to me."

For the most part, Newman's first significant game experience was a good one.

Defensive coordinator Phil Bennett was content with Newman's performance against Louisiana Tech, but was quick to point out some things he will need to improve on in order to contribute to the team on a regular basis.

"He played well last week in his first game that he played any extent since he's been here," Bennett said. "He needs to improve his tackling. There were some tackles he could have made to get us out of some situations."

NEWMAN

Bennett said he has seen improvement in Newman, especially in his technique, and expects him to continue taking steps towards becoming a better player in the Wildcat secondary.

"He wasted a lot of movement," Bennett said of Newman's technique from a year ago. "He was one of those 4.3 guys that played about 5.3, but he had a good camp, and he got better and better as we went on. He's playing faster every day we practice."

Head coach Bill Snyder praised Newman's performance in the game, but like Bennett, said Newman will have to focus on the tackling aspect.

"Terence played well in the ball game with the exception of some tackling," Snyder said, "but outside of that, I thought he did a nice job."

Newman said he understands that his athletic ability is more than adequate, and said that having to sit out with the collarbone injury was a major reason why his intensity level has risen in practice.

"When I broke my collarbone," Newman said, "it set me back a lot, but this fall I stepped up a little bit, matured and my game developed a lot. I think it made me practice harder and be stronger."

With 0-2 Ball State coming up Saturday night at KSU Stadium, Snyder warned his players of taking the Cardinals lightly.

"If you play this game as a competitive individual," Snyder said, "then you truly want to be the best that you can possibly be."

Hardee's
3116 W. Anderson Ave.
537-0355
-We Deliver
- 59¢ Big Burger
- 89¢ w/ Cheese
- limited time offer
- Quarter lb. burger w/ ketchup, mustard, pickle, onion.

LARGE PEPPERONI $7.99
MAX IT! only $2 more
DINE IN • CARRY OUT • DELIVERED
3303 Anderson Ave.
'BREADEAUX' PIZZA
ORIGINAL FRENCH CRUST
537-5080
VISA MasterCard

New in September
ADOLPH'S NAIL PARLOUR
Hair Care, Waxing & Facials
314-D Tuttle Creek Plaza
537-6016
Moving to Suite C
Credit Cards Accepted
$5 off any service
* over $20
Expires 9-30-00

GET A JUMP ON THE SUN!
2fer special
One month unlimited tanning for two $45
Monthly specials & packages designed especially for you!
SOUTHERN SUN
Candlewood Shopping Center
3232 Kimball • 776-8060

InterKan.Net
Your Web Host Specialist
- Web Hosting
- Web Design
- 56K & ISDN Dial-up
- Business Class ADSL
Contact us about e-Commerce— sales@interkan.net
1106 R Laramie
565-0991
www.interkan.net

Dr.'s Bullock & Hart
Optometrists
$10 Off
Complete Eye Exam
with coupon
Save up to $20
on complete eyeglass or contact lens packages.
Most contact lens fittings done same day. • Glasses also available same day on most prescriptions.
We fill outside prescriptions
1441 Anderson Ave. • Anderson Village • 776-9461
Toll Free 1-800-432-0036 Adjacent to KSU Expires 9/30/00

GO CATS!
776-7788
517 N. 12th
Serving KSU and all of Manhattan
Medium One Topping Pizza
$5.99 plus tax
Make it a large for $2 more
No coupon necessary; no limit.
Please mention special when ordering.
Add $1.00 for Deep Dish.
Additional Toppings Extra
FREE DELIVERY
SUN-THUR 11 A.M.-MIDNIGHT
FRI & SAT 11 A.M.-1 A.M.
K-STATE WILDCAT CARDS
www.dominos.quickorder.com

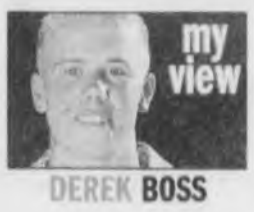
Confettis Party Shop
(in Aggieville)
"BIG PRE-GAME SIDEWALK SALE SATURDAY!!!"
Will Deliver Cakes to On-Campus Students • Care Packages • Balloons for Birthdays/Finals/or Any Occasion
N. Manhattan Ave. • Manhattan • We Accept

Say No to Naked
Come check out our clothes
Krystallos
708 North Manhattan Ave.
Aggieville

K-STATE • K-STATE
GO CATS!
BEAT BALL STATE!
K-STATE • K-STATE

BALLARDS
Say's Purple Get Ready To Roll!!
GAME DAY HEADQUARTERS
T-SHIRTS-SWEATSHIRTS-HATS-JACKETS
CAR FLAGS-DOOR MAGNETS-GLASSWARE
GAME JERSEYS-NIKE T-SHIRTS
KIDS CLOTHING-MEMORABILIA
ITS ALL AT BALLARDS
Ballard's

Strecker-Nelson Gallery
Fine Art and Conservation Framing
New James Munce Etching



Bob's House with Pastoral Accoutrements
Available framed and unframed
Upstairs at 332 Poyntz Avenue, Manhattan, Ks 66502
785-537-2099
www.strecker-nelsongallery.com

2 ONE TOPPING MEDIUM PIZZAS ONLY $10.99
+ TAX & DELIVERY CHARGE IF APPLICABLE

2 ONE TOPPING MEDIUM PIZZAS (carryout only) $10.99 + tax and delivery chg. if applicable
•3RD & MORO 231 MORO / 776-4334
• AGGIEVILLE "A KSU TRADITION SINCE 1960" 1121 MORO / 539-7666
•WESTLOOP 2931 CLAFLIN / 539-7447
Pizza Hut
EXPIRES 9/23/00
•EXTRA TOPPINGS AVAILABLE AT AT MENU PRICE
•NOT VALID WITH ANY OTHER SPECIAL OFFER
•1/20 CENT CASH REDEMPTION VALUE •©PIZZA HUTS OF MANHATTAN 2000

Ball State's losing record should not be overlooked

DEREK BOSS

Two frivolous words — Ball State — don't exactly instill thoughts of intimidation or fear into the hearts of the nation. In fact, they come closer to rendering connotations such as "pansy," "pushover" or the infamous "Ball who?"

Let's just face it: Ball State isn't exactly a college football powerhouse. (OK, OK, it's really pretty pathetic.) In actuality, the Cardinals aren't much of anything when it comes to winning football games. They haven't won one in their past 18 tries.

However, the year 2000 might be a bright one for the Cardinals. No, the Wildcats will stomp them into oblivion Saturday. But maybe, just maybe, this is their year to win a ball game.

I've got to say, they've turned my head this year. Granted, it was only about a quarter of an inch to the left, but hey, that's progress.

But on a serious note, Ball State played pretty tough in its season opener against then-No. 9 Florida on Sept. 2. Sure, the Cardinals lost 40-19 to the nationally ranked Gators, but the score doesn't reflect the whole story.

In fact, Florida only led by two touchdowns in the fourth quarter with Ball State driving. However, the Cardinals lost a fumble inside the Gator 15-yard line, and Florida countered with a 75-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Jesse Palmer to Bo Carroll with four minutes left in regulation.

Ball State also had several highlights against the Gators, including a punt block, a fumble recovery in the end zone for a Cardinal touchdown, and a safety.

All this, mind you, took place in "The Swamp," perhaps one of the toughest road arenas in college football.

After the game, according to University of Florida sports information, Steve Spurrier said a few words about the opposition that struck me.

"We had a lot of sort of bad plays out there tonight," Spurrier said. "We didn't look near as sharp as I thought we would. And I know our fans thought we would. Maybe Ball State is a little better than we thought."

Maybe Ball State is a little better than they thought. Hmm ... why don't you just come out and say you looked past the Cardinals the entire time, Spurrier? It's pretty obvious he and the Gators had better things on their minds.

But don't worry, Wildcat fans. Head coach Bill Snyder and K-State won't make that same mistake this weekend. No, no, my friends. They're too disciplined of a program, and they're sure to avoid letting their No. 7 ranking go to their heads.

Now, granted, the Cats' romp of Ball State on Saturday might inhibit feelings that the Cardinals' might have been a subpar program. But you won't hear that from anyone in a purple uniform.

Nevertheless, who knows? Maybe Ball State will give K-State a little run for its money and bring out the best in Snyder and the Cats. I'm all for it.

Heck, anything to better prepare K-State for the bigger and better games down the road (i.e. Nebraska) would do nothing but solidify the Wildcat program.

So for those of you hoping to leave KSU Stadium by halftime Saturday, your wish might not be at your most undisputable command.

Besides, when you pay $100 for season tickets, you might as well get your money's worth.

Derek is a sophomore in print journalism. You can e-mail him at dboss@collegianmail.com.

ATWOOD rentals
www.atwoodrentals.com
Thomas P. Atwood
Mary Elizabeth Atwood
1927 Ft. Riley Blvd.
Manhattan, Kansas 66502
785/537-2250 FAX: 785/537-2329

BOBBY T'S
#1 Neighborhood Sports Bar in Manhattan
• Friday & Saturday Live Entertainment 9-1
• Saturday Game Day Headquarters
$2 TGIF Munchie Buffet
All you can eat 4:30-7
• Sundays
All Star DJ 9-1
1/2 Price Drinks
3240 Kimball • 537-8383

Wohler's
USED FURNITURE
Furniture, Antiques, Appliances, Miscellaneous
Visit Wohler's for all your furnishing needs!
Hours of operation:
Monday-Friday 10a.m.-6p.m.
Saturday 10 a.m.-5p.m.
539-3119
615 N. 3rd

LONGHORNS
Friday Specials
$1.00 Draws
$2.00 Wells
GO CATS!

Now at 2 Locations
Rose MUFFLER HOUSE
"Our business is exhausting"
Mon.-Fri. 7:30a.m.-5:30p.m.
MUFFLERS & TAILPIPES
DUAL SYSTEMS
AUTOS (American & Foreign)
RVs LIGHT & HEAVY DUTY TRUCKS
CUSTOM PIPE BENDING
COMPLETE BRAKE SERVICE FOR AMERICAN, FOREIGN, & LIGHT TRUCKS
SHOCK ABSORBERS & STRUTS
2329 Sky-Vue Ln.
776-8955 or 1-800-439-8956

Westside Location
1120 Waters St.
Precision Automotive Inc.
537-5050
Go Cats!
Complete Car & Truck Service
& Repair Center
Domestic & Imported
Sun Diagnostic Computer
Mon.-Fri. 7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

Little Caesars
FOOTBALL PARTY PACK!
• 3 PIZZAS 14" LARGE WITH 1 TOPPING
• CRAZY BREAD TWO 8 PIECE ORDERS
$19.99
Expires: 11/1/00
Valid only at participating locations. ©2000 L.C.E., Inc.
GO CATS!
Westloop Shopping Center
539-3333

Rose HOUSE OF TINT
"A Division of Rose Muffler House"
GLASS TINTING SERVICES AVAILABLE FOR YOUR AUTO, HOME OR BUSINESS
DRAWTITE
TRAILER HITCHES - SALES & INSTALLATION
2049 Ft Riley Blvd
537-4247 or 1-888-537-4229
Take advantage of our courtesy van for rides to school and home while your vehicle is being serviced.
Both Locations!
FREE ESTIMATES

THE Palace Cards & Gifts
CARDS & GIFTS FOR ALL OCCASIONS!
Show your support with K-State giftware, partyware and apparel!
COUPON
20% OFF
All K-STATE GIFTWARE AND APPAREL
EXCLUDES ANY ITEMS ALREADY ON SALE!
EXPIRES SEPT. 22, 2000
704 N. Manhattan Ave. • In Aggieville • 539-7654
Mon.-Fri. 8:30-8:30 • Sat. 8:30-5:30 • Sun. 12:00-5:00

WESTLOOP COIN LAUNDRY & CAR WASH
Largest in Manhattan!
Dry Cleaning - Same Day Service
Drop off Laundry
Washing Machines - Full 30 minute cycle Maximum HOT WATER
Dryers
Temperature set to save you money!
CUSTOMER APPRECIATION
Receive a FREE $1.00 car wash with every 3 loads of wash!!
1129 Gardenway 7 a.m.-10 p.m. Every Day!

Varney's BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE
"We Give You Our Best"
THE K-STATE PLACE IN THE MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER
K-STATE TOUCHDOWNS SCORE BIG SAVINGS FOR YOU!
FOR EVERY TOUCHDOWN THE CATS SCORE AGAINST BALL STATE ON SATURDAY, VARNEY'S BOOK STORE & VARNEY'S K-STATE PLACE WILL TAKE 5% OFF THE PRICE OF K-STATE APPAREL AND SOUVENIRS MONDAY ONLY, UP TO 30% OFF!
Hours:
9:00 a.m. - 9:00 p.m. Mon. - Sat.
10:00 a.m. - 7:00 p.m. Game Days
Limited to regular priced in stock merchandise.
Purchases must be made in the store.
Not applicable with other coupons and/or discounts.
GO CATS!!!
VARNEY'S BOOKSTORE
623 N. MANHATTAN AVE.
539-0511
VARNEY'S
K-STATE PLACE
MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER
K-STATERS SERVING K-STATE

1116 Moro St. Aggieville (Only a few blocks south of KSU)
HUNAM EXPRESS
Chinese Food Lover's Choice
20% Off
Lunch & Dinner Buffet
Offer good till 9/30/00
Free Delivery: 537-0886
Hours: Sun. - Thurs. 11 - Midnight; Fri. - Sat. 11 - 2 am

Annual Harley ride scheduled for Oklahoma game, Oct. 14

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

The annual pregame Harley ride, in which scores of motorcycle riders circle KSU Stadium, is scheduled for the Oklahoma game Oct. 14.

Due to the large number of participants over the past couple of years, along with the tremendous interested level and limited pregame time, a new format has been developed to register participants this year.

The format is as follows:

- Those wishing to participate must call 537-9496 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Wednesday or between 9 a.m. and noon Thursday.
- Names will be placed on a list, with priority given to Ahearn Scholarship Fund donors first, season-ticket holders second, and others on a first-come, first-serve basis.
- Riders will have to show their game ticket for entrance to the stadium.
- The total number of motorcyles will be limited to 100.

GAME

■ continued from page 1

criticism for scheduling Ball State, although Snyder said he doesn't agree with that particular association.

"This is the same Ball State team that played the University of Florida, so when you get finished criticizing Florida, then come see me," Snyder said.

Regardless, the process of scheduling all comes down to the individual team.

"The way we schedule may or may not be appropriate for someone else," Snyder said. "Everybody has to look at their own set of circumstances and make decisions based on that."

Defensive coordinator Phil Bennett said he doesn't get caught up in the hype surrounding the strength of schedule.

"A win's a win," he said. "You can ask Florida. They expected to beat 'em worse and it didn't happen."

Lynch will return five of its top-six point scorers from 1999, including tailback Nick Dunbar, placekicker Thomas Pucke, wide-outs David Westbrook and Jermaine Jordan, and tailback Marcus Merriweather.

Offensively, the team's biggest loss arose with the graduation of wide receiver Adrian Reese, who led the team in scoring a year ago.

Yet K-State's defense focus might lie in containing Ball State's quarterback duo of Brian Conn and Talmadge Hill.

While Conn is more of a pocket passer, Hill's athleticism could cause problems for the Wildcats, Snyder said, much as he did Sept. 9 against Western Illinois.

"I was impressed with Hill, the backup quarterback, just in the way he handled the ball game last week," Snyder said, "coming in the second half, and the way he ran the option play. He has good athletic ability."

B[illegible]: said the Wildcats will build their defensive package around both quarterbacks Saturday.

Nevertheless, Wildcat linebacker Turelle Williams is ready to face a running team this weekend, after seeing such a pass-oriented offense like Louisiana Tech.

"I'm ready to do a little smash-mouth hitting," Williams said. "I'm glad that Ball State runs the ball. It'll be good for us."

Defensively, the Cardinals are led by outside linebacker Nate Andrews, who tops the Ball State charts this season in tackles with 16, with seven unassisted.

"Andrews is really a fine player, a really aggressive young fellow," Snyder said. "You'll find him all over the field making plays, so you obviously have to know where he is."

On an injury note, tailback David Allen, strong safety Jarrod Cooper and linebacker Bryan Hickman all will remained sidelined in the Cats' game against the Cardinals.

Saturday will be the first meeting between the Wildcats and Ball State, with kickoff set for 6:10 p.m.

Keep updated at www.kstatecollegian.com

The Tradition Continues...
Family, Fun, & Football
TOUCH DOWN WEEKENDS IN AGGIEVILLE
Join Aggieville's Home Game Celebration
Enjoy K-State's Own Cat Band
Every Home Game Friday Night & Other Live Entertainment.
Cat Kids Zone Saturdays: Children's Activities, Face Painting, Moon Walk, Petting Zoo, Art, Games, Manhattan Arts Center Truck, & More!!
Great Shopping and Dining More than 100 specialty shops.
Special Event Dates: - All Shows 8-11pm
Sept. 15th - Disco Dave, Party in the Cage
Oct. 13th - The Shake
Nov. 10th - Dustin Evans
Starting 2 Hours Before Every Home Game FREE Shuttle Rides To & From the Stadium!
Before & After the Game!
For Updates See Us Online: www.aggieville.org

IT'S TIME TO GET FANATICAL!!!
K-STATE
WATCH THE WILDCATS
CRUSH THE COMPETITION THROUGH THE MOST FANATICAL SUNGLASSES EVER PRODUCED!
• OFFICIALLY LICENSED • SATISFACTION GUARANTEE
• 100 % UV PROTECTION • $19.95 (+ $3.75 SHIPPING)
ORDER ON-LINE OR TOLL - FREE
www.GetFanatical.com 800•750•4141

Most K-State Students

drink moderately, if at all

61% of all K-State students have 0 to 5 drinks when they party.*
1 drink = one bottle of beer, one glass of wine, one wine cooler, or one shot of liquor

Project WELLNESS
Kansas State University
www.ksu.edu/projectwellness

Based on a 1999 campus-wide survey of 1,297 KSU students that was representative of the K-State student population with regard to demographics such as age, GPA, college, class and gender.

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

TODAY'S WEATHER
HIGH 91 ■ LOW 66

MONDAY

3

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sept. 18, 2000 ■ Kansas State University ■ Manhattan, Kan. ■ Volume 105, Number 20

Wildcats inundate Cardinals

■ page 7

EVAN SEMON/Collegian

"The people, united, will never be defeated. The people, united, will never be defeated," Manhattan resident Richard Jones repeated as he led a chant during the Racial/Ethnic Harmony Walk that drew more than 100 participants Sunday afternoon.

Battling INEQUALITY

More than 100 residents, visitors march for racial equality

By NANCY FOSTER
Kansas State Collegian

Richard Jones stepped outside the Racial/Ethnic Harmony Walk Sunday afternoon and began the chant, "The people, united, will never be defeated."

More than 100 participants joined in, all returning the chant. Men, women and children all made their way from Triangle Park in Aggieville to Manhattan Town Center, chanting and singing "We Shall Overcome."

"The struggle is never over," Jones, visiting professor of philosophy, said. "The inequalities in our society still exist."

Jones said it was because of these inequalities that he chose to participate in the Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week kick-off event. He wanted to recognize the issues and the importance of diversity on campus.

"I think issues of racial diversity on this campus are important given the low number of African-American tenured faculty and African-American students," he said.

Issues such as these needed to be recognized, Jones said.

"It's important to express support for the cause of diversity and racial justice in this community and at Kansas State University," John Exdell, professor of philosophy, said, "because I think we have a long way to go to attain those goals and ideals."

Exdell said he has attended many of the Racial/Ethnic Harmony Walks, and they usually send out a positive message about what the nation has achieved.

"This walk is a way of showing that," he said. "What I hope is it can more clearly express is what still needs to be accomplished. There's a lot of good feeling here about the commitment to diversity, but we still need to address the very serious problems that remain."

Exdell said problems of racial profiling in many retail stores and establishments still existed in Manhattan, and that interracial relationships in the Manhattan High School also experience problems.

"On campus we have the problem, which isn't only campus but also nationwide, that minorities are under-represented in the university and in general," Exdell said.

Not only did professors join in the walk, but also Kansas State University Association of Residence Hall members, Jardine Apartment staff and the varsity and junior varsity K-State cheerleading squads.

"We wanted to come because we have a very diverse population, and we just wanted to demonstrate our appreciation of that," Stephanie Banister, Jardine coordinator, said.

After arriving at the mall, Mayor Karen McCulloh; Tom Hawk, acting superintendent of Manhattan/Ogden USD 383; and Ruth Dyer, assistant to the provost, spoke about diversity — what it means to them and why it is important.

"Diversity brings a wonderful richness to the faculty and K-State," Dyer said.

Richness, she said, was defined as several things. Richness involved diversity having the potential to shape who one is. Getting involved with different multicultural groups is one way she and her family have become involved with different people and cultures.

"You must be willing to step outside your comfort zone," she said. "Racial and Ethnic Harmony Week provides a wonderful opportunity to take some chances and get involved in things that will make you look through different lenses."

After Dyer's speech, the cheerleaders led the crowd in a cheer, yelling "Wildcats and harmony go hand in hand."

"We just wanted to show our support for the Racial and Ethnic Harmony Walk," Exdell said.

See HARMONY on PAGE 6

RACIAL/ETHNIC HARMONY WEEK

MONDAY
10 a.m - noon – Diversity workshop, K-State Salina
12:30 -1:30 p.m. – Keynote address: "Profiling, Social Justice and the Legal System," Union Big 12 Room
7 - 9 p.m. – Keynote address: "River of Diversity: A Personal Journey," Union Forum Hall

TUESDAY
12:30 - 1:30 p.m. – Dialogue on Religion: "Hands-On Harmony: Faith Communities Reaching out in Service," Union Courtyard
3:30 - 5 p.m. – Diversity Workshop, 2031 Poyntz
4 - 5:30 p.m. – International "Town Hall" Panel, Union Forum Hall
7 - 8:30 p.m. – Diversity workshop, Union Ballroom

Landlord sued by student

■ Student files lawsuit against Manhattan landlord; landlord files counter-lawsuit in return.

By TANNER EHMKE
Kansas State Collegian

Arindra Zainal says his landlord has earned a reputation around Manhattan — a reputation bad enough to file a lawsuit.

Zainal, graduate student in economics, moved out of his apartment at 913 Humboldt St. last February due to code violations and disagreements with his landlord, Mike Lin. Zainal has since moved to Jardine Terrace Apartments and said he has no intention of moving back to Humboldt Street.

He does, however, intend to get all of his money back from his former landlord in court.

"I've been very fed-up with him," Zainal said. "He is very neglecting. He takes advantage of students."

Zainal refused to pay the rest of the lease after a code inspection of the apartment revealed the door was not weather-tight and the smoke alarm did not work properly. Zainal also accused his landlord for overcharging on utilities.

He also said he believes Lin should be fined for the violations, and he should be able to break the lease.

"It's not about money," Zainal said. "Money is important, but he should be fined because he has done this to many students."

Zainal consulted K-State attorney Diane Urban for help in breaking the lease.

The Kansas Residential Landlord and Tenant Act defines the responsibilities of both landlords and tenants. Larry Hackey of the City of Manhattan Human Resources Department said the act provides two means for tenants to break a lease if the landlord is being negligent: material non-compliance and failure to deliver.

In Zainal's case, the landlord, Mike Lin, is accused of failure to deliver.

See LAWSUIT on PAGE 6

Parents honored at halftime

By NANCY HULL
Kansas State Collegian

Kaytee Miller and Kellee Miller rewarded their parents, Marshall and Sharon Miller, for all the guidance they've given them in life when the family was honored as K-State's Family of the Year at halftime of Saturday's football game.

Kellee, senior in print journalism, and Kaytee, senior in graphic design, wrote the winning essay in this year's K-State Honorary Family Essay Contest, sponsored by Chimes Junior Honor Society.

"It was our way of showing all the good parenting we've had from them," Kellee Miller said. "They've instilled that family is one of the most important aspects of life."

Attending K-State football and basketball games have been an aspect of the Miller's family life for as long as the twins can remember.

"Our friends joke about how we don't have to go home to see our family during football season," Kellee Miller said.

Marshall and Sharon, of Emporia, Kan., both attended K-State, their son, Bryan, graduated from K-State in 1988, and their daughter Kristina graduated from K-State in 1995.

The Miller family members aren't the only ones who are considered part of the honor.

Sharon Miller said that the twins' Alpha Delta Pi sorority sisters have become like part of the family. Miller said the family has become close with the twins' friends

See FAMILY on PAGE 6

Matt Tady, fifth-year senior in criminology, takes a sip of David Wynn Chardonnay with a 1998 vintage during a UFM class Sept. 11. The class sampled 12 different wines from around Australia.

MATT STAMEY/ Collegian

Students taste wine for credit

By NANCY FOSTER
Kansas State Collegian

Anne Shannon swirled her glass of wine and picked it up. Smelling it, she decided to take a sip. She didn't do this just one time or even with just one wine. She did this with each wine she tried, tasting a total of 12 different wines.

"I liked most of them," Shannon, senior in English and French, said. "There were about two or three I didn't like, about three I really liked, and the others I just sort of liked."

Shannon, along with eight others, is enrolled in a class through UFM in which tasting wine is the class assignment.

Each week, the students taste various wines from Australia and New Zealand. In the second out of four sessions, Shannon said she is just beginning to get a feel for the wines she does and doesn't like.

"Most of it's probably better than what I've had, just because I haven't ever had anything that wonderful," she said.

Shannon and her boyfriend, Jon Riekenberg,

See WINE on PAGE 6

Aggieville bar expands to neighboring building

By TRAVIS HOCHARD
Kansas State Collegian

O'Malley's Alley, an Aggieville bar, is expanding into the vacant building next door, formerly Costello's Pizza, and is expected to be complete in a couple of weeks.

The new O'Malley's will be separate from the "Alley," but connected by the patio. This will allow people to hang out in the Alley but also gives them the option to hang out in the larger expansion, which will have booths, pool tables, foosball tables and a dart board, co-owner Billy Porter said.

"It just seemed too easy with a vacant lot next door," Porter said. "This will give people that want to hang out at O'Malley's more room on crowded nights."

The new O'Malley's will serve pizza and sandwiches, including pizza by the slice from 10 p.m. until 2 a.m., Porter said.

One reason for the expansion is that the current O'Malley's is too small to build a kitchen, and they wanted to add food to the menu.

"Overall, the concept will be the same. It will still have a laid-back atmosphere," Porter said.

Some of the things they are working on include painting, downsizing the kitchen, new tile and a new bar, Ryan Sawyer, of Rowdy Trouty's, said.

They are doing all of the work themselves and expect it to take another couple of weeks to complete, Sawyer said. The project is about three weeks in the making, and is being worked on by three individuals, including Porter and Sawyer.

"There is a lot of work that needs to be done between now and when we are ready for business," Mike Trout, co-owner, said.

O'Malley's Alley features a "Party on the Patio" every Thursday night, featuring live bands and drink specials.

CONTACT US

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
532-0729 rdunn@collegianmail.com

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
532-0729 tehmke@collegianmail.com

Steve Dearinger Photo Editor
532-5492 sdearinger@collegianmail.com

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
532-0730 jbarrett@collegianmail.com

Sarah Bahari City & Government Editor
532-0730 sbahari@collegianmail.com

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
532-0732 kdymacek@collegianmail.com

Derek Boss Sports Editor
532-0732 dboss@collegianmail.com

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
532-0732 eschneweis@collegianmail.com

Ken Wells Online Editor
532-6556 kwells@collegianmail.com

Becky Wilson Copy Chief
532-0732 bwilson@collegianmail.com

Sara Martin Design Editor
532-0731 smartin@collegianmail.com

Jim Calvert Ad Manager
532-6560 jmcalvert@collegianmail.com

Alissa Duncan Assistant Ad Manager
532-6560 aduncan@collegianmail.com

Molly Brammer Online Ad Manager
532-6560 mollyb@collegianmail.com

BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Display advertising	532-6560
Classified advertising	532-6555
Delivery Problems	532-6555
Photo Reprints	532-6304

BY MAIL

Kansas State Collegian
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

ON THE WEB

www.kstatecollegian.com

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 2000

City hires new fire chief to take office in October

A new director of Fire Services, effective Oct. 15, was named by City Manager Ron Fehr last week.

Appointee James Woydziak will be a valuable addition to the city of Manhattan, Gary Fees, city manager's program specialist, said.

"He was chosen for his breadth of experience and a proven integrity," he said. "He has very good leadership experience that will be very important to Manhattan."

About 35 people applied for the position, and nine were interviewed, Fees said.

Woydziak's duties will include planning, directing and organizing the activities of fire suppression, prevention, emergency management programs, code services and supportive services, according to the city manager's office. His administrative duties will include recruiting personnel, purchasing equipment, controlling expenditures, preparing the budget and assigning personnel and equipment.

Woydziak now serves as the fire chief in Emporia, Kan. Prior to Emporia, he was the fire chief in Moline, Ill., and served as a training officer in Lawrence.

Woydziak will replace the vacancy left by Larry Reese, who retired June 23. Chuck Tannehill, assistant director of emergency services, has been the acting fire chief.

— Sarah Bahari

CORRECTIONS & CLARIFICATIONS

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Jenn Davoren at 532-6556 or e-mail collegn@ksu.edu.

ON RECORD

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Did you miss the Sept. 12 deadline for changing passwords for K-State computing IDs? Reactivate your ID on the www.ksu.edu/activateID page.

■ Peace Corps will sponsor a film show at 3 p.m. today in Union 207. A representative will be on hand to answer questions. For more information, call 1-800-424-8580.

■ Students interested in becoming McCain Ambassadors can attend an informational meeting at 6 tonight in Bluemont 321.

■ Beta Alpha Psi will meet at 7 tonight in the Union Big 12 Room.

■ Christian Science Organization will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in Danforth Chapel.

■ KSU Aikido will meet at 7 tonight in Aheam 301.

■ Homecare & Hospice is offering volunteer training from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Monday evenings beginning today and continuing Sept. 25, Oct. 2, Oct. 9 and Oct. 16 in the Homecare and Hospice Conference Room, 323 Poyntz Ave. To register, call 537-0688.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Riley County

Thursday, Sept. 14

■ At 9:20 a.m., Christina R. Brown, 912 Gardenway, Apt. 12., was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 10:30 a.m., Trisha R. Essary, Junction City, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $1,500.

■ At 1:40 p.m., Kerry M. Funk, 1632 McCain Lane, was arrested for battery, aggravated burglary and criminal damage to property. Bond was set at $5,000.

■ At 3:05 p.m., Michael W. Phillips, 2215 College Ave., was arrested for contempt of court. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 10:40 p.m., Angelo C. Brunson, 1527 Harry Road, was arrested for failure to appear and obstructing the legal process.

Friday, Sept. 15

■ At 12:01 a.m., Janet Jester, 1220 Centennial Drive, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 12:24 a.m., Brock A. Beran, 2215 College Ave., was issued a notice to appear for unlawful use of a driver's license.

■ At 2:06 a.m., Daniel L. Murphy, 700 Sunset Ave., Apt. 6, was arrested for DUI.

■ At 2:33 a.m., John N. Hennes, 925 Denison Ave., Apt. 8, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 5:05 a.m., Jody L. Robinson, Junction City, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 11:51 a.m., Eric S. Sisco, 2137 Halls Landing, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $193.

■ At 1:04 p.m., Brent V. Schmidt, 244 Summit Ave., Apt. A, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 3:32 p.m., Ernesto Perez, 1510 College Ave., was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 3:40 p.m., Michael S. Martin II, 2430 Greenbriar, Apt. A, was arrested for battery.

■ At 3:59 p.m., Matthew S. Shepherd, 812 Yuma St., was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 4:20 p.m., Richard B. Jackson, Junction City, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $5,000.

■ At 6:25 p.m., Walter P. Wilds, Leonardville, Kan., was arrested for DUI and for driving on a suspended license. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 8:10 p.m., Yun Chieh Chiv, 1601 Hillcrest, Apt. 31, was arrested for battery.

■ At 8:15 p.m., Cecilia Puett, St. Louis, Mo., was issued a notice to appear for transporting an open container.

■ At 9:55 p.m., Dara L. Twaddell, 1504 Harry Road, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 10:49 p.m., Gary A. Gibson, address unavailable, was issued a notice to appear for obstruction of the legal process, resisting arrest and allowing loud and disturbing noise.

■ At 11 p.m., Crissy L. Husted, 821 Osage St., Apt. 4, was arrested for DUI.

Saturday, Sept. 16

■ At 1:28 a.m., Melissa M. Goering, 1114 Bertrand St., Apt. 5, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 1:28 a.m., James R. Broadhurst, 1412 Vista Lane, was issued a notice to appear for furnishing alcohol to minors.

■ At 1:54 a.m., Detimex M. Stanley, Fort Riley, was arrested for disorderly conduct.

■ At 12:05 p.m., Thomas N. Murphy, 1920 Hunsting Ave., was arrested for driving on a suspended license. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 6:08 p.m., Paul G. Ideker, Ryan S. Cummings and Jeffrey B. Severino, 926 Laramie St., were issued notices to appear for open container.

■ At 7:33 p.m., Tyler A. Brooks, 1001 Sunset Ave., was issued a notice to appear for open container.

■ At 10:59 p.m., Pei-Wen Wang, 601 Hillcrest, Apt. Y31, was arrested for battery.

■ At 11:55 p.m., Jaqueline M. Heinen, Ford 840, was arrested for obstruction of the legal process and unlawful use of a non-driver's license.

■ At 11:55 p.m., Jennifer K. Wicklizer, Lenexa, Kan., was arrested for obstruction of the legal process and unlawful use of a non-driver's license.

Sunday, Sept. 17

■ At 12:28 a.m., Darren Y. Alexander, Andrew J. Sweany and Brent J. Jantz, St. Marys, Kan., were issued notices to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 12:35 a.m., Anthony L. Krier, 1807 College Ave., Apt. 7, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 12:50 a.m., Kyle S. Campbell, Westmoreland, Kan., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 12:55 a.m., Adron S. Rohde, Leonardville, Kan., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 1:17 a.m., Isaac T. Balhaun, Salina, Kan., was issued a notice to appear for unlawful use of a non-driver's license.

■ At 1:57 a.m., David A. Davidson, 1700 Hudson Ave., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 2:38 a.m., Colin B. Sorenson, 1010 Osage St., Apt. 1, was issued a notice to appear for allowing loud and disturbing noise.

■ At 2:41 a.m., Matthew D. Lewis, 1534 College Ave., Apt. C9, was issued a notice to appear for allowing loud and disturbing noise.

■ At 3:28 a.m., Carlos E. Sainz, 1613 College Ave., was arrested for DUI.

■ At 5:52 a.m., Leon M. Burnett, 404 Poplar Place, was arrested for DUI and driving on a suspended license.

K-State Police

■ No reports of note were made.

RETIREMENT INSURANCE MUTUAL FUNDS TRUST SERVICES TUITION FINANCING

TIAA-CREF provides financial solutions to last a lifetime.

Call us for a free consultation

Building your assets is one thing. Figuring out how those assets can provide you with a comfortable retirement is quite another.

At TIAA-CREF, we can help you with both. You can count on us not only while you're saving and planning for retirement, but in retirement, too.

Just call us. We'll show you how our flexible range of payout options can meet your retirement goals.

With TIAA-CREF, you benefit from something few other companies can offer: a total commitment to your financial well-being, today and tomorrow.

With TIAA-CREF, you can receive:*
- Cash withdrawals
- Systematic or fixed-period payments
- Interest-only payments
- Lifetime income payments
- A combination of these

Guaranteed by our claims-paying ability

CREF GROWTH ACCOUNT†
26.70%	27.87%	26.60%
1 YEAR AS OF 6/30/00	5 YEARS 6/30/00	SINCE INCEPTION 4/29/94

CREF Growth is one of many CREF variable annuities.

*Note: Availability may depend on your employer's retirement plan provisions contract. Under federal tax law, withdrawals prior to age 59½ may be subject to restrictions, and may also be subject to a 10% additional tax. Additional restrictions also apply to the TIAA Traditional Annuity.

TIAA-CREF® Ensuring the future for those who shape it.™

1.800.842.2776
www.tiaa-cref.org

For more complete information on our securities products, please call 1.800.842.2733, ext. 5509, to request prospectuses. Read them carefully before you invest. 1. Due to current market volatility, our securities products' performance today may be less than shown above. The investment results shown for CREF Growth variable annuity reflects past performance and are not indicative of future rates of return. These returns and the value of the principal you have invested will fluctuate, so the shares you own may be more or less than their original price upon redemption. • TIAA-CREF Individual and Institutional Services, Inc. distributes the CREF and TIAA Real Estate variable annuities. • Teachers Personal Investors Services, Inc. distributes the Personal Annuities variable annuity component, mutual funds and tuition savings agreements. • TIAA and TIAA-CREF Life Insurance Co., New York, NY, issue insurance and annuities. • TIAA-CREF Trust Company, FSB provides trust services. • Investment products are not FDIC insured, may lose value and are not bank guaranteed. © 2000 TIAA-CREF 08/03

Once in a Lifetime
engagements and weddings

Sharing your engagement and wedding announcements in the Collegian the first Friday of every month.

Your engagement and wedding are special moments in your life and the Kansas State Collegian wants to help you share the news with family and friends. This semester you can put your announcement with a picture in the Collegian's "Once in a Lifetime" special section for FREE.

"Once in a Lifetime" runs the first Friday of every month.

To publish your announcement, please complete the form and take it to Student Publications, Kedzie 103 (east of the K-State Student Union). The deadline for getting your announcement in the paper will be the Wednesday preceding the publication date.

To place a FREE engagement or wedding announcement in the Collegian, complete and submit the following form with a vertical photo to Kedzie 103.

Your name_____
Address _____
City, state, zip_____
Telephone number_____
o I wish to place an engagement announcement
o I wish to place a wedding announcement
o I also want to include a photo (must be vertical)
Signature_____

Announcement Information

Announcement Information

Groom's name:_____
Year in school:_____
Major:_____
Bride's name:_____
Year in school:_____
Major:_____
Bride's parents:_____
City/State:_____
Groom's parents:_____
City/State:_____
Wedding date:_____
Location (city/state):_____
include information below for wedding announcements
Wedding Attendants:_____
_____
Other brief details:_____

Tournament raises scholarship money for agriculture

Jake Worcester, student body president and 1999 Agriculture Alumni Board scholarship recipient, sinks a putt as Keith Westervelt, CEO and president of Blueville Nursery, 1985 K-State graduate and sponsor of the tournament, looks on.

EVAN SEMON /Collegian

By SHANNON MARSHALL
Kansas State Collegian

A game of golf, a hearty meal of thick, juicy steaks and a backdrop of clear cobalt sky was reason enough for 18 teams of golfers to display their skills.

K-State's Agriculture Alumni Board sponsored the second annual K-State Agriculture Alumni Classic golf tournament Friday at Rolling Meadows Golf Course in Junction City.

The tournament, which raised money for scholarships through the College of Agriculture, began at 1 p.m. with a shotgun start.

Melanie Mainquist, member of the Ag Alumni Board and chairwoman of the tournament, said getting sponsors for the tournament was not difficult.

"We had an easy time getting sponsors, because they wanted to support K-State and help to get this tournament off the ground," she said.

Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, Collingwood Grain Inc., Downey Ranch, Excel Corp. and Farm Credit Services were just a few of the sponsors present at the tournament.

Kary Nye, a 1997 K-State graduate and representative from the Excel Corp. of Wichita, was playing in the tournament.

"We are donating the steaks to be served at dinner tonight," he said. "This is our second year here to play in the tournament and donate steaks, and we're glad to be here. We do a lot of college recruiting, and we think it's important to be raising money for scholarships."

Jake Worcester, student body president and 1999 Agriculture Alumni Board scholarship recipient, played in the tournament.

"I think the tournament is an excellent example of the commitment that the College of Agriculture and the alums have made to the current students," he said. "As a scholarship recipient, I'm really glad to be out here today."

Willie the Wildcat made an appearance later in the afternoon, and teams were able to have their pictures taken with the K-State mascot.

Loren Kruse, AGR alumni sponsor and 1970 graduate, played in the tournament with three of his fraternity brothers.

"We were in Alpha Gamma Rho together, and it's great to be back here together," he said. "We had such a great time as undergraduates, and we want everyone to have as good of a time as we did, so we're glad to be out here today."

As a result of the 1999 tournament, the Agriculture Alumni Board was able to give five $500 scholarships to agriculture students.

"These awards are given to students who are often right below the GPA cutoff for other scholarships, but are very active in a number of organizations," Mainquist said.

Keith Westervelt, CEO and president of Blueville Nursery and 1985 graduate, was a sponsor of the tournament. He said he is already anticipating next year's tournament.

"We need more players next year," he said. "This is a great opportunity that we're giving students, and we need to increase support next year."

Manhattan residents publicize city, university on Letterman show

By JESSICA PITTS
Kansas State Collegian

Manhattan seemed to be the joke of the night on "The Late Show with David Letterman" Sept. 7 when Mel Chastain was handpicked to be a contestant for the game "Know Your Current Events."

"It was totally by luck the whole way through," said Chastain, director of the Regents Education Community Center. "We got the tickets to the show by chance, and then to be picked as one of the contestants was even more of a fluke."

Chastain said he and his wife, DonnaDee, usually take a vacation to New York City once a year.

"We go mainly to see Broadway shows," Chastain said. "We tried to get tickets to the Letterman show online, but they were booked for months in advance."

They got a lucky break, however, while walking past the Ed Sullivan Theater on their way to a needlepoint shop.

"There was a production assistant for the show standing outside asking random people trivia questions," he said. "If you got the question right and they liked what you said, they gave you tickets."

The Chastains were given a time to come back to pick up their tickets for that evening's taping.

"They use a staggered call-back system so that it is not a huge crowd all at once," Chastain said. "When we went back, there was more production assistants talking to the people in line. He would ask questions, and then if he liked what you said he would pull you to the side. I have no idea what his screening process was."

However, the Chastains think they were pulled to the side because DonnaDee mentioned they were from the Little Apple.

"I think it was the connection the two cites had," Chastain said. "But whatever it was, one thing led to another, and they set us in aisle seats."

Chastain said he never expected to be picked by Letterman to play the game.

"There were several other attractive and interesting people sitting around us," he said. "But, he walked up to us and just started talking."

Chastain picked the "Know your Bill Gates Look-Alikes" category from the game.

"He reads the question and then hands you the card with the answer on it," Chastain said. "The first answer was short but the second one was longer. When it was time for me to read the longer one, he just said 'Good fuck on this one.'"

Chastain won two steak dinners to the restaurant Ben Benson's and a CD of "Late Show" music.

While talking to Chastain, Letterman made a comment or two about Kansas.

"Ladies and gentlemen, how many of you have driven across Kansas?" he asked the audience. "How far along were you when you finally said, 'This son of a bi... is long and flat!'"

Another topic of discussion was the Broadway shows Chastain and his wife were going to attend that weekend.

"I told him that we really wanted tickets to 'Lion King,'" Chastain said. "He laughed and said 'For tonight's show?'"

Chastain was more precise, and said he needed two tickets for the 2 p.m. show on Saturday.

"My wife and I truly intended to go stand in line on Saturday and try our luck with the potluck ticket office because the show was booked so far in advance," Chastain said.

However, Letterman came through, and the Chastains were handed two "Lion King" tickets — eighth-row center.

"I wasn't surprised he could do it," Chastain said, "but was thrilled that he did."

The Chastains said their overall impression of Letterman was a good one.

"I think what you see is what you get," Chastain said. "He is just there having fun, and he is about as natural as he can be."

DonnaDee agreed with her husband.

"I thought he looked good," she said. "He looks just like he does on TV. He makes the show a lot of fun."

DonnaDee said she has gotten a lot of calls from friends about their appearance on the show.

"They call and are all excited because they saw us on the show," she said. "I think it definitely put K-State on the map."

Chastain said that he thought the college has gotten some good publicity out of it, too.

"Last Tuesday, Letterman mentioned the fact that he attended Ball State," Chastain said. "And then he asked who they were playing in football this weekend. Of course, it just happened to be K-State."

The same joke appeared the next night when Letterman mentioned Ball State again.

"He said that the mascot for Ball State was the Cardinal," Chastain said. "And then he asked the audience if they knew what Wildcats do to Cardinals."

Letterman's response: "They eat them!"

"He really is a funny guy," Chastain said. "I had a great time on the show, and I even enjoyed watching him poke fun at Manhattan and Kansas."

AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE
AUTO HOME BUSINESS HEALTH LIFE
Tim Engle
K-State Grad 88
"Call us for your Health and Auto Insurance"
3320 Anderson
539-9200
American Family Mutual Insurance Co. subsidiaries
Home Office Madison, WI 53783-0001
E-Mail tengle@amfam.com

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Fall into Birkenstock®.
Olson's Birkenstock
Aggieville
539-8571
September Sale
Arizona $10.00 off
Nashville $10.00 off
Boston $10.00 off
Birk Hiking Boots $30.00 off
BIRKENSTOCK

Fun for the whole family!
Entertainment throughout both days!
LITTLE APPLE FESTIVAL 2000
Free Admission
Folklife Exhibition & Demonstrators
Crafts Vendors
Chidren's Area
Variety of Food
Juried Art Show
City Park - Manhattan, Kansas
September 23 9 am-6 pm
September 24 10 am-5 pm
Sponsored by Parks and Recreation Department
MANHATTAN KANSAS

There are those who shy away from challenges. And then there are those who travel 9,000 miles looking for them.
Stop by a Peace Corps Information Session and find out about the hundreds of overseas jobs awaiting you!
PEACE CORPS
www.peacecorps.gov
800-424-8580

Kansas State University
INFORMATION TABLE:
10 am – 3 pm • Monday, September 18th
Student Union
FILM SHOW
3 pm • Monday, September 18th
Student Union, Rm. 207
CAREER FAIR:
10 am – 4 pm • Tuesday, September 19th
Bramlage Coliseum

0 to 5
MOST K-STATE STUDENTS HAVE 0-5 DRINKS WHEN THEY PARTY
*Based on a 1999 campus-wide survey of 1,297 KSU students that was representative of the K-State student population with regard to demographics such as age, GPA, college, class and gender. www.ksu.edu/projectwellness
Project WELLNESS
Kansas State University

Students still remain silent about housing

Recently, the university and city have became key figures in the fight against sub-par landlords. As a whole, this pairing can do wonders to improve the housing situation in Manhattan.

Yet there remains another group that needs to step forward — students who are still living in sub-standard housing and remaining silent.

There are reasons why it would be inconvenient to contact the Code Inspection Office for a free housing inspection. It would be inconvenient to be evicted and have to add a housing search to a student's long to-do list. It would be a pain to juggle school, jobs and then have the added stress of awaiting housing repairs or being forced out onto the streets with nowhere to call home.

But the necessity of checking into the complications of sub-standard housing far outweighs any inconvenience.

Students experiencing problems need to contact their landlords. Some landlords do not realize the conditions and will fix the situation as soon as they possibly can. Yet there are other landlords who will avoid the problem at all costs. These are the landlords who will deny their housing has anything wrong with it.

In situations like these, it is important to look for other resources. Call the Code Inspection Office. Look for groups and organizations on campus that will offer assistance.

It is time to take action and realize that sub-standard housing should not exist. The city and university are stepping forward to do their parts, yet silence from students today will not help the housing situation of tomorrow.

▶ OUR VIEW is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
Jenn Davoren News Editor
Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
Sarah Bahari City/Government Editor
Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
Derek Boss Sports Editor
Becky Wilson Copy Chief
Sara Martin Design Editor

CAMPUS fourum 395-4444

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions on topics relevant to the publication.

Help, help, help. Black moths have overtaken Waters Hall.

■

Who does Erin think she is kidding? I have spoken to pretty girls before, and there is nothing there but boobs and make-up.

■

Note to grounds crew: sprinklers are for the grass, not the sidewalks. Thank you.

■

There is nothing like walking out of Umberger 105 and smelling that fresh air. No, wait a minute, that's smoke.

■

If Bill Snyder was actually a good coach, he'd realize that no one is impressed with beating the worst team in the nation 76 to nothing.

■

To anyone who says that K-State ran up the score Saturday on Ball State, I'd just like to say that in the fourth quarter I am pretty sure I saw the waterboy and about three trainers on the field.

I smell a POLITICIAN

'Bureaucrat' brouhaha reveals candidate's failings

TIA TOMS/Collegian

TARYN FORT

I've heard rats are quite prominent in New York City. Being close enough to Washington, D.C., I wonder how much longer the immigration of rats toward the White House arena will take?

I hope, a bit longer then two months, give or take a few days.

Rats are typically thought of as dirty and revolting little creatures.

Rats rip up useful items such as sweaters and bags of tortilla chips.

Rats squeak and never speak, sneaking around the trash bins trying to uproot rot that was placed in the dumpster for a reason.

Rats, possibly due to their love of trash, do not strike me as hygienic.

Anyway, because they are used in lab testing, the creatures are simply too close to the human genome.

Rats, more importantly to this column, also stands for the tail-end of the word bureaucrats, whom George W. Bush is saying will make decisions in regard to senior citizens' health in Al Gore's prescription plan. (That's not a positive connotation for Gore in the least.) Whereas Bush says seniors will have control with his plan.

I find it ironic that Bush and the GOP were accused last week of sending subliminal messages to the public when a flash of the word "rats" was used in a commercial bashing the Gore/Lieberman prescription plan. (Remember this incident when asked the definition of irony — I know I will.)

What a shady way to use airtime.

No, I suppose it is only by coincidence that the rather largely lettered word is blatantly placed over the top of "the Gore prescription plan," only to make the ad more appealing.

Well, now I'm being ironic/sarcastic.

Regardless of whether or not the allegations towards the Republican ticket for presidency are true, I just laughed and laughed when I actually witnessed true idiocy while watching the commercial that has since been taken off the air.

So the word was supposed to make that second of the ad more visually stimulating. But I think that claiming the incident as being bizarre and weird, as Bush did, is just another of his flagrancies.

To top the irony of the situation with a big fat cherry, Bush noted in a response to the allegations, according to the Associated Press, that the word only appears fleetingly for a tiny fraction of a second. If it's played at full speed, it's barely noticeable, particularly if not looking for it.

Of course the viewer is not looking for it.

Bush might as well fall off the stage like his father once did.

He not only calls reporters obscene names on a live mic, but he also relinquishes his own chances at ruling America by making his candidacy domain more of a "ratdom" then a kingdom.

Pure and simple, the man is not fit for the job that Clinton handled quite well on the forefront, although handling a young intern as well, on the floor in front of him.

But let's get into the dirt behind the rat's image.

In this particular commercial, Bush is targeting Gore's prescription plan.

In fact, taking a look at Bush's own, it becomes evident that insurance and drug companies are worshiping him only because his plan leaves millions without coverage and forces senior citizens into HMO's.

Gore's plan provides coverage for all 40 million Medicare beneficiaries. (Focus on the word "all.")

Bush's proposed plan is too expensive anyway, because the budget surplus he expects is primarily due to a massive tax cut that benefits wealthy people.

In politics you get the good and the bad. With Bush, you get the bad and the more bad.

As is characteristic with Bush, he also leaves out a huge majority of details about his Medicare reform plan. Then again, he won't elaborate on anything enough to let Gore take a stab.

Dishing it out is a lot easier than taking a taste of your own medicine.

I am not saying Gore is perfect or every part of his campaign is either, because I'm sure it is not. This is not a perfect world, but the backing behind the Gore brain is what America needs to take it into the 21st century.

Take a real look into the Bush world. (Try www.iknowwhatyoudidintexas.com.)

All I seem to find underneath everything on that planet is a lot of shade.

Taryn is a fifth-year senior in public relations. You can e-mail her at tfort@collgianmail.com

Bush lacks motivation, desire for education

"Let the love of learning rule humanity."

If you enter Hale Library through the main entrance, the one with the ramp and wonderful pillars, you will see this phrase on your left. It's the motto of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society. I'd never really noticed it until a couple of days ago, but, frankly, I like the sound of it. Of course, compassion might be a better ruling emotion, empathy better yet, but at least it beats the love of money so prevalent in today's society.

TERRY WELCH

What I really like about the phrase is that it seems to really capture the idea of what a university should be about — the love of learning. It should not, I put to you, be about punching a ticket in order to get a job. We are supposed to actually learn something here, folks, something that, when we take it into the world, the world gets better. We should embrace the love of learning.

Then what would it say about our commitment to learning, our generation, our country if we choose to elect a president who seems to scoff at the very idea that gaining knowledge should be important? I'm talking, of course, about George W. Bush. Here is a man who had every possible educational advantage laid at his feet and, rather than grasping these opportunities, chose to ignore them.

I should make it clear that I'm not castigating Bush for having received low grades. Gore also received his share of "Gentleman's C's" and, frankly, I believe that there's a by-law in the Phi Kappa Phi charter that would require them not only to reject my application based on my grades, but also to shoot me. To make this about grades would be to miss the point entirely. What I'm talking about is the desire to better oneself by learning more about the world. It is this desire which Bush lacks.

I'm also not just talking about his past academic record. As Harold Bloom put it while being interviewed on C-Span Booknotes, "Bush boasts about getting through Yale without hardly reading any books. And he continues to boast about how little he's read. And, of course, I believe him. I think it's disgusting."

Bush himself has backed this statement up. When asked in a Talk magazine article to name something he wasn't good at, he answered, "Sitting down and reading a 500-page book on public policy or philosophy or something." This is someone we want as president? A guy who needs Cliff's Notes in order to learn about public policy?

There are the clear indicators of inadequacy, of course. Bush has many times shown his inability to master the English language or the vaguest notion of cause/effect logic, saying things such as "Rarely is the question asked, 'Is our children learning?'" and "It's clearly a budget. It's got a lot of numbers in it." But these kind of flubs are merely silly (and hilariously collected on Slate.com's "Bushisms" Web page).

The bigger problem is that he cannot seem to understand what's going on around him. Calling the New York Times' Adam Clymer a "major-league asshole" in front of a microphone he didn't realize was on is a sign of this larger problem. When a reporter asked him in 1998 what his father and he talked about when they weren't talking politics and he answered, "Pussy," is a sign of this larger problem. Ditto the interview with Tucker Carlson in which he used the "f-word" numerous times.

The profanity is not the issue. The point is that none of these statement were in his best interest to make, and yet he made them anyway. He clearly does not understand that there is a time and a place for everything. This does not bode well for his diplomatic abilities.

There are those who would say that genius status is not required to be president, that Bush only needs to get some great advisers to help him through the rough spots. Those people should realize that the man has advisers right now, and they are incapable of keeping him from being stupid.

As college students, we should value learning. If we didn't, why would we spend such vast quantities of money (in parking alone, for Pete's sake,) just to get a piece of paper with Jon Wefald's fake signature on it? If it's simply to get a job, I'll tell you that it won't work. The jobs come to those who learn. That's the way business works. Employers have to find the people who truly know what they're supposed to. At the least, they do not hire a person who cannot keep from cursing repeatedly during a job interview, which, basically, a presidential campaign is.

Let's all hope that when we elect our next president, we at least have the common sense to demand from him the intelligence and intellectual curiosity that we would expect if we were hiring, say, a night manager at the local Stuckey's.

Terry is a senior in English. You can e-mail him at twelch@collegianmail.com

National honor society's K-State chapter inducts 1st members

By BRYAN MURPHY
Kansas State Collegian

Former Landon Lecturer Gen. Richard B. Myers, vice chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington, D.C., was just one of the many attendants for the first-ever induction ceremony for the National Society of Collegiate Scholars.

The Friday-evening ceremony drew officers of the K-State NSCS chapter, distinguished members, K-State graduates and hundreds of new inductees in addition to the vice chairman.

NSCS, founded in 1994 at George Washington University in Washington, D.C., now has 122 chapters nationwide, K-State chapter president Heather Ice said.

"NSCS allows opportunities for personal growth and puts a great emphasis on the value of higher education," Ice said. "We must take advantage of these given opportunities and work together."

Myers, a K-State alumnus as well as the keynote speaker at the event, said induction into NSCS was a great accomplishment.

"You should all be extremely proud of why you're here tonight," Myers said. "I am truly privileged to speak to such a group."

However, academic standing pales in comparison to the true mission of NSCS and its members, Myers said.

"It doesn't deal much with marks on a report card. It's more than that. How you apply those grades and good marks is what's important instead of the grade itself," he said.

Myers said the stars that lie in the NSCS emblem have special significance and represent scholarship, leadership, service and respect.

"Education is continuous and non-ending," he said. "An education like the one K-State provides gives students foundations for becoming successful leaders."

In reference to his personal experience, Myers said his education at K-State and his military career opened many opportunities for him around the world.

However, Myers' main focus was on another star in the emblem, which he called commitment.

"In light of commitment, service is an old endeavor," Myers said. "Commitment requires significant personal investment and a plea to go beyond the call of service. Many students and parents here tonight have that commitment."

Stephen Loflin, executive director of NSCS, spoke to the ceremony's audience about why the society was created.

"There is not enough recognition early for college students that excel," Loflin said. "We want to provide early students with that recognition and encourage them to get involved."

After Loflin's speech, the charter for the K-State NSCS chapter was presented and more than 250 new members were recognized. The ceremony concluded with the induction of distinguished members of the society for the 2000 academic year, which included Myers; Pat Bosco, dean of student life; Thomas Roberts, assistant dean for the College of Engineering; Debra Patterson, K-State women's head basketball coach; and Mayor Karen McCulloh.

Gen. Richard B. Myers, vice chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, was the keynote speaker at the National Society of Collegiate Scholars first induction ceremony for K-State scholars at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Union Ballroom.

EVAN SEMON/ Collegian

The responses of inductees was positive with regard to the ceremony itself and NSCS's themes.

"I like the idea of it. I'm not sure what they offer, but I'm looking forward to getting involved or maybe even becoming an officer. Plus, it's something nice to put on a job application," Mason Rankin, sophomore in secondary education, said.

The first meeting for the new inductees will take place 6 p.m. Sept. 28.

Researchers create 1st vaccine to protect women from genital herpes virus

By DANIEL Q. HANEY
The Associated Press

TORONTO — Researchers have made the first vaccine that protects against genital herpes. But there is a catch: It works only in women and only if they have never had cold sores.

The findings, reported Sunday, are a surprise. Until now, no vaccine has ever been shown to work in one sex but not the other. Experts say this could present unexpected trouble for creating other vaccines for sexually transmitted diseases, such as AIDS.

The results were not the clear home run that the vaccine's developer, SmithKline Beecham, had hoped when it began designing the latest studies a decade ago. Further testing will almost certainly be required for the drug to be approved, assuming that the company keeps working on the product.

Nevertheless, doctors say a vaccine that offers even partial protection against a chronic disease is noteworthy. The only other sexually transmitted disease that can be stopped with a vaccine is hepatitis B.

"I would say the chances are good but not at all certain" that the herpes vaccine will eventually be approved for routine use, said Dr. Spotswood Spruance of the University of Utah, one of those who tested it.

He predicted the vaccine would be given to adolescent girls.

Widespread use of the vaccine this way would probably reduce genital herpes for both sexes, since it would lower the chance of men coming in contact with infected females.

Genital herpes and cold sores result from closely related bugs. Herpes simplex virus type 1, or HSV-1, causes fever blisters on the mouth, while HSV-2 triggers sores on the genitals. Once acquired, both infections last a lifetime.

Both infections grow more common with age. Recent surveys suggest that in the United States, 45 million people ages 12 and older are infected with the genital herpes virus.

Spruance and colleagues reported the results of two major studies of the vaccine at a meeting in Toronto of the American Society for Microbiology. Both were conducted on couples in which one partner had genital herpes but the other did not. The studies involved more than 2,700 people in the United States, Canada, Australia, Italy and New Zealand.

In one of the studies, the partners who were free of genital herpes had never been infected with either HSV-1 nor HSV-2, while the other included those who had HSV-1 but not HSV-2.

During 19 months of follow up, it turned out that the vaccine did nothing to protect men or to protect women who already had HSV-1. However, it was about 75 percent effective in warding off genital herpes sores in women who had never had either form of the virus.

About 3 percent got genital herpes after taking the vaccine, compared with about 11 percent of those receiving dummy shots. Another 3 percent of those getting the vaccine became infected but never developed genital sores.

The researchers said that being infected with HSV-1 probably helps protect people from getting genital herpes, and the vaccine does little to increase this natural barrier.

COUPON CLIPPER
Online Coupons at collegian.ksu.edu

15% OFF Greek Merchandise
Party Favors/ Screen Printing
WILDCAT Spirit
716 N Manhattan Ave.
#776-5461
Featured Fraternity/Sorority
ΑΞΔ/ΠΒΦ
FH/ATΩ
*IN-Stock Items Only
*Discount for featured groups only.
Expiration date Sept. 24, 2000

BEAT THE CLOCK
FRIDAY & SATURDAY NIGHTS
The Time is the Price!
10 p.m. - Midnight 2 Medium one Topping Pizzas
Add $4 for a Specialty Pizza
Gambino's Pizza®
11-11 Sunday-Thursday
11-12 Friday & Saturday
537-9090

PRO Fitness in Aggieville 539-7095
Unlimited Month of Tanning
$19
10% off All Protein Jugs.
EXPIRES Sept. 24, 2000

Best Party Place in Town
Bring this in for a FREE Pepsi
Memory Lanes
The Best of the Old and New
FLASHBACK LOUNGE
Be The Star That You Are!
Karaoke • Cosmic Bowling • Greek Parties
539-2788 Next to the Holidome 539-0371

Mel's Tavern
10% off any Entree
Alcohol & Daily Specials not included
Good through 9/30 *Bring Coupon In!

HUNAM Restaurant & Mongolian BBQ
Sat - Thur
Please present coupon
$1.00 off
Reg. $6.95
1304 Westloop
539-8888
Evening buffet
(not valid with any other offer) • Free Delivery (minimum $9 purchase)

WELCOME BACK STUDENTS • WELCOME BACK STUDENTS • WELCOME BACK STUDENTS
CLASSIQUE HAIR DESIGN
Welcome Back Students
Glenda is Offering
$5 off chemical serivce and
$3 off hair cuts
(Some Conditions Apply) Long Hair Extra
To All New Customers
Call Glenda • 539-2921
Open Mon - Sat 9 am daily, Thurs. Evening by Appointment
1129B Westloop Shopping Center
Behind Waters True Value

Shear Dynamics
Hair & Nail Design
1125 Laramie • Laramie Plaza
In Aggieville
(785) 776-9100
WELCOMES ERICA
Salon Services Offered
acrylic nails, facials, and massages
Salon hours
Mon. - Tues. 9 a.m. - 6 p.m.
Fri. - Sat.
Wed. - Thurs. 9 a.m. - 8 p.m.
Open Mondays and Evenings
25% off these services w/ERICA
• Cuts • Perms • Updo's • Colors •
• Manicures • Pedicures • Waxing •
MasterCard VISA
expires 9-30-00

Little Caesars
MONDAY madness
NEW! 1 BIGIBIG! LARGE PIZZA
14" WITH 1 TOPPING
$5.99
NO LIMIT!
Little Caesars Pizza
Two great pizzas! One low price: Always! Always!
MANHATTAN (Westloop Center) 539-3333

Bobby T's
3240 Kimball Ave. 537-8383
NFL Monday Night Football
During the game 1/2 price appetizers 8-10 p.m.
$2.00 Wells-n-Calls
$1.95 Chili Cheese Dogs
$1.50 Domestic Bottles
Now with 10 T.V.'s
Tuesday
Wildcat Watch Party
Replay of the game 3,5,7, 9
$2.00 Coronas
50¢ Tacos
$1.50 Margaritas
4:30-10 p.m.

Mrs. Clyde's KANSAS STEAKHOUSE
STEAKS SEAFOOD PASTA
Mrs. Clyde's does Pasta too.
Authentic Italian Recipes cooked to order.
Try one of Mrs. Clyde's
Homecooked Pasta Dishes with this coupon.
REDEEM THIS COUPON AT MRS. CLYDE'S
Try one of Mrs. Clyde's Delicious Italian Entrees.
Get $1.50 off the regular price.
$1.50 OFF! $1.50 OFF!
(Not valid with any other specials)
Coupon Expires Oct. 31, 2000
100 BLUEMONT AVE., MANHATTAN
Next to Wal-Mart
Open 6am-10pm daily 537-2650

2 VISTA COMBOS for $4.99
VISTA COMBO
Includes 1/4 lb ALL BEEF VISTA BURGER, Regular Fries & 16 oz Pepsi
Limit one coupon per customer. Not valid in combination with any other offer. Extra charges for cheese and bacon. Valid after 10:30 a.m.
Vista DRIVE IN
537-0100 1911 Tuttle Creek
537-0222 Manhattan Towncenter
Coupon expires Oct. 31, 2000
KSU

COTTONWOOD RACQUET CLUB
3615 CLAFLIN 776-6060
$5 OFF
the stringing of a tennis, racquetball, or badminton racket
Coupon must be presented when racket is brought in.
Expires Oct. 1, 2000
COTTONWOOD RACQUET CLUB

HARMONY

■ continued from page 1

Pat Ryan, yell leader, said. "We wanted to recognize how important it is — even in a small community like Manhattan."

Doug Benson, co-chairman of the Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week planning committee, then played his guitar, playing a variety of music from black, Latino and Mexican cultures. Sheets of music with words to the songs "We Shall Overcome" and "De Colores," were passed out to the audience for all who wanted to sing.

After Benson finished singing and playing his guitar, the events for the rest of the week were announced, and everyone was encouraged to come.

Banister said she hopes people would take advantage of what the week had to offer.

"Hopefully, everyone will take a chance to take a look at what's offered this week," she said, "because the more you can learn and understand the better prepared you are to work with others."

LAWSUIT

■ continued from page 1

problems before I came here," Zainal said.

However, Lin said he feels he has been attacked on all sides when it comes to rental housing in Manhattan. He has filed a countersuit against Zainal for not paying the rent.

"He is simply using the system to find a loophole out of paying his rent," he said. "I don't think that is right."

Lin, who used to own 70-80 properties in Manhattan, has decided to downsize over the years, he said.

"We try so hard to make the housing very nice in this town, and we have been singled out," Lin said. "I don't think that is fair."

Pat Ball, code inspector for the city of Manhattan, said Lin could face legal action for renting out an apartment that was condemned in 1992. Lin asserts the apartment was authorized by the city in a letter to divide the house into four separate units under a "grandfather" clause.

In a related Collegian article that ran Sept. 13, it was noted that a plumber was scheduled to correct a sewage problem at a Lin-owned home at 1031 Kearney St. one week after the occurrence.

However, Lin employee Ryan Black, junior in golf course management, said he corrected the plumbing problem shortly on the following morning with the plumbing firm Powell Brothers.

Lin still supports Mayor Karen McCulloh's proposal for mandatory housing inspections. Providing safe housing for students is a move in a positive direction, Lin said. Yet, the inspections would not affect him, he said, because his properties have always been inspected.

"I have always been positive about being up to code," he said.

Vi Fogerson, a real-estate agent in Manhattan and a friend of Lin's, has known Lin since the early 1970s.

"He's a true supporter of the Manhattan community," she said. "I don't understand why he has been singled out. Nothing has been said about his good properties."

Black said he agrees that Lin has been targeted by the public. Black said he has many good properties and is a respectable landlord.

FAMILY

■ continued from page 1

throughout the years.

"In high school and college, all their friends have known that they are always welcome at our house," Sharon Miller said.

She said that when the family members can't see each other often, they do stay in contact.

"At times, they've been my rationalization," she said. "They've always supported us in what we've done."

She said the essay focused on how the family remains close even though they are far apart in age.

"The people that we are is based on how our parent raised us," Kaytee Miller said.

Kaytee Miller said experiencing college life with her sister has been rewarding.

"We've grown a lot closer in college," she said. "She's definitely my best friend."

Marshall Miller said having the whole family attend K-State has added to his children's positive college experiences.

"Since they all grew up around here, coming here for campus visits was like going home," he said. "I'm thrilled they all came here. It makes K-State more comfortable for them, and it feels like home for all of us."

WINE

■ continued from page 1

senior in computer science, decided to take the class to learn more about wine, an interest they recently developed.

"It is interesting trying stuff you wouldn't normally buy in the store," Riekenberg said.

Shannon, who recently turned 21, said her desire to try wines increased when she turned the legal drinking age.

"I don't like beer or hard liquors," Shannon said. "And it was something I was interested in."

The class provides water, crackers and a bowl in the middle of the table to pour out any unwanted wine.

While sipping Australian wine, the class learned about the different regions of Australia, which part of the region the wine came from and how the region affected the taste.

What goes into the wine, where it comes from and how it is grown are all factors that determine how a wine tastes, said Chad Lohman, co-class instructor and owner of Nespor Wine and Spirits.

"Grape variety is the biggest factor," he said.

Grape variety depends on the region where they are grown, he said. Australia's dry, flat land produces wines with a different flavor, and many varieties of Chardonnay, he said.

With the summer Olympics in Sydney, Australia, Lohman said he expects an increased interest in Australian wine.

"We're seeing it already," he said. "Our Australian section is already full. Companies are wanting to sell me their products, but I just don't have room."

Discussing what foods go well with wines is another topic of discussion in this classroom.

"There's a French theory they tell in Europe," said Scott Benjamin, co-instructor and sales representative for Vintage Marketing Standard Beverage. "Food is never at its best, and wine is never at its best without each other."

Benjamin said he loves the lifestyle he leads — his involvement with wine — and that he's trying to bring others into it.

"I think if more people did this, they'd be happier," Benjamin said.

Lohman said one of his goals is to try to change the attitude that many have about wine — that it's a snobby thing for the rich. What's most important in the class, though, is to teach wine appreciation.

"We don't teach them what wine is good. We teach them how to appreciate it," he said.

Compared to her classes through K-State, Shannon said this one beats the rest.

"You don't get drunk in your average K-State class," she said. "It's pretty fun."

Matt Tady, senior in criminology, said he learned so much by taking the class the first time, he decided to take it again. He said he's not only learned an appreciation, but a skill for picking out the subtle differences in each wine.

"This class just gives me the opportunity to try different wines — things I wouldn't have tried on my own," he said.

LECTURE

NASA's new focus on health and safety for all of humanity

SPACE MEDICINE:
Advancing Healthcare in Today's World

NASA's Chief Health and Medical Officer
ARNAULD NICOGOSSIAN, M.D.

Tuesday, September 19, 2000
7:00 p.m. • Free Admission
K-State • All Faiths Chapel

Sponsored by: BioServe Space Technologies and the George S. Bascom Workshop Series - KSU Cancer Center

Please call (785) 532-6705 for more information.

joe's
Big Monday at Joe's
10¢ Killer Wings 5-9 p.m.
$2.00 Big Bud and Bud Light Draws
"Keep the Cup"
Cowboys vs. Redskins
Tons of Bud Prizes
JOE'S TAP ROOM
Home of The Killer Chicken

1116 Moro St. Aggieville (Only a few blocks south of KSU)
HUNAM EXPRESS
Chinese Food Lover's Choice
20% Off
Lunch & Dinner Buffet
Offer good till 9/30/00
Free Delivery: 537-0886
Hours: Sun. - Thurs. 11 - Midnight; Fri. - Sat. 11 - 2 am

dream it up

Imagine an internship with one of the most exciting companies in the world. Where friendships grow. Opportunities are made. Futures begin. One experience - a thousand reasons why. The Walt Disney World College Program.
Get ready to Dream It Up!

Attend the presentation for more info and to interview.

DATE: 9/25/00
TIME: 5:30pm
LOCATION: K-State Union; Big Twelve Room

Walt Disney World
COLLEGE PROGRAM
wdwcollegeprogram.com

EOE - Drawing Creativity from Diversity - ©Disney

Rockford Fosgate
Punch 100 Z 2
200 Watts

Sale price $99

MTX T-S103
3-10 inch 400 Watt Subs custom plexiglass box

sale price $ 249

587-4646 307 Ft. Riley Blvd
Mon. - Fri. 10-7 Sat. 10-5
AUDIO JUNCTION, INC.
AMERICAN EXPRESS DISCOVER Master Card VISA

Quincy Morgan pulls in the first of his three touchdown catches as Ball State's Jesse Avant gives chase on the 55-yard scoring play in the first quarter. Morgan caught five passes for 143 yards.

JUSTIN HAYWORTH/ Collegian

ON THE OTHER SIDE

Ball State's loss reminiscent of Cats' football past

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

K-State's 76-0 romp over Ball State was a hard game to coach for the Wildcats' Bill Snyder.

"I've been there, and I understand the other side," he said. "That's hard for those other youngsters in that locker room. All they want is just a little bit of light at the end of the tunnel, and it's hard for them to see it that way."

That difficulty is continuing to escalate, as the Cardinals' loss Saturday in front of 46,916 at KSU Stadium extends their winless streak to 20 games.

"Your fans are going to be after you under any circumstances if you don't win or if you have a bad ball game, as took place," Snyder said. "I guess there's a compassionate side of coaching, and I think I'm not alone in that, I think most coaches are probably that way."

That compassion was evident as Snyder paid a visit to the Ball State locker room following the Cats' lopsided victory. He could relate to Cardinal head coach Bill Lynch and the feelings on the opposing sideline.

"I told him I've been where he is," Snyder said. "Our football program has been where his is. I believe that he had a plan that was doable, and I encouraged him to stick with it — I didn't tell him anything he didn't know."

That encouragement was directed to Lynch's team as well.

"I told his players I appreciated the fact that I didn't see — and I paid attention to it — I didn't see anybody out there that tried to give up.

"They will break their streak, and eventually that program will become a good program again, and as I said, I've been there."

However, Snyder is far from there now. In fact, K-State (3-0) is the No. 4 team in the nation, according to the AP poll.

In addition, the squad's 76 points against Ball State (0-3) is the highest total in Wildcat football history, dating back to a 75-5 drubbing of Drury on Oct. 17, 1910, under then-head coach Mike Ahearn.

"I thought we were a good football team tonight," Snyder said. "I thought we played well in the first half of the ball game, and I was pleased that our two's and three's and four's played well for the most part in the second half.

"Collectively, I think we were a better football team tonight than we have been at any time during the course of the season, so we are making some improvement."

Yet, Snyder said the Cats' 76-point margin of victory doesn't indicate that his team sits a certain level above Ball State.

"We were not that much better than that football team," he said. "We did play well tonight, and I wanted (Lynch's) team to know that they played an awfully good football team."

And play a good team they did.

K-State, for the second consecutive game, racked up more than 500 yards of total offense, with 343 of those yards coming in the first half alone.

"We're heading in the right direction,"

See FOOTBALL on PAGE 10

POINTS BY QUARTER

Ball St.	0	0	0	0	0
K-State	34	14	21	7	76

First quarter
K-State – Morgan 55 pass from Beasley (Johnson kick failed), 13:05
K-State – Beasley 8 run (Beasley rush), 12:40
K-State – Lockett 83 punt return (Johnson kick failed), 9:59
K-State – Morgan 66 pass from Beasley (Brite kick), 6:46
K-State – Scobey 4 run (Brite kick), 3:31
Second quarter
K-State – Morgan 8 pass from Roberson (Brite kick), 6:34
K-State – Jackson 4 run (Brite kick), 1:47
Third quarter
K-State – Scobey 2 run (Brite kick), 11:46
K-State – Cartwright 10 run (Altvater kick), 7:39
K-State – Cartwright 7 run (Altvater kick), 3:14
Fourth quarter
K-State – Washington 1 run (Altvater kick), 11:28

ATTENDANCE: 46,916

TEAM STATISTICS	Ball St.	K-State
First downs	5	27
Rushes-yards	45-46	57-322
Passing yards	5	192
Comp-Att-Int	1-8-2	8-12-0
Total plays-yards	53-51	69-514
Return yards	103	140
Punts-avg.	11-35.4	2-40.0
Fumbles-lost	2-1	1-0
Penalties-yards	8-63	7-50
Sacks by-yards	0-0	5-34
Time of possession	29:57	30:03

INDIVIDUAL STATISTICS

Rushing – Ball St., Merriweather 14-44, Hill 2-15, Jones 12-13, Teeters 10-11, Team 1-(minus 1), Conn 6-(minus 36). K-State, Scobey 14-81, Jackson 7-68, Beasley 3-38, Roberson 6-37, Morris 8-25, Claybon 4-20, Cartwright 2-17, Hoheisel 2-16, Washington 4-13, Milne 1-5, Burton 5-3, Team 1-(minus 1).

Passing – Ball St., Hill 1-5-1-5, Conn 0-3-1-0. K-State, Beasley 5-6-0-146, Roberson 3-6-0-46.

Receiving – Ball St., Cottee 1-5. K-State, Morgan

COACHES	ASSOCIATED PRESS
1. Nebraska	1. Nebraska
2. Florida State	2. Florida St.
3. Florida	3. Florida
4. Virginia Tech	4. K-State
5. K-State	5. Virginia Tech
6. Wisconsin	6. UCLA
7. Washington	7. Wisconsin
8. UCLA	8. Washington
9. Southern California	9. Southern California
10. Michigan	10. Michigan
11. Clemson	11. Clemson
12. Ohio State	12. Miami
13. Tennessee	13. Tennessee
14. Miami	14. Ohio State
15. Texas	15. Texas
16. Oklahoma	16. Notre Dame
17. Illinois	17. Oklahoma
18. Notre Dame	18. TCU
19. TCU	19. Illinois
20. Michigan State	20. Auburn
21. Purdue	21. Purdue
22. Auburn	22. Southern Mississippi
23. Southern Mississippi	23. Michigan State
24. Georgia	24. Georgia
25. Mississippi State	25. Mississippi State

Morgan moving up

Senior wide receiver Quincy Morgan's 55-yard, 66-yard and 8-yard touchdown receptions against Ball State tie him with four Wildcats for most TD receptions in a game. He also moved into a tie for second place with Darnell McDonald with 15 career touchdown receptions.

Lockett goes the distance

With his 83-yard punt return for a touchdown in the first quarter, junior Aaron Lockett became just the second Wildcat in the past three seasons to return back-to-back punts for touchdowns. David Allen had back-to-back touchdown returns in 1998 and 1999 (Iowa State and Texas). This season, Lockett's 37.6-yard return average leads the Big 12 Conference.

Early scoring success

With 34 points in the first quarter, the Wildcats posted the second-most points in a quarter in school history. K-State also tallied 34 points against Northern Illinois on Sept. 12, 1998, and the total is second only to 35 points set Nov. 20, 1999, against Missouri. The Cats' 48 points in the first half was also the second most points scored in a half in program history, behind the 59 points against Northern Illinois in '98.

Fatafehi hits the books

Senior defensive tackle Mario Fatafehi tied the school record books for most sacks in a game, registering three in the first half against Ball State. That record is shared among five Wildcats, most recently, Darren Howard, who nabbed three sacks in last year's Culligan Holiday Bowl.

Shattering records

K-State set the school record for most touchdowns in a game with 11 against the Cardinals, as well as most points in a game with 76 (one point off the Big 12 record set by Nebraska versus Iowa State in 1997).

Sack stats

The Wildcats' offensive line has yet to allow a sack this season, while the defense has sacked the opponent 14 times.

Injury update

■ Chris Claybon exited Saturday's game after the first offensive series, but fellow tailback Josh Scobey assured media Claybon is OK. "He's 100-percent healthy, but we just want to keep everyone healthy for our Big 12 opening up, and he just kind of relaxed tonight."
■ Place kicker Jamie Rheem took the night off against Ball State, but Snyder said his injury isn't serious. "Jamie has some muscle soreness that we're trying to work through right now, and he could have kicked, but I felt it was best to hold him out and give him some more rest time," Snyder said.
■ Tailback David Allen, strong safety Jarrod Cooper and linebacker Bryan Hickman were not in uniform for the Cats' contest with the Cardinals and remain on the injured list.

— compiled by Derek Boss

K-State linebacker Turelle Williams celebrates after recovering a fumble Saturday during the first quarter of the game against Ball State at KSU Stadium. The recovery set up the second touchdown in the 76-0 win.

STEVEN DEARINGER/ Collegian

K-State defense keeps Ball State to 1 yard/play

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

Head coach Bill Snyder admitted the defense couldn't have done much more against Ball State.

"I think we played extremely well on defense," he said. "They haven't been a great offensive football team, but they moved the ball a little bit on Florida and they scored some points, so our defense played pretty well."

In fact, the Cardinals scored 19 points on the Gators in their Sept. 2 season opener and were within two touchdowns of the lead at the four-minute mark of the fourth quarter.

However, K-State's defense nabbed a shutout against Ball State on Saturday, while holding the Cardinals to a total of five first downs and just a 1.0-yard-per-play average.

"Fifty-one yards on 53 snaps. I can live with that," K-State defensive coordinator Phil Bennett said.

That was all the Ball State offense could muster against the Cats. Of the Cardinals 15 offensive possessions, 12 resulted in three-and-outs.

"They never gave us anything all night defensively," Ball State head coach Bill Lynch said. "They really played great defense. At some point, we tried to run the ball to keep their offense off the field and keep the clock running — we couldn't do that."

The Cardinals couldn't do much right on Saturday against

See DEFENSE on PAGE 10

Roberson sees sees time on field, gains experience

By DAN SMITH
Kansas State Collegian

Even before the Wildcat offense could pin 34 points on Ball State in the first quarter Saturday, there was a question lingering on the minds of most K-State fans'.

It wasn't whether or not they would see freshman quarterback Eli Roberson, but rather, when the Baytown, Texas, phenom would appear.

That question was answered early in the second quarter at KSU Stadium when, with 12:04 left to play in the half, Roberson huddled with the first-team offensive unit on the sideline before coming out to replace senior Jonathan Beasley at quarterback.

After a 15-yard Ball State punt went out of bounds at the K-State 41, junior tailback Josh Scobey took the ball to the 50 on first down. On the next play, Roberson rolled out and aimed for junior receiver Aaron Lockett on the left side of the Ball State coverage, but the pass sailed high over Lockett's head.

"I just wanted to get the ball there," Roberson said of the errant pass. "I was kind of anxious, and I overthrew it. That just comes with lack of experience."

Roberson's next attempt came three plays later, looking for senior wide-out Quincy Morgan on the right side, but the pass again fluttered incomplete over Morgan.

Roberson later fired a bullet to senior Martez Wesley for 17 yards to the Ball State 12 for his first completion of the game and the first of his Wildcat career.

Two plays later, Roberson took the snap from the 8-yard line, rolled right and found Morgan standing in the end zone for his first collegiate touchdown pass.

"It was a great pass," Morgan said. "He's a good player, and he's going to make the plays."

Roberson admits he was nervous about playing in front of the K-State crowd for only the second time, but added that he gained confidence after his first completion.

"I was a little bit nervous," Roberson said. "I am human, but after I got that first pass out of the way, I felt pretty good."

Roberson finished the day with 46 yards on 3-for-6 passing, including a touchdown, before giving way to junior Jeremy Milne late in the third quarter.

Head coach Bill Snyder praised Roberson's performance against the Cardinals.

"He was a better quarterback tonight," Snyder said. "He's made some improvements, and his game management is vastly improved."

STEVEN DEARINGER/ Collegian

K-State quarterback Eli Roberson looks to the back of the end zone at his receiver as he rolls right Saturday at KSU Stadium. Roberson overthrew the ball.

EGOMANIAC

EVAN SEMON/ Collegian

John Evans, lead singer for Egomaniacs, performs at the 14th annual Opus Band Competition that took place in the Union Plaza. The Union Program Council awarded a first-place prize of $400 to Cassiopia, second place to Egomaniacs and third place to Orange. Other bands that participated were Elemental, Flicker, Fly Box and Arein.

AIDS medication approved

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Patients with the AIDS virus are about to get a new option that may help those who have failed standard therapy: a drug called Kaletra.

The Food and Drug Administration approved Kaletra late Friday, for use by adults as well as HIV-infected infants and children who are older than 6 months of age.

Kaletra is one of a class of AIDS drugs called protease inhibitors. But early evidence suggests it may work a little differently than its competitors — allowing higher HIV-fighting levels of drug to circulate in the blood system than other medicines do.

"This is all still a little theoretical," said Dr. Heidi Jolson, the FDA's AIDS chief.

But in studies of patients who had failed other protease inhibitor treatment, enough saw their HIV levels dramatically drop — presumably because of this effect — to persuade the FDA to speedily approve Kaletra's sale.

Scientists with manufacturer Abbott Laboratories said in one study about 70 percent of such protease-failed patients improved on Kaletra, although Jolson cautioned that those patients also took another relatively new pill, so it's unclear if Kaletra should get all the credit.

Abbott said the prescription-only medicine — available in capsules or liquid taken twice a day as part of a cocktail of standard AIDS drugs — should be on pharmacy shelves around the end of next week.

Kaletra is a combination of a new chemical called lopinavir plus a small dose of Abbott's older AIDS drug Norvir. The company mixed the two because together they produce what co-inventor Dale Kempf calls a "great drug reaction" — The Norvir increases blood levels of lopinavir.

Abbott calls that Kaletra's key, contending the drug can get to higher levels in the body than other protease inhibitors without causing more side effects than a standard dose would.

But Kaletra does cause side effects, Jolson stressed. It comes with a long list of drugs that physicians cannot prescribe together with Kaletra because the interactions are dangerous, she said.

About 10 percent of Kaletra users had significant rises in cholesterol and triglyceride levels, she said. About 1 percent suffered pancreatitis. Other side effects were typical for AIDS drugs, including diarrhea, fatigue and nausea.

MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL
$1 domestic draws
LOUIE'S OUT OF BOUNDS SPORTS BAR & GRILL
Every Monday & Thursday
10¢ wings
5 – 9 p.m.
Open for lunch every Thursday, Friday, & Saturday
Mon. - Wed. 5 p.m. - 2 a.m.
Thurs. - Sat. 11a.m. - 2 a.m.
Sun. 9 p.m. - 2 a.m.
1129 Laramie • 537-4045

Want to learn a foreign language?
Arabic • Spanish • Chinese • Russian • Port • Korean • German
The International Student Center is sponsoring a basic language training program, a six week, noncredit course to teach the basics of foreign language. Classes meet 2 nights a week beginning 9/25 and are taught by native speakers. The cost is $25.
For more information contact: The International Student Center at 532-6448 or e-mail at intlstucenter@ksu.edu

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
Limited Delivery Area
1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center

5 HUGE MOUNTAINS!
16th ANNUAL ski Steamboat
NATIONAL COLLEGE WEEK
Complete College Ski Package from only $189
(1-888-754-8447)
1-88U-SKITHIS
For more info www.Uskithis.com

Sick children need your help now!
Donate your life-saving blood plasma & receive
$25 TODAY
(for approx. 2 hours of your time)
Call or stop by:
Nabi Biomedical Center,
1130 Gardenway, Manhattan
785-776-9177
Fees & donation time may vary. Call for details.
www.nabi.com

House Plants
Large Selection
$3.99 - $10.99
Horticultural Services
Garden Center
30th Year
M-Sat 9-6
Sun 12-6
776-5764
2 mi E. of Manhattan on Hwy. 24

"Best Deal in the Ville"
• $50 Relaxer with Haircut
• $50 Lowlights with Haircut
• Receive 2 stamps on your frequency card with each single visit
Expires September 30, 2000
CRIMPERS HAIR STUDIO
"where the style makes you not breaks you"
717 N. 11th St. 539-7621

GAMMA
Don't miss the first meeting of the semester!
Tuesday, September 19
6:00 p.m.
Union Room 213

Bring it.

Where it matters most.

As one of the world's leading diversified technology companies, we're breaking new ground in everything from defense and commercial electronics, and business aviation and special mission aircraft. As a Raytheon employee, you'll contribute to the development of exciting, revolutionary technology designed to make life better, easier, and safer throughout the world. Such as our STARS air traffic control system. And our award-winning NightSight™ technology.

But it all starts with you. Your creativity. Your knowledge and innovation. And enthusiasm about the future. In return, we offer exceptional training and professional development opportunities. A supportive, down-to-earth work environment. And incredible benefits including flexible schedules designed to respect your quality of life.

So you can still show off all those great qualities of yours outside of work, too.

We have a lot to tell you about Raytheon and the exciting opportunities we have available. Plan on visiting our booth at your college career fair. If you are unable to attend the fair, please e-mail your resume to: resume@rayjobs.com (ASCII text only; no attachments), or mail to: Raytheon Company, Attn: National Staffing Data Center, P.O. Box 660246, MS-201, Dallas, TX 75266. U.S. Citizenship may be required. We are an equal opportunity employer.

Opportunities are available for exceptional students with the following majors:

- Computer Science
- Computer Engineering
- Electrical Engineering
- Mechanical Engineering
- Math
- Physics
- Chemical Engineering
- Aeronautical Engineering
- Finance/Accounting
- Human Resources
- Industrial and Labor Relations
- Marketing/Communications
- Management

Check out our Website at www.rayjobs.com/campus for further information including a calendar of recruiting events. At Raytheon, we strive to be the employer of choice for a diverse workforce by attracting, retaining, and recognizing the most talented, resourceful and creative people.

Bringing technology to the edge

Raytheon

Cryptoquip & Crossword presented by: 1219 Moro Aggieville JAVA (785) 587-8888

FOR RELEASE MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 2000

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Bypass with the remote
4 Chancellorsville general
9 Peregrinate
12 Night bird
13 Suspension of breathing
14 Flamenco cheer
15 Residents of Washington's capital
17 Felon's flight
18 Golfer Ernie
19 Sound stage, e.g.
21 Hound type
24 Some sushi
25 New Haven student
26 Crafty
28 Freeway exits
31 Big name in scat
33 Anvil locale
35 Cleo's waterway
36 Course-plotting sci.
38 Corral
40 Perfect score
41 Gouda's cousin
43 1935 Astaire flick
45 Corrida figure
47 Terrorist's weapon
48 "There — tide ..."
49 Mycenaean period
54 Bygone days, in bygone days
55 Tag
56 Journal
57 Kanga's kid
58 Leave out speech sounds
59 London forecast

DOWN
1 Menagerie
2 Piercing tool
3 Thickness
4 Trump's ex
5 Letter
6 Literary collection
7 Thick
8 Spring break
9 "The Vicar of Wakefield" author
10 Jai —
11 Showroom car
16 French possessive
20 — Bator
21 Existed
22 Actress Nazimova
23 1985 Western starring two Kevins
27 Shrill bark
29 Entreaty
30 Faxed
32 Helper
34 Put back on key
37 Render unintelligible
39 Hose enc
42 Aesopian lesson
44 Chart format
45 Layer
46 Christiani now
50 Kimono belt
51 Politico Landon
52 Sticky stuff
53 Early bird?

Solution time: 21 mins.

M	A	R	■	C	S	A	■	M	E	T	A	L
A	B	E	■	A	N	N	■	A	R	O	S	E
J	O	N	■	T	I	G	H	T	R	O	P	E
O	D	E	■	S	P	R	E	E	■	■	■	■
R	E	E	D	■	E	Y	E	■	T	I	E	R
■	■	■	E	E	R	■	D	R	U	D	G	E
S	A	L	E	M	■	■	A	F	O	O	T	■
E	X	O	D	U	S	■	S	E	T	■	■	■
W	E	B	S	■	L	O	P	■	S	W	A	G
■	■	■	S	O	F	I	A	■	O	B	I	■
T	I	G	H	T	W	A	D	S	■	M	I	G
A	R	O	M	A	■	G	E	T	■	A	D	O
P	A	N	S	Y	■	E	R	A	■	N	E	T

Saturday's answer 9-18

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch tone/rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-18 CRYPTOQUIP

U P B E C V A E D R P C U B R K B D C Y W A X F V W I E H C K E P W F P B Y B C P R " I B N W E P B E E C N X .

Saturday's Cryptoquip: IF FOUR BROTHER SHOULD ALL CHIP IN TO BUY A YACHT, IT'D B A RELATION SHIP.

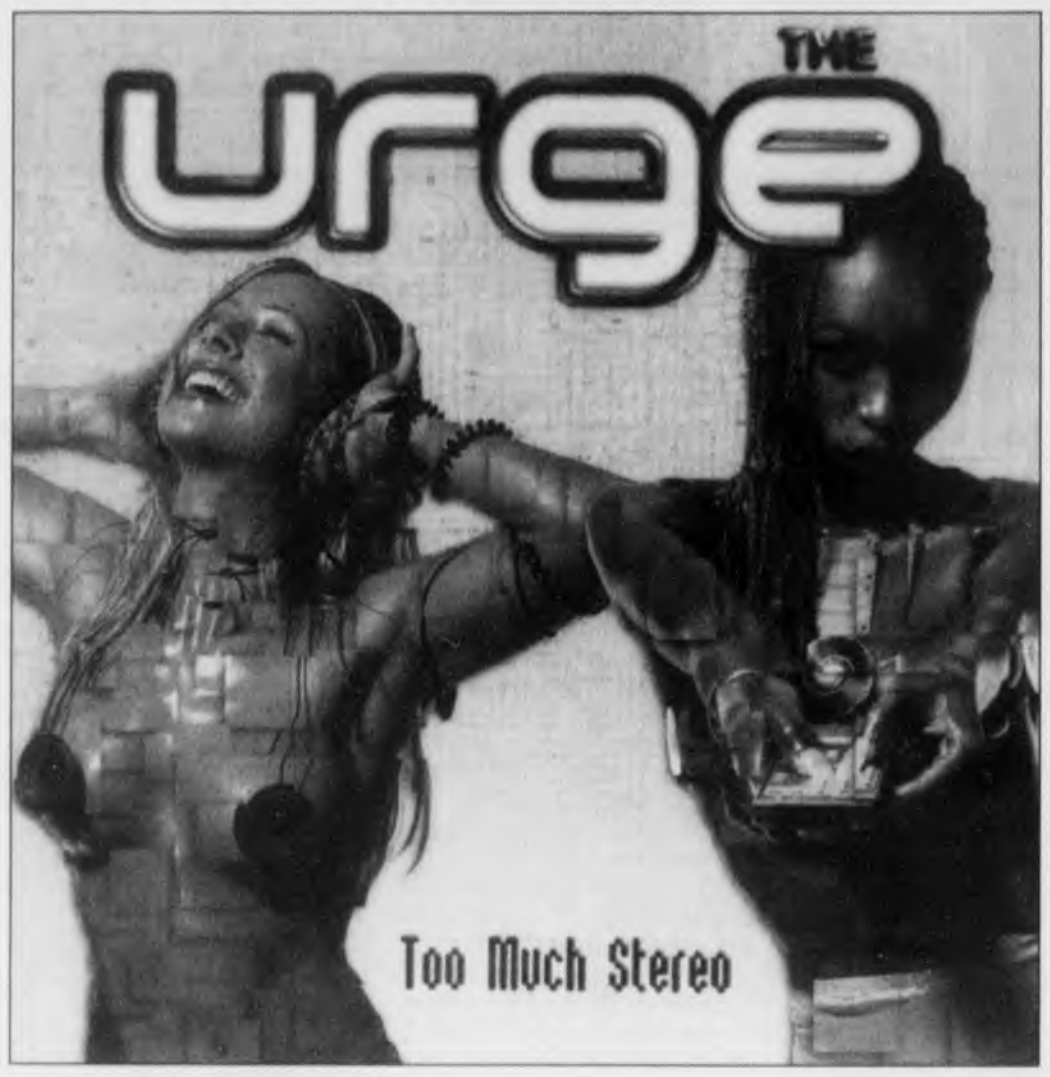
Today's Cryptoquip Clue: C equals O

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands fo another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout th puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostroph

NEW RELEASES

MOVIES



"Fallen Angel"
"Passion of Mind"
"28 Days"
"High Fidelity"
"Ready to Rumble"
"Color of Paradise"
"Jesus' Son"
"Alien Visitor"
"Map of the World"

MUSIC

Madonna — "Music"
Willie Nelson — "Milk Cow Blues"
Fastball — "The Harsh Light of Day"
Bjork — "Selmasongs: Dancer in the Dark"
Barbra Streisand — "Timeless: Live From the MGM Grand"
The Go-Betweens — "Friends of Rachel Worth"
Fuel — "Something Like Human"

Urge reaching spotlight

By JENN DAVOREN
Kansas State Collegian

Give me one good reason The Urge is not a household name.

I warn you, it's going to be hard to convince me — I'm a 311 fan. I live for the loud stuff. But seriously — when I first heard of the band's upcoming Manhattan concert, why was I the only person in the K-State Student Union to squeal like a 12-year-old teenybopper with a Tiger Beat mini-poster?

MORE INFO?
See Tuesday's Collegian for details on the band's upcoming concert at Silverado Saloon.

Average radio listeners, subjected to recycled Britney/Christina tracks courtesy of every station in the tri-state area, were probably introduced to The Urge through 1995's "Receiving the Gift of Flavor." Anyone remember the "Brainless" T-shirts? No? How about 1998's "Master of Styles," when those same stations played "Jump Right In" every hour on the hour? Few people do, unfortunately.

Well, Urge virgins, try the group's seventh CD on for size. "Too Much Stereo," which hit shelves in mid-July, is picking up some airtime these days, and could — make that should — propel the band into the shiny spotlight they deserve.

Slapping a label on this band isn't easy, and that's probably the group's greatest asset. This self-described ska/funk/punk act out of St. Louis MO. cannot be thrown on any one shelf of a record store, as employees of Hasting's Book, Music and Video might be able to tell you.

Instead, The Urge delves into multiple styles in order to blend its own brand of music. Believe in the band's versatility — this band has shared a stage with various national acts such as Korn, No Doubt, the Mighty Mighty Bosstones, Everclear, the Violent Femmes, and of course, 311.

"Too Much Stereo" continues The Urge's potpourri tradition, delivering tracks that flip-flop from the soothing to the insane. No one song can be used to define this band, as the delivery changes frequently.

Disc jockeys have already weaseled out the disc's first single — the title track, "Too Much Stereo" — and I'll be the first to agree that this should be the song used to hook new fans. The song, in which lead singer Steve Ewing likens the deterioration of his romantic relationship with his stereo hookup, is the kind of jump-up sound that makes The Urge such an incredible live act. A word of warning: every corner of an Urge show is a mosh pit.

Next, the group takes a socially conscious turn. "Welcome to Gunville" will probably be an interesting addition to concerts: "fear created violence/and violence means death/life is gone at will/proud of the blood we spill/everyday here in Gunville." Cheery, eh?

I've got your cheer right here. Pop fans looking for the softer side of Steve will find a little something, too. Try "Four Letter and Two Words" (almost a sister song to the band's earlier hit, "Closer"): "Four letters and two words/words that mean the same/funny how-funny how/one is love and one's your name" beats anything a boy band could churn out.

"Too Much Stereo" is a CD I wouldn't mind pressing on friends in order to create a fleet of Urge fans. More than 10 years of whirlwind touring (some of the band's original members date back to 1987) hasn't dampened this band's enthusiasm for music, and the pace of this album is proof.

Need extra incentive? Hot pics of the band in a whirlpool. Take that, Tiger Beat.

music review
"Too Much Stereo"
By: The Urge

Album showcases group's individual styles

By REED DUNN
Kansas State Collegian

Even though Boyz II Men has been absent from the music scene for the past three years, the group's recent release, "Nathan Michael Shawn Wayna," displays four individual talents together as one group.

Much of the music on the 14-track album was written and produced by the members of Boyz II Men, including "Pass You By," the first single off the new release.

The song, written by Shawn Stockman, offers fans a sound much like something from the group's previous albums. It is by far the best song on the CD, meshing the individual sounds to produce one harmony.

music review
"Nathan Michael Shawn Wanya"
By: Boyz II Men

The title of the album reflects the music on the CD. "Nathan Michael Shawn Wayna" is who and what is heard on each track. There is a definite group sound, but each member takes the opportunity to showcase individual styles. Unlike past albums, each member's sound is recognizable and is displayed well in the album's sixth track, "I Finally Know."

Another addition to the music is the emphasis placed on instrumentation. Guitar, trumpet, saxophone and a variety of other instruments are mixed into the harmony of Boyz II Men, a rhythm and blues sound that has been replaced on radio waves by the trendy boy band style.

Boyz II Men has returned to the scene with mastered skill and a sound that cannot be mimicked.

Foxx's new action/comedy could be career flop

By CORBIN H. CRABLE
Kansas State Collegian

It isn't "In Living Color," that's for sure.

After making an appearance in the football drama "Any Given Sunday," Jamie Foxx's career takes a step back with "Bait," an action/comedy that involves an ex-con inadvertently helping the police to catch a gold thief.

Foxx plays Alvin Sanders, a man who is arrested after the theft of a seafood warehouse. In exchange for his freedom, the police plant a homing device on Sanders, without his knowledge, in order to find a gold thief with whom he was briefly associated.

The "funny" parts of this movie generally lie in the fact that Sanders' privacy is being invaded, and the police are subjected to hearing every (and I mean every) event that goes on in his day-to-day life.

Probably the most enjoyable performance in "Bait" is given by Kimberly Elise ("Beloved"), who portrays Foxx's girlfriend. While her character is a cliche (she's a single mother who works two jobs), she is a strong-willed person and demands respect from her boyfriend. Elise's stoic and serious persona is a welcome contrast to Foxx's lighthearted attitude.

The movie might have done well if director Antoine Fuqua hadn't combined the genres of action and comedy. Foxx is a name many people would associate with the variety show "In Living Color," and his fans will be disappointed by the absence of sight gags and one-liners.

Instead, the movie leans more toward action/thriller, complete with special effects and a villain who tries too hard to be like John Malkovich. Fans, more than likely, will feel cheated.

The combination of genres just adds an element of confusion. You won't know whether to laugh or cry (maybe a laugh track is needed, for that reason). You'll just be looking at your watch every five minutes, enduring the longest two hours of your life.

movie review
"Bait"
Showing: Seth Childs Cinema at 4:20, 7 and 9:25 p.m.
Starring: Jamie Foxx, Kimberly Elise

THE GONGFARMER

BY RANDY REGIER

Monkey Boy

BY BRENT ENGSTROM

FOOTBALL

■ continued from page 7

offensive coordinator Ron Hudson said. "A lot of that is relative to the opponents we're playing, you know that as well as I do.

"But if you had to look at it from the outside looking in, we were very pleased with the way things are going right now, we're not turning the ball over."

Instead, the Cats' spent much of their Saturday turning possessions into points.

On their opening drive, senior quarterback Jonathan Beasley, engineering the Cats' no-huddle offense, connected with senior wide receiver Quincy Morgan for 55 yards to give K-State a 6-0 lead.

That TD marked the beginning of 10 consecutive Wildcat scoring drives for touchdowns, which lasted until the 11:28 juncture in the fourth quarter.

Snyder said he thought Beasley did a nice job in running the no-huddle offense to jump-start the Cats' offensive game.

"I can't tell you at this particular point in time that he really made any mistakes in being involved with that," Snyder said. "He handled the management of the no huddle offense very well."

That management produced four offensive touchdowns in the first quarter, complemented by the special team's units' 83-yard punt return by junior Aaron Lockett, to give K-State a 34-0 lead.

"He's just gaining confidence as we go, and I feel very, very comfortable with him back there right now," Snyder said of Lockett.

Redshirt freshman Ell Roberson picked up where Beasley left off in the second quarter, as the quarterback found Morgan from 8 yards out for the wide-out's third touchdown reception of the game, tying a K-State record.

"Any time you do something here at K-State and your name is mentioned with Darnell McDonald, Michael Smith, Kevin Lockett and those guys, you have to feel good about yourself," Morgan said. "Those are all great players and that's all you can do is just sit back, pat yourself on the back and go out and keep making plays."

DEFENSE

■ continued from page 7

a high-caliber team like K-State, Lynch said.

Those problems stemmed from the Cats' pressure on the Ball State quarterbacks, especially senior Brian Conn.

"We were having trouble protecting Brian," Lynch said. "It was just a very difficult night."

It was a night in which K-State recorded five sacks for 34 yards in losses, three by senior Mario Fatafehi, despite the Cardinal offensive line only giving up one sack in two games prior to the Cat contest.

Senior Monty Beisel pressured the opposition early, sacking Conn on the Cardinals' opening play from scrimmage. The hit forced a fumble that was recovered by senior linebacker Turelle Williams on the Ball State 8-yard line, leading to K-State's second touchdown of the day.

It was also a night in which the Wildcat secondary allowed only five total passing yards on one lone third-quarter completion, while K-State's defensive backs garnered two interceptions for the game.

Volleyball team defeats No. 24 Baylor

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

Baylor's volleyball team might have beaten K-State twice last season, but on Saturday, the Bears couldn't win one game.

The Cats' thirst for revenge was satisfied, outside hitter Liz Wegner said.

"I think they came in here thinking they could put up a pretty good game against us," she said. "I'm glad we beat them in three games. We just showed them they're not going to get us for another year, two years, two games in a row."

The No. 22 Cats (8-2, 2-0) took only three games to put away No. 24 Baylor (7-3, 1-1) by grabbing the momentum and never letting go. K-State won the first game decisively, 15-7, and forced Baylor back on its heels in the second game, setter Disney Bronnenberg said.

"I think a lot of that came from our momentum in the first game," she said. "We really got our game going, so in the second game they were just kind of guessing a lot."

Momentum was achieved in the first game by attacking Baylor's strengths, Wegner said.

"Baylor's a team that is really scrappy. I think it's easy for teams to kind of back down and kind of get frustrated," Wegner said, "and I think we just stayed on top of our game and knew they were going to keep digging balls. And I think we ended up frustrating them."

Baylor might have been frustrated at times, but it certainly didn't lay down for the Cats. Several times, Baylor ended up narrowing K-State's lead, McLaughlin said.

"I don't think we finished real well in transition," he said, "and maybe we'd have beaten them a little bit quicker if we finished better, if we put the ball away off the dig, and we didn't do that.

"The key was in the second game, we kind of let them off the hook a little bit. We had a chance to go up 7-1 on an easy play, and we don't convert on it, and then it's 6-2, and now they're back in the match."

K-State's inability to deliver the final blow at times was the result of not taking care of details, McLaughlin said.

"We were stressing the details, and when you're into details your emotions up a little bit, and you've got to focus," he said. "I think we've got to get better at that, just taking care of details."

While the Cats did not play a perfect game, they still performed well enough to earn their first win of the season against a ranked team. Part of that success was due to Wegner, who led the team with 16 kills, McLaughlin said.

"It's a product of her preparing," he said. "When Liz prepares for a tough opponent, I don't think there's anyone better in the Big 12. It's all a mental thing with Liz, and it's how hard she pushes herself, because I push her hard."

K-State also benefited from the remarkably quick return of Lisa Mimick, who played in just her second match of the season due to a preseason stress fracture in her foot. She only played in two games, mostly in the back row, but in that time, Mimick had eight digs.

"It's unbelievable. You should see the x-ray on my desk," McLaughlin said. "There's a 2-inch screw in her foot. The bone has mended and looks good. We just need to get her legs back. She really helped us out tonight passing the ball. She's a tough kid."

Mimick, and the entire K-State squad, will be back in action at 7 p.m. Wednesday when they play at Texas Tech.

JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

Lisa Mimick passes a ball to the front row during the Wildcats' game against Baylor Saturday at Ahearn Field House. Saturday was Mimick's first appearance of the 2000 season.

See what a nickel will buy you . . .
copies for 5 cents
Claflin Books and Copies

Stay connected...
kstatecollegian.com

中國府
Chinese Chef
Authentic Chinese Food
DINE IN or CARRY OUT
DRIVE THRU
Daily Special $ 3.95
Hours Open :

Production Staff
GTM SPORTSWEAR
It's Greek to Me has openings for FT second shift and several PT weekend positions (4p.m.-2a.m.). Great positions for students, night owls, 2nd incomes, Christmas money and working around family schedules.
No experience necessary.
Full-time Benefits include: •Health/Dental Insurance •Paid annual leave •401 k Retirement Plan
Apply today at 520 McCall Road, Manhattan, KS 66502 EOE
or e-mail kristin@igtm.com

RECREATIONAL SERVICES
Intramurals
Faculty/Staff Golf
Tournament to be held at Custer Hill Golf Course at Fort Riley.
Entry deadline today, Sep. 18, by 5:00 p.m.
Contact business office at Rec. Complex for a tee time.
Recreational Services Office 532-6980

SCOREBOARD
7 BIG SCREENS
currently on satellite
• NFL Sunday Ticket
• MLB Extra Innings
• ESPN Gameplan
MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL
Pint Night
you keep the glass
20 ¢ Giant Wings
(honey mustard, BBQ or spicy)

—continuing education—
Kids That Bully
Strategies to Prevent Bullying Behavior
September 27 ~ 12:45-3:45
Houston Street Center (5th & Houston), Manhattan
For helping professionals, parents, volunteers
Learn strategies to redirect and change bullying behavior in kids of all ages and to empower children and others to avoid being targets or victims. Randy Wiler is Director of the Kansas Bullying Prevention Program and Community Prevention/ DARE Officer in Leawood, KS. $24 if payment received by Sept. 22, $30 later. 3 CEU's for social workers, others. 3 credit hours for nurses.
For information call 785- 587-4326
PAWNEE Mental Health Services

Hair Experts Design Team
Discover the Difference
New school year, new season and time to try something new. 15% off any service you have never experienced before.
1323 Anderson Ave.
Aggieville, Manhattan
776-4455

R You N?
GOLDEN KEY NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY
Golden Key National Honor Society
Membership Deadline:
September 25, 2000

"WEIRD AL" YANKOVIC
LIVE! IN CONCERT!
TOURING WITH SCISSORS
September 21, 2000 at 7:30 p.m.
McCain Auditorium - Kansas State University
To order tickets come to McCain box office Monday-Friday Noon-5p.m. or call 532-6428.
Tickets: $20.00

The diploma you can wear.
Varney's BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE
"We Give You Our Best"
JOSTENS REWARD YOUR ACHIEVEMENT
September 19th-20th
12:00 p.m. - 6:00 p.m.
Save Up To $150 off Women's Rings
or $225 off Men's
*see store for details

ΚΔ
Happy National Women's Friendship Day.

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FALL LEASING available! Call now! Fully furnished, washer/ dryer, fully equipped kitchen, alarm systems, computer lab, copier, and fax availability, fitness center/ rec room, swimming pool, reserved parking, tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. University Commons Apartments, 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

CAMPUS FIVE BLOCKS. Very large two-bedroom with air-conditioning. Clean, quiet location. Electric, gas, water, trash paid. No dogs. 537-8389.

EXCELLENT TWO-BEDROOM one block from campus. $550 per month, water/ trash paid. 341-4496.

LET US HELP you find a place to live. We may have what you need. No dogs. Leave message. 537-8389.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOMS, dishwasher, washer/ dryer, central air. $450- $475. Now available. (785)776-8455.

VERY NICE two-bedroom with air-conditioning. NEWLY REDECORATED, clean, quiet, convenient location. Heat, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. 537-8389.

115 Rooms Available

ROOM AVAILABLE NOW in four-bedroom house. Pets allowed, two bathrooms, utilities shared four ways. 1207 Houston. $300/ month. (785)770-9484, (785)556-1745.

120 For Rent- Houses

MUST SEE this BEAUTIFUL two story west side home. Three-bedroom, two and one-half bath, central air, park like one-half acre yard, two car garage. Available now. Good references a must. (785)776-8455.

NEW DUPLEX. FOUR-BEDROOM, two bath, two living rooms. Available October 1. $1000/ month. Pierre St. (785)456-7655.

TWO STORY BRICK, very large, three- four-bedroom, two baths, central air, laundry hook-ups, quiet location, fenced yard, parking. 537-8389.

Before Time Runs Out
advertise your sublease in the classifieds
Let's Rent special section
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 103 Kedzie 532-6555

145 Roommate Wanted

ROOMMATE WANTED for house one block from campus. Gas, water and trash paid. Off-street parking. 776-5422.

150 Sublease

CLOSE TO CAMPUS! A very spacious one-bedroom basement apartment in a nice house. Rent: $340 a month. You only pay for electricity, phone and cable! 770-3537.

we kick ads.
CLASSIFIEDS • 532-6555

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information, call (785)456-2795. www.ksu.edu/ksfc

SKIN PROBLEMS? Contact 1-888-353-1813.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

040 Meetings/ Events

MANHATTAN PROJECT- a discussion group for gay/bi/transgender men focusing on social issues. Next meeting Sept. 18 from 7- 8 p.m. Call for location at (785)587-1999.

040 Meetings/ Events

Special Announcement
Youthville would like to invite you to stop by our booth during this month's career fair. We'd enjoy visiting with you about the career opportunities we offer to help improve the lives of vulnerable children and their families.
UNITED METHODIST Youthville

100 housing/ real estate

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

Come home to relax in comfort
•Cambridge Square
•Sandstone Apts.
•Fireplaces •Carports
•Pool •Private Deck
•Laundry Facilities
•Large 2-bedroom Units
Call TODAY!!!
537-9064
Weekdays 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Showings by appointment

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

BRAND NEW three-bedroom/ three bathroom apartment available September 11th. washer/ dryer included, close to campus and Aggieville. Call MDI 776-3804.

NICE, ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment near City Park. $300/ month, utilities paid except phone and cable. Call 537-6899.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, 431 Leavenworth, $360, bills paid. 539-8401.

Sell your car.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE • 532-6555

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

1997 DOUBLE wide mobile home. Three-bedroom, two bath, family and living room, washer/ dryer hook-ups. $41,000 negotiable. (785)717-2840. Colonial Gardens.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE, $265/ month, one-third utilities, Chase Manhattan Apartments, 539-7824.

200 service directory

300 employment/ opportunities

310 Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For info call (203)977-1720.

310 Help Wanted

ARE YOU a SECONDARY EDUCATION major or GRADUATE STUDENT looking for some teaching experience? TEACHERS ARE WANTED with experience or interest in basic skills (English, communications, social studies, math and science). You must be able to operate independently, and have an interest in activity- based instruction, mastery learning, and the principles of educational psychology. Send self addressed stamped envelope to the Online High School, PO Box 1287, Manhattan, KS 66505-1287. Email to davel@networksplus.net

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!! Looking for part- time dealers. Multi- level market selling Indoor Air Purification Machines. Fun business, good money!!! Call Mitch at (888)814-2893.

BABYSITTER NEEDED 4-5:15, Monday- Friday $50/week. Must have driver's license and own transportation to Stagg Hill Area. Marie. (785)537-1278.

CHARTWELLS, K-STATE STUDENT UNION FOODSERVICE, 121 K-State Student Union. Across from Ramada on Anderson Ave. Apply in person only. REQUIREMENTS: All successful applicants must be able to maintain a high standard of sanitation within the operation. Also, they must exhibit excellent personal hygiene habits and be reliable, efficient and punctual in their work assignments. Excellent customer service skills and effective communication skills are a must in all areas. CATERING ATTENDANTS: Part-time positions. Various hours plus some evening and weekend shifts. CASHIERS: Part-time positions: 8:15a.m.- 2p.m. or 10:15a.m.- 1:30p.m., Monday- Friday. Will train the right person. ICE CREAM/PIZZA: Hours needed are: 9a.m.- 4p.m. (full-time) and 3:30- 7:30p.m. (part-time), Monday- Friday. CHICK-FIL-A: One full-time, 8a.m.- 4p.m. Monday-Friday; one part-time 3-8p.m., Monday- Thursday. COOK: One full-time, hours vary. Could be 6a.m.- 2p.m. or 8a.m.- 4p.m., Monday-Friday. FOOD COURT ATTENDANTS: One full-time, 6a.m. to 2p.m., Monday- Friday; one part-time, 2- 7:30p.m., Monday-Thursday. REFRESHMENTS: Evening hours. Hours, 3- 8p.m., Monday-Friday. CHARTWELLS IS AND EOE/AA EMPLOYER.

CIVIL ENGINEERING graduate teaching assistant for part-time instruction at KSU at Salina. Knowledge of KDOT Soils, Aggregate, and Concrete lab techniques a plus. Send letter of inquiry and resume to: CIT2 Program, 2310 Centennial Rd., TAC Building, Suite 119, Salina, KS 67401.

DATA ENTRY CLERK: part-time position with busy non-profit organization. Looking for well-organized, energetic person with positive "can-do" attitude. Requires high school diploma and at least one year of data entry experience. Wage: $5.50/ hour. Job description available upon request. Please send cover letter, resume and three references to: NC-FH Area Agency on Aging, 437 Houston St., Manhattan, KS 66502 by September 29, 2000. Any questions, please call 776-9294. EOE/ AA.

EXOTIC DANCERS: high pay, low hours. Apply in person at Ginger's Spot, 1014 Grant Ave., Junction City or call (785)762-3847 after 8p.m.

LUNAR TUNES, a local D.J. Company, is looking for energetic students to fill D.J. positions. Experience preferred. Will train the right person. (785)776-9140.

FRATERNITIES• SORORITIES• CLUBS• STUDENT GROUPS. Earn $1000- $2000 this quarter with the easy Campusfundraiser.com three hour fundraising event. No sales required. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so call today! Contact Campusfundraiser.com at (888)923-3238, or visit www.campusfundraisier.com

FREE ROOM! September board for female in exchange for some house work and to feed sheep. Part-time. (785)457-3582.

HUMIDOR DREAMS has an opening for position of "cigar girl." to work in the Aggievile area two- three nights a week. Friendly and good people skills a must, call (785)537-7444, ask for Heath.

PARENT ASSISTANT. Before and after school care. For three children, ages 6, 9, 11. Must have reliable transportation. (785)776-7764.

PAYROLL/ ACCOUNTS Payable position. Strong accounting skills needed. Minimum three years experience (or equivalent upper level college credit) in payroll, accounts payable, accounts receivable, cash receipts and general accounting practices. Extensive computer experience to include Microsoft Excel and Accounting Software. Must possess top-notch organization skills and ability to work unassisted on multiple tasks. Salary is $17,500- $20,000 plus benefits. Send cover letter, resume and three references to: Screening Committee, North Central- Flint Hills Agency on Aging, 437 Houston St., Manhattan, KS. EOE/ AA.

PROPERTY MANAGER needed for large College Community. Position requires strong account and communication skills. Must be able to work independently and handle multiple tasks at once. Salary, plus apartment and benefits. Submit resume to: First Management, PO Box 1797, Lawrence, KS 66049 or fax to (785)841-8492.

Spring Break 2001
Jamaica, Cancun, Florida, Barbados, Bahamas
Now hiring campus reps. Earn 2 free trips. Free Meals. Books by Nov. 2nd. Call for FREE info pack or visit online sunsplashtours.com
1-800-426-7710

THOROUGH HOUSE cleaning under ideal circumstances for couple with no pets/ smoking/ children. Send resume to c/o Collegian, Box 1, Manhattan 66506.

TUTOR NEEDED for biochemistry (CHEM 265). Please call 770-8186.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDENT to do clerical work. Filing, answering phone, and general duties as required by staff. $6 an hour, 10- 15 hours a week between 8am and 5pm Monday- Friday. E-mail resume with three references to kccto@iso.ksu.edu

WANTED: PART-TIME babysitter for toddlers in Christian home near Wamego. Need caring, reliable applicant with own transportation. Call (785)456-7899.

330 Business Opportunities

WANT CASH? Sign- up your classmates for cool Internet sites, and receive a minimum of $1 per person! There's no easier way to make money! Log onto TeamMagma.com or call 1-877-866-2462.

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

615 N 3rd. Buy, sell, trade CDs, videos, misc, bar items, furniture and much more! 539-3919.

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. Open 12- 5p.m. Closed Sundays. Mondays 539-4684.

BUY SELL TRADE
Now Renting
Video Games, Computer Games & DVD Movies
Come sign up
GAME*GUY
704 N. 11th Aggieville
537-0989

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS Camouflage clothing (including PURPLE) field jackets. Boots, sleeping bags- overshoes, hunting wear. Also CARHARTT workwear. Open Mon.- Fri., 9- 5:30; Sat. 9- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS 66536. (785)437-2734.

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

COUCH/ SOFA-BED, TV, microwave for sale. Call 537-1177 evenings.

EXTRA LONG flex-steel couch for sale. Call 776-1457.

TWO COUCHES and two TV's available. Call 539-6338 after 6:30p.m.

455 Sporting Equipment

GUN & KNIFE SHOW. National Guard Armory, 18th & Jackson, Junction City. Saturday September 23, 9 a.m.- 5 p.m. Sunday 24, 9 a.m.- 4 p.m. Buy-Sell-Trade. Sponsor Geary County Fish & Game Association. Information (785)238-8886.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

DISCOUNTED FOOTBALL (Section 430) tickets vs. North Texas for sale! Call Mike at (612)943-8113 for details.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOR SALE: K-State vs. Nebraska football tickets. Three student reserved available. $250/ ticket or best offer! Please call (785)565-0007.

FOR SALE: Nebraska ticket with ICAT. (785)539-6192.

FOR SALE: two general admission KSU vs. NU football tickets. Best offer. Call (785)770-9820.

FOR SALE: two sets of tickets for all home games except Nebraska. Will sell individually. Call (785)565-9359.

TWO GENERAL admission tickets for all home games except Nebraska, best offer. Email: footballksu@hotmail.com or call (530)297-4094.

WANT TO trade my ICAT tickets for student general admission plus cash. Call (785)537-3735, leave message.

WANTED: STUDENT General admission football tickets, K-State vs Oklahoma, will pay $20 or best offer, call (785)770-3257, leave message.

WANTED: TWO general admission tickets for game on 23rd. One general admission ticket for 16th. For Sale: two reserved tickets for 16th and Nebraska. Call 537-0692.

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1987 DODGE 600, four-door, automatic, air-conditioned, power steering, good condition. $2000 or best offer. Call (785)539-1628.

1990 PONTIAC Grand Prix four-door, power windows and locks. Air-conditioned, automatic transmission. Great school car. $2200 or best offer. (785)539-4089.

1997 FORD Ranger V-6, automatic, air-conditioning, 1991 Mazda Cab Plus B2200 automatic, air-conditioning, 1993 Ford Escort Wagon loaded 59K, 1993 Plymouth Grand Voyager loaded. Call 565-9458 or 317-0144.

530 Motorcycles

1982 KAWASAKI K21000, $1300. (785)537-8878.

1997 KAWASAKI EX250R Ninja , 5000 miles, great working condition, new rear tire, many accessories, clear title, $2100. (785)395-2630. davetduffey.com/ninja

600 travel/ trips

630 Spring Break

EIGHT DAY Florida, Caribbean vacations. Orlando, Ft. Lauderdale, hotel, rental car, round trip cruise for two. $398 plus docking. 1-888-353-1813.

WINTER BREAK/ SPRING BREAK. Ski and beach trips on sale now! www.sunchase.com or call 1-800-SUNCHASE today!

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.85
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.90
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.90
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

Got old stuff?
GET RID OF IT!
in the
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie
532-6555

ADVERTISING DOESN'T COST...
IT PAYS!
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie 532-6555

000 bulletin board
100 housing/ real estate
200 service directory
300 employment/ opportunities
400 open market
500 transportation
600 travel/ trips

Career FAIR

K-STATE CAREER FAIR

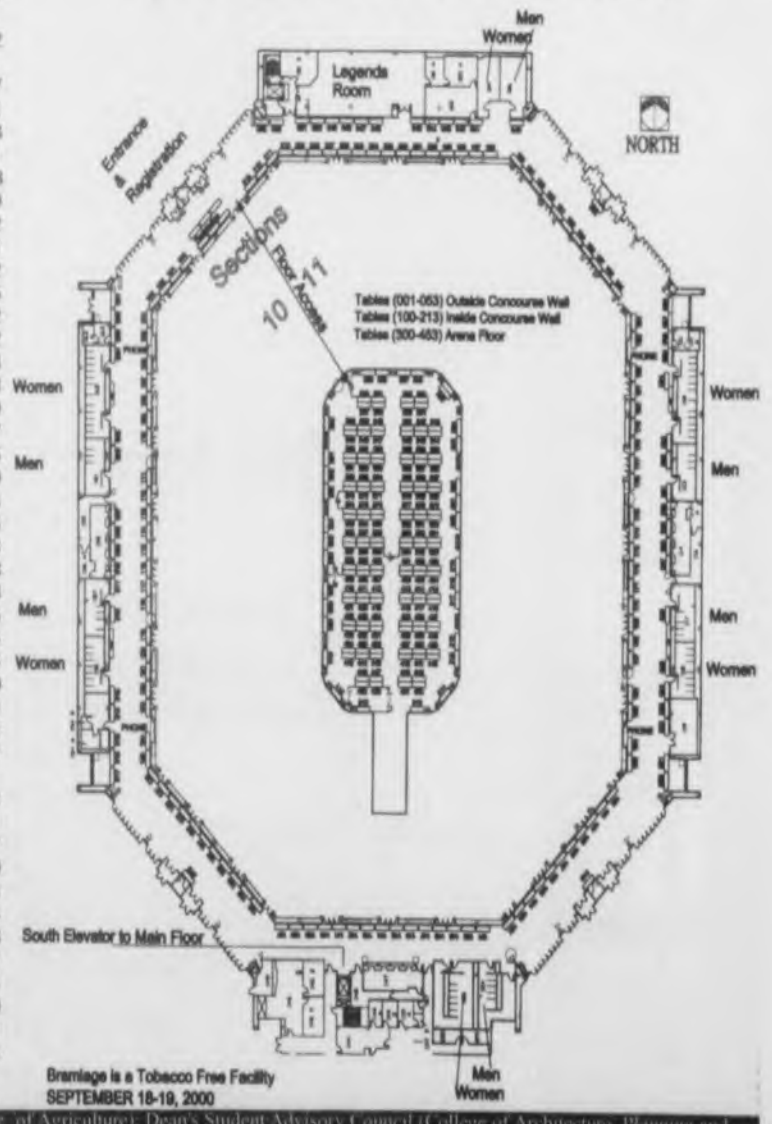
TUESDAY SEPTEMBER 19TH BRAMLAGE COLISEUM

10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Meet employers, network for internships and jobs, get career information -- plus more than 50 employers plan next day interviews.

FREE SHUTTLE BUS runs every 15 minutes between Student Union south parking lot and Bramlage Coliseum.

FREE PARKING available at Bramlage Coliseum west parking lot



Bring multiple copies of your resume, dress professionally and spend all day!

Register for Door Prizes

Company	Door Prize
AEROTEK	Jacket
ANDERSEN CONSULTING	Fleece blanket
ARCHER DANIELS MIDLAND COMPANY	Duffle Bag
BHA GROUP HOLDINGS INC	Polo Shirt & Football
BLACK & VEATCH	Notebooks with Calculators
BOEING COMPANY	Baseball caps (3)
BUTLER ROSENBURY & PARTNERS INC.	Nylon Briefcase
CARGILL	Backpack; T-Shirt (3); CD Holder (2); Koozie (4); Sweatshirt; Hat (2)
CITGO PETROLEUM CORPORATION	Portfolio (1)
CONOCO INC-FINANCE DOWNSTREAM	Green canvas bags (2)
DEBRUCE GRAIN COMPANY	$50 Gift Card to K-State Student Union (4)
DEERE & COMPANY	Leather Portfolio; Toy Tractor
EPIC LANDSCAPE PRODUCTIONS LC	Short-sleeved Polo Shirt (1)
EXXON MOBIL	Saddlebag Briefcase (2)
FARM CREDIT	Pens (4)
FERGUSON ENTERPRISES INC	T-Shirt (2); Hat (2)
FISHER CONTROLS INTERNATIONAL INC	Shirts (2)
GA JOHNSON CONSTRUCTION COMPANY	Briefcase
GARMIN INTERNATIONAL INC	Travel Tote Bag (1); Hats (2); T-Shirts (3)
HALLIBURTON COMPANY	Gym Bag (2)
HORMEL FOODS CORPORATION	Portfolio; Leather CD Holder; Spam T-Shirt
HYATT REGENCY CROWN CENTER	Dinner for 2 @ Peppercorn Duck Club; Dinner for 2 @ Skies Restaurant
IBP INC	Golf Shirt
KENNEDY & COE LLC	Denim Shirts (2); Pen/Pencil Set (1)
KOCH INDUSTRIES	Planner; Denim Shirt
MISSORI DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION	K-State Sign(1)
MOTOROLA	Bag & Mugs (2)
NATIONAL INSTRUMENTS	Backpacks (2)
NESTLE USA	10 lb Crunch Bar (2)
NEW ENGLAND FINANCIAL	Large Duffle Bag (1)
REINKE MANUFACTURING COMPANY INC	Jacket (2)
SAS INSTITUTE INC.	Bulova Alarm Clock
SHAFER KLINE & WARREN INC	Weber Grill
SPRINT	Sprint Umbrellas (24); $20 Calling Card (5)
STATE STREET - KANSAS CITY	Portfolio
TDINDUSTRIES INC.	Briefcase(3), baseball cap(2)
UNITED METHODIST YOUTHVILLE	Puzzles (10); Pens (10); Stress Stars (10; Portfolios (3)
WAL-MART STORES INC	$50 Gift Certificate
WATERLOO INDUSTRIES	6- Drawer Tool Chest (2)
WILSON & COMPANY ENGINEERS & ARCHITECTS	Mini Swiss Army Knife (5)

Company	Table #
ABF FREIGHT SYSTEM INC	329
ADP/AUTOMATIC DATA PROCESSING	330
AEROTEK	433
AFFORDABLE RESIDENTIAL COMMUNITIES (ARC)	377
AG PROCESSING INC	369
AGRA PLACEMENTS LTD	311
AGRILIANCE	184
AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY - HEARTLAND DIVISION INC	326
AMERICAN EXPRESS FINANCIAL ADVISORS	18
ANDERSEN CONSULTING 001,	002
ARCHER DANIELS MIDLAND COMPANY	173
ARMY & AIRFORCE EXCHANGE SERVICES	352
ARTHUR ANDERSEN	115
BAIRD KURTZ & DOBSON	419
BANK OF AMERICA	442
BARTLETT & COMPANY	179
BARTLETT & WEST ENGINEERS INC	186
BDO SEIDMAN LLP	331
BECKER CONVISER CPA REVIEW	9
BETTIS ATOMIC POWER LABORATORY	129
BHA GROUP HOLDINGS INC	339
BIBB & ASSOCIATES INC	451
BIRCH TELECOM	22
BLACK & DECKER/DEWALT	27
BLACK & VEATCH	205
BLUE VALLEY SCHOOLS	300
BOEING COMPANY	52
BOMBARDIER AEROSPACE - LEARJET	448
BROWN REYNOLDS WATFORD ARCHITECTS INC	53
BRUNGARDT HONOMICHL & CO PA	301
BURLINGTON NORTHERN SANTA FE	302
BURNS & MCDONNELL ENGINEERING	49
BUTLER ROSENBURY & PARTNERS INC	353
CAL-MAINE FOODS	39
CAMERON ASHLEY BUILDING PRODUCTS	359
CANDLEWOOD SUITES	386
CAP GEMINI ERNST & YOUNG US LLC	101
CAPITOL FEDERAL SAVINGS BANK	449
CARGILL 146, 147, 148, 149, 150,	151
CARTER & BURGESS INC	171
CASH AMERICA INTERNATIONAL	383
CATERPILLAR INC	45
CCH INCORPORATED	189
CDFM2 ARCHITECTURE INC.	209
CESSNA AIRCRAFT COMPANY	315, 316
CGB ENTERPRISES INC/CONSOLIDATED GRAIN & BARGE CO	204
CH ROBINSON WORLDWIDE	387
CHARLES MACHINE WORKS INC (THE)	391
CHILI'S	163
CHRISTNER INC (ARCHITECTS)	185
CHRYSLER FINANCIAL LLC	426
CINTAS CORPORATION	142
CITGO PETROLEUM CORPORATION	446
CITIFINANCIAL	420
CITY OF WICHITA PUBLIC WORKS-ENGINEERING	427
COLORADO DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS	312
COMPASS GROUP	380
CONOCO INC - FINANCE DOWNSTREAM REFINING & TECHNOLOGY	120
CONSOLIDATED ELECTRICAL DISTRIBUTORS	395
CONTIBEEF LLC	152
CROP QUEST INC	160
CROP-TIMIZER/COLLINGWOOD GRAIN	172
CSHQA A PROFESSIONAL ASSOCIATION	200
CSM AMERICA	450
DALLAS SEMICONDUCTOR	169
DANBRED USA	400
DEBRUCE GRAIN COMPANY	23
DEERE & COMPANY	170
DELOITTE & TOUCHE	7
DEPT OF ADMINISTRATION - PERSONNEL	389
DILLARDS	103
DLR GROUP	145
DOCUMENT COMPANY XEROX (THE)	213
DOW AGROSCIENCES	32
DOW CHEMICAL COMPANY (THE)	176
DYNEGY INC	322
EARL MAY SEED & NURSERY	174
ECKERD DRUG COMPANY	398
EDWARD JONES INVESTMENTS	3
EMPORIA STATE UNIVERSITY-GRADUATE OFFICE	306
ENTERCOM COMMUNICATIONS	410
ENTERPRISE RENT-A-CAR	341, 342
EPIC LANDSCAPE PRODUCTIONS LC	50
ERNST & YOUNG LLP	104
EXCEL CORPORATION	203
EXXON MOBIL	413
FARM CREDIT	211
FARMERS ALLIANCE MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY	187
FARMERS INSURANCE GROUP	165
FARMLAND INDUSTRIES INC	182
FBI	430
FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION	421
FEDERAL RESERVE BANK OF KANSAS CITY	416
FERGUSON ENTERPRISES INC	43
FISHER CONTROLS INTERNATIONAL INC	123
FORT DODGE ANIMAL HEALTH	31
FRITO-LAY TOPEKA PLANT	20
FURST-MCNESS COMPANY	118
G A SULLIVAN	139
GAP INC	124
GARMIN INTERNATIONAL INC	130
GE JOHNSON CONSTRUCTION COMPANY	024, 025
GE TRANSPORTATION SYSTEMS	154
GENERAL INVESTMENT AND DEVELOPMENT	424
GENERAL SERVICES ADMINISTRATION	307
GEOACCESS INC	392
GEOPROBE SYSTEMS	303
GEORGE BUTLER ASSOCIATES INC	119
GIRLS & BOYS TOWN	360
GLAD MANUFACTURING COMPANY	042, 323
GLEN MARTIN ENGINEERING INC	100
GMPRC	414
GOLDEN HARVEST	196
GOODYEAR TIRE AND RUBBER CO	128
GOSSEN LIVINGSTON ASSOCIATES INC	166
GOULD EVANS AFFILIATES	452
GRADUATE SCHOOL	415
GRANT THORNTON LLP	393
GRAY DESIGN GROUP OF COLORADO INC	161
HALLIBURTON COMPANY	51
HALLMARK CARDS INC	320, 321
HASELDEN CONSTRUCTION INC	362
HBE CORPORATION	156
HERSHEY CHOCOLATE USA	19
HNTB CORPORATION	336, 337
HORMEL FOODS CORPORATION	34
HORST TERRILL & KARST ARCHITECTS PA	181
HWS CONSULTING GROUP INC	131
HYATT REGENCY CROWN CENTER	144
HYATT REGENCY WICHITA	164
IBM GLOBAL SERVICES/BUSINESS INNOVATION-SERVICE	371
IBP INC	158
INET TECHNOLOGIES INC	328
INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY INC	344
INNOVISION CORPORATION	361
INTERTEC PUBLISHING	358
IOWA SELECT FARMS	41
J ALEXANDER'S RESTAURANT	159
JAPAN EXCHANGE & TEACHING (JET) PROGRAM	351
JC PENNEY	8
JOHN HANCOCK FINANCIAL SERVICES	125
JOHN Q HAMMONS HOTELS	402
JOHNSON COUNTY HUMAN RESOURCES	309
JOHNSON COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT	340
K-STATE RESEARCH AND EXTENSION	201
KANSAS CHILDREN'S SERVICE LEAGUE	365
KANSAS DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS	372
KANSAS DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION	363
KANSAS FARM BUREAU SERVICES INC	206
KANSAS HIGHWAY PATROL	310
KAW VALLEY CENTER	354
KELLY SCIENTIFIC RESOURCES & KELLY IT RESOURCES	394
KENNEDY & COE LLC	388
KETCH (KANSAS ELKS TRAINING CENTER FOR THE HANDICAPPED)	397
KMART	364
KOCH INDUSTRIES	016, 017
KPMG	106
KUSTOM SIGNALS INC	190
KWIK SHOP	405
LA QUINTA INNS INC	406
LAND O' LAKES	183
LARKIN GROUP INC (THE)	411
LAW/KINGDON INC	110
LEGACY FINANCIAL GROUP	409
LEXTRON INC - PROVET*KANSAS CITY	136
LOCKHEED MARTIN AERONAUTICS COMPANY	425
LSI LOGIC	180
MANHATTAN BROADCASTING	418
MANTEL & TETER ARCHITECTS INC	44
MARLEY COOLING TOWER CO	198
MARRIOTT INTERNATIONAL	21
MATHIS GROUP (THE)	194
MAURICES	114
MAXIM HEALTHCARE SERVICES	422
MAYER HOFFMAN MCCANN LC	440
MCI WORLDCOM	113
MENNONITE CENTRAL COMMITTEE	356
METLIFE FINANCIAL SERVICES	428
MICROSOFT	6
MID KANSAS COOP	324
MIDLAND LOAN SERVICES INC	432
MIDWEST POULTRY CONSORTIUM	46
MISSOURI DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION	350
MODINE MANUFACTURING CO	33
MONSANTO	334
MORGAN STANLEY DEAN WITTER	121
MOTOROLA	133
MURPHY FARMS	178
NABISCO BRANDS INC	29
NATIONAL AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS SERVICE	47
NATIONAL INSTRUMENTS	167, 168
NEBRASKA BOILER COMPANY DIV OF AQUA-CHEM	332
NESTLE USA	137, 138
NEW ENGLAND FINANCIAL	127
NORTEL NETWORKS	141
NORTHWESTERN MUTUAL FINANCIAL NETWORK-ERTZ GROUP	108
NORTHWESTERN MUTUAL FINANCIAL NETWORK/HAMES FINANCIAL GROUP	4
NOVARTIS CROP PROTECTION	48
OLATHE DISTRICT SCHOOLS USD #233	349
OLDE DISCOUNT CORPORATION	122
OLSSON ASSOCIATES	401
OMAHA PUBLIC POWER DISTRICT	162
ONSITE COMPANIES	385
OSBORNE INDUSTRIES INC	132
OSCO DRUG/SAV-ON DRUGS/ALBERTSONS	382
OVERLAND PARK POLICE DEPARTMENT	314
PANERA BREAD	403
PAYLESS SHOESOURCE	439
PBA ARCHITECTS	197
PELLA CORPORATION	445
PHILIPS LIGHTING COMPANY	390
PHILLIPS PETROLEUM COMPANY	384
PREMIER PERSONNEL	404
PREMIUM STANDARD FARMS	153
PRICEWATERHOUSECOOPERS LLP	13
PRICEWATERHOUSECOOPERS-BPO	14
PRIMERICA	126
PROCTER AND GAMBLE	195
PRUDENTIAL INDIVIDUAL FINANCIAL SERVICES	434
PULTE HOME CORPORATION	40
QWEST INFORMATION TECHNOLOGIES	423
RALSTON PURINA COMPANY	202
RAMADA PLAZA-MANHATTAN	407
RAYTHEON COMPANY	207, 208
RBC INC	333
RED LOBSTER	381
REINKE MANUFACTURING COMPANY INC	177
ROSS & BARUZZINI	10
RUSSELL STOVER CANDIES INC	408
SAS INSTITUTE INC.	444
SCHERING-PLOUGH ANIMAL HEALTH	28
SCHLUMBERGER	317
SCHOOL OF FAMILY STUDIES & HUMAN SERVICES, KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY	374
SEABOARD FARMS INC	30
SEAGATE TECHNOLOGY	11
SECURITY BENEFIT GROUP OF COMPANIES	193
SEGA INC	15
SERVI-TECH INC.	26
SHAFER KLINE & WARREN INC	447
SHAW INDUSTRIES	12
SHAWNEE COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS	367
SHERWIN-WILLIAMS COMPANY (THE)	134
SMITH SECKMAN REID INC	135
SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION	375
SODEXHO MARRIOTT SERVICES	412
SOFTEK SOLUTIONS INC	109
SPARLING	318
SPRINT	035, 036, 037, 038
STATE STREET - KANSAS CITY	102
SWANSON RINK INC	355
SYSTEM SOLUTIONS	348
TALBOTS	116
TARGET STORES	107
TAYLOR BALL	117
TDINDUSTRIES INC	155
TEKSYSTEMS	376
TELECOMMUNICATIONS RESEARCH ASSOCIATES	105
TEXAS INSTRUMENTS	346
TEXAS TECH UNIVERSITY	313
TONYS PIZZA SERVICE	140
TOYS R US	327
TRACTOR SUPPLY COMPANY	157
TRANSYSTEMS CORPORATION	325
TREANOR ARCHITECTS PA	192
TRICON GLOBAL RESTAURANTS	345
TRINITY CONSULTANTS	338
TURNER CONSTRUCTION CO	366
UMKC LAW SCHOOL	357
UNION PACIFIC	453
UNITED METHODIST YOUTHVILLE	370
UNITED PARCEL SERVICE	441
UNITED STATES NAVY OFFICER PROGRAMS	304
UNITY SOFTWARE SYSTEMS	212
UNIVERSAL UNDERWRITERS GROUP	436
UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS - MBA PROGRAM	319
UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI-COLUMBIA SCHOOL OF LAW	435
UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA COLLEGE OF LAW	399
US AIR FORCE	373
US ARMY CORPS OF ENGINEERS	438
US BORDER PATROL	347
US DEPT OF HEALTH & HUMAN SVCS/OFC OF INSPECTOR GENERAL/OFC OF AUDIT SVCS	308
US MARINE CORPS OFFICER SELECTION	429
US PEACE CORPS	368
USD 305 SALINA PUBLIC SCHOOLS	305
USDA - NATURAL RESOURCES CONSERVATION SERVICE	175
VANCE PUBLISHING CORPORATION	378
VERMEER MANUFACTURING	199
VILLAGE INN RESTAURANTS	143
VISHAY DALE ELECTRONICS	396
WAL-MART STORES INC	111, 112
WALGREENS	5
WATER SERVICES DEPT OF KANSAS CITY MISSOURI	188
WATERLOO INDUSTRIES	443
WELLS FARGO FINANCIAL	343
WESTERN RESOURCES	210
WICHITA EAGLE (THE)	437
WILSON & COMPANY ENGINEERS & ARCHITECTS	191
WOLF CREEK NUCLEAR OPERATING CORPORATION	379
WORLDS OF FUN/OCEANS OF FUN	417
YELLOW FREIGHT SYSTEM	335
ZALES CORPORATION	431

SEE www.ksu.edu/ces

K-State Career Fair is sponsored by Agriculture Ambassadors Ag REPS (College of Agriculture); Dean's Student Advisory Council (College of Architecture, Planning and Design); Arts and Sciences Ambassadors (College of Arts and Sciences); Marketing Club (College of Business Administration); Education Student Ambassadors (College of Education); Engineering Student Council (College of Engineering); Human Ecology Council (College of Human Ecology); Salina Student Government Association (College of Technology and Aviation); and Career and Employment Services

TODAY'S WEATHER
HIGH 84 ■ LOW 57

TUESDAY

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sept. 19, 2000 ■ Kansas State University ■ Manhattan, Kan. ■ Volume 105, Number 21

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

INK.COM

Running for fun, charity

■ page 9

One of the thousands of monarch butterflies that visited the President Jon Wefald's backyard garden last week clings to a flower. According to Greg Zolnerowich, assistant professor of entomology, between 100 and 200 million butterflies will spend the winter months in Central Mexico.

JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

A monarch butterfly flies off a flower in President Jon Wefald's backyard last week. The butterflies migrate through the Manhattan area every year as they make their way to Mexico. BELOW: Thousands of the distinctive orange-and-black colored monarch butterflies could be seen around President Jon Wefald's home late last week. The coloring of the monarch butterflies comes from toxins they ingest as caterpillars, which helps them to fend off possible predators.

Miraculous migration

BY NANCY FOSTER

One week ago, President Jon Wefald walked out of his house and saw thousands of monarch butterflies in his yard, flowers and trees. Now they are gone, with only a few stragglers left behind as they have continued their migration toward the mountains west of Mexico City.

"They come in, unannounced for a brief stay, but it's really a miracle," Wefald said.

He said entomology experts came to his house and studied the butterflies.

"They said, with all the trees and all the flowers around our house, it was the perfect place for them," Wefald said. "It's just miraculous. Some years there's just thousands of them, and this was one of those years."

He said they migrate through Manhattan every year, something he said is a miracle, especially since many of them are traveling all the way from Canada.

"It's just unbelievable that they can travel that far," he said.

Greg Zolnerowich, assistant professor of entomology, said the monarch butterflies east of the Rocky Mountains fly to Central Mexico, while the ones west of the Rockies tend to migrate toward California.

"Some fly 1,877 miles from Ontario to Mexico, which is quite amazing when you

See MONARCHS on PAGE 7

MATT STAMEY/Collegian

Students crowded in ICAT

By BRYAN SCRIBNER
Kansas State Collegian

Above-average seating at home football games might be the most rewarding benefit of an extra $30 for general admission tickets. Some ICAT holders, though, feel they aren't getting what they deserve.

Jared Pearce, four-year ICAT member and junior in life science, said many ICAT fans chose to leave the first home games early due to crowding.

"It was so crowded that you had to stand where you were sideways to the field," he said. "It was packed."

ICAT members, who donate an extra $30 to K-State athletics, are assured reserved seating, T-shirts and special discounts in the Manhattan area. Members also receive special tickets and wristbands.

Pearce said overcrowding hasn't been a problem in the past three years. He said ICAT tickets could be oversold.

"If it has been oversold, I would trade my tickets for regular general admission tickets," he said. "People paying for ICAT would want to be able to use it."

Mike Mores, assistant director of promotions K-State Sports Information, said tickets have not been oversold; only 2,763 out of an available 2,800 have been purchased.

Each ticket reserves 16 inches in the ICAT section. Mores said this arrangement should allow for at least one excess space on each row.

"What I hear is it's an ongoing battle," he said. "The biggest problem is people who aren't supposed to be in the section."

Members are supposed to be guaranteed a seat, but Mores said patrons with regular general admission tickets are sneaking past ICAT security.

"Students are waiting for that section because others aren't supposed to be there," he said. "Students need to help police themselves, and I know that is difficult."

Pearce said he didn't notice fans sneaking through ICAT security, though. He said the people in his section all were wearing ICAT wristbands.

Travis Wymer, president of the ICAT board, said people with ICAT tickets and a wristband are the only patrons eligible to use the seating. He said members should notify security if they notice fans without proper identification.

Wymer said the Ball State had fewer problems than Louisiana Tech's. He said this was due to the experience of the security staff.

About 15 ROTC members patrol the ICAT section, Wymer said. He said about five more will attend the next game.

"I know we had a problem the first game because we had a whole new security staff," he said.

Melanie Thoman, senior in microbiology and pre-medicine, said she had to watch Saturday's game on TV screens located on the top of the ICAT section. She doesn't think crowding was caused by fans sneaking through.

"There's twice as many people there than it holds," she said.

▶ One ICAT football ticket reserves 16 inches of space.

RACIAL/ETHNIC HARMONY WEEK

TODAY
12:30-1:30 p.m. – Dialogue on religion: "Hands-On Harmony: Faith Communities Reaching out in Service," Union Courtyard
3:30-5 p.m. – Diversity workshop, 2031 Poyntz Ave.
4-5:30 p.m. – International "Town Hall" Panel, Union Forum Hall
7-8:30 p.m. – Diversity workshop, Union Ballroom

WEDNESDAY
10 a.m.-noon – Diversity workshop, KSU Foundation Center, 2323 Anderson Ave.
12:30-1:30 p.m. – Keynote address: "Why Educators Can't Ignore Indian Mascots," Union Big 12 Room
1:30-3 p.m. – Diversity workshop, Manhattan City Hall
3:30-5 p.m. – Multicultural Town Hall panel, Union Forum Hall

SEE STORY ON PAGE 3

Grant to improve area medical access

By TRAVIS HOCHARD
Kansas State Collegian

The local grant will be used to start two demonstration projects, providing 100-percent access to health care for at least 700 uninsured residents.

A new federal grant given to the Community Health Council, an organization of health-care providers in Manhattan, will help improve medical access for uninsured local residents.

The grant, funded by the Community Access Program, is worth $716,000, with a local match commitment of $288,000. This will help the Community Health Council and its local partners build an integrated health-care system, emphasizing primary health care for uninsured people including mental health services, substance-abuse counseling and dental and pharmacy assistance, said Gail Urban, executive director of the Community Health Council.

"One of the biggest factors for us winning the grant, was that our community has a coalition of community members and providers working together towards a specific goal," Urban said.

The Community Health Council was one of 200 applicants for the grant, according to the Health Resources and Services Administration, which administers the Community Access Program. The Manhattan council is one of 23 nationwide that received this grant.

The local grant will be used to start two demonstration projects, one targeted toward Ogden and one toward rural Pottawatomie County. They will provide 100-percent access to health care for at least 700 uninsured residents in these areas, Urban said.

Tracking costs, outcomes and efficiency of the demonstration projects will be some of the tasks of the council. If everything goes as expected, next year, it will implement a plan for the rest of Manhattan.

The Community Access Program is expected to take five to seven years. This year it dispersed $25 million among 43 coalitions across the country. When the program is complete, it will have spent an estimated $1 billion.

"This is an opportunity for our community to work together and address a nationwide problem, by getting health care to people that can't afford it," said Lannie Zweimiller, chairman of the Community Health Council Board of Directors.

CONTACT US

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
532-0729 rdunn@collegianmail.com

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
532-0729 tehmke@collegianmail.com

Steve Dearinger Photo Editor
532-5492 sdearinger@collegianmail.com

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
532-0730 jbarrett@collegianmail.com

Sarah Bahari City & Government Editor
532-0730 sbahari@collegianmail.com

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
532-0732 kdymacek@collegianmail.com

Derek Boss Sports Editor
532-0732 dboss@collegianmail.com

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
532-0732 eschneweis@collegianmail.com

Ken Wells Online Editor
532-6556 kwells@collegianmail.com

Becky Wilson Copy Chief
532-0732 bwilson@collegianmail.com

Sara Martin Design Editor
532-0731 smartin@collegianmail.com

Jim Calvert Ad Manager
532-6560 jmcalvert@collegianmail.com

Alissa Duncan Assistant Ad Manager
532-6560 aduncan@collegianmail.com

Molly Brammer Online Ad Manager
532-6560 molly@collegianmail.com

BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Display advertising	532-6560
Classified advertising	532-6555
Delivery Problems	532-6555
Photo Reprints	532-6304

BY MAIL
Kansas State Collegian
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

ON THE WEB
www.kstatecollegian.com

The Kansas State Collegian
(USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 2000

Supreme Court decision could affect sentences

TOPEKA — A U.S. Supreme Court decision could affect prison sentences for several Kansas convicts, including a Council Grove man who fatally beat his girlfriend's toddler.

The court's June ruling in a New Jersey case said only a jury — not a judge — could deviate from the sentencing guidelines imposed by a legislature.

Based on that ruling, Deborah Wilson, a Topeka appellate public defender, will ask the Kansas Supreme Court next month to overturn the sentence of Crystal Gould. She was convicted in Reno County District Court of three counts of felony child abuse of her three children.

If Gould wins her appeal, it could open the door for more appeals of sentences where judges have handed down a longer sentence than was called for by state guidelines.

"We believe this is unconstitutional," Wilson said of the practice, known as upward departure.

Under Kansas law, judges are allowed to depart from the sentencing guidelines and order more or less prison time based on a long list of factors.

In Gould's case, the judge said he departed from the sentencing guidelines because of the brutal nature of the crime and because Gould was the children's caretaker.

Bill Rich, a professor at the Washburn University School of Law in Topeka, isn't convinced the decision of the nation's highest court is so clear cut. He interpreted the ruling as meaning a judge can't impose a sentence so harsh that it means a defendant is being punished for a higher-level crime than he or she committed.

"I don't see it as meaning that all of the mitigating factors that go into determining sentencing issues suddenly become jury issues," Rich said. "I don't think the Supreme Court went that far."

Wilson said the ruling might affect the sentence of Scotty Adam, a Council Grove man convicted of one count of second-degree murder for the fatal beating of his girlfriend's 16-month-old son, Timothy Post.

The conviction carried about 20 years in prison, but the judge doubled it to more than 40 years for the protection of society.

— The Associated Press

U.N. peacekeeper killed; 1 missing in West Africa

GENEVA — The U.N. refugee agency said Monday it has scaled down operations along the Guinea-Liberia border in West Africa because of fighting that left one worker dead and another missing.

The U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees stopped work in the Guinean town of Macenta since the head of its mission, Mensah Kpognon, 50, was killed Sunday by gunmen at his home. Another staffer, Sapeu Laurence Djeya, was kidnapped during the unrest.

"There is still fighting in the area," UNHCR spokesman Ron Redmond said.

Nonessential UNHCR personnel were to remain in their homes and all dependents of international staff were being taken to Conakry, the capital of Guinea, Redmond said.

Guinea has more than 460,000 refugees, one of the largest refugee populations in Africa. About 330,000 are from Sierra Leone and 126,000 from Liberia.

Because of security concerns, UNHCR operations — and those of other agencies and charities — might be scaled back, Redmond said.

The main effect of the cutback would be on 10,000 Liberians who crossed into Guinea about a year ago, said Kris Janowski, another UNCHR spokesman.

The Liberians are dependent on the agency for food and probabl would start running out of supplies only after several weeks, Janowski said.

The remaining 108,000 refugees in the area have been there longer and have their own garden plots to supply food. The agency's main service to them is to make sure authorities don't force them back into Liberia, where they are perceived as opposition to the government.

"They might be in trouble," Janowski said.

A still greater concern would be if the pullback spreads westward, where the agency is caring for 300,000 refugees from Sierra Leone.

Liberia has accused Guinea of harboring rebels who crossed into northern Liberia in July and have been fighting government forces there ever since.

Sunday's attack at the U.N. worker's home came less than two weeks after three UNHCR staff members were killed by pro-Indonesia militiamen in a West Timor office of the agency.

— The Associated Press

Silverado Saloon site of The Urge's show tonight

Efforts to bring nationally recognized musical acts to Manhattan have proven successful.

St. Louis ska/funk/punk act The Urge will take the stage of Silverado Saloon tonight, sharing a stage with local favorite Ruskabank and special guest The Sound of Urchin.

The show starts at 9 p.m., and doors will open around 7 or 8 for early arrivals, said Jeff Bilberry, promoter for the show and disc jockey for KSDB-FM 91.9.

"The earlier, the better," Bilberry said. "I have a feeling a lot of people will be wanting to buy tickets at the door."

The drive to turn the Little Apple into a respected and sought-after concert venue have made Bilberry and Dave Studnicka, hosts of 91.9's Tuesday night Local Music Show, into music promoters. Bilberry said organizing The Urge show is a boon for music lovers that usually must drive as far as the Kansas City metro area or Wichita to see well-known acts.

"The way that I got them here is I just kind of took the initiative to make some phone calls and get some bigger bands in town," he said. "The Urge was high on my list. I knew that they would be a really big draw."

Studnicka, trombone player for Ruskabank, said Manhattan residents should take advantage of this particular show in order to create interest in future concerts by big-name bands.

"We wanted to get some bigger name acts in town," he said. "This is the first time a national act has come through in a while."

Tickets for the show are $10.50 if purchased at Streetside Records or the Ticketmaster outlet in the K-State Student Union, but an extra charge might be added if passes are picked up at Silverado's tonight.

Fans should also check out the Local Music Show — members of the Urge will take part in a live interview beginning at 7 p.m., Bilberry said.

— Jenn Davoren

CORRECTIONS & CLARIFICATIONS

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Jenn Davoren at 532-6556 or e-mail collegn@ksu.edu.

ON RECORD

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

- Phi Theta Kappa will meet at 7 tonight in Union 203.
- Society for Creative Anachronism/Shire of the Spinning Winds will meet at 7 tonight in the southeast portion of City Park.
- Block and Bridle will meet at 7:15 tonight in Weber 123.
- Golden Key Executive Board will meet at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday in the Union Council chambers.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Riley County

Sunday, Sept. 17

- At 8:25 a.m., Robert W. O'Neill, 529 Laramie St., was arrested for battery.
- At 9 p.m., Timothy D. Dale, 2124 Patricia Place, was arrested for DUI, battery of a law officer and resisting arrest. Bond was set at $2,000.

Monday, Sept. 18

- At 12:06 a.m., Hongsun Chai, Ogden, Kan., was arrested for driving on a suspended license. Bond was set at $500.

K-State Police

- No reports of note were made.

TODAY
Career Fair K-State Career Fair
10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.
Bramlage Coliseum

- Visit with over 300 employers, network for internships and jobs, and get career information
- Check out next day interview opportunities with more than 50 employers
- Register for door prizes
- Catch the FREE SHUTTLE BUS running every 15 minutes between Student Union south parking lot and Bramlage Coliseum west parking lot
- PARK FREE at Bramlage Coliseum west parking lot
- Bring multiple copies of your resume, dress professionally, and spend the day!

Map and list of participating employers is available at Career Fair or at www.ksu.edu/ces/

Register for door prizes

Company	Door Prize
AEROTEK	Jacket
ANDERSEN CONSULTING	Fleece blanket
ARCHER DANIELS MIDLAND COMPANY	Duffle Bag
BHA GROUP HOLDINGS INC	Polo Shirt & Football
BLACK & VEATCH	Notebooks with Calculators
BOEING COMPANY	Baseball caps (3)
BUTLER ROSENBURY & PARTNERS INC.	Nylon Briefcase
CARGILL	Backpack; T-Shirt (3); CD Holder (2); Koozie (4); Sweatshirt; Hat (2)
CITGO PETROLEUM CORPORATION	Portfolio (1)
CONOCO INC-FINANCE DOWNSTREAM	Green canvas bags (2)
DEBRUCE GRAIN COMPANY	$50 Gift Card to K-State Student Union (4)
DEERE & COMPANY	Leather Portfolio; Toy Tractor
EPIC LANDSCAPE PRODUCTIONS LC	Short-sleeved Polo Shirt (1)
EXXON MOBIL	Saddlebag Briefcase (2)
FARM CREDIT	Pens (4)
FERGUSON ENTERPRISES INC	T-Shirt (2); Hat (2)
FISHER CONTROLS INTERNATIONAL INC	Shirts (2)
GA JOHNSON CONSTRUCTION COMPANY	Briefcase
GARMIN INTERNATIONAL INC	Travel Tote Bag (1); Hats (2); T-Shirts (3)
HALLIBURTON COMPANY	Gym Bag (2)
HORMEL FOODS CORPORATION	Portfolio; Leather CD Holder; Spare T-Shirt
HYATT REGENCY CROWN CENTER	Dinner for 2 @ Peppercorn Duck Club; Dinner for 2 @ Skies Restaurant
IBP INC	Golf Shirt
KENNEDY & COE LLC	Denim Shirts (2); Pen/Pencil Set (1)
KOCH INDUSTRIES	Planner; Denim Shirt
MISSORI DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION	K-State Sign(1)
MOTOROLA	Bag & Mugs (2)
NATIONAL INSTRUMENTS	Backpacks (2)
NESTLE USA	10 lb Crunch Bar (2)
NEW ENGLAND FINANCIAL	Large Duffle Bag (1)
REINKE MANUFACTURING COMPANY INC	Jacket (2)
SAS INSTITUTE INC	Bulova Alarm Clock
SHAFER KLINE & WARREN INC	Weber Grill
SPRINT	Sprint Umbrellas (24); $20 Calling Card (5)
STATE STREET - KANSAS CITY	Portfolio
TDINDUSTRIES INC.	Briefcase(3), baseball cap(2)
UNITED METHODIST YOUTHVILLE	Puzzles (10); Pens (10); Stress Stars (10; Portfolios (3)
WAL-MART STORES INC	$50 Gift Certificate
WATERLOO INDUSTRIES	6- Drawer Tool Chest (2)
WILSON & COMPANY ENGINEERS & ARCHITECTS	Mini Swiss Army Knife (5)

K-State Career Fair is sponsored by Agriculture Ambassadors/Ag REPS (College of Agriculture); Dean's Student Advisory Council (College of Architecture, Planning and Design); Arts and Sciences Ambassadors (College of Arts and Sciences); Marketing Club (College of Business Administration); Education Student Ambassadors (College of Education); Engineering Student Council (College of Engineering); Human Ecology Council (College of Human Ecology); Salina Student Government Association (College of Technology and Aviation); and Career and Employment Services

STEVEN DEARINGER/Collegian

Gary Howard, president and founder of the REACH Center for Multicultural Education, speaks Monday night in Union Forum Hall. Howard talked about the "River of Diversity: A Personal and Professional Journey" as part of Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week.

Speaker identifies racial barriers

By SHANNON MARSHALL
Kansas State Collegian

For Gary Howard, acceptance and understanding of diversity can be likened to a river journey.

"Throughout our lives, we go through this journey where we go through different stages of understanding, and I suggest that we think of this journey as a river," he said.

Howard, president and founder of the Respecting Ethnic and Cultural Heritage Center for Multicultural Education, spoke Monday evening in Union Forum Hall as part of K-State's Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week.

Identifying himself as a "white multiculturalist," Howard questioned the audience about why society still struggles with issues concerning cultural diversity.

"Why has it taken us so long?" he asked. "Why haven't we done it? Why aren't we there?"

As part of his presentation, Howard involved members of the audience and encouraged them to talk with one another about barriers they face along the road to diversity.

Some of the barriers that the audience said they had encountered were economic inequality, the "glass ceiling," ignorance, fear of rejection and language between different cultures.

Be Stoney, assistant professor of foundations and adult education, was in charge of bringing Howard to K-State to speak.

"He is speaking from personal experience as a white multiculturalist," she said. "I thought it important to bring him here to speak, because it is our goal to prepare students for a more multicultural world."

In addition to founding the REACH Center, Howard wrote "We Can't Teach What We Don't Know," a book aimed at educating educators about gaining a better understanding of diversity and embracing diversity in the classroom.

Daniel Sanchez, sophomore in secondary education, came eager to hear Howard's presentation.

"I am here to get a better idea of how to deal with diversity," he said. "I am in secondary education, and I would like to learn more so when I go out to the schools I will be more prepared."

Part of Howard's presentation centered around the theory of the "Stages of Racial Identity Development." This theory contains eight stages, through which, Howard said, we become aware of other cultures and eventually accept them.

"Everyone has culture," he said. "We need to claim our culture."

Linda Erickson, graduate student in elementary education, said she was impressed with Howard's presentation.

"I think it's surprising because when you think of white people, you think they don't understand about other cultures," she said. "I'm amazed at his level of commitment and understanding. I learned a lot tonight. I guess you can never learn enough."

Erickson was not the only member of the audience who was impressed with Howard's message. Marcela Parra, graduate student in multicultural curriculum instruction and National Origins Program planner, said the lecture was productive, as well.

"His presentation was dynamic," she said. "He introduced a lot of solid issues that need to be brought up, and he touched a lot of areas that people often don't want to touch."

Howard ended his presentation by discussion the difficulties that are encountered on the journey towards a greater acceptance of diversity.

"It's been a hard thing in my life to trust the river," he said. "Sometimes you get caught in back currents, but it is so encouraging to see young people here as well as those who have been on the river for a long time."

Club builds awareness, raises funds for needy

By AMY BRIGGS
Kansas State Collegian

Thirty-five sophomores spending the night in sleeping bags in the Union Plaza might not sound like an normal campaign tactic, but it is not normalcy that the members of Silver Key are wanting. They want awareness.

From 7 tonight to 7 a.m. Wednesday, the students will conduct a sleep-out as part of their homelessness awareness campaign.

"Our first goal is to raise awareness and spread the word about the Manhattan Emergency Shelter," said Gaea Wimmer, sophomore in agricultural education and club secretary.

> "Our first goal is to raise awareness and spread the word about the Manhattan Emergency Shelter."
>
> Gaea Wimmer, sophomore in agricultural education

"Our second goal is to raise funds for the shelter to use."

The club solicits donations of clothing, toiletries and money from the Manhattan community and greek houses for the emergency shelter. It will be accepting donations during its sleep-out.

The collection goal for this year is $3,500, including the estimated value of toiletries and clothing. Last year, Silver Key collected $2,200 for the emergency shelter.

Junell Norris, executive director of the Manhattan Emergency Shelter, said the assistance from Silver Key has three important benefits.

"First is fund-raising. The campaign brings in much-needed revenue," Norris said. "Second is volunteerism. With the group talking about the emergency shelter, we see an increase in volunteerism from K-State students. Third, the campaign generates awareness. For a lot of college students, they don't realize there's a homeless population in Manhattan."

In conjunction with the sleep-out, the Manhattan City Commission will issue a proclamation that today is Homeless Awareness Day, said Carla Jones, associate dean of student life.

In previous years, the mayor would speak at the sleep-out event, but the commission meeting is the same night.

In addition to educating students about Manhattan homelessness, Silver Key members were expected to educate citizens in their home communities about homelessness over the summer.

"I just tried to raise awareness in my community," Wimmer, from Mound City, Kan., said. "I talked to my family and let them help spread the word."

The sleep-out also will serve as a way for club members to get to know each other, said Nicole Fisher, sophomore in apparel design and production and club president.

"It's a bonding time for our group," Fisher said.

"We have activities for ourselves. We don't stay up all night. Some of us do sleep."

Campus Forum 395-4444

Production Staff GTM Sportswear

It's Greek to Me has openings for FT second shift and several PT weekend positions (4p.m.-2a.m.). Great positions for students, night owls, 2nd incomes, Christmas money and working around family schedules.
No experience necessary.

Full-time Benefits include: •Health/Dental Insurance •Paid annual leave •401 k Retirement Plan

Apply today at 520 McCall Road, Manhattan, KS 66502 EOE
or e-mail kristin@igtm.com

Name your favorite book & movie
Claflin Books and Copies

KSU Softball Club Women's Fastpitch
Informational Meeting
September 21
7:30 p.m.
Union 213
Questions??? Call Jon Rich 776-7437

Ramblers
STEAK HOUSE & SALOON
T-Bone Tuesday
14 oz. USDA Choice T-Bone with all the Trimmings.
Drink Specials
$1 Old Mil Light Bottles
$1.50 Domestic
$3.75 Pitchers
8711 E. Hwy. 24
Manhattan, KS
539-4989

American Legion
BINGO!
Sunday 2 p.m.
Tuesday 1:30 p.m.
Wednesday 7:30 p.m.
"Progressive Bingo"
Sundays & Wednesdays
- Win Big Bucks -
114 McCall Rd.

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

The Barn At Kimble Cliff
"We sell memories"
ANTIQUES & Collectibles
Open Fri. Sat. & Sun. 1-5:30 PM
Weekdays By Appointment
(785) 539-3816
6782 Anderson Ave.
Manhattan, KS 66503

TACO HUT
"Where good friends get together since 1969"
WEDNESDAY SPECIALS
Sancho or Burrito $1.65
Taco Dinner $2.45
Drive thru now open!
MON. thru THURS. 10:30 P.M.-10:00 P.M.
FRI 10:30 A.M.- 11:00 P.M.
SAT. 11:00 A.M.- 11:00 P.M.
SUN.11:00 A.M.- 10:00 P.M.
2809 CLAFLIN 539-2091

TUESDAY crawl
25¢ DRAWS starting at 3 p.m.
$1.00 Jello Shots
"Don't Forget Domino's Pizza by the Slice."
ALL NIGHT IF YOU CAN HANG
Rowdy Trouty's
776-2424

SPECIALS
Monday
$1 wells & bottles
1/2 price hamburgers
Tuesday
$1.75 domestic pitchers & wells
$3.95 Chicken Fried Steak
Wednesday
$2 everything
10¢ peel & eat shrimp
Thursday
$1.50 bottles & wells
10¢ wings
Live DJs Tuesday-Sunday
Come pick up our movie schedule*
Outdoor Movie Theatre

Taco Tuesday
4:30 p.m.- 9:30 p.m.
50¢ tacos
Karaoke
9 p.m.- 1 a.m.
Wednesday Steak Night
$5.99 8 oz. K.C. strip or Sirloin
$8.99 16 oz. K.C. strip or T-bone
$2.00 Coronas
$1.50 Margaritas Reg. or Strawberry
$1.00 Draws
Bobby T's
Open 11 a.m. - 'till the partys over
$3 Big Bob Beers
3240 Kimball Ave. 537-8383

R You N?
Golden Key National Honor Society
Membership Deadline:
September 25, 2000

Fun for the whole family!
Entertainment throughout both days!
LITTLE APPLE FESTIVAL 2000
Free Admission
Folklife Exhibition & Demonstrators
Crafts Vendors
Chidren's Area
Variety of Food
Juried Art Show
City Park - Manhattan, Kansas
September 23 9 am-6 pm
September 24 10 am-5 pm
Sponsored by Parks and Recreation Department
Manhattan Kansas

cellular phone lowdown

Regulations outlined for communicators everywhere

ZAC COOK

A beautiful sunset on the scenic overlook south of Manhattan, Kan. A young couple admiring the view. The silence, smooth and enveloping, like the veil of a giant bubble, suddenly pierced with the sharp tone of an object hiding in the man's pocket. A sound that persisted even as his ungirlfriend delivered the death stare that said, "We are over on so many different levels if you answer that." The tune known as Tango — coming from his cellular phone.

Today, cell phones have evolved into a killer and lifesaver. Their identity is clouded because they both cause accidents and save victims' lives. These electronic products will be cradled by 80 million Americans before this year's end and affect the lives of almost all of us. Do the math, and you will see. Two out of every seven students at K-State will have a cell phone, according to the national average.

But that's a conservative number because the college age group (18-24) leads the way purchasing every technological advance, cell phones included. So I'm venturing to bet that one in three K-State students owns a cell phone. I do.

People make use of their technology, sometimes at the expense of others. I'm here today to tell you about the official Student Governing Association resolution 00-01-68 K-State officially stamped rules for cell phones.

1) If you're not coordinated enough to walk and talk on your little Nokia 6120, stop and use one of the comfortable benches. Last Monday, I saw a guy who was chatting away and suddenly looked up to find a person in his way. He veered, but reflex was not enough. He tripped on the sidewalk and fell as his phone clattered to the pavement. I saw squirrels laughing.

2) If you are uncoordinated (refer to No. 1), please don't talk and drive anywhere. I'm serious. The Kansas Highway Patrol doesn't keep official records for accidents caused by cell phones, but they do have a category called inattentive drivers. You fall in this category and become a danger to society. There are thousands of accidents in Kansas alone caused by the phenomenon known as driving while talking on the phone.

3) Turn your phone on silent ringer when you go to class. The looks your professor gives you when your phone blatantly interrupts an intellectual discussion are for real. Have a little courtesy. Before silent ringers, there used to be exceptions. Like if your sister was in the hospital for surgery in Garden City and your dad needed to call you in the middle of psychology and tell you how she came out. But technology took care of that problem.

4) Put your phone in your bag and not strapped to your belt. I don't know if you have realized it or not, but it looks like you're packing heat. Only problem is, you're not. Stow it. Cell phones aren't scared of the dark. They like cozy bookbags.

So now you know the rules, I hope you follow them. I hope no one else scrapes their knee or has an auto accident for not following rules No. 1 and No. 2. I hope you will remember rule No. 3 before you face the embarrassment of having the whole class dissect your every move as you fumble for the ringing phone. I hope No. 4 changes your ways or I will laugh at you for looking like Dirty Harry strappin a .44-caliber Magnum.

Cell phones are a great tool when used correctly (except for that whole brain cancer thing). They have awesome long-distance rates and great coverage areas (except Sprint PCS, when all 5,000 students call at once). They are convenient. In the case of a blizzard, they are very convenient. Last winter I pulled a 900-degree skid and went through the fence on Interstate 70 just into Ellsworth County (yeah, that is two and a half turns). As I hung precariously from the ledge holding me above a ravine, I calmly dialed 911 and said a silent prayer, "Thank you, God, for inventing cell phones."

Zac is a junior in biological and agricultural engineering. You can e-mail him at zcook@collegianmail.com.

VINCE JACOBSON/Collegian

CAMPUS fourum 395-4444

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions on topics relevant to the publication.

Is Monday bash George W. Bush day at the Collegian?

■

I'm 5'9", 120 pounds, and I could have gained five yards on Ball State.

■

The person who criticized Bill Snyder is the biggest idiot in the world. He played 80 players. What more could he do?

■

Taryn, leave Bush alone. At least he's honest about what Gore is.

■

Excuse me, Taryn, how do you get a budget surplus from massive tax cuts? I am confused.

■

A rat sifting through rotting garbage is still 10 times more choosy than a Collegian columnist is worth her words.

■

No one may be impressed by the 76-to-nothing beating of the worst team in the country. But what was impressive was that Coach Snyder was still able to motivate his team to play the worst team in the country.

■

Did somebody actually suggest that Bill Snyder wasn't a good coach in yesterday's Fourum? Must have been a freshman.

■

Missing on Highway 24: one Kansas State sign. The Missouri Department of Transportation Career Fair door prize: one Kansas State sign. Coincidence? I think not.

■

I hate teachers who think that I am wrong just because my experiences do not match with their theory. I thought that college was supposed to be a little bit more open-minded than that.

Problems, headaches for student preparing for dating experiences

CLINT MUDRICK

Sitting in my room one night watching (believe it or not) the late rerun of "Seinfeld," a friend's girlfriend greeted me with "I've got a girl that I want you to call."

The setup. Of the stressful experiences in a college male's life, the setup is premier. This is partially because males know females create setups for one of several reasons, and this reason must be determined before the setup can be evaluated.

The spite setup is among the cruelest used by females. In this form, the matchmaker finds a girl whose personality is rivaled by the little girl in "The Exorcist" and makes the connection as a form of punishment for the guy. While the guy probably is clueless as to what he did — refer back to male idiocy — the punishment doesn't change. The spite setup, if detected, must be avoided.

The pity setup is next. This stems from a female picking up on the complete hopelessness of a guy. She decides to become the Clara Barton of the dating world and heal the guy's social woes. A pity date sounds good; if a guy need only seem pathetically clueless to find romance, I'd be set. Sadly, this is not so. A pity setup is invariably made with a female that has the "He's so sweet" kind of attitude. Translation: another "let's be friends" relationship.

Finally comes the most rare setup. In this case, the matchmaker is truly interested in playing the role and seeing the sparks fly. The guy and girl are a perfect match for each other; the only thing between here and wedding bells is a phone call.

Did I say only a phone call? When a girl has never seen a guy and thus he has never had a chance to screw up in front of her, one would think his best opportunity to get a date has arrived. However, the opposite is true.

The first call must be made from the position of a total dope, which in my case isn't so hard to do. Call complications are too numerous to name, so for succinctness we will skip the call and assume the male succeeds in getting a date.

Up to four hours prior to a date, girls have confided to me that they start getting ready. As time dwindles to half an hour, the female begins to put finishing touches on her outfit and calmly awaits her caller.

Two hours before a date, a male can be found in underwear and a T-shirt watching television. Thirty minutes before the date, he can be found in the same outfit and position. Twenty minutes later, his tardiness dawns on him. He throws on some clothes, realizes he smells terrible, douses himself in cologne and heads off. Let the date begin.

Any logical male would give anything for a first date at the movies. The environment of darkness and quiet cater perfectly to the male, because it prevents him from misreading signs and, more importantly, makes it possible for him not to say anything stupid for a full two hours.

Sadly, since Carmike Cinemas hiked prices, the movie date has become such that a guy must apply for financial aid to take a girl out. The combination of this with the urge females have to deny such an easy first date leads to the dinner.

Dinner involves an hour of looking toward one's date without ever making any real eye contact. It involves also a prison-like environment where the male has only one escape (the "I need to use the restroom" one) during the entire sitting and is expected during the rest of the time to create conversation.

Sadly, females don't appear to be interested in football, fake wrestling or even "Simpsons" reruns. Thus, the male must open his preplanned arsenal of questions intended to be conservatively dispersed throughout the hourlong dinner. Two minutes later, the arsenal is exhausted and the long awkward silences break in. Five eternities later, the bill arrives.

The male now must make a determination. Doe this girl think that any guy with class would treat a girl to dinner, or does she see such chauvinistic action as definitive of a pig? This must be determined quickly, and he will end up being a cheap chauvinistic bastard who pays for the whole meal, but only after nervously eyeing the bill for five minutes.

The final dating enigma now ensues. This involves dropping the girl off at her place. Does he kiss her? Does he ask her out again? Did he really leave his wallet at the restaurant? As the guy shakily walks the girl to the door, he prays the girl will make the first move.

Such a privilege will not be afforded. Therefore, the male must attempt a kiss, only to be shunned, or leave without embrace and be considered a prude. The guy's choice matters little, as he will no doubt be wrong.

The setup and the ensuing date can be infinitely rewarding. But what wisdom can be given to those as clueless as me? To quote Bluto from "Animal House": "My advice to you is to start drinking heavily."

Clint is a junior in computer information systems. You can e-mail him at cmudrick@collegianmail.com.

ICAT ticket holders not getting enough for extra expense

Some students who have contributed an extra $30 are wishing they hadn't.

The ICAT section of KSU Stadium is supposed to be a reserved section for students who have paid an extra $30. The students in ICAT have been able to get the pink bracelet around their wrists and their special shirts, but one thing they are sometimes not guranteed to get is a seat.

At the Louisiana Tech game, students in the ICAT section ended up having to participate in the one-in, one-out method of seating.

Last weekend, when K-State stomped Ball State, ICAT students could be found in the aisles of their section, or sitting on the grassy hill in the northeast corner of the stadium. They were not allowed to sit in the general admission area.

In the first few games of the season, there are some students who don't even attend. What will happen when all ICAT ticket holders start going to the games? What is the seating going to be like at the bigger games, such as when K-State faces Nebraska?

Those who did pay the extra fee should be granted the privileges they paid for. These students paid for more than just a bracelet and a T-shirt. They contributed $30 to have a guaranteed spot, and right now, many don't even have that.

If a seat can't be found in the ICAT section, alternate seating in the stadium should be found.

▶ OUR VIEW is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
Jenn Davoren News Editor
Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
Sarah Bahari City/Government Editor
Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
Derek Boss Sports Editor
Becky Wilson Copy Chief
Sara Martin Design Editor

READERS WRITE

Lower-class youth should be focus of school debate

Editor,

In response to Emily Cochran's column Thursday, I agree that we as part of the voting public need to be more informed in our decisions and not just follow our "feel-good impressions." However, of the three issues she discussed, in only one did she have a valid attack, on the issue of welfare. As a natural idealist, I wish people would take resonsibility for themselves, but I have been forced into a more realistic outlook when I continually see children from lower-class families on welfare receiving Nintendos and PlayStations for birthdays and Christmas, sporting brand new Nikes and wearing the latest from Tommy Hilfiger.

Yet, Cochran's view on our educational system was far from the U.S.'s best interest. Vouchers not only create competitiveness between public and private schools, but create a larger gap between the social classes in doing so. Schools with "the best teachers and highest performance credentials" often are private schools, funded by high tuitions and outside donations. By providing government money in the form of vouchers, we improve these schools and more middle class students will in turn choose to attend the private schools in search of better education. Unfortunately, most lower-class families can't afford to send their children to better private schools, and the public schools, which have been severely hurt by decreased funding, become the "poor" schools, offering substandard facilities to our lower-class students, and keeping them undereducated and underprepared. Isn't the purpose of public education to offer a good education to all, not just the ones with money?

On the other hand, investing money into our school system works to better the entire system in two ways. First, higher pay for teachers intices more people into the profession and creates a more competitive atmosphere for teachers, therefore improving teacher quality. Second, better facilities, equipment, and supplies increases the educational opportunities for all students, not just the upper/middle class. Ours isn't a country of surfs and kings, but one of equals who all deserve a chance for greatness.

Finally, the affirmative action issue has addressed a real problem in the business world, and though it now might be outdated, it has served an essential purpose. As a female in engineering, I recognize affirmative action has given me a chance to do something that many past women couldn't.

I don't want to be hired to fill a quota, but because of the attention on non-discriminatory hiring, I now have the chance to get a job based on my credentials rather than my sex.

Maybe what we are looking for is not a "right wing/left wing" extreme, but for a combination, taking the idealistic views of some of us and applying a realistic twist to it to continue in the great tradition of this country, the melting pot.

Stefanie Shoup
senior in biological and agricultural engineering

Renters' insurance provides help, security for students

By JENNIFER FARR
Kansas State Collegian

College students renting apartments or houses off campus are more likely to suffer after losing belongings due to unforeseen circumstances such as theft or fire, said Tom Dillon, agent for All State Insurance.

This creates problems for students who lose their personal belongings because landlords assume no responsibility for property lost in these situations. For this reason, 30 to 40 percent of the people who make the decision to buy renters' insurance are students. Renters' insurance protects the buyer from theft, vandalism and all natural disasters upon their personal belongings.

"This way, if you lose everything, you are not out of luck because you have protection against your personal belongings," Dillon said.

The coverage has some restrictions, though. It doesn't cover jewelry, money, animals, water damage or damage occurring because of power failure. Most people who buy renters' insurance insure around $10,000 for their belongings. However, it is different for each person, said Jenny Wallace, agent for American Family Insurance. People can pay monthly installments, but how much a person pays depends on the amount of money they spent on their deductible.

However, Danielle Utash, freshman in psychology, said she feels it is worth paying the money for renters insurance as opposed to losing everything if an accident were to happen.

"I think the money it takes to buy renters insurance is definitely worth it because you don't know what could happen in the future, and by buying it a person will be protected before something does happen," Utash said.

Factors such as whether the buyer has had former insurance and good credit and even the number of units can account in the factor of whether the person will be approved by the insurance company.

"The restrictions are pretty minimal when it comes to buying renters insurance," Wallace said. "If a person wants and needs renters insurance, it is not very difficult to obtain it. They just have to take the initiative into buying it."

"I think the money it takes to buy renters insurance is definitely worth it because you don't know what could happen in the future, and by buying it a person will be protected before something does happen."

Danielle Utash, freshman in psychology

Teddy bears used by police to calm traumatized victims

By JESSICA LEDUC
Kansas State Collegian

Some have memories of the comfort of a warm, fuzzy bear — how it scared away monsters, or was just there for security. Members of the Riley County Police Department are using this teddy bear philosophy to help comfort children they encounter.

Bears on Patrol is a program started in 1990 by the RCPD to provide teddy bears to those in need of comfort. Diane Doehling, assistant systems administrator at RCPD, said people donate money or new bears to help the program.

The bears are kept in the trunks of officers' patrol cars, and wait there until they are needed. When an officer comes upon a situation where a child is involved, a bear makes its way out of the trunk to help comfort them.

"Any time officers come on a child, they give them a bear that they get to keep," Doehling said. "The bears relieve stress and trauma."

The bears are used in accidents, domestic situations or any time a child is in distress.

"The officers will give a bear to the child to help them deal with the stress," Doehling said. "The child focuses on the bear, and it gives the officer a chance to calm them down."

The main purpose of the teddy bears is to provide comfort for those who need it.

WANT TO HELP?
People wishing to help the Bears on Patrol program can send funds to RCPD Bears on Patrol, 115 N. Fourth St. in Manhattan. People also can purchase new bears and drop them off at the above address or at 600 Colorado St.

"The child has got something to comfort," Special Projects Officer Larry George said. "It's a security thing. There's something about the bear that's comforting."

Officer William Morgan said he has only had the opportunity to hand out bears on two occasions. One bear went to a child whose parents were involved in a domestic situation.

"I had a big white Christmas bear to give the little girl, and it was almost bigger than her," said Morgan. "It gave her something to focus her attention on and take her mind off the situation at hand."

The teddy bears are not just given to children. Victims of rape and elderly people also find comfort in the bears.

"We give them a bear and they latch on to it," said Doehling. "It enables us to communicate with them."

GIVE US YOUR OPINION.
CAMPUS FOURUM: 395-4444

call the fourum:
395-4444

5 HUGE MOUNTAINS!
16th ANNUAL Steamboat
NATIONAL COLLEGE WEEK
Complete College Ski Package from only $189
1-88U-SKITHIS (1-888-754-8447)
For more info www.Uskithis.com

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING
532-6560

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
Limited Delivery Area
1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center

RC McGraws
Tuesday Cat's Night Special!
Hot Wings Basket $1.99
Drink Specials
Draws $.99
Old Milwaukee Light Bottles $.99
Come in and watch a tape of last Saturday's Football Game.
2317 Tuttle Creek Blvd.
Manhattan, KS.
776-9588

LONGHORNS BAR & GRILL
Club Tuesday
• non-stop dance party • no country music
$1.50 wells
$2.00 pitchers

The diploma you can wear.

Varney's BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE
"We Give You Our Best"
JOSTENS REWARD YOUR ACHIEVEMENT
September 19th-20th
12:00 p.m. - 6:00 p.m.
Save Up To $150 off Women's Rings
or $225 off Men's
*see store for details

YOUR CHEWABLE VITAMIN DAYS ARE BACK.

Eat with your head.™
New BALANCE GOLD® helps give your body sustained energy, plus 23 essential vitamins and minerals. It's a 40-30-30 ratio of carbs, protein and dietary fat fiendishly hidden in peanuts, caramel and a rich chocolate flavor. Now if only we could make it look like a little cartoon character. Want to learn more? Log on to Balance.com.

Milberger leads 12-place men's golf team

K-State golfer Bryan Milberger watches his drive in the rain at Alvamar Golf Club in Lawrence last season.

FILE PHOTO BY JEFF COOPER/ Collegian

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

Following two rounds of play at the PSI Net Collegiate Invitational Monday in Dellwood, Minn., the K-State men golfers have dug themselves a bit of a hole.

The squad is burrowed in last place after day one, shooting rounds of 319-314—633 to sit five shots behind 11th-place Memphis in the 12-team field.

For the second consecutive week, junior Bryan Milberger leads the Wildcat field in a tie for 29th position, firing rounds of 79-76—155.

Yet, the Olathe, Kan., native is just six strokes out of the top 10 as he attempts to achieve his third straight top-10 finish, after winning the Sept. 12-13 season opener at the Fairway Club Invitational as well as placing eighth at last season's Big 12 Championship.

Meanwhile, junior Matt Williams made his first appearance of the year in Monday's two-round, 36 hole competition. The Holton, Kan., product shot K-State's second-best total of the day, shooting rounds of 77-80—155 to stand in a tie for 41st place.

Virginia Tech and Purdue are tied for the tournament lead after firing two-round totals of 590.

The Wildcats wrap up play at the Invitational today, as they tee off the final 18 holes at 7:50 a.m.

— K-State Sports Information contributed to this article.

GOLF STATS

K-State scores after day one of the PSI Net Collegiate Invitational:
319-314-633 (12th of 12)

T29 Bryan Milberger: 79-76–155
T41 Matt Williams: 77-80–157
T48 Aaron Watkins: 82-78–160
T55 Dan Demory: 81-80–161
T57 Daryn Soldan: 82-80–162

BRIEFS

Lockett earns additional conference weekly honors

Wildcat Aaron Lockett was named Big 12 Conference Special Teams Player of the Week for his performance in the Wildcats' 76-0 victory over Ball State.

Lockett, a junior wide receiver from Tulsa, Okla., had two punt returns for 123 yards against the Cardinals, including an 83-yard touchdown in the first quarter.

On fourth-and-1 from their own 29-yard line, Ball State punter Reggie Hodges angled his kick toward the Wildcat sideline. Lockett took the 54-yard boot and went the distance to give K-State a 20-0 lead.

"We tried to punt the ball out of bounds," Cardinal head coach Bill Lynch said, "and he catches the ball about an inch in bounds and then runs it back for a score."

It was the second consecutive game in which the 5-foot, 7-inch Lockett had returned a punt for a score, making him only the third player in NCAA history to accomplish that feat.

K-State's David Allen (1998 and 1999) and Quinton Spotwood of Syracuse (1997) also had punt returns for touchdowns in back-to-back games.

The honor also marked the second time in three games Lockett has earned the Conference Player of the Week award. Others receiving Big 12 recognition this week include Iowa State quarterback Sage Rosenfels with the offensive award, and Kansas linebacker Algie Atkinson on the defensive side.

K-State/Colorado game to be televised on ABC

ABC television is selected to broadcast the K-State/Colorado football game Sept. 30.

The telecast is scheduled to air at 2:30 p.m. CDT.

Other games selected for broadcast Sept. 30, as part of the Big 12 Conference package were Texas Tech at Texas A&M (Fox Regional, 11:30 a.m. CDT), Oklahoma State at Texas (ABC, 11 a.m. CDT) and Missouri at Nebraska (Fox Sports Net, 6 p.m. CDT).

K-State was an ABC broadcast selection twice last season, with the Wildcats winning against Texas and losing at Nebraska.

— Derek Boss, with contributions from K-State Sports Information.

Women's cross country wins in Lincoln

■ Team takes top-5 spots in Woody Greeno Invitational; men's squad takes 3rd place.

By JASON ARY
Kansas State Collegian

K-State athletics enjoyed all-around success this weekend as both the women's and men's cross country teams placed at the Woody Greeno Invitational in Lincoln, Neb.

"Overall, I really thought both teams did a good job handling the crowd and just taking care of business," head coach Randy Cole said.

For the second year in a row, the Wildcat women won the invitational with a strong performance from sophomore All-American Amy Mortimer.

Mortimer's time of 17:14.30 in the 5,000-meter race was the best women's individual time and went down as the fourth-best ever recorded at Pioneer Park.

K-STATE WINNERS

The women closed out the top-five places in the 5,000-meter University Division race at the Lincoln, Neb., tournament.

1. Amy Mortimer (17:14.30)
2. Korene Hinds (17:18.00)
3. Amanda Crouse (17:54.40)
4. Annie Wetterhus (17:57.20)
5. Cate Holston (18:23.20)

"With 35 schools competing, this invitational really makes for an exciting atmosphere," Cole said. "The girls were in a good rhythm, and they acted like they could have kept running at the end of the race. That is a good thing, because the national championship race is 6,000 meters."

Rounding out the top five were four other Wildcats.

All-American Korene Hinds (17:18.00), Amanda Crouse (17:54.40), and Annie Wetterhus (17:57.20) followed closely behind Mortimer, while freshman Cate Holston (18:23.20) rounded out the top five in Division I points.

This was the women's second victory in a row after winning the Wichita State Gold Classic on Sept. 2.

Saturday's performance pushed the women's team higher up in the polls, as they now are ranked third in the nation, according to the Finish Lynx Division I National Poll.

This is the highest ranking the K-State's women team has ever enjoyed.

"It feels good to get the national recognition," Cole said, "but if you look on down the (rankings), anyone is capable of moving up."

Meanwhile, the K-State men's team enjoyed success at the invitational as well, coming in third overall at the event.

Wildcat runner Shadrack Kimeli took home the best individual time for the second consecutive meet, after winning the Wichita State Gold Classic earlier this month.

In addition, K-Stater Jean-Paul Niyongabo finished with a time of 25:15.10, a mark good enough to notch third place on the 8,000-meter course.

John Sumner (27:03.60), Reid Christianson (27.20.30) and Keil Regehr (27:47.10) all scored points for the Wildcats as well.

"I really thought Shadrack and Jean-Paul ran quite well, with Shadrack pulling away for the win," Cole said. "Our other guys were a little off, but if they concentrate they'll improve.

"You have to remember some of these guys are pretty young. Sumner had never even ran an 8,000-meter race before."

The women's cross country team is looking to improve off of a break-out year in 1999 that saw a second-place Big 12 finish. Ranked third in the nation behind Stanford and Wisconsin, the team features six runners from last year's squad, three of them — Mortimer, Wetterhus and Hinds — having earned All-American honors.

The men's squad is looking to mature this season, as a large contingent of the team is consisted of underclassmen, Cole said. With the guidance of Kimeli and Niyongabo, the team has shown great improvement, locking up consecutive third-place finishes this month.

Due to prior engagements, select members of the men's and women's cross country teams were unavailable for comment following the Lincoln tournament.

K-State will see action again Sept. 30 when the team heads to Palo Alto, Calif., to compete in the Stanford Invitational.

FILE PHOTO BY KELLY GLASSCOCK/Collegian

Sophomore Amy Mortimer had the fastest individual time for the women's cross country team at the K-State v. Missouri-Kansas City dual meet last season.

Sydney Summer Olympics lacking in comparison to hype of years past

Does anyone have any idea when the Olympics start? I waited the whole summer thinking that it was going to come one of those days.

June went by. No Olympics. July went by. No exciting swimming contests of Dream Team dunks. August. Yep. Does anybody know when they start? Are they this year?

Oh, OK. They started this week. For some reason, I didn't notice.

And I'm not alone. In a recent CNNSI.com poll, 30 percent of Americans said they haven't watched the Sydney games at all, 33 percent said they watch it to kill time and only 20 percent watch them religiously (oh, and another 16 percent said this year's games beat watching "Becker" reruns … just so you know).

What usually turns out to be the greatest sporting event in four years filled with heartwarming moments, the best athletes in the world and nonstop action, is far from that this season.

FRANK FLATON

I'm definitely not used to it. This year's games just don't have it yet. Granted, it's early, but I don't see any excitement billowing in the future.

This doesn't make sense. The Sydney games should be forcing nonstop anxiety. Olympics are a time of gathering around with the family and watching Uncle Louie do a drunken rendition of Kerri Strug's vault.

So what's the deal? Why are this year's Snore-olympics about as exciting as a frontal lobotomy without anesthesia?

First, the Summer Olympics should be in summer, not fall. I realize that during the summer it actually was winter in Sydney, but couldn't something be done?

The boring months of July and August are the perfect time to have such a large sporting event. There's no competition. But the Kangaroo games didn't start until Friday, and they come right smack dab in the middle of sports heaven.

Now, instead of competing with Cubs-Brewers game, the Olympics have to compete with college and pro football and the baseball playoffs. Even the Mudwrestling Olympics would have a hard time competing with that lineup. Well, maybe not, but you get my point.

Secondly, these games take place in Way the Hell Down Under, where the majority of Americans can't go. In 1996, the games in Atlanta probably were one of the best modern games in history of the United States. The Americans dominated nearly every event, and there were countless stories and memories surrounding the Hotlanta games.

Which brings me to my next point: not only has the media done a horrible job ensuring there is no hype for the Sydney games, the field isn't making things easier on them.

The Olympics in Atlanta had Kerri Strug, the women's soccer team, the Dream Team and much, much more. Sure, NBC went a little bit overboard with their constant feature sob stories on pretty much every athlete competing in 1996, but the games had an edge-of-your-seat feel to them.

I remember planning my entire day around what events were on television during those games. No such luck this year, though.

Now, all we hear about how Sydney's Olympic-sized pool is so technologically advanced. There even was a 20-minute feature on the Sydney Opera House. Give me a break, please. That's not news, and it's definitely not the Olympics.

Unfortunately, the ultimate show of athletic talent has turned into a stop during a commercial break for sitcoms. I hope I'm being too hard on the games.

There are plenty of days left, so don't get down yet. Maybe, just maybe, the 2000 Olympic Games will prove me wrong.

Frank is a junior in print journalism. You can e-mail him at fflaton@collegian-mail.com.

EVAN SEMON/Collegian

SAVING THE DAY

Manhattan firefighter Lou Combs attends to a fire that broke out at a home at 1708 Humboldt St. on Monday afternoon. The fire began at approximately 1:30 p.m., and firefighters with the Manhattan Fire Department had the flames under control a half an hour later.

Nobody was in the house at the time the fire started. Owner Glenn Wagner said he had smelled something suspicious in the building earlier this week and called an electrician to check out the problem Monday morning.

Something in the home began smoking later in the day, and the fire department was called to control the fire. Damage estimates are unknown.

MONARCHS

■ continued from page 1

think of how small and fragile they are," Zolnerowich said.

Between 100 to 200 million butterflies will be spending November through February in Central Mexico this year, he said. When the winter is over, they will begin to migrate back to their original location. Typically, they don't make it the whole way back, but the females will lay their eggs along the way, sometimes taking three generations of butterflies to make it to their homeland.

Zolnerowich said he didn't know when the butterflies knew when to begin migration, because there is a lot left unknown about insects, but that it might have something to do with the shortening of the day.

Wefald said he noticed them leaving Thursday morning when the wind was just the right speed, around 40 mph.

"They left with the wind," he said Friday. "I noticed this morning there were still some around, but it was just a couple — not thousands."

Wefald said the migrating monarchs can live between eight and nine months, migrating upward of 2,400 miles.

"It's really amazing," he said.

Zolnerowich said monarch butterflies are orange and black because of what they ingest as caterpillars. When they are caterpillars, they feed on the toxinous milkweed. They ingest the toxins and incorporate it into their body, making them distasteful to predators. The orange and black color occurs from the toxins and warns others that they are distasteful, warding off the predator.

He said other butterflies mimic the monarch's pattern to ward off predators, but that they don't actually contain the toxin.

To the new members of KΔ,
WELCOME to our sisterhood.

Maria Agostino	Jessica Farmer	Karissa Hardison	Lauren Rutledge
Ann Armbrust	Maranda Fisher	Megan Hirleman	Jennifer Saunders
Alison Beasley	Ashley Fogle	Kylee Hoffmier	Jacquline Schlup
Katie Biddle	Katie Gabbert	Amanda Hopkins	Kindl Shaw
Kristin Bowen	GG Gaskin	Lacey Keller	Tara Schnieder
Audra Calloway	Allison Garry	Courtney Kelley	Jennifer Scholl
Cathleen Cullinan	Jessica Gentry	Kelly Larkin	Rebecca Siefers
Amy Dalbey	Abby Graverson	Kristen Loyd	Kendra Staley
Becky Day	Kristen Griffey	Kana Lydick	JoAnna
Gina DiLonardo	Brienna Guries	Jaclyn Meyer	VanDraska
Katie Engler	Andrea Harrae	Kari Presley	Leigh Vonada
Rachel Farha	Haylee Hammer	Ashley Rempe	Jeanne Waller
	Bridget Hammond	Kelli Rodyelt	Sarah Wilson

Love, your KΔ Sisters.

At INTRUST, we believe good work should lead to more opportunity. That's why we provide tuition reimbursement along with career advancement, training and other opportunities for learning that work with your schedule. Call INTRUST Human Resources today to find out how you can begin a career with a company that believes your dedication to education should be rewarded and recognized.

Apply at INTRUST Bank OnLine, stop by or call:
630 Humboldt • (785) 565-5400
1-888-458-7366

www.intrustbank.com

Equal Opportunity Employer, M/F/D/V
Member FDIC

YES YOU CAN. INTRUST.

Diversity Counts

Because we recognize the importance of diversity in every facet of our lives, and are committed to enhancing diversity at K-State, we support the Diversity Counts campaign.

Jon Wefald, President

Pat Bosco, Associate Vice President for Institutional Advancement/Dean of Student Life

James R. Coffman, Provost

Yar M. Ebadi, Dean, College of Business Administration

Brice Hobrock, Dean, KSU Libraries

Michael Holen, Dean, College of Education

Marc A. Johnson, Dean, College of Agriculture

Carol Kellett, Dean of Human Ecology

Terry S. King, Dean, College of Engineering

Robert S. Krause, Vice President for Institutional Advancement

Dennis Kuhlman, Dean, College of Technology and Aviation

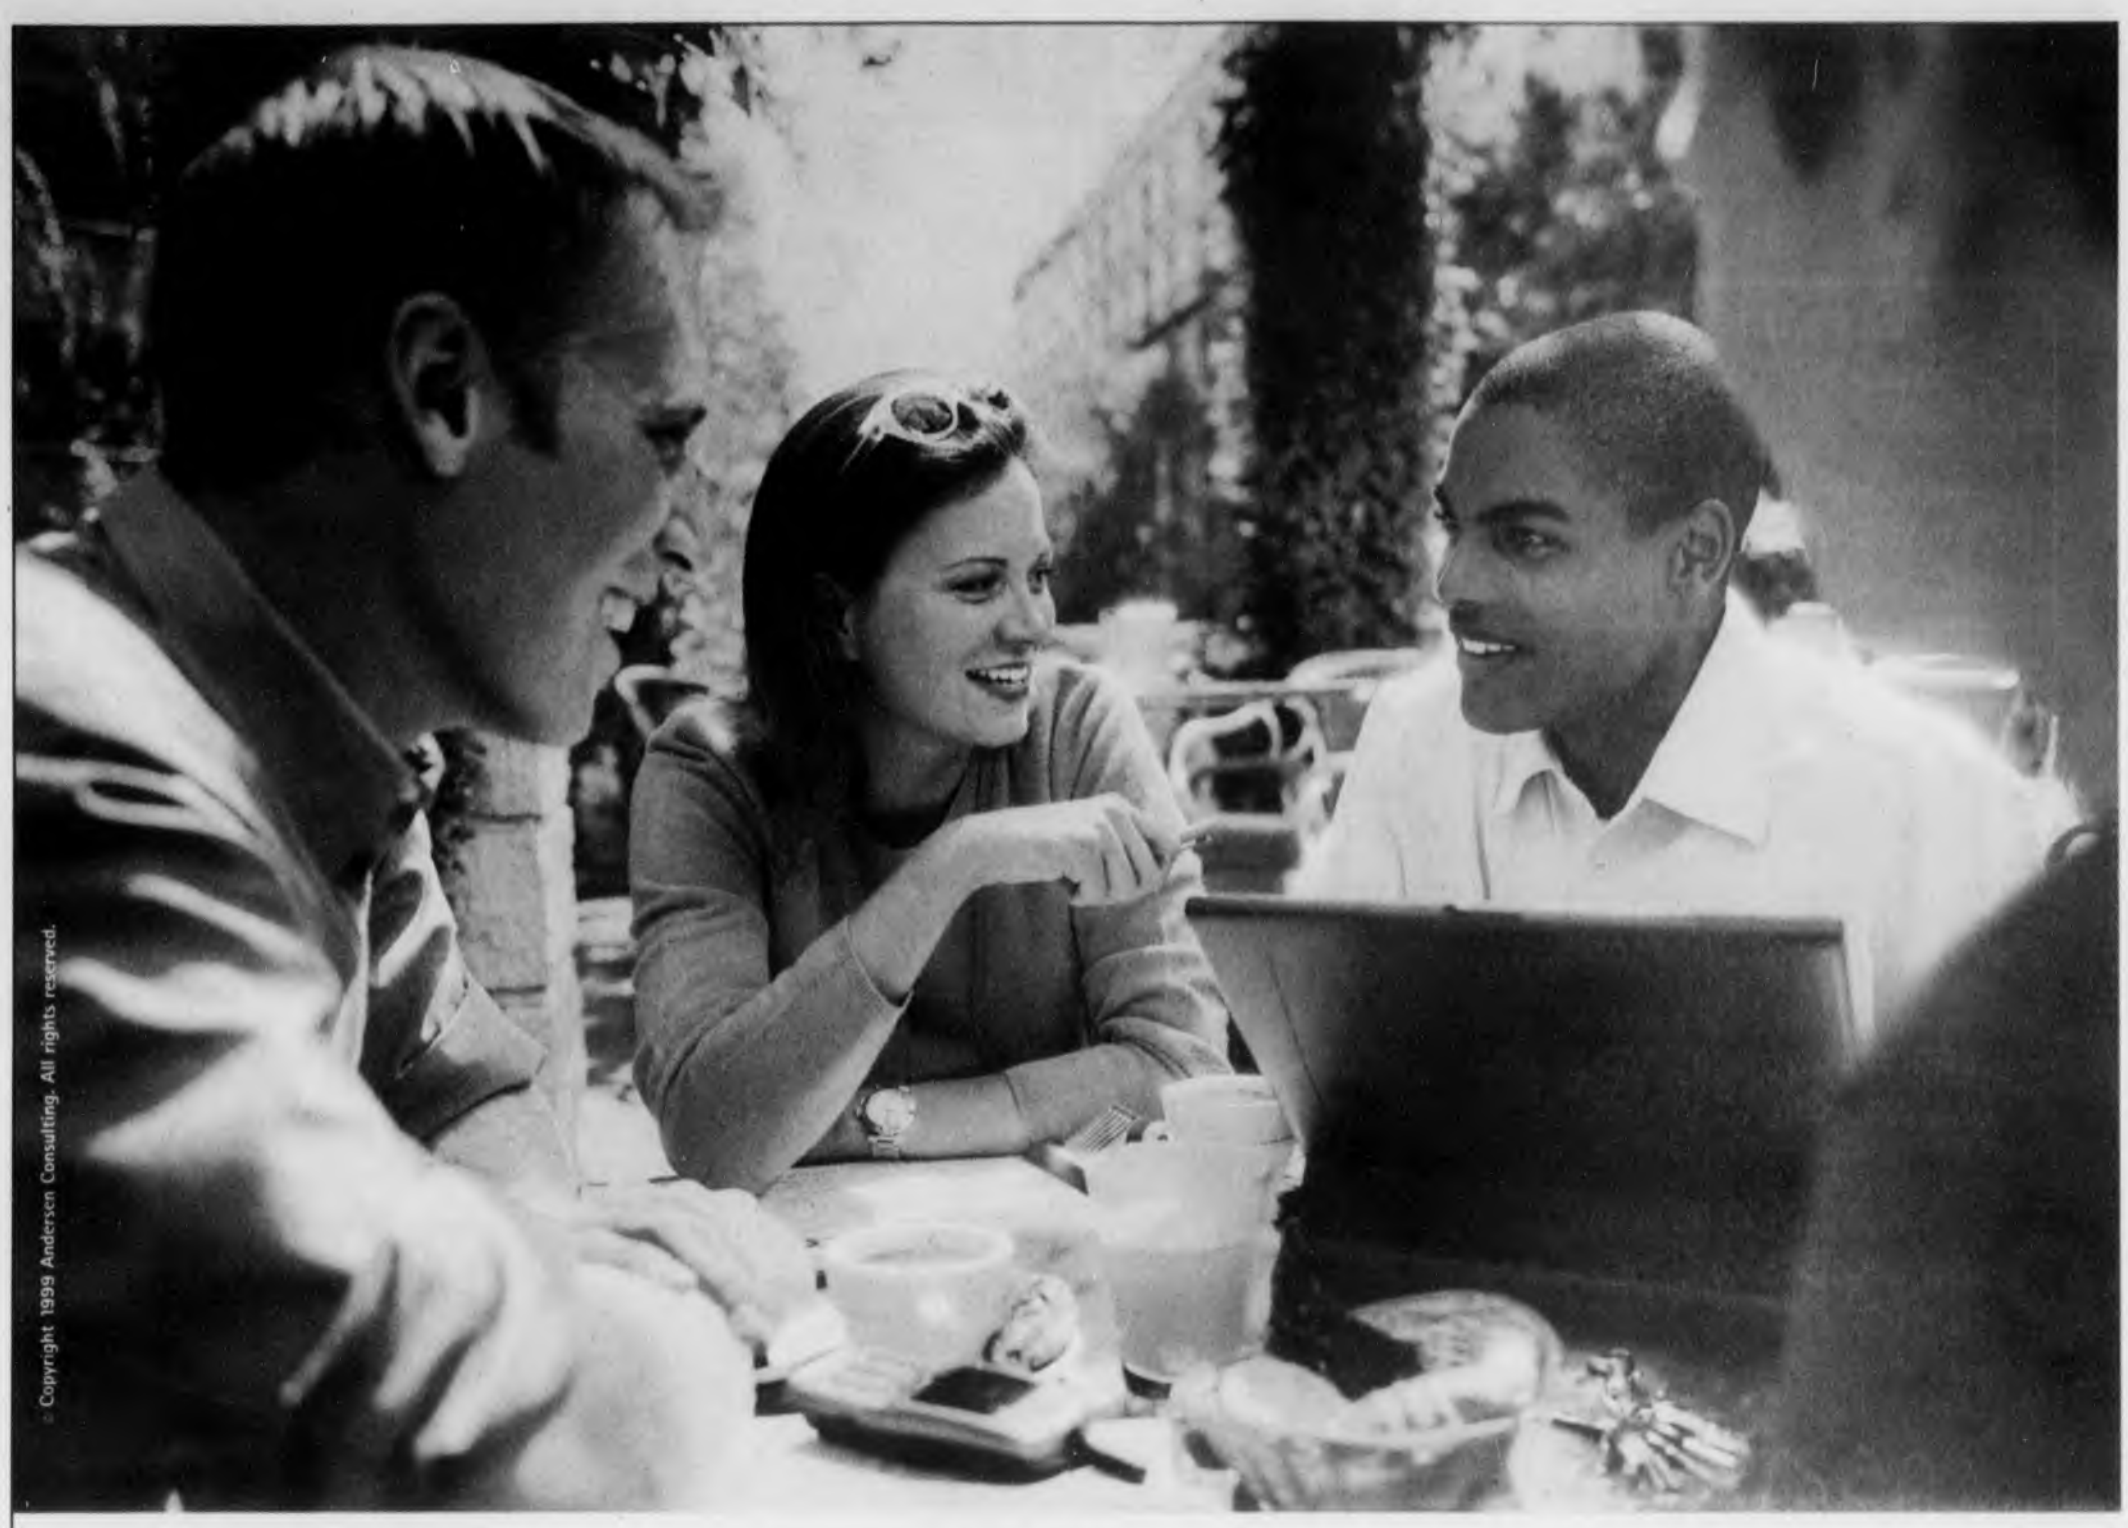
Dennis L. Law, Dean, College of Architecture, Planning, and Design

Peter J. Nicholls, Dean, College of Arts and Sciences

Deb Patterson, Women's Basketball Coach

Mickey Ransom, President, Faculty Senate

Thomas M. Rawson, Vice President for Administration and Finance



Ralph C. Richardson, Dean, College of Veterinary Medicine

Bill Snyder, Football Coach

Ron Trewyn, Vice Provost for Research and Dean of the Graduate School

Beth Unger, Vice Provost for Academic Services and Technology

Jake Worcester, Student Body President

Fresh beginning. Wide-open possibilities. It's all about staying connected.

Create a future with us.

Please join us on September 19th for the Andersen Consulting Information Session, held in the KSU Student Union (Little Theatre) from 5:00-7:00pm. Andersen Consulting will also be attending the Career Fair on Sept. 19th at Bramlage Coliseum.

All majors are encouraged to apply and to attend these events. To interview with Andersen Consulting, please submit your resume, an unofficial copy of your transcript, and our Pre-Qualification Form to the KSU Career and Employment Services by Monday, September 25th. First interviews begin Monday, October 9th.

In the electronic economy, sharing ideas can lead to new outlooks - and new opportunities to succeed. By joining Andersen Consulting, you'll help transform world-class organizations as they compete for leadership in the future.

As one of the leading global management and technology consulting organizations, our integrated approach helps put our clients at the forefront of a changing business world. You'll work in a supportive environment alongside colleagues from different cultures and backgrounds. Your contributions will have a real impact on our clients' success - and your own as well.

An organization is only as strong as its people. That's why we invest so much in continually developing your skills and your potential. You'll receive top-level training and exposure to a variety of projects and industries. All of which builds a solid foundation for your ongoing career growth.

Let your ideas open up new possibilities. To discover career opportunities, visit www.ac.com

This is a great time to be part of our firm as we create a new identity and seize new opportunities.

Andersen Consulting

New name. ... opportunities. 01.01.01

Cryptoquip & CROSSWORD
presented by:
1219 Moro
Aggieville
JAVA
(785) 587-8888

FOR RELEASE TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 2000

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Fem. opp.
5 Fuss
8 Drop from the payroll
12 Apple-reddening chemical
13 Gun the engine
14 Miss Scarlet's game
15 Schedule
17 Red gem
18 Help
19 Actor Ving
21 Gator bowls
24 Ship's foremost part
25 Storybook villain
26 Ball carrier's target
30 Witness
31 Animal
32 Zero
33 Big banner
35 Knock out
36 Hughes of CBS News fame
37 Nods off
38 Pampered
41 Have a bug
42 A Karamazov brother
43 "50-50" or "phone a friend"
48 Peter of the Monkees
49 Topsy's friend
50 Chloric —
51 Lambs' dams
52 Sun. speech
53 Agts.

DOWN
1 Gymnast's surface
2 Frazier foe
3 "Casablanca" pianist
4 Make
5 Dry
6 Hideaway
7 Think too much of
8 Illegible handwriting
9 Grad
10 Rubik's baffler
11 Organ array
16 Fleur-de- —
20 Courtney Love's band
21 Slam-dance
22 Curved molding
23 Vicinity
24 Animal shelter
26 Diner fixtures
27 Don Juan's mother
28 Pleasant
29 B.P.O.E.
31 Despondent
34 Imbibes
35 Buck
37 Expire
38 Snack
39 Acknowledge
40 Exposed
41 Somewhere out there
44 "— Got a Secret"
45 Diamonds
46 Pinch
47 Mag. staffers

Solution time: 23 mins.

Z	A	P	■	M	E	A	D	E	■	G	A	D
O	W	L	■	A	P	N	E	A	■	O	L	E
O	L	Y	M	P	I	A	N	S	■	L	A	M
■	■	■	E	L	S	■	S	T	U	D	I	O
B	A	S	S	E	T	■	E	E	L	S	■	■
E	L	I	■	S	L	Y	■	R	A	M	P	S
E	L	L	A	■	E	A	R	■	N	I	L	E
N	A	V	I	G	■	P	E	N	■	T	E	N
■	■	E	D	A	M	■	T	O	P	H	A	T
T	O	R	E	R	O	■	U	Z	I	■	■	■
■	I	S	A	■	B	R	O	N	Z	E	A	G	E
E	L	D	■	L	A	B	E	L	■	L	O	G
R	O	O	■	E	L	I	D	E	■	F	O	G

Yesterday's answer 9-19

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/rotary phones. (18+ only) A King Features service, NYC.

9-19 CRYPTOQUIP

G K J G H Z L M Z E P L P V X W P C C W M X G E C L P L V ' C E W W C I E C R P K K P J H W C P C I P V A P C ' L A P R L C H K K.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: WHAT OLD TV SHOW WAS FAVORED BY PLENTY OF THE PHARAOHS? "NAME THAT TOMB."

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: K equals F

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

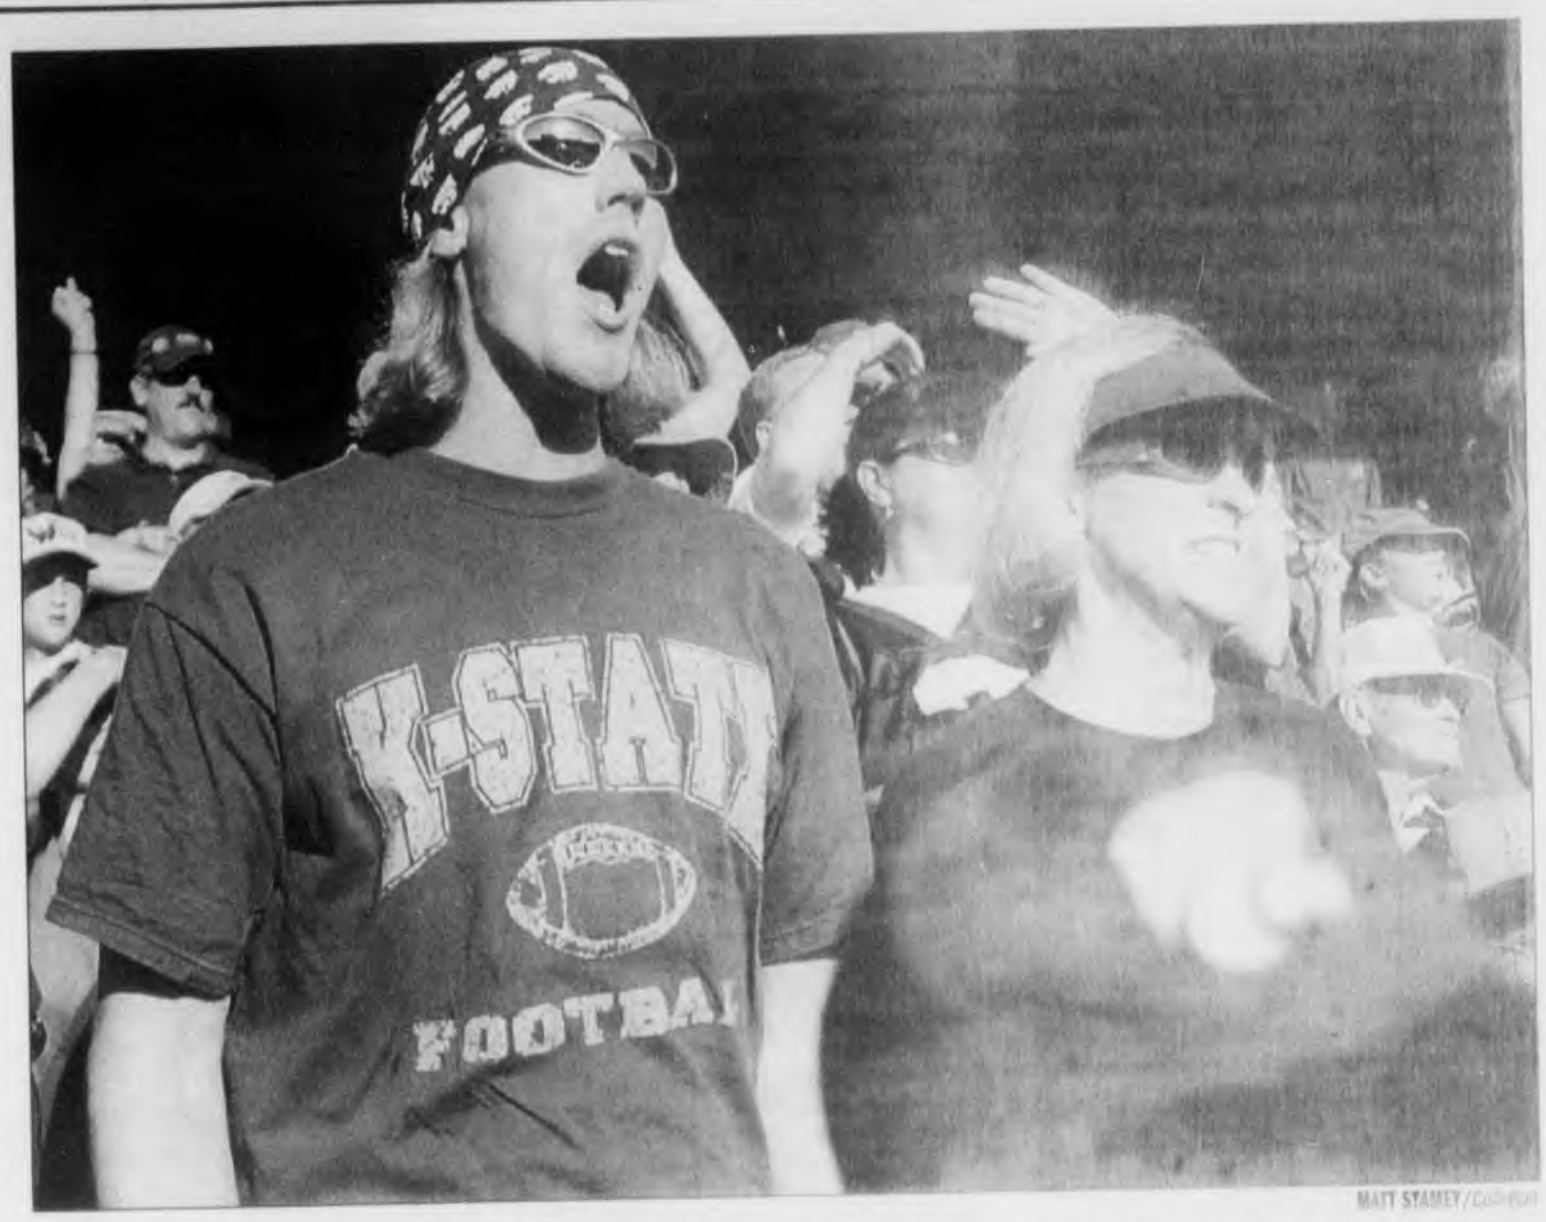
© 2000 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

AROUND CAMPUS

WHO: Thom Jackson, McCain marketing and development director

JACKSON

Thom Jackson wasn't always involved in the arts.



Jackson, McCain marketing and development director, originally received a bachelor's degree in telecommunications.

Jackson, who said he just "fell into the arts," set his degree aside and has performed in several productions at the Columbian Theatre in Wamego, at the Manhattan Arts Center, at McCain Auditorium and in New York, where he is from originally.

After working at McCain for a year and a half, he said he still enjoys the experiences his position offers.

"I have the best of both worlds," Jackson said. "I get to perform as well as have the opportunity to work with professionals."

If you have a suggestion for an interesting person to profile in brief, contact the arts and entertainment editor at arts@spub.ksu.edu.

MATT STAMEY/Collegian

Dann Fisher and his wife, Shannon, respond to a fumble during the first quarter of Saturday's game. The couple have had seats in section 23 for nine years. Fisher said he likes to sit next to the students because it's a better atmosphere.

Jogging for joy

■ Assistant accounting professor participates in ultramarathons for charity donations, enjoyment.

By CHELSEA SCHMIDT
Kansas State Collegian

Dann Fisher likes to run.

A lot.

"One of these days, I'm going to know what it's like to run 100 miles if it kills me," Fisher, associate professor of accounting, said.

Fisher runs ultramarathons, any race that exceeds 26.2 miles, for fun.

"I started running in 1978. We were being disciplined in gym class, so they made us run," he said. "I didn't agree with the punishment, so I was running rather hard and the cross country coach was watching out the window. Hence began my running career."

Twenty-two years later, Fisher has participated in 35 marathons and 14 ultras.

"I've always done better the farther I run," he said.

And distance is a factor in the ultras, he said.

"The neat part about the ultras is you don't have to have any speed," he said. "You just have to be insane."

Fisher, with his golden retriever-mix running partner, Miles, is training for a 48-hour ultramarathon in Dallas over Thanksgiving.

Fisher said he generally runs five days a week, taking two days off to allow his body to recover. He takes caution in varying his distances to allow for recovery.

Water also is important for ultrarunners, Fisher said.

"I either carry a bottle, or I have a hydration pack," he said. "Generally for the long runs, I start from my house and do it in loops. This allows us access to food and water."

Fisher said the food is important in ultramarathons. In a marathon, the aide stations generally consist of cups of water, but during an ultra, the stations are like attending a buffet, he said.

"It's always a nightmare when you are running if you can't eat anything," he said. "You know you are going to run out of steam."

When running an ultra, however, Fisher said each runner has his or her own crew that sets up camp at different mile markers and provides the runners with food, a change of clothes and different shoes.

"Being on a crew is one of the toughest jobs," he said.

Dann's wife, Shannon, is a member of his crew.

"It's usually interesting to see the other people involved," she said. "You meet a bunch of people."

Shannon Fisher said she was not surprised when she learned of her husband's interest in ultras.

"He'd run enough marathons that I wasn't that surprised," she said. "It's something different, and a little out there."

MATT STAMEY/Collegian

Running with his dog Miles, Dann Fisher finishes the 10k Wildkat Chase, a Kappa Alpha Theta philanthropy. Fisher said he took part in order to get in some long distance training. He ran 17 miles earlier in the morning.

Not only does Dann Fisher run ultras for fun, but he said he also has an interest in running them for the community.

Last April, he raised $5,500 for Boys & Girls Club of Manhattan by gaining pledges and then running in a 24-hour run in Hesston, Kan.

He said he wants to continue running for charity donations.

"I'm going to try to it about every year," he said. "People are good with their donations, but I hate to go to the well too often."

Barb Allen, executive director of Boys & Girls Club of Manhattan and Fisher's running partner, said she really enjoyed the fund-raiser.

"It was Dann's idea," she said. "He just came up to me and said, 'What do you think of this idea?' Of course, I loved it."

Fisher said he also enjoys giving back to the community by being president and founder of the local running club — the Flint Hills Harriers Running Club, which consists of about 130 runners of all ages.

"One of the fun parts is helping to train people," he said.

Fisher said he is training to run 100 miles, and to the uncoordinated ones with illnesses, it's nice to help them reach their goals.

"Probably the neatest thing is what someone can accomplish a goal for themselves," he said.

Allen, who has participated in three marathons and is training for her first ultra in December, said Fisher does a great job of coaching the members of the club.

"He gets us all of our team best," she said. "Without him, I don't know if I could have kept with it. He really motivated."

Even with his positive attitude, Fisher said he has a road block that he must face almost each race.

Fisher has interstitial cystitis, a disease of the bladder that results in frequent, painful urination. He said the pain is similar to that of a bladder infection.

"Anyway, having it hasn't stopped a challenge," he said.

But it does use the restroom for discussion and continues to challenge his condition. He said when he competes his condition is at ease, he could have 10 more miles.

Not only is discipline and challenge sometimes easy for Fisher to translate with on the race track, but he said he also uses them as foundations in the classroom.

"I think there is a lot of truth to discipline," he said. "I come in the first day of class and say these are the rules, and I don't create exceptions. I think you are doing a disservice to students when you let them get by and then they get out in the real world.

"I'd piss us soon you have us you, and I'm the bad guy."

Lisa VanMeter, graduate assistant in accounting, said Fisher relates this level of discipline in the classroom.

"It's a real fair, he just sets dimension for us," she said. "As long as you follow the ground rules, it's not a problem."

VanMeter said she enjoys Fisher's teaching style and level of commitment that he brings to the classroom.

"He gives 110 percent effort in everything he does," she said. "If you give 110 percent, you won't have any regrets. He just seems like a consistent person."

"If you are going to run this kind of mileage, you have to be committed and he's committed to helping you learn and committed to K-State."

For now, Fisher continues to train to reach his 100-mile goal.

"What is most interesting about the ultras is that it's kind of a mirror of life," he said. "You start out feeling pretty good, and you know you are going to go through hard spots. And there are spots that are really fun. It's hard to describe how good it feels when you finish."

THE GONGFARMER

BY RANDY REGIER

Monkey Boy

BY BRENT ENGSTROM

RETIREMENT INSURANCE MUTUAL FUNDS TRUST SERVICES TUITION FINANCING

TIAA-CREF provides financial solutions to last a lifetime.

Call us for a free consultation

Building your assets is one thing. Figuring out how those assets can provide you with a comfortable retirement is quite another.

At TIAA-CREF, we can help you with both. You can count on us not only while you're saving and planning for retirement, but in retirement, too.

Just call us. We'll show you how our flexible range of payout options can meet your retirement goals.

With TIAA-CREF, you benefit from something few other companies can offer: a total commitment to your financial well-being, today and tomorrow.

With TIAA-CREF, you can receive:*

- Cash withdrawals
- Systematic or fixed-period payments
- Interest-only payments
- Lifetime income payments
- A combination of these

Guaranteed by our claims-paying ability.

CREF GROWTH ACCOUNT[1]
26.70%	27.87%	26.60%
1 YEAR AS OF 6/30/00	5 YEARS 6/30/00	SINCE INCEPTION 4/29/94

*Note: Availability may depend on your employer's retirement plan provisions contract. Under federal tax law, withdrawals prior to age 59½ may be subject to restrictions, and may also be subject to a 10% additional tax. Additional restrictions also apply to the TIAA Traditional Annuity.

CREF Growth is one of many CREF variable annuities.

TIAA CREF Ensuring the future for those who shape it.℠

1.800.842.2776

www.tiaa-cref.org

For more complete information on our securities products, please call 1.800.842.2733, ext. 5509, to request prospectuses. Read them carefully before you invest. 1. Due to current market volatility, our securities products' performance today may be less than shown above. The investment results shown for CREF Growth variable annuity reflects past performance and are not indicative of future rates of return. These returns and the value of the principal you have invested will fluctuate, so the shares you own may be more or less than their original price upon redemption. • TIAA-CREF Individual and Institutional Services, Inc. distributes the CREF and TIAA Real Estate variable annuities. • Teachers Personal Investors Services, Inc. distributes the Personal Annuities variable annuity component, mutual funds and tuition savings agreements. • TIAA and TIAA-CREF Life Insurance Co., New York, NY, issue insurance and annuities. • TIAA-CREF Trust Company, FSB provides trust services. • Investment products are not FDIC insured, may lose value and are not bank guaranteed. © 2000 TIAA-CREF 08/03

Who will make a smart investment in their future?

You will.

That is, if you take a position with the Fortune 500 company, State Street. As a leader in the accounting and finance industry, we offer a fast-paced, goal-oriented environment for ambitious individuals who are ready to make solid career investments. We will be attending your Career Fair and we currently have the following opportunities available:

FUND ACCOUNTANT
PORTFOLIO ADMINISTRATOR
INTERNS
SENIOR PORTFOLIO ADMINISTRATOR
ACCOUNT ADMINISTRATOR

Visit our web-site for information on these and other outstanding career opportunities: www.statestreetkc.com

We offer competitive pay and benefits including:

- On-site fitness center
- Parking
- Cafeteria
- Retirement savings plans
- And much more!!
- 100% tuition reimbursement
- 401k
- Insurance
- Casual business environment

If you are ready to invest in your future by working with an industry leader, send your resume and cover letter to: State Street Human Resources, Dept. KSU-9.00, 801 Pennsylvania Avenue, Kansas City, MO 64105. Or fax: 816-871-9627. You may also e-mail your resume to staffing@statestreetkc.com (All responses must include Dept. KSU-9.00.) EOE/AA

STATE STREET.
Serving Institutional Investors Worldwide℠

www.statestreetkc.com

If you love brainstorming because it feels like an athletic event, we'll introduce you to some Olympians.

Microsoft

Microsoft Technology Talk
Wednesday, September 20th at 5:00pm
Flint Hills Room-2nd Floor Student Union
Sponsored by ACM
Free Pizza and Raffle for a Palm-sized PC!
Bring your resume if interested in full-time or internship positions
www.microsoft.com/college

Microsoft is an equal opportunity employer and supports workplace diversity. © 2000 Microsoft Corporation. All rights reserved.

CLASSIFIEDS

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.
CALL 532-6555

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FALL LEASING available! Call now! Fully furnished, washer/ dryer, fully equipped kitchen, alarm systems, computer lab, copier, and fax availability, fitness center/ rec room, swimming pool, reserved parking, tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. University Commons Apartments, 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

CAMPUS FIVE BLOCKS. Very large two-bedroom with air-conditioning. Clean, quiet location. Electric, gas, water, trash paid. No dogs. 537-8389.

EXCELLENT TWO-BEDROOM one block from campus. $550 per month, water/ trash paid. 341-4496.

LET US HELP you find a place to live. We may have what you need. No dogs. Leave message, 537-8389.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOMS, dishwasher, washer/ dryer, central air $450- $475. Now available. (785)776-8455.

VERY NICE two-bedroom with air-conditioning. NEWLY REDECORATED, clean, quiet, convenient location. Heat, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. 537-8389.

115 Rooms Available

ROOM AVAILABLE NOW in four-bedroom house. Pets allowed, two bathrooms, utilities shared four ways. 1207 Houston. $300/ month. (785)770-9484, (785)556-1745.

120 For Rent- Houses

NEW DUPLEX. FOUR-BEDROOM, two bath, two living rooms. Available October 1. $1000/ month. Pierre St. (785)456-7655.

TWO STORY BRICK, very large, three- four-bedroom, two baths, central air, laundry hook-ups, quiet location, fenced yard, parking. 537-8389.

145 Roommate Wanted

ROOMMATE WANTED for house one block from campus. Gas, water and trash paid. Off-street parking. 776-5422.

150 Sublease

CLOSE TO CAMPUS! A very spacious one-bedroom basement apartment in a nice house. Rent: $340 a month. You only pay for electricty, phone and cable! 770-3537.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING 532-6560

310 Help Wanted

ARE YOU a SECONDARY EDUCATION major or GRADUATE STUDENT looking for some teaching experience? TEACHERS ARE WANTED with experience or interest in basic skills (English, communications, social studies, math and science). You must be able to operate independently, and have an interest in activity- based instruction, mastery learning, and the principles of educational psychology. Send self addressed stamped envelope to the Online High School, PO Box 1287, Manhattan, KS 66505-1287. Email to davel@network-splus.net

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!! Looking for part- time dealers. Multi- level market selling Indoor Air Purification Machines. Fun business, good money!!! Call Mitch at (888)814-2893.

BABYSITTER NEEDED 4-5:15, Monday- Friday $50/week. Must have driver's license and own transportation to Stagg Hill Area. Marie, (785)537-1278.

FRATERNITIES• SOROITIES• CLUBS• STUDENT GROUPS. Earn $1000- $2000 this quarter with the easy Campusfundraiser.com three hour fundraising event. No sales required. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so call today! Contact Campufundraiser.com at (888)923-3238, or visit www.campusfundraisier.com

HUMIDOR DREAMS has an opening for position of "cigar girl." to work in the Aggievile area two- three nights a week. Friendly and good people skills a must, call (785)537-7444, ask for Heath.

Spring Break 2001
Jamaica, Cancun, Florida, Barbados, Bahamas.
Now hiring campus reps. Earn 2 fee trips. Free Meals. Books by Nov. 2nd. Call for FREE info pack or visit online sunsplashtours.com
1-800-426-7710

LANDSCAPING POSITIONS. Full-time M- F. Apply in person at Horticultural Services Inc. 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (785)494-2418 or (785)776-0397.

Spring Break Reps needed to promote campus trips. Earn easy money and travel free! All materials provided free. We train you. Work on you own time. Call 1-800-367-1252 or www.spring-breakdirect.com

TUTOR NEEDED for biochemistry (CHEM 265). Please call 770-8186.

CIVIL ENGINEERING Graduate student instructor for part-time position at KSU at Salina. Knowledge of KDOT Soils, Aggregate, and/or Concrete lab techniques a plus. Familiarity with American Concrete Institute Testing also a plus. Send a letter of inquiry and resume to: CIT Program Division of Continuing Education TAC Building, Suite 119 2310 Centennial Ave. Salina, KS 67401 KSU is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

PROPERTY MANAGER needed for large College Community. Position requires strong account and communication skills. Must be able to work independently and handle multiple tasks at once. Salary, plus apartment and benefits. Submit resume to First Management, PO Box 1797, Lawrence, KS 66049 or fax to (785)841-8492.

THOROUGH HOUSE cleaning under ideal circumstances for couple with no pets/ smoking/ children. Send resume to c/o Collegian, Box 1, Manhattan 66506.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY INTERN. VENATOR Group Inc. is a diversified global retailer that operates 4000 stores in 14 countries in North America, Europe, Australia and Canada. Through its athletic group of specialty retail stores-- including Foot Locker, Lady Foot Locker, Kids Foot Locker, and Champs Sports, as well as its direct marketer Eastbay-- we are the leading providers of athletic footwear and apparel. We are always searching for dynamic individuals to join our Distribution Center located in Junction City. This position offers challenges in Information Technology. Responsibilities will include: Assisting with management issues. Providing end users with research data. Providing end user support. Database Design, and Analysis, Training, Documentation. Qualifications: Skilled user of Microsoft Access, Able to use Structured Query Language (SQL). Experience with AS400 and Windows NT, Programming Experience, Some IT or MIS education. We offer a competitive salary, tuition reimbursement and professional development opportunities in a dynamic work environment. For consideration, please submit cover letter, resume and references to: Venator Group, Human Resources, Attn.: Associate Relations Manager, 3810 South U.S. Hwy. 77, Junction City, KS 66441. Or fax us at 785-761-3440. /EOE

LUNAR TUNES, a local D.J. Company, is looking for energetic students to fill D.J. positions. Experience preferred. Will train the right person. (785)776-9140.

PARENT ASSISTANT: Before and after school care. For three children, ages 6, 9, 11. Must have reliable transportation. (785)776-7764.

WANTED: PART-TIME babysitter for toddlers in Christian home near Wamego. Need caring, reliable applicant with own transportation. Call (785)456-7899.

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

WANT CASH? Sign- up your classmates for cool Internet sites, and receive a minimum of $1 per person! There's no easier way to make money! Log onto TeamMagma.com or call 1-877-866-2462.

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

615 N 3rd. Buy, sell, trade CDs, videos, misc. bar items, furniture and much more! 539-3919.

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. Open 12- 5p.m. Closed Sundays Mondays. 539-4684.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS Camouflage clothing (including PURPLE) field jackets- Boots sleeping bags- overshoes, hunting wear. Also CARHARTT workwear. Open Mon.- Fri., 9- 5:30; Sat. 9- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS 66536. (785)437-2734.

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

COUCH/ SOFA-BED, TV, microwave for sale. Call 537-1177 evenings.

EXTRA LONG flex-steel couch for sale. Call 776-1457.

TWO COUCHES and two TV's available. Call 539-6338 after 6:30p.m.

455 Sporting Equipment

GUN & KNIFE SHOW: National Guard Armory, 18th & Jackson, Junction City. Saturday September 23, 9 a.m.- 5 p.m. Sunday 24, 9 a.m.- 4 p.m. Buy-Sell-Trade. Sponsor Geary County Fish & Game Association. Information (785)238-8886.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

DISCOUNTED FOOTBALL (Section 430) tickets vs. North Texas for sale! Call Mike at (612)943-8113 for details.

FOR SALE: two general admission KSU vs. NU football tickets. Best offer. Call (785)770-9820.

FOR SALE: Two ICAT tickets for Nebraska game. Best offer. Call (785)395-2101.

WANTED: STUDENT Genral admission football tickets, K-State vs Oklahoma. will pay $20 or best offer, call (785)770-3257, leave message.

WANTED: TWO KSU vs Oklahoma tickets. Will trade for Chiefs vs Panthers tickets. Call (816)329-4489 or dirk.mcclure@hok.com

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOR SALE: Two Nebraska ticket with ICAT. Best Offer (785)539-6192.

FOR SALE: two sets of tickets for all home games except Nebraska. Will sell individually. Call (785)565-9359.

WANT TO trade my ICAT tickets for student general admission plus cash. Call (785)537-3735, leave message.

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1986 PONTIAC Firebird maroon A/C FM T-top. Power windows/locks. Good condition, FUN car. Call Jenny 776-8678.

1987 DODGE 600, four-door, automatic, air-conditioned, power steering, good condition, $2000 or best offer. Call (785)539-1628.

1982 KAWASAKI K21000. $1300. (785)537-8878.

1990 PONTIAC Grand Prix four-door, power windows and locks. Air-conditioned, automatic transmission. Great school car. $2200 or best offer. (785)539-4089.

1997 FORD Ranger V-6- automatic- air-conditioning. 1991 Mazda Cab Plus B2200 automatic- air-conditioning. 1993 Ford Escort Wagon loaded 59K. 1993 Plymouth Grand Voyager loaded. Call 565-9458 or 317-0144.

530 Motorcycles

1997 KAWASAKI EX250R Ninja , 5000 miles, great working condition, new rear tire, many accessories, clear title, $2100. (785)395-2630. davidduffey.com/ninja

600 travel/ trips

630 Spring Break

EIGHT DAY Florida, Caribbean vacations. Orlando, Ft. Lauderdale, hotel, rental car, round trip cruise for two. $398 plus docking. 1-888-353-1813.

GO DIRECT= $avings! #1 Internet-based Spring Break company offering WHOLESALE Spring Break packages (no middlemen)! Zero traveler complaints registered against us last year! ALL destinations. Lowest price guarantee! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakdirect.com

WINTER BREAK/ SPRING BREAK. Ski and beach trips on sale now! www.sunchase.com or call 1-800-SUNCHASE today!

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.85
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.90
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.90
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information, call (785)456-2795, www.ksu.edu/ksfc

SKIN PROBLEMS? Contact 1-888-353-1813.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

100 housing/ real estate

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

Come home to relax in comfort

•Cambridge Square
•Sandstone Apts.

•Fireplaces •Carports
•Pool •Private Deck
•Laundry Facilities
•Large 2-bedroom Units

Call TODAY!!!
537-9064
Weekdays 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Showings by appointment

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

BRAND NEW three-bedroom/ three bathroom apartment available September 11th, washer/ dryer included, close to campus and Aggieville. Call MDI 776-3804.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

NICE, ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment near City Park. $300/ month, utilities paid except phone and cable. Call 537-6899.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, 431 Leavenworth, $360, bills paid. 539-8401.

135 For Sale- Mobile Homes

1997 DOUBLE wide mobile home. Three-bedroom, two bath, family and living room, washer/ dryer hook-ups. $41,000 negotiable. (785)717-2840. Colonial Gardens.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE, $265/ month, one-third utilities, Chase Manhattan Apartments, 539-7824.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM, two bath, furnished, washer/dryer, dishwasher, privacy deck. Sublease, tenant needed. $325/ person/ month. 537-8226.

ONE BLOCK from Aggieville duplex two-bedroom apartment, one room available, $200 plus one-hlaf utilities. Huge bedroom and closets, air-conditioned. (785)537-9335 (home), 532-1837 (Hugo or Marcus).

300 employment/ opportunities

310 Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For info call (203)977-1720.

DATA ENTRY CLERK: part-time position with busy non-profit organization. Looking for well-organized, energetic person with positive "can-do" attitude. Requires high school diploma and at least one year of data entry experience. Wage: $5.50/ hour. Job description available upon request. Please send cover letter, resume and three references to: NCFH Area Agency on Aging, 437 Houston St., Manhattan, KS 66502 by September 29, 2000. Any questions, please call 776-9294. EOE/ AA.

NEED HELP? FIND HELP.

Place your ad in the Help Wanted section of the Collegian classifieds today!

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie • 532-6555

Coming Soon
2000 - 2001
Campus Phone Book

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR

Repair Work On Shoes, Boots,
Luggage, Backpacks, Purses
And Leather Coats
Leather Craft Supplies
We Dye Satin Shoes

776-1193
216 South Fourth St.
VFW Plaza

10% DISCOUNT ON ANY PURCHASE WITH COUPON
EXPIRES 11-30-00

BARBARA BERGMANN

Professor Emerita of Economics
Author and Speaker on Women's Issues

Bringing About Equality Between Women and Men: What Needs To Be Done

Wednesday,
September 20, 2000
7:00 p.m.
109 Justin Hall

Sponsored by the Dorothy L. Thompson
Civil Rights Lecture Series

$2 Tuesdays

$2 BIG Beers (32 oz.) Shots $2
$2 Bottles Mixed Drinks $2

$1 Taco Bar 5 to 7
LIVE at 10 p.m.
The Band:
Southwind

Free Nokia Phone

Walk & Talk
No Money Down!

authorized dealer
CELLULARONE

COPY CO
MORE THAN JUST A COPY CENTER

Mon. - Thurs. 7 a.m.-11 p.m. Saturday 8 a.m. - 9 p.m.
Friday 7 a.m. - 9 p.m. Sunday 10 a.m. - 11 p.m.
1223 Moro-Aggieville • 537-2679

Kiewit

Peter Kiewit Sons', Inc.
Human Resources Dept
Kiewit Plaza, Omaha, NE 68131
(402) 943-1300 Fax (402) 271-2939

Kiewit Industrial Co.

We are experienced in large, complex, integrated industrial, mechanical, and electrical projects involving the installation of various configuration of combustion turbines, steam turbines and heat recovery steam generators.

We have performed as the general contractor or major prime contractor for the construction of nuclear and fossil fueled power projects, simple and combined cycle gas turbine power projects, waste-to-energy power projects, natural gas compressor stations, oil and process facilities, nuclear fuel process facilities, water and waste water treatment projects, and many other power and heavy industrial facilities.

Recruiting for:
- Mechanical Engineering
- Electrical Engineering
- Civil Engineering
- Construction Engineering
- Construction Management
- Business Administration
- Safety

Entry Level Positions:
- Field Engineer
- Engineer-Estimator
- Office Manager
- Safety Supervisor

Question?
kiewit.industrial@kiewit.com

Visit our web site at www.kiewit.com and apply on-line.

At the Career Fair September 19th!

1116 Moro St. Aggieville (Only a few blocks south of KSU)

HUNAM EXPRESS

Chinese Food Lover's Choice

20% Off
Lunch & Dinner Buffet
Offer good till 9/30/00

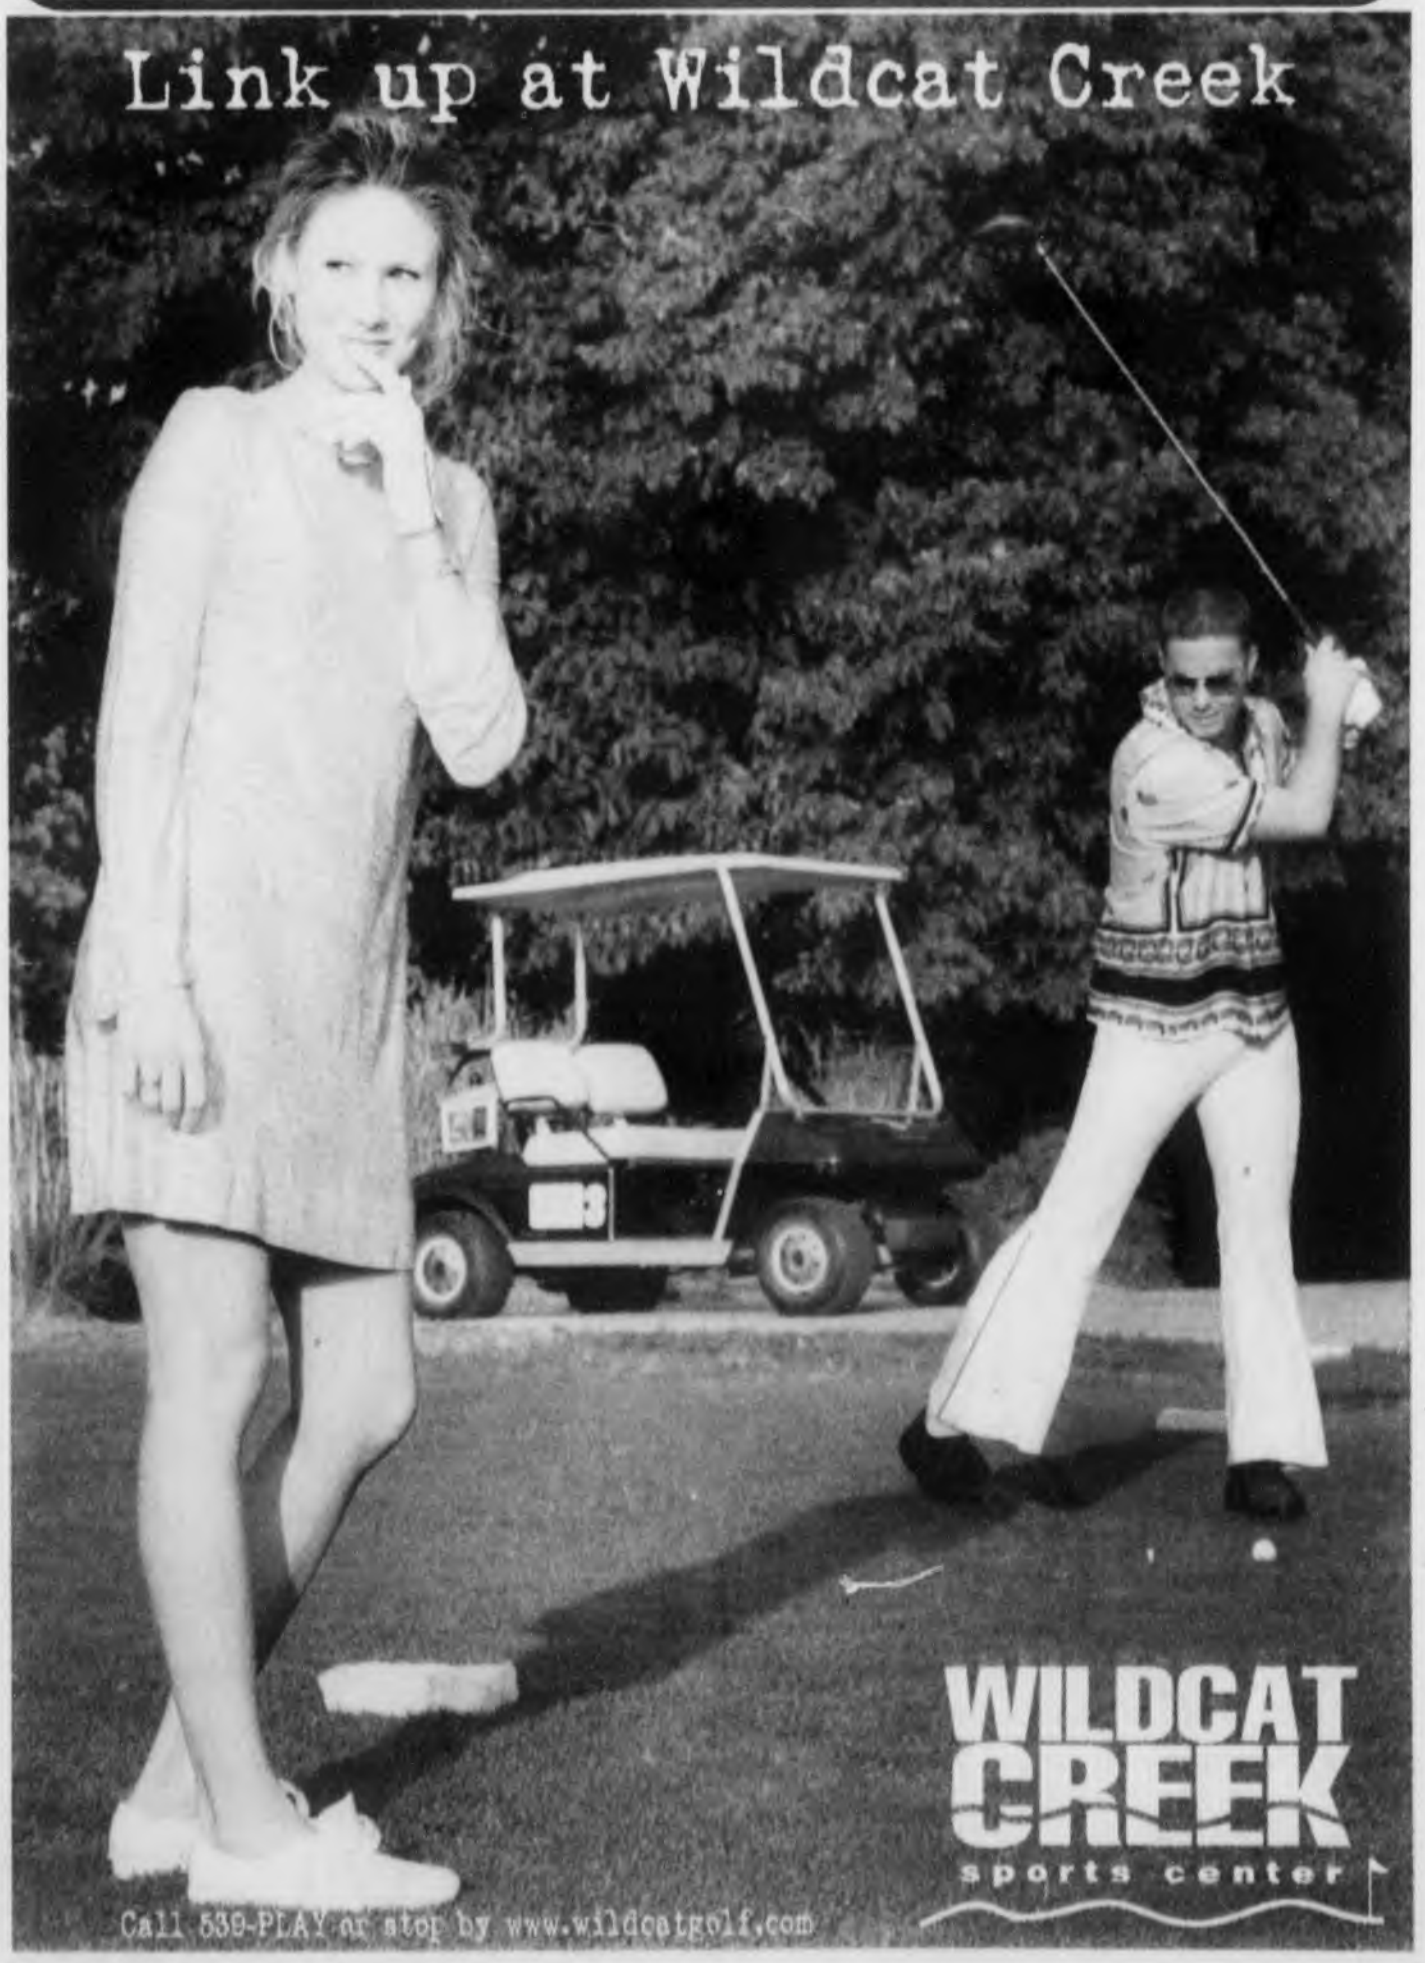
Free Delivery: 537-0886

Hours: Sun. - Thurs. 11 - Midnight; Fri. - Sat. 11 - 2 am

Personal Weight Management & Fitness Program

Free introductory session:
Monday, Sept. 25, 6-7 p.m.

Mercy Health Center proudly presents an 8-week program on weight management and fitness led by a licensed, registered dietitian and an exercise physiologist. Your program fee includes:



- three group sessions
- four individual nutrition consultations
- four workout sessions with a personal fitness trainer
- two month membership to the Mercy Fitness Center
- class materials

Group sessions will meet Monday, Oct. 2, Monday, Oct. 16 and Tuesday, Nov. 21 from 6-7 p.m.

Individual sessions will be scheduled at your convenience. The class fee is $200 for individuals and $350 for couples.

To register, contact Mercy Health Center's Wellness Program at 785-587-5470

MERCY HEALTH CENTER OF MANHATTAN

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

TODAY'S WEATHER
HIGH 66 ■ LOW 44

WEDNESDAY

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sept. 20, 2000 ■ Kansas State University ■ Manhattan, Kan. ■ Volume 105, Number 22

TECOLLEGIAN.COM
Playing their game
■ page 6

CAREER curiosity

BY JESSICA PITTS

Students meet with employers, graduate schools at Career Fair

ABOVE: Jennifer Haller, senior in accounting, speaks with FBI recruiter Parnell Miles Jr. during the annual All-University Career Fair at Bramlage Coliseum.
LEFT: Brian Frazier, fifth-year senior in business, speaks with Dave Collins, University of Kansas School of Business associate director of masters programs, about pursuing an MBA.
EVAN SEMON/Collegian

For Kim Morrison, Tuesday was exhausting.

Morrison, senior in marketing information systems, attended the All-University Career Fair in hopes of securing a full-time position when she graduates.

"I have talked to so many people today," Morrison said. "I am completely exhausted. There is a lot of preparation that people don't think about that goes into just coming to the Career Fair."

Morrison said she compiled a list of companies at the career fair that were looking for employees in her major. After that, she researched the companies and found the ones that matched her interest.

"I was kind of looking at one company specifically, but I have been interested with nearly everyone I talked to," she said. "They are all real friendly, and they don't beat around the bush. They tell you up front if they have a position open for you or not. That is really helpful."

Amanda Hulett, human resource specialist for CenKan, said she agrees that up-front communication was a benefit to the Career Fair.

"We tell students exactly what we have open and exactly what we are looking for," Hulett said. "In return, many of the students came to us with at least some idea of what they wanted to do. That is beneficial to both of us, because it makes it easier to place them in the company. The last thing we want to do is guess and put them in a bad position."

Marcia Schuley, Career Fair committee coordinator, said employers at the fair generally were impressed with students who attended the Career Fair.

"I have had several companies that were very complimentary towards the potential employees or interns," she said.

"For instance, the school districts were delighted to have so many contacts to follow up on. They said they had lots of students within the first couple hours, which shows that many of the students were prepared and knew exactly what they wanted to accomplish today."

Rachel Robidoux, human resource coordinator for Bibb and Associates Inc., was one such employer who was impressed with the students who visited her booth.

"They were all very professional," she said. "I would say in general they were well prepared, so that was a nice advantage. I would say they could do more research, but I understand that it is hard with so many companies here at one time."

Many students, however, used the Career Fair as a research tool.

Eric Weisbender, senior in geography, said he was more interested in finding out what careers are available to him.

"I have an unusual major, so I was basically was trying to gain a better knowledge of my options by attending the fair," he said. "I want to know what jobs are out there for my major and where they are located."

Other students, attend the fair in hopes of gaining experience.

"I am not really looking for a job right now," Linda Kahle, senior in social work, said. "I just wanted to come to practice talking with people. I want to be able to walk into an interview in the future and be somewhat comfortable. This is a great way to overcome the anxiety that comes with those situations."

Schuley said she agrees that the Career Fair can provide several opportunities to students.

"Of course, it provides job opportunities because we have so many employers here, but it also provides a process of career exploration," Schuley said. "Students can come and get an idea of what they are interested in pursuing by talking to people in the industry."

Schuley said K-State is one of the leaders in All-University Career Fairs.

"I have had Michigan State and Wichita State call and inquire about our fair because they have heard about how well-organized it is," she said.

"Students should be appreciative to the opportunities that they have at the fair."

Schuley said those opportunities are a combined effort of eight colleges, staff, faculty and over 200 student volunteers.

"It has been a very successful day," she said. "We had over 1,500 students in the first hour, so that right there shows that students and employers are interested."

Senate to decide fees for athletics

By NANCY HULL
Kansas State Collegian

Privilege Fee Committee voted Tuesday to allow Student Senate to write a bill for the athletic department privilege fee for the 2000-2001 fiscal year.

Full-time students pay $11.54 each semester toward the $405,695 Department of Intercollegiate Athletics privilege fee budget. The 6-1 committee vote was a move to maintain the fee's current level.

The fee is intended to support women's sports and non-revenue producing sports, Privilege Fee Chair Ryan Walker said.

Student Body President Jake Worcester said the athletic fee is the toughest privilege fee to justify to K-State students.

"They look at the athletic department's $22 million budget and ask why they should contribute," Worcester said.

Travis Lenkner, Senate chair, suggested a summary of expenditures student fees have made possible could be distributed.

Athletic Director Max Urick said an itemized statement would be difficult to create.

"We do monitor the system because it can become a personal expense," Urick said. "All of the coaches have been excellent in this area."

Agriculture Sen. Matt Wolters said he realizes some students aren't interested in athletics and do not support the privilege fee.

"There are other things at the university that student fees do benefit," Wolters said. "Hopefully, everyone can do something to get their worth out of the $258 a semester they pay in fees."

If Senate writes the bill Thursday, the Privilege Fee Committee will give a favorable or unfavorable recommendation before Senate gives the bill the final vote on Sept. 28.

Urick said that while student football ticket prices have gone up three times within the past 10 years, he does not plan to increase the cost for next year or increase the availability of student tickets.

Another concern Urick addressed was whether students will be allotted more parking spots for tailgating at football games.

Of the 1,752 parking spots in the east side parking lot, 1,474 of those spots belong to donors.

"We're happy about the growth of the donor program, but that's affected the students in have less parking," he said. "We're fortunate to have parking nearby and have the fields for students to tailgate in."

Urick also said there are no plans to turn any of the grass fields into paved parking.

Student ID required for football seating

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

K-State athletics is now requiring a valid student ID card with each student ticket for admission to football games.

The decision to enforce this policy was reached Monday morning and will be effective beginning with this weekend's game against the University of North Texas.

The agreement was derived by individuals from both the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics and operations staff, Sports Information Director Doug Dull said.

"It's something we've been working on for a while," he said.

Athletics director Max Urick said he felt forced to take action due to the overcrowding problem in the student section at KSU Stadium, which has escalated over year's past.

"Our observations, combined with feedback from various students and the concerns of the Collegian, caused us to go back to this system of requiring an ID with a student ticket to get in the game," Urick said.

Without displaying valid student identification, the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics will reserve the right to deny admission, which includes ICAT, general admission and reserved student tickets.

"We want the student section to be for the students. So that's what's behind it," Urick said. "I think this is a reasonable thing to ask students to do."

The athletic department is enforcing this policy in an attempt to improve its service to students at football games, and to ensure student sections are being used by K-State students only.

Dull said the department is also being responsive to some concerns regarding abuse of student seating by non-students.

"We want K-State students sitting in the K-State student section," Urick said.

RACIAL/ETHNIC HARMONY WEEK

TODAY
10 a.m-noon – Diversity workshop, KSU Foundation Center, 2323 Anderson Ave.
12:30-1:30 p.m. – Keynote address: "Why Educators Can't Ignore Indian Mascots," Union Big 12 Room
1:30-3 p.m. – Diversity workshop, Manhattan City Hall
3:30-5 p.m. – Multicultural "Town Hall" panel, Union Forum Hall

THURSDAY
10 a.m.-noon – Diversity workshop, Flint Hills Job Corps Center
12:30-1:30 p.m. – QSA keynote address, Union Big 12 Room
1:30-3 p.m. – Diversity workshop, K-State Jardine Complex, Frith Community Center
5:30 p.m. – Social gathering, Union lobby 2nd floor
6-8 p.m. – Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week banquet, Union Main Ballroom
8 p.m. – Bobby Watson jazz quartet, Union Station

SEE STORY ON PAGE 5

Silver Key works to help Manhattan homeless

By COLLEEN FOOTE
Kansas State Collegian

Tramaine Watts knows he cannot feel the full effects of homelessness.

Regardless, Watts and 35 other members of Silver Key spent the night in the Union Plaza to attempt to raise awareness about homelessness in Manhattan.

"We can never be in a homeless person's shoes," said Watts, club vice president and sophomore in business management. "All we can do is set an example and make a statement."

From 7 p.m. Tuesday to 7 a.m. this morning, the members of Silver Key camped out to raise awareness.

"When people think of the homeless, they don't generally think of Manhattan," said Gaea Wimmer, Silver Key secretary and sophomore in agricultural education. "By being out here, we spread awareness about the homeless in Manhattan."

Members had a collection goal of $3,500, including the value of clothing, food and toiletries for the Manhattan Emergency Shelter.

Junell Norris, executive director of the Manhattan Emergency Shelter, said people don't realize the homelessness problem in Manhattan because it is not actively noticeable. Members of Silver Key help bring awareness to those who know little about the problem in this town, she said.

"We help people who are homeless and who are on the verge of becoming homeless," Norris said. "I love what these students are doing, because not only are they raising money, they also bring awareness to the community."

Club members hope students and others in the community realize homelessness can affect anyone. The

See HOMELESS on PAGE 8

STEVEN DEARINGER/Collegian

Rachel Anderson, sophomore in English secondary education, visits with Sarah Hanzlick, sophomore in psychology, Tuesday night in the Union Plaza during a Silver Key fund-raiser for the homeless.

CONTACT US

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
532-0729 rdunn@collegianmail.com

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
532-0729 tehmke@collegianmail.com

Steve Dearinger Photo Editor
532-5492 sdearinger@collegianmail.com

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
532-0730 jbarrett@collegianmail.com

Sarah Bahari City & Government Editor
532-0730 sbahari@collegianmail.com

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
532-0732 kdymacek@collegianmail.com

Derek Boss Sports Editor
532-0732 dboss@collegianmail.com

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
532-0732 eschneweis@collegianmail.com

Ken Wells Online Editor
532-6556 kwells@collegianmail.com

Becky Wilson Copy Chief
532-0732 bwilson@collegianmail.com

Sara Martin Design Editor
532-0731 smartin@collegianmail.com

Jim Calvert Ad Manager
532-6560 jimcalvert@collegianmail.com

Alissa Duncan Assistant Ad Manager
532-6560 aduncan@collegianmail.com

Molly Brammer Online Ad Manager
532-6560 mollyb@collegianmail.com

BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Display advertising	532-6560
Classified advertising	532-6555
Delivery Problems	532-6555
Photo Reprints	532-6304

BY MAIL
Kansas State Collegian
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

ON THE WEB
www.kstatecollegian.com

The Kansas State Collegian
(USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid in Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 2000

Harley ride participants must register this week

Those wishing to participate in the annual pregame Harley ride for the Oct. 14 Oklahoma game are required to register by telephone either today or tomorrow.

All interested must call 537-9496 today between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., or Thursday between 9 a.m. and noon.

The Harley ride will feature scores of motorcycles circling KSU Stadium. Due to the large number of participants over the past couple of years, along with the tremendous interest level and limited pregame time, a new format has been developed to register participants this year.

The format is as follows:

- Names will be placed on a list with priority given to Ahearn Scholarship Fund donors first, season-ticket holders second, and others on a first-come, first-serve basis.
- Riders will have to show their game ticket for admittance to the stadium.
- The total number of motorcycles will be limited to 100.

— Derek Boss

Parking lot water main broke Monday at Union

A small water main in the K-State Student Union parking lot broke Monday evening.

"The break is in a 4-inch line," Randy Slover, director of facilities maintenance, said. "However, the break was pretty isolated, so the repair should be simple."

Facilities employees have ordered a clamp for the water main, and all repairs are expected to be finished today.

"Really, all it did is make quite a mess," Slover said. "The biggest part of the job will be in clearing all the dirt we had to remove to get to the break. That may take a little bit more time."

— Jessica Pitts

Charges against priest might be decided soon

NEWTON, Kan. — A prosecutor plans to decide soon whether to file criminal charges against a former Catholic priest accused by several men of molesting them while they were altar boys.

Robert K. Larson, now 70 and living in Ohio, served in several parishes in the Diocese of Wichita for 30 years. He was stripped of his title in 1988 and was sent to Maryland for treatment.

The abuse allegations span 17 years and several locations in the Diocese of Wichita, which covers southeast and south-central Kansas. Bishop Eugene Gerber has acknowledged that reports of abuse led to Larson's removal and has issued an apology to victims of sexual abuse.

In Harvey County, several men have filed police reports alleging that Larson molested them when they served as altar boys at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Newton, said Newton police investigator T. Walton.

"From what I've been told, there's a strong possibility charges are forthcoming," Harvey County Attorney Matt Treaster said. He said his decision on whether to press charges would come early next month.

Walton said he asked for permission to continue his investigation until the end of September.

"There's enough right now that I can turn it over and he [Treaster] can charge," Walton said.

Treaster said his reading of the statute was that the clock stopped running when a suspect left the state, and charges could be filed years later.

— The Associated Press

Bush focuses on family for K.C. campaign stop

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — George W. Bush used the White family to show what his tax plan will mean for America's working families.

Frank and Rechele White of Kansas City, with their three daughters, two to eight years old, took center stage with Bush and his wife, Laura, at a campaign stop Monday afternoon.

Frank White is the son of former Kansas City Royals player Frank White Jr.

The GOP presidential candidate and his wife first visited the Negro Leagues Baseball Museum, then went to the nearby Gem Theater, in the heart of Kansas City's 18th and Vine jazz district.

Bush presented his plan to double the child tax credit from $500 to $1,000 per child, and said he'd return a quarter of the budget surplus to taxpayers at all income levels.

The White family this year paid more than $9,000 in federal income taxes. Bush said under his plan, they would get more than $3,000 back.

Katie Osborne of Kansas City got a seat onstage with her husband.

Osborne said she hoped Bush's message would remain with voters.

"We think this election is one that the political scene can be improved," she said while waiting outside for Bush to arrive.

— The Associated Press

CORRECTIONS & CLARIFICATIONS

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Jenn Davoren at 532-6556 or e-mail collegn@ksu.edu.

ON RECORD

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

- An International Coffee House, "Rhythms of Brazil," is scheduled at 4 p.m. today at the International Student Center. The members of the KSU Brazilian community will present dances influenced by American Indian traditions as well as Africa and Europe.
- Play chess from 6 to 10 p.m. every Wednesday in Union 206.
- Golden Key Executive Board will meet at 6:15 tonight in Union Council Chambers.
- KSU Aikido will meet at 7 tonight in Ahearn 301.
- Christian Explorers Bible Discussion will meet at 9 tonight at the ECM Campus Center, 1021 Denison Ave.
- TRIO-GSS will meet at 5 p.m. Thursday in Union 205.
- K-State Horseman's Association will have its fall picnic 6:15 tonight at Tuttle Creek State Park. Members will meet in the Weber parking lot.
- Hillel Jewish Organization will meet at 9 p.m. Thursday at Java Espresso & Bakery in Aggieville.
- Students for Environmental Action will meet at 9 p.m. Thursday in Union Council Chambers.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Riley County

MONDAY, Sept. 18

- At 8:52 a.m., Hans E. Hart, 2464 Brookfield Drive, was arrested for battery.
- At 9:15 a.m., Chang Sun Hart, 2464 Brookfield Drive, was arrested for criminal damage to property.
- At 9:38 a.m., Tyler Greule, Junction City, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $1,500.
- At 9:44 a.m., Melana D. Braaksma, Clay Center, was arrested for worthless checks. Bond was set at $250.
- At 3 p.m., Jessica D. Lloyd, 3112 Heritage Court, Apt. 20, was arrested for failure to appear and worthless checks. Bond was set at $100.
- At 4:50 p.m., Paul J. Goeppner, 2229 Browning Ave., was arrested for registration violation, no liability insurance and driving on a suspended license. Bond was set at $1,000.
- At 6:30 p.m., Litheria M. Askew, 2718 Brockman St., was arrested for possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of a controlled substance. Bond was set at $1,000.

K-State Police

Saturday, Aug. 19

- No reports of note were made.

2000 2001 2001
Don,t lose touch.
Get a K-State Campus Phone Book

A great way to earn $25 today!
Donate your blood plasma to help save kids' lives
Earn $25 cash
Call or stop by:
Nabi Biomedical Center
1130 Gardenway, Manhattan
785-776-9177
Fees and donation time may vary. Call for details
www.nabi.com

AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE
AUTO HOME BUSINESS HEALTH LIFE
Tim Engle
K-State Grad 88

"Call us for your Health and Auto Insurance"
3320 Anderson
539-9200
American Family Mutual Insurance Co. subsidiaries
Home Office-Madison, WI 53783-0001
E-Mail tengle@amfam.com

Mel's Tavern
Manhattan's Downtown Sports Bar & Grill
10 oz.
Top Sirloin
Baked Potato
Veggie and
Texas Toast
$5.99
Domestic Bottles $1.50
Old Milwaukee &
Old Milwaukee Light
$1.00
Mel's Tavern
105 N. 3rd Manhattan
(785) 776-9879

BARBARA BERGMANN
Professor Emerita of Economics
Author and Speaker on Women's Issues
Bringing About Equality Between Women and Men: What Needs To Be Done

Wednesday, September 20, 2000
7:00 p.m.
109 Justin Hall
Sponsored by the Dorothy L. Thompson Civil Rights Lecture Series

The ABC's of Leadership: Leadership Training Series
"Helping you improve your organization"
Sponsored by the Office of Student Activities and Services

Motivation
Tuesday, September 26th, 7:00 p.m.
K-State Student Union
Room 207
providing tips and Strategies for generating and maintaining member interest in the goals and mission of your organization.
OPEN TO ALL K-STATE STUDENTS!
Question? Call 532-6541

Union Program Council Events
TODAY! FUN FLICKS
10:00AM - 3:00PM
IN THE UNION COURTYARD
Showing This Week
IT'S A MAD, MAD, MAD, MAD WORLD
WITH BUDDY HACKETT AND THE THREE STOOGES
9/22-9/23
7:00 PM
FORUM HALL
ADMISSION: $1.75
Weekly Wind-down
Live Jazz Music!
Featuring the Bobby Watson Quartet
Thursday, September 21
8:00 pm
Union Station
Inspirational Poetry Reading
8:00pm at Java in Aggieville
FAMOUS DEAD ARTISTS EXHIBIT
9/25 - 10/6
UNION ART GALLERY
FREE Comedy Night!
Retta
Monday, September 25, 8:00 pm
Union Station
Call the UPC Hotline for event listings!
532-6571
For Event and Membership Information:
Visit Us! 3rd Floor K-State Student Union!
Call Us! 532-6571
Visit us Online! www.ksu.edu/events

Animal shelter director learns to handle difficulties of job

MICHAEL YOUNG/Collegian

Lynn Schumacher, director of the T. Russell Reitz Regional Animal Shelter, inspects a cat's teeth Tuesday afternoon. Every newly-acquired animal of the shelter has its health checked upon arrival.

By NANCY FOSTER
Kansas State Collegian

A love for animals is what has driven Lynn Schumacher to work at an animal shelter every day for the past 12 years.

"At least once a day — every day — someone says to me, 'I just couldn't do your job. I just love animals too much,'" said Schumacher, director of the T. Russell Reitz Regional Animal Shelter, "but that's why we do this job, because we love animals so much. Otherwise, we'd move on."

Schumacher said her love for animals began at a young age.

"Mom always had several in the home and a large number in the cattery and the kennel. They were all family members," she said.

When Schumacher was 11, her mother became ill, and Schumacher took over her duties at her cattery and kennel. In 1988, she began work at the animal shelter, decreasing the extent of her duties with her mother's business.

Now, 12 years later, she still is dedicated to finding animals homes and providing them with good care.

"It only takes a few days in a shelter setting to become aware of the overpopulation crisis," she said. "Prior to working in the shelter, I was ignorant of the number of homeless animals, or the fact so many owners considered their pets disposable."

Not all of the animals will find a home, and not all are considered fit to live in a home. That's when Schumacher and her staff must euthanize them, or put them to sleep. This, she said, is the most difficult aspect of her job.

"You go through all the brief stages that you go through with all deaths, but it's harder for workers because it happens every day," she said. "It takes a terrible toll because obviously people that work in shelters love animals."

It is hoped that the expansion of the current shelter will decrease the amount of euthanized animals by 33 percent, she said.

The expansion began spring 2000 and will increase the number of spaces for animals from around 45 to more than 105. The increase will allow longer retainment periods for the more adoptable animals.

"We would like to see a point when the dangerous animals are the only animals euthanized," she said.

Ending an animal's life is difficult, she said, but for animals that have a low quality of life, it's sometimes the best solution.

Though Schumacher does have to deal with the dark aspect of her job, there also is a bright side.

"It is a great part of the job to see lost pets reunited with family, and good adoptions stay in your mind forever," she said.

Deb Shaw, shelter technician, said she can see the compassion Schumacher has for the animals, even at times of difficulty.

working in the COMMUNITY

Who: Lynn Schumacher
Job: T. Russell Reitz Regional Animal Shelter director

"If she has to euthanize, she does it in the most caring and compassionate way I have ever seen," she said.

Schumacher said for each animal she has to put to sleep, she lets them know that she is sorry, but that it's all she has to offer.

One of her goals as the director is to change the image people have of animal shelters.

"A lot of times, shelters as a whole are viewed as uncaring, but what's really happening is these people are constantly fighting a losing battle," Schumacher said.

While most people fear losing their job, she said her biggest fear is that she'll always have a job.

"I don't think I — or anyone in my field — will ever be without a job," she said. "But it would be wonderful to no longer have disposable companion pets."

The shelter's expansion should be done in November, but Schumacher said she hopes to move into the area in October.

NASA official discusses space challenges, technology advancements

By AMBER CUNNINGHAM
Kansas State Collegian

A task as easy as washing one's hands becomes difficult for astronauts in space.

Dr. Arnauld E. Nicogossian, NASA chief health and medical officer, said this task is complicated because in space water takes a spherical shape.

"Small things become very difficult," he said.

Nicogossian spoke Tuesday night at All Faiths Chapel. During the lecture, he covered details of each mission to demonstrate how medical technology has changed in space.

Nicogossian, who is responsible for the oversight and management of every medical aspect of both international and national NASA missions involving humans, stressed protecting astronauts in space.

He said NASA's approach to this is changing. Nicogossian said systems are chosen to fulfill a function, including mission objectives and crew protection. He also said through genetics, the astronauts are being altered to fit spacecraft designs.

"We can now engineer people to fit into space environments," Nicogossian said.

Nicogossian also spoke about how advancing health in space and on Earth is the main concern of space programs today.

"NASA is a tool of national politics," he said. "We won the Cold War and the race to the moon. Now the question is how long people can stay in space."

Most attendees at the lecture had an interest in the topic of space.

"I wanted to learn more about advancement in medical technologies," Tags Selfridge, junior at Manhattan High School, said.

Jessica Ramsey, senior in biology, said she is planning to go to medical school, and wanted to hear about new technologies in the industry.

"I wanted to see what current events are going on in the medical field," Ramsey said.

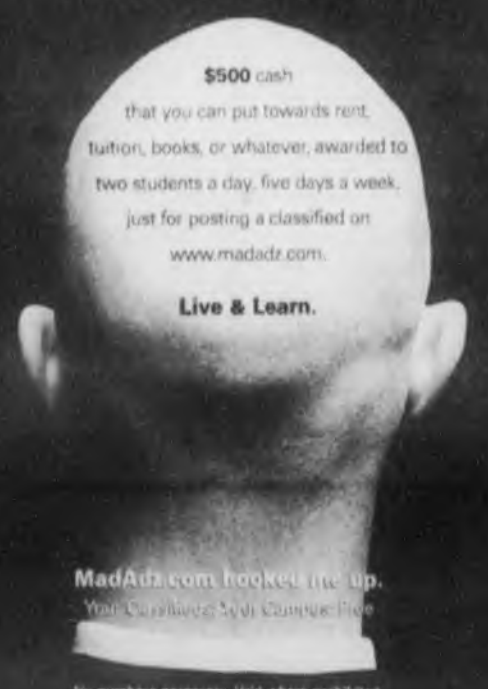
Krista Williams, senior in biology, asked Nicogossian if a rubber band would work for strengthening muscles in space. His reply was no, because muscles could not be exercised.

"NASA has approached different medical issues and is making progress," she said. "Answers are being found that can be applied to other health care issues."

Worth Catching
Claflin Books and Copies

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Fall into Birkenstock.
Olson's Birkenstock
Aggieville
539-8571
September Sale
Arizona $10.00 off
Nashville $10.00 off
Boston $10.00 off
Birk Hiking Boots $30.00 off
BIRKENSTOCK



Ramblers
STEAK HOUSE & SALOON
Come in and watch last Saturday's Game.
HOMEMADE CHICKEN FRIED STEAK with all the trimmings
$6.95
DRINK SPECIALS
$1 Draws
$1.75 Well's
$3.75 Pitchers
8711 E. Hwy. 24 • 539-4889
Manhattan, KS

Professional Athletes Choose Chiropractic
Logan's national reputation as a premier chiropractic college is due in large part to faculty members like Dr. Ralph Filson.
In his private practice, Dr. Filson acts as consulting doctor of chiropractic to the St. Louis Cardinals and the World Champion St. Louis Rams. In both capacities, Dr. Filson treats some of the world's best athletes in professional sports.
If you would like to learn more about an exciting career in chiropractic, please contact Logan Collge for an informational packet.
LOGAN COLLEGE OF CHIROPRACTIC

Dr. Ralph Filson with Mark McGwire
1-800-533-9210
www.logan.edu loganadm@logan.edu
1851 Schoettler Road, Chesterfield, MO 63017
An Equal Opportunity Institution of Higher Education

Fresh Eyes™

more than just a good idea...
it's a promise!
™FRESH EYES is a great deal you'll only get from the EyeDoctors!
FOR ONE PRICE
■ Complete eye examination!
■ A new pair of contact lenses every three months! (four new pairs!)
■ Six month lens evaluation & check-up!
■ A full year supply of lens solution!
Only the EyeDoctors can bring you FRESH EYES™, our exclusive lens system with everything you need for a full year at one affordable price. Visit the EyeDoctors soon to find out if FRESH EYES™ is for you!
The EyeDoctors™ Optometrists
DRS. PRICE, YOUNG, ODLE, HORSCH P.A. AND ASSOCIATES
(913) 537-1118
3012 Anderson ■ Manhattan, Kansas 66502

All New. All Yours. All Free
MadAdz welcomes
Kansas State University
The first three students in each category to place ads will get a free T-shirt. Just another way in which MadAdz.com will hook you up.
Limit one T-shirt per student.
mad
No Brainer.
$500 cash that you can put towards rent, tuition, books, or whatever, awarded to two students a day, five days a week, just for posting a classified on www.madadz.com.
Live & Learn.

MadAdz.com hooked me up.
No purchase necessary. Void where prohibited.

Olympics offer chance to view Kansans' work

For those of you not caught up in the Olympic hype, you're missing out.

Not only is the United States reigning atop the world in the medal race, but there's more than one Kansas connection in Sydney that should catch the public eye.

For instance, two athletes from the Sunflower State were victorious in their events Monday, one of them bringing home a silver medal.

Tara Nott, of Stilwell, won the silver in women's weightlifting at 106 pounds, the U.S.'s first weightlifting medal since 1984. Nott lifted a total of 407 pounds in the first women's weightlifting event at the Olympics, just 12 pounds away from the gold, which was won by Bulgaria's Izabela Dragneva.

Another Kansan helped the U.S. softball team to its 3-0 victory over Cuba on Monday. Christie Ambrosi, of Overland Park, was the left fielder at the event in Blacktown, Australia.

As a UCLA junior in 1999, Ambrosi, had 103 hits, breaking Olympic teammate Jennifer Brundage's four-year-old school record for hits in a season. In the 1999 NCAA Women's College World Series, she played center field as top-ranked UCLA beat Washington to capture its eighth NCAA softball title.

Nathan Leeper, former K-State student from Protection, Kan., is also ready to make our state and country proud. He's set to compete in the high-jump competition tomorrow morning.

We have so many remarkable athletes representing us in Sydney, but if that's not enough incentive to get your support, at least cheer on our fellow Kansans.

Their hard work and dedication deserves that respect.

▶ OUR VIEW is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor

Jenn Davoren News Editor

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor

Sarah Bahari City/Government Editor

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor

Derek Boss Sports Editor

Becky Wilson Copy Chief

Sara Martin Design Editor

embrace DIVERSITY

Events demonstrate our need for harmony

KEN WELLS

So, how far have we come? You tell me.

This is Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week on campus. I hope you've noticed. OK, I understand, you're a busy student, you've got three tests all on the same day and homework pouring out your ears. You're trying to allocate bathroom breaks into your daily planner ("Hrm, 4:45 p.m. on Thursday? Sounds good!"). Been there, done that, have the original cast soundtrack.

I know this place often seems as diverse as an Osmond family Christmas. And I know a lot of us come from small towns where "minority population" means the family of Democrats down the road. That makes the effort all the more important.

Even if you don't march, even if you don't attend a lecture, even if you can't sit in on a concert or workshop — and there's plenty of those activities available — this week is an opportunity for introspection as well as activism.

After all, we survived the race riots of the '60s, and the civil rights moment ended in a win for the good guys, so we've got nothing to worry about, right?

Ask Wen Ho Lee. This was a man who was staring down the barrel of 59 felony charges during a sweep for a Chinese leak in America's nuclear security. Oops, he's Chinese — we've got our man! For nine months, Lee sat in solitary confinement until the court asked for documents seeking to prove selective prosecution, at which point the government agreed to a plea bargain on a single felony count relating to mishandling nuclear secrets. In essence, Lee was found guilty of being careless, but not of being treacherous.

Yeah, 279 days of solitary confinement for carelessness.The prosecution, fresh from a tongue-lashing by both U.S. District Judge James Parker and President Clinton, insists race was not a factor. I wish I could believe that. Nobody ever thought he was selling nuclear secrets to Iraq.

We want to believe that we're an integrated, tolerant society. I'll give a "probably" to "integrated," but we're not close enough to "tolerant" yet.

Maybe we're almost a decade removed from Rodney King's recorded beating, but history continues to repeat itself. Maybe you don't know the name "Jerome McCellion" yet. You probably know him better as "the kid on the videotape in Florida who got punched and kicked in the back of the head by the cops while he was laying spread-eagled on the ground." Or what about Thomas Jones, who suffered a similar beating at the hands of police officers? Jones was a suspected car thief who was, at the time, thought to be responsible for shooting one of his pursuing officers. His recorded beating further polarized Philadelphia, a city already torn by the ongoing legal battle to execute a convicted cop-killer, Mumia Abu-Jamal.

This ain't tolerance, this is polarization.

Crime and punishment — a matter of faith and trust — is a political and racial issue in this country. It's easy to dismiss as alarmist propaganda, but the numbers boggle the imagination. Consider this: according to crime researcher David C. Baldus, blacks who kill whites are 22 times as likely to receive the death sentence as blacks who kill blacks, and seven times more likely than whites who kill blacks. Blacks also are a third more likely to be arrested for drug offenses, despite having roughly comparable rates of drug usage with whites. Baldus also finds that blacks serve federal prison terms roughly 50 percent longer than their white counterparts.

BECKY WILSON/Collegian

The equilibrium is off. The rules aren't fair, and we all should be pissed off about it. How far have we come? Does it matter when we still have so far to go?

So what do we do? Burn down the system and start all over? Well, if it didn't work the first time, we don't have much of a chance of doing it right fresh from charred rubble, do we?

The key to this is to stop thinking about this on simply a national level. Sure, there's work to be done in Washington, D.C., and in our courts to put our system back on track. But remember that these actions of madness and bigotry all spark from the same core — an undeniably human, yet still tainted soul.

To destroy the taint, to lash out with the same intolerance, merely infects and corrupts us.

We must walk with the same grace and gentle spirit in which the martyrs of our history lived and died. We must deny our impulse to return the hatred and venom that would be spent upon us. We must change the world, some days by marching, but most days by extinguishing the unthinking, blind prejudices that creep into our small corners of life. We must make the blind see that our colors are an illusion, a thing of flesh, quickly lost and swiftly forgotten. This we can and must do, day by day, year by year, one at a time, and the world will shape itself around us.

As Gandhi said, "We must become the change we would see in the world," and we can do it together.

Ken is a graduate student in English. You can e-mail him at sigma7@ksu.edu.

CAMPUS fourum 395-4444

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions on topics relevant to the publication.

Am I the only one on campus that refuses to wear tan cargo shorts?

■

If pretty girls are nothing but boobs and make-up, does that mean that hot guys are nothing but khakis and backwards visors?

■

When every student pays $250 in privilege fees every semester, why are the Rec outfield lights only restricted to intramurals?

■

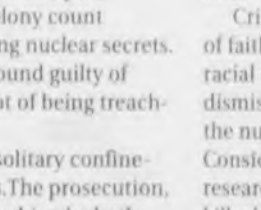
Two quizzes on Career Fair day? Do you want me to be unemployed or what?

■

I don't think that the students have any room to gripe about being overcrowded in ICAT, seeing how they voted against stadium expansion in favor for our hollow Hale library.

■

I am a very small-built person. My wife and teen-age daughter say I have no ass at all, and yet it's 17 and a half inches across. How you fit anybody in ICAT is way beyond me.



■

I have been going here for four years and I am just wondering why people even bother going to class when, five minutes after it starts, they get up and leave.

■

You know what's funny? You have 16 inches of space in an ICAT seat to watch a football game, and there's not a football player on the field that could fit into the seat you're watching them on.

Gore's shortcomings, inconsistencies demonstrate presidential inabilities

RICK WOOTEN

In the recent past, I have read too many columns dogging Republican presidential nominee George W. Bush and not a single one devoted to pointing out the shortfalls of Democratic nominee Albert Gore. Therefore, it falls upon me to show my fellow students that Gore himself has said many things to make even his most passionate supporters fall out of their trees.

Al Gore has a tendency to tell less-than-half truths. He is like myself in many ways. He says and does things he just doesn't remember in the morning. I don't consider myself quite ready to be president of the United States yet, and I don't think Gore ever will. The following are reasons why Gore should not be elected to this office.

Gore has more flip-flops than the entire cast of "Baywatch." Believe it or not, Al used to be pro-life. In 1984, Gore cast a vote in favor of the following statement as an amendment to the Civil Rights Act: "For the purposes of this act, the term 'person' shall include unborn children from the moment of conception."

Is this the same Al Gore? Indeed it is. In fact, he often wrote letters to constituents saying, "It is my deep personal conviction that abortion is wrong. I hope that someday we will see the current outrageously large number of abortions drop sharply." As congressman, Gore consistently voted pro-life and was strongly against the federal funding of abortion.

This all changed in 1988, when Gore decided to make a run for the presidency. Realizing he could not gain his party's nomination being pro-life, he had a sudden change of heart. Unfortunately for him, the Democrats at the time didn't believe in his agenda and chose as their nominee the infamous Michael Dukakis.

Gore also has changed his mind in regards to tobacco. While campaigning for the presidency in 1988, he bragged to Southern tobacco farmers that "throughout most of my life, I raised tobacco. I want you to know that with my own hands, all of my life, I put it in the plant beds and transferred it. I've hoed it. I've chopped it. I've shredded it, spiked it, put it in the barn and stripped it and sold it." Even after his own sister's death of lung cancer, Gore continued to profit from his family's tobacco farm. Yet now, because it is politically popular, Gore is adamant that he is anti-tobacco. As the Church Lady would say, "Isn't that conveeeeeeenient?"

Al Gore also is an unrivaled moron. In addition to his claims to have invented the Internet and to have discovered the Love Canal waste disposal site, Gore has proven his mind works in mysterious ways. While attacking then President Bush, Gore said, "A zebra doesn't change its spots." Genius. Pure genius. OK, so maybe little Al wasn't privileged enough to have the Discovery Channel, but I know of thousands of soon-to-be-aborted fetuses that already know zebras have stripes.

Keith Olberman would be proud of Gore's vast knowledge of sports. Following the Chicago Bulls' sixth championship in summer 1998, Gore stated at a Washington, D.C., function, "I tell you that Michael Jackson is unbelievable, isn't he?" Unbelievable. Yes, I agree.

Finally, all of us must conclude that Al Gore and the entire Clinton administration all are a bunch of crooks. The scandals of the Clinton administration are in numbers that no other presidency has ever seen. One example of Al's indiscretion in this area of "less-than-legal" activity is the case of Democratic Party contributor Jose Cabrera.

Only months before he was caught smuggling in three tons of cocaine, Cabrera had his picture taken with good ol' Al at a Florida campaign event. Found in the same drug raid was a picture of Cabrera in front of the White House Christmas tree with none other than Hillary Clinton. Strange that Cabrera, who previously was convicted of both tax evasion and bribing a witness in a drug investigation, would have access when visitors routinely get background checks. Eventually, his $20,000 donation to the Democrats was returned.

I'll leave you with this: in a 1988 Presidential debate, Gore said, "I'll fire anyone who has lied to the American people or the United States Congress."

We still are awaiting Gore's resignation.

Rick is a senior in radio/TV broadcasting. You can e-mail him at rwooten@collegianmail.com.

READERS WRITE

Public education would suffer under school voucher system of financing

Editor,

I am writing in regards to Emily Cochran's column in Thursday's paper.

She touches on three key differences between the liberal left and the conservative right. The issue that caught my attention was her endorsement of the school voucher system. It is quite obvious that Cochran does not understand the depth of the problems that our schools face today, especially in the area of finance. Schools now receive money from the state based on enrollment. The fewer students in school, the less money that school receives. There are many school districts in Kansas already being crippled by declining enrollment, which leads to decreased funds. Districts are being forced to cut teachers' positions, which in smaller schools often results in the loss of "non-essential" programs such as art, music and vocational agriculture. As an art-history major, I am sure Cochran would be appalled at the thought of a school without an art program, but this might become a reality in the near future.

Another problem with the voucher system is that the private schools compete on an uneven field. They have the option to turn away students, such as those with disabilities. As anyone who is familiar with school finance knows, special education programs consume the majority of the funds a school receives. If we are to fairly measure a school's success—both in the classroom and the pocketbook— we must take into account the students who attend those schools. The only way to make public education better is to spend money on our public schools. This includes better facilities, smaller class size and increased teacher salaries. If we continue with the school voucher program it will only continue to cripple our public system.

Cochran ended her column, "Examine the consequences of a left versus right platform by delving below what sounds fair on the surface. Vote accordingly." I encourage everyone, including Cochran, to follow this advice.

— Kale Mann
senior in biology/chemistry secondary education

Speaker explains relationship between leadership, diversity

By NANCY FOSTER
Kansas State Collegian

Asking everyone in the audience to find a partner, Diversity Workshop leader Juanita Cox-Burton told the participants to look their partner up and down, paying attention to every detail.

The audience of about 500 leadership students did as she said, looking each other up and down — some for a brief while, while others took their time.

Then she asked each partner to turn around and change three things about their appearance. The other partner then had to determine what three things had been changed. She had everyone do this three times, each time, changing something different.

"Leadership is about change, but diversity is also about change," she said.

Cox-Burton spoke Monday night in the Union Main Ballroom. She said three key aspects were essential in leadership diversity: hospitality, increased knowledge and allied behavior.

"The reason why I asked you to look the person up and down is because if you don't ever notice people, it's going to be very difficult to be hospitable," she said. "And also very hard to be an ally."

People often think of change as a loss, she said, relating it to people who took something off to change their appearance.

"We do lose something in the process, but we also gain something," she said.

She related how people don't like change to the people who immediately changed their appearance to how it was in the beginning.

"What I am suggesting to you is to do things differently. Talk to different people," Cox-Burton said.

RACIAL/ETHNIC HARMONY WEEK

"I know it is difficult, but the more you do it, the easier it can become."

She then showed the audience a video titled "The Eye of the Storm," which documented how young children who were taught to discriminate against others were affected.

An all-white classroom of third graders was taught one day that blue-eyed children were smarter and better listeners than brown-eyed children.

The next day, it was reversed. Both days, the groups were separated. The inferior group was forced to wear scarfs around their necks and were treated differently by both the teacher and the superior classmates all day.

The result was children getting into fights on the playground, and those labeled superior performed better on tasks than when they were labeled inferior.

The lesson from the video, Cox-Burton said, was that discrimination has a definite effect.

"I'm a true believer that one can't reach their true potential when someone places scarfs on them or labels them," she said.

At the end of the video, the children were allowed to rip their scarfs off and throw them away.

"Not everyone can take off the scarfs or labels they wear," she said.

To combat these scarfs and labels, the three key aspects come into play, she said, with hospitality being one of the easiest to change.

"It doesn't take anything for you to give someone else a smile," she said. "It doesn't cost anything to say hello. Hospitality seems to be one of the key characteristics a leader can display."

The second aspect she discussed was increasing one's knowledge of diversity.

"I want to encourage you to learn more about diversity, to clearly understand who will be negatively impacted if affirmative action goes away," she said.

She asked the audience who they thought that would be, and while many said blacks, the answer was white women.

"There is so much to learn about diversity. Diversity is not an event," she said. "It's a journey, and we are all on this journey."

Creating allies was the third topic Cox-Burton discussed.

"As white people, you have a tremendous power to stop racism. I can't stop racism because I am a victim of it," she said.

Cox-Burton said she did have the power to fight for other minorities, such as homosexuals and those with disabilities.

"Wherever you have the power, use it," she said. "We have to be allies to one another."

Scott Bryant, freshman in general agriculture, said her speech both moved and inspired him.

"She brought dealing with racism through leadership into a new light," he said.

Stephanie Conrad, freshman in architecture, said she disagreed that Cox-Burton couldn't fight discrimination against black people.

"In effect, I think she is by sharing her stories," she said.

At the end of her speech, Cox-Burton left the audience with eight words:

"Utilize those leadership skills, and people will follow."

Get it online
kstatecollegian.com

5 HUGE MOUNTAINS!
16th ANNUAL Steamboat
NATIONAL COLLEGE WEEK
Complete College Ski Package
Includes 5 nights lodging, 4 day lift pass, and Exclusive dp Events.
from only $189 +tax & Service
(1-888-754-8447)
1-88U-SKITHIS
For more info www.Uskithis.com

TIPPMANN
PAINTBALL TRADER
111 S. 5th
Hunter's Island Paintball Park
West end of Collins Lane off S. Manhattan Ave.
Open play starts at 10 a.m. Sat.
539-5979

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
Limited Delivery Area
1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center

Dara's Fast Lane presents
Get your Tailgate BBQ to GO!
Smiley's B-B-Q & Catering
EVERY THURSDAY 11 a.m. - 2:30 p.m.
Corner of Claflin and Denison Across From Goodnow Hall
FEATURING
6 1/2 racks of ribs, 2 liters of Pepsi, Beans and Potato Salad all for $55.00
2 meats 2 sides $7.95
1 meat 2 sides $5.95
Pre Order now for gameday pickup at Dara's Fastlane #1 corner of Clafflin & Denison (other Gameday Specials available for walk in on Saturday).

99¢ Hump Day Specials
99¢ Coors Light Pounders
99¢ Hamburger and Fries
5 pm to 10 pm
99¢ Nachos
5 pm to 10 pm
RUSTY'S LAST CHANCE

SCREEN GEMS ©2000 SCREEN GEMS, INC. ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.
in association with Playtex TAMPONS
Girls Night Out!
Presents a
FREE ADVANCE SCREENING

Tuesday, September 26
also sponsored by
salonselectives see it. do it.
7:00pm @ Seth Childs Cinema - 2610 Farm Bureau Road
Free passes available at the UPC Office, 3rd floor, K-State Student Union.
Passes required. Seating is limited and not guaranteed. Please arrive early.
NETWORK EVENT THEATER

Hey, Student Organizations!

Registration Deadline:
Friday, September 22nd
Registration forms are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services (Ground Floor K-State Union). 532-6541

⚠Why be registered?⚠
Registered groups can:
1. Reserve university meeting rooms and facilities
2. Request funds from Student Governing Association
3. Obtain approval of fund-raising activities

Wildcat Rewards aims to thank fans

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

This football season, it's the team thanking the fans.

At least that was the idea in launching the high-tech Wildcat Rewards program this season, said Bob Cavello, associate director of athletics business operations.

Earlier this fall, AIM Technologies Inc., of Austin, Texas, announced an agreement to bring Fancard.net, the market leading fan-loyalty program, to K-State athletics.

The Cats are the first Big 12 team, as well as the first high-profile university in the country, to offer fans Fancard.net, known in Manhattan as the Wildcat Rewards program.

"We are extremely excited at the prospect of working with Kansas State," Tim Keyes, president of AIM, said in an Aug. 29 press release. "The Wildcats represent our first foray into the Big 12 Conference."

With two home football games under its belt in 2000, K-State victories over Louisiana Tech and Ball State, about 1,900 people have already signed up for the Wildcat Rewards program.

"For a program, in essence, that no one really knew about for the first game, I was very pleased with the turnout," said Steve Mammola, director of marketing and corporate relations.

However, that number is quite diminutive compared to the 10,000-person goal that's been set for the program, Mammola said.

K-State supporters have the chance to join Willie the Wildcat as "KSU's Number One Fan" by enrolling at KSU Stadium or online at www.Fancard.net. Upon becoming a member, fans earn 10 points for each home game they attend.

"It's a neat and easy way to get our fans involved," Mammola said. "They get rewarded for something they enjoy."

Points add up each game attended for discounts and rewards, which were determined by K-State, AIM and the sponsors involved.

Rewards range from a free soft drink upon signing up for the program to a chance to win game tickets and airfare from Kansas City, Mo., to the bowl game after the completion of the 2001 football season.

The Wildcat Rewards program was instituted in hopes to increase awareness of and attendance at other K-State athletic programs, such as basketball, volleyball and baseball.

"The Kansas State program also gives us the opportunity to show some of the country's most ardent fans the benefits of attending K-State athletic events across multiple sports," Keyes said.

Since fan points accumulated during the football season will carry over into basketball season, etc., it will offer an incentive for K-State fans to get bigger and better rewards, Cavello said.

"It's a great company with a great idea," he said. "It's definitely found a niche in our industry. Marketing research is an invaluable tool to better serve our customers."

In turn, Cavello said he's pleased overall with the wide range of benefits provided by Wildcat

See REWARDS on PAGE 10

WILDCAT REWARDS

As as Wildcat Rewards member, you earn 10 points for every K-State sporting event you attend and swipe your card. Points listed are cumulative so that, when you earn 330 points, you are eligible for every reward on the list.

- 10 points — Free 16 oz. soft drink
- 20 points — Free medium cherry limeade from Sonic
- 30 points — Free appetizer from Amarillo Grille with $20 purchase
- 50 points — Free Pizza Hut-KSU Stadium mouse pad
- 70 points — Entered to win two basketball season tickets
- 90 points — Entered to win two tickets to Big 12 Championship
- 110 points — Entered to win 12 tickets to K-State/Oklahoma basketball game
- 140 points — Entered to win autographed memorabilia
- 170 points — Entered to win $100 shopping spree at Cat's Closet
- 200 points — Entered to win 4 tickets 2001 K-State/Oklahoma football game
- 230 points — Entered to win KSU Stadium panoramic photo and 2001 football video season ticket
- 280 points — Entered to win $250 shopping spree at Cat's Closet
- 300 points — Entered to win 4 tickets in a suite for 2001 K-State/KU game
- 330 points — Entered to win 2 tickets and airfare to bowl game after 2001 season

SOURCE: K-State athletic department

JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

Cari Jensen digs a ball in the Wildcats' match against the Baylor Bears on Saturday. K-State rides a five-game winning streak into tonight's game at Texas Tech.

playing their game

Wildcats focus on using own style in tonight's game against Red Raiders

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

The phrase "we just have to worry about playing our game" has become a commonplace quote with coaches and players, but when K-State plays at Texas Tech tonight, the cliche couldn't be closer to the truth.

The Red Raiders can win the match only if K-State stops itself, head coach Jim McLaughlin said.

"If they play well, and we play well, we win the match," he said.

Much of that confidence comes from the Cats' 3-0 win over No. 24 Baylor on Saturday.

K-State grabbed the lead immediately and never let go, success that can be attributed to the team's schemes, setter Disney Brommenberg said.

"I think it's good that we beat Baylor," she said. "We feel a little better about our systems now."

In addition to feeling better about their schemes, the Cats also are beginning to improve in transition. Every time K-State digs a ball is one more chance it has to score, and the Cats have been digging more balls, McLaughlin said.

> "If they play well, and we play well, we win the match."
>
> Jim McLaughlin, coach

"I've been charting our digs, we call them 'creates,' and we're creating more every match," he said. "And, in turn, you get more opportunities to turn balls in transition. So we're improving just because we're digging more balls."

Tech (9-1, 0-1), however, could force K-State (8-2, 2-0) to get impatient with their own ability to make digs, outside hitter Liz Wegner said.

"Texas Tech is a team just like Baylor. They're really scrappy, and they can frustrate you very easily," she said. "We've just got to do the same thing we did with Baylor and not give them any chance."

To eliminate Tech's chances for a victory, though, K-State must play better than it did last year, when they narrowly lost to Tech in Lubbock. And while K-State has improved since that time, so have the Red Raiders, McLaughlin said.

"Tech, this year, is playing a little bit better ball control. I think they control the ball at a better level overall," McLaughlin said. "We're going to have to show some patience and poise but remain very aggressive."

K-State will have to be especially aggressive against Tech's primary weapon, the 6-foot, 7-inch Colleen Smith, who leads the team with 5.3 kills per game.

While Smith's added height certainly gives her an advantage over shorter players, the Cats will not defend her any differently than if she were nine inches shorter, McLaughlin said.

"We defend her the same way we would defend anyone else, find her strengths and take them away," he said. "You want to just front them, you want to make good moves and take away her best shot.

"She's got a couple shots, but we're going to try to take away the things she really wants to do and force her to beat us with some things she doesn't want to do."

Criticism of Cats' schedule not enough to keep team from top spot

RICHARD SMITH

It's like clockwork, almost. Every year, there are five things you can count on to happen by the middle of September:

1. Someone will criticize K-State's non-conference schedule, because national sports media are nothing if not well-informed and original.

2. The Bengals will be out of NFL playoff contention.

3. We'll all have a new reason to hate Steve Spurrier.

4. I will have received a minimum of one parking ticket, and...

5. At least one team of superbly-trained, tough-as-nails, muscle-bound athletes will throw a Shannon Doherty-worthy hissy fit over the number assigned to them in an arbitrary, meaningless poll.

Again this year, bingo on all five. I accept most of these. I get them. All except the parking ticket (if it doesn't say "no parking" and it's a parking space, why can't you park there?!), and especially the poll-whining.

A perfect candidate for our little game of "The AP Feud" is the UCLA Bruins. To bring you up to speed, UCLA was bad last year. Horrid. They finished 4-7, and for a Bruin squad, that's "Carrot Top in: Chairman of the Board" bad.

So, fittingly, they began the season unranked. Now, after surprising upset wins over two third-ranked teams (Alabama and Michigan), the Bruins have ascended all the way to sixth in the AP and eighth in the coaches poll.

Are the Bruins satisfied with their eight-spot jump? No. Listen to quarterback Ryan McCann after Saturday's 23-30 upset of Michigan:

"I think we proved we were the number one team in the nation," McCann said. "I don't know who else we can beat, or what else we can do."

For the record, UCLA wasn't number one, they were number fourteen. And despite McCann's perplexity, there really are eight more opponents remaining on the Bruins schedule. No joke.

But McCann's not alone in his confusion. Weird things are happening in the polls, and everyone seems upset by them. K-State fans are mad they got jumped by Virginia Tech. Wisconsin fans are seething because they got jumped by half of the top 10. USC fans are fuming over being jumped by UCLA. I could go on quite a while, but you get the point.

And this hubbub, in turn, confuses me. Everyone needs to take a deep breath — the world isn't ending. Up is still up, down is still down, and the University of Kansas still sucks. The fact is, that no matter how significant these poll slights seem right now, by season's end, they'll all mean nothing.

People put far too much stock in the polls, especially early on. Remember, the preseason polls are based on air. No one's played a game yet. No one's won, no one's lost. Those first polls are based solely on the opinions and, quite often, the prejudices of sports-writers who often don't know nearly as much about the game as they let on.

As the season progresses and wins and losses compile, the polls naturally correct for the those writers who either took a dare or were truly misguided enough to think that Alabama, Miami and Texas were legitimate national title contenders.

Remember two years ago, when everyone's lives hung on the weekly polls and K-State's national title chase? In the end, all the worrying was for naught — when the season had ended and the dust settled, K-State had won all of their games and stood exactly where they hoped and deserved to be — at number one.

And the same will happen this year for whoever wins out and proves they deserve that top ranking. It sometimes takes awhile, but for all their faults the polls usually wind up okay in the end, and they will again this year.

So, Ryan McCann, K-State fans, everyone else who's upset — the media may be stupid, but they'll get it right when it matters most, so just relax and enjoy the games. Save that energy for, oh, say, mid-October, so you can spring me out of jail when I get my 50th parking ticket.

Richard is a senior in marketing and electronic journalism. You can e-mail him at rsmith@collegianmail.com.

SPECIALS
Monday
$1 wells & bottles
1/2 price hamburgers
Tuesday
$1.75 domestic pitchers & wells
$3.95 Chicken Fried Steak
Wednesday
$2 everything
10c peel & eat shrimp
Thursday
$1.50 bottles & wells
10c wings
Live DJs Tuesday-Sunday
Come pick up our movie schedule*
Outdoor Movie Theatre

Sporting Goods Auction
LONGHORNS BAR AND GRILL
Monday, September 25, 7:00 P.M. • 1115 Moro, Manhattan, KS
TREADMILLS • WEIGHT BENCHES • EXERCISE EQUIPMENT
KNEE BOARDS • WAKE BOARDS • TUBES • LIFE JACKETS
BARBEQUE GRILLS • SMOKER & ROASTERS • TENTS
TARPAULINS • INSTANT SHELTERS • SCOOTERS
INFLATABLE BOATS • COOLERS • GOLF CLUBS • GOLF BAGS
COLEMAN LANTERNS • COLEMAN STOVES • GAME FEEDERS
GUN CASES • AIR MATTRESSES • TROLLING MOTOR
FISHING POLES • BASKETBALL GOALS • AIR PUMPS • PUNCHING BAGS
AIR RIFLES • MUCH MORE • DELIVERY AVAILABLE
Auctioneer's Note: This sale is comprised of returned sporting goods from a major retail sporting goods supplier. Many items are still in the box and most of it is used little if at all. There is a nice selection of clean sporting goods of all kinds. Come out and enjoy an evening at the auction with us at Longhorns in Aggieville!
Free Hot Dogs served 6-7
Beverages and Refreshments sold by Longhorns throughout the auction
A GOOD TIME WILL BE HAD BY ALL!
Terms: Cash or checks with proper identification will be accepted. All merchandise must be paid for and removed the day of auction unless delivery arrangements are made. All sales are final and no warranties are expressed or implied. All information is deemed reliable but not guaranteed.
Purple Wave Auction Company
PURPLE WAVE
Consignment
Estate Sales
Farm Auctions
Business Liquidations
Charity Auctions

SCOREBOARD
WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY NIGHT
$1 NIGHT
Seagrams, All domestic bottles
Calls - Captain, Quervo, etc.
Fries, Burgers, Tots
All for a buck!
$1.50 Micro & Import Bottles - Corona, Heineken, Newcastle, etc.
$2.00 Premiums - Crown, Sapphire, Absolut
1119 Moro • 776-7714 • Open at 5:00 p.m.
SCOREBOARD

Cryptoquip & CROSSWORD
presented by:
1219 Moro
Aggieville
JAVA
(785) 587-8888

FOR RELEASE WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 2000

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 FDR's pet
5 As well as
8 Puts together
12 Speedy steed
13 "Give — break!"
14 Jump
15 Over-simplify
17 Re planes 'n' such
18 Stick in the mud
19 Shelled gastropod
21 Calendar quota
24 Affirmative action?
25 Cushions
28 Unlit
30 German pronoun
33 Honshu wrap-around
34 Labyrinths
35 Old French coin
36 Writer's tool
37 Press agent?
38 Old woman's home
39 Guy's companion
41 Bonheur or Parks
43 Pretentious
46 Warbucks' ward
50 PC symbol
51 Goner
54 Royal flush component
55 High peak
56 "Zip- — -Doo-Dah"
57 Advantage
58 Cambridge sch.
59 Not so much

DOWN
1 Lose color
2 Jack-in-the-pulpit
3 Elia's real name
4 Monasteries, often
5 I love, to Livy
6 Fresh
7 Boone, to pais
8 San Antonio landmark
9 Type of apple pie
10 Show moxie
11 Dalmatian's name
16 Ike's inits.
20 Cartoonist's supplies
22 Hebrew month
23 "Sweeny Todd" prop
25 Dad
26 Copper head
27 Start of an "Oz" song
29 Nevada city
31 Bill's partner
32 Shade
34 Temperate
38 Summer shoe
40 Danny of basketball
42 Despondent
43 Resembling
44 Amino —
45 Leading man
47 Unadorned
48 Cools
49 Supplements (— out)
52 Whitney or Wallach
53 Suitable

Solution time: 27 mins.

M	A	S	C		A	D	O		S	A	C	K
A	L	A	R		R	E	V		C	L	U	E
T	I	M	E	L	I	N	E		R	U	B	Y
			A	I	D		R	H	A	M	E	S
M	O	A	T	S		P	R	O	W
O	G	R	E		G	O	A	L	L	I	N	E
S	E	E		B	R	U	T	E		N	I	L
H	E	A	D	L	I	N	E		D	E	C	K
			R	U	D	D		D	O	Z	E	S
B	A	B	I	E	D		A	I	L
I	V	A	N		L	I	F	E	L	I	N	E
T	O	R	K		E	V	A		A	C	I	D
E	W	E	S		S	E	R		R	E	P	S

Yesterday's answer 9-20

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/rotary phones. (18+ only) A King Features service, NYC.

9-20 CRYPTOQUIP

Q Z J C Q J L W O C J T B W L L Z J M F Y Z L E , B W O T S T Y J C J O S M M R M F H J T L B E S R , " L Z S C H E S Q S L L ! "

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: OF COURSE RAISING LITTLE GOATS ISN'T ALL THAT DIFFICULT: I THINK IT'S KID STUFF.

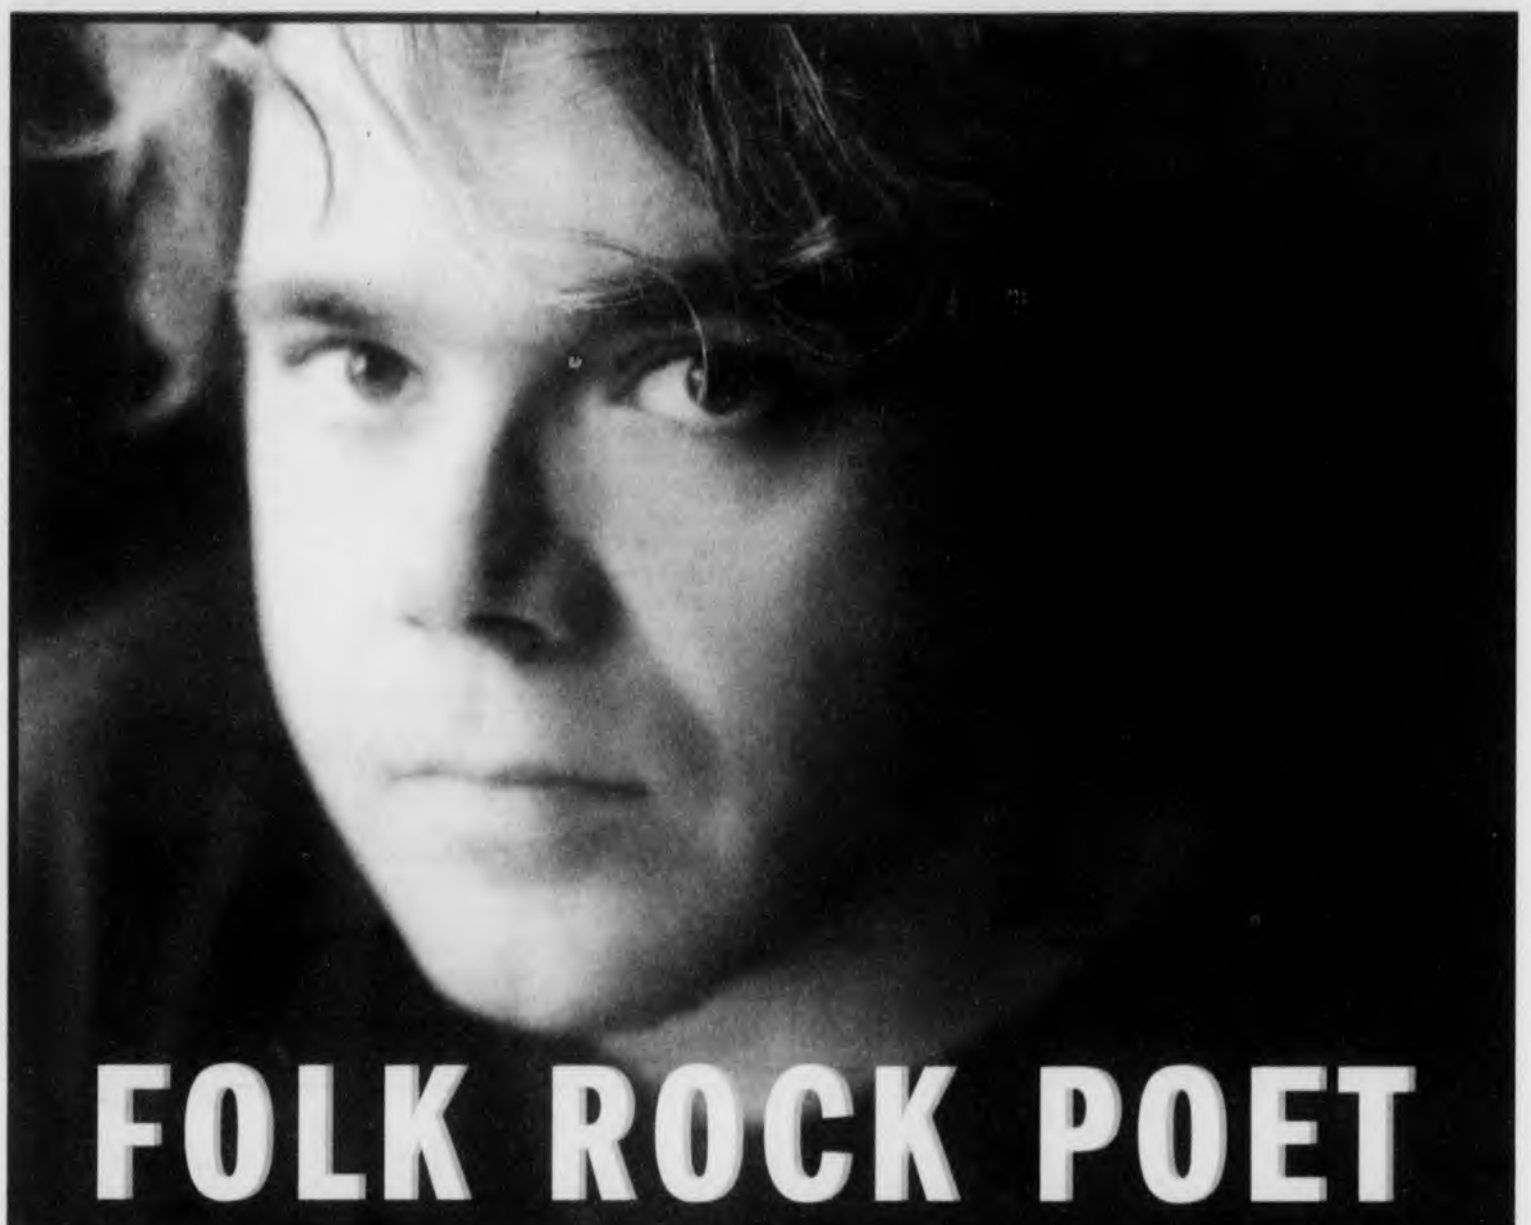
Today's Cryptoquip Clue: M equals L

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2000 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WHAT'S HAPPENING



CAMPUS

- "Bringing About Equality Between Women and Men: What Needs To Be Done" presented by Barbara Bergman, 7 p.m. Wednesday, Justin Hall109
- Weekly Wind-Down, Comedian Jon Laster, 8 p.m. Thursday, Union Station
- "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World," 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Forum Hall
- Comedy Night, Rhetta, 8 p.m. Monday, Union Station

MANHATTAN AND REGION

- Inspirational Poetry Reading, 8 p.m. Thursday, Java Espresso and Bakery
- Little Apple Festival 2000, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, City Park
- Renaissance Festival, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, Bonner Springs, Kan.

If you know of upcoming events in and around Manhattan, e-mail them to arts@spub.ksu.edu.

FOLK ROCK POET

Singer-songwriter opens BirdHouse music series at center

By ALLISON RUSHTON
Kansas State Collegian

The "Road" will wind through Manhattan on Friday.

Singer-songwriter Jeff Black will perform songs from his first album "Birmingham Road," as well as new songs, to open the 2000 BirdHouse Performance Series at 8 p.m. at the Manhattan Arts Center .

Black's wife, Kissy, said his musical style is hard to pinpoint.

"Jeff could be called a folk-rock poet, in that he's a rocker with a poetic sense," she said.

Black, who grew up listening to a variety of music ranging from Sly and the Family Stone to Johnny Cash, said he takes a slightly different view.

"For me, it's always been rock 'n' roll," Black said.

He said his strong focus on the lyrics gives his music a more literate base, making it post-modern folk.

Black, who grew up in Liberty, Mo., moved to Kansas City when he was 19 and started playing live gigs as an opener for other performers.

After drawing bigger crowds than the headlining bands, Black said he decided to move to Nashville. There, he attracted the attention of executives from the record company Artista-Austin.

He released his first album, "Birmingham Road," in 1998.

Now, Black is touring the Midwest to promote his album.

Diann Bayes, program director for the Manhattan Arts Center, said BirdHouse, which sells tickets for only 150 seats, is a distinctive concert setting.

"It provides a fine, acoustical-music, listening environment," Bayes said. "It is a very intimate setting."

David Kamerer, BirdHouse co-founder, said this series is the most high-profile lineup ever.

"These are the best singer-songwriters working today," he said.

Kamerer said Black has written songs that have been recorded by other artists, such as Black Hawk, and he has been compared to Bruce Springsteen and John Mellencamp.

Kamerer said one of the most impressive things about Black is the lyrics.

"Jeff Black plays a thinking person's music. It's for people who care about the words," he said. "His lyrics are very special."

Kissy Black said she agreed that her husband's music is special.

"It's a journal of a place and time in his life," she said. "The lyrics are about who he is and what he is trying to say. They are deeply introspective."

Tickets for Black's performance are $10 for adults and $8 for students. They are available at the Dusty Bookshelf and the Manhattan Arts Center. Any unsold tickets will be available at the door before the performance.

Classical musician attracts variety of listeners

By JJ DUNCAN
Kansas State Collegian

If Tuesday evening doesn't turn out to be a starry night, Julie Rivers will make it one.

Supporting three recorded albums, including "One Starry Night," Rivers will play at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in All Faiths Chapel. Admission is free, but donations are being accepted.

Though her music is meant for a greater variety of listeners, she is viewed in high regard by the classical community, Virginia Houser, associate professor of music, said.

"I've taken an interest in her music because I realize the appeal it has," she said. "Most classical musicians live with a very narrow audience, but Julie's music is attractive to a wide audience. Her music really speaks."

The performance is in All Faiths Chapel, but Houser said the show is not a religious one.

Rivers, who has been working with her original compositions for about five years, previously performed and recorded classical pieces professionally. Working with her own music has been a freeing experience that unleashes her original aims, she said.

"When I was a little girl, I would sit around and come up with music, but through my training and education I was sort of funneled into playing the music of dead composers," Rivers said. "Now, it seems I'm coming out at the other end with music that is mine."

Pat Petterson, public relations representative for Rivers, said she has been working with her for more than a year, but has always been a fan of her music.

"The thing I enjoy most about the music is the beauty of the phrasing and how exciting it is," she said. "Every time I hear her original compositions, I find it exciting even though I've heard them hundreds of times."

Rivers identifies her music as modern romantic. Though it often is filed under New Age or easy listening, those labels fail to communicate the depth of her music, she said.

Though recording is an important part of preserving an artist's work and establishing a reputation, it is the live performance that truly is a great experience, Rivers said.

She will be performing on a grand piano accompanied by Randy Wills on synthesizer and Peter Larsen on guitar.

"Live performances are very electric because of the communication between me and the audience, as well as the camaraderie between the musicians," she said. "Nothing will ever be as strong as live music where the audience can actually watch the creative process unfold."

COURTESY PHOTO

It is important for people to find what it is they have to give in life. People should be willing to explore new opportunities and take risks, she said.

"Everyone has a unique contribution to the world and its up to us to find out what that is," she said. "Had I gone on playing the music of other composers, I never would have found what it was that was born in me."

THE GONGFARMER

BY RANDY REGIER

Monkey Boy

BY BRENT ENGSTROM

HOMELESS

■ continued from page 1

homeless can include those who have had homes burn down or college students who have been kicked out of their parent's homes.

Throughout the campout, the members scheduled events so everyone could bond and enjoy the night, with their main goal focusing on awareness.

"Money isn't everything," Watts said. "Even if we don't raise all of the money at least we built awareness."

Members said they felt the evening was a learning experience that will last a lifetime.

"We must always remember that things we take for granted others may need," Rachel Anderson, sophomore in education, said. "Hopefully, we can continue this awareness and let it be more than a one-night thing."

Hijacked plane crashes into Gulf of Mexico

By ADRIAN SAINZ
The Associated Press

KEY WEST, Fla. — A small plane that left Cuba with 10 people aboard Tuesday was hijacked before it crashed into the Gulf of Mexico, authorities said.

One man was killed and the others were found clinging to debris and rescued by a cargo ship.

The crew of the Chios Dream, a Panamanian-registered freighter, recovered one body and the survivors — three men, three women and three children — from rough seas nearly 300 miles off the Florida coast about five hours after the plane took off, the U.S. Coast Guard said.

One man had severe head and neck injuries. A Coast Guard cutter planned to meet the freighter Tuesday night and pick up the survivors. The most seriously injured were to be flown to Key West for treatment.

Details of who was on the flight and where it was going were unclear late Tuesday. It was unknown whether the plane ran out of fuel; the Coast Guard said it was heading west — away from both Florida and Cuba — when it went down.

"Apparently it was hijacked, and the pilot indicated they only had 1 1/2 hours fuel," said Lauren Gail Stover, associate director of Miami-Dade County Aviation Department.

The Antonov AN-2 Colt took off from Herradura Airport in Pinar del Rio, in Cuba's western province. Based on the last radar location given by Cuban air traffic controllers and an emergency beacon signal picked up by a U.S. AWACS plane, the Colt was believed to have gone down about 90 miles southwest of Key West, U.S. officials said.

The survivors, however, were pulled from the water more than 200 miles west of that area, the Coast Guard said.

Coast Guard Rear Adm. Thad Allen said he is not really sure why there was such a vast discrepancy between where the plane was believed to have crashed and where it actually did.

"In a lot of these cases, as they emerge, there is a lot of confusion," Allen said.

Cuban officials initially reported that as many as 18 people were on the plane, but Allen said the survivors told the ship's crew that only 10 were aboard.

Air traffic control in Havana notified the air traffic control center in Miami at 8:45 a.m. that the aircraft reported a possible hijacking, said Kathleen Bergen, a Federal Aviation Administration spokeswoman in Atlanta. The plane headed west out of Cuba, and contact was lost 15 minutes later.

The FAA had no voice or radar contact with the aircraft, Bergen said. The Pentagon also said it had no radar contact with the plane.

The AWACS plane based at Tinker Air Force base in Oklahoma was on a training mission when it picked up the beacon and was diverted to the Coast Guard search.

Jose Zavala, a supervisor at Cuba's Institute of Civil Aeronautics in Havana, said by telephone the plane was used for agricultural work. He declined to provide any other details.

The long-range single-engine bush plane is used for passenger flights, crop-dusting and forest fire suppression. U.S. officials initially described the Russian-made plane as a sea plane.

A similar aircraft was stolen by its pilot and four other Cubans on June 19, 1991. That plane landed safely at Miami International Airport, directed in by air traffic controllers who had both radar and radio contact with the pilot.

The 1966 U.S. Cuban Adjustment Act allows Cubans who reach U.S. soil to apply for U.S. residency. The communist government in Cuba says the law violates 1994 and 1995 migration accords with the United States aimed at encouraging orderly, legal immigration.

President Clinton said the health and safety of the survivors should be America's first concern.

"I can imagine that there will be a lot of questions about what should be done about the people that are found alive," Clinton said. "I think the most important thing now is just to worry about their care."

12th Street Pub
Mexican Night
$5.95 Taco Dinner
$2.00 Margaritas
$2.00 Coronas
$4.95 Enchilada Dinner
$6.95 Burrito Dinner
$2.00 Big Beers
ALL MEALS INCLUDE REFRIED BEANS, RICE, AND SALAD.

Production Staff
GTM Sportswear
It's Greek to Me has openings for FT second shift and several PT weekend positions (4p.m.-2a.m.). Great positions for students, night owls, 2nd incomes, Christmas money and working around family schedules.
No experience necessary.
Full-time Benefits include: •Health/Dental Insurance •Paid annual leave •401 k Retirement Plan
Apply today at 520 McCall Road, Manhattan, KS 66502 EOE
or e-mail kristin@igtm.com

LONGHORNS
Ladies Night
$1.00 domestic bottles

Intramurals
Recreational Services
Wrestling Meet
Entry Deadline
Thursday, September 21
5 p.m. at Rec Complex
Recreational Services Office 532-6980

R You N?
Golden Key National Honor Society
Golden Key National Honor Society
Membership Deadline:
September 25, 2000

Fun for the whole family!
Entertainment throughout both days!
Little Apple Festival 2000
Free Admission
Folklife Exhibition & Demonstrators
Crafts Vendors
Chidren's Area
Variety of Food
Juried Art Show
City Park - Manhattan, Kansas
September 23 9 am-6 pm
September 24 10 am-5 pm
Sponsored by Parks and Recreation Department
Manhattan Kansas

YOU HAVE THE POWER TO CHANGE THE WORLD AROUND YOU!
United Way ...helping kids in Riley County
The power of U™
• Kansas Children's Service League
• Sunflower CASA Project (Court Appointed Special Advocate)
United Way supports agencies like Kansas Children's Service League and Sunflower CASA which help our children find foster care or provide guidance when they need it most. Your gift to the United Way keeps the warmth of a foster home and the supportive voice of a CASA available for a child caught in a cold nightmare.
Don't underestimate "The Power of You" to make a difference! Please give to United Way.
United Way of Riley County, 106 S. 4th Street, Manhattan, KS 66502, (785) 776-3779

RETIREMENT INSURANCE MUTUAL FUNDS TRUST SERVICES TUITION FINANCING
TIAA-CREF provides financial solutions to last a lifetime.
Call us for a free consultation
Building your assets is one thing. Figuring out how those assets can provide you with a comfortable retirement is quite another.
At TIAA-CREF, we can help you with both. You can count on us not only while you're saving and planning for retirement, but in retirement, too.
Just call us. We'll show you how our flexible range of payout options can meet your retirement goals.
With TIAA-CREF, you benefit from something few other companies can offer: a total commitment to your financial well-being, today and tomorrow.
With TIAA-CREF, you can receive:*
• Cash withdrawals
• Systematic or fixed-period payments
• Interest-only payments
• Lifetime income payments
• A combination of these
Guaranteed by our claims-paying ability.
CREF GROWTH ACCOUNT†
26.70% 1 YEAR AS OF 6/30/00
27.87% 5 YEARS 6/30/00
26.60% SINCE INCEPTION 4/29/94
CREF Growth is one of many CREF variable annuities.
*Note: Availability may depend on your employer's retirement plan provisions contract. Under federal tax law, withdrawals prior to age 59½ may be subject to restrictions, and may also be subject to a 10% additional tax. Additional restrictions also apply to the TIAA Traditional Annuity.
TIAA-CREF Ensuring the future for those who shape it.℠
1.800.842.2776
www.tiaa-cref.org
For more complete information on our securities products, please call 1.800.842.2733, ext. 5509, to request prospectuses. Read them carefully before you invest. 1. Due to current market volatility, our securities products' performance today may be less than shown above. The investment results shown for CREF Growth variable annuity reflects past performance and are not indicative of future rates of return. These returns and the value of the principal you have invested will fluctuate, so the shares you own may be more or less than their original price upon redemption. • TIAA-CREF Individual and Institutional Services, Inc. distributes the CREF and TIAA Real Estate variable annuities. • Teachers Personal Investors Services, Inc. distributes the Personal Annuities variable annuity component, mutual funds and tuition savings agreements. • TIAA and TIAA-CREF Life Insurance Co., New York, NY, issue insurance and annuities. • TIAA-CREF Trust Company, FSB provides trust services. • Investment products are not FDIC insured, may lose value and are not bank guaranteed. © 2000 TIAA-CREF 08/03

Attention Student Organizations!
Recognize your adviser's outstanding leadership and dedication by nominating him or her for the
Adviser of the Year Award!
Applications are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services.
The deadline is Friday, October 6 at noon.
For more information call 532-6541.

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FALL LEASING available! Call now! Fully furnished, washer/ dryer, fully equipped kitchen, alarm systems, computer lab, copier, and fax availability, fitness center/ rec room, swimming pool, reserved parking, tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. University Commons Apartments, 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

CAMPUS FIVE BLOCKS Very large two-bedroom with air-conditioning. Clean, quiet location. Electric, gas, water, trash paid. No dogs. 537-8389.

EXCELLENT TWO-BEDROOM one block from campus. $550 per month, water/ trash paid. 341-4496.

LET US HELP you find a place to live. We may have what you need. No dogs. Leave message, 537-8389.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOMS, dishwasher, washer/ dryer, central air. $450- $475. Now available. (785)776-8455.

VERY NICE two-bedroom with air-conditioning. NEWLY REDECORATED, clean, quiet, convenient location. Heat, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. 537-8389.

Before Time Runs Out
advertise your sublease in the classifieds
Let's Rent special section
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 103 Kedzie 532-6555

115 Rooms Available

ROOM AVAILABLE NOW in four-bedroom house. Pets allowed, two bathrooms, utilities shared four ways. 1207 Houston. $300/ month. (785)770-9484, (785)556-1745.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, newly remodeled, CENTRAL AIR, two bath, washer/ dryer. 770-7230.

NEW DUPLEX. FOUR-BEDROOM, two bath, two living rooms. Available October 1. $1000/ month. Pierre St. (785)456-7655.

TWO STORY BRICK, very large, three- four-bedroom, two baths, central air, laundry hook-ups, quiet location, fenced yard, parking. 537-8389.

145 Roommate Wanted

ROOMMATE WANTED for house one block from campus. Gas, water and trash paid. Off-street parking. 776-5422.

150 Sublease

CLOSE TO CAMPUS! A very spacious one-bedroom basement apartment in a nice house. Rent: $340 a month. You only pay for electricty, phone and cable! 770-3537.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 103 Kedzie 532-6555
A REAL Life-Saver

310 Help Wanted

EQUIPMENT OPERATORS CDL Drivers Laborers. Join Kansas' fastest growing No.1 team in the sediment & erosion control industry. We're looking for experienced and entry level individuals with mechanical aptitude, full and part-time. You'll enjoy great pay while working with a great team which rewards professionalism, while having fun operating state of the art equipment. We will train the right person. We promote from within. EOE. Please Call Jim at Homestead Enterprises, (316)983-2957.

FRATERNITIES• SORORITIES• CLUBS• STUDENT GROUPS. Earn $1000- $2000 this quarter with the easy Campusfundraiser.com three hour fundraising event. No sales required. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so call today! Contact Campufundraiser.com at (888)923-3238, or visit www.campusfundraiser.com

HUMIDOR DREAMS has an opening for position of "cigar girl" to work in the Aggieville area two- three nights a week. Friendly and good people skills a must, call (785)537-7444, ask for Heath.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY INTERN. VENATOR Group Inc. is a diversified global retailer that operates 4000 stores in 14 countries in North America, Europe, Australia and Canada. Through its athletic group of specialty retail stores-- including Foot Locker, Lady Foot Locker, Kids Foot Locker, and Champs Sports, as well as its direct marketer Eastbay-- we are the leading providers of athletic footwear and apparel. We are always searching for dynamic individuals to join our Distribution Center located in Junction City. This position offers challenges in Information Technology. Responsibilities will include: Assisting with management issues. Providing end users with research data. Providing end user support. Database Design, and Analysis. Training. Documentation. Qualifications: Skilled user of Microsoft Access. Able to use Structured Query Language (SQL). Experience with AS400 and Windows NT. Programming Experience. Some IT or MIS education. We offer a competitive salary, tuition reimbursement and professional development opportunities in a dynamic work environment. For consideration, please submit cover letter, resume and references to: Venator Group, Human Resources, Attn.: Associate Relations Manager, 3810 South U.S. Hwy. 77, Junction City, KS 66441. Or fax us at 785-761-3440. /EOE

LANDSCAPING POSITIONS. Full-time M- F. Apply in person at Horticultural Services Inc. 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (785)494-2418 or (785)776-0397.

LEASING CONSULTANT needed immediately. Must be dependable, responsible, organized and friendly. Apply in person: Chase Manhattan Apartments.

LUNAR TUNES, a local D.J. Company, is looking for energetic students to fill D.J. positions. Experience preferred. Will train the right person. (785)776-9140.

PHLEBOTOMIST. IMMEDIATE part-time opening in busy medical office lab. Excellent opportunity for student. Experience preferred but will train. Must be dependable and work well with patient and fellow workers. Hours: 7:30 am to 10:30 am. Apply in person at Medical Associates of Manhattan, 1133 College Avenue, Suite E-110, Manhattan, KS 66502. EOE M/F.

TUTOR NEEDED for biochemistry (CHEM 265). Please call 770-8186.

310 Help Wanted

PROGRAMMER- NETWORKS Plus, the leader in providing business technology services, has openings for programmers in Manhattan. Two or more years proven experience in Visual Basic or Microsoft SQL is required, project management experience is preferred. All new hires are required to obtain Microsoft Certified Solution Developer status within 90 days of employment. $70,000- $90,000- plus health, 401(k), vacation and company paid training. E-mail resume to jobs@networksplus.com in Microsoft Word or Text format.

PROPERTY MANAGER needed for large College Community. Position requires strong account and communication skills. Must be able to work independently and handle multiple tasks at once. Salary, plus apartment and benefits. Submit resume to: First Management, PO Box 1797, Lawrence, KS 66049 or fax to (785)841-8492.

Spring Break Reps needed to promote campus trips. Earn easy money and travel free! All materials provided free. We train you. Work on you own time. Call 1-800-367-1252 or www.springbreakdirect.com

SUBSTITUTE TEACHERS with USD 383 2000-01 school term. Must have valid Kansas teaching certificate. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, KS 66502 (785)587-2000. EOE

Spring Break 2001
Jamaica, Cancun, Florida, Barbados, Bahamas
Now hiring campus reps. Earn 2 free trips. Free Meals. Books by Nov. 2nd. Call for FREE info pack or visit online sunsplashtours.com
1-800-426-7710

UNDERWRITER. WE are seeking a motivated professional with good analytical and interpersonal skills to underwrite auto lines insurance. This person will review existing accounts; prepare correspondence; assist policyholders and agents; and assist with training seminars and program development. Some travel to field agencies may be required. Qualifications include excellent communication, analytical and decision-making skills; general business knowledge and familiarity with a PC. Insurance knowledge a plus. These skills are normally acquired with a bachelor's degree or equivalent insurance-related experience. Interested and qualified candidates should submit a letter of interest and resume by 10/02/00 to the address below but applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Kansas Farm Bureau & Affiliated Services, c/o Employment Manager, 2627 KFB Plaza, Manhattan, KS 66503. We are an equal opportunity employer and encourage diversity.

WANTED: PART-TIME babysitter for toddlers in Christian home near Wamego. Need caring, reliable applicant with own transportation. Call (785)456-7899.

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

WANT CASH? Sign- up your classmates for cool Internet sites, and receive a minimum of $1 per person! There's no easier way to make money! Log onto TeamMagma.com or call 1-877-866-2462.

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

615 N 3rd. Buy, sell, trade CDs, videos, misc. bar items, furniture and much more! 539-3919.

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. Open 12- 5p.m. Closed Sundays. Mondays. 539-4684.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS Camouflage clothing (including PURPLE) field jackets- Boots sleeping bags- overshoes, hunting wear. Also CARHARTT workwear. Open Mon.- Fri., 9- 5:30; Sat. 9- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS 66536. (785)437-2734.

KENMORE GAS dryer, autodry, like new, $145. (785)537-7947.

LIKE NEW, Cannondale Mountain bike $375, Soloflex Dumbells with bench $100. Sony TV 32-inch $375. (785)537-6851.

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

COUCH/ SOFA-BED, TV, microwave for sale. Call 537-1177 evenings.

EXTRA LONG flex-steel couch for sale. Call 776-1457.

420 Garage/Yard Sales

TWO FAMILY garage sale 1509 Pipher, Saturday 8- 5.

435 Computers

HIGH QUALITY, pre-owned LAPTOPS starting at $399.95!!! NorthStar Solutions: 1800 Claflin Rd., #160 (next to campus at the corner of Claflin and Denison).

455 Sporting Equipment

GUN & KNIFE SHOW National Guard Armory, 18th & Jackson, Junction City. Saturday September 23. 9 a.m.- 5 p.m. Sunday 24. 9 a.m.- 4 p.m. Buy-Sell-Trade. Sponsor Geary County Fish & Game Association. Information (785)238-8886.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

DISCOUNTED FOOTBALL (Section 430) tickets vs. North Texas for sale! Call Mike at (612)943-8113 for details.

FOR SALE: Two ICAT tickets for Nebraska game. Best offer. Call (785)395-2101.

FOR SALE: Two Nebraska ticket with ICAT. Best Offer (785)539-6192.

WANT TO trade my ICAT tickets for student general admission plus cash. Call (785)537-3735, leave message.

WANTED: THREE general admission tickets to the September 23 North Texas game. Please call 776-4742.

WANTED: STUDENT general admission football tickets. K-State vs Oklahoma, will pay $20 or best offer, call (785)770-3257, leave message.

WANTED: STUDENT General admission or ICAT tickets to KSU vs. Oklahoma, Iowa State and Texas Tech. Will pay $10- 20 cash. Negotiable email: still-well-jon@hotmail.com

WANTED: TWO KSU vs. Oklahoma tickets. Will trade for Chiefs vs Panthers tickets. Call (816)329-4489 or dirk.mcclure@hok.com

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1986 PONTIAC Firebird maroon A/C FM T-top. Power windows/locks. Good condition, FUN car. Call Jenny 776-8678.

1987 DODGE 600, four-door, automatic, air-conditioned, power steering, good condition, $2000 or best offer. Call (785)539-1628.

1988 CHEVY S-10 Blazer 4x4 auto, 4.3L V-6, air, tilt, cruise, good tires, rebuilt transmission, new alternator, water pump and battery. $3150 or make offer. (785)537-7947.

1990 PONTIAC Grand Prix four-door, power windows and locks. Air-conditioned, automatic transmission. Great school car. $2200 or best offer. (785)539-4089.

530 Motorcycles

1982 KAWASAKI K21000, $1300. (785)537-8878.

1997 KAWASAKI EX250R Ninja , 5000 miles, great working condition, new rear tire, many accessories, clear title. $2100. (785)395-2630. davidduffey.com/ninja

600 travel/ trips

630 Spring Break

EIGHT DAY Florida, Caribbean vacations. Orlando, Ft. Lauderdale, hotel, rental car, round trip cruise for two. $398 plus docking. 1-888-353-1813.

GO DIRECT= $avings! #1 Internet-based Spring Break company offering WHOLESALE Spring Break packages (no midddlemen)! Zero traveler complaints registered against us last year! ALL destinations. Lowest price guarantee! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakdirect.com

SPRING BREAK! Deluxe hotels, reliable air, free food, drinks and parties! Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Mazatlan and Florida. Travel Free and Earn Cash! Do it on the Web! Go to StudentCity.com or call (800)293-1443 for info.

SPRING BREAK!!! Cancun, Mazatlan, Bahamas, Jamaica & Florida. Call Sunbreak Student Vacations for info on going free and earning cash. Call 1(800)446-8355 or email sales@sunbreaks.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Cancun, Bahamas, Florida, Jamaica & Mazatlan. Call Sun Coast Vacationers for a free brochure and ask how you can organize a small group and Eat, Drink, Travel Free and Earn Cash! Call (888)777-4642 or email sales@suncoastvacations.com

WINTER BREAK/ SPRING BREAK. Ski and beach trips on sale now! www.sunchase.com or call 1-800-SUNCHASE today!

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.85
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.90
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.90
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information, call (785)456-2795, www.ksu.edu/ksfc

NEED A new look? Free hair cuts, color and texture. Call for details. Hair Experts Design Team. (785)776-4455.

SKIN PROBLEMS? Contact 1-888-353-1813.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

100 housing/ real estate

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

NICE, ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment near City Park. $300/ month, utilities paid except phone and cable. Call 537-6899.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, in four-plex, available now. 2110 Elm. $475/ month. Water and trash paid. Washer/ dryer hook-ups. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, 431 Leavenworth, $360, bills paid. 539-8401.

Got old stuff?
GET RID OF IT!
in the
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie
532-6555

Come home to relax in comfort
•Cambridge Square
•Sandstone Apts.
•Fireplaces •Carports
•Pool •Private Deck
•Laundry Facilities
•Large 2-bedroom Units
Call TODAY!!!
537-9064
Weekdays 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Showings by appointment

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

BRAND NEW three-bedroom/ three bathroom apartment available September 11th, washer/ dryer included, close to campus and Aggieville. Call MDI 776-3804.

145 Roommate Wanted

NICE TWO-BEDROOM, two bath, furnished, washer/dryer, dishwasher, privacy deck. Sublease, tenant needed. $325/ person/ month. 537-8226.

ONE BLOCK from Aggieville duplex two-bedroom apartment, one room available. $200 plus one-hlaf utilities. Huge bedroom and closets, air-conditioned. (785)537-9335 (home), 532-1837 (Hugo or Marcus).

200 service directory

220 Weight Loss & / Nutrition

Body Wrapping & More
For a slimmer and trimmer you
539-8391

255 Other Services

Therapeutic Massage
50% Off First Visit $16.00
776-0022
www.flinthills.com/~tmassage

300 employment/ opportunities

310 Help Wanted

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For info call (203)977-1720.

LUNCHROOM/ PLAYGROUND Supervisors- Hall Monitors needed for the 2000-01 school term. $5.15 per hour, one and one-half- two hours per day. 11a.m.- 1p.m. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, KS 66502 (785)587-2000. EOE.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

ARE YOU a SECONDARY EDUCATION major or GRADUATE STUDENT looking for some teaching experience? TEACHERS ARE WANTED with experience or interest in basic skills (English, communications, social studies, math and science). You must be able to operate independently, and have an interest in activity- based instruction, mastery learning, and the principles of educational psychology. Send self addressed stamped envelope to the Online High School, PO Box 1287, Manhattan, KS 66505-1287. Email to davel@network-splus.net

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!! Looking for part- time dealers. Multi- level market selling Indoor Air Purification Machines. Fun business, good money!!! Call Mitch at (888)814-2893.

CIVIL ENGINEERING graduate student instructor for part-time position at KSU Salina. Knowledge of KDOT Soils, Aggregate, and/ or Concrete lab techniques a plus. Familiarity with American Concrete Institute Testing also a plus. Send a letter of inquiry and resume to : CIT Program Division of Continuing Education, TAC Building, Suite 119, 2310 Centennial Ave. Salina, KS 67401, KSU is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

THOROUGH HOUSE cleaning under ideal circumstances for couple with no pets/ smoking/ children. Send resume to c/o Collegian, Box 1, Manhattan 66506.

DROWNING in your sorrows?
Find your lifesaver in the PERSONALS.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE • 532-6555

Before the landlord finds out that your cat ate his bird . . .
sell your pets in the Collegian.

Pet and Supplies
Collegian Classifieds
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie • 532-6555

000 bulletin board
100 housing/ real estate
200 service directory
300 employment/ opportunities
400 open market
500 transportation
600 travel/ trips

REWARDS

■ continued from page 6

Rewards program.

"Our decision to work with AIM was a perfect fit with our commitment to do business better, faster and smarter," Cavello said. "The one-to-one marketing opportunity provided by AIM empowers our fans, helping us provide better services and enhancing the fans' experience.

"The technology operating the Wildcat Rewards program is extremely efficient, cost-effective and very fan-friendly. We are pleased to be one of the first universities in the nation to take advantage of this cutting-edge opportunity."

Senator sworn in to replace Hardenburger

By CARL MANNING
The Associated Press

TOPEKA — Kansas once again has 40 state senators.

On Tuesday, Republican Mark Taddiken, a farmer from Clifton, was given the oath of office in the Senate chamber by Secretary of State Ron Thornburgh, while Gov. Bill Graves and several senators watched.

Taddiken, 50, was appointed last week by Graves to serve the remaining term of Sen. Janice Hardenburger, R-Haddam, who died Aug. 31 from lung cancer at age 68.

Also, Taddiken is the Republican nominee for the 21st Senate District in the Nov. 7 general election against Democrat David Norlin of Concordia, chairman of the English department at Cloud County Community College.

Taddiken said he hasn't had much time to campaign because he has been busy harvesting corn and milo. But he said when that is finished he will campaign throughout the district that includes Clay, Cloud, Marshall, Nemaha, Washington counties and parts of Pottowatomie and Riley counties.

The Republican governor endorsed Taddiken, saying, "He will carry on that tradition of excellence and honorable service."

Democrats say they have a good shot of winning because Norlin has been campaigning longer and his opponent is a political newcomer.

But Taddiken said he is optimistic about his chances. He had been Hardenburger's campaign manager and a week before her death, she wrote a letter urging county precinct committee members to support him.

"He is a good and honest man, a man of integrity," she wrote.

City leaves roundabout in doubt

By SCOTT ALDIS-WILSON
Kansas State Collegian

Manhattan city commissioners have picked a firm for upcoming work on Kimball Avenue, but stressed a roundabout is not guaranteed.

HWS Consulting Group Inc., based in Omaha, Neb., was approved in a unanimous vote by the commission to redevelop the Kimball corridor including the intersection of Kimball and North Manhattan avenues.

Recognized as a problem area, the intersection has been the site of 78 accidents between 1991 and July 2000, according to city staff.

Though the Kansas Department of Transportation has recommended a multi-lane roundabout as a solution, Commissioner Roger Reitz said HWS was chosen partly because it wanted to look at several solutions.

"We want a safe intersection, no matter what form it takes," Mayor Karen McCulloh said.

In other business, the commission also authorized city staff to apply for a Community Capacity Building grant though the Kansas Department of Commerce and Housing.

If the $15,000 was awarded to the city, it would be added to $35,000 already budgeted for preparation of the Downtown Urban Design Plan.

Want to learn a foreign language?
Arabic • Spanish • Chinese • Russian • Portuguese • Korean • German

The International Student Center is sponsoring a basic language training program, a six week, noncredit course to teach the basics of foreign language. Classes meet 2 nights a week beginning 9/25 and are taught by native speakers. The cost is $25.

For more information contact: The International Student Center at 532-6448 or e-mail at intlstucenter@ksu.edu

Hair Experts Design Team
Discover the Difference
New school year, new season and time to try something new. 15% off any service you have never experienced before.
1323 Anderson Ave.
Aggieville, Manhattan
776-4455

BLOWOUT PRICES!
79¢ Color Copies
5¢ Self-Serve Copies
$1.00 24"x36" Oversize Copies
COPY CO
MORE THAN JUST A COPY CENTER
Monday- Thursday 7a.m- 10p.m
Friday 7a.m- 9p.m
Saturday 8a.m- 9p.m
Sunday 10a.m- 10p.m
1223 Moro • Aggieville
537-2679

URBAN DESIGNS
engraving • awards • conservation framing • card

Adventures Through the Looking Glass
SEM Photographs by Ralph Howard
Jewelry by Karen Lauseng
Sculptural Ceramics by Todd Shanatelt
Sept. 18-Oct. 14, 2000
Opening Reception:
Friday, Sept. 22nd 5-7 pm
1204 Moro Manhattan, KS 66502 PH: 785-539-2963
OPEN: M-F 9-6 & Sat 10-6

NOW ON SALE

Campus Phone Book
with E-mail Listings
Get your copy NOW
On Sale by the Union Food Court
Sept. 20-22

NIGHTS & WEEKENDS

FREE
Nights & Weekends*
Starting with rate plans as low as $19.95

Nokia 5120
$39.99*

ALLTEL
The power to simplify

Manhattan Retail Store
515 Fort Riley Blvd. • 785-539-9595

Manhattan Wal-Mart
628 Tuttle Creek Blvd. • 785-776-4955

Manhattan Authorized Agents

HB Stereo	785-537-4690	Varney's Book Store - Town Center	785-539-5395
Varney's Book Store	785-539-0511	Varney's Book Store - KSU Union	785-770-2199

* One-year contract required. Address in the ALLTEL Kansas service area only. $25 service order fee required. Nights & Weekends available 8pm-6:59am Monday-Thursday and 8pm Friday to 6:59am Monday. Equipment may not be available at all locations. Offer ends 9/30/00. Some conditions apply.

TODAY'S WEATHER
HIGH 69 ■ LOW 57
THURSDAY

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sept. 21, 2000 ■ Kansas State University ■ Manhattan, Kan. ■ Volume 105, Number 23

Cooking creative cuisine
■ page 7

City debates constructing YMCA

By CHARLIE MORASCH
Kansas State Collegian

Residents and city officials have voiced their support for a YMCA facility in Manhattan. The only thing standing in the way is planning, money and fund-raising support from the national YMCA.

A group of city commissioners and community leaders met in August to decide how to proceed seeking a YMCA. That meeting followed another meeting in May that determined the group would take it to the next level, said Mark Samarrai, a Manhattan resident who helped organize both meetings.

Samarrai said he estimated the opening of a Manhattan YMCA to be within the next two to three years.

"It's going to take a while," Samarrai said. "We're still looking at feasibility issues right now, and what kind of fund raising we'll need."

Many people said a facility available to local residents has been long overdue.

"There are a lot of people in the community that want an indoor recreation center for Manhattan," Commissioner Ed Klimek said.

"This movement all started with a real positive spin, so it isn't an idea that really has to be sold to the people. In this case, I think a lot of people are supportive of the idea. Now the problem is just getting it off the ground."

Mayor Karen McCulloh said she agreed.

"I think it's a really positive idea, and I'd like to see us work on it," she said. "The issue now is money."

Getting the project started will require first a committee and a fund-raiser, both of which the commission will begin work on this fall, Klimek said.

Samarrai said fund raising might be the toughest part of the project, but he believes it will get done.

"It's hard because you're competing with the university, and a lot of people want to give to the university, and they only have so much money to donate," Samarrai said. "I think it's going to be a combination of private citizens and the city."

Klimek said private funds should get the project completed, although the YMCA probably will work with the Manhattan Department of Parks and Recreation.

"This is a private venture, and it would be done with private money, and will not necessarily be a function of the city," Klimek said.

"When we get to that point, the YMCA nationally has their own fund-raising arm, and they will come in and help us with our local fund-raising efforts. So, parks and rec won't be involved with the operation of it. They may mutually work together so they don't duplicate programs."

Fund raising is not the only concern, Klimek said.

"What we have to do prior to that time is to do some studies as to how many dollars are involved, what size of building will be appropriate for Manhattan, and what kinds of functions we need, like basketball or indoor swimming," Klimek said.

Where the building will be located is another issue. Opinions already are forming about the possible location of center.

"I personally would like to see it west of Anneburg Park," Samarrai said. "It would also be nice to have it off of Linear Trail, so that if children want to ride their bikes there, or if parents want to drop them off, they can do that."

See YMCA on PAGE 10

RACIAL/ETHNIC HARMONY WEEK

TODAY
10 a.m-noon — Diversity workshop, Flint Hills Job Corps Center
12:30-1:30 p.m. — Keynote address: "Multiple Identities in the New Millennium," Union Big 12 Room
1:30- 3 p.m. — Diversity workshop, K-State Jardine Complex, Frith Community Center
5:30 p.m. — Social gathering, Union lobby 2nd floor
6-8 p.m. — Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week banquet, Union Main Ballroom
8 p.m. — Bobby Watson Jazz Quartet, Union Station

FRIDAY
10 a.m.-noon — Diversity workshop, Union Room 212
6 p.m. — Religious visitation, "Interfaith Educational Christian Worship & Fellowship," Danforth Chapel

'What a Girl Wants'

Students make music videos

By JJ DUNCAN
Kansas State Collegian

Dressed in drag, Glenn King, senior in public relations, entertained spectators in the K-State Student Union on Wednesday afternoon as he lip-synced for his video of Christina Aguilera's "What a Girl Wants."

More Info: Information on future Union Program Council events can be obtained by calling the UPC hotline at 532-6572.

King was just one of many students who participated in the Fun Flicks event, where students were invited to record their own video to the song of their choice. The event was sponsored by Union Program Council's Promotions and Special Events Committee.

While it might be embarrassing for some, King said he enjoys performing.

"I think if you entertain the crowd, then it makes it a lot of fun," he said.

The committee hired Kramer International to provide the Fun Flicks event, which ran from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The annual event was regarded positively and received a steady flow of performers throughout the day, John Christy, committee chairman, said.

"I think the most interesting thing is watching people make fools out of themselves in drag," he said.

Modesty certainly wasn't the prevailing attitude as students lined up to make their own videos. That was no surprise for Vito Martinez, Fun Flicks producer, who has been running the program for more than three years. People often seem to loosen up on the videos, Martinez said.

"Lots of people do stuff on video they wouldn't normally do," he said. "It seems like once you get them in front of a camera, they turn into something else."

Even if students did not make a video, it was still fun to watch. The videos can be somewhat addictive, so it is no surprise that King made six videos when the event took place last year, Martinez said.

Last year, more than 100 people made their own videos, and the outlook for continued success is good, Christy said.

The event is fun because it provides the opportunity for people to act like fools in a fun environment by making their own videos, Naomi Onyebuchi, sophomore in kinesiology, said.

"This is something that gives people a chance to express themselves in ways they normally wouldn't," she said.

STEVEN DEARINGER/Collegian

Glenn King, senior in public relations, sings Christina Aguilera's "What a Girl Wants" as he makes a music video in the Union Courtyard on Wednesday afternoon. King was taking part in Fun Flicks, sponsored by the Union Program Council.

Weird Al to perform at McCain

By REED DUNN
Kansas State Collegian

Weird Al Yankovic is bringing scissors to McCain Auditorium tonight.

Thom Jackson, McCain marketing and development director, said about 400 tickets are still available for the stop on Yankovic's "Touring With Scissors" national tour.

"We've sold roughly 1,000 tickets," Jackson said. "There are still really good seats to be had, though."

Tickets for the 7:30 p.m. show can be purchased at McCain Box Office for $20 each. The box office opens at noon today.

David Jones, junior in business, heard Yankovic had been seen in Aggieville on Wednesday night. He was with a group of friends and a camera when they began the search to meet the star.

"We spent about 30 minutes in Aggieville looking for him," Jones said. "We got pictures to send to our friends."

The pictures came after an additional 45-minute wait outside of Texas Star Cafe, when Yankovic was leaving the restaurant.

Jones, who plans to attend tonight's show, first saw Yankovic in concert last year in Wichita. He said the show provided a variety of artist imitations.

"It's like going to a concert where there's 15

See WEIRD AL on PAGE 10

Biosafety lab under scrutiny

By SCOTT ALDIS-WILSON
Kansas State Collegian

K-State officials are still interested in bringing the next level of a biological lab to campus, but an $82 million price tag continues to slow plans.

Since early 1999, the College of Veterinary Medicine has been looking into bringing in K-State's first Biosafety Level 3 laboratory to expand pathogen studies. Ralph Richardson, dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine, said existing labs are of the lower BL-2 or BL-1 designation.

By taking extra safety measures such as separation of rooms, working under ventilation hoods and the changing of worker clothing inside the lab, Richardson said a BL-3 allows researchers to do more extensive work. Examples include pathogens such as Listeria, E. Coli 0157H7, Salmonella and other sources of meat and water contamination, he said.

The lab, proposed as a collaboration between the college and the Department of Animal Sciences and Industry, already weathered misconceptions early on, Richardson said. Early portrayals of the lab as devoted to "biowarfare" were not accurate, he said, though "biocontainment" is a more accurate word for the proposed facility.

"The reality is, what we're talking about here is food safety," he said.

Jim Marsden, regents distinguished professor of animal science and industry, said a BL-3 could

See BIO LAB on PAGE 10

CONTACT US

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
532-0729 rdunn@collegianmail.com

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
532-0729 tehmke@collegianmail.com

Steve Dearinger Photo Editor
532-5492 sdearinger@collegianmail.com

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
532-0730 jbarrett@collegianmail.com

Sarah Bahari City & Government Editor
532-0730 sbahari@collegianmail.com

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
532-0732 kdymacek@collegianmail.com

Derek Boss Sports Editor
532-0732 dboss@collegianmail.com

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
532-0732 eschneweis@collegianmail.com

Ken Wells Online Editor
532-0732 bwilson@collegianmail.com

Sara Martin Design Editor
532-0731 smartin@collegianmail.com

Jim Calvert Ad Manager
532-6560 jimcalvert@collegianmail.com

Alissa Duncan Assistant Ad Manager

BY PHONE

Newsroom 532-6556
Display advertising 532-6560
Classified advertising 532-6555
Delivery Problems 532-6555

BY MAIL

Kansas State Collegian
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

ON THE WEB

www.kstatecollegian.com

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 2000

Random shooting leaves man dead after car chase

ATCHISON, Kan. — A man who died after being shot during a four-mile chase apparently was a random victim with no connection to the suspect, police said.

Joseph Eugene Ramirez, 41, of Horton, was shot Sept. 10 as he drove from Kansas City, Mo., to his home in Horton, Kan., about 25 miles northwest of Atchison. He died Saturday.

The father of three sons and a daughter was buried in Horton on Wednesday.

According to police, Ramirez was driving north on Missouri Highway 45 in Buchanan County early Saturday. As he turned onto U.S. Highway 59, a man in a pickup who was stopped at the intersection fired a shotgun, hitting Ramirez's car.

The pickup driver chased Ramirez more than four miles, across the Missouri River. The man fired again at Ramirez when he stopped his car, hitting him in his head and chest.

Shortly after residents called police, officers arrested a Gladstone, Mo., man and recovered a shotgun from the truck.

Vernon Michael Bourbon Jr., 22, initially was charged with attempted first-degree murder, but the charges were upgraded to first-degree murder Monday after Ramirez died Saturday in a St. Joseph hospital.

Atchison Police Chief Mike Wilson said it appeared to be a random attack.

"Ramirez had no connection to Bourbon," Wilson said Tuesday. "There was no contact, no confrontation. He was just another vehicle coming up the highway."

— The Associated Press

State regulators discuss future of phone company

TOPEKA — State regulators began discussions Wednesday that could lead to a recommendation to allow the largest telephone company in Kansas to enter the long distance service market.

The key question for the Kansas Corporation Commission is whether enough competition exists in the market for local service, which Southwestern Bell still dominates in much of the state.

Federal law allows companies such as Bell to enter the long distance market if they face competition in providing local service.

The KCC will make a recommendation to the Federal Communications Commission. Federal regulators directed state regulators to review Bell's application first, because once the FCC takes up the application, it has three months to make a decision.

Bell contends it faces enough competition in the local service market, especially in providing services to businesses, that it should be allowed to enter the long distance market.

Critics of Bell's application — including existing long distance companies such as AT&T Corp. — argue that true competition doesn't exist. They say homeowners can't choose their local service provider, as they might pick a grocery store or restaurant.

Commissioner Brian Moline said mandates from the Legislature and Congress, which in 1996 enacted a law encouraging competition, make it clear that the KCC is supposed to resolve issues in favor of creating more competition.

"The benefits are presumed, and we go from there," Moline said. "I'd feel a whole lot better about this if there was a lot more competitive presence in the state."

— The Associated Press

Leftover football tickets go on sale for students

A limited number of student reserved football tickets will go on sale at 8 a.m. Friday morning at the Bramlage Coliseum Box Office.

According to the ticket office, 75 tickets will be available at $71 each for the remaining five home games, against North Texas, Oklahoma, Texas Tech, Iowa State and Nebraska.

According to the ticket office, these remaining tickets available are a result of students who bought season tickets over the summer but then later chose not to attend K-State according to the ticket office.

On Friday, students who have not purchased a football season ticket are eligible, Sports Information Director Doug Dull said, with one ticket being available per student.

Purchasers must bring a valid student ID card with them to the Bramlage Box Office.

For questions or concerns, contact the ticket office at (800) 221-CATS.

CORRECTIONS & CLARIFICATIONS

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Jenn Davoren at 532-6556 or e-mail collegn@ksu.edu.

ON RECORD

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ The departments of Geology and Geography will meet at 4 p.m. today in Thompson 101 for the program "Sample Compositioning as a Monitoring Strategy for Characterizing Subsurface Contamination," by visiting assistant professor Scott Dickson.
■ American Indian Science and Engineering Society will meet at 5 p.m. today in Seaton 133. For more information, e-mail aises@ksu.edu.
■ TRIO-GSS will meet at 5 p.m. today in Union 205.
■ Native American Student Body will meet at 5:15 p.m. today in Union Stateroom 1.
■ College Republicans will meet at 6 tonight in the Union Sunflower Room.
■ Hillel Jewish Organization will meet at 9 tonight at Java Espresso & Bakery in Aggieville.
■ Students for Environmental Action will meet at 9 tonight in Union Council Chambers.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Riley County

Tuesday, Sept. 19

■ At 1:50 p.m., Abbey A. Bartlett, 1172 Pillsbury Drive, was arrested for possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of a controlled substance.
■ At 3:50 p.m., Charles A. Curran, 417 Wickham Road, was arrested for possession of marijuana. Bond was set at $2,500.
■ At 4:30 p.m., Charles A. Burnett, 725 Griffith Drive, was arrested for theft, forgery, vehicle burglary and obstructing the legal process.
■ At 8:35 p.m., Tricia L. Alexander, Green, Kan., was arrested for failure to appear.
■ At 9:15 p.m., Carlos J. Silva, Alma, Kan., was arrested for DUI and failure to appear. Bond was set at $7,500.
■ At 11:31 p.m., Lana E. Rivers, 1518 College Ave., was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

Wednesday, Sept. 20

■ At 2:04 a.m., William A. Burnett, 1620 McCain Lane, Apt. 12, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.
■ At 2:30 a.m., Jacob L. Fogy, 1516 Manhattan Ave., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.
■ At 4:14 a.m., Shawn A. Teagarden, 822 Kearney St., was arrested for failure to appear, driving on a suspended license and DUI.

K-State Police

■ No reports of note were made.

WEEKEND DRINK SPECIALS

CHECK OUT THESE WEEKEND SPECIALS OFFERED BY MANHATTAN AREA BARS AND RESTAURANTS.

NO COVER 21 & OVER
LONGHORNS
$1.00 OFF EVERYTHING

12th STREET PUB
STEAK NIGHT
SIRLOIN STRIP · SIDE SALAD
BAKED POTATO · TEXAS TOAST
ALL FOR $5.95
LIVE BAND TONIGHT FEATURING JUSTIN HULSEY
$2.00 ANYTHING · NO COVER

SMASHMOUTH
BUSCH LT & KEY LT KEGS 15 GAL $44.75 $15.00 OFF
CROWN ROYAL 750 ml $19.96 Save $3.00
CAPT. MORGAN 1.75 L SILVER & SPICED $19.97 SAVE $4.50
BUD & BUD LIGHT 20 PACK BOTTLES $12.94 ALMOST $3.00 OFF
COORS EXTRA GOLD 30 PACK CANS $9.94 SAVE OVER $2.50
CANADIAN MIST 1.75 L $14.96 $6.00 OFF
ROLLING ROCK 12 PACK CANS $6.97 Save $2.00
Corner of 12th & Laramie
Aggieville (next to Domino's)
*PRICES GOOD WHILE QUANTITIES LAST DEAN LIQUOR

SCOREBOARD
WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY NIGHT
$1 NIGHT
Seagrams, All domestic bottles
Calls - Captain, Quervo, etc.
Fries, Burgers, Tots
All for a buck!
$1.50 Micro & Import Bottles - Corona, Heineken, Newcastle, etc.
$2.00 Premiums - Crown, Sapphire, Absolut
1119 Moro • 776-7714 • Open at 5:00 p.m.
SCOREBOARD

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING
532-6560

e
elements of taste
Techno Tuesday
Any Martini $3.00
Bud and Bud Light Draws $1.00
Jello Shots $1.00
Fuego Fridays
Corona Bottles $1.50
Margaritas $1.75
Bud/Bud Light Draws $1.50
Wicked Wednesday
ALL Well and Call Drinks $1.50
The Wednesday Wine $3.50
Sippin' Saturday
ALL Collins Drinks $1.50
Domestic Bottles $1.50
Game Day 16 oz. Domestic Draws $2.25
Thirsty Thursday
Long Island Iced Tea & Hurricane Pitchers $10.00
Domestic Draws $.75
Domestic Pitchers $4.50
Swingin' Sundays
1/2 Price Drinks (excluding bottles of wine)
Open 5 p.m. - 2 a.m.
Serving Dinner Till 10 p.m.
Live Entertainment:
Saturday • Sept. 23 • Beihl & Hedman
Every Friday Salsa and Merenque Dancing
Wednesday • Sept. 27 • Natalie Cox
11 a.m.-2a.m. Tues-Sat. • 1131 Moro • Aggieville • 770-3000

RC McGraws
Karaoke Nite
50¢ Taco Nite
Hard or soft tacos
$1.99 Island Oasis Margarita & Hurricanes
2317 Tuttle Creek Blvd.
Manhattan, KS
776-9588

got beer? we do.
FRIDAYS
XX Black Angus Stout pints $1.50
CRAZY CAT SATURDAYS
Wildcat Wheat pints $1.50
SUNDAYS
Fresh Beer to go 11-6pm
RESERVE YOUR KEG TODAY
Little Apple Brewing Co.
Fresh Handcrafted Beer
Certified Angus Beef
1110 Westloop 539-5500

SGA to debate fees

By BRYAN SCRIBNER
Kansas State Collegian

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' privilege fee request of $405,695 for the 2000-2001 fiscal year will be presented at the Student Senate meeting tonight.

Non-revenue sports such as golf and women's basketball are supported by the fee, Privilege Fee Chair Ryan Walker said. Senate will review the request and write legislation for the budget if it is accepted.

Walker said the privilege fee provides opportunities to participants in sports other than football and men's basketball, both of which bring in revenue. The fee also allows students to attend these sports free of charge.

"Most students think about football, but there are a lot of students who can go to volleyball for free," he said. "I think it's just a perception difference."

If legislation is written, it will be reviewed by the Privilege Fee Committee after tonight's introduction. The committee will give the bill a favorable or unfavorable recommendation, and Senate will vote on it Sept. 28.

The amount generated by the fee will be set for the next three years, Student Body President Jake Worcester said. Students now pay the requested amount, which assesses $11.54 each semester for full-time students.

"Sometimes students don't understand what it's used for and how it benefits them," Worcester said.

Walker said students can voice their opinions at the Senate meeting. He also said concerned students should talk with senators if they have any questions.

"It's money out of their pockets," he said. "It's tough for us to vote if we don't know what students are thinking."

Athletic Director Max Urick and Associate Athletic Director Bob Cavello will attend the meeting, Walker said. He said they will answer questions addressed by senators.

Representatives of the proposed student activities center, Bramlage Coliseum and the K-State Student Union also will present privilege fee legislation to Senate this year. The activities center and Bramlage will be voted on this semester, and the Union will be voted on next semester, Walker said.

Walker said $9.35 million has been acquired in privilege fees this year. He said about only $9.04 million will be spent.

Fees are reviewed every three years for campus organizations. Walker said this allows them to adjust their budgets with the rate of inflation.

All organizations that receive money must record all expenditures in order to gain additional funding. Walker said this helps assure allocations are being spent effectively and benefit students.

"We like to keep it to necessary things that run the business," he said.

Privilege fees fund all student services. Students enrolled in at least 12 hours were charged $257 in fees this semester. Worcester said it was important to make sure these fees are used properly.

"I want us to make sure all the student senators get into the habit of looking at the big picture," Worcester said. "It's important to me that we're able to justify where every student fee is going."

Audubon Society brings members together for 4th annual tour of butterfly garden

By NANCY HULL
Kansas State Collegian

A few stepping stones and an arbor draped with green pipevines line the path to a caterpillar resting on a milkweed plant.

The yellow-and-blue striped caterpillar will become a monarch butterfly within a week.

But for now, butterflies are absent from the butterfly garden in Sojourner Truth Park.

"A week ago when I came here to water the plants, the sun was shining and the garden was dripping with butterflies," said Leann Harrell, recruitment chairwoman for the Northern Flint Hills Audubon Society.

"As nature evolves, the garden begins to look different every year."

Madonna Stallmann, garden caregiver

Tuesday night's cold front and north wind took the butterflies from the park before the Audubon Society's fourth annual tour and meeting Wednesday.

Harrell said visiting the garden always brings back memories from when the garden came to life four years ago.

"When we were building it, there was a little pack of kids that always wandered over after school to help," Harrell said.

She said the children helped place the white stepping stools in the garden, and they etched their names and initials into the stones.

"They considered it their garden, and they once asked a man what he was doing in their garden," she said.

Harrell said the garden has brought happiness to many people.

"There was one woman who was going through a difficult time in her life, and she said the garden brought peace to her," she said.

Karen Garfinkel, member of the society, visited the garden Wednesday for the second time in search of ideas for her own butterfly garden.

"I want to attract more butterflies to my garden at home, so I'm seeing what plants this garden has," Garfinkel said.

The tall butterfly bush and large plants in the garden have led Madonna Stallmann, the garden's caregiver, to call the butterfly garden a wild garden.

"We give minimum maintenance to the garden and don't try to keep it nice and tidy," Stallmann said.

She said increasing maintenance would disrupt the plants and life stages of the butterflies.

"As nature evolves, the garden begins to look different every year," Stallmann said.

Stallmann said the gathering at the butterfly garden gives the Audubon Society the chance to bring their members together, and it also attracts others interested in the environment. Wednesday's event included an ice cream social and educational material about butterfly gardens was available.

"It's one of the Audubon Society's projects that's for view in the community everyday," she said. "This really helps to make connections within the community."

MICHAEL YOUNG/Collegian

Arlene Clayton, of Glasgaow, Kan., points out to Kevin Blake, of Manhattan, a butterfly pupa hanging from the arbor at Sojourner Truth Park on Wednesday evening. The public was invited out to learn about the annual migration of butterflies.

Clintons cleared of charges as Whitewater investigation concludes after 6 years

By JOHN SOLOMON
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Independent Counsel Robert Ray wrapped up the six-year Whitewater investigation without charging President and Hillary Clinton with any wrongdoing, handing the White House a bittersweet victory seven weeks before Election Day.

With little fanfare, Ray issued a six-page statement Wednesday saying there was insufficient or inconclusive evidence to warrant charges for any of the allegations that prompted the most expensive independent counsel inquiry in history.

"I'm just glad that this is finally over," Hillary Rodham Clinton said.

The prosecutor said the Clintons were investigated for allegations ranging from obstruction of justice to false testimony concerning their Arkansas business dealings, including the failed Whitewater real estate venture.

"This office determined that the evidence was insufficient to prove to a jury beyond a reasonable doubt that either President Clinton or Mrs. Clinton knowingly participated in any criminal conduct," Ray said.

The White House, which frequently and bitterly battled with Ray's predecessor, Kenneth Starr, during the $52 million probe, politely cheered the findings.

Presidential aides who feared Ray's statement might include information that could hurt Hillary Clinton's Senate bid in New York breathed a sigh of relief.

"Robert Ray is now the latest investigator to complete an examination of the transactions related to Whitewater Development Co. and conclude that there are no grounds for legal action," press secretary Joe Lockhart said.

Are you registered to vote?
Claflin Books and Copies

5 HUGE MOUNTAINS!
16th ANNUAL ski Steamboat
NATIONAL COLLEGE WEEK
Complete College Ski Package from only $189
1-88U-SKITHIS
www.Uskithis.com

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

—continuing education—
Kids That Bully
Strategies to Prevent Bullying Behavior
September 27 ~ 12:45-3:45
Houston Street Center (5th & Houston), Manhattan
For helping professionals, parents, volunteers
Learn strategies to redirect and change bullying behavior in kids of all ages and to empower children and others to avoid being targets or victims. Randy Wiler is Director of the Kansas Bullying Prevention Program and Community Prevention/ DARE Officer in Leawood, KS. $24 if payment received by Sept. 22, $30 later. 3 CEU's for social workers, others. 3 credit hours for nurses.
For information call 785- 587-4326
PAWNEE Mental Health Services

Fun for the whole family!
Entertainment throughout both days!
LITTLE APPLE FESTIVAL 2000
Free Admission
Folklife Exhibition & Demonstrators
Crafts Vendors
Chidren's Area
Variety of Food
Juried Art Show
City Park - Manhattan, Kansas
September 23 9 am-6 pm
September 24 10 am-5 pm
Sponsored by Parks and Recreation Department
MANHATTAN KANSAS

BLOOD DIRT CONTROVERSY
sound off about the cats at
GoPowercat.com
Powercat Illustrated's online supplement
http://www.gopowercat.com
message boards • chat • audio & video highlights
breaking news • recruiting • in-depth team analysis • k-state gear
©2000 Rivals.com All Rights Reserved.
GoPowercat.com is not the official team site.

All New. All Yours. All Free
MadAdz welcomes
Kansas State University
The first three students in each category to place ads will get a free T-shirt. Just another way in which MadAdz.com will hook you up.
Limit one T-shirt per student.

mad
No Brainer.
$500 cash that you can put towards rent, tuition, books, or whatever, awarded to two students a day, five days a week, just for posting a classified on www.madadz.com.
Live & Learn.
MadAdz.com hooked me up.
No purchase necessary. Void where prohibited.

R You N?
GOLDEN KEY NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY
Golden Key National Honor Society
Membership Deadline: September 25, 2000

City needs to consider local YMCA facility

Manhattan children deserve to find out what so many of us already know: it's fun to stay at the YMCA.

They might get to do just that if a group of Manhattan residents and city officials have their way. A group of city commissioners and community leaders recently met to discuss how to proceed in their attempt to lure a YMCA to the city — an attempt that is long overdue.

One service the YMCA would bring with it is a day care option for Manhattan-area children. Many city leaders said day care in Manhattan is lacking, and the addition of a YMCA will add a reliable option.

But a YMCA would bring with it more than day care options.

It also will bring options for indoor recreation, something Manhattan badly needs. As anyone who has visited the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex is aware, space is a commodity. The Rec Center often is crowded to near capacity, and a YMCA would help — at least somewhat — to relieve the problem.

A YMCA also would benefit Manhattan club swimming teams in search of a place to practice and compete. In fact, it would benefit all Manhattan residents looking for a place to swim during the winter months — especially with the odd hours the Natatorium is available.

Before a YMCA can be available, however, money must be made available.

And at this point, it is not clear where that money will come from.

City officials, however, have begun the search. They expect the venture to be privately funded, with help from the national YMCA organization.

We hope Manhattan residents will realize how beneficial the addition of a YMCA would be to the city and continue to push for the necessary to funding to make its construction a reality.

▶ OUR VIEW is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor

Jenn Davoren News Editor

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor

Sarah Bahari City/Government Editor

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor

Derek Boss Sports Editor

Becky Wilson Copy Chief

Sara Martin Design Editor

CAMPUS fourum 395-4444

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions on topics relevant to the publication.

Hey, Max, how long would it take you to create an itemized statement on the privilege fee if the NCAA came calling?

■

I was just wondering how many student IDs will come up missing by the end of this football season.

■

The students paid money for the tickets, so they should be able to give them to whoever they want. If the university oversold tickets, then that is the university's problems, and the students should not be punished for that.

■

See what happens when people complain?

■

Hey, athletic director — usually, when you enforce a policy, it's better to come out with the policy before you sell the tickets, not two games into the season — after you sell them. Think about that.

■

What's the deal with Max Urick requiring a student ID to get into the student section at the football games? What's next, DNA testing?

■

I think the next time Max Urick brings some friends up to Kansas State to watch a football game, they will need to show some ID or they won't be admitted.

■

OK, Max, why don't you call my little sister and explain to her why she can't come to the football game this Saturday for her birthday?

Improving campus life focus of SGA

ADAM HAYES/Collegian

It's easy to get distracted.

The TV beckons while you do homework.

Conversations are drowned out by music or more interesting conversations.

Thoughts meander during lectures.

Admit it — even now your mind is wandering. But for just a moment, let me have your attention.

When Dana Pracht and I began developing our platform to run for student body president and vice president, we consciously worked to ignore distractions and maintain our focus. In the midst of campaigning, we continued to address the same central questions: What is important to students? What can be improved on campus? How can we better every student's K-State experience? Helping each student get the most out of K-State is our administration's focus. Each issue we address or proposal we make is developed while maintaining that focus or vision.

Working with the city of Manhattan to improve student life in the community is one of the most important jobs Dana and I have this year. Recently, we introduced a resolution to Student Senate that asks the city of Manhattan to enact a mandatory rental inspection program to ensure all rental property is safe and sanitary. Last week, this resolution was adopted unanimously.

There is no excuse for a landlord to rent property that does not meet the requirements of the code mandated by the city of Manhattan. The city requires all rental property to meet these minimum standards of living but provides no mechanism to ensure all property is meeting these expectations. Too many students are living in conditions that are unsafe, unhealthy and unsanitary. If instituted, a mandatory inspection program will ensure that students and other members of the community will not be in danger when living in rental housing.

JAKE WORCESTER

We believe the time for this type of program has come. The support is there among the community and the City Commission to address these concerns. Students must have adequate housing arrangements to provide a positive learning and social environment, and we won't stop working until we ensure just that.

The student activity center has been a widely publicized area of focus that has raised many questions. What will it be used for? How does it differ from K-State Student Union services? Is it worth the money?

The center will bring together students in a more formal setting than casually eating at the Union Food Court or sharing a classroom. Student organizations will have access to needed resources such as office space, copy services, computers and leadership resources. Students will have the convenience of many organizational offices in one central location. The university will experience a spirit of unity as students of different backgrounds and interests combine resources and ideas to serve the campus with utmost efficiency. Finally, student organizations will have a place to call home.

Because our focus is to improve students' experiences, Dana and I always make sure our proposals offer benefits to students that outweigh any monetary costs. Student activity centers established at similar universities have been successful in encouraging student groups to work together. The goal of these centers is to build leadership, community and people.

Academic advising is another pivotal part of our focus of improving K-State. The advising a student receives can be a great asset or a big frustration in a student's university experience. Dana and I believe advising should be as important to faculty as teaching or working on research. An established university philosophy and baseline expectations to aid each college and department in developing their advising system would provide students with consistent, quality advising across campus.

We are working with faculty and administration on campus to develop such a philosophy. We want to transform the culture on campus, to one in which advising is at the top of the priority list. Each student deserves a good advising experience. They deserve one-on-one attention with a faculty member who is dedicated to helping them achieve all their goals, including aiding students in career decisions, with academic decision, and in finding the "out of the classroom" experiences that will help them grow as people. Advisers effect more than the academics at K-State. They are a vital part of the entire K-State experience.

These and other pivotal issues maintain our administration's focus. We continue to keep our eyes on the ultimate objective: to serve the students by enhancing their K-State experience.

Other issues will arise. New opportunities will present themselves. Students are the experts on how their time at K-State can be improved. Dana and I want you to contact us with questions, concerns or ideas throughout this year. By listening to you, researching the issues and maintaining our commitment to K-State, we desire to be responsible, visionary leaders of our student body.

Our minds are not wandering. Your concerns are not ignored. We will not be distracted.

We continue to stay focused on our vision to better your K-State experience.

Jake is the student body president. You can e-mail him at jdw3018@ksu.edu.

Martial arts not only way to defend against attack

I come from a family of martial artists. My father is an orange belt in tae kwon do. My mother is a black belt. My little sister is a tri-state, national and international champion and a second-degree black belt.

And then there's me.

I finally took several tae kwon do classes this summer after much cajoling from my family.

During my last class, the instructor called me to the front of the room to demonstrate a few self-defense moves.

MIAH WHITAKER

He asked what I would do if some huge, scary-looking guy stopped me one night on campus and demanded my tuition money.

"I give him the check and run like my life depended on it."

Everyone laughed, and class continued.

I was dead serious.

Given the choice between losing some money or the capacity to chew my own food or worse, I'm going to have to go with the money. I'm not suicidal enough to think I can Jackie Chan my way out of a situation like that. Being able to defend yourself can be important, but so is showing some common sense.

I might be able to block an attacker armed with a knife (if he comes at me really slowly and stops just before he actually makes contact to wait for me to make the next move), but I definitely can go out of my way to make sure I don't get caught wandering around campus alone in the middle of the night and therefore avoid the attack altogether.

For instance, I always walk with a friend at night, preferably six or seven friends. If you don't have any friends, or at least none who are available to walk you home from Seaton Hall at 11 p.m., you can call 395-SAFE and get an escort across campus. If you do end up alone on campus, don't forget about the blue safety boxes.

Of course, campus isn't the only place I'm careful. I work in Aggieville and have had to pull a few late nights. Since I generally walk to and from work, it can be a bit daunting to walk home past some of the rowdier establishments.

It's even worse once I get to some of those dark, deserted side streets. I'm never sure which is worse, the large groups of somewhat inebriated and occasionally belligerent people or the evil unknown that could be hiding Manhattan's answer to Jason Voorhees.

If I hear a strange noise coming from the basement, I don't go down and look around. I'm not stupid; I've seen the movies.

Someone once said, "The best offense is a good defense," and that's true.

As long as you're paying attention to your surroundings and staying out of situations that only can lead to trouble, defending yourself gets a lot easier.

Self-defense isn't just about kickin' butt and takin' names. It's about common sense. You have to know when to fight and when to go running into the night like a scared rabbit.

Miah is a junior in English and social sciences/media. You can e-mail her at mwhitaker@collegianmail.com.

READERS WRITE

Campus coordinator of religious activities brings attention to potentially dangerous organization

Editor,

As the K-State coordinator of religious activities, I have visited with several students who have been troubled by the methods of the Manhattan Christian Church, an affiliate of the International Church of Christ. The ICC claims to have the only true Christian teachings.

This cult-like Christian group uses intense pressure in recruiting and obtaining home phone numbers and calling repeatedly . Often its identity with the ICC is not given up front. This group is not a registered campus religious organization, nor is it affiliated with the Manhattan Church of Christ.

MORE INFO?

If you are concerned about yourself, a friend or a religious group, contact Don Fallon, coordinator of religious activities, at 532-6432, Carla Jones in the Office of Student Life at 532-6432, or for information on campus pastors call 532-6432.

I am concerned that ICC's "discipling" program and Bible studies will lead to the mind control of vulnerable students. This cult-like group monitors and controls behavior: where you go, the hours you spend in recruiting or Bible study, tithing, whom you date or marry, and sometimes encourages communal living.

One K-State mother reported she has been alienated from her daughter for eight years and she has been called "satanic" by the group. A student shared with me that if she did not comply with her "discipler" and leaders, her personal "confessions" would be revealed.

According to Langone's 1996 study of the ICC organization, a student's grades might be impaired, and I am concerned, at its worst, a student might lose their capacity to make decisions, their freedom to grow, to be themselves and to love. The study shows it is extremely difficult to get out of the ICC because of pressure and control.

If you are invited to a religious activity or Bible study, it is important to ask the name and affiliation of the group. Learn to question and say no. Ask whether your faith development at K-State is leading to more openness towards others, toward growth educationally and emotionally or toward isolation and emotional/spiritual enclosure.

—Don Fallon coordinator of religious activities

JEANEL DRAKE/Collegian

GONE FISHIN'

Manny Ortiz, freshman in architecture, took advantage of the weather Wednesday afternoon at Rocky Ford Fishing Area. Ortiz goes fishing for three to four hours about every other weekend around Manhattan.

Economics professor speaks about gender equality, roles

■ Civil rights lecture series highlights women's role in male-dominated fields, integration of genders into work force.

By ERIN DEHN
Kansas State Collegian

Barbara Bergmann broke the mold.

When Bergmann was a child, women grew up to become housewives, not professors and the author of several books.

Bergmann, professor emeritus of economics, spoke Wednesday evening on gender equality during her lecture: "Bringing About Equality Between Women and Men: What Needs to be Done."

"I enjoy operating in the male world," Bergmann said. "I've always enjoyed it."

Among the issues covered in her speech, part of the Dorothy L. Thompson Civil Rights Lectures, Bergmann spoke of the past, present and future of gender equality.

"Women have really had, in the past, a cast-like position," she said. "When a baby was born, they knew what occupation it was going to have. When I was born, they knew I was going to be a housewife."

However, Bergmann chose a route less traveled.

"I've had a lot of experiences of status differences in my life, especially in men who do not know I'm a distinguished professor. I know I have no status in their eyes."

According to Bergmann, the movement to gender equality has increased through the years, but is far from complete.

The transition of women into, what Bergmann calls, the "man's world" is apparent by the increase of women in the workforce. The integration of men into the "women's world" has also begun, but is incomplete.

"I think we're going to be waiting a long time," Bergmann said.

Bergmann spoke on behalf of working women. One argument against women in the workforce is childcare. Bergmann said paid parental leave only intensifies gender difference.

"Mr. Gore has suggested universal pre-kindergarten. Nevertheless, it takes care of a part of the childcare problem," she said.

Bergmann said the nation's surplus should be spent on the nation's needs, such as childcare.

"We ought to advance to a world where essentially women have the same lives men do now," she said. "Financing has to be done by the government."

Bergmann's non-mainstream feminist views reflect in her personal life.

"My husband and I did everything together," she said. "He volunteered to get up in the middle of the night to tend to children."

As for maternity leave, "I had two weeks," Bergmann said.

There was a mixture of responses to the lecture.

Gabriel Breazeal, senior in print journalism, said overall Bergmann was a great speaker.

"She's a character," he said. "She stood firmly on her ground."

Although Breazeal enjoyed Bergmann's speech, he disagreed with her stance on childcare.

"I don't think the federal government should pay for people's children," he said.

Amy Urban, freshman in architectural engineering, said the lecture was a disappointment.

"All I got from it was 80 percent that she was talking about childcare and how the government should help with childcare," Urban said. "But it's an interesting topic and it's always neat to hear another person's view."

thirty years from now, will you remember...
every memory?
every face?
every name?
let us help.
Order your 2001 Royal Purple Yearbook today.
103 Kedzie Hall • 532-6555 • royalpurple@ksu.edu

Want to learn a foreign language?
Arabic • Spanish • Chinese • Russian • Portuguese • Korean • German

The International Student Center is sponsoring a basic language training program, a six week, noncredit course to teach the basics of foreign language. Classes meet 2 nights a week beginning 9/25 and are taught by native speakers. The cost is $25.

For more information contact: The International Student Center at 532-6448 or e-mail at intlstucenter@ksu.edu

RECREATIONAL SERVICES
Intramurals
Wrestling Meet
Entry Deadline
Thursday, September 21
5 p.m. at Rec Complex
Recreational Services Office 532-6980

ECM Christian Explorers present:
VICTORY
In Concert!
•Friday, Sept. 22
•8:00 p.m.
•KSU Union Little Theater
Come join the Christian Explorers for an awesome night of praise and song!
For More Information, call: 539-4281

Project WELLNESS
Kansas State University

9 MOST COLLEGE STUDENTS

*Based on a 1999 campus-wide survey of 1,297 KSU students that was representative of the K-State student population with regard to demographics such as age, GPA, college, class and gender. www.ksu.edu/projectwellness

RIGHT: Nicki Orta (center), from Washburn University, and Cynthia Rohrbaugh, third-year student in animal science, dive for the ball during rugby practice as (back, from left) Monica Schultz, grad student in psychology, Jenny Ross, senior in criminology, and Jennifer Eicher, senior in economics go for the ball after it is dropped during rugby practice. MIDDLE: Cynthia Rohrbaugh, third-year student in animal science, steps over Amber Cox, sophomore in pre-occupational therapy, after Cox is tagged during practice Wednesday.

KAREN MIKOLS/Collegian

PHYSICAL demand

Women's rugby club gears up for competition

BY DAN SMITH

Kickoff for Saturday's football game against North Texas is scheduled for 1:10 p.m.

One hour before KSU Stadium's 50,000 fans chant "Fight, you K-State Wildcats," 18 women will gather on a pitch at Fort Riley's Long Recreation Center to do just that against Truman State University. It will be a game that, in their opinion, is just as physically demanding, if not more, than football.

Each Saturday afternoon, these women secure their mouthpieces, and without any other protection, wage an 80-minute war against the opposition, separated only by a 10-minute break in the middle of the battle.

The K-State women's rugby team is 1-0 after a 19-10 victory over Springfield on Saturday, and is gearing up for another season.

Sophomore Cynthia Rohrbaugh is in her second year with the women's rugby club at K-State and has some lofty expectations for the team this season.

"I think that we will do exceptionally well this year," Rohrbaugh said. "We have a good chance to go to Western."

Started in the 1980s, women's rugby at K-State has since joined the Heart of America Union. The club sport now competes against teams in Kansas and Missouri for a chance to participate in what amounts to a championship game for rights to the Western Territory title.

Rohrbaugh, a tight head prop for the team, said although rugby is a serious sport at K-State, one of the best parts of being on the team is the friendships she makes with her teammates and other players.

Senior Jennifer Eicher has scrummed and scored for the team for four years now, and even took on coaching duties for the team last year before giving up that role to first-year coach Eric DeYoe.

However, along with the friendships she has made while competing, Eicher has gained something else.

"It's a stress reliever for me," Eicher said. "I've learned a lot about myself and how strong I am."

The rugby team practices an average of six hours per week for the yearlong sport that breaks only three months of the year, placing a heavy demand on its players.

"You have to like to have fun," Rohrbaugh said of the toughness needed to succeed in the physical sport, "but you have to like to challenge yourself, too."

Team president Kari Torkelson, a high school counselor in Junction City, said the physical demands sometimes can be rough on the players.

"It's a tough sport," she said, "and you're going to get banged up a little bit."

But for the 18-25 members of the women's rugby team, Torkelson said it's far worth the risk of a few cuts and bruises to have a good time playing a sport they learned to love.

KAREN MIKOLS/Collegian

Amanda Perkins, junior in business, misses a pass during rugby practice Wednesday night.

U.S. swimmers dominate pool

The Associated Press

SYDNEY — The Americans continued to treat the Olympic pool like a U.S. water park.

Brooke Bennett, the gold medalist in 1996, was top qualifier in the preliminaries Thursday (Wednesday night CDT) in the 800-meter freestyle. A victory in Friday's 800 final would put her with Janet Evans (1988, 1992) as the only back-to-back winners in the grueling event.

Bennett has already won Sydney gold in the 400 freestyle.

Gary Hall Jr. of Phoenix qualified second in the preliminaries of the 50 freestyle, just 14 hours after winning bronze in the 100 free.

The field in the race was loaded, with two-time defending champion Alexander Popov of Russia, Pieter van den Hoogenband of the Netherlands and American Anthony Ervin.

The qualifiers came after longshot Misty Hyman and relay team anchor Jenny Thompson won gold medals in record times for the American swimmers one night earlier.

For Thompson, the 800-meter freestyle relay victory catapulted her into rarified Olympic company. Her seven golds are more than any woman swimmer, snapping a tie with Germany's Kristin Otto.

Thompson, 27, who also has a silver in her career, tied Czech Republic gymnast Vera Caslavaska for the second-most Olympic golds by a woman. With teammates Samantha Arsenault, Diana Munz and Lindsay Benko, she established an Olympic record of 7 minutes, 57.80 seconds.

The 21-year-old Hyman shocked defending champion Susie O'Neill of Australia to win the 200 butterfly. Hyman shocked herself, too; upon seeing her Olympic-record time, she repeatedly said, "Oh my God! Oh my God!"

Amid the red, white and blue celebration, the orange-clad fans of the Netherlands had reason to cheer as a Dutchman nicknamed "Hoogie" turned some of the world's top swimmers into mere blowfish.

Pieter van den Hoogenband won gold in the 100 freestyle in 48.30 seconds, whipping two-time defending gold medalist Alexander Popov of Russia.

Popov settled for silver and American Gary Hall Jr. took the bronze.

Van den Hoogenband became the first man to sweep the 100 and 200 freestyles since American Mark Spitz in 1972.

Olympic briefs:

Tennis:

- Venus Williams defeated Tamarine Tanasugarn of Thailand 6-2, 6-3.
- Arantxa Sanchez-Vicario of Spain defeated Patricia Wartusch of Austria 6-2, 6-4.

Beach volleyball:

- Jenny Johnson Jordan and teammate Annett Davis reached the quarterfinals with a 15-9 victory over Cuba.
- Holly McPeak and Misty May advanced with a 15-13 victory over Italy.

Men's volleyball:

- Yugoslavia bashed the U.S. team (0-3) in straight sets, 25-15, 25-20, 25-23.

Women's soccer:

- The Americans defeated Nigeria 3-1.
- China was eliminated by a 2-1 loss to Norway.

Source: The Associated Press

Men's golf team improves to nab 11th place in Minnesota tourney

By NICK BRATKOVIC
Kansas State Collegian

Golf is a game where every stroke counts, a missed putt or a hit out of bounds can cause the round to go foul. Such was the case for the K-State men's golf team this past week.

The Cats, after shooting first day scores of 319 and 314, found themselves in a poor position — last place.

"We were just not as sharp as we needed to be," head coach Tim Norris said.

That lack of sharpness left the team playing for pride in the last round of the PSI Net Collegiate Invite, as well as looking to get out of the cellar.

"It is no fun being in last place," Norris said.

As a result, the Cats set out to improve, and did, he said.

"We went out on the final day and shot the sixth-best score in the field," Norris said.

In turn, that final round helped the Cats avoid a last-place finish to notch 11th place in the tournament standings.

Three of the Cats' five golfers playing in the tournament shot their best rounds of the invite, and two others tied a previous score.

One player who stepped up was senior Dan Demory. After first day scores of 81 and 80, respectively, Demory lowered his score by seven strokes to shoot a 73.

"If he doesn't shoot that score on the last round of competition, then we might not finish as well," Norris said.

Perhaps K-State's most consistent golfer at the tournament was Bryan Milberger, who shot rounds of 79, 76, 75 for a three-day score of 230 and a 32nd place tie.

"He played well. The golf course probably did not play to our strengths," Norris said. "He still played hard."

The conditions of the course in Dellwood, Minn., changed as the competition went on, Norris said, and the course played differently.

"Some of the conditions that our team played in, other teams did not have to play in," he said.

Still, Norris said the team, which has aspirations of playing in regional tournaments at the end of the season, can't play too many poor rounds.

"To compete at this level, we cannot afford to have rounds where we don't play up to our capability," Norris said.

Individual golfers' scores:

Player:	Place:	Score:
Bryan Milberger	T32	230
Dan Demory	T42	234
Matt Williams	T42	234
Aaron Watkins	T45	235
Daryn Soldan	T57	242

K-State's next action will be Monday and Tuesday in the Kansas Invitational at Alvamar Golf Club in Lawrence.

Patterson inducted into collegiate honor society

Women's head basketball coach Deb Patterson recently was inducted into the K-State chapter of the National Society of Collegiate Scholars.

According to a press release Monday, Patterson was initiated into the society for the 2000 academic year along with the following distinguished members: Gen. Richard B. Myers, vice chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Pat Bosco, dean of student life; Thomas Roberts, assistant dean for the College of Engineering; and Manhattan Mayor Karen McCulloh.

NSCS was founded in 1994 at George Washington University in Washington, D.C., and was established for several reasons.

It was created first and foremost to recognize and celebrate high achievements among first and second year college students in all academic disciplines, and to encourage and promote high standards throughout the collegiate experience.

NSCS also aims to provide opportunities for personal growth and leadership development, as well as to organize learning opportunities through community service and foster an overall appreciation for the value of a higher education.

K-State is the newest of the 122 NSCS chapters, and Patterson was one of over 250 members inducted into the K-State chapter this year.

— Derek Boss

Women's basketball team 17th in all-time victories

The K-State women's basketball team is ranked 17th among the top Division I-A programs in the nation in all-time wins according to the NCAA.

The Wildcats' all-time record of 562-363 (.608) is just one of 20 teams in Division I-A to have at least 550 program victories. K-State is one of three Big 12 Conference schools in the Top 20, ranking behind No. 5 Texas and No. 16 Texas Tech.

— Derek Boss

Top 20 All-Time Women's Winningest Basketball Teams
(by victories)

Rank:	School:	First Season:	Wins:	Losses:
1	Tennessee	1902-03	821	207
2	Louisiana Tech	1974-75	737	123
3	Old Dominion	1969-70	679	222
4	James Madison	1920-21	668	377
5	Texas	1974-75	667	190
6	Stephen F. Austin	1972-73	664	215
7	Long Beach St.	1962-63	660	273
8	Tennessee Tech	1970-71	651	269
9	Richmond	1919-20	614	420
10	Penn St.	1964-65	596	233
11	Western Ky.	1913-14	596	283
12	Ohio St.	1965-66	588	274
13	Auburn	1971-72	586	227
14	Virginia	1973-74	573	215
15	St. Peter's	1967-68	570	226
16	Texas Tech	1975-76	566	244
17	K-State	1968-69	562	363
18	Kansas	1968-69	560	319
19	Georgia	1973-74	557	237
20	Mississippi	1974-75	556	241

— compiled by Derek Boss

Cryptoquip & CROSSWORD
presented by:
1219 Moro
Aggieville
JAVA
(785) 587-8888

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Some summer births
5 Greek consonants
8 Radio format
12 Met melody
13 Squabble
14 "Over hill, over —"
15 Power
16 — pinch
17 Mine entrance
18 Tahini flavor
20 Darkest hours
22 Free (of)
23 AFL merger org.
24 Youngest of the family
27 Cold storage facility
32 A mean Amin
33 Recede
34 Cousteau's bailiwick
35 Place for the disfavored
38 Libretto
39 Hem and —
40 Promptly
42 Idled the hours away
45 Duty-free
49 Comic-strip penguin
50 Wood-shaping tool
52 Literary mad king
53 Elevation
54 Adversary
55 Barn roof ornament
56 Carina
57 Anderson's "High —"
58 Diminutive ending

DOWN
1 Legislations
2 Pennsylvania port
3 Painter's medium
4 Wages
5 Prayer bench
6 Charged particle
7 Ugly duckling, eventually
8 Leisurely, to Liszt
9 Site of bedlam
10 Dart
11 Shea squad
19 Scale member
21 Start of a JFK quote
24 Auction action
25 Botheration
26 Slammer
28 Rather's employer
29 Mr. Scrooge
30 Gender
31 Do lunch
36 Fairy tale brother
37 Have bills
38 Midnight
41 Symbol of strength
42 Mindy's mate
43 Mayberry moppet
44 Foolish
46 Vegan's no-no
47 Breathe hard and fast
48 Genealogy chart
51 Dah preceder

Solution time: 28 mins.

F	A	L	A	■	A	N	D	■	A	D	D	S
A	R	A	B	■	M	E	A	■	L	E	A	P
D	U	M	B	D	O	W	N	■	A	E	R	O
E	M	B	E	D	■	■	L	I	M	P	E	T
■	■	■	Y	E	A	R	■	N	O	D	■	■
P	A	D	S	■	D	A	R	K	■	I	C	H
O	B	I	■	M	A	Z	E	S	■	S	O	U
P	E	N	■	I	R	O	N	■	S	H	O	E
■	■	G	A	L	■	R	O	S	A	■	■	■
L	A	D	I	D	A	■	■	A	N	N	I	E
I	C	O	N	■	D	E	A	D	D	U	C	K
K	I	N	G	■	A	L	P	■	A	D	E	E
E	D	G	E	■	M	I	T	■	L	E	S	S

Yesterday's answer 9-21

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-21 CRYPTOQUIP

Y V F B S ' W K X D B H V X W I K W ' L L B R , F B S I Y H D Z H K Z Z B T E X F Y R Z D K T Y H E K X H S K L .

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: WHEN WE TURNED OUT THE LIGHTS, OUR DAD GENERALLY LIKED TO SAY, "THANKS A WATT!"

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: W equals R

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

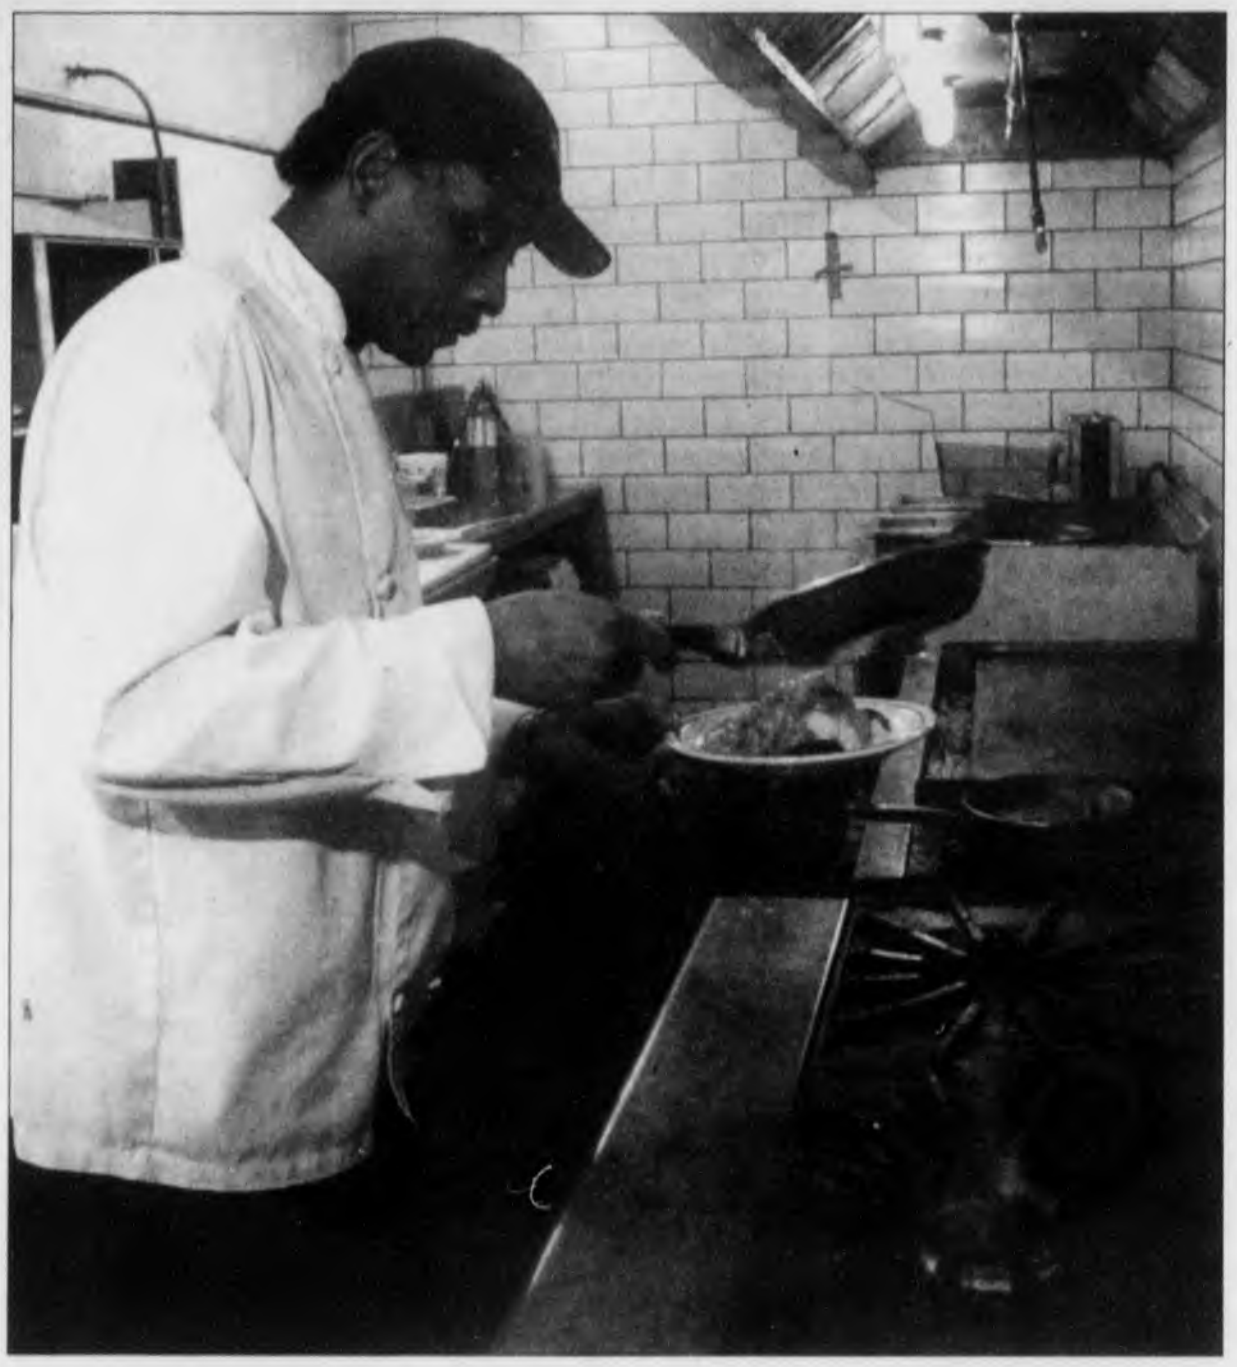
The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2000 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

MIX MASTERS

WHO:
Mark Peterson, 12th Street Pub

PETERSON



Mark Peterson, senior in geography, has been a bartender at 12th Street Pub for 2 weeks.

DRINK: The Drunken Irishman

3 counts ButterShots
3 counts Coffee Liqueur
4 counts Ryan's Cream Liqueur
Splash of Hot Damn
Splash of whiskey
3 oz. Guinness
3 oz. milk

Combine the alcohol and top with milk.

ONLINE:
Learn to make this drink from the master. Go to www.kstatecollegian.com for exclusive video footage.

Stanley Clark, owner of Stanley's Creole Cuisine, pours creole sauce over crawfish and rice Tuesday evening. The two-week-old business is open from 5 a.m. to 11 p.m.

MATT STAMEY / Collegian

Creative Cuisine

■ Creole food gives Manhattan spice, flavor, variety in cooking with New Orleans atmosphere.

By NANCY FOSTER
Kansas State Collegian

Eating shrimp often is far from one's mind when one thinks of breakfast food.

But at Stanley's Creole Cuisine in the Days Inn Hotel, seeing shrimp on the breakfast menu is no big surprise. It's just one aspect of Creole food that separates it from others.

"Our omelets are different," Stanley Clark, executive chef and owner, said. "In our omelets, we use crab meat, Creole shrimp and red beans."

The restaurant offers a variety of Creole food that Clark learned to make while living in New Orleans.

Creole food, he said, differs from others in that it uses different sauces, French bread for sandwiches and a wide variety of spices.

"It has a certain flavor. It's not a spicy flavor," Clark said. "It's not real hot or anything. It's just right."

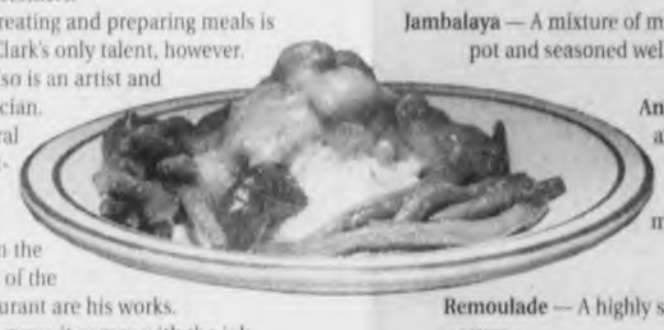
One item on the dinner menu is Chef Clark's Famous Lasagna. It is different from other lasagna, such as Italian, because Clark adds cream cheese, cottage cheese and a lot of sauce. And, on the side is French garlic bread — not Italian bread.

The restaurant, formerly Mount Everest, is open from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily, serving breakfast, lunch and dinner.

Clark's wife, Donna, said when they opened the restaurant, it was open 24 hours a day.

Due to many people not knowing about the new restaurant, they decided to shorten the hours until business picked up.

And picking up it is, she said.



The restaurant has a Diner's Club, which already has many members, Clark said. Customers receive a card, and each time they eat at the restaurant, they get it punched.

After 10 punches, they receive a free meal and are a member of the club.

Clark said they plan to have barbecue lunches by the pool and several other activities for those who are members.

Clark said he shucks the shrimp in front of the customers during the evening hours, which adds to the atmosphere. He also plans to have a rib bone night, on either Fridays or Saturdays, during which he will cut the prime rib to order in front of customers.

Creating and preparing meals is not Clark's only talent, however. He also is an artist and musician. Several paintings that adorn the walls of the restaurant are his works.

"I guess it comes with the job, though," he said. "I do ice carvings and sculptures for big parties, functions or weddings."

He plays the drums in a New Orleans jazz band in the club he owns below the restaurant.

The response from customers who have tried the restaurant has been positive, Micheal Breault, waiter, said.

"They've been saying it tastes a lot better than other food in Manhattan," Breault said.

"They've tasted food from down South and other areas of the United States. They've compared it to both, and they think it tasted the same, if not better."

Breault said he's worked there since the day after it opened, and that it's the best restaurant he's been employed by. "It's a good restaurant. That's all I know, and I've worked at a lot of restaurants," Breault said.

COMMON CAJUN DISHES

Dirty rice — Louisiana rice dish cooked with bits of liver or meat seasoned with onions and parsley.

Grillades — Beef or veal steak, browned and simmered until tender in browned tomato gravy. Grillades and grits is a common Louisiana brunch.

Gumbo — A deep, rich stew flavored with vegetables, seafood or meat. Usually thickened with okra. The word gumbo comes from the Congo "quingombo," which means okra. It is best served over mounds of hot rice in a large flat soup bowl.

Jambalaya — A mixture of meat, vegetables and rice cooked in a single pot and seasoned well.

Andouille — Sausage made with lean pork and lots of garlic.

Bisque — A rich, thick cream soup made from seafood.

Remoulade — A highly seasoned stew or sauce.

Sacamite — Porridge made with ground meat and corn

Etouffee — A method of cooking crawfish or shrimp with onions and chopped vegetables simmered over a low flame; literally translated, "smothered."

OTHER CAJUN FOODS

Crawfish — Also known as crayfish, mudbugs and crawdads. Crawfish are served boiled, fried, in etouffee, stew, gumbo and bisque.

Pain de mais — Corn bread

Tac-tac — Popcorn

Beignet — A French doughnut, cut square, deep fried and dusted with powdered sugar and served warm with coffee or hot cocoa.

— compiled by Kristen Dymacek

THE GONGFARMER

BY RANDY REGIER

Monkey Boy

BY BRENT ENGSTROM

Urick's decision hasty remedy for crowds

MIKE VIETTI

Athletics Director Max Urick has a tough job trying to balance the task of pleasing students with having successful athletic teams.

At first I thought the latest decision to come from the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics was a solid one — requiring anyone trying to get into the football games with a student ticket to show a student ID.

I thought it made sense — to use a student ticket, you should be a student.

That is, until I thought about it and came up with nearly a thousand reasons why this decision sucks.

For starters, everyone knows Urick will never win any honesty awards. But in all fairness, there are times to be open with the truth and there are times when it should be hidden — the case with Tom Asbury comes to mind.

But this situation is not one of those. The supposed reason for requiring an ID is so that ICAT sections will not be too packed anymore.

Come again? How does requiring students to show an ID to get into the games lessen the number of people who cram into ICAT? It doesn't.

More security watching who goes into ICAT would solve that problem, or just security workers who aren't afraid to pull people out if they don't have a wristband would even do the trick.

In any event, nobody cares who sits in ICAT, whether they be 10, 20, 30 or 90 years old. As long as they're willing to stand and cheer, nobody cares. The real reason this decision was made is because colleges around the country, not just K-State, noticed the thousands of Nebraska fans in Notre Dame's stadium a few weeks ago. If Nebraska fans can get in there, they can get in anywhere.

And I firmly believe the athletic department is scared what would happen if K-State and Nebraska both enter the Nov. 11 game undefeated and a similar sized portion of the crowd was red.

Imagine $500 being offered for a student ticket. Would you have kept yours? This decision by the athletic department obviously indicates that it thought you would sell out your university in masses, otherwise this rule would not be necessary. Perhaps the athletic department has lost all faith in the student body since we voted down stadium expansion — who knows?

An even more important reason this decision sucks is that we students, as purchasers of a product, now no longer have complete liberty in how we use that product.

I bought football tickets — I even bought the ICAT football/basketball combo tickets, the granddaddy of them all. Do I use them? No. Since the gods have smiled on me, I have a media pass to every game, so I try to give my tickets to those less fortunate who aren't able to buy tickets anymore, in this case, my sister. She's a former K-State student who, after piling up loan after loan to go through college, can't afford the essentially mandatory donation to the Mike Ahearn Scholarship Fund in order to purchase decent season tickets.

I'm not even close to being the only one either.

How many times have you seen parents sitting in GA or ICAT? Hundreds of hundreds is the correct answer. All they want to do is sample a portion of student life here at K-State, and for a lot of students, that is going to the football games.

But they've lost that now. And barring me learning how to make fake K-State student IDs, my sister probably won't get to go to another game this season.

And for the rest of us student ticket holders, we've lost the right to choose what we do with our tickets. It's sort of funny, really. By making a decision that supposedly helps student season ticket holders, the athletic department has only alienated us more.

The question is: do we have much loyalty left?

Mike is a senior in print and electronic journalism. You can e-mail him at mvietti@collegianmail.com.

Order your yearbook. Today.
103 Kedzie Hall • 532-6555 • royalpurple@ksu.edu

Personal Weight Management & Fitness Program

Free introductory session: Monday, Sept. 25, 6-7 p.m.

Mercy Health Center proudly presents an 8-week program on weight management and fitness led by a licensed, registered dietitian and an exercise physiologist. Your program fee includes:

- three group sessions
- four individual nutrition consultations
- four workout sessions with a personal fitness trainer
- two month membership to the Mercy Fitness Center
- class materials

Group sessions will meet Monday, Oct. 2, Monday, Oct. 16 and Tuesday, Nov. 21 from 6-7 p.m.

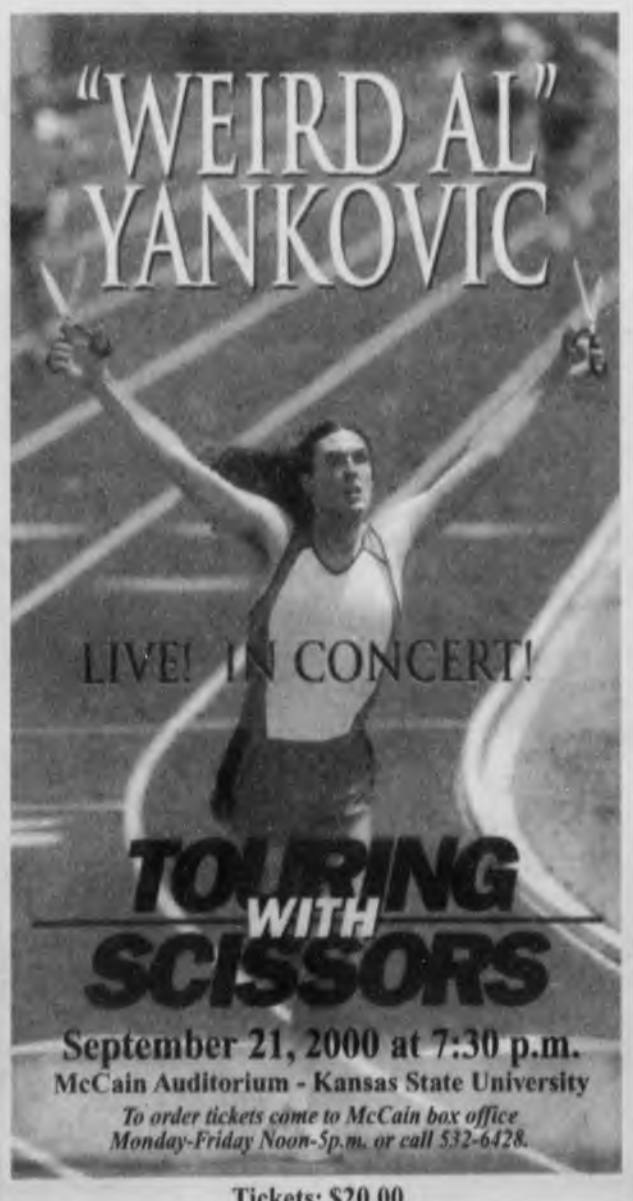
Individual sessions will be scheduled at your convenience. The class fee is $200 for individuals and $350 for couples.

To register, contact Mercy Health Center's Wellness Program at 785-587-5470

MERCY HEALTH CENTER OF MANHATTAN

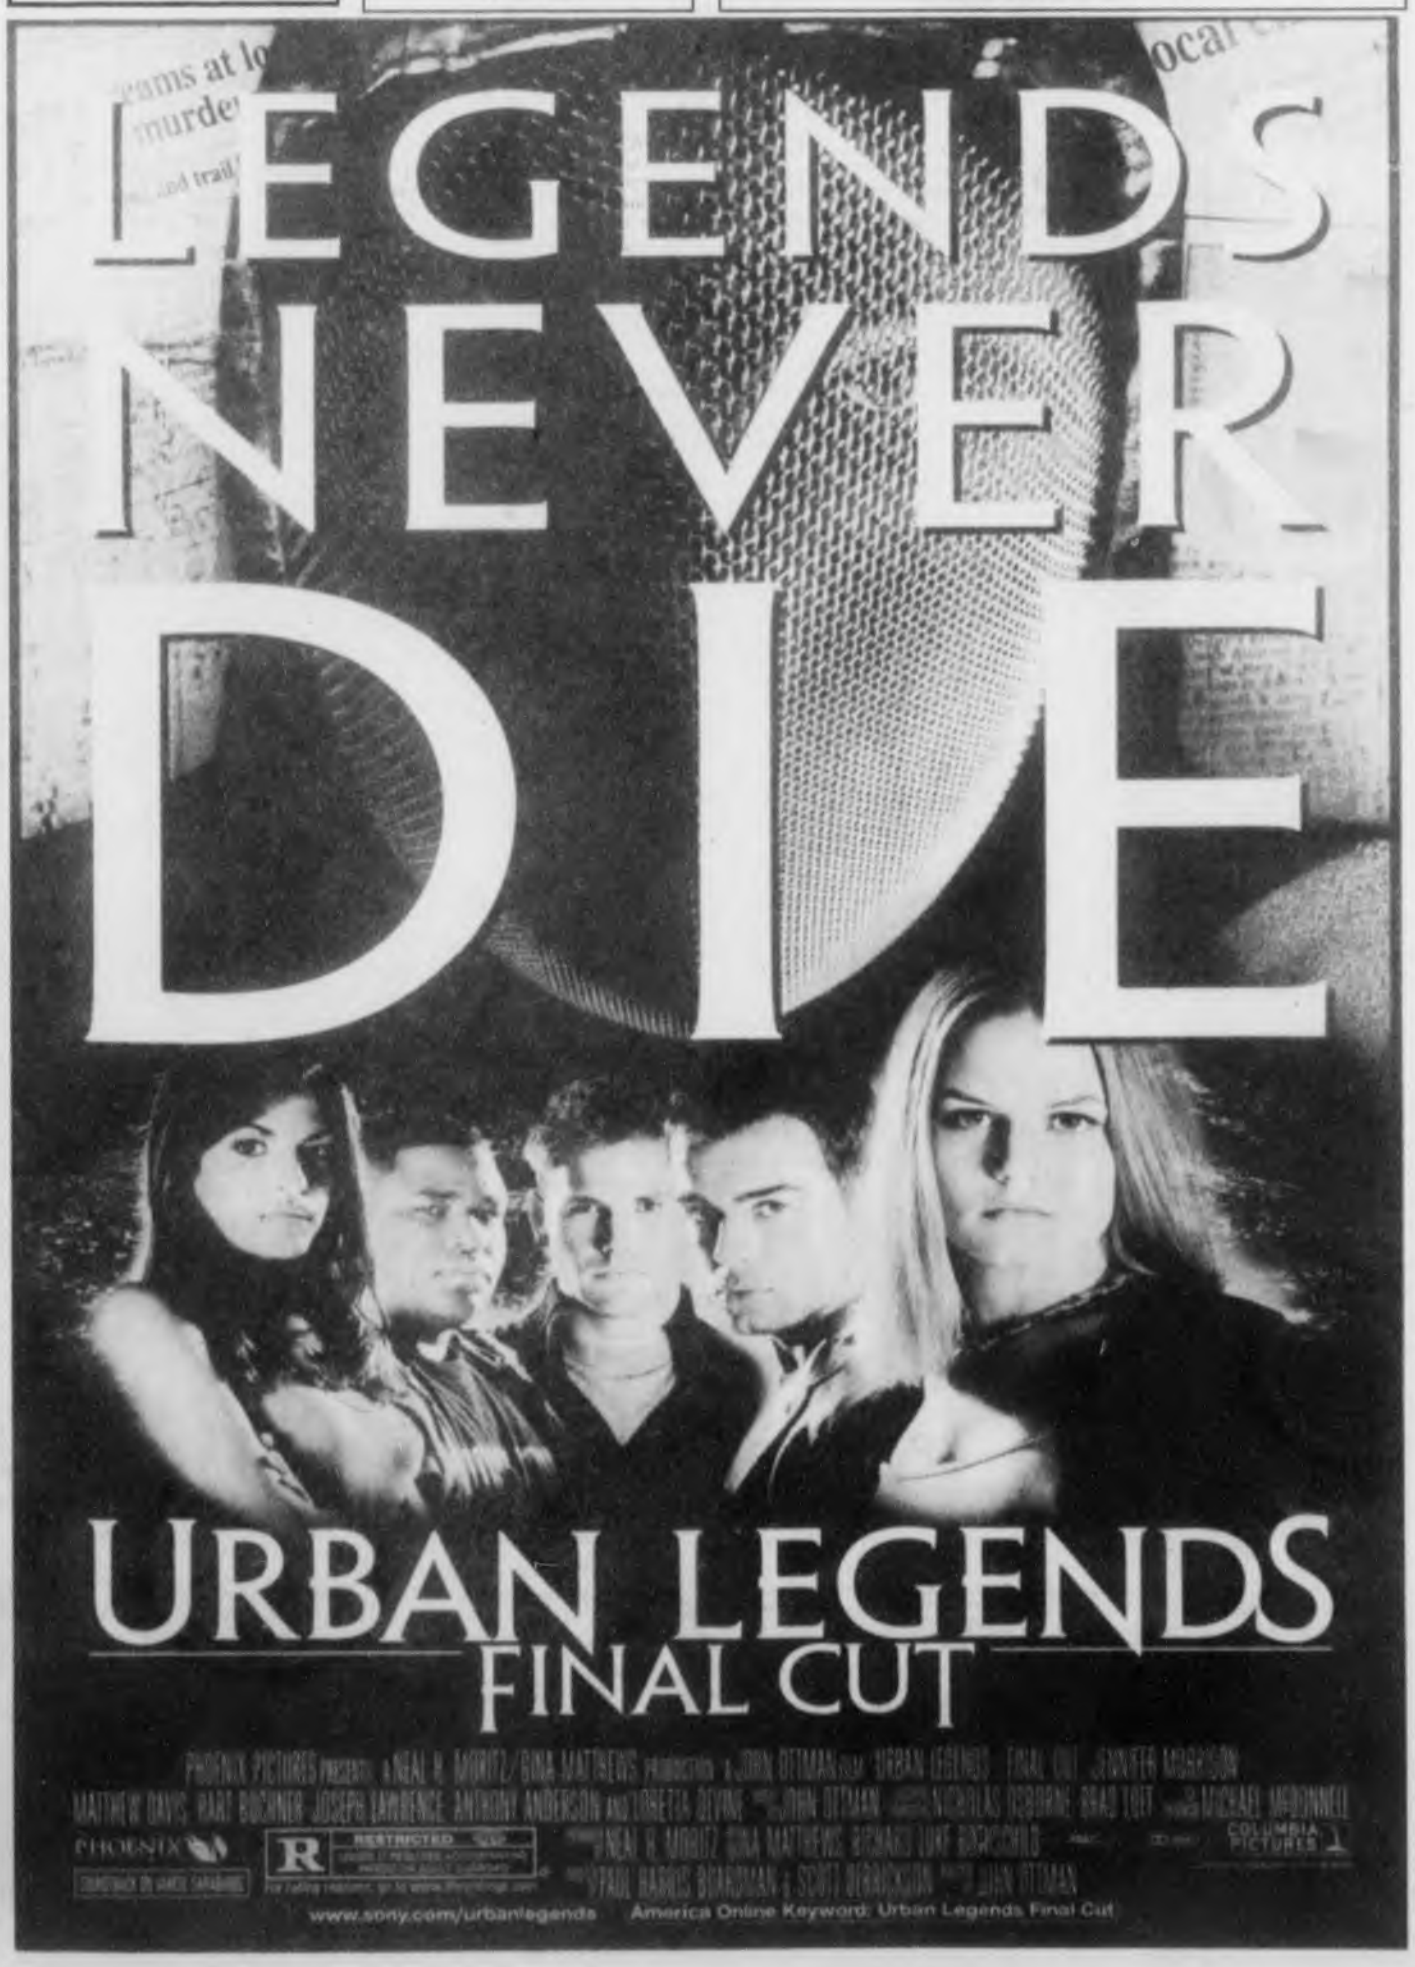
PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
Limited Delivery Area
1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center

Ramblers STEAK HOUSE & SALOON
Thursday Night Special
12 oz. Top Sirloin w/baked potato, salad and dinner roll
or
"The Couples Special" 2 complete dinners for only $12.99
8711 E. Hwy. 24
Manhattan, KS
539-4989



We are excited to announce
Angela Albin
has joined our professional staff!
Angela is offering
$5 off haircut good through Oct. 31
"START A NEW BEGINNING"
Call now for an appointment
NEW BEGINNINGS HAIRSTYLING & TANNING
1130 Westport Dr. #6• Manhatttan • 537-1003

Collegian
Explore it!
www.kstatecollegian.com



KSU Softball Club
Women's Fastpitch
Informational Meeting
September 21
7:30 p.m.
Union 213
Questions??? Call Jon Rich 776-7437

Production Staff
GTM SPORTSWEAR
It's Greek to Me has openings for FT second shift and several PT weekend positions (4p.m.-2a.m.). Great positions for students, night owls, 2nd incomes, Christmas money and working around family schedules.
No experience necessary.
Full-time Benefits include: •Health/Dental Insurance •Paid annual leave •401 k Retirement Plan
Apply today at 520 McCall Road, Manhattan, KS 66502 EOE
or e-mail kristin@igtm.com

Dara's Fast Lane presents
Get your Tailgate BBQ to GO!
Smiley's B-B-Q & Catering
EVERY SATURDAY 10:30 a.m. - ???
Corner of Claflin and Denison Across From Goodnow Hall
FEATURING
6 1/2 racks of ribs, 2 liters of Pepsi, Beans and Potato Salad all for $55.00
or
2 meats 2 sides $7.95
1 meat 2 sides $5.95
Pre Order now for gameday pickup at Dara's Fastlane #1 corner of Clafflin & Denison (other Gameday Specials available for walk in on Saturday).

September 21, 2000 at 7:30 p.m.
McCain Auditorium - Kansas State University
To order tickets come to McCain box office Monday-Friday Noon-5p.m. or call 532-6428.
Tickets: $20.00

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.
CALL 532-6555

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FALL LEASING available! Call now! Fully furnished, washer/ dryer, fully equipped kitchen, alarm systems, computer lab, copier, and fax availability, fitness center/ rec room, swimming pool, reserved parking, tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. University Commons Apartments, 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

CAMPUS FIVE BLOCKS. Very large two-bedroom with air-conditioning. Clean, quiet location. Electric, gas, water, trash paid. No dogs. 537-8389.

EXCELLENT TWO-BEDROOM one block from campus. $550 per month, water/ trash paid. 341-4496.

LET US HELP you find a place to live. We may have what you need. No dogs. Leave message, 537-8389.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT. GREAT LOCATION. across street from campus. 395/ month. Water trash paid 770-8159 call evenings.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOMS, dishwasher, washer/ dryer, central air $450- $475. Now available. (785)776-8455.

VERY NICE two-bedroom with air-conditioning. NEWLY REDECORATED, clean, quiet, convenient location. Heat, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. 537-8389.

ADVERTISE
CLASSIFIEDS • 532-6555

115 Rooms Available

ROOM AVAILABLE NOW in four-bedroom house. Pets allowed, two bathrooms, utilities shared four ways. 1207 Houston. $300/ month. (785)770-9484, (785)556-1745.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, newly remodeled, CENTRAL AIR, two bath, washer/ dryer. 770-7230.

NEW DUPLEX. FOUR-BEDROOM, two bath, two living rooms. Available October 1. $1000/ month. Pierre St. (785)456-7655.

TWO STORY BRICK, very large, three- four-bedroom, two baths, central air, laundry hook-ups, quiet location, fenced yard, parking. 537-8389.

145 Roommate Wanted

ROOMMATE WANTED for house one block from campus. Gas, water and trash paid. Off-street parking. 776-5422.

150 Sublease

CLOSE TO CAMPUS! A very spacious one-bedroom basement apartment in a nice house. Rent: $340 a month. You only pay for electricty, phone and cable! 770-3537.

Before Time Runs Out
advertise your sublease in the classifieds
Let's Rent special section
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information, call (785)456-2795, www.ksu.edu/ksfc

NEED A new look? Free hair cuts, color and texture. Call for details. Hair Experts Design Team. (785)776-4455.

SKIN PROBLEMS? Contact 1-888-353-1813.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

100 housing/ real estate

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

Come home to relax in comfort
•Cambridge Square
•Sandstone Apts.
•Fireplaces •Carports
•Pool •Private Deck
•Laundry Facilities
•Large 2-bedroom Units
Call TODAY!!!
537-9064
Weekdays 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Showings by appointment

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

BRAND NEW three-bedroom/ three bathroom apartment, available now, washer/ dryer included, close to campus and Aggieville. Call MDI 776-3804.

NICE, ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment near City Park. $300/ month, utilities paid except phone and cable. Call 537-6899.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. 431 Leavenworth. $360, bills paid. 539-8401.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE, $265/ month, one-third utilities, Chase Manhattan Apartments. 539-7824.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM, two bath, furnished, washer/dryer, dishwasher, privacy deck. Sublease, tenant needed. $325/ person/ month. 537-8226.

ONE BLOCK from Aggieville duplex two-bedroom apartment, one room available, $200 plus one-hlaf utilities. Huge bedroom and closets, air-conditioned. (785)537-9335 (home), 532-1837 (Hugo or Marcus).

ROOMMATE WANTED to share a two-bedroom apartment, $250/month plus half utilities (785) 313-4182.

200 service directory

300 employment/ opportunities

310 Help Wanted

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For info call (203)977-1720.

LANDSCAPING POSITIONS. Full-time M-F. Apply in person at Horticultural Services Inc. 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (785)494-2418 or (785)776-0397.

310 Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

ARE YOU a SECONDARY EDUCATION major or GRADUATE STUDENT looking for some teaching experience? TEACHERS ARE WANTED with experience or interest in basic skills (English, communications, social studies, math and science). You must be able to operate independently, and have an interest in activity- based instruction, mastery learning, and the principles of educational psychology. Send self addressed stamped envelope to the Online High School, PO Box 1287, Manhattan, KS 66505-1287. Email to davel@network-splus.net

ARE YOU connected? Computer users wanted for free information call 1-800-310-0295. $25-$75/hour, full training, currently in 49 countries.

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!! Looking for part- time dealers. Multi- level market selling Indoor Air Purification Machines. Fun business, good money!!! Call Mitch at (888)814-2893.

TUTOR NEEDED for biochemistry (CHEM 265). Please call 770-8186.

310 Help Wanted

CIVIL ENGINEERING graduate student instructor for part-time position at KSU Salina. Knowledge of KDOT Soils, Aggregate, and/ or Concrete lab techniques a plus. Familiarity with American Concrete Institute Testing also a plus. Send a letter of inquiry and resume to : CIT Program Division of Continuing Education, TAC Building, Suite 119, 2310 Centennial Ave. Salina, KS 67401. KSU is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

EQUIPMENT OPERATORS CDL Drivers Laborers. Join Kansas' fastest growing No.1 team in the sediment & erosion control industry. We're looking for experienced and entry level individuals with mechanical aptitude, full and part-time. You'll enjoy great pay while working with a great team which rewards professionalism, while having fun operating state of the art equipment. We will train the right person. We promote from within. EOE. Please Call Jim at Homestead Enterprises, (316)983-2957.

FRATERNITIES• SOROITIES• CLUBS• STUDENT GROUPS. Earn $1000- $2000 this quarter with the easy Campusfundraiser.com three hour fundraising event. No sales required. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so call today! Contact Campufundraiser.com at (888)923-3238, or visit www.campusfundraisier.com

FULL-TIME WAREHOUSE/ delivery person at Faith Furniture. Please apply in person at 302 E. Highway 24, Manhattan.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY INTERNVENATOR Group Inc. is a diversified global retailer that operates 4000 stores in 14 countries in North America, Europe, Australia and Canada. Through its athletic group of specialty retail stores-- including Foot Locker, Lady Foot Locker, Kids Foot Locker, and Champs Sports, as well as its direct marketer Eastbay-- we are the leading providers of athletic footwear and apparel. We are always searching for dynamic individuals to join our Distribution Center located in Junction City. This position offers challenges in Information Technology. Responsibilities will include: Assisting with management issues. Providing end users with research data. Providing end user support. Database Design, and Analysis, Training, Documentation. Qualifications: Skilled user of Microsoft Access. Able to use Structured Query Language (SQL). Experience with AS400 and Windows NT, Programming Experience, Some IT or MIS education. We offer a competitive salary, tuition reimbursement and professional development opportunities in a dynamic work environment. For consideration, please submit cover letter, resume and references to: Venator Group, Human Resources, Attn.: Associate Relations Manager, 3810 South U.S. Hwy. 77, Junction City, KS 66441. Or fax us at 785-761-3440. /EOE

LEASING CONSULTANT needed immediately. Must be dependable, responsible, organized and friendly. Apply in person: Chase Manhattan Apartments.

LUNAR TUNES, a local D.J. Company, is looking for energetic students to fill D.J. positions. Experience preferred. Will train the right person. (785)776-9140.

310 Help Wanted

PHLEBOTOMIST. IMMEDIATE part-time opening in busy medical office lab. Excellent opportunity for student. Experience preferred but will train. Must be dependable and work well with patient and fellow workers. Hours: 7:30 am to 10:30 am. Apply in person at Medical Associates of Manhattan, 1133 College Avenue, Suite E-110, Manhattan, KS 66502. EOE M/F.

Spring Break Reps needed to promote campus trips. Earn easy money and travel free! All materials provided free. We train you. Work on you own time. Call 1-800-367-1252 or www.springbreakdirect.com

Spring Break 2001
Jamaica, Cancun, Florida, Barbados, Bahamas.
Now hiring campus reps. Earn 2 fee trips. Free Meals. Books by Nov. 2nd. Call for FREE info pack or visit online sunsplashtours.com
1-800-426-7710

THOROUGH HOUSE cleaning under ideal circumstances for couple with no pets/ smoking/ children. Send resume to c/o Collegian, Box 1, Manhattan 66506.

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

WANT CASH? Sign- up your classmates for cool Internet sites, and receive a minimum of $1 per person! There's no easier way to make money! Log onto TeamMagma.com or call 1-877-866-2462.

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

615 N 3rd. Buy, sell, trade CDs, videos, misc. bar items, furniture and much more! 539-3919.

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. Open 12- 5p.m. Closed Sundays. Mondays 539-4684.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS Camouflage clothing (including PURPLE) field jackets- Boots sleeping bags- overshoes, hunting wear. Also CARHARTT workwear. Open Mon.- Fri., 9- 5:30; Sat. 9- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS 66536. (785)437-2734.

KENMORE GAS dryer, autodry, like new, $145 (785)537-7947.

LIKE NEW, Cannondale Mountain bike $375, Soloflex Dumbells with bench $100. Sony TV 32-inch $375. (785)537-6851.

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

COUCH/ SOFA-BED, TV, microwave for sale. Call 537-1177 evenings.

EXTRA LONG flex-steel couch for sale. Call 776-1457.

420 Garage/Yard Sales

TWO FAMILY garage sale 1509 Pipher, Saturday 8- 5.

435 Computers

HIGH QUALITY, pre-owned LAPTOPS starting at $399.95!!! NorthStar Solutions. 1800 Claflin Rd., #160 (next to campus at the corner of Claflin and Denison).

455 Sporting Equipment

GUN & KNIFE SHOW. National Guard Armory, 18th & Jackson, Junction City. Saturday September 23, 9 a.m.- 5 p.m. Sunday 24, 9 a.m.- 4 p.m. Buy-Sell-Trade. Sponsor Geary County Fish & Game Association. Information (785)238-8886.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

DISCOUNTED FOOTBALL (Section 430) tickets vs. North Texas for sale! Call Mike at (612)943-8113 for details.

FOR SALE: Football tickets. 537-3686.

FOR SALE: Two ICAT tickets for Nebraska game. Best offer. Call (785)395-2101.

FOR SALE: Two Nebraska ticket with ICAT. Best Offer (785)539-6192.

WANTED: THREE general admission tickets to the September 23 North Texas game. Please call 776-4742.

WANTED: STUDENT general admission football tickets. K-State vs Oklahoma, will pay $20 or best offer, call (785)770-3257, leave message.

WANTED: STUDENT General admission or ICAT tickets to KSU vs. Oklahoma, Iowa State and Texas Tech. Will pay $10- 20 cash. Negotiable email: still-well_jon@hotmail.com

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1986 PONTIAC Firebird maroon. A/C FM T-top. Power windows/locks. Good condition, FUN car. Call Jenny 776-8678.

1987 DODGE 600, four-door, automatic, air-conditioned, power steering, good condition, $2000 or best offer. Call (785)539-1628.

1988 CHEVY S-10 Blazer 4x4 auto, 4.3L V-6, air, tilt, cruise, good tires, rebuilt transmission, new alternator, water pump and battery. $3150 or make offer. (785)537-7947.

1996 EAGLE Talon automatic. 59K AM/FM CD. Air conditioning custom paint, custom wheels $7500. Must see. (785) 587-9372

510 Automobiles

1990 PONTIAC Grand Prix four-door, power windows and locks. Air-conditioned, automatic transmission. Great school car. $2200 or best offer. (785)539-4089.

1993 FORD F150 XLT Ext. Cab. 5.8L v-8. Automatic with overdrive, 220K, with new goodyear tires, one minor dent, excellent interior condition, Power windows, locks, tilt, cruise and air. Runs great $7000. 776-4283 or (316) 271-2629

530 Motorcycles

1982 KAWASAKI K21000, $1300. (785)537-8878.

1995 KAWASAKI ZX6R Ninja. Carbon fiber, micron slipon, never wrecked. 66,000 miles. 539-8521

1997 KAWASAKI EX250R Ninja , 5000 miles, great working condition, new rear tire, many accessories, clear title, $2100. (785)395-2630. davidduffey.com/ninja

600 travel/ trips

630 Spring Break

EIGHT DAY . Florida, Caribbean vacations. Orlando, Ft. Lauderdale, hotel, rental car, round trip cruise for two. $398 plus docking. 1-888-353-1813.

GO DIRECT= $avings! #1 Internet-based Spring Break company offering WHOLESALE Spring Break packages (no middlemen)! Zero traveler complaints registered against us last year! ALL destinations. Lowest price guarantee! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakdirect.com

SPRING BREAK Cancun, Matzalan, Jamaica, South Padre, Florida, and Cruises. EVERYTHING included. Book your trip locally through Student Express TODAY. Best packages available. 587-0713.

SPRING BREAK! Deluxe hotels, reliable air, free food, drinks and parties! Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Mazatlan and Florida. Travel Free and Earn Cash! Do it on the Web! Go to StudentCity.com or call (800)293-1443 for info.

SPRING BREAK!!! Cancun, Mazatlan, Bahamas, Jamaica & Florida. Call Sunbreak Student Vacations for info on going free and earning cash. Call 1(800)446-8355 or email sales@sunbreaks.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Cancun, Bahamas, Florida, Jamaica & Mazatlan. Call Sun Coast Vacationers for a free brochure and ask how you can organize a small group and Eat, Drink, Travel Free and Earn Cash! Call (888)777-4642 or email-sales@suncoastvacations.com

WINTER BREAK/ SPRING BREAK. Ski and beach trips on sale now! www.sunchase.com or call 1-800-SUNCHASE today!

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.85
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.90
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.90
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

RAKE in the SAVINGS
Whether you're buying or selling this fall, you can reach more than 20,000 students and 5,000 faculty with the Collegian classifieds each day.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie 532-6555

K-STATE FANS, ARE YOU READY?
Are you looking for tickets to the football game?
Don't forget to look at TO BUY/SELL.
Or advertise your seats in the Collegian, call 532-6555.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 103 KEDZIE 532-6555

Kansas State University

STOP SURFING!!!
DO YOUR SEARCHING IN
THE 2000-2001 CAMPUS PHONE BOOK
GET YOUR COPY NOW
ON SALE IN THE UNION SEPT. 20-22
AND
AVAILABLE IN KEDZIE 103 THROUGH OUT THE YEAR

000 bulletin board
100 housing/ real estate
200 service directory
300 employment/ opportunities
400 open market
500 transportation
600 travel/ trips

YMCA

■ continued from page 1

Many said the necessity of another separate facility stems from Manhattan's recent population growth.

"What Manhattan has done for years is to feed off of K-State's indoor facilities," Klimek said. "Right or wrong, it's probably not the right way to go. The K-State people have been very good about letting the people of Manhattan use it, but when it comes down to it, the city is now large enough that it needs its own facilities."

Klimek said Junction City, Salina and Topeka all have fully functional YMCA facilities, and it's time for Manhattan to catch up.

"We're kind of behind in that area," Klimek said. "If you look at Manhattan, we're very recreational oriented, excluding and including K-State students."

Samarrai said Manhattan's growth has had an adverse effect on overused existing facilities.

"Right now, parks and rec is divided up all over town, and they still have a shortage of space," Samarrai said. "When a gym is overused for basketball or volleyball, that wears out the facilities, and the taxpayers have to pay for it."

A YMCA facility also would benefit Manhattan club swimming teams and the Manhattan High School swimming team.

"It would help us out a lot," said Matt Thiessen, Manhattan High School swimming coach. "We spend, I think, about $250 a month renting the Natatorium at K-State during season, and using the Natatorium gives us tough hours to work with."

But what might end up as the most popular attraction of the YMCA is the day-care option that city leaders say has been lackirfg in the area.

"The one big thing that would bring the YMCA to town would be the day care they provide, and the after-school care they provide for children," Samarrai said. "That's the thing the city needs most, and it would be a big draw to the community."

Still, no one should expect a YMCA arriving anytime in the immediate future, Klimek said.

"Don't expect the Y to be built in a year from now," he said. "It will take some time."

BIO LAB

■ continued from page 1

open up more work with spore-forming bacteria. The idea is to work with a virus or bacteria as close to the harmful strain to ensure that solutions work on the real thing.

"Consumer groups are very reluctant to support technology unless it uses the original pathogen of concern," he said.

Overall, though, the higher designation might not change which organisms K-State works with as much as it would enable the university to keep up with the times, he said. If regulatory agencies such as the Food and Drug Administration make more stringent requirements for controlling pathogens, labs must upgrade.

"Frankly, I'm looking at it for future requirements," he said.

Richardson also said a BL-3 designation could make a difference on eligibility for grants, as well as attracting and retaining faculty.

"We might have the scientists that are qualified, but they can't write the grants. They might have to work elsewhere," he said.

Other universities that already have BL-3 labs include Iowa State University and Louisiana State University.

Jane Galyon, program coordinator with the Ames Center for Animal Health, said Iowa State is working on a BL-3 project, but the project is estimated at only $3 million. Cost cutters for the project included it being added on to an existing building and that it will only provide an estimated six rooms. The building itself was provided by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"(The state) wouldn't have been able to build a BL-3 facility on its own," Galyon said.

Pat Riggleman, administrative coordinator for the Department of Veterinary Microbiology at Louisiana State's school of veterinary medicine, said the school's BL-3 facility does enable funding. She said indirect costs charged by the university for use of the facility can add between 10 and 47 percent to that grant money.

"It kind of boosts the whole economy," she said.

But the facility remains expensive. BL-3 is the new accepted standard of research, Richardson said, but at an estimated $82 million for a BL-3 large animal facility and lab, nothing is likely to happen until funding is secured.

The Kansas Board of Regents granted permission to seek funding more than a year ago, and the search continues. At present, Richardson said no architectural plans have been drawn up.

Ron Trewyn, vice provost for research, said proponents of the lab tried to appeal for federal funding last year, selling the lab as a valuable safeguard against attacks on agriculture.

"The whole initiative is in a state of limbo while we're waiting for opportunities to present themselves," Trewyn said.

WEIRD AL

■ continued from page 1

different bands playing," Jones said. "He dresses up for all of his acts. He puts on the costumes you see in his videos."

Students can expect a similar experience at tonight's show, Jackson said. He said Yankovic was selected due to his appeal to the student audience.

"It's going to be a complete show of entertainment," he said. "It's rare that we're able to bring in the big names. It's something that doesn't happen that often."

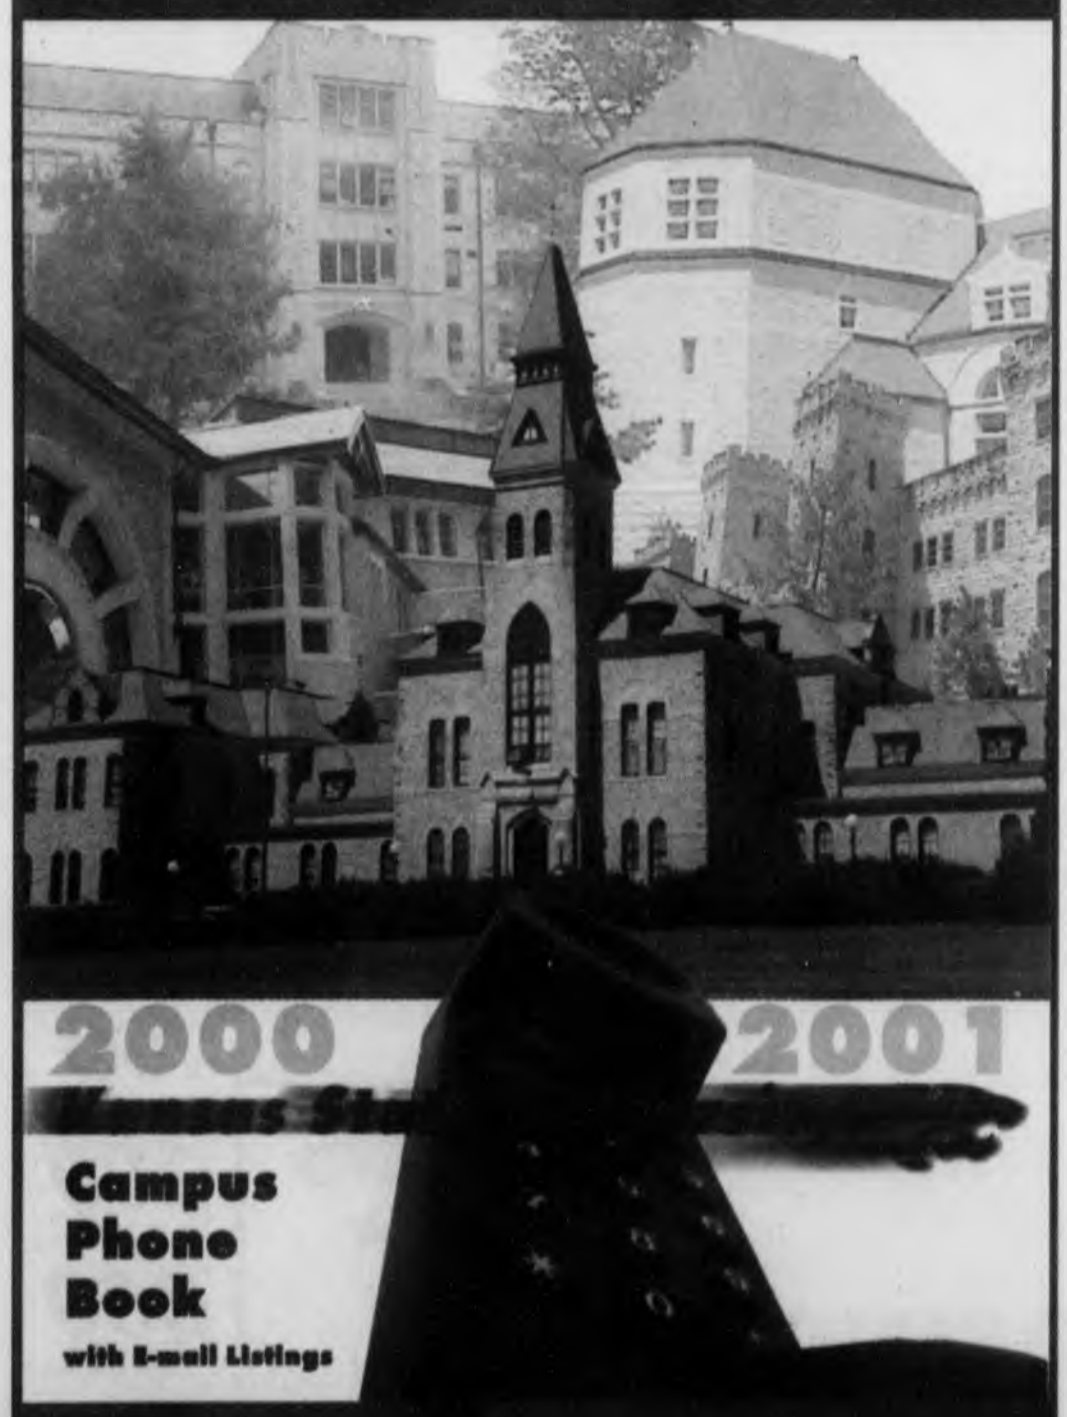
Jackson said another interesting aspect is that two K-State students have been selected to perform as part of the show. He said the students will spend this morning learning routines for the act.

"I think having community interaction on the stage is wonderful," he said.

Even though seats are still open for the show, Richard Martin, director of McCain, said interest has been shown from fans outside the Manhattan area. He said it shows McCain is working to diversify their performance schedule.

"I was interested we got calls the first couple of days tickets went on sale from people in Oklahoma and Nebraska," Martin said. "Maybe we're thinking outside of the box."

Delivers the latest!
OPEN LATE!
GUMBY'S Pizza & Pub
OPEN LATE!
702 N. 11th Street
770-3333
Sunday 11a.m. - 2 a.m.
Mon. - Wed. 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.
Thur. - Sat. 11a.m. - 3:30 a.m.
Checks add 50¢
770-3333 Fast Delivery, Dine-In, Carry-Out



JAWHAWK HATER
Two Large 14" 2-Topping Pizzas for $12.99
Additional Toppings $1.00 per pizza

CARRY-OUT SPECIALS
16" 1-Topping $6.99
14" 1-Topping $5.99
BONUS BUYS MENU with any food purchase
- 10 Wings...ONLY $3.99
- Medium Pokey Stix ONLY $3.99
- 4 Pepperoni Rolls...ONLY$2.99

THE BIG ASS
One 20" Massive 1-Topping Pizza
$10.99
2 for $19.99
Additional Toppings $1.30 per pizza

EVERY PIZZA GETS A FREE RANCH • EVERY MONDAY IS DOUBLE RANCH DAY!

NOW ON SALE

Get your copy NOW
On Sale by the Union Food Court
Sept. 20-22
students $3.95 • public $5.75

LIMITED TIME STUDENT OFFER
$29.99 for 1000 Minutes

250 Anytime Minutes
250 Night & Weekend Minutes
500 Total Minutes
*When you sign a one-year Sprint PCS Advantage Agreement.

You can call anywhere in the country from anywhere on our network. And there are plenty of other great plans to choose from, so you're sure to get exactly what you want. This special offer is available to new customers only. Sprint PCS built the only all-digital, all-PCS nationwide network from the ground up, serving more than 300 major metropolitan areas. Hear the difference today.

Sprint. The clear alternative to cellular.™ Sprint PCS®

To find out more or to order your phone with free delivery, visit www.sprintpcs.com, call 1-800-480-4PCS or stop by one of the locations below.

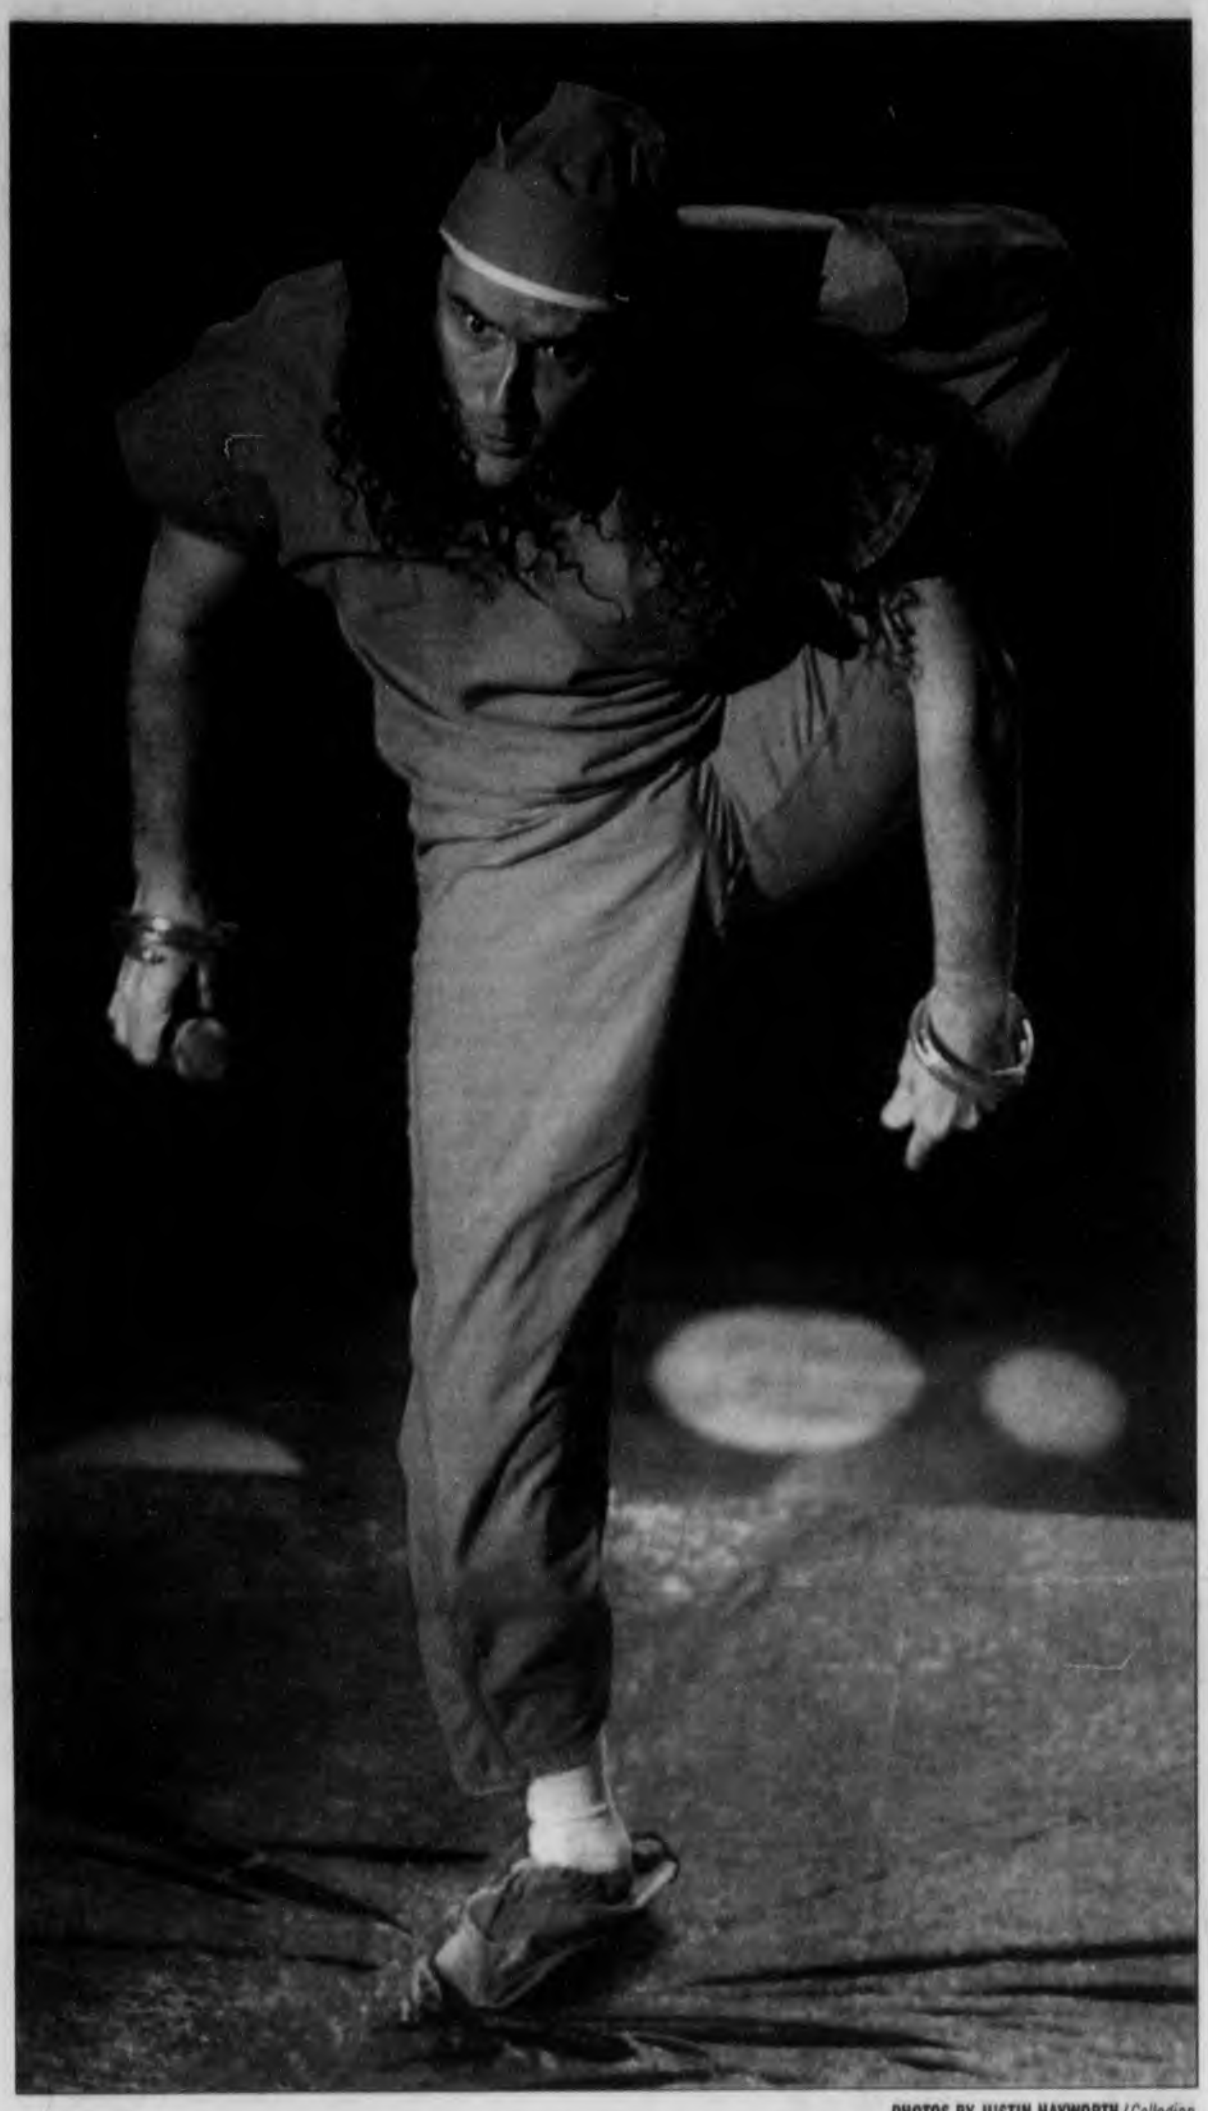
Sprint PCS Center:
404 Poyntz Ave.
Manhattan, KS 66502
(785) 537-3500

Also available at:
The Sprint Store At RadioShack.

Offer of $29.99/500 minutes available under new Sprint PCS Free & Clear Plan available with purchase and activation of a new Sprint PCS Phone™ between September 1, 2000, and September 30, 2000. Cannot be combined with certain other promotional offers. 250 Anytime Minutes are standard with $29.99 Free & Clear Plan. Long Distance is available on the $29.99 plan as the subscriber's Free & Clear Option, and an additional 250 Night & Weekend Minutes can be chosen at no additional charge with a one-year Sprint PCS Advantage Agreement. If Long Distance is selected, all 500 minutes will include long distance. If Long Distance is not selected, a $0.15-per-minute charge will apply to all domestic long-distance calls, as it does to such calls made in excess of the included minutes. Benefits of the offered plan continue as long as customer remains on the $29.99 plan with these options. This plan is only available with new or additional subscriptions. A $150 early termination fee applies to the Sprint PCS Advantage Agreement. A complete statement of the terms and restrictions of the Sprint PCS Free & Clear Plan is available in the Sprint PCS Clear and Simple Facts Guide. Except in select markets, a nonrefundable $29.99 phone activation fee applies. All plans subject to credit approval. Roaming calls and minutes in excess of plan minutes are not included in Sprint PCS Free & Clear Options. Domestic long-distance calls made while roaming off the Sprint PCS Network will be charged at an additional $0.25 per minute. Night & Weekend Minutes are Monday–Thursday 8pm–7am and Friday 8pm–Monday 7am. Included minutes are not good for calls made while roaming off the Sprint PCS Nationwide Network, whether local or long distance. Roaming calls are charged at $0.69 per minute or $0.39 per minute, depending on specific local-market offers. Sprint PCS Wireless Web℠ service is available only on the Sprint PCS Nationwide Network and may not be available in select affiliate markets. Sprint PCS Wireless Web service requires a wireless Internet-ready phone. A rate of $0.39 per minute applies to all wireless Internet usage without a Sprint PCS Wireless Web option. ©2000 Sprint Spectrum L.P. All rights reserved. Sprint, Sprint PCS, Sprint PCS Wireless Web, Sprint PCS Phone and the diamond logo are trademarks of Sprint Communications Company L.P.

TODAY'S WEATHER
HIGH 88 ■ LOW 64
FRIDAY

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601



KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sept. 22, 2000 ■ Kansas State University ■ Manhattan, Kan. ■ Volume 105, Number 24

Volleyball team gets blocked

■ page 6

PHOTOS BY JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

Weird Al Yankovic hops around the stage with one leg behind his head while performing "Like a Surgeon" Thursday evening in McCain Auditorium.

MAKING FUN

Weird Al Yankovic thrills crowd at McCain

By KRISTEN DYMACEK
Kansas State Collegian

Thursday night was a dream come true for one Weird Al Yankovic fan.

Cindy Koehn's front-row seat at Yankovic's "Touring With Scissors" performance at McCain Auditorium paid off.

Koehn, who has been a Yankovic fan since high school, caught Yankovic's gold boxers when he pulled them out of his pants and threw them into the crowd during the song "One More Minute."

"He came over and looked at me and then walked away," she said. "But then he came back and I managed to get the boxers."

"I had heard it pays to be enthusiastic," Koehn said. "I guess it does."

Koehn, who drove from Tulsa, Okla., for the performance, was attending her third Yankovic concert of the year.

"It's been the best concert so far," she said.

See CONCERT on PAGE 8

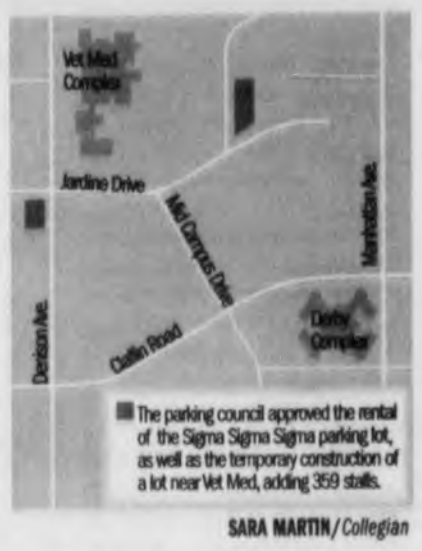
Weird Al Yankovic screams into the microphone during "Germs," a parody of a Nine Inch Nails song.

Parking Council seeks solutions

■ 359 temporary parking stalls to help ease lot overcrowding.

By JESSICA PITTS
Kansas State Collegian



Looking for immediate fixes to help ease parking pressures was the goal of the first Parking Council meeting Wednesday, Darwin Abbott, director of Parking Services, said.

Although Abbott doesn't know the exact number of permits sold yet, he does know there is a definite increase this year.

"We realize that there is a problem with parking," he said. "There are more students who are driving to campus, which causes a lot of pressure in the lots during peak times. People are fighting for parking spaces."

The council approved two resolutions in hopes of easing those pressures.

The first one, unanimously approved by the council, will allow for Parking Services to rent the parking lot of the Sigma Sigma Sigma house at the corner of Denison and Jardine avenues.

■ The parking council approved the rental of the Sigma Sigma Sigma parking lot, as well as the temporary construction of a lot near Vet Med, adding 359 stalls.

SARA MARTIN/Collegian

"The house is currently not being occupied," Abbott said. "They are renting it at a semester-by-semester basis. Although it is not a perfect fit, as a short-term rental, it is fine."

The lot would provide around 76 stalls and cost the council roughly $2,400 a

See PARKING on PAGE 8

Athletic fee request passes to next step

By BRYAN SCRIBNER
Kansas State Collegian

Student Senate voted Thursday night to refer the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' privilege fee continuance bill to the Privilege Fee Committee.

The referred bill will be reviewed by the committee Tuesday. Privilege Fee Chair Ryan Walker said necessary changes to the bill will be made, and it will be presented to Senate for a final vote Thursday.

Sports supported by the fee include all non-revenue sports, such as women's basketball and golf. The request, which is for the fiscal years of 2001-2004, is $405,695.

This funding would generate three years of student support for intercollegiate athletics. The fee assesses $11.54 each semester for full-time students.

Privilege fees fund all student services. Students enrolled in at least 12 hours were charged $257 this semester.

Approval of the bill took about 15 minutes. Walker said a decision was reached sooner than he had expected. This could have been attributed to senator attendance at the Privilege Fee Committees' meeting Tuesday, he said.

"We counted 17 senators outside of the committee Tuesday night," Walker said. "That's great to have those senators there."

WHAT IT MEANS

The Department of Intercollegiate Activities privilege fee continuance bill would cost full-time students $11.54 each semester for fiscal years 2001-2004.
Max Urick also clarified to Senate that any K-State student ticket holder can show any student's valid I.D. to gain entry to football games.

Athletic Director Max Urick said two hours were spent answering questions from these senators. He said the answers presented students with a better understanding of athletic funding.

The agreement with the department mandates at least a $2 student discount on every general admission football ticket, and 7,500 seats at KSU Stadium must be reserved for students. General admission men's basketball tickets must have at least a $1 discount, and 5,908 seats must be reserved for students at Bramlage Coliseum.

The bill stipulated that the department is exempt from a requirement that separate accounts for privilege fee funding be established. All athletic department money is placed in one account. Urick

See SENATE on PAGE 8

Little Apple Festival returns for 25th annual celebration

By TRAVIS HOCHARD
Kansas State Collegian

ONLINE
Find out more about the Fort Riley Apple Day Festival at www.kstatecollegian.com

A celebration of folk life, food, and arts and crafts all can be found at this weekend's 25th annual Little Apple Festival at City Park in Manhattan.

One of the festival's many attractions will be a folk-life area, which will include men dressed as Buffalo Soldiers telling stories about what life was like as a black soldier in the Civil War. Other attractions will be pioneer-skill demonstrations, a mountain-man encampment, a medieval jousting re-enactment and Indian cooking and lifestyles, Ann Pavlik, festival coordinator, said.

There will be 80 arts and crafts vendors offering wood, jewelry, marquetry, basketry, clothing, glass carving, metal sculpture and more. A juried art exhibit also will be present. It will be judged competitively and have more expensive items for sale.

A wide variety of food also will be available, including Mexican, Greek and German dishes. Other foods will include funnel cakes, barbecue, cotton candy, buffalo burgers, lemonade, cider slushes and more.

MORE INFO
The festival is free and will be from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday at City Park, at the corner of 11th and Fremont streets.

Musical entertainment for both days will include jazz, country, rock and folk.

A childrens' play area for 3-to 8-year-olds will have a "make it and take it" station. Children will work on small projects and take them home. Other attractions in the play area include an obstacle course, inflatable train, pony rides, miniature golf course, ball pit and moon walk, Pavlik said.

The festival has grown from a small program to an event that attracts 10,000 to 15,000 people, Melanie Godsey, recreation technician, said.

CONTACT US

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
532-0729 rdunn@collegianmail.com

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
532-0729 tehmke@collegianmail.com

Steve Dearinger Photo Editor
532-5492 sdearinger@collegianmail.com

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
532-0730 jbarrett@collegianmail.com

Sarah Bahari City & Government Editor
532-0730 sbahari@collegianmail.com

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
532-0732 kdymacek@collegianmail.com

Derek Boss Sports Editor
532-0732 dboss@collegianmail.com

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
532-0732 eschneweis@collegianmail.com

Ken Wells Online Editor
532-6556 kwells@collegianmail.com

Becky Wilson Copy Chief
532-0732 bwilson@collegianmail.com

Sara Martin Design Editor
532-0731 smartin@collegianmail.com

Jim Calvert Ad Manager
532-6560 jimcalvert@collegianmail.com

Alissa Duncan Assistant Ad Manager
532-6560 aduncan@collegianmail.com

Molly Brammer Online Ad Manager
532-6560 molly@collegianmail.com

BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Display advertising	532-6560
Classified advertising	532-6555
Delivery Problems	532-6555
Photo Reprints	532-6304

BY MAIL
Kansas State Collegian
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

ON THE WEB
www.kstatecollegian.com

The Kansas State Collegian
(USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 2000

JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

High school students on campus for the Kansas Scholastic Press Association Fall Conference wait outside the K-State Student Union after a false alarm evacuated the building Thursday afternoon.

Union fire alarm system inadvertently activated

Emergency fire alarms at the K-State Student Union went off at 1:45 p.m. Thursday, but the system was tripped accidentally.

A new fire alarm system recently was installed for the Union, and Jack Connaughton, associate director of the Union, said he wasn't surprised something like this should happen.

"It's a new system, so there tend to be some bugs that need to be taken care of. The alarm was not scheduled," Connaughton said. "It appears that a pull-box went off in the stairway, even though nobody actually pulled it."

The system also had a false alarm last week with a defective smoke detector, Connaughton said.

"The good news is the system works. The bad news is we had a malfunction," he said. "However, these bugs should be worked out shortly."

— Bryan Murphy

Leftover football tickets go on sale for students

A limited number of student reserved football tickets will go on sale at 8 a.m. today at the Bramlage Coliseum Box Office.

According to the ticket office, 75 tickets will be available at $71 each for the remaining five home games, which include North Texas, Oklahoma, Texas Tech, Iowa State and Nebraska.

These remaining tickets are a result of students who bought season tickets over the summer but then chose not to attend K-State, according to the ticket office.

Today, students who have not already purchased a football season ticket are eligible, Sports Information Director Doug Dull said, with one ticket being available per student.

Purchasers must bring a valid student ID card with them to the Bramlage Box Office.

For questions or concerns, contact the ticket office at (800) 221-CATS.

— Derek Boss

6 wounded in incidents around K.C. Wednesday

KANSAS CITY, Kan. — Six people were wounded Wednesday night in shooting incidents at three locations in Kansas City, Kan., police reported.

The first shooting was around 9:10 p.m., when two victims say a passenger in a red sport utility vehicle fired shots, striking them in the legs and arms, KCK police said.

Five minutes later and a few blocks down the street, a 15-year-old boy was with his mother when shots came from a red SUV, injuring the boy.

Then, at 9:20 p.m., three people were shot at a car wash less than a mile from the first two shootings. Again, the victims said the shots came from a red SUV.

"It's just another gunfight in Kansas City, Kansas," said Robert Noble, a Shawnee man who said he was inside a bar near the third shooting when he heard shots.

— The Associated Press

Immigration possible for survivors of plane wreck

KEY WEST, Fla. — Immigration officials cleared the way Thursday for all nine Cubans who survived a plane crash at sea to stay in the United States and seek residency.

Six of the survivors were released from the Krome Detention Center and taken to a clinic for a medical checkup. They will be released to family members in Miami, attorney Roberto Villasante said.

All were paroled to the United States, allowing them to apply for residency, said Patricia Mancha, spokeswoman for the Immigration and Naturalization Service. That process can begin next September.

Parole also was expected for the remaining survivors, 6-year-old Andy Fuentes and his parents. Andy's American relatives took the boy to Kmart on Thursday, helping him get shoes as well as in-line skates, basketball, football, baseball bat and helmet and blue socks.

— The Associated Press

CORRECTIONS & CLARIFICATIONS

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Jenn Davoren at 532-6556 or e-mail collegn@ksu.edu.

ON RECORD

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ KSU Aikido will meet at 7 tonight in Ahearn 301.
■ The KSU Women's Soccer Club game against the University of Missouri will begin at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in Anneberg Park, Field 1.
■ Lutheran Campus Ministry – ELCA will meet at 7 p.m. Sunday in Danforth Chapel.
■ Student Foundation will meet at 9 p.m. Sunday on the third floor of the Foundation Building.
■ Engineering Student Council will meet at 6:30 p.m. Monday in Rathbone 152.
■ An informational meeting for students preparing to study abroad in the Czech Republic or for students interested in going will take place at 7 p.m. Monday in the Office of International Programs, Fairchild 304. Students who have returned from a program at Charles University or Czech Tech also are invited to share experiences.
■ Apostolic Campus Ministry will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in Union 204 for Bible study.
■ Christian Science Organization will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in Danforth Chapel.
■ KNEA-SP will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in Bluemont 15.
■ Collegiate 4-H will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Waters 137.
■ Students in Free Enterprise will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in Union 209.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Riley County

Wednesday, Sept. 20

■ At 1:50 p.m., Jerry J. Sutton, 325 Yuma St., was arrested for worthless checks. Bond was set at $218.01.
■ At 5:30 p.m., Patrick K. Cheruiyot, 1322 Pierre St., was arrested for driving on a revoked license. Bond was set at $300.
■ At 8 p.m., Charles B. Fleshman, 1908 Daisy Court, was arrested for no proof of liability insurance. Bond was set at $500.

Thursday, Sept. 21

■ At 1:14 a.m., Rusty D. Fallwell, 2830 Nelson's Landing, was arrested for possession of drug paraphernalia, possession of a controlled substance and DUI.
■ At 1:35 a.m., Crystal Johnson, 2215 College Ave., was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.
■ At 1:54 a.m., Lonnie C. Moore, 1429 Vista Lane, was issued a notice to appear for urinating in public.
■ At 1:57 a.m., James E. Harrison, 1626 Fair Lane, was arrested for failure to appear.
■ At 2:05 a.m., Nathan R. Dodge, 1216 Thurston St., was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $2,500.
■ At 2:14 a.m., Travis H. Shumate, 601 Vattier St., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

K-State Police

■ No reports of note were made.

Religion Directory

First Baptist Church
Sunday Worship 11 a.m.
Church School 9:45 a.m.
For free transportation within city limits, call the church.
Pastors Karen & Alan Selig
2121 Blue Hills Rd.
539-8691
An American Baptist Congregation

Unitarian-Universalist Fellowship of Manhattan
481 Zeandale Road. (South on K-177 across viaduct, left on K-18 1/2 mile)
Programs each Sunday at 10:45 a.m. Religious education classes for youth.
Day care for toddlers.
The Rev. David Grimm.
For information call (785) 537-2349
www.flinthills.com/~uufellow/

Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church
Missouri Synod
776-2227
9 a.m. Sunday School & Bible Class
10:30 a.m.
Divine Worship
KSU - DANFORTH CHAPEL
christluth.@networksplus.net

Blue Valley Memorial UMC
835 Church St. 539 - 8790
Worship: Sat. 5:30 p.m/Sun.10:30 a.m.
Free food after services first Sun. of the month.
e-mail: revs2@flinthills.com

Manhattan Mennonite Church
Sunday School 9:30 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m.
Richard & Barbara Gehring, Co-Pastors
10th and Fremont 539-4079
Welcome Students and Staff!

Peace Lutheran Church
2500 Kimball
539-7371
Worship:
Sundays 8:30 & 11 a.m.
Christian Education:
all ages- 9:45
www.flinthills.com/~peace/
Email: peace@flinthills.com
Rev. Richard Hermstad, pastor
With Christ... Gather, Grow and Go Forth

First Presbyterian Church
801 Leavenworth St. • 537-0518
Sunday Schedule
Contemporary Worship at 9:00 a.m.
Sunday School for all ages at 9:00 a.m.
Traditional Worship at 10:30 a.m.

You're Invited To CALVARY CHAPEL
A Casual Contemporary
Verse-By-Verse Bible Study
Thursdays @ 7:00 p.m.
2700 Brittany Terrace #10
"The Georgetown Apts."
(785) 539-3667
ccofmanhattan@aol.com
Come Just As You Are

Lutheran Campus Ministry
at Luther House 1745 Anderson
Sunday Evening Worship
7:15 p.m. at Danforth Chapel
www.ksu.edu/lcm-elca
Pastor Jayne Thompson
(pastorj@ksu.edu) 539-4451
— Open to All —

First Congregational Church
700 Poyntz (Poyntz and Juliette) 537-7006
Sunday School and Adult Ed. Class at 9:30 a.m.
Worship at 10:45 a.m.
Thurs. 7 p.m. Taizé Worship
Sunday Message
"Stir what you've got."
Eldon Epp

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH (DISCIPLES OF CHRIST)
Sunday
8:30 a.m. - Early Service
9:45 a.m. - Sunday School
10:55 a.m. - Late Service
11:30 a.m. - Live Broadcast Angel 95.3 FM
5th & Humboldt
776-8790

First Lutheran
10th Poyntz 537-8532
Worship
Sat. 5:30 p.m.,
Sun. 10:00 a.m.

College Avenue United Methodist Church
1609 College Avenue 539-4191
Sundays: Worship 10:45 a.m.
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
Praise Worship 7:30 p.m.
(Come as you are and sing along.)
We welcome all visitors — Please join us!

Grace Baptist Church
2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child
◆ Sunday ◆
Morning Worship
8:15 & 10:45 a.m.
Bible Classes For All Ages 9:30 a.m.
Evening Service or Care Cells 6 p.m.
776-0424

ST. FRANCIS CANTERBURY
THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH AT KANSAS STATE
SUNDAY WORSHIP
5:00 PM
ST. FRANCIS CHAPEL
1823 LARAMIE
"Love the Lord your God with all your heart, soul, mind, and strength. And love your neighbor as yourself."
REV. CATHY BASCOM 532-9099

Agape Family Church
An Affiliate of RHEMA Bible Church
aka Kenneth Hagin Ministries
SUNDAY
Sunday Broadcast 9:05 a.m. on 95.3 FM
School of the Bible 9:30 a.m.
Worship Service 10:30 a.m.
Evening Fellowships 7:00 p.m.
Wednesday Service 7:30 p.m.
Everyone is welcome to come and be part of our family
STERLING HUDGINS-PASTOR
(formerly Living Water Ranch Church)
116 S. 4th, Downtown Manhattan
(785) 539-3570

LIVING WORD CHURCH
DYNAMIC PRAISE & WORSHIP
POWERFUL MINISTRY OF THE WORD
Sunday Worship 10 a.m.
Sunday School 9 a.m.
Wednesday 7 p.m.
For Information Call
776-0940
Church Located 1 Mi. S. on Hwy. 177
(Offices: 2711 Amherst • Sun. Call 776-0980)

Hillel Welcomes You To Join The Campus Jewish Student Association
HILLEL
For Information Please Call:
Adviser / Activities Director
Andrea Blair 532-6441
STUDENTS WELCOME AT MANHATTA JEWISH CONGREGATION
1509 Wreath Ave. • 539-8462
(services Friday 7:30 p.m.)

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY CHURCH
Contemporary PRAISE & WORSHIP
8:15 & 9:30 & 11:00 AM
CHILDREN'S CHURCH offered at 1st & 3rd services
College & Young Married Bible Studies at 9:30 a.m. and 11:00 a.m.
* Youth Ministries Opportunities
* College/Career Class * Handicap Accessible
Senior Pastor: David Thompson
3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. Manhattan....537-7173
Youth Ministries.....537-7136
web site: www.westviewcommunity.com
Come as you are!

Cats for CHRIST
MATT CARTER
Campus Minister
(785) 539-6138
E-mail:
catsforchrist@manhattankschurch.org
or visit us on the web for other activities
www.ksu.edu/cfc
Sunday
Class 9:30-10:30 a.m.
Worship 10:30-11:45 a.m.
Evening Devotional 6-7 p.m.
Student Dinner following
Church of Christ
2510 Dickens Avenue

ECM Christian Explorers
Food, Fun & Fellowship
Sunday 5:30-7:30 p.m.
Meditation Class
Wednesday 7 a.m.
Bible Study
Wednesday 9 p.m.
1021 Denison Ave.
539-4281 or email at ecm@ksu.edu

St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center
MASS SCHEDULE
Tuesday-Thursday 10:00 p.m.
Friday 12:10 p.m.
Saturday 5 p.m.
Sunday 9:30 a.m., 11 a.m.
Sun. 4:30 p.m., 6 p.m.
Father Keith Weber, Chaplain
711 Denison 539-7496

St. Luke's Lutheran Church
Saturday
6 p.m. Traditional Service
Sunday
8:30 a.m. Traditional Service
9:30 a.m. Fellowship
9:45 a.m. Sunday School & Bible Study
11:00 a.m. Contemporary Service
Campus Missionary - Pastor Eric Wood
http://www.flinthills.com/~stlukes
330 Sunset Ave. 539-2604

You are welcome at . . .
First Assembly of God
Weekly Schedule of Services

Sunday	Wednesday	Thursday
Worship Services 8:30 & 11:00 a.m.	all ministries begin at 7:00	Chi Alpha Christian Fellowship
Kid's Church 8:30 & 11:00 a.m.	Prayer Meeting	7:00 p.m. for College Students
Sunday School 10:00 a.m.	Nueve Vida Ministry (Spanish)	(K-State Union room 212)
Nueve Vida 10:00 a.m.	Youth Group (grades 7-12)
Worship Choir 4:15 p.m.	Royal rangers (Boys Club)
Evening Worship 6:00 p.m.	Missionettes (Girls Club)

Nursery Provided for All Services
Rev. Todd Weston, Pastor
2310 Candlewood Dr. Manhattan, KS
(785) 537-7633 www.manhattanag.org

Student saves money by purchasing house

By MICHELLE BERTUGLIA
Kansas State Collegian

The house at 1906 Ranser St. looks like a typical college student's house, with mismatched furniture, sparse walls and empty beer bottles on a table on the back porch. But this house is anything but typical.

Iain Wilson, senior in electronic journalism, and his family own the house, which is in a primarily residential, non-student area. Wilson said buying a house instead of renting seemed to be the most economically sound option for his family's money.

"I lived in a fraternity for three years," he said. "My senior year, I wanted to do something different. Why waste money on an apartment? You will never see that money again."

Over the years, Wilson's family invested their children's college money in mutual funds. Wilson said he has lived off the money of throughout college. With the help of his parents, he was able to put down the $15,000 down payment on the house. Wilson, who lives in the house with two other students, said the house pays for itself. He charges $250 a month for rent and said it is great realizing he is going to get that money back in the end.

MICHAEL YOUNG/Collegian

Iain Wilson, senior in electronic journalism, stands outside the house he owns. Wilson's family helped him put a down payment on the house, and he lives there with two other students. He said owning a house is cheaper but takes a lot of work.

For Wilson, the responsibility of having to take care of the house with all of its repairs and little problems that occur was a change.

"It is a lot to have to do," he said. "I have gone from a punk kid to the man of the house."

Wilson's real-estate agent, Jack Ryan, associate broker at Ryan and Sons Realtors, said he thinks the experience of owning a house can be beneficial for college students.

"It can be a positive experience for families," he said. "Families buy the house, and kids learn the responsibility."

For some, students moving into the primarily non-student living areas of Manhattan is a problem, with the belief the influx of college students will result in a decrease in property value.

Wilson said he is aware of this stereotype about college students and said he works to keep the house up, not only for his renters but for the neighbors as well.

"The house is nice. I have repainted and renovated it, and Jack said the neighborhood has gone up $8,000 to $9,000 since we purchased the house," he said.

Robert and Grace Pudden, Wilson's neighbors who live across the street, said they know of at least one person who has sold their house because of students moving into their area.

"After renovating their house, they moved because of the college kids who moved next door," Grace Pudden said.

But the Puddens said they don't think Wilson's presence will make their property value go down. They said having students on the street is not a problem for them at all.

> "It can be a positive experience for families. Families buy the house, and kids learn the responsibility."
>
> Jack Ryan, real-estate agent

"The only problem we have with them is all of the cars parked on the street sometimes makes it hard to back out," Robert Pudden said.

Wilson said not all of his neighbors are as accepting of their presence as the Puddens. He said one neighbor across the street really resents their presence.

The neighbor declined to comment on Wilson and his tenants.

The Puddens said they are accepting of Wilson because he respects their neighborhood.

"The are respectful of us and they seem to be very nice, plus they keep their grass mowed," Grace Pudden said.

Wilson said he has no regrets about buying the house.

"I think it is better to do it this way," he said. "It is a nice transition. The responsibility of owning a house is huge. It is hard to just pay the bills, and doing the upkeep. But it is nice to know that I can still fall back on my parents."

The house will be sold after he and his sister graduate, Wilson said. For Wilson, living in the primarily residential area away from campus is more peaceful and convenient.

"There is less congestion," he said. "It is close to the stadium and the rec. The only two problems I have is finding parking on campus and getting back from Aggieville."

Speaker emphasizes acceptance of multiple identities

By NANCY HULL
Kansas State Collegian

Juan J. Battle strives to ensure that everyone's multiple identities are accepted in life.

People can be recognized by their race, social class, sex, occupation, religion and other roles in life at all times, Battle said.

"Do not ask yourself what one person you want to be today," he said. "I hope all of who someone is gets presented on the table at the end."

Battle, associate professor of sociology at both Hunter College and the Graduate Center of City University of New York, delivered a speech sponsored by Queer Straight Alliance titled, "Multiple Identities in the New Millennium" on Thursday afternoon.

Battle is a lead researcher for the Black Pride 2000 Survey and educates people on how race, sex, homophobia and other social problems affect society.

RACIAL/ETHNIC HARMONY WEEK

Making assumptions is something Battle said negatively affects society.

"Do not assume you know how someone thinks or feels," he said.

Battle and his partner have foster children, and he said people always assume he has a wife.

"People make the assumption that a person's life is not complete unless there's a woman to take care of the kids," he said.

Assumptions can be avoided if someone truly listens to what another says, Battle said.

"If people come to you and say they feel alienated, listen to them and help them," he said.

Using one's personal and political power is a tool Battle said he uses to prevent alienation.

Battle said he can use his power to publicly embarrass people if they offend him.

"I will make comments about you if I hear a sexist remark, and you cannot say immigrant, poor or white around me in a harmful way," he said.

Battle said he's realized the way he looks and acts does not make him who he is.

"My grandma once told me 'Juan, wherever life takes you, always find us,'" he said. "I realized that people who look, act and talk like me aren't us."

He said there are many aspects of people's lives that make them who they are.

Battle said putting oneself in someone else's shoes helps people become more understanding.

Once, a student came to Battle for advice when the student learned he was HIV positive, and Battle said he put himself in the student's shoes.

"I lended him a listening ear and connected him with a resource to get help," he said.

Battle said to try to make yourself available to the person afterwards.

"They may not always feel empowered to approach you," he said. "Make the effort to see how they are doing after the fact."

He said he often goes with students to register for classes in order to realize people's struggles.

"I want to see what it really feel like when you can't get into a class and you have to beg an instructor to let you in a class," Battle said.

When Battle asked the audience for advice on how to deal with someone who feels uncomfortable in a situation, Jill Szynskie said she would try to be more empathetic than sympathetic.

"Don't judge someone," Szynskie, junior in public relations, said. "It's not for me to decide if they are wrong or right."

Szynskie said she thinks people should walk out of their comfort zones and go where they're not comfortable in order to experience other people's lives.

Battle said he encourages people to go where they aren't comfortable.

"I encourage those who aren't African-American to go to a Black Student Union meeting and see how everyone reacts," he said.

Sarah Bailey, QSA president and senior in speech, said Battle's interaction with the audience should help students interact better at K-State.

"His speech should benefit any student who falls into a majority," Bailey said. "The tools he mentioned are common sense, and hopefully everyone will take his words to heart."

STREETSIDE RECORDS®
1231 MORO • 776-7373

new 100

Ryan Adams
Heartbreaker

12.99 CD only

Hybrid
Wide Angle

9.99 CD only

Radford
Radford

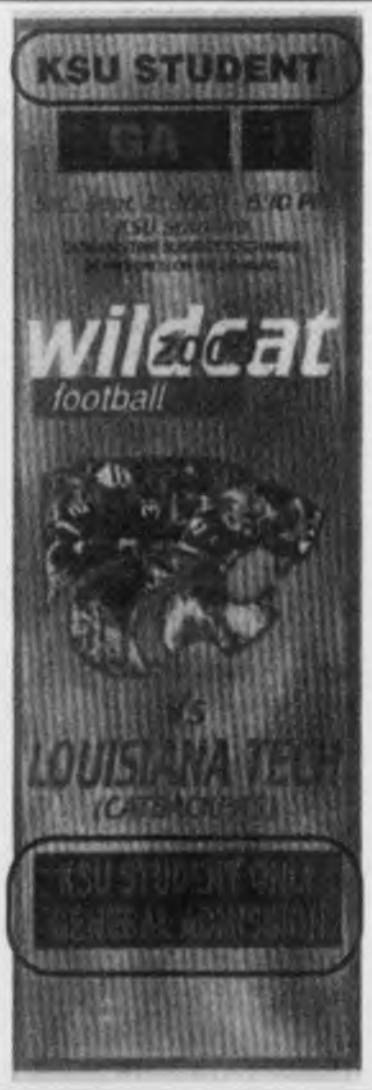
9.99 CD only

The Original Slide Album featuring Casper
Cha Cha Slide

14.99 CD 10.99 Cass.

Vast
Music For People

12.99 CD only



The Januaries
The Januaries

13.99 CD only

Sale ends 10/16/00

Where you can still listen to any CD in the store!

Attention K-State Students!!

Effective with Saturday's game against North Texas, a valid K-State student ID must accompany each student ticket for admission.

Thank you for your cooperation and continued support of the Wildcat football team.

Please call the Ticket Office at 800-221-CATS or the Athletic Department at 532-6910 if you have questions.

K-State Campus Ministers

ARE YOU AWARE OF WHAT CULTS CAN DO?

LEARN TO BE A QUESTIONER

When you feel alone and lonely—

When you feel totally overwhelmed by a decision you need to make and find yourself wishing that someone would just tell you what to do—

When you feel like the world used to make sense and now everything's falling apart around you—

YOU'RE VULNERABLE TO CULT-LIKE GROUPS!

The Kansas State University Campus Ministers want you to be aware of the risks you face.

TIPS FOR DEALING WITH CULT-LIKE GROUPS

1) Learn how to interpret the Bible responsibly.
2) Ask for the name of the group.
3) Ask if their group is registered as a student group with the university.
4) If you are already involved in a religious organization on campus, talk to your campus minister.
5) If you are harassed, contact the Office of Student Life at 532-6432.

If you know someone who feels alone, who feels overwhelmed by decisions, or feels his or her world is falling apart, take the responsibility to help that person. When people are hurting (or even when they are not), people need people. Help them reach out to someone they trust.

campus ministries:

American Baptist Campus Ministries Campus Minister: Richard Crooks	539-3851
Campus Crusade for Christ Campus Minister: Brent Watson	587-9766
Cats for Christ/Manhattan Church of Christ Campus Minister: Matt Carter	539-6581
Christian Challenge/Baptist Student Union Campus Minister: Bob Anderson	539-6884
Disciples Student Fellowship Campus Minister: Karl Bunjes	776-8790
Ecumenical Campus Ministry Campus Minister: David Jones	539-4281
Episcopal Campus Ministry Campus Minister: Cathy Bascom	532-9099
Hillel Campus Adviser: Andrea Blair	532-6441
Ichthus Campus Minister: John Schwartz	537-2095
Intervarsity Christian Fellowship Campus Minister: Wade Weber	537-8139
Lutheran Campus Ministry—ELCA Campus Minister: Jayne Thompson	539-4451
Mennonite Student Fellowship Campus Minister: Barbara Krehbiel Gehring	539-4079
Navigators Campus Minister: Tracy McKenzie	539-1994
St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center Campus Minister: Keith Weber	539-7496
United Methodist Church Ministry Campus Minister: Frank Pritz	776-9278

Parking Council fails to provide best solutions

The Parking Council tried to help the K-State parking situation. At their first meeting, members approved a resolution that only provided students with an estimated 76 additional stalls.

Parking Services gained the stalls by renting the Sigma Sigma Sigma house parking lot at the corner of Denison Avenue and Jardine Drive.

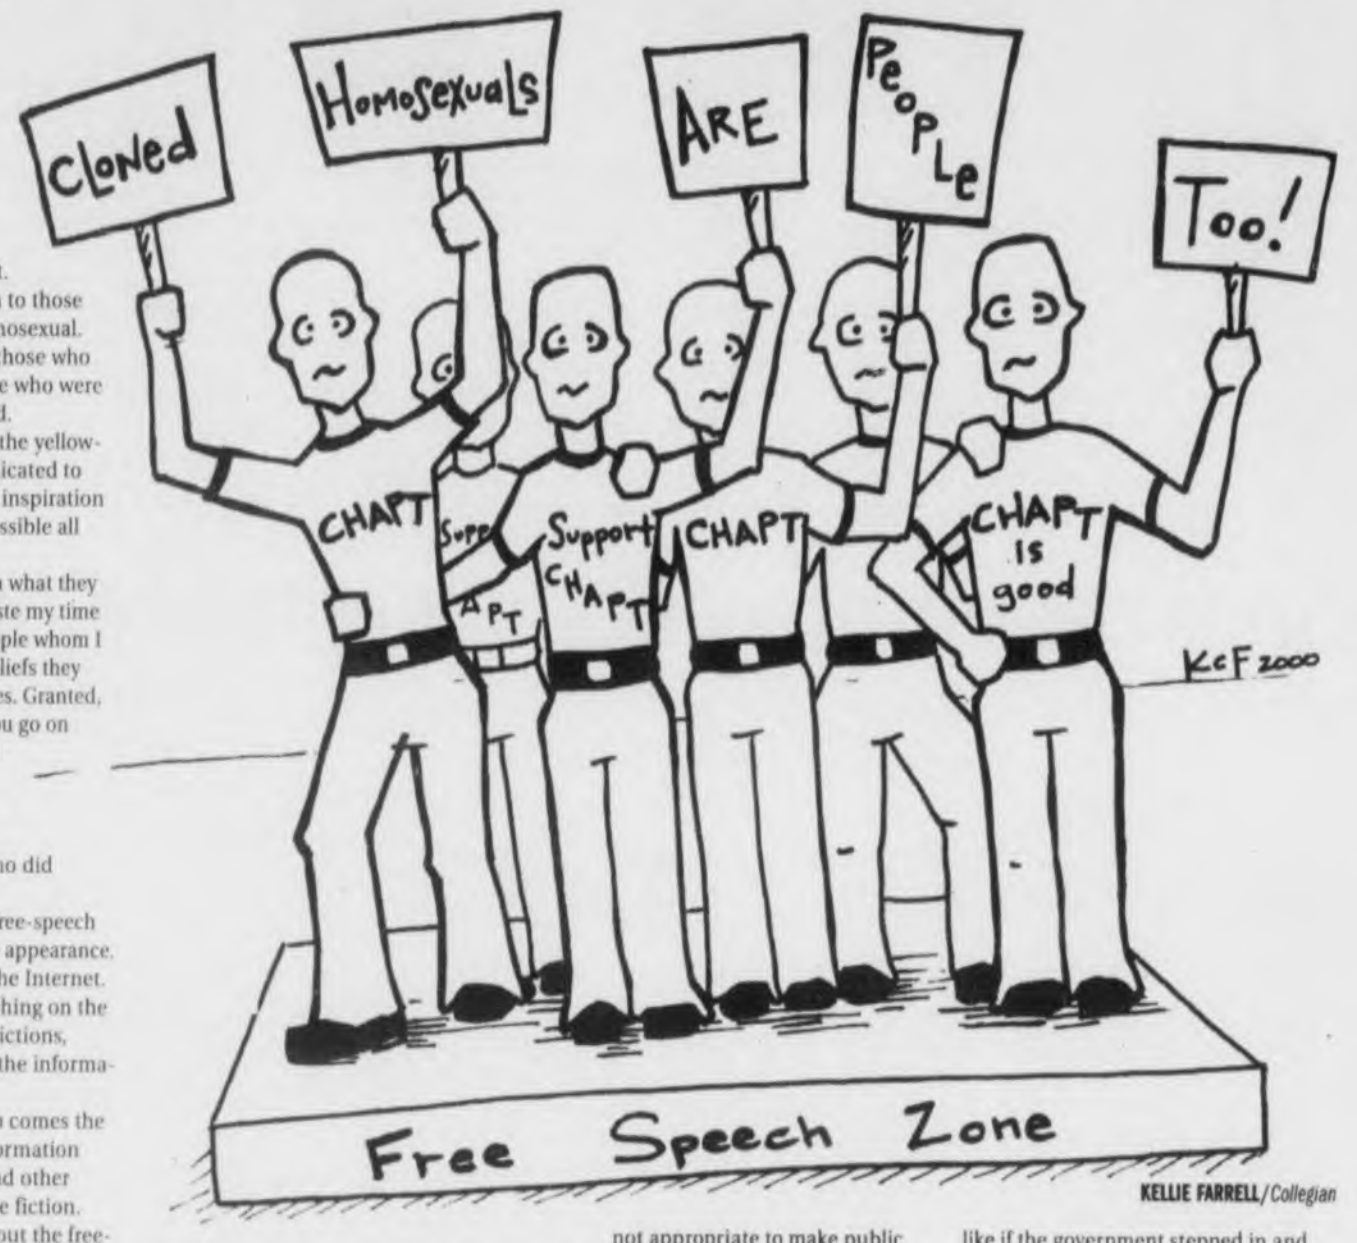
The council approved a second resolution to build a temporary parking lot near the corner of Jardine Drive and Serum Plant Road. There's no guarantee the lot will be built, however, because other committees must approve it before work can begin.

Best-case scenario: the lot with 283 stalls would be finished by fall 2001. It would be used for three to five years at a cost of $393,000.

It's a quick, temporary fix for a problem that only will continue to grow.

K-State's enrollment most likely will increase in the future, exacerbating this parking situation. Add to it the fact that the location is not the best for the majority of students, and you have a problem that remains unsolved.

With the two council resolutions, one question remains unanswered: Why doesn't Parking Services know how many permits it has sold after five weeks of school?



The answer likely is similar to the football ticket situation. Too many tickets and not enough seats, or in the case of Parking Services, too many permits and not enough spaces meaning students again pay the ultimate price.

▶ OUR VIEW is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
Jenn Davoren News Editor
Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
Sarah Bahari City/Government Editor
Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
Derek Boss Sports Editor
Becky Wilson Copy Chief
Sara Martin Design Editor

Freedom of speech

Diversity of opinion key to democratic society

KELLIE FARRELL/Collegian

The signs read "God hates fags."

They were in the free speech zone north of the K-State Student Union. Perhaps you walked by Sept. 15 or even stopped to listen to those who were strongly anti-homosexual.

Maybe you were one of those who yelled your guts out to those who were speaking what they believed.

The free-speech zone is the yellow-and-black Union Plaza, dedicated to ignorance and intelligence, inspiration and hate; every emotion possible all rolled into one.

I personally disagree with what they represent, but I refuse to waste my time yelling and screaming at people whom I know are so stuck in their beliefs they would not change their values. Granted, there are situations where you go on fighting with others who will not change, but I refuse to debate such ignorant statements.

That isn't to say those who did debate are in the wrong.

This is the beauty of the free-speech zone, despite its unattractive appearance.

In a way, it is similar to the Internet. Anyone can put almost anything on the Internet. There are few restrictions, limits to the background of the information you present.

With the World Wide Web comes the chance that some of the information you obtain will be factual and other information will be complete fiction.

The same can be said about the free-speech zone. You might be completely against what others have to say, but you too, can use the area to speak your mind.

If the K-State administration were to censor who could and couldn't speak, it would take away from the effectiveness of the area.

ERIN SCHNEWEIS

There is a difference in situations as well.

It is ridiculous for someone to be cruel and picket a homosexual's funeral. Being disrespectful to the dead is uncalled for.

But it is acceptable — and should even be appreciated — when people voice their opinions and others have an opportunity to listen and respond.

A few months ago, I was watching "The View," in which Barbara Walters and four other women debate various topics. They were discussing the Ku Klux Klan being able to march.

The majority of the women were talking about how they should not be allowed to march. Star Jones, a black woman, said that even though she completely disagreed with what it stood for, the KKK should be allowed to march. If the government were to determine what is and what is not appropriate to make public statements against, we would be a country that would lose the majority of its independence in regards to censorship.

I found it fascinating that a woman who should be one of the most likely to support views of hatred toward the KKK march was, in actuality, the one who said the group's ignorance had a right to be seen and heard.

This has been a hard concept for me to grasp, since I am against those who protest in terms of representing hatred. However, it is a concept that needs to be thought of from different angles and viewpoints.

Think about what our country, our town or even our university would be like if the government stepped in and said what could and, ultimately, what could be debated.

If you're fortunate enough to have an issue that causes you to stand up and state your opinion, by all means, do it. Raise your voice, stand with pride and refuse to back down from your beliefs. Just don't get too upset when it is your turn to get off your soap box and listen to someone else.

The beauty of the free speech zone would be lost if those who talked had to be censored.

Erin is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail her at eschneweis@collegianmail.com

CAMPUS fourum 395-4444

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions on topics relevant to the publication.

I graduate in December, and I guarantee you I will not donate a single dollar back to this university unless the policy on the K-State IDs are changed.

■

It's great now that we have complicated things further to have to check IDs at games. Now it's going to take forever to get into the game.

■

I wonder how much scalpers are going to charge for student IDs this Saturday.

■

If students want control on their football tickets, they need to stop complaining and pay regular price for a ticket they can do whatever they want to. Student tickets aren't for your family, they're for students.

■

Yoda. Yo-yo-yo-ya Yoda.

ICAT solutions still not found

Prepare for chaos, confusion and more ridiculous lines Saturday at KSU Stadium.

While you're waiting in those monstrous lines, clamoring to find a seat in general admission or the ICAT section, remember who first caused this problem — the students.

JOSEPH HURLA

Sure, it's going to get worse as the season progresses — much worse — because of a move by the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics that will do nothing except make the lines longer and slower and anger many of the people standing in them.

But the source of the problem is students.

Students with ICAT or general admission tickets started the mess years ago, and the problem has only grown worse as they have continued their practice unchecked.

And that practice has nothing to do with selling tickets to non-students.

The problem is people with reserved-seat tickets sneaking into the ICAT and general admission sections, filling part of the 16-inch-per-person space the athletic department saves for each ticket sold.

The process is quite simple: two students walk into general admission, find their seats, and sit down. One of the students stays seated while the second leaves the area with both tickets in hand. This second student goes to the concourse area, meets a third person, hands him or her one of the general admission tickets and both re-enter the general admission section armed with the proper tickets.

The same process applies for ICAT, except that ICAT-ticket holders must pry loose an arm band that is clipped loosely around their wrist.

I don't think I'm releasing any previously unknown information about how to smuggle more people past the ushers. In fact, nearly everyone knows how to complete this simple process.

I've seen it happen many times. I spent a semester as an usher at KSU Stadium and knew for a fact this was going on all around me. But, because the entering students always had a ticket, I was in no position to turn them away.

I also have been on the other side of the aisle — sneaking people into these sections. I had ICAT tickets, and my two brothers had general admission tickets. I wanted to sit with them, so I borrowed some wrist bands and snuck them into ICAT with me. It took 10 seconds, there was absolutely zero chance of being caught and I didn't feel the least bit of guilt.

That is what Max Urick and the athletics department are up against. Thousands of students possess the knowledge of how to get into these sections. Rather than offering any effective measures to counter the problem, the athletic department will begin requiring student-ticket holders to display a valid student ID to be admitted to the game.

This is stupid and lame on every level.

All the athletic department has succeeded in doing is adding to the confusion. Only one day before the first game this regulation is to be enforced at, nary a soul on campus has any real clue how the new rule will affect them.

This is because only minimal details have been revealed. Unanswered questions abound. Foremost among these is: Must the valid student ID belong to the person presenting it, or merely a valid ID?

Whatever the answer to this and other lingering questions, one thing is clear — the athletic department has no valuable solutions to offer in easing the overcrowding in ICAT and general admission.

To its credit, the problem is not really its fault. Contrary to popular myth, neither section is oversold.

But the athletic department's commitment to fixing the mess is questionable. It appears it is more concerned with excluding opponents' fans from the game than it is with correcting the errors that have accrued over time.

If it truly was concerned with reducing the overcrowding it would institute a worthwhile policy — such as a hand stamp when entering the stadium. If your hand is not stamped, you cannot enter the ICAT or G.A. sections. One stamp per ticket — problem solved.

The athletic department, however, ignores viable solutions and continues to add to a dilemma students have created.

It has stepped in and added to the confusion, perpetuating the problem by offering nonsensical solutions that will serve only to anger and alienate fans.

Joseph is a senior in public relations. You can e-mail him at jlh4150@ksu.edu.

READERS WRITE

Lack of respect during lectures reflects on K-State, community

Editor,

This evening, I had the opportunity to hear a well-respected and intriguing speaker address the issue of gender equality. I would like to sincerely thank the organizers of the Dorothy I. Thompson Civil Rights Lecture Series for bringing Barbara Bergmann to K-State. The lecture began at 7 p.m., and I left the lecture hall at 8:26 pm. Many of the K-Staters there left around 8 ... and 8:06, and 8:13.

If you were one of the people who left early, or if you plan on attending lectures here in the future, this letter is written with you in mind.

When distinguished lecturers come to speak, the audience represents K-State. Whether or not you mean to, by leaving early (or arriving late) you are showing disrespect for someone who deserves better. The problem with this display of disrespect is that it reflects on the rest of the K-State community. Lecturers remember K-State as an inattentive school, and this hinders our opportunity to have quality lectures in the future.

So when you attend lectures, I ask you to please keep a few things in mind: 1) If you have somewhere to be less than two hours after the start of the lecture, you might want to reconsider attending.

2) If you absolutely must attend, please arrive early and sit near the front so you can duck out.

3) The lecture is not over until the question and answer period has ended. Leaving during this period shows disrespect for all in attendance.

I enjoy attending lectures at K-State. I think it's a vital part of the "college experience." I encourage all students to attend guest lectures and get the full experience by staying for the entire presentation.

— Micaela K. Simmons
junior in history, political science and international studies

Union prohibits youths from loitering

By DaLAENA NEFF
Kansas State Collegian

Individuals younger than 15 now must find a new place to socialize other than the K-State Student Union.

Since April 7, these individuals have not been permitted in the Union after 7 p.m., including the Union recreation area and the perimeter of the building, unless accompanied by a parent or guardian.

"This rule stemmed from feedback from the college students," said Jack Connaughton, associate director of the Union.

Connaughton said it became congested on Friday and Saturday nights.

"It almost felt like you were in the hallway of a junior high," Connaughton said.

Ryan Haugaard, sophomore in engineering and former employee of the recreation area, said there were few college students around on weekends.

"On Friday and Saturday nights, the college population dramatically dropped," he said, "Myself and a co-worker were about the only college students there."

Haugaard said they would confront groups of youths from time to time.

"We would ask for an I.D," he said. "They can't just sit there, but if they were playing pool, we would let them do their thing, as long as their parents were around. We were like free babysitters."

Todd Kohman, junior in finance and marketing, said he agreed with Haugaard.

"On a typical Friday night, I would clock in and begin babysitting and trying to work at the same time," Kohman said. "Trying to take care of paying college customers and deal with loitering high school students can be very trying at times."

Kohman said the younger people could be disrespectful toward the people around them and to university equipment. They would use abusive language and break pool cues, he said.

"The correct age limit should be at age 18, or 18 with a college ID," Kohman said.

Having a lot of young people in the Union on weekend nights keeps many college students away, Kohman said.

"They were in high school once," he said. " They don't want to hang out with high school students again."

Katherine Montoy, a junior at Manhattan High School, said she remembers coming to the Union when she was in eighth grade.

"I tried to be annoying when I came here. That was the whole point in coming," Montoy said. "We thought annoying was cool. When anyone would look at us or comment on us, we liked the attention and thought it was cool."

Montoy said when she looks back, she can see it would be frustrating to those around.

Connaughton said it might have to be a combined effort for this compromise.

"It may have to be a community effort to provide activities for this age group after 7 p.m. on Friday and Saturday nights," he said.

JEANEL DRAKE/Collegian

CLEANING UP

Danielle Buckles, senior in industrial engineering, cleans toilet paper out of a tree in front of the Sigma Kappa house Thursday afternoon after the sorority was toilet-papered the night before.

READERS WRITE

Article on Army school passes on allegations

Editor,

I read Lynne Hermansen's Sept. 13 article on the School of Americas and must note that she passes on false allegations of the U.S. Army School of the Americas disproved in the course of more than 12 separate oversight actions and insults the men and women of the U.S. Army.

The article contains misleading and outright false allegations. For example, Father Roy Bourgeois is quoted saying "…$1 million of U.S. citizens' taxes a day is given to the school." The school operates on a budget of $4.3 million annually plus about $8 million in military salaries, salaries that would be paid whether they teach at this school or perform other duties within the Armed Forces. That makes Bourgeois' assertion of about $365 million per year flat wrong and typical of the intellectual dishonesty of his campaign.

The school's curriculum focuses on professional military education and leadership. It includes courses such as humanitarian de-mining, peacekeeping and resource management. Eight hours in human rights and law of war is mandatory for every student in every course. It is the same doctrine and instruction provided to the U.S. soldiers who keep the peace in Bosnia, helped the victims of Hurricane Mitch or serve as members of the Kansas National Guard. It has not made them any less receptive to democratic values. Why would it be different for Latin Americans?

Unfortunately, in an effort to gain support for their goal to change U.S. policy in Latin America, critics such as Bourgeois continue to perpetuate disproved allegations and imply a causal link between education received at USARSA and the criminal acts of a small number of former students. However, it is clear that the focus of the USARSA courses and the alleged criminal acts have nothing in common, and they attended courses at USARSA 10 to 20 years before an alleged incident. For example, the article notes that in El Salvador USARSA graduates were among those named for the murder of American churchwomen. What the article does not say is that one attended a supply course 14 years before the murder, and another attended an engineer course 17 years before the murder. It takes either a great leap of logic or a profound misunderstanding of the U.S. military to assert that these courses were the source of their subsequent behavior. If you follow this logic we should close every high school in the country when some of its graduates commit violent crimes. Father Bourgeois throws out an allegation but forgets to tell the rest of the story. Anyone familiar with the complexities of Latin America would know that the roots of violence in the region are more likely to be found in regional history and development than at the School of the Americas.

I especially am disappointed that the UFM Committee chairman is quoted saying Bourgeois' one-sided lecture was "education" as it "brought home the need to close the school." I always had thought the point of education was to hear reasoned debate from all sides before drawing any conclusions. All your readers saw were sensationalist allegations about "teaching oppression in Latin America" and implicating the school as the causal factor. I would be more than willing to travel to Manhattan to have a real debate on this subject and make it a true educational experience. If you believe in intellectual integrity, that is the least you can do.

I remain convinced that any discussion about the School of the Americas needs to be focused not on the half-truths and symbolism of the critics, but on the central question of how to best work with the militaries in Latin America. I would point out that the School of the Americas is the most investigated, open and transparent institution in the Department of Defense. Yet the myths persist. Finally, the U.S. Army School of the Americas is open to the public, and I would urge anyone who has an interest in this subject to visit. If you cannot visit, at least look at the school's Web site, www.benning.army.mil/usarsa/.

— John C. Speedy III
assistant deputy under secretary of the Army international affairs

Hear the music, feel the rhythm
Claflin Books and Copies

RC McGraws
MANHATTAN'S OLDIES, COUNTRY, SPORTS BAR NIGHT CLUB
$1.99 Island Oasis Margaritas & Hurricanes
Appearing LIVE
Friday, September 22
Route 66 Road Show
Saturday, September 23
Southern Drawl

D.A.V. THRIFT STORE
• Affordable used clothing, furniture, kitchen items & more
• Donations accepted
• Furniture pickups available
537-9771
322 Houston
open 9-5 Mon. - Sat.
$5 BAG SALE ON ALL CLOTHING AND SHOES
20% OFF ALL OTHER ITEMS (with coupon) expires 10/23

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Dara's Fast Lane presents
Get your Tailgate BBQ to GO!
Smiley's BBQ Catering
EVERY SATURDAY 10:30 a.m. - ???
Corner of Claflin and Denison Across From Goodnow Hall
FEATURING
6 1/2 racks of ribs, 2 liters of Pepsi, Beans and Potato Salad all for $55.00
or
2 meats 2 sides $7.95
1 meat 2 sides $5.95
565-0250
Pre Order now for gameday pickup at Dara's Fastlane #1 corner of Claflin & Denison (other Gameday Specials available for walk in on Saturday).

Wendy's OLD FASHIONED HAMBURGERS
NOW HIRING
For Days and Late Night Positions
FULL OR PART TIME
ABOVE AVERAGE COMPENSATION
• Discounted Meals
• Flexible Schedule
• Crew Incentive Programs
• Medical Insurance
• Retirement Plan
APPLY TODAY
WORK TODAY
at
3006 Anderson Ave.
or
421 N. 3rd St.
EOE/Drug Free Workplace

R You N?
GOLDEN KEY NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY
Golden Key National Honor Society
Membership Deadline:
September 25, 2000

KSU Meat Sale
WEDNESDAY 3-6 p.m. & FRIDAY Noon-6 p.m.
Rm. 166 Weber Hall
BEEF
roast, steak, ground beef, bratwurst
PORK
pork chops, pork steaks, sausage, ground pork, bacon
PRODUCT OF THE DEPT OF ANIMAL SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY MANHATTAN, KS 66506
For information call 532-1279

dream it up.
Imagine an internship with one of the most exciting companies in the world. Where friendships grow. Opportunities are made. Futures begin. One experience - a thousand reasons why. The Walt Disney World College Program. Get ready to Dream It Up!
Attend the presentation for more info and to interview.
DATE: 9/25/00
TIME: 5:30pm
LOCATION: K-State Union; Big Twelve Room
Walt Disney World COLLEGE PROGRAM
wdwcollegeprogram.com
EOE - Drawing Creativity from Diversity - ©Disney

Free Nokia Phone
(some restrictions apply)
Walk & Talk No Money Down!
authorized dealer CELLULARONE
COPY CO
MORE THAN JUST A COPY CENTER
Mon. - Thurs. 7 a.m.-11 p.m.
Friday 7 a.m. - 9 p.m.
Saturday 8 a.m. - 9 p.m.
Sunday 10 a.m. - 11 p.m.
1223 Moro-Aggieville • 537-2679

Fun for the whole family!
Entertainment throughout both days!
LITTLE APPLE FESTIVAL 2000
Free Admission
Folklife Exhibition & Demonstrators
Crafts Vendors
Chidren's Area
Variety of Food
Juried Art Show
City Park - Manhattan, Kansas
September 23 9 am-6 pm
September 24 10 am-5 pm
Sponsored by Parks and Recreation Department
MANHATTAN KANSAS

Rowing team to raise funds

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

Rowing isn't just a sport — it's an art form.

That's the theme being projected at the "Art of Rowing" benefit for the K-State women's rowing team.

The event, which will take place at 11:30 a.m. Sunday at the Fairmont Hotel on the Country Club Plaza in Kansas City, Mo., is designed to raise funds to add to the K-State Women's Rowing Boathouse.

TICKETS
Anyone interested in obtaining tickets or sponsorship opportunities can call Shirley Serrault in the women's rowing office at 532-3595.

The money raised will be used to provide locker rooms, showers, sanitary facilities, a team meeting room and working offices, in addition to generally increasing excitement for the team, said Ruth Ann Wefald, Women's Rowing Action Committee chairwoman and former collegiate rower.

"The purpose of the committee is to heighten the awareness and enthusiasm for the team," Wefald said. "Those girls work every bit as hard as the male athletes. Their training is very, very rigorous."

The training is rigorous, but the competition is artful. To advance the idea of rowing as art, the benefit is scheduled to coincide with the Plaza Art Fair, head coach Jenny Hale said.

"Rowing is aesthetically pleasing," she said. "It has a long history in the art world since it is a very old sport."

The event will begin on top of the Fairfield Hotel with a brunch hosted by honorary chairpersons Sen. and Mrs. Pat Roberts. The brunch will feature a live auction of an original painting, "A Tribute to the Crew," by former Olympic synchronized swimmer Candy Costie Merrill.

In addition to the live auction of the painting, a silent auction also will take place. Items up for bid include a football signed by head football coach Bill Snyder and K-State President Jon Wefald, two tickets in the suite of Max Urick, director of the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics, for the K-State versus Iowa State football game, two season tickets to the men's basketball games, a basketball signed by the women's basketball team and a panoramic photograph of Wagner Field.

Tickets to the event are $60, and the Rowing Action Committee also is seeking sponsorships for $500. In return for contributions, those who attend the event will be treated to a rowing demonstration on

See ROWING on PAGE 8

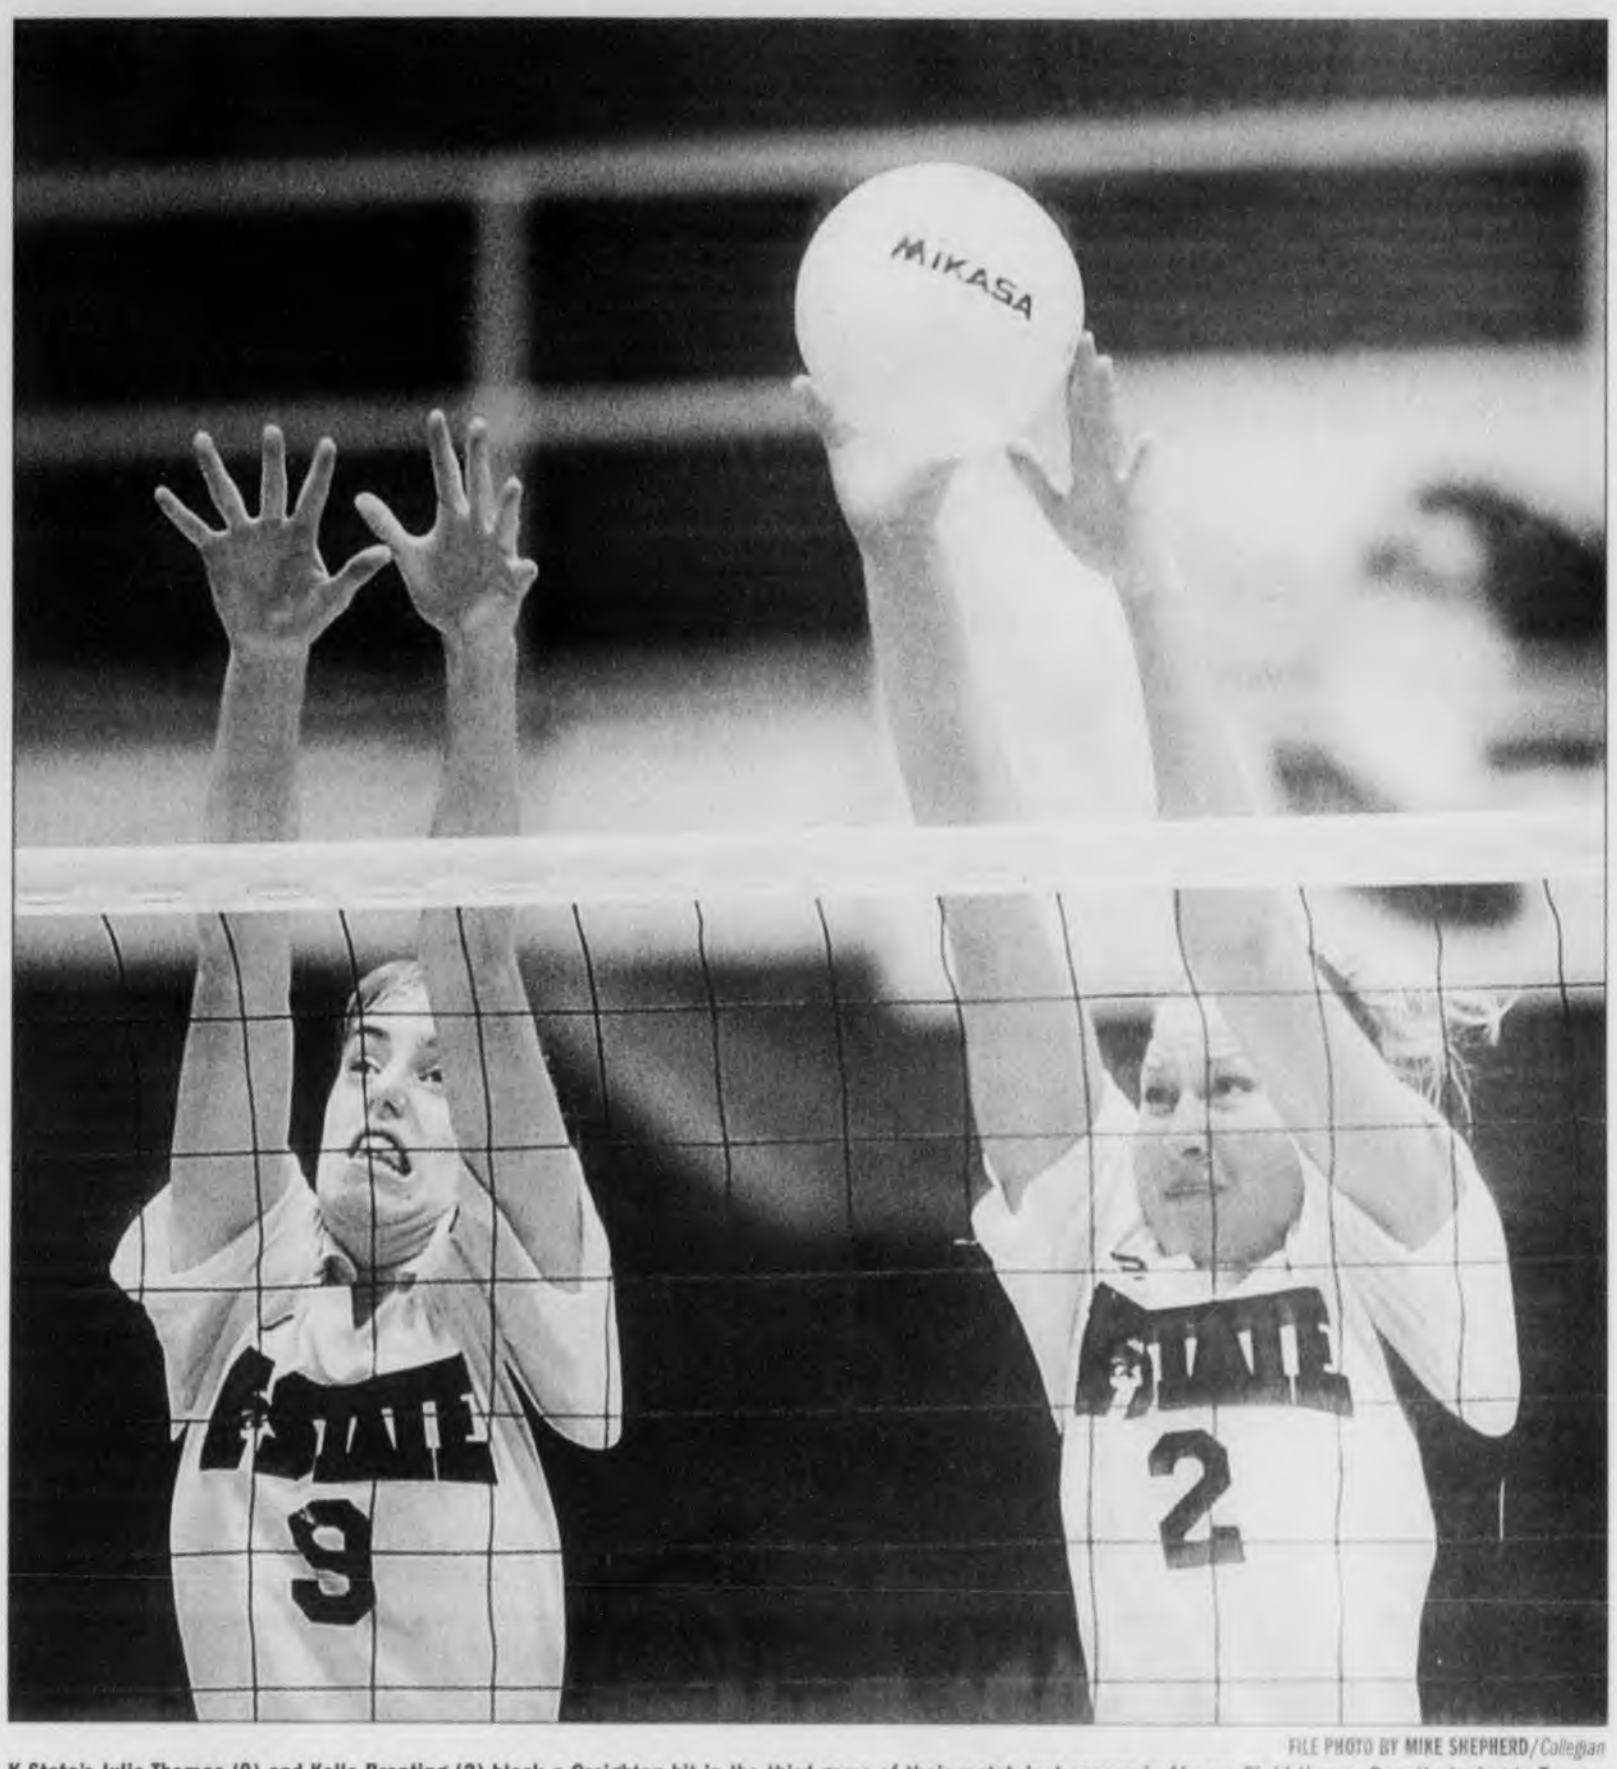
Equestrian team begins competition

By DAN SMITH
Kansas State Collegian

This time last year, Teresa Slough was organizing and preparing for the upcoming equestrian season. Although she said the preparation was hard with only 20 women, all of whom raised the funds to compete themselves, the task was manageable.



UP NEXT
K-State equestrian begins competition Oct. 6 at West Texas A&M.

In their only year as a club sport in 1999, the team was just trying to make a name for itself, but even Slough was surprised when the team caught the eye of K-State's director of the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics, Max Urick.

On April 21, the department decided the women's equestrian club would be a beneficial addition to the varsity athletics program, and announced that Slough would be the head coach of K-State's 16th varsity sport, beginning competition in fall 2000.

Equestrian, as a club sport, was a success in its only year of existence. Individual stars included sophomore Kelly Gratny, who tied for first at the Open Western Horsemanship Event in Conyers, Ga., last spring. Gratny is back as a junior,

See EQUESTRIAN on PAGE 8

FILE PHOTO BY MIKE SHEPHERD/Collegian

K-State's Julie Thomas (9) and Kelle Branting (2) block a Creighton hit in the third game of their match last season in Ahearn Field House. Despite losing to Texas Tech on Wednesday night, Thomas had 18 digs and Branting had a career-high 19 kills.

FIGHTING THEIR WAY OUT

Volleyball team struggles against Texas Tech, learns from experience

UP NEXT
K-State will return to action at 7 p.m. Wednesday when it faces off against Texas at Ahearn Field House. Last year, the Cats swept the season series against the Longhorns.

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

A weakness the K-State volleyball team overcame against Baylor last Saturday came back to haunt it Wednesday night against Texas Tech.

The 20th-ranked Cats (8-3, 2-1) failed to convert on five match points in game five, falling to Texas Tech (10-1, 1-1) in Lubbock for the second consecutive year.

The failure to capitalize on potential winning points in the 3-2 loss was partially the result of a lack of communication, which the Cats will be forced to learn from, head coach Jim McLaughlin said.

"Even in the loss, it was a good match for us," he said Wednesday night. "We're going to learn a lot from tonight's match. One of the things is communication during play.

"I always say the good teams communicate during points, and the weak teams communicate between points. Tonight is going to help us clear up some confusion."

The Cats found themselves fighting their way out of a hole the entire night. Tech easily won game one 15-6 by jumping out to a quick 8-1 lead. K-State answered by winning the second game, 17-15, but had to turn back a Tech game point to do so.

The teams split the next two games, with Tech winning the third game, 15-8, and K-State capturing the fourth, 16-14, but the Cats had to fight off a late Tech run to even force a fifth game.

The final game featured 19 ties and five match points for K-State before Tech finally took the game and the match, 22-20.

Despite the loss, K-State did have several good performances. Freshman outside hitter Cari Jensen led the Cats with a career-high 23 kills. Junior outside hitter Liz Wegner added 22 kills, and senior middle blocker Kelle Branting tallied a career-high 19 kills.

Junior outside hitter Lisa Minnick also put up a season-high 20 digs, and junior middle blocker Julie Thomas notched 18 digs.

— K-State Sports Information contributed to this article.

Senior returns to women's golf team

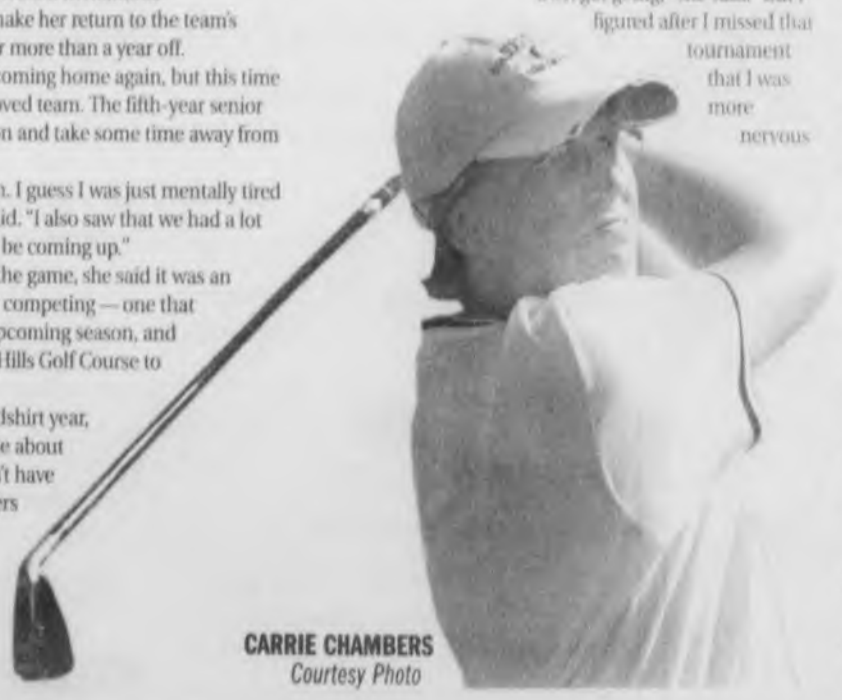
By NICK BRATKOVIC
Kansas State Collegian

Women's golf coach Kristi Knight has shuffled the lineup this weekend at the Mary Fossum Invitational.

Carrie Chambers will make her return to the team's travel squad this week after more than a year off.

In a way, Chambers is coming home again, but this time finds herself with an improved team. The fifth-year senior chose to redshirt last season and take some time away from the game of golf.

"I redshirted last season. I guess I was just mentally tired of the game," Chambers said. "I also saw that we had a lot of young talent that would be coming up."



In her time away from the game, she said it was an interesting experience, not competing — one that made her excited for the upcoming season, and K-State's first with Colbert Hills Golf Course to call home.

"The year before my redshirt year, we played a different course about every day, and we just didn't have a facility like this," Chambers said.

It was a sabbatical that made Chambers a little nervous for the upcoming season.

Chambers said she wants her senior year to be special. Chambers will make no excuses, but said competing in the squad's first tournament as an individual and not as a Cat helped her performance.

"I had one bad round in the qualifying tournament, and then got going," she said. "But I figured after I missed that tournament that I was more nervous than I needed to be."

CARRIE CHAMBERS
Courtesy Photo

K-State has a team policy in which its players qualify before the actual tournaments, but players do have the opportunity to earn exemptions.

Although she competed in the tournament as an individual, Chambers tied for 13th and placed better than all of her teammates, except freshman Christine Boucher.

UP NEXT
The Mary Fossum Invitational is Saturday and Sunday at the Forest Akers Golf Club in East Lansing, Mich.

Chambers now has made the travel squad for Saturday's Mary Fossum Invitational and will be playing alongside Boucher, Edie Murdoch, Miranda Smith and Elise Carpentier. She said the roster changes illustrate the squad's depth.

"We have 10 golfers who can go out at anytime and play well," Chambers said. "It just depends on who is going to elevate their game that week."

Carpentier is looking for improvement after her 33rd place finish two weeks ago.

Carpentier shot rounds of 80, 82 and 76 on her way to a score of 238.

With the season's second tournament approaching with 36 holes Saturday and 18 Sunday, Carpentier has one simple goal — improvement.

"Obviously I want to improve, not just the teams, but I want to improve my personal statistics as well," she said. "Honestly, right now I don't care about rankings."

Cryptoquip & CROSSWORD
presented by:
1219 Moro
Aggieville
JAVA
(785) 587-8888

FOR RELEASE FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 2000

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 In the cards
6 Potential syrup
9 Dandy
12 Perfumery attraction
13 Pub potable
14 "I — camera"
15 Flight component
16 Sled
18 Trivial
20 Senate staffer
21 Concorde
23 Born
24 Picnic side dish
25 Haiku, e.g.
27 Tire pattern
29 Not moving
31 Punish by fining
35 Aerobatic maneuvers
37 Within moments
38 Downstairs
41 Started
43 Do arithmetic
44 So be it
45 Mint drinks
47 Braggart
49 Obeyed the alarm
52 Schedule abbr.
53 Mrs. McKinley
54 Amphitheater
55 "— Misérables"
56 Wire measure
57 First Little Pig's material

DOWN
1 Scale members
2 Museum stuff
3 Kitchen appliance
4 Actor Jannings
5 "Mack the Knife" singer
6 Torte named for a Viennese hotel
7 Oodles
8 Shell game need
9 "— Attraction"
10 Greek concluder
11 Rid of rind
17 Popular card game
19 Reach
21 Hot tub
22 No teetotaler, he
24 Drunkard
26 Casaba and Crenshaw
28 Canvas supporter
30 Emulate Johnny Appleseed
32 Poultry purchase
33 Food fish
34 Remnant
36 Not singular
38 Tower of confusion
39 Chew the scenery
40 Stars of the show
42 "The Dancing Class" painter
45 "Star Wars" knights
46 Away from starboard
48 C&W singer McGraw
50 Actress Merkel
51 Manhandle

Solution time: 25 mins.

L	E	O	S	■	P	I	S	■	A	M	F	M
A	R	I	A	■	R	O	W	■	D	A	L	E
W	I	L	L	■	I	N	A	■	A	D	I	T
S	E	S	A	M	E	■	N	I	G	H	T	S
■	■	■	R	I	D	■	C	I	O	■	■	■
B	A	B	Y	■	I	C	E	H	O	U	S	E
I	D	I	■	E	B	B	■	■	S	E	A	■
D	O	G	H	O	U	S	E	■	T	E	X	T
■	■	H	A	W	■	■	N	O	W	■	■	■
M	O	O	N	E	D	■	E	X	E	M	P	T
O	P	U	S	■	A	D	Z	■	L	E	A	R
R	I	S	E	■	F	O	E	■	V	A	N	E
K	E	E	L	■	T	O	R	■	E	T	T	E

Yesterday's answer 9-22

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-22 CRYPTOQUIP

CHS RHSE HE WHVAQDE TVDERHK RVNBD: NTB WEHPDR ZBD ZKK Z ATV ZCNPD VQD BDRV.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: IF YOU'RE A HOG FARMER'S SON, YOU MIGHT GET TO PLAY IN THE PIG LEAGUES.

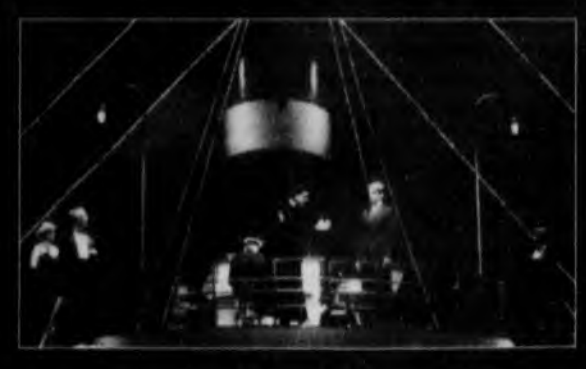
Today's Cryptoquip Clue: E equals N

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2000 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Digital Shelf DVD Rental
We buy video games and DVDs.
www.ksudigitalshelf.com
now online and updated
713 N. 11th
776-6959



MOVIE TIMES

SETH CHILDS CINEMA

"Coyote Ugly"
4:45, 7:30 and 9:45 p.m.
"Bring It On"
4:20, 7:10 and 9:40 p.m.
"Highlander: Endgame"
4:30, 7:15 and 9:20 p.m.
"Nurse Betty"
4:35, 7:05 and 9:40 p.m.
"Scary Movie"
4:40, 7:25 and 9:35 p.m.
"Space Cowboys"
4:15, 7 and 9:35 p.m.
"The Cell"
7:15 p.m.
"The Replacements"
4:30, 7 and 9:30 p.m.
"Way of the Gun"
4:35 and 9:50 p.m.
"The Watcher"
4:40, 7:30 and 9:55 p.m.
"What Lies Beneath"
4:25, 7:10 and 9:50 p.m.
"Urban Legends: Final Cut"
4:10, 7:20 and 9:45 p.m.
"Bait"
4:20, 7 and 9:25 p.m.
"Almost Famous"
Sneak preview Saturday 7:10 p.m.

Movies at Seth Childs Cinema are $4.50 for matinees and $6.75 for evening shows.

'ANYTHING' Shows

STORY BY JJ DUNCAN

COURTESY PHOTOS

Musical returns after 15 years, visits McCain

When a huge musical production hasn't toured for 15 years and is coming to Manhattan, anything goes.

"Anything Goes," a musical by Cole Porter, will be performed at 3 p.m. Sunday in McCain Auditorium.

This is the first time the musical, legendary for its song and dance routines, has toured for a decade and a half, said Thom Jackson, marketing and development officer for McCain.

"Today, it's very rare that you even see a full-scale musical like this coming out of Broadway," Jackson said.

The musical, which revolves around a love triangle that takes place aboard the S.S. America, was written in the 1930s but has a Roaring Twenties style. The musical supports a large cast, including Shanon Polly, Topeka, who plays the lead role of Reno Sweeney, an evangelist-turned-bar hostess.

Porter's highly regarded song-writing skills contribute to the fun of the show. Over the years, the musical has evolved to include more of Porter's music, Jackson said. It is exciting to see the musical because all the elements combine to form a large production, he said.

"Everything comes together," he said. "The comedy of the show, the music numbers which are incredibly funny, and, of course, the dancing. And when you put that also with the set, it's a big-time spectacle show."

A big show means lots of work for Terri Lee, technical director for McCain. Lee supervises the set-up of the show as well as the tear-down.

Lee said this work is necessary for a high quality production.

TICKET INFO
Call the McCain Box Office at 532-6428 or stop by the first floor of McCain today from noon to 5 p.m.

Lee, who has been working in technical theater since high school, said she is excited to be able to see a large production of "Anything Goes." She said it is rare to see such a resurrection of Porter's work. The only other time she has seen it, the show was produced by a small community theater troupe.

"The music alone is great," she said. "Cole Porter was one of the best composers to ever come out of America. The sets, the lights and the costumes are wonderful in this musical."

Shanda Richardson, contract administrator for the show, said this particular production of "Anything Goes" has established a strong reputation as being a high-quality version of the popular musical.

"The dancers seem more in tune with each other, the singers are more energetic, the costumes are better," she said. "Those are just some of the things that make this production stand out from previous ones."

"Anything Goes," which also will be performed in Topeka and Lawrence, will be a worthwhile event for anyone, Jackson said.

He said people should take advantage of the opportunity to see this production of the Porter show in all of its old musical glory.

"I would encourage anyone to see this show because it's such a good show to see," Jackson said. "It is very family-oriented, with nothing nasty or bad about it."

Christian rock band to perform at Union; ECM Christian Explorers sponsor event

By DAVID LAUNDER
Kansas State Collegian

Music will fill the K-State Student Union tonight when Victory comes to Manhattan for the first time.

Victory, a Christian rock band, will be making its first performance this side of the Mississippi River at 8 tonight in the Little Theatre.

The concert is being sponsored by ECM Christian Explorers.

David Jones, campus pastor, said Victory is a good form of entertainment.

"They are tremendous musicians," Jones said. "People will see that they are two very enthusiastic entertainers."

The band, which is from the East Coast, is stopping in Manhattan on its way to Texas.

"We are thrilled to have them here at K-State," Jones said.

Dan Ott and Tim Graff comprise "Victory," which provides a mix of piano and acoustical guitar.

Originally, Ott is from Columbia, S.C., and Graff is from Green Bay, Wis. The two met while attending the University of West Virginia.

Even though they have been together for 10 years, this is the first year they are touring full time.

Ott said he expects tonight's concert to last about an hour and 15 minutes.

"We're going to play original music," he said. "There will be some crowd participation stuff, too."

Jones said the two perform in a way that will please people of all ages.

"This is something you can bring your girlfriend to, or see with your family," he said. "They have a way of entertaining everyone."

Admission is free, but Jones said an offering will be taken.

Nick Garner, sophomore in public relations, said students should take advantage of the free music.

"I really think this is something that a lot of students at K-State would want to see," Garner said. "It's a good chance to take in some music that we wouldn't normally be able to hear."

THE GONGFARMER

BY RANDY REGIER

Monkey Boy

BY BRENT ENGSTROM

CONCERT

■ continued from page 1

Yankovic, who is known for his parodies, opened the show with "Gump," to the tune of "Lump" by Presidents of the United States of America.

After he finished "Gump," he pulled out his accordion.

"Are you ready to polka?" he said.

For the next five minutes, Yankovic performed the medley "Polka Power," covering artists ranging from Spice Girls and Hanson to Marcy Playground and Marilyn Manson.

Complete with mini movies, "Al TV," lights, snow, bubbles and several costume changes, Yankovic performed his parodies, including "Like a Surgeon," "Amish Paradise," "Eat It" and "Smells Like Nirvana," for almost two hours.

Yankovic changed costumes after almost every song, coming out dressed like Kurt Cobain, Fred Flintstone, Billy Ray Cyrus and Michael Jackson.

Alec Coughlin, senior in political science, said even though he's been a fan since day one, "Touring With Scissors" was his first Yankovic concert.

"I thought it rocked," Coughlin said. "There were a lot of people going crazy. It was a blast to watch."

Emigh Green, senior in illustration, also had never been to a Yankovic concert. She said she always has been a fan of Yankovic's parodies.

"He makes fun of people, and he's worshiped for it. That's just great," Green said. "When he makes fun of artists, they can't even really be mad because he's so funny."

JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

Weird Al Yankovic pulls back his hair as he plays "Dare To Be Stupid" on the keyboard during his performance Thursday evening at McCain Auditorium. Yankovic performed other crowd favorites such as "Fat," "Yoda" and "Amish Paradise."

After the concert, Koehn met Yankovic.

"I just about freaked out," she said. "I was like, 'can I touch your hair?'"

Not only did she get to touch his hair, she also got Yankovic to autograph the boxers for her.

"I'm not for sure what I'm going to do with the boxers," Koehn said. "I'm married, so I can't be too crazy."

Even though she was disappointed she couldn't take pictures during the concert, Koehn said she would never forget the performance.

"I can't hear, I can't talk and I have gold boxers," she said. "I'm so excited."

EQUESTRIAN

■ continued from page 6

and said it's exciting to see equestrian as a varsity sport at K-State.

"It's cool this year because we're getting funding," she said. "It will make it easier for more girls to compete, especially in the lower levels."

The additional funding — and the attention that the program received after Urick's announcement — encouraged 111 students to try for a spot on the 53-girl roster. Slough said it was tough to cut some of the girls who wanted the opportunity because of the way the sport is set up.

"It was very difficult," Slough said. "I had to keep enough girls for each level of competition."

The 53-girl roster will be split into different levels of competition based on ability and will compete in two variations of equestrian, English and Western.

K-State's first equestrian team might have some added pressure because Urick chose them over some of the more widely-known club sports at K-State, but Slough said the team is excited to prove its worth.

"It's great, the things we do this year will set a precedent for the future," Slough said. "I think we can have a nationally recognized equestrian team and offer recognition for K-State."

Senior Megan Douthit said the goal is to get enough points to get to regionals, and with the added numbers on the team, there will be more pressure to do well.

"There is a lot of pressure to go out and be a national force," she said. "I'm going to do my best to be a good sportsman, and be competitive."

K-State has some stiff competition in its region with national champion Oklahoma State and Texas A&M, but Gratny said the team will be ready.

"We did very well last year, and we'll compete well against them this year," she said.

ROWING

■ continued from page 6

Brush Creek, featuring athletes of the K-State women's rowing program, at 1:30 p.m.

Spectators also might compete for prizes by participating in challenges on the team's rowing machines. Coaches and athletes will be available in a K-State tent to answer questions.

The Art of Rowing is just the inaugural event in the fund-raising for the women's crew. Rowing fans will have another chance to support their team next spring, Wefald said.

"In the spring, we will continue the theme of connecting rowing and art at the Beach Museum in May, celebrating five years of rowing at K-State," she said. "We have invited various well-known artists from around Manhattan to donate paintings to be auctioned off."

All proceeds will go to a very deserving cause, which is led by a very capable coach, Wefald said.

"I think very highly of Coach Hale," she said. "She's a marvelous coach, and I appreciate what she's doing with the team."

SENATE

■ continued from page 1

said unpredictable expenses make this necessary.

"I could not account that the specific fee is going to one item," Urick said. "It's a very volatile thing to manage."

"You would never run a business this way."

Mark Woods, president of the rowing club and senior in architectural engineering, said student fees help his sport avoid time-consuming fund-raisers.

"We wanted to be involved in the process — to let them know we'd appreciate anything they would be willing to give us," he said.

Urick also discussed the requirement that student identification be presented along with student general admission tickets at home football games. He said the decision was based on three factors: student sections should be for students, students expect to be with other students, and ticket reductions should not be given to non-students.

"We're trying to do something reasonable to manage the overcrowding," Urick said.

The decision was a result of overcrowding in the student general admission and ICAT sections at the first two home football games. Urick said it will slow down the admissions process.

Ticket holders must show a valid ID before entering the stadium, Urick said. However, any K-State student ID will permit admission.

Mixed opinions have resulted from this decision, Urick said.

"I'm not puzzled by the reaction, but if this is not what students want me to do, I need to know that," he said.

If desired by the student body, Urick said reserved seating could possibly replace open seating in the student section. This, though, would diminish some of the flexibility the section creates.

Natalie Duncan, junior in graphic design, said the admission requirement of a student ID will not decrease overcrowding. She also did not like the idea of reserved seating.

"One of the main purposes of going to the games is to sit with your friends," she said.

SIGNINGS

■ continued from page 1

semester.

"Seventy-six is not a huge number," Abbott said. "But it will allow for some of the pressure to ease up from other lots."

Derek Jackson, council member and assistant director of housing and dining services, said he agreed with Abbott and the decision.

"People are backflowing into Edwards and the Rec center lots," he said. "By passing this resolution, this will be an option to them."

The second resolution, again adopted unanimously by the council, will allow for a temporary parking lot to be built near the corner of Jardine Drive and Serum Plant Road.

However, this resolution must make it through several other committees, including the Campus Development Committee, before it is approved.

"I feel good about this one," Abbott said. "I hope we can make it through the steps. It is not intended to be a permanent parking lot, but more of a short term solution."

The parking lot, if approved, most likely would be finished by August 2001 and would be needed for three to five years.

"We are not putting in concrete," Abbott said. "Instead, we will be putting in a surface that is close to asphalt. It is designed to be removable."

The lot would create 283 additional parking stalls and would cost $393,000 that would come out of general parking funds.

"This is a short-term solution in hopes that the transportation system gets under way," Abbott said. "Ultimately, we are going to have to go towards the bus system because the number of students is increasing. We are expecting modest growth for the next five years, and with that growth will come more parking problems."

J. Scott Smith, council member and associate professor of animal science, said while he supports the bus system, he also feels there is an immediate need for these short-term solutions.

"The parking is intense up in the north part of campus," he said. "I think there is a need for the temporary parking lot, and I think many will agree. It will also appeal to those who hope the bus system works, because this provides some short-term relief until that time."

www.kstatecollegian.com

Would you accept $25 to save kids' lives?
Donate your life-saving blood plasma & receive
$25 TODAY
(for approx. 2 hours of your time).
Call or stop by:
Nabi Biomedical Center,
1130 Gardenway, Manhattan
785-776-9177
Fees & donation time may vary. Call for details
www.nabi.com

Mesquite Cooking
We only use genuine Texas mesquite wood to bring you the smoky sweet flavor of the Old West. Try us for lunch or dinner today. You'll taste the difference in every bite.
AMARILLO MESQUITE GRILL
Our flavor's unique, 'cause we grill with mesquite!.
420 Tuttle Creek Boulevard • 565-0404

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
Limited Delivery Area
1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center

American Legion
BINGO!
Sunday 2 p.m.
Tuesday 1:30 p.m.
Wednesday 7:30 p.m.
"Progressive Bingo"
Sundays & Wednesdays
- Win Big Bucks -
114 McCall Rd.

ΑΤΟ, ΠΚΦ and ΠΒΦ
would like to thank the Manhattan Community for donating 3900 lbs of canned goods.
Cordially, the men of ATO

Production Staff
GTM SPORTSWEAR
It's Greek to Me has openings for FT second shift and several PT weekend positions (4p.m.-2a.m.). Great positions for students, night owls, 2nd incomes, Christmas money and working around family schedules.
No experience necessary.
Full-time Benefits include: •Health/Dental Insurance •Paid annual leave •401 k Retirement Plan
Apply today at 520 McCall Road, Manhattan, KS 66502 EOE
or e-mail kristin@igtm.com

Mrs. Clyde's KANSAS STEAKHOUSE
Game Day Steak and Shrimp Buffet
Grilled Sirloin Steak, BBQ Ribs, Honey Dijon Chicken, Boiled Shrimp, Baked Salmon, Breaded Shrimp, Cheese Ravioli, Salad Bar and Much More!
$8.95 Beat the Heat
Served 4-9:30 p.m.
Don't forget our Awesome BREAKFAST/ BRUNCH BUFFET!
Sat. & Sun. 8 a.m.-1:30 p.m. Only $4.95
Mrs. Clyde's for your next party!
• Catering
• Private room for banquets, hail & farewells, receptions.
100 Bluemont Ave. Manhattan 537-2650
Next to Wal-Mart Open 6 a.m.-10 p.m. daily

ECM Christian Explorers present:
VICTORY
In Concert!
•Friday, Sept. 22
•8:00 p.m.
•KSU Union Little Theater
Come join the Christian Explorers for an awesome night of praise and song!
For More Information, call: 539-4281

BLOOD DIRT CONTROVERSY
sound off about the cats at
GoPowercat.com
Powercat Illustrated's online supplement
http://www.gopowercat.com
message boards • chat • audio & video highlights
breaking news • recruiting • in-depth team analysis • k-state gear
© 2000 Rivals.com All Rights Reserved.
GoPowercat.com is not the official team site.

DATE SEPTEMBER 26, 2000
TIME 7:30 P.M.
PLACE ALL FAITHS CHAPEL
sponsored by DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC Kansas State University
pianist/composer
JULIE RIVERS

Delivers the latest!
OPEN LATE! GUMBY'S Pizza & Pub OPEN LATE!
702 N. 11th Street
770-3333
Sunday 11a.m. - 2 a.m.
Mon. - Wed. 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.
Thur. - Sat. 11a.m. - 3:30 a.m.
Checks add 50¢
770-3333 Fast Delivery, Dine-In, Carry-Out
JAWHAWK HATER
Two Large 14" 2-Topping Pizzas for $12.99
Additional Toppings $1.00 per pizza
CARRY-OUT SPECIALS
16" 1-Topping $6.99
14" 1-Topping $5.99
BONUS BUYS MENU with any food purchase
• 10 Wings...ONLY $3.99
• Medium Pokey Stix ONLY $3.99
• 4 Pepperoni Rolls...ONLY$2.99
THE BIG ASS
One 20" Massive 1-Topping Pizza
$10.99
2 for $19.99
Additional Toppings $1.30 per pizza
EVERY PIZZA GETS A FREE RANCH • EVERY MONDAY IS DOUBLE RANCH DAY!

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.
CALL 532-6555

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FALL LEASING available! Call now! Fully furnished, washer/ dryer, fully equipped kitchen, alarm systems, computer lab, copier, and fax availability, fitness center/ rec room, swimming pool, reserved parking, tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. University Commons Apartments, 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

CAMPUS FIVE BLOCKS. Very large two-bedroom with air-conditioning. Clean, quiet location. Electric, gas, water, trash paid. No dogs. 537-8389.

EXCELLENT TWO-BEDROOM one block from campus. $550 per month, water/ trash paid. 341-4496.

LET US HELP you find a place to live. We may have what you need. No dogs. Leave message, 537-8389.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT. GREAT LOCATION. across street from campus. 395/ month. Water trash paid 770-8159 call evenings.

VERY NICE two-bedroom with air-conditioning. NEWLY REDECORATED, clean, quiet, convenient location. Heat, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. 537-8389.

115 Rooms Available

ROOM AVAILABLE NOW in four-bedroom house. Pets allowed, two bathrooms, utilities shared four ways. 1207 Houston. $300/ month. (785)770-9484, (785)556-1745.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, newly remodeled, CENTRAL AIR, two bath, washer/ dryer. 770-7230.

NEW DUPLEX. FOUR-BEDROOM, two bath, two living rooms. Available October 1. $1000/ month. Pierre St. (785)456-7655.

TWO STORY BRICK, very large, three- four-bedroom, two baths, central air, laundry hook-ups, quiet location, fenced yard, parking. 537-8389.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, newly remodeled, CENTRAL AIR, two bath, washer/ dryer. 770-7230.

NEW DUPLEX. FOUR-BEDROOM, two bath, two living rooms. Available October 1. $1000/ month. Pierre St. (785)456-7655.

150 Sublease

CLOSE TO CAMPUS! A very spacious one-bedroom basement apartment in a nice house. Rent: $340 a month. You only pay for electricty, phone and cable! 770-3537.

ADVERTISE YOUR SUBLEASE IN THE LET'S RENT SECTION.
103 Kedzie • 532-6555

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information, call (785)456-2795, www.ksu.edu/ksfc

22 & 23
Under the Gun
Classic Rock & Roll
BOBBY T'S
24
All Star DJ
www.kstatecollegian.com

NEED A new look? Free hair cuts, color and texture. Call for details. Hair Experts Design Team. (785)776-4455.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

100 housing/ real estate

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

Come home to relax in comfort

•Cambridge Square
•Sandstone Apts.

•Fireplaces •Carports
•Pool •Private Deck
•Laundry Facilities
•Large 2-bedroom Units

Call TODAY!!!
537-9064
Weekdays 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Showings by appointment

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

BRAND NEW three-bedroom/ three bathroom apartment, available now, washer/ dryer included, close to campus and Aggieville. Call MDI 776-3804.

NICE, ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment near City Park. $300/ month, utilities paid except phone and cable. Call 537-6899.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, 431 Leavenworth. $360, bills paid. 539-8401.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR- FIVE-BEDROOM home for rent, near campus. January 1, lease. Call (785)539-2357, 9 a.m.- 5 p.m. M- F.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

little things mean a lot... say it with a personal
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie 532-6555

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for large house near campus. Large bedroom, two baths, central air, washer/ dryer, $270 plus one-fourth utilities. 776-0352.

NOW ON SALE
2000-2001 Campus Phone book
Students and General Public copies can be purchase in Kedzie 103
Call 532-6555 for more information

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE, $265/ month, one-third utilities, Chase Manhattan Apartments, 539-7824.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. $250/ month plus one-third utilities, washer/ dryer, garage, hot tub, fireplace, sublease until June. 770-9301.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM, two bath, furnished, washer/dryer, dishwasher, privacy deck. Sublease, tenant needed. $325/ person/ month. 537-8226.

ONE BLOCK from Aggieville duplex two-bedroom apartment, one room available, $200 plus one-hlaf utilities. Huge bedroom and closets, air-conditioned. (785)537-9335 (home), 532-1837 (Hugo or Marcus).

ROOMMATE WANTED for house close to vet school. $250 plus one-third utilities. 537-9943.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share a two-bedroom apartment. $250/month plus half utilities (785) 313-4182

200 service directory

300 employment/ opportunities

310 Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For info call (203)977-1720.

Spring Break 2001
Jamaica, Cancun, Florida, Barbados, Bahamas.
Now hiring campus reps. Earn 2 fee trips. Free Meals. Books by Nov. 2nd. Call for FREE info pack or visit online sunsplashtours.com
1-800-426-7710

310 Help Wanted

ARE YOU a SECONDARY EDUCATION major or GRADUATE STUDENT looking for some teaching experience? TEACHERS ARE WANTED with experience or interest in basic skills (English, communications, social studies, math and science). You must be able to operate independently, and have an interest in activity- based instruction, mastery learning, and the principles of educational psychology. Send self addressed stamped envelope to the Online High School, PO Box 1287, Manhattan, KS 66505-1287. Email to davel@network-splus.net

ARE YOU connected? Computer users wanted for free information call 1-800-310-0295. $25-$75/hour, full training, currently in 49 countries.

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!! Looking for part- time dealers. Multi- level market selling Indoor Air Purification Machines. Fun business, good money!!! Call Mitch at (888)814-2893.

CIVIL ENGINEERING graduate student instructor for part-time position at KSU Salina. Knowledge of KDOT Soils, Aggregate, and/ or Concrete lab techniques a plus. Familiarity with American Concrete Institute Testing also a plus. Send a letter of inquiry and resume to : CIT Program Division of Continuing Education, TAC Building, Suite 119, 2310 Centennial Ave. Salina, KS 67401, KSU is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

DATA ENTRY CLERK: part-time position with busy non-profit organization. Looking for well-organized, energetic person with positive "can-do" attitude. Requires high school diploma and at least one year of data entry experience. Wage: $5.50/ hour. Job description available upon request. Please send cover letter, resume and three references to: NC-FH Area Agency on Aging, 437 Houston St., Manhattan, KS 66502 by September 29, 2000. Any questions, please call 776-9294. EOE/ AA.

EQUIPMENT OPERATORS CDL Drivers Laborers. Join Kansas' fastest growing No.1 team in the sediment & erosion control industry. We're looking for experienced and entry level individuals with mechanical aptitude, full and part-time. You'll enjoy great pay while working with a great team which rewards professionalism, while having fun operating state of the art equipment. We will train the right person. We promote from within. EOE. Please Call Jim at Homestead Enterprises, (316)983-2957.

LANDSCAPING POSITIONS. Full-time M- F. Apply in person at Horticultural Services Inc. 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (785)494-2418 or (785)776-0397.

310 Help Wanted

FRATERNITIES• SORORITIES• CLUBS• STUDENT GROUPS. Earn $1000- $2000 this quarter with the easy Campusfundraiser.com three hour fundraising event. No sales required. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so call today! Contact Campufundraiser.com at (888)923-3238, or visit www.campusfundraisier.com

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY Assistance Center, Director. Interim Position: This search is for internal KSU candidates only. The information Technology Assistance Center (iTAC) is the Kansas State University entry point for faculty, staff and students to find quick solutions to their IT needs. The Director supervises a full-time staff of five and several part-time employees, currently housed in Hale Library. The iTAC Director reports to the Vice Provost for Academic Services and Technology (VPAST). Salary: Commensurate with experience: $50,000- $60,000/ Annually. Qualifications: Necessary: Masters degree in some field of Information Technology or highly related field. Preferred: Ph.D. in Computer Science, Information Systems, Management Information System, Educational Technology or highly related field. For a complete description and application details contact: Rusty Taylor, Chair, iTAC Director Search Committee, 128 Bob Dole Hall, Educational Communications Center, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506, Telephone (785)532-3125 or on the World Wide Web: http://main.itac.ksu.edu/dir_pos/itac_dir.pdf or http://www.ksu.edu/vpast/position_ann.html
Review of applications will begin September 29, 2000. Start date will be negotiable upon selection of qualified applicant with target start date as soon as possible after November 1, 2000.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY INTERN. VENATOR Group Inc. is a diversified global retailer that operates 4000 stores in 14 countries in North America, Europe, Australia and Canada. Through its athletic group of specialty retail stores-- including Foot Locker, Lady Foot Locker, Kids Foot Locker, and Champs Sports, as well as its direct marketer Eastbay-- we are the leading providers of athletic footwear and apparel. We are always searching for dynamic individuals to join our Distribution Center located in Junction City. This position offers challenges in Information Technology. Responsibilities will include: Assisting with management issues. Providing end users with research data. Providing end user support. Database Design, and Analysis, Training, Documentation. Qualifications: Skilled user of Microsoft Access, Able to use Structured Query Language (SQL), Experience with AS400 and Windows NT, Programming Experience, Some IT or MIS education. We offer a competitive salary, tuition reimbursement and professional development opportunities in a dynamic work environment. For consideration, please submit cover letter, resume and references to: Venator Group, Human Resources, Attn.: Associate Relations Manager, 3810 South U.S. Hwy. 77, Junction City, KS 66441. Or fax us at 785-761-3440. /EOE

LEASING CONSULTANT needed immediately. Must be dependable, responsible, organized and friendly. Apply in person: Chase Manhattan Apartments.

OGDEN YOUTH Center, immediate opening, full-time youth director. Must have experience working with teens, good communication and organization skills, computer skills in MS Word and Excel. Grant writing experience and bachelors degree preferred. Must be able to work evenings. Send resume and references to Ogden Youth Center Personnel, Box 145, Ogden, KS 66517.

310 Help Wanted

PHLEBOTOMIST. IMMEDIATE part-time opening in busy medical office lab. Excellent opportunity for student. Experience preferred but will train. Must be dependable and work well with patient and fellow workers. Hours: 7:30 am to 10:30 am. Apply in person at Medical Associates of Manhattan, 1133 College Avenue, Suite E-110, Manhattan, KS 66502. EOE M/F.

RECREATION SUPERVISOR. Starting Salary: $1184.00 bi-weekly (full-time) plus benefits. Experience Required: Graduation from an accredited college or university with a Bachelor's degree in Recreation Administration, Fine Arts, Performing Arts & Theatrem, & three years of full-time experience required. Technical knowledge of lighting and sound equipment used for performance, or any combination of experience and education that provides the required technical knowledge. Position Purpose: plans organizes, promotes and directs all activities relating to many Recreation programs. Assures sufficient, quality programs and classes for the fine arts, crafts, youth informative, youth and adult performing programs. Acts as City liaison to various boards. Assures coordinated scheduling of the City Park stage for City Programs and community use. Closing Date: October 6, 2000. Apply at City Hall, 1101 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502; visit our website at www.ci.manhattan.ks.us/hr/jobs.asp or e-mail us at jobs@ci.manhattan.ks.us

Spring Break Reps needed to promote campus trips. Earn easy money and travel free! All materials provided free. We train you. Work on you own time. Call 1-800-367-1252 or www.springbreakdirect.com

THOROUGH HOUSE cleaning under ideal circumstances for couple with no pets/ smoking/ children. Send resume to c/o Collegian, Box 1, Manhattan 66506.

UNDERWRITER. WE are seeking a motivated professional with good analytical and interpersonal skills to underwrite auto lines insurance. This person will review existing accounts; prepare correspondence; assist policyholders and agents; and assist with training seminars and program development. Some travel to field agencies may be required. Qualifications include excellent communication, analytical and decision-making skills; general business knowledge and familiarity with a PC. Insurance knowledge a plus. These skills are normally acquired with a bachelor's degree or equivalent insurance-related experience. Interested and qualified candidates should submit a letter of interest and resume by 10/02/00 to the address below but applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Kansas Farm Bureau & Affiliated Services, c/o Employment Manager, 2627 KFB Plaza, Manhattan, KS 66503. We are an equal opportunity employer and encourage diversity.

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

WANT CASH? Sign- up your classmates for cool Internet sites, and receive a minimum of $1 per person! There's no easier way to make money! Log onto TeamMagma.com or call 1-877-866-2462.

400 open market

LOST? & FOUND
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 103 Kedzie 532-6555

410 Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. Open 12- 5p.m. Closed Sundays Mondays. 539-4684.

BUY SELL TRADE
Now Renting
Video Games, Computer Games & DVD Movies
GAME GUY
704 N. 11th
Aggieville
Come get some!
537-0989

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS Camouflage clothing (including PURPLE) field jackets- Boots sleeping bags- overshoes, hunting wear. Also CARHARTT workwear. Open Mon.- Fri., 9- 5:30; Sat. 9- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS 66536. (785)437-2734

KENMORE GAS dryer, autodry, like new, $145 (785)537-7947.

LIKE NEW, Cannondale Mountain bike $375, Soloflex Dumbells with bench $100. Sony TV 32-inch $375. (785)537-6851.

420 Garage/Yard Sales

"MULTI-FAMILY GARAGE Sale." Trek 970 Mountain Bike, household goods, etc. 1603 Little Kitten Ave. Manhattan. 8a.m.- Noon, Saturday, 9/23.

TWO FAMILY garage sale 1509 Pipher, Saturday 8- 5.

430 Antiques

Little Apple Antiques
339 Colorado
9:30 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. Mon. - Sat.
Noon - 5:00 p.m. Sun.
537-3800

435 Computers

HIGH QUALITY, pre-owned LAPTOPS starting at $399.95!!! NorthStar Solutions. 1800 Claflin Rd., #160 (next to campus at the corner of Claflin and Denison).

455 Sporting Equipment

GUN & KNIFE SHOW. National Guard Armory, 18th & Jackson, Junction City. Saturday September 23. 9 a.m.- 5 p.m. Sunday 24. 9 a.m.- 4 p.m. Buy-Sell-Trade. Sponsor Geary County Fish & Game Association. Information (785)238-8886.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

ATTENTION K-STATE FANS. Here's your chance to attend K-STATE vs. COLORADO, Saturday, September 30, 2000. Four tickets to the game in Boulder, CO. Two rooms/ two nights lodging- Harvest Inn Motel (alking distance to the stadium and Pearl St.) Fridsay, September 29 and Saturday, September 30. If interested, call (785)263-2470 days, (785)263-2554 after 5p.m.

DISCOUNTED FOOTBALL (Section 430) tickets vs. North Texas for sale! Call Mike at (612)943-8113 for details.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOR SALE: Football tickets. 537-3686

FOR SALE: Two Nebraska ticket with ICAT. Best Offer (785)539-6192.

TWO STUDENT tickets for Nebraska game for sale. Call 395-5347. Leave message. Best offer.

WANTED, BY KSU alumni, one student ticket to NU game. Contact Keith at Keithu@impactdsgn.net

WANTED: THREE general admission tickets to the September 23 North Texas game. Please call 776-4742.

WANTED: STUDENT general admission football tickets, K-State vs Oklahoma, will pay $20 or best offer, call (785)770-3257, leave message.

WANTED: STUDENT General admission or ICAT tickets to KSU vs. Oklahoma, Iowa State and Texas Tech. Will pay $10- 20 cash. Negotiable email: stillwell_jon@hotmail.com

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1986 PONTIAC Firebird maroon A/C FM T-top. Power windows/locks. Good condition, FUN car. Call Jenny 776-8678.

1987 DODGE 600, four-door, automatic, air-conditioned, power steering, good condition, $2000 or best offer. Call (785)539-1628.

1988 CHEVY S-10 Blazer 4x4 auto, 4.3L V-6, air, tilt, cruise, good tires, rebuilt transmission, new alternator, water pump and battery. $3150 or make offer. (785)537-7947.

1990 PONTIAC Grand Prix four-door, power windows and locks. Air-conditioned, automatic transmission. Great school car. $2200 or best offer. (785)539-4089.

1993 FORD F150 XLT Ext. Cab. 5.8L v-8. Automatic with overdrive, 220K, with new goodyear tires, one minor dent, excellent interior condition, Power windows, locks, tilt, cruise and air. Runs great $7000. 776-4283 or (316) 271-2629

1996 EAGLE Talon automatic. 59K AM/FM CD. Air conditioning custom paint, custom wheels $7500. Must see. (785) 587-9372

530 Motorcycles

1982 KAWASAKI K21000, $1300. (785)537-8878.

1992 KATANA 750, low miles, new tires. $3300 or best offer. 565-9728.

1995 KAWASAKI ZX6R Ninja. Carbon fiber, micron slipon, never wrecked. 6,600 miles. 539-8521

600 travel/ trips

630 Spring Break

GO DIRECT= $avings! #1 Internet-based Spring Break company offering WHOLESALE Spring Break packages (no midddlemen)! Zero traveler complaints registered against us last year! ALL destinations. Lowest price guarantee! 1-800-367-1252
www.springbreakdirect.com

SPRING BREAK Cancun, Matzalan, Jamaica, South Padre, Florida, and Cruises. EVERYTHING included. Book your trip locally through Student Express TODAY. Best packages available. 587-0713.

WINTER BREAK/ SPRING BREAK. Ski and beach trips on sale now! www.sunchase.com or call 1-800-SUNCHASE today!

A Fistful Of Cash

NEED MONEY?
Don't forget to look in the classified categories 310 & 330.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie 532-6555

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.85
each word over 20 $.30 per word

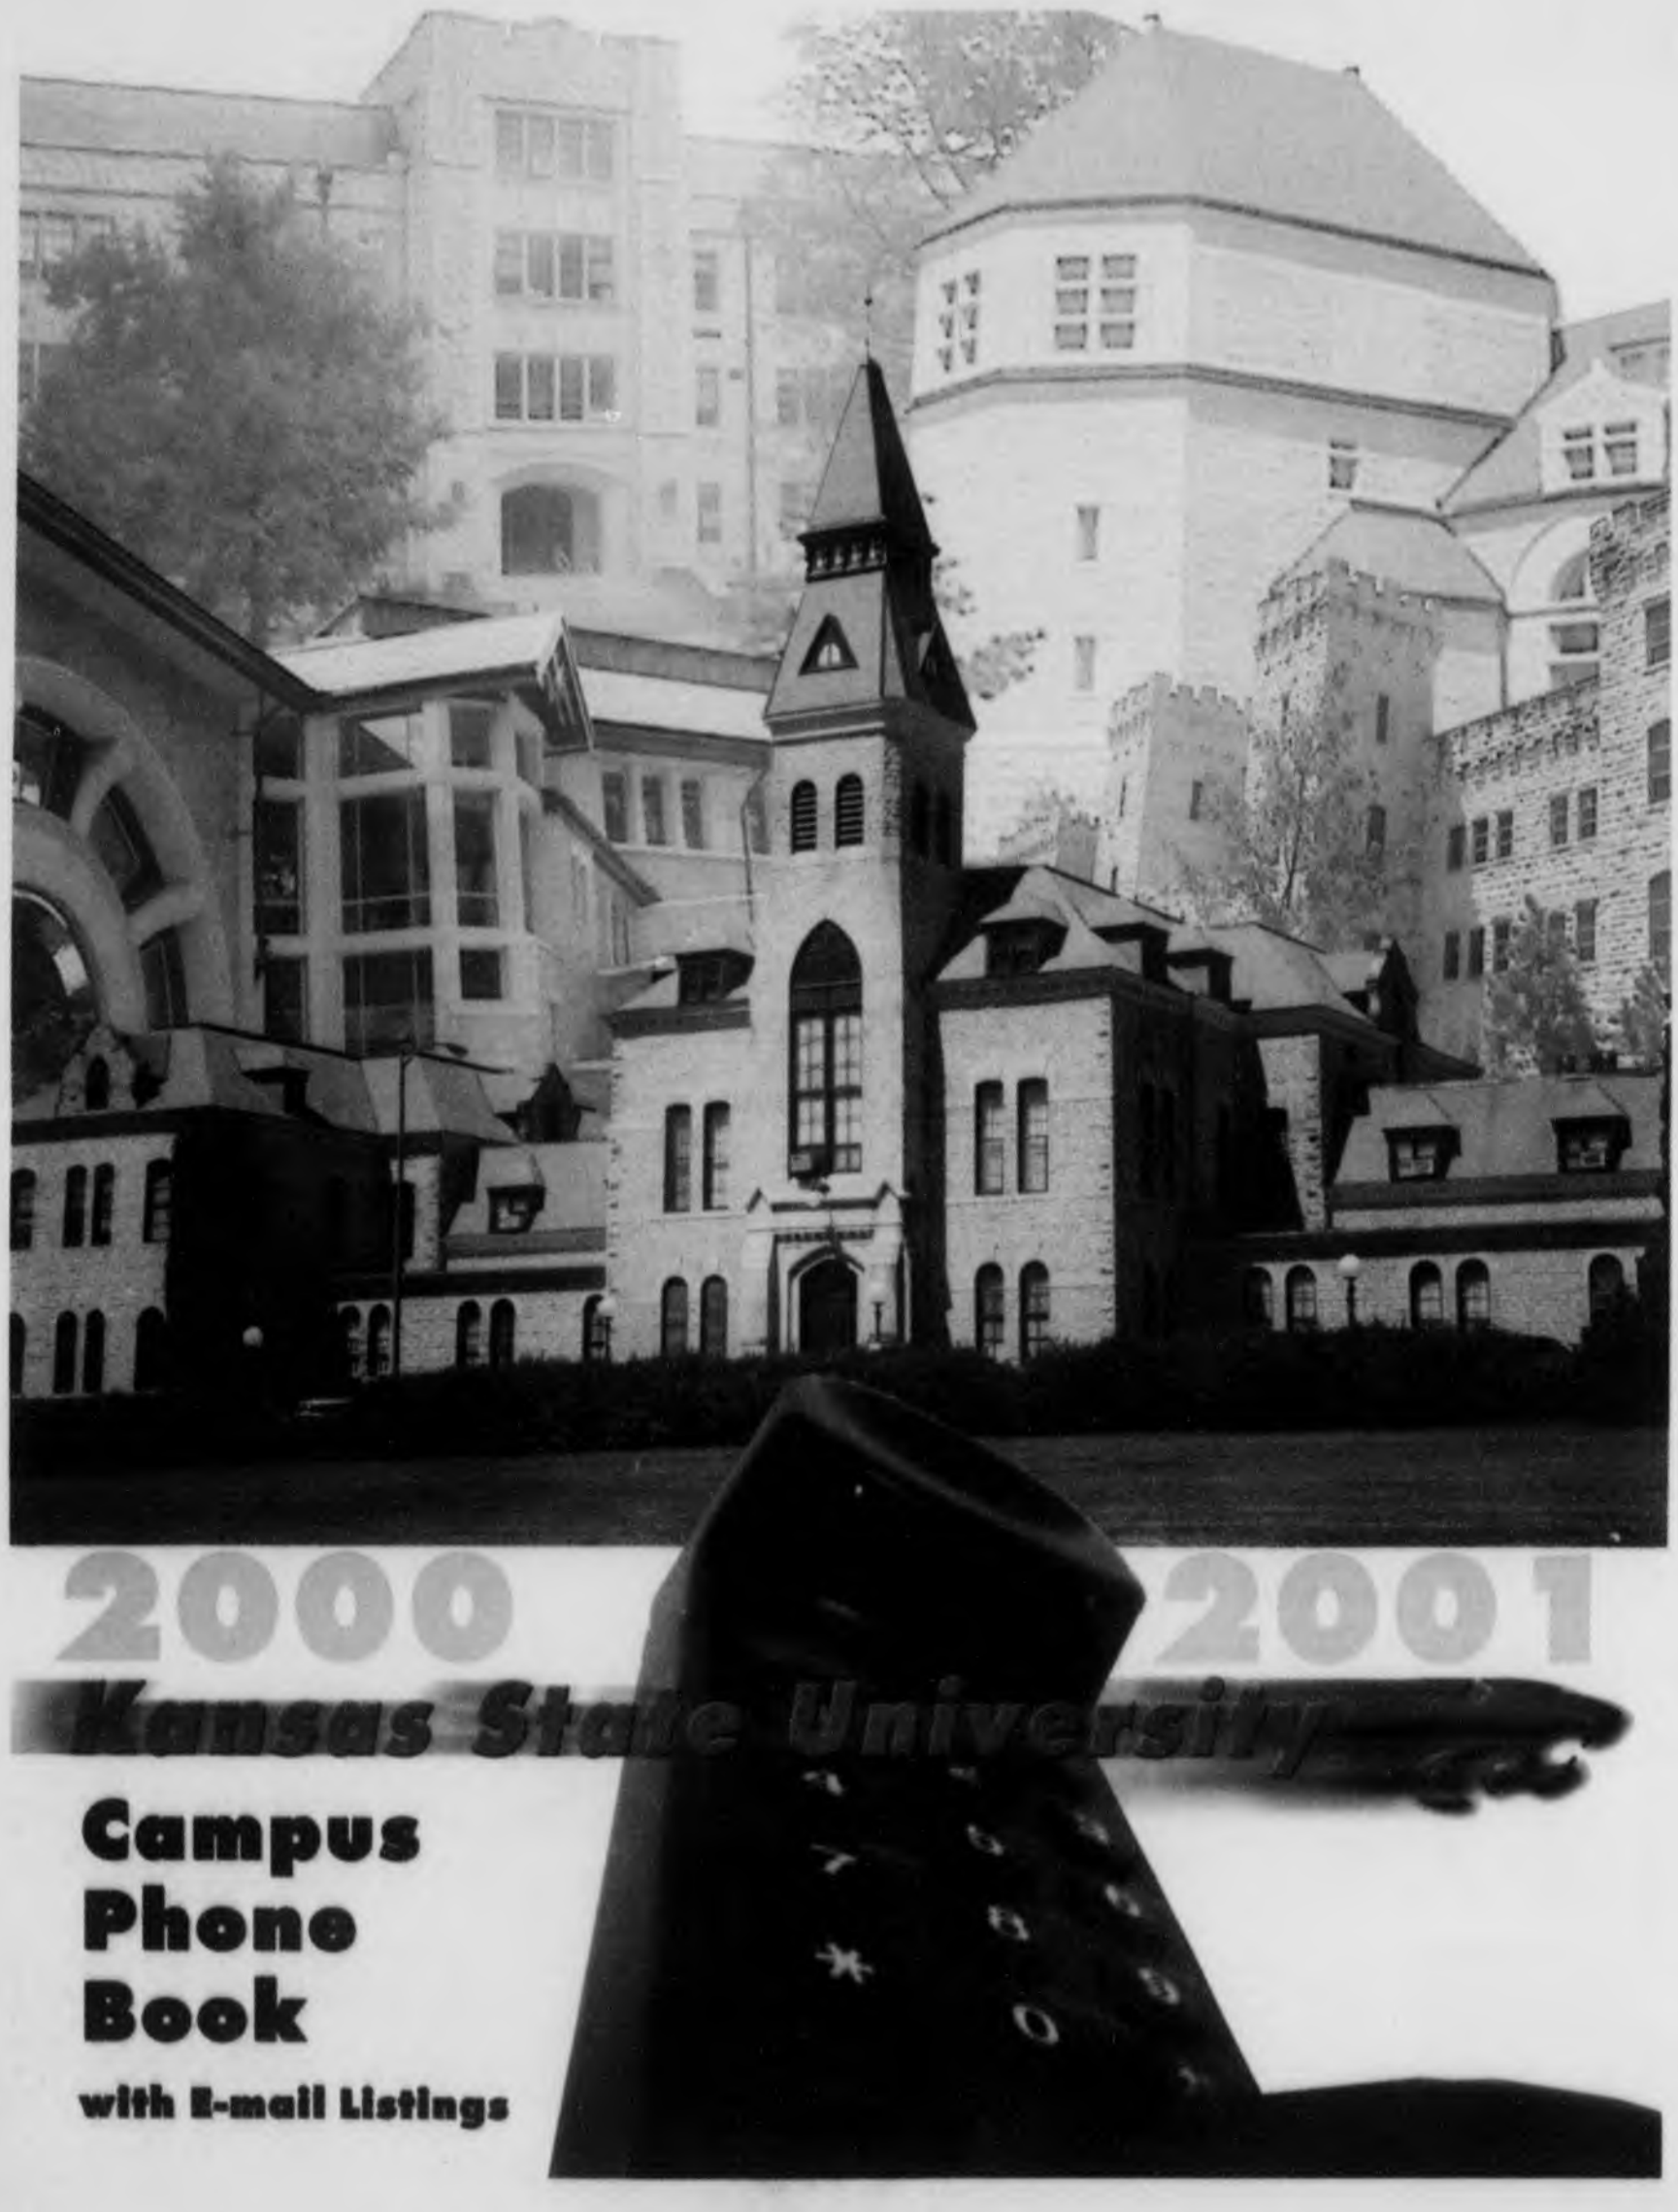
4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.90
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.90
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.



CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 bulletin board
100 housing/ real estate
200 service directory
300 employment/ opportunities
400 open market
500 transportation
600 travel/ trips

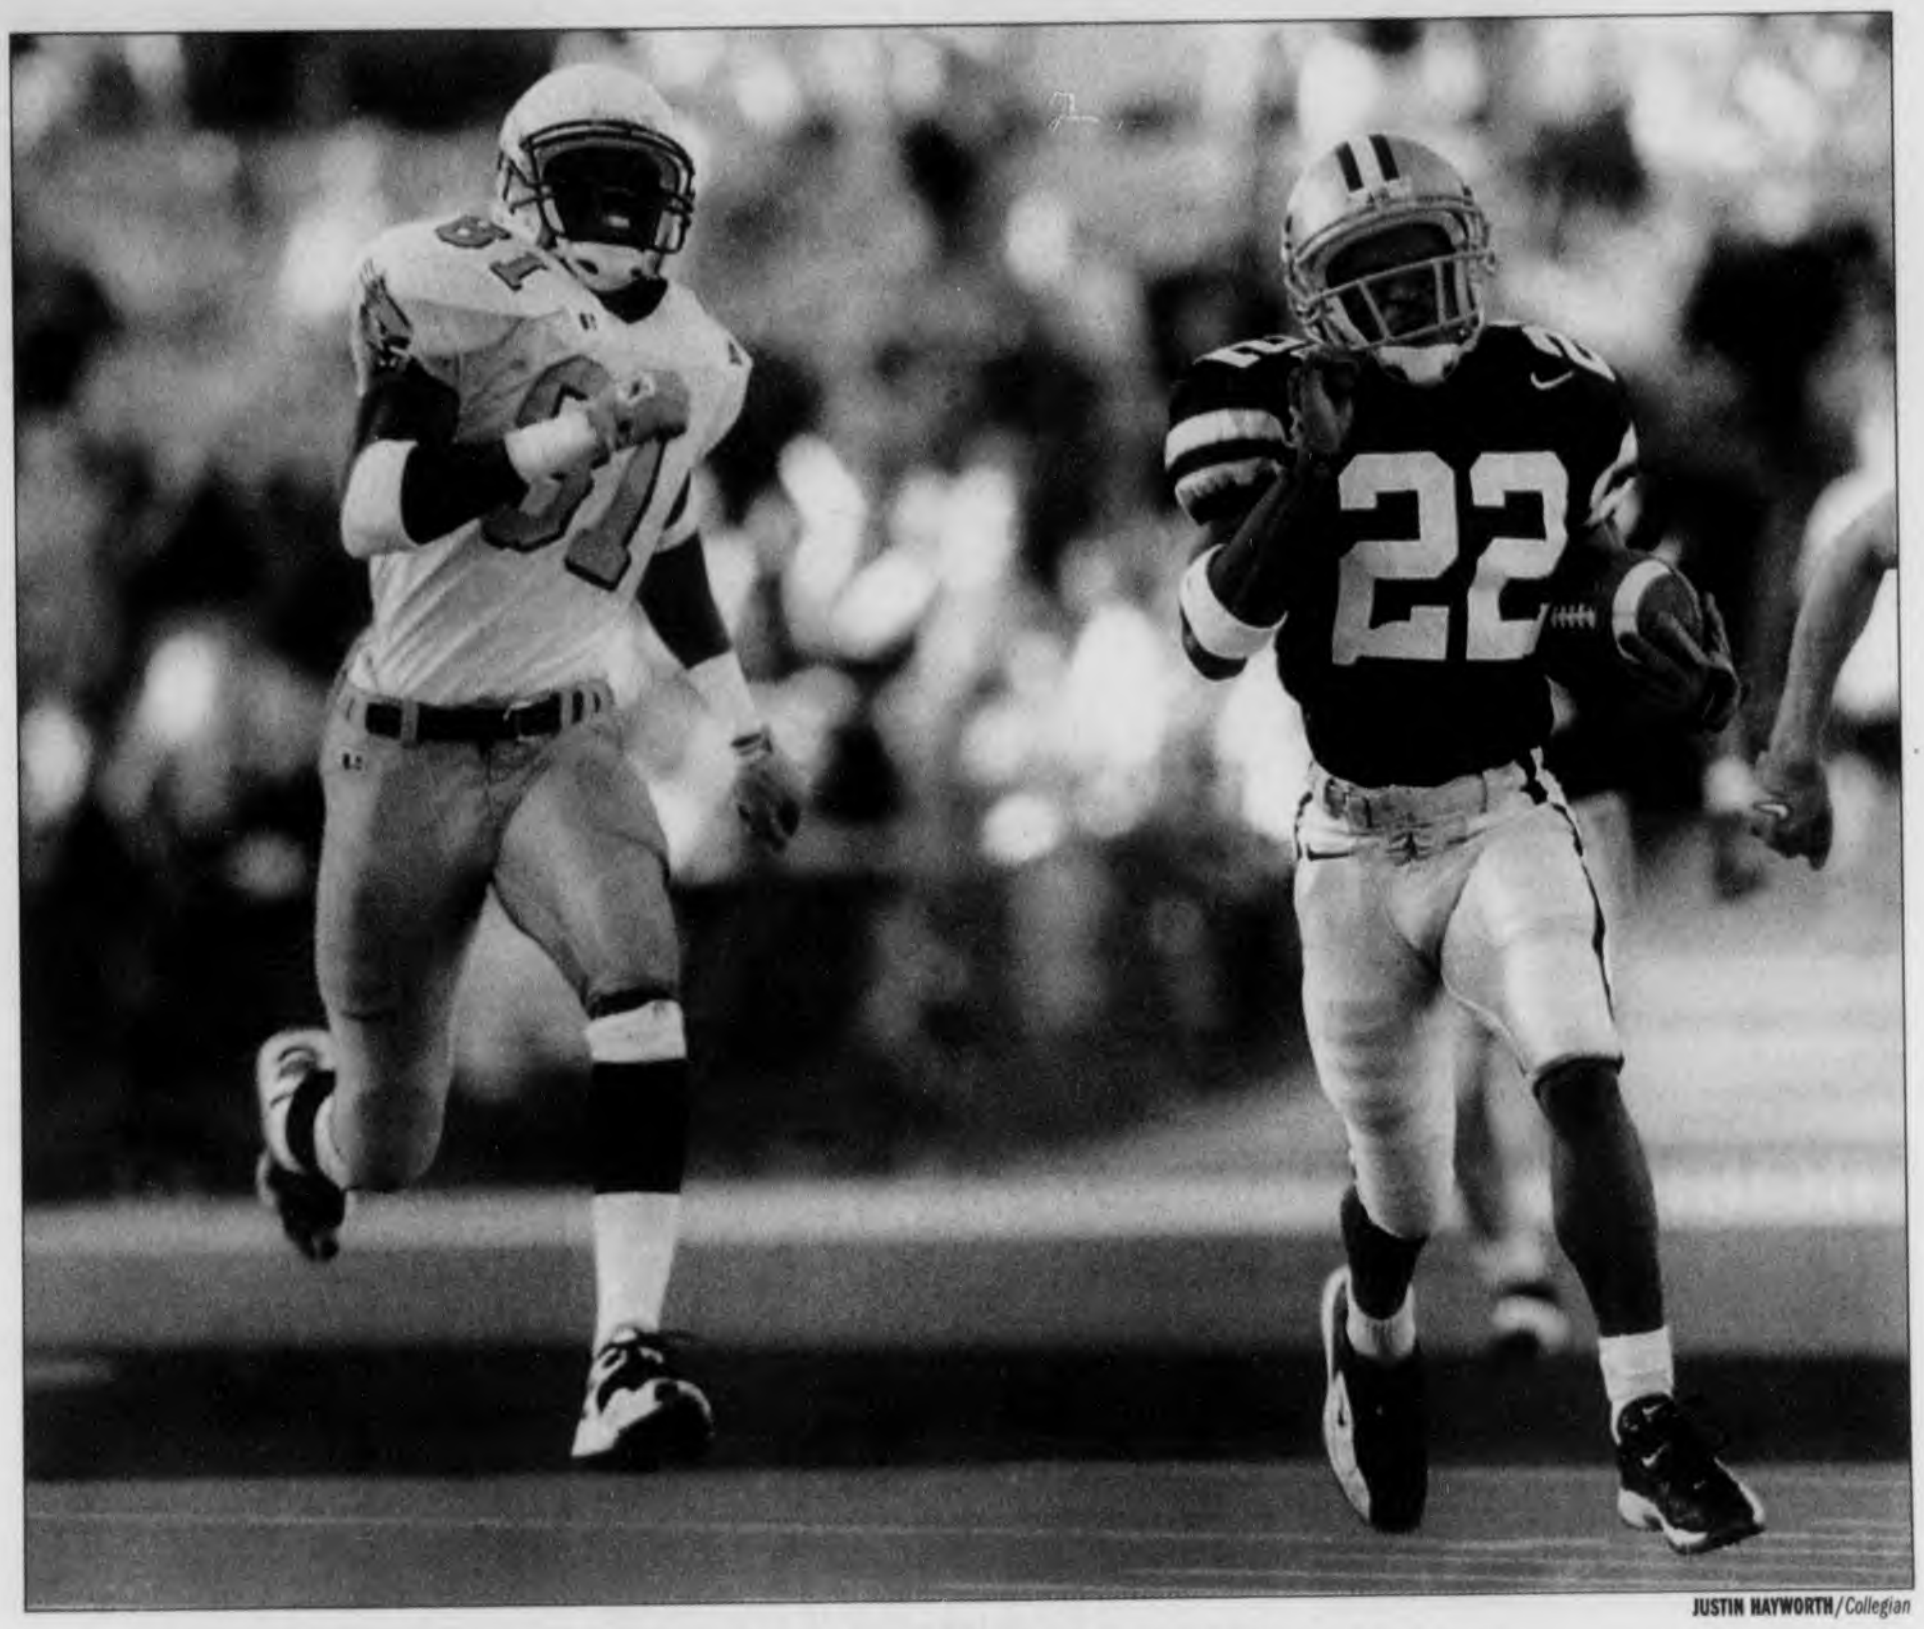
DID YOU GET YOUR K-STATE PHONE BOOK?

2000 2001

Kansas State University

Campus Phone Book

with E-mail Listings



Get yours today on sale in the Union.

Copies also available in Kedzie 103.

GAME 3
NORTH TEXAS
1:10 P.M., SEPTEMBER 23

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
GAMEDAY

SEPTEMBER 22, 2000

JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

Aaron Lockett breaks away from Ball State's Corey Parchman on his way to the end zone with a 83-yard punt return for a touchdown in the first quarter.

waiting for the return

David Allen's absence nearing its end doesn't bother Aaron Lockett; he just keeps going, and going ...

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

When David Allen went down with an ankle injury in K-State's season opener against Iowa, the ability of the punt return team to rebound was questioned.

Now, four weeks later and with two punt returns for touchdowns courtesy of Aaron Lockett, head coach Bill Snyder might have a punt-returning controversy on his hands.

Or maybe not.

"We've been pretty good about not allowing controversy to exist, except scheduling," Snyder said.

He said Allen would indeed regain his special team position once he was healthy, which is expected to be no sooner than the Sept. 30 matchup with Colorado.

Even Lockett, the man with the position at stake, said although he has enjoyed his time racing for touchdowns in Allen's stead, he would willingly step aside once Allen could take over.

"I'll fight him for it, but I'm going to just keep doing what Coach Snyder's going to let me do," Lockett said. "I appreciate him giving me the opportunity to do it."

One shouldn't think that the wide-out wouldn't jump at the chance to stay on the special team, however, Lockett said.

"David's done an excellent job the last couple of years, and if David comes back and takes his job, that is his job to do," he said. "But I think Coach Snyder knows that if he ever needs somebody else back there or if David's tired, or any situation, I'm always willing to help him out if he needs a helping hand."

To lend that helping hand, though, Lockett must demonstrate the proper mentality of a premier return man.

"You have to be somewhat fearless," Snyder said. "You have to have that tremendous ability to focus because there's a lot of things going on around you — some of them could hurt you. And I think you have a confidence that is maybe greater than what capabilities truly exist."

The question is whether Lockett displays those aspects. Ball State must have thought so because the Cardinals punted the ball out of bounds on numerous occasions to avoid the possibility of a second punt returned for a touchdown, an action Lockett said he considers an honor.

"I take it as a compliment," he said. "I've seen them do it to David the last couple of years, and for them to even consider kicking it out of bounds to me is a definite confidence booster."

Even if opposing teams are giving

See LOCKETT on PAGE 4

North Texas anticipated to show strong defense

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

According to head coach Bill Snyder, Saturday's 1:10 p.m. matchup with North Texas will be far from a repeat of Ball State.

"I don't think there's very much of a risk that that'll happen," Snyder said. "We've got to play well enough to make sure that we hold up our end of the bargain. I think they've proven that if you don't execute what you do, they can be in the ball game. They're a better football team than Ball State by a considerable margin."

So instead of another 76-point game this Saturday at KSU Stadium, Snyder said the No. 4 Cats (3-0) will be facing a North Texas football team that has in the past proven to play close as the underdog.

"It's just a team and a program that's always been kind of an upset type of football team," Snyder said.

In fact, the Mean Green (0-3) upset Texas Tech in Lubbock in both 1997 and 1999 with the Red Raiders picked as 30-plus point favorites. UNT nearly pulled off a win against heavily favored Tech again this season, falling 13-7.

INSIDE
Get an updated injury report.
Page 3

In turn, senior quarterback Jonathan Beasley said the Cats will have to bring their best game to the table this weekend.

"You know they're going to be tough," he said, "It's just a matter of going out and executing."

That offensive execution will be pitted against a fine North Texas defensive unit, Snyder said.

"I was impressed with the way they defended Texas Tech and that offense," he said. "They are an aggressive-defensive football team that plays extremely hard. They were a little undersized, but

See GAME on PAGE 3

Junior takes field in Cooper's absence

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

The philosophy of being ready in a moment's notice might be ingrained into every Wildcat football player's mind, but none should know it better than junior strong safety Milton Proctor.

Although No. 14 might not be the premier player on the Wildcat defensive unit, an Aug. 31 injury instantly brought his figure to the forefront.

"Everybody has to prepare for a game like they're going to be the starter, because you never know what's going to happen," Proctor said.

That was precisely the case in the season opener against Iowa, when senior Jarrod Cooper left the game with a strained pectoral muscle in the third quarter.

From that point on, defensive coordinator Phil Bennett has looked to Proctor to fill the role of the starting strong safety, a role Proctor said he's comfortable with, thanks to Cooper's guidance.

"Coop's been teaching me since I got here and since I stepped on the field in August," Proctor said. "Coop's always been there helping me every day, getting me

See PROCTOR on PAGE 2

STEVEN DEARINGER/Collegian

K-State strong safety Milton Proctor chases down a play in the Ball State game Saturday at KSU Stadium.

Tight end adds talent to team

By DAN SMITH
Kansas State Collegian

Shad Meier's 2000 season already has been a productive one.

During K-State's 54-10 win over Louisiana Tech on Sept. 2, Meier set a career high for three receptions in a game.

In past years, K-State has been able to use the tight end as a receiving threat because more teams were willing to play a zone defense against the Wildcats, offensive coordinator Ron Hudson said, with part of that philosophy revolving around Michael Bishop's ability to run the football.

However, Hudson said K-State's offense in 2000 has evolved into a more stable unit that invites the defense to blitz quarterback Jonathan Beasley, requiring Meier's blocking ability more than his receiving skills.

The 6-foot-4-inch, 250-pound senior tight end from Pittsburg, Kan., doesn't complain, though, and even likes the attention to go elsewhere.

"I don't like to be in the limelight," Meier said, and to this point in the season he hasn't been. But things might change when the Wildcats begin play in the Big 12 Conference, Hudson said.

"We'd like to get the ball to him more," Hudson said, "and I think you will see the ball thrown more to Shad later this season."

Last season, Meier's most productive outing might be an indication of the rest of the 2000 campaign if Hudson's prediction proves true. Meier caught a pass in each of K-State's last six games, and ended the season with eight catches for 105 yards.

STEVEN DEARINGER/Collegian

K-State tight end Shad Meier tries to jump over Louisiana Tech free safety Michael John Lenard after catching a pass Sept. 2 at KSU Stadium.

Quarterback Jonathan Beasley said the Cat tight end has the ability to be a good receiver and attributes that ability to Meier's hard work during practice.

"If he went to another school, he would probably have 40-50 catches a year," Beasley said. "When he's out there in practice, he works so hard. We'll throw him the ball and he'll run all the way down the field and come back to huddle and not even be winded."

Beasley said Meier is a silent leader, as he lets his hard work and determination during practice set precedents for some of the younger players on the team.

"He's a quiet guy, Shad's one of those guys that goes out there and leads by example," Beasley said. "His work ethic helps guys to know that if Shad can do it, so can we."

Senior center Randall Cummins also notices Meier's contributions to the team as a leader.

"When he's in there blocking, we have three seniors on the line, and it helps the younger guys a lot," Cummins said.

But inside, Meier is driven by something other than leadership and championships. He's appeared in K-State's past three bowl games, so what makes him want to play every day is something more than the hype.

"What makes me a strong football player is my drive. I don't want to quit," Meier said. "I don't want to fail."

PROCTOR

■ continued from page 1

ready for the things I have to do on Saturdays."

Those Saturdays as a starter began with the Cats' Sept. 2 meeting with Louisiana Tech, a primarily pass-oriented ball club.

Fellow defensive back junior DeMarcus Faggins said he felt Proctor assumed his new role well against the Bulldogs.

The 6-foot, 200-pound Proctor caused and recovered a Louisiana Tech fumble near midfield at the 12:51 mark in the second quarter, setting up a 29-yard field goal by Jamie Rheem to extend K-State's lead to 20-3.

"I think he did pretty good," Faggins said. "He probably was not used to starting in a big game against a passing offense, but I think he did a good job."

Following the Bulldog win, head coach Bill Snyder said it should be no surprise that Proctor secured himself the starting strong safety spot until Cooper's return.

"He's been our No. 2 strong safety," Snyder said, "and he will be there when we've got four DBs on the field."

Proctor's Louisiana Tech performance carried over into last weekend's contest with Ball State, as he again made a big play for the K-State defensive unit, even with the Cats already in full control of the contest.

The defensive back intercepted Cardinal quarterback Brian Conn's pass at the Ball State 19-yard line, setting up Josh Scobey's two-yard touchdown run to put K-State up 55-0.

Snyder said he's been pleased with Proctor's defensive play.

"Milton has a real keen focus," Snyder said. "He's a real effort player and can do a lot of different things. We've used him in a variety of different scenarios, and he's been a pretty decent tackler for us."

Yet, despite Snyder's positive sentiments, Proctor said the d-backs continue to miss Cooper's presence on the field, although the team captain could make his return this Saturday against North Texas.

"He's going to be out there teaching, running things — he's like the captain of the secondary," Proctor said. "We're just missing Coop.

"I wasn't smiling as much as I usually do out there," Proctor said after the Louisiana Tech game. "I was just thinking about my job more. Coop's usually coming up to me, telling me a joke, making me laugh, getting the pressure off me a little bit."

However, Faggins said Proctor has managed those pressure situations well thus far in striving to be a leader of his own in the Cat secondary unit.

"I believe he's a leader by example," Faggins said. "He doesn't really say too much, but he knows what he's doing, so he just goes out there, plays and shows us with his actions."

To Proctor, those actions build feelings of both modesty and hope.

"I try to do what I can, try to make plays," he said. "I hope this is my coming out year."

OTHER BIG 12 ACTION

Rice at Oklahoma, 11:30 a.m.
Iowa at Nebraska, 2:30 p.m.
South Florida at Baylor, 6 p.m.
Southern Illinois at Kansas, 6 p.m.
Houston at Texas, 6 p.m.
So. Mississippi at Oklahoma State, 7 p.m.

BOBBY T'S
#1 Neighborhood Sports Bar in Manhattan
• Friday & Saturday Live Entertainment 9-1
• Saturday Game Day Headquarters
$2 TGIF Munchie Buffet
All you can eat 4:30-7
• Sundays
All Star DJ 9-1
1/2 Price Drinks
3240 Kimball • 537-8383

Wohler's
USED FURNITURE
Furniture, Antiques, Appliances, Miscellaneous
Visit Wohler's for all your furnishing needs!
Hours of operation:
Monday-Friday 10a.m.-6p.m.
Saturday 10 a.m.-5p.m.
Sunday 1p.m.-5p.m.
539-3119
615 N. 3rd

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR
Repair Work On Shoes, Boots,
Luggage, Backpacks, Purses
And Leather Coats
Leather Craft Supplies
We Dye Satin Shoes
776-1193
216 South Fourth St.
VFW Plaza
EXPIRES 11-30-00
10% DISCOUNT ON ANY PURCHASE WITH COUPON

LARGE PEPPERONI $7.99
MAX IT! only $2 more 33% PIZZA
DINE IN • CARRY OUT • DELIVERED
'BREADEAUX' PIZZA
ORIGINAL FRENCH CRUST
3033 Anderson Ave.
537-5080

Westside Location
1120 Waters St.
Behind Westloop Auto Supply
Precision Automotive Inc.
537-5050
Go Cats!
Complete Car & Truck Service
& Repair Center
Domestic & Imported
Sun Diagnostic Computer
Mon.-Fri. 7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

Hardee's
3116 W. Anderson Ave.
537-0355
-We Deliver
- 59¢ Big Burger
- 89¢ w/ Cheese
- limited time offer
- Quarter lb. burger w/ ketchup, mustard, pickle, onion.

New in September
ADOLPH'S NAIL PARLOUR
Hair Care, Waxing & Facials
$5 off any service
* over $20
Expires 9-30-00
314-D Tuttle Creek Plaza
537-6016
Moving to Suite G
Credit Cards Accepted

GET A JUMP ON THE SUN!
2fer special
One-month unlimited tanning for two $45
Monthly specials & packages designed especially for you!
SOUTHERN SUN
Candlewood Shopping Center
3232 Kimball • 776-8060

InterKan.Net
Affordable, Reliable
Dial-Up Internet Access
Prepay thru May & Save 15%!
Monthly Rates:
Unlimited Hours - $18.95
100 Hours - $12.50
30 Hours - $10.00
10 Hours - $7.50
1106 R Laramie
565-0991
www.interkan.net
Not valid with other offers.

WESTLOOP COIN LAUNDRY & CAR WASH
Largest in Manhattan!
Dry Cleaning - Same Day Service
Drop off Laundry
Washing Machines - Full 30 minute cycle
Maximum HOT WATER
Dryers
Temperature set to save you money!
CUSTOMER APPRECIATION
Receive a FREE $1.00
car wash with every 3 loads of wash!!
1129 Gardenway 7 a.m.-10 p.m. Every Day!

1116 Moro St. Aggieville (Only a few blocks south of KSU)
HUNAM EXPRESS
Chinese Food Lover's Choice
20% Off
Lunch & Dinner Buffet
Offer good till 9/30/00
Free Delivery: 537-0886
Hours: Sun. - Thurs. 11 - Midnight; Fri. - Sat. 11 - 2 am

INJURY REPORT

■ David Allen — Snyder said Allen's ankle is doing better and he's getting closer. "Still the same thought, we're going to see if we can do it by the Colorado game," Snyder said. "He's been conditioning virtually the whole time, so that part of it won't be a factor."

■ Jarrod Cooper — Silencing any rumors that Cooper's pectoral muscle strain could keep him out for the remainder of the season, Snyder said the senior strong safety could potentially play this weekend against North Texas. "I'm not going to tell you that he is, though," he said, "and that decision hasn't been made yet and won't be made until Friday or Saturday."

■ Jamie Rheem — Snyder said the senior placekicker should be able to play against UNT after suffering muscle soreness. "I would to like to think that he will," Snyder said. "I want to make sure that he's totally healthy, the soreness is gone, and he's capable of practicing and doing it in comfort."

GAME

■ continued from page 1

they do some things to compensate for that."

The Mean Green defense is led by senior linebacker Fred Pertile, who has compiled 132 career tackles and has made 30 straight starts, along with freshman free safety Craig Jones, who leads the team in tackles this season with 29.

Offensively, the Mean Green running game is headed by junior Ja'Quay Wilburn, UNT's all-time leading rusher with 2,467 yards despite only compiling 102 yards through three contests in 2000.

True freshman Scott Hall will get career start No. 2 against the Wildcats at quarterback. Through three games, he has completed 53 percent of his passes and has a quarterback efficiency rating of 109.09, the fifth best in the Big West Conference.

Hall led the UNT offense to its lone scoring drive of the season against Baylor in the Aug. 31 season opener, a 20-7 loss.

However, junior linebacker Ben Leber said the K-State defense won't prepare any differently when facing a true freshman quarterback.

"We prepare like he's a salty senior, and that's the attitude that we have to take," Leber said. "I don't think anybody has it going through their head that this guy's going to make mistakes, and nobody's licking their chops to get at a true freshman, so we're just going to go out and prepare just like we always do."

That preparation includes the desire to post the defense's second consecutive shut-out.

"We're always excited no matter who we play," Leber said. "We feel as a defense we can shut out anybody, so we always have that fire. That's the confidence we have in our defense."

Defensive coordinator Phil Bennett, despite being a close friend of UNT head coach Darrell Dickey, said he has the same mentality as Leber for Saturday's ball game.

"We truly do strive to be a defense that doesn't give points up," he said. "Our goal every week is to try to do that, and hopefully, we can."

However, to meet that goal, Leber said K-State will have to control the Mean Green option package.

"They can come out in a wishbone type of offense and run the option, which we haven't seen at all this year," he said.

"So that's going to be a big challenge to us to see how we can play against it. It's going to be great preparation for us with Nebraska's and whoever else we play, so it's going to be a learning experience."

Dr.'s Bullock & Hart
Optometrists
$10 Off
Complete Eye Exam
with coupon
Save up to $20
on complete eyeglass or contact lens packages.
Most contact lens fittings done same day. • Glasses also available same day n most prescriptions.
We fill outside prescriptions
1441 Anderson Ave. • Anderson Village • 776-9461
Toll Free 1-800-432-0036 Adjacent to KSU Expires 9/30/00

Say No to Naked
Come check out our clothes
Krystallos
708 North Manhattan Ave.
Aggieville

Little Caesars FOOTBALL PARTY PACK!
• 3 PIZZAS 14" LARGE WITH 1 TOPPING
• CRAZY BREAD TWO 8 PIECE ORDERS
$19.99

Expires: 11/1/00
Valid only at participating locations. ©2000 L.C.E., Inc.
GO CATS!
Westloop Shopping Center
539-3333

GO CATS!
776-7788
517 N. 12th
Serving KSU and all of Manhattan
Medium One Topping Pizza
$5.99 plus tax
Make it a large for $2 more
No coupon necessary; no limit.
Please mention special when ordering.
Add $1.00 for Deep Dish.
Additional Toppings Extra
FREE DELIVERY
SUN-THUR 11 A.M.-MIDNIGHT
FRI & SAT 11 A.M.-1 A.M.
K-STATE WILDCAT CARDS
www.dominos.quickorder.com

Confetti's Party Shop (in Aggieville)
"BIG PRE-GAME SIDEWALK SALE SATURDAY!!!"
Will Deliver Cakes to Students • Care Packages • Balloons for Birthdays/Finals/or Any Occasion
N. Manhattan Ave. • Manhattan • We Accept
CALL 537-2002 OR 1-888-537-2002

Strecker-Nelson Gallery
Fine Art and Conservation Framing
New James Munce Etching

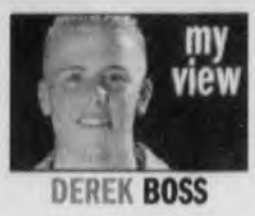
Bob's House with Pastoral Accoutrements
Available framed and unframed
upstairs at 332 Poyntz Avenue, Manhattan, Ks 66502
785-537-2099
www.strecker-nelsongallery.com

THE Palace Cards & Gifts
YANKEE® CANDLES
FAMOUS FOR FRAGRANCE™

New!
Aloe Vera
Chocolate Truffle
Fireside
Gingerbread
"Car Jar"
Auto Air Freshners
704 N. Manhattan Ave. • In Aggieville • 539-7654
Mon.-Fri. 8:30-8:30 • Sat. 8:30-5:30 • Sun. 12:00-5:00

Oktoberfest
Sept. 22- Oct. 7
NESPOR'S WINE & SPIRITS SINCE 1966
Celebrate with the best German beer selection in town.
All German beer on sale.

Nespor's Wine and Spirits
1338 Westloop



Varney's Book Store in Aggieville
"We Give You Our Best"
THE K-STATE PLACE
IN THE MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER
K-STATE TOUCHDOWNS SCORE BIG SAVINGS FOR YOU!
FOR EVERY TOUCHDOWN THE CATS SCORE AGAINST NORTH TEXAS ON SATURDAY, VARNEY'S BOOK STORE & VARNEY'S K-STATE PLACE WILL TAKE 5% OFF THE PRICE OF K-STATE APPAREL AND SOUVENIRS MONDAY ONLY, UP TO 30% OFF!
Hours:
9:00 a.m. - 9:00 p.m. Mon. - Sat.
10:00 a.m. - 7:00 p.m. Game Days
Limited to regular priced in stock merchandise.
Purchases must be made in the store.
Not applicable with other coupons and/or discounts.

VARNEY'S BOOKSTORE
623 N. MANHATTAN AVE.
539-0511
K-STATERS SERVING K-STATE
VARNEY'S
K-STATE PLACE
MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER

Now at 2 Locations
Rose MUFFLER HOUSE
"Our business is exhausting"
Mon.-Fri. 7:30a.m.-5:30p.m.
MUFFLERS & TAILPIPES
DUAL SYSTEMS
AUTOS (American & Foreign)
RVs LIGHT & HEAVY DUTY TRUCKS
CUSTOM PIPE BENDING
COMPLETE BRAKE SERVICE FOR AMERICAN, FOREIGN, & LIGHT TRUCKS
SHOCK ABSORBERS & STRUTS
2329 Sky-Vue Ln.
776-8955 or 1-800-439-8956
Rose HOUSE OF TINT
"A Division of Rose Muffler House"
GLASS TINTING SERVICES AVAILABLE FOR YOUR AUTO, HOME OR BUSINESS
DRAWTITE
TRAILER HITCHES - SALES & INSTALLATION
2049 Ft Riley Blvd
537-4247 or 1-888-537-4229
Take advantage of our courtesy van for rides to school and home while your vehicle is being serviced.
Both Locations!
FREE ESTIMATES

Friday Specials
$1.00 draws
$2.00 wells
Tuesday - $2.00 pitchers
Dance Night
Wednesday - Meet Ron Capps
$1.00 domestic bottles
"Copenhagen Funny Car Driver"
Thursday $1.00 off everything
no cover 21+
Meet the Jagarettes
Friday, Sept. 29th
LONGHORNS

Snyder, team face many ironies against North Texas

DEREK BOSS

I don't know if I can take much more.

If last weekend's 76-0 shellacking of Ball State is any indication of Saturday's turnout against North Texas, I might as well not show up.

It's sad to say, but true.

I'm willing to forgo my air-conditioned seat in the press box on the 50-yard line, give up my VIP parking pass, abstain from the appetizing pre-game meal, and yes, even sacrifice the chocolate-chip soy cookies they serve at halftime.

Yes, my friends, there's going to be an evil shadow hovering over KSU Stadium this weekend when the Wildcats rout the Mean Green. (I'll pause for a few seconds while you let that sink in.)

Indeed, the Mean Green are coming to Manhattan.

North Texas has to be in the running for the most baffling team mascot in the country. It's right up there with the Green Wave, the Zips and the Horned Frogs.

However, regardless of its name, UNT will prove no match for K-State this weekend. But then again, why should it?

Let's take a step back and look at the big picture for a moment. The Cats are the No. 4 team in the nation, coming off school records for most points in a game and most touchdowns in a game against Ball State.

Meanwhile, the Mean Green are 0-3 and are fresh off a 38-0 loss at the hands of UNLV. They finished 1999 with a 2-9 overall record, including 1-5 at 7th in the Big West Conference.

Now, although the physical elements of Saturday's contest might all point toward a Wildcat blowout, there are a few interesting items to note that bring a little flavor to the K-State-UNT ball game.

First, in its last meeting against North Texas, K-State came out victorious, 20-17. What was so important on Sept. 30,1989, you might ask?

With quarterback Carl Straw's 12-yard touchdown pass to Frank Hernandez on the final play of the game, the first building block of a foundation was laid at K-State.

It was Bill Snyder's first win as Wildcat head coach.

Not to mention it was one of the only wins for several seniors, snapping a 30-game losing streak for the Cats.

"I think it meant a lot to the players because they had never won a ball game before," Snyder said, "so this was something unique to them. So it was really important to them, and it was exciting for them as well.

"And you go back and think of some of those players that were in the program at that time. They understand — and I want them to understand — they were the foundation, many of the building blocks for Kansas State's football program. And they recall that. That was probably the highlight of many of their careers."

But that's only the first bit of irony conveyed in the K-State-UNT game this Saturday.

Check this out. North Texas head coach Darrell Dickey was a former quarterback for K-State (1979-82) under his father, Jim, leading the Wildcats to their first bowl appearance, the Independence Bowl, in 1982.

Dickey is the only K-Stater to lead his team in both total offense and passing yards in four consecutive seasons. He still ranks fifth in career passing yards with 4,098, a mark Cat quarterback Jonathan Beasley is chasing, as Beasley sits in eighth place with 2,635 career yards.

"I don't like to pay attention to the stats too much. I just go out there and play my game," Beasley said. "But he's probably looking at me like, 'Oh, man, we've got to stop this guy, he might be hurting my record.' So it might be more incentive for him to stop me."

Another bit of irony lies in the fact that Snyder was a former coach at North Texas (1976-78) under Hayden Fry. Unfortunately for them, when Fry left the program after the 1978 campaign, Snyder went with him to Iowa.

Nevertheless, you can guarantee come Saturday, those ironies will be all for naught. The Wildcats will take care of business, even if I'm not in press row.

Derek is a sophomore in print and electronic journalism. You can e-mail him at dboss@collegianmail.com.

ONLINE
Be sure to check the Collegian staff picks at www.kstatecollegian.com

LOCKETT

■ continued from page 1

Lockett the same respect as his predecessor, he said he doesn't consider himself in Allen's league.

"Not yet. I've made some good plays," Lockett said, "but then again, I know there's going to be times the ball may be short, and I need to catch it for field position. Once I understand how to do that, then maybe I can start to consider myself a decent punt returner."

Decent punt returner or not, the people whom Snyder said fans really should applaud are the 10 other players creating the lanes for Lockett to run through.

"It truly does take 11 guys to make that thing work, taking nothing away from David," Snyder said. "He's a tremendous talent, Aaron's a tremendous talent, but there's 10 other pretty good talents out there as well that work extremely hard, take great pride in it and put in a great deal of effort."

Brice Libel, one of those 10 players, said he agreed that the punt return team as a whole deserves the recognition.

"I think that the fact that we have Aaron back there, and he's doing it, kind of adds to the non-modesty," Libel said. "I think it says a lot that we can continue to do it, whether it's David or not.

"Obviously, David and Aaron are great punt returners, but it says a lot about the other 10 guys on that squad, that they're going to get the job done no matter who's back there."

Preventing the Cats from getting the job done could become even trickier in the future if Lockett continues to improve. Snyder could put both pair him with Allen to return punts, Lockett said.

"I wouldn't be surprised if that happened," he said. "You never know with Coach Snyder."

GO K-STATE!
GO K-STATE!
GO K-STATE!
10% Off All "Purple" Items
Adult Funnybone
OPEN
TUES. - SAT.
12 pm - 7 pm
2708 Anderson Ave.
587-oxxx

AGGIEVILLE PIZZA HUT SPECIALS
This Coupon Good For ANY 2 MEDIUM PIZZAS ONLY $14.99 plus tax
GOOD ONLY AT AGGIEVILLE 1121 Moro 539-7666
• Not good with any other special offer • 1/20¢ cash redemption value • (c) Pizza Hut of Manhattan, Inc. 1998
EXPIRES JUNE 30, 2001
FREE ORDER OF WINGS OR CHEESE BREADSTIX WITH PURCHASE OF LARGE SPECIALTY PIZZA
Order a Medium Specialty and get Wings or Chez Sticks at 1/2 price
GOOD ONLY AT AGGIEVILLE 1121 Moro 539-7666
• Limit 1 discount per coupon• Not good with any other special offer or on the Big New Yorker Pizza • 1/20¢ cash redemption value. • (c) Pizza Hut of Manhattan, Inc. 1998
EXPIRES JUNE 30, 2001
This Coupon Good For LARGE PIZZA FOR A MEDIUM CHARGE
GOOD ONLY AT AGGIEVILLE 1121 Moro 539-7666
• Limit 1 discount per coupon• Not good with any other special offer or on the Big New Yorker Pizza • 1/20¢ cash redemption value. • (c) Pizza Hut of Manhattan, Inc. 1998
EXPIRES JUNE 30, 2001
This Coupon Good For PANWICH SANDWICH FOR 1/2 PRICE
When you order a Panwich Sandwich choose from: Smoked Turkey - Supreme - Ham 'N Cheese
GOOD ONLY AT AGGIEVILLE 1121 Moro 539-7666
• Limit 2 Half Price Sandwiches per coupon • Not good with any other special offer • 1/20¢ cash redemption value • (c) Pizza Hut of Manhattan, Inc. 1998
EXPIRES JUNE 30, 2001
This Coupon Good For $3.00 OFF ANY LARGE PIZZA or $2.00 OFF any Medium or Small Pizza
GOOD ONLY AT AGGIEVILLE 1121 Moro 539-7666
• Limit 1 discount per coupon• Not good with any other special offer or on the Big New Yorker Pizza • 1/20¢ cash redemption value. • (c) Pizza Hut of Manhattan, Inc. 1998
EXPIRES JUNE 30, 2001
This Coupon Good For Any 2 SMALL PIZZAS FOR $10.99 plus tax
GOOD ONLY AT AGGIEVILLE 1121 Moro 539-7666
• Add $1.00 for Super Supreme or Wildcat • Not good with any other special offer • 1/20¢ cash redemption value • (c) Pizza Hut of Manhattan, Inc. 1998
EXPIRES JUNE 30, 2001
20% DISCOUNT ON ALL MENU PRICED DINE-IN/CARRYOUT ORDERS WHEN YOU SHOW YOUR KSU STUDENT I.D. OFFER GOOD UNTIL JUNE 30, 2000

Most K-State Students

drink moderately, if at all

61% of all K-State students have 0 to 5 drinks when they party.
1 drink = one bottle of beer, one glass of wine, one wine cooler, or one shot of liquor

Project WELLNESS
Kansas State University
www.ksu.edu/projectwellness

Based on a 1999 campus-wide survey of 1,297 KSU students that was representative of the K-State student population with regard to demographics such as age, GPA, college, class and gender.

Give us your opinion.
Campus Fourum: 395-4444

TODAY'S WEATHER
HIGH 67 ■ LOW 49
MONDAY

3

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sept. 25, 2000 ■ Kansas State University ■ Manhattan, Kan. ■ Volume 105, Number 25

Win brings errors, records

■ page 6

Policy enforced at Saturday's football game

Joung-Hyun Moon, sophomore in business, gets his student ID checked at Saturday's game by Marcela Oviedo, fifth-year senior in architecture. Students are now required to show student IDs for admittance.

MATT STAMEY/Collegian

By DAN SMITH
Kansas State Collegian

K-State's Department of Intercollegiate Athletics began enforcing a new student seating policy at KSU Stadium during Saturday's game against North Texas.

Responding to concerns that student seating at the stadium is being abused by non-student fans, the policy is an attempt to ensure that the stadium's student section will be used solely by students, K-State Sports Information said Tuesday.

Freshman Scott Roush is an usher at the student section entrance and estimated the section consists of 70 percent students and 30 percent non-students. He said he agreed with the athletic department's decision, and said something had to be done eventually.

"They have to do what they have to do," Roush said. "They sold a set number of tickets for the section, and they sold them for the students."

The department now reserves the right to deny admission to ticketholders wishing to sit in the student section without valid K-State student identification. But because many of the fans who sit in the northeast student section are not students, the policy has met criticism from fans.

Sophomore Barbie Moren said she doesn't believe the policy will work to bring unity in the section. Like many other students, Moren was forced into finding identification for friends or family members with tickets for Saturday's game in the student section.

"I don't think it's really doing anything," Moren said. "If they're letting anybody get in on a student ID, they're not getting students to sit together."

Moren was in the student section with

See SEATING on PAGE 8

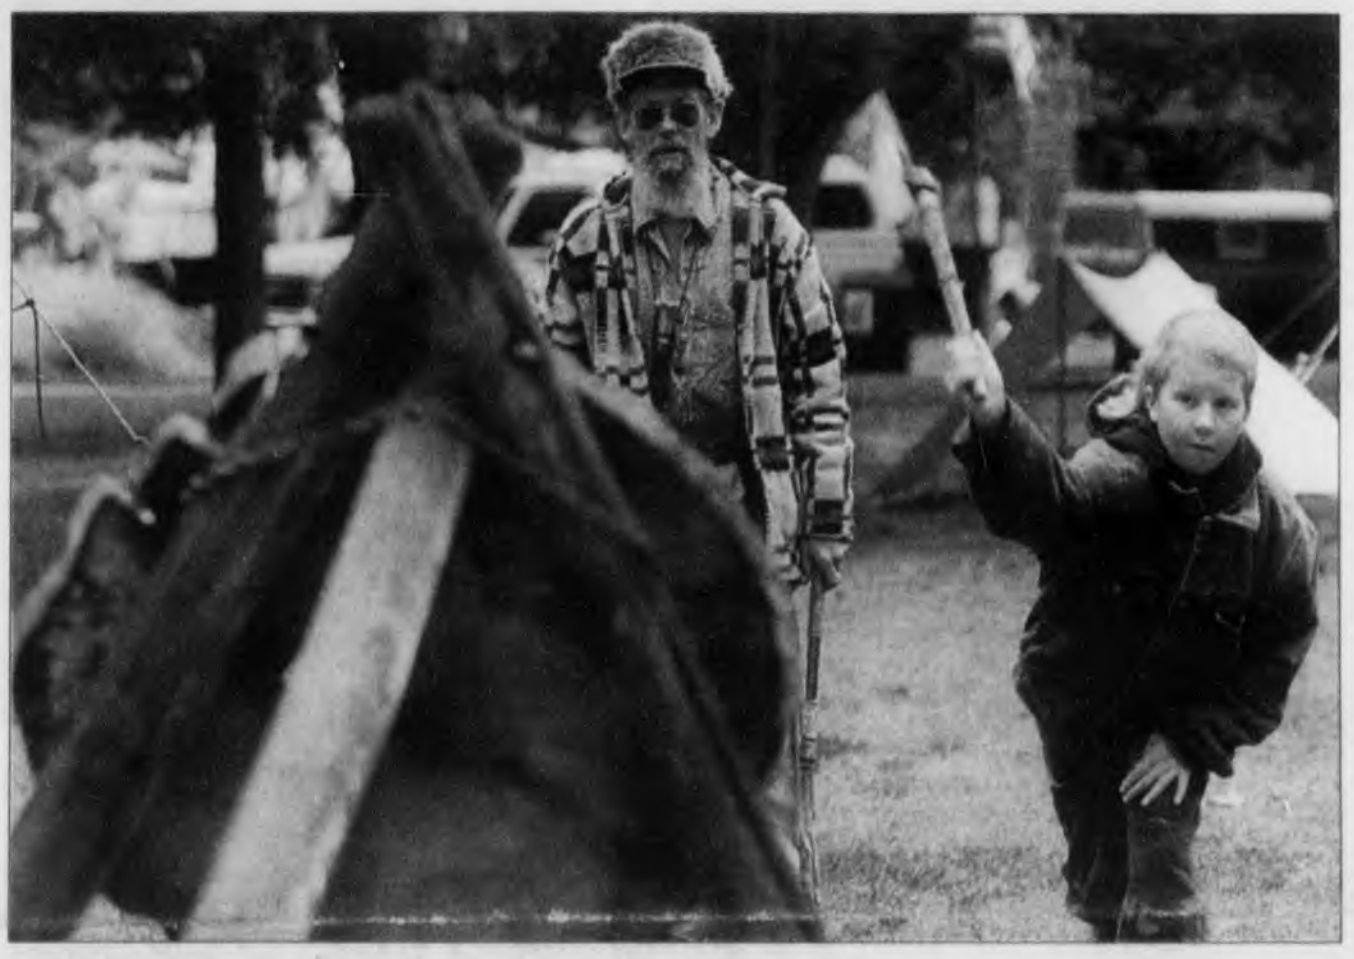
Committee starts vote campaign

By CHARLIE MORASCH
Kansas State Collegian

Only 48.8 percent of Americans ages 18 to 24 registered to vote in 1996, and only 32.4 percent actually voted, according to a 1996 government census.



To encourage college-aged voter participation, a Student Senate committee is working to maximize the number of K-State students who will vote in the 2000 election.

The Governmental Relations Committee has begun its voter-registration campaign, which will be followed by another campaign focused on voting.

"What we're doing is a voter-registration campaign now," Abby Hall, Learn-N-Serve Coordinator, said. "Then after people are registered to vote, we're going to do a vote campaign right before the election so they'll get out and vote."

Student Body President Jake Worcester said the committee has been working hard to help students let their voices be heard, and it will continue being available to help

See VOTE on PAGE 8

Mountain man Don Harris watches as 12-year-old Adam Morris throws an ax at a target. The ax-throwing display was part of the 1800s exhibit at the Little Apple Festival in City Park. Harris competes in black-powder shooting, tomahawk and knife throwing, and flint and steel fire-starting competitions.

MATT STAMEY/Collegian

Celebrating folk life

Annual Little Apple Festival features food, pioneer crafts

By TRAVIS HOCHARD
Kansas State Collegian

Doug Myers, Manhattan resident, tasted carrots from the brewing stew in his Dutch oven. Outfitted in leather moccasins, buckskin pants and a capote, a wool coat made from a blanket, Myers portrayed a French mountain man at the 25th Annual Little Apple Festival in City Park.

KELLY GLASSCOCK/Collegian

Nancy Pujol shops for crafts Saturday morning at the 25th annual Little Apple Festival in City Park.

"I've met a lot of good people here," Myers said. "I look forward to going every year."

The festival celebrated folk life, food and arts and crafts Saturday and Sunday.

More than 80 arts and crafts vendors offered attractions. Wood, jewelry, basketry, clothing, glass carving and metal sculptures were among the items available for sale.

Also available at the festival was a wide variety of food. Greek gyros, German bratwurst, buffalo burgers and smothered burritos were just a few of the many dishes offered. Live jazz, country, folk and rock bands were also some of the main features.

Don Harris, a Westmoreland, Kan., resident, built a wooden icebox while participating in the folk-life exhibit. He and most of the other participants camped out all weekend. Harris also operated the axe-throwing exhibit and sold handcrafted clothing, tables, cook boxes, iceboxes and other crafts.

"I think I was born 100 years too late," Harris said. "It's kind of a family hobby."

His son, Joe Harris, has been participating in the exhibit for ten years now. He is a blacksmith and made various crafts such as steel grills, gun racks and knives.

Although the cold and rain might have kept some people from attending the festival, there was a steady crowd throughout the weekend.

"I think most people were ready for a break from the heat, anyway," Myers said.

Don Harris said he prefers the cold weather. He starts going to gatherings of folk-life re-enactors, called "rendezvous," the second week in February. He participates twice a month throughout the summer and into fall.

"My wife doesn't mind, it's just something that I do," Harris said. "Just like going shopping in Kansas City is something she does."

Most of the re-enactors attend rendezvous regularly, which usually consist of a dance, beadwork, cloth-making and various contests such as axe throwing, riflery and bow and arrow. Hundreds of people participate in rendezvous by portraying various folk-life characters from the 1800s.

Manhattan resident Reginald B. Murray, who portrayed a buffalo soldier, has been participating in events such as the festival for four years. He goes to several reenactments a year and said he plans on participating in the Tuttle Creek Fall Festival.

"It requires a lot of time and research to participate in re-enactments," Murray said. "It's very interesting."

26-year-old in custody after assault

By NANCY HULL
Kansas State Collegian

A 26-year-old Fort Riley man was charged with two counts of aggravated assault, aggravated burglary and discharging a firearm at an occupied dwelling Sunday morning.

Douglass R. Norwood of HHC 1st 34th Armor in Fort Riley was taken into custody after Riley County police officers were called to 1825 Fairchild Ave. at 2:44 a.m. on suspicion of a man with a gun, Lt. Jay Mills of RCPD, said.

Officers first came into contact with two victims, a 24-year-old man of Hays, Kan., and a 29-year-old woman of Manhattan.

After a brief standoff with officers at the residence, Norwood was taken into custody at the Riley County Jail.

Norwood was confined with bond set at $20,000. An investigation is continuing.

Office of International Programs helps find learning opportunities abroad

By STACI HAUSCHILD
Kansas State Collegian

Whether your appetite for travel favors short trips or long journeys, the Office of International Programs can help send you packing.

Karen Babcock, senior in biology, spent last winter break in Ghana, and said she felt tired, dirty and uncomfortable during the trip, but that she would do it again.

Babcock studied with Ted Cable, professor in horticulture, forestry and recreation, who said study abroad students benefited by getting a global experience.

"Many students I had had not traveled outside the Midwest," he said. "It's a stimulating experience. They get to see, feel, hear, taste, touch what they're learning, unlike in a classroom. It's totally life-changing."

Crissan Zeigler, international education adviser, said students limit themselves by thinking studying abroad is too expensive.

"For less than it costs you to stay at K-State, you can go to Mexico for an intensive Spanish cultural study," she said. "And if you're an out-of-state student, you can't afford not to go. Tuition's $9,000. You can go anywhere in the world for less than that."

Financial aid or scholarships can be applied to study-abroad costs, Zeigler said.

In addition, K-State's direct exchange program allows a K-State student to travel abroad and pay for another student's tuition at K-State, while the foreign student pays for the K-State student's tuition in the other country.

"This is a deal," Zeigler said. "If you were at Harvard or Yale you would pay $20,000 to go to the same place, but because you go here you only pay K-State's tuition."

Brian Keller, junior in microbiology, studied in France in the spring.

"It was cheaper than going to K-State," he said. "I paid K-State's tuition, and room and board was like $100 a month."

While Keller had studied French before traveling to abroad, Zeigler said, students do not need to know a foreign language to travel.

Students wanting to study abroad must have a 2.5 grade point average, but students with higher GPAs have better chances at studying in more popular locations such as Australia, Costa Rica or England, Zeigler said

Barry Mitchie, study abroad director, said students do not need to be concerned with losing credits when they study abroad.

"All credit courses that are passed are going to transfer back to K-State," he said. "Your GPA doesn't transfer, but all they classes you are going to take I have approved with your adviser before you leave."

Kale Needham, senior in chemical engineering, studied in France last fall and spring, and said that students should look at their curricula before studying abroad.

"I don't want to say I lost a year from studying abroad, but not all of my credits transferred," he said. "Each person has to decide what is right for them."

Still, Needham said studying in France was a positive experience.

MORE INFO?
To find out what short trips and long journeys are available visit the Office of International Program's Web site at www.ksu.edu/oip. Click on study abroad.

"It's tough to come back," he said. "I made some great friends, and it's hard to walk away from that."

Ideally, Mitchie said he recommends that students start planning to study abroad about a year in advance. However, he said there are students planning to leave in January who haven't started the application process, so students still have the opportunity to study abroad this spring.

"If you have $7,000, you can go wherever you want to," Zeigler said. "If you only have what you pay here, we can get you there, too."

CONTACT US

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
532-0729 rdunn@collegianmail.com

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
532-0729 tehmke@collegianmail.com

Steve Dearinger Photo Editor
532-5492 sdearinger@collegianmail.com

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
532-0730 jbarrett@collegianmail.com

Sarah Bahari City & Government Editor
532-0730 sbahari@collegianmail.com

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
532-0732 kdymacek@collegianmail.com

Derek Boss Sports Editor
532-0732 dboss@collegianmail.com

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
532-0732 eschneweis@collegianmail.com

Ken Wells Online Editor
532-6556 kwells@collegianmail.com

Becky Wilson Copy Chief
532-0732 bwilson@collegianmail.com

Sara Martin Design Editor
532-0731 smartin@collegianmail.com

Jim Calvert Ad Manager
532-6560 jimcalvert@collegianmail.com

Alissa Duncan Assistant Ad Manager
532-6560 molly@collegianmail.com

BY PHONE

Newsroom 532-6556
Display advertising 532-6560
Classified advertising 532-6555

BY MAIL

Kansas State Collegian
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

ON THE WEB

www.kstatecollegian.com

The Kansas State Collegian
(USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167. © KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 2000

ON RECORD

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Engineering Student Council will meet at 6:30 p.m. today in Rathbone 152.

■ An informational meeting for students preparing to study abroad in the Czech Republic or for students interested in going will take place at 7 tonight in the Office of International Programs, 304 Fairchild Hall. Students who have returned from a program at Charles University or Czech Tech also are invited to share experiences.

■ KSU Aikido will meet at 7 tonight in Ahearn 301.

■ Apostolic Campus Ministry will meet at 7 tonight in Union 204 for Bible study.

■ Christian Science Organization will meet at 7 tonight in Danforth Chapel.

■ KNEA-SP will meet at 7 tonight in Bluemont 15.

■ Collegiate 4-H will meet at 7:30 tonight in Waters 137.

■ Students In Free Enterprise (SIFE) will meet at 8 tonight in Union 209.

■ An informational meeting for students interested in studying in Germany will take place at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday in Fairchild 304. Opportunities exist for six students to win scholarships for a year abroad in Germany or Switzerland. Call the Office of International Programs at 532-5990 for more information.

■ The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Harold J. Henning, "Early Embryo Loss in the Prepubertal Gilt – a Model for Miscarriage," at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday in Weber 111.

■ The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Shawn A. Noble, "Towards a Better Understanding of Conceptual Skills: the Role of Locus of Control, Self-Efficacy and Goal-Setting Habits in a Self-Regulatory System," at 2:15 p.m. Tuesday in Bluemont 452.

■ The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Ashis Mukhopadhyay, "Ellipsometric Study of Surface Phenomena," at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in Cardwell 220.

■ Order of Omega will meet at 6 p.m. Tuesday at Pat's Blue Rib'n Barbeque.

■ KSU Juggling Club will have an organizational meeting at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in Union 213. Free juggling lessons for all attendants. E-mail juggle@ksu.edu for more info.

■ KSU Trapshooting Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in Union 205. All students, faculty and staff are welcome. For more information, e-mail tgugle@flinthills.com.

■ Education Council will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Bluemont 106.

■ Society for Creative Anachronisms/Shire of the Spinning Winds will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the southeastern part of City Park.

■ The K-State Community Service Program is accepting applications for the America Reads*America Counts Tutoring Program. Interested applicants must have work-study. Tutors work one-on-one with area elementary students in reading and math. For more information, contact Angie at 532-5701 or e-mail ksuserve@ksu.edu.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Riley County

Thursday, Sept.. 21

■ At 8:42 a.m., Randolph J. Navarro, Junction City, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 10:20 a.m., Steven C. Nelson, 501 S. 17th St., Apt. 1, was arrested for criminal damage to property. Bond was set at $1,500.

■ At 10:35 a.m., Ranae S. Nelson, 501 S. 17th St., Apt. 1, was arrested for criminal damage to property. Bond was set at $1,500.

■ At 12:19 p.m., Robert M. Whitney, 2118 Casement Road, was arrested for possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of a controlled substance. Bond was set at $1,500.

■ At 1:40 p.m., Jeffrey D. Corbett, 1006 Fremont St., Apt. 3, was arrested for possession of marijuana. Bond was set at $750.

■ At 11:10 p.m., Tabitha A. Henderson, Junction City, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $500.

Friday, Sept.. 22

■ At 10:56 a.m., Christopher S. Fikes, Ogden, was arrested for theft. Bond was set at $1,500.

■ At 11 a.m., Karen Scroggins, Junction City, was arrested for failure to appear.

■ At 11:10 a.m., Tameka Jones, Fort Riley, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $1,500.

■ At 11:41 a.m., Shane M. Lingenfelter, 6030 Tuttle Creek Blvd., was arrested for attempted aggravated battery. Bond was set at $2,500.

■ At 1:45 p.m., Michael J. Weston, 2216 Grandview Drive, was arrested for theft.

■ At 3:20 p.m., Tamra V. Zmeskal, Corpus Cristi, Texas, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 4:05 p.m., Anthony M. Law, 2546 Candlecrest Circle, was arrested for failure to appear.

■ At 6 p.m., Dawn A. Eskew, Riley, Kan., was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 7:50 p.m., Everett H. Harmer, 3021 Sunnyside Drive, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 11:26 p.m., Jerome L. Allen, 1411 Vista Lane, was arrested for obstructing the legal process.

■ At 11:38 p.m., Galen L. Wickstrum, 5650 McDowell Creek Road, was arrested for DUI.

Saturday, Sept.. 23

■ At 12:30 a.m., Sieg C. Siegele, 1323 Laramie, was arrested for battery and criminal restraint.

■ At 12:44 a.m., Gregory Todd, Lawrence, was issued a notice to appear for urinating in public.

■ At 12:44 a.m., Johnny L. Lorg, 1409 Jarvis Drive, was issued a notice to appear for urinating in public.

■ At 12:53 a.m., Lamarr A. Hill, Fort Riley, was arrested for battery and criminal threat. Bond was set at $1,500.

■ At 2:26 a.m., Vince D. Vinson, 711 Fremont St., was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $90.

■ At 2:46 a.m., Scott W. Davison, 2632 Tiana Terrace, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 3:14 a.m., Carly A. Hill, Ogden, was arrested for battery.

■ At 3:17 a.m., Jina M. Moon, 1130 Kearney St., was arrested for DUI and transportation of an open container. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 11 p.m., Bradley R. Johnson, Fort Riley, was issued a notice to appear for unlawful use of an ID card.

■ At 11:01 p.m., Dalton C. Smith, Inman, Kan., was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession and open container.

■ At 11:38 p.m., Tristan T. Pyle, 423 Goodnow Hall, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

Sunday, Sept.. 24

■ At 12:06 a.m., Korey Klingenbery, 919 Thurston St., was issued a notice to appear for allowing loud and disturbing noise.

■ At 12:27 a.m., Aaron Krommenhoek, address unavailable, was issued a notice to appear for loud and disturbing noise.

■ At 12:54 a.m., Nicholas Crockett, 2215 College Ave., Apt. 105, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 1:13 a.m., Kody Kirkpatrick, 520 Moore Hall, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 1:29 a.m., Roberta L. Engler, Riley, Kan., was arrested for battery.

■ At 1:29 a.m., Megan D. McClanathan, 813 De Hoff Road, was arrested for battery.

■ At 2:16 a.m., Daniel A. Rader, 1420 Hartman Place, Apt. 15, was issued a notice to appear for allowing loud and disturbing noise.

■ At 2:24 a.m., Dustin D. Higginson, 1856 Anderson Ave., was issued a notice to appear for loud and disturbing noise.

■ At 2:34 a.m., Mary A. Euston, 1130 Pomeroy St., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 2:44 a.m., Douglas R. Norwood, 2101 Essex Square, was arrested for aggravated assault, kidnapping, aggravated burglary and criminal discharge of a firearm.

■ At 3:11 a.m., Shawn P. Hickey, 1212 Bluemont Ave., was issued a notice to appear for allowing loud and disturbing noise.

■ At 5:38 a.m., Otto J. Straub, Clay Center, was arrested for DUI.

K-State Police

■ No reports of note were made.

coupon clipper

Online Coupons at collegian.ksu.edu

PRO Fitness in Aggieville 539-7095
Unlimited Month of Tanning
$19
10% off Protein Bars when mentioning this ad
EXPIRES Oct. 1, 2000

BUY 1 MEAL GET 1 FREE AT EQUAL OR LESSER VALUE
EXCLUDING SPECIAL OF THE DAY
SAFARI JACK'S WATERING HOLE
Valid only Sunday - Thursday
710 N. Manhattan Expires 1/01/01

Mel's Tavern
10% off any Entree
Alcohol & Daily Specials not included
Good through 9/30 *Bring Coupon In!

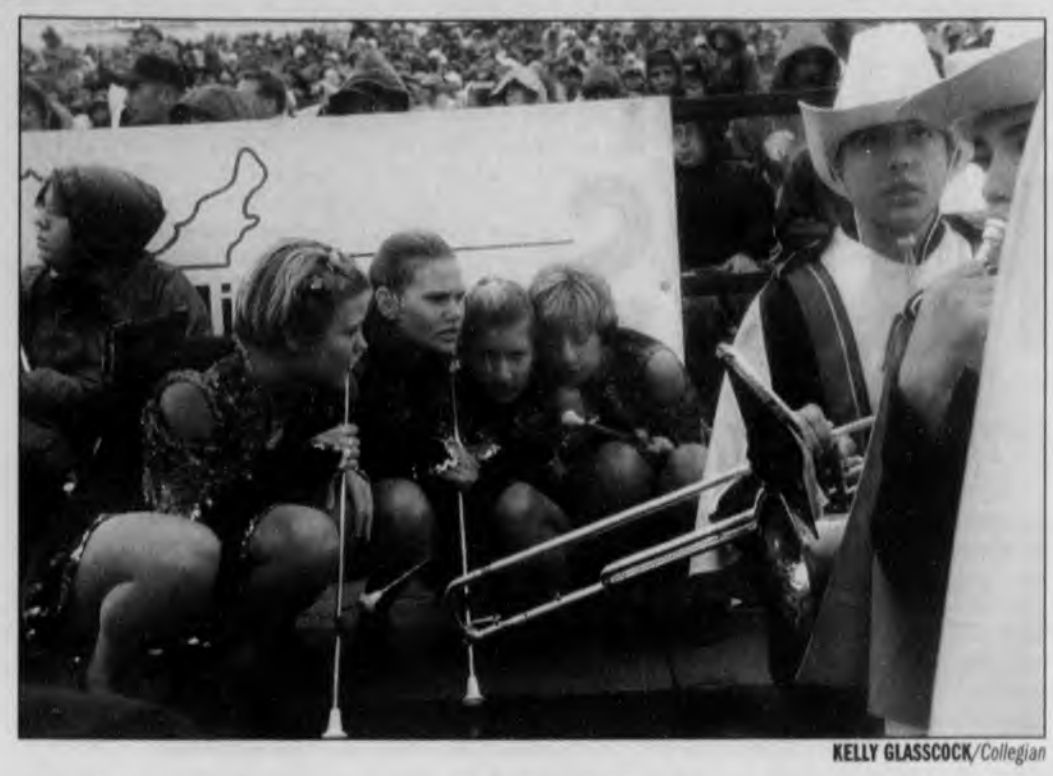
Best Party Place in Town
MEMORY LANES
The Best of the Old and New
FLASHBACK LOUNGE
Be The Star That You Are!
Bring this in for a FREE Pepsi
Karaoke • Cosmic Bowling • Greek
539-2788 Next to the Holidome 539-0371

HUNAM Restaurant & Mongolian BBQ
Sat - Thur
Please present coupon $1.00 off Reg. $6.95
1304 Westloop 539-8888
Evening buffet
(not valid with any other offer) • Free Delivery (minimum $9 purchase)

Little Caesars
MONDAY madness
NEW! 1 BIG BIG! LARGE PIZZA 14" WITH 1 TOPPING
$5.99 EACH/PER Plus tax NO LIMIT!
Little Caesars Pizza
Two great pizzas! One low price. Always! Always!
MANHATTAN (Westloop Center) 539-3333

2 VISTA COMBOS for $4.99
VISTA COMBO
Includes 1/4 lb ALL BEEF VISTA BURGER, Regular Fries & 16 oz Pepsi
Limit one coupon per customer. Not valid in combination with any other offer. Extra charges for cheese and bacon. Valid after 10:30 a.m.
Vista DRIVE IN
537-0100 1911 Tuttle Creek
537-0222 Manhattan Towncenter
Coupon expires Nov. 15, 2000
KSU

BEAT THE CLOCK MONDAYS
The Time is the Price!
6-8 p.m. for Large One Topping Pizzas.
Add $3 for a Specialty Pizza.
Gambino's Pizza
OPEN FOR LUNCH
537-9090



15% OFF Greek Merchandise
Party Favors/ Screen Printing
WILDCAT Spirit
Featured Fraternity/Sorority
KΔ/KKΓ
BΣΨ/TKE
716 N Manhattan Ave. #776-5461
*IN-Stock Items Only
*Discount for featured groups only.
Expiration date Oct 1, 2000

COTTONWOOD RACQUET CLUB
3615 CLAFLIN 776-6060
25% OFF
any pro shop merchandise
Coupon must be presented. Expires Oct. 15, 2000
COTTONWOOD RACQUET CLUB

LOOK SHARP!
Whatever new look you want this year...we'll put you back at school...In Style!
SNIP N' CLIP FAMILY HAIRCUT SHOPS
3035 Anderson 785-539-4043
431 East Poyntz 785-776-6410
World's Greatest KIDS HAIRCUT $7.95 Under 12 Yrs.
ADULT CUTS $10.95
Helene Curtis reg. $55 PERMS $34.95 COMPLETE WITH CUT Long Hair Extra Open Nights & Sundays ... Just Drop In!

Home of the Wildcats

28 high schools participate in Band Day

KELLY GLASSCOCK/Collegian

Rylee Johnson, Jamie Rueger, Katy Shum and Holly Mayer huddle together to keep warm during Band Day at KSU Stadium. More than 28 high school bands attended this year's event, which invites high school bands to spend the day with the K-State Marching Band.

By JESSICA PITTS
Kansas State Collegian

Despite the cold temperatures and continuous rain on Saturday, K-State's Band Day was a success, Frank Tracz, director of bands, said.

"It went really well," he said. "Everything was well organized and we had a great response from the community and the students."

The annual event invites more than 28 high school bands to Manhattan to participate in a morning parade and a half-time show at the football game.

"The parade itself had a great turnout," Tracz said. "There was a good turnout of people on Poyntz, despite the weather. The community really likes the event. It is a good family event that allows them to bring their kids out."

The students then joined the K-State Marching Band to play at half-time at the football game.

"We play five songs, and in each one we try and feature a different section of the band — the flag core, the twirlers, the dance team," Tracz said. "And then, of course, we play the traditional 1812 Overture and the Wildcat Victory song."

Tracz said they reserved more than 1,500 seats in the KSU Stadium for the students.

"Besides having them participate in the half-time show, we give them a chance to come and see how much the school supports football and the band," he said.

"We show them how special it is on Saturday when the team plays at home. The kids see a good thing and want to be a part of it."

Recruitment, Tracz said, is the name of the game.

"We invited in over 2,000 perspective K-State students by having this Band Day," he said. "We want them to see how much excitement there is here for the band, and we wanted to make a good impression on them.

Some kids may never have the opportunity to watch a collegiate football game, let alone participate in the half-time show. We gave them that opportunity and in turn we hope they realize how great K-State is."

The high school students only practice with the K-State marching band for 1 1/2 hours before they perform in the half-time show.

"That is where the K-State students come in," Tracz said. "They make the high school students feel welcome and they serve as band guides on the field. We couldn't have done it without their help."

Mary Kathryn Dandy, head drum major and senior in music education, was one of those students. She said she felt the day was a success.

"It went really well," she said. "We had quite a few bands and a lot of students. It was a great chance for the high schoolers to make connections and an opportunity for them to come and see what a band does at a collegiate level."

Andy Best, assistant tuba section leader and senior in electrical engineering, agreed with Dandy.

"It is certainly beneficial to the students," he said. "It gives them experience and gives them a little flavor of the K-State band."

College students serve as behavior models for children

By MAGGIE BLUNK
Kansas State Collegian

Children learn from their parents, their care givers, TV characters, other children and even K-State students.

Lou West, program director of Stonehouse Childcare Center, said children in Manhattan are aware of K-State and its students.

"They see and recognize the Powercat," she said. "They are very observant. Because of students working with them at Stonehouse, they know how old students are and what they look like."

Bronwyn Fees, assistant professor of family studies and human services, said children learn by watching adults they look up to.

"In early childhood, children learn by watching adult models," Fees said. "They learn by people they see on a daily basis."

MORE INFO?
Want to find out more about children's social skills? Check out www.nncc.org.

She said that is why it is important for adults to model good behavior.

"The things children hear and see others do is the behavior that they will have," she said.

College students should be aware of the effect they have on young people, said Mary DeLuccie, associate professor of family studies and human services and director of early childhood laboratory programs at K-State.

"If college students would realize children are always watching them, they could be more careful," she said.

However, she said her experience with college students working in the laboratory programs have been positive.

"There are many students who play and interact with children on campus," she said. "The children get so excited when the college students play with them. They feel good that the students pay attention to them, and they really appreciate that."

Respect is important, but knowing how to help children is something that family studies and human services teaches its students.

"That is why education majors take development courses," Fees said. "They need to know where the child is coming from, where they are and where they are going. It's important to understand the sequence of development."

She said that it is important for education majors to know when to intervene and know the child's background.

"How children grow in early years will carry them or set a basis for later development," Fees said. "That is why the emphasis is to learn social skills. The idea is if you can learn socially acceptable behavior, those skills are lifelong skills. Being able to relate to other people is critically important to later development."

Fees said although children learn by watching their educators and elders, peers are very important in influencing children as well.

"They don't always imitate the behavior of another child right away, they may save that behavior for later in a more successful situation for them," she said.

Fees explained that if children see other children acting up in the grocery store, but eventually get their way, they will see that behavior and save it when they aren't getting something that they want.

Marlene Glasscock, family studies and human services instructor, said children need to get along with other people.

"They need to know what is acceptable behavior," she said. "We need to teach them by modeling how to respect ourselves, respect others and respect things."

West said, without a doubt, children learn by watching others, and they discover what is appropriate and inappropriate.

She said being a positive role model is a constant job, and K-State students need to be aware of children when they are in public and in the community.

"Everybody should be aware that a little pair of eyes could be watching you," West said.

WANT K-STATE FOOTBALL VIDEO?
WWW.KSTATECOLLEGIAN.COM

Starting the 6th week of the semester
Claflin Books and Copies

Mrs. Clyde's KANSAS STEAKHOUSE
100 Bluemont Ave., Manhattan
Next to Wal-mart, Open 6 a.m.–10 p.m. daily
Mrs. Clyde's does Pasta, too!
REDEEM THIS COUPON AT MRS. CLYDE'S
Try one of Mrs. Clyde's Delicious Italian Entrees.
Get $1.50 off the regular price.
Coupon Expires Oct. 31, 2000
(Not valid with any other specials)
537-2650

New Donors Earn $25 TODAY* & Help Save Lives!
Your blood plasma donations are urgently needed by hemophiliacs, burn victims, surgery patients & many more!
Call or stop by:
Nabi Biomedical Center,
1130 Gardenway, Manhattan
785-776-9177
*for approx. 2 hours of your time; Fees & donation time may vary - call for details www.nabi.com

中國屋
Chinese Chef
Authentic Chinese Food
DINE IN or CARRY OUT
DRIVE THRU
DAILY SPECIALS
$3.95
Phone 537-1111
2704 Anderson Ave.
Daily Special $ 3.95
Hours Open :
Mon. – Thurs. 11:00 am - 10:00 pm
Fri. – Sat. 11:00 am - 10:30 pm

5 HUGE MOUNTAINS!
16th ANNUAL ski Steamboat
NATIONAL COLLEGE WEEK
Complete College Ski Package from only $189
(1-888-754-8447)
1-88U-SKITHIS
For more info www.Uskithis.com

Project WELLNESS
Kansas State University
Most K-State students have 5 or fewer drinks when they party*

66% of K-State students usually have a designated driver when they know they will be drinking.

67% of K-State students usually drink on a full stomach.

72% of K-State students usually choose to drink in places where they know they will be safe.

81% of K-State students hang out with friends they know and trust when they drink.

One drink =
12 oz = 4-5 oz = 1 oz.

*Based on a 1999 campus-wide survey of 1,297 KSU students that was representative of the K-State student population with regard to demographics such as age, GPA, college, class and gender.

Students' votes could change election results

Let's face it — chances are George W. Bush is going to win Kansas in November.

Yet there is something that voters can do to make the race between the GOP and the Democratic party a closer one.

Voters can side with an independent whose issues and platform they agree with.

It may not make a difference in this election, but in four years it just might pan out. If an independent can obtain a certain percent of the vote, then he or she would be eligible for federal matching funds. That in turn will allow the candidate to have enough money to campaign and compete, even without belonging to the either of the two main parties.

But that can't happen if people don't vote. In 1996, less than half of Americans between the ages of 18 and 24 even registered to vote. Of that number, only 32.4 percent actually made it to the polls.

The K-State Governmental Relations Committee is focusing on increasing voting.

During the next three weeks, students and faculty can obtain information, along with the necessary registration materials, at the committee's table in Union Courtyard.

For those who can't make it to the Union, access can be gained by logging on the Internet and downloading a form from KATS.

There is also the option of voting in advance, up to 20 days before the election.

Bush is favored to win in Kansas this year, but by voting a difference can be made in the next election.

▶ OUR VIEW is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
Jenn Davoren News Editor
Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
Sarah Bahari City/Government Editor
Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
Derek Boss Sports Editor
Becky Wilson Copy Chief
Sara Martin Design Editor

CAMPUS fourum 395-4444

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions on topics relevant to the publication.

Parking Services should just bite the bullet and build a garage.

■

Which Al Gore is it going to be today? Earlier in the summer he was against using the emergency supply of oil, and now 47 days away from the election he is for it again. What a coincidence.

■

At the game Saturday there seemed to be a lot more non-traditional students than I thought. They were all 60 or 9-year-olds.

■

How do we get a first place vote in the polls when we haven't even played a team even close to the top 20?

A call for ETHICS

Lack of morals in media causes controversy

TARYN FORT

Be it a lesson to all of us out there on the brink of insanity — the brink of finding ourselves reeling into the real world, that is.

The real world is that eerily mysterious and confusing place where careers and jobs live, and no parents are around to succumb to requests for financial assistance.

Be it a lesson to all of us out there, unless you happen to be guaranteed a post-graduation job in affiliation with the Mafia or simply enjoy the world of pornography, that it is inevitable that ethics are going to become a part of conducting ourselves as professionals.

Especially those of us making our way into the media-related world.

When scanning over the news on the Internet, as I do every morning, I came upon an article about actress/model Elizabeth Hurley and her former beau, actor Hugh Grant.

If you are thinking of the famous mishap Grant had with the hooker a few years back, I will admit it is commonly referred to in articles regarding the two, probably to make the article more worthwhile reading. But this article, again in association with sex, focused on a mishap on the part of Jane magazine where false quotes were printed from an article on Hurley.

Be it a lack of common sense or not, why make up a quote saying that one partner was "less than adequate in bed," and the sex was not even missed? Especially when the quote is coming from the cover story of the magazine?

This is where ethics come into play.

It is highly unethical to make something up in order to enhance a story.

In real life, I suppose this behavior might be defined as exaggeration, making up a rumor or simply straight out lying.

In real life, one probably isn't going to have to make a public apology for spreading a rumor. One probably isn't going to humiliate an entire magazine and publishing staff with one tiny made-up sentence. And one probably isn't going to lose a job and reputation as a journalist.

Who knows what drove the quote into the article, but tape transcripts from the interview revealed that Hurley, in fact, did not say Grant was bad in bed and missing sex with him was not an option for her.

She did not say this on tape, anyhow. Which is what counts when it comes down to possible lawsuits and bad publicity for the magazine (that bad press primarily coming from Hurley, when publicly complaining about the article and magazine).

Either way you look at it, the reporter should not have printed such a controversial quote with no back-up.

Anything affecting large amounts of people must be carefully submitted with proof and evidence to back up results. Making errors is easy if one's not careful when writing articles, or doing anything in regard to statistics and facts. It's just like showing work on a calculus test.

Research is essential. Specifically, accurate research earns you to your profession's work when out of the classroom. I bet it might be a little easier to display knowledge to a professor who doesn't believe you, than to a judge in a courtroom who has copies of tapes and notes that do not contain that quote you are being sued for printing.

Every use of verbal and audio media must not bend ethical measures, or careers could be over quicker than that idiot "Survivor" Richard's is destined to be.

For that matter, one must be careful in every area of employment.

Ethics is a subject easy to jump around in, and I don't think it means necessarily "being good" and abiding by the rules of traditional America all the time (hence the value of opinions).

If that was the case, quotes about sex lives, drug use and faulty plans within presidential campaigns would not be allowed on television or in newspapers.

Because that type of information is not the public's business, right?

Well, the truth behind that information is supposed to be hidden from the public. That is the "actual" case here.

And unfortunately, a large industry, namely a need to hear gossip and rumors, fuels many a bored person. But the real dish behind an issue fuels others in a way that results in those not wanting to see the reality of the situation firing back at those who provide the information.

This column lacks quotations and negative comments on the part of one Republican presidential candidate, after a realization that maybe there are more Republicans in the area than I previously incurred. I do not mean to offend.

Be it a reminder to everyone to try to provide the most accurate information.

Although at times, accuracy is a shocking parallel to a appropriate interviewee or subject of a column, a shot of reality is the best medicine.

I only wish to remind you of that when heading out to those cute red, white and blue polling booths in the upcoming early days of November.

Taryn is a fifth-year senior in English. You can e-mail her at tfort@collegianmail.com.

TIA TOMS/COLLEGIAN

READERS WRITE

Increased funding to colleges should be used to pay GTAs

Editor,

As a graduate teaching assistant, I am happy that K-State has quadrupled its research grants from $18 million to $75 million, but I'd be happier if that money were put to good use.

Now that K-State has millions of dollars floating around in its accounts, it can afford to pay its GTAs — many of whom are supporting a spouse and children — a living wage. I have no idea how K-State expects me to pay my bills, purchase books and pay fees, all on $10,000 a year — and I am single with no children to support.

Many other schools are paying their GTAs $11,000 or $12,000 per year, with full health benefits. In order to make ends meet, many GTAs here are forced to work a second job, affecting the quality of their teaching.

On a related note, I was disturbed to see that, once again, the budget of the College of Arts and Sciences is being cut. This makes no sense. With enrollment growing, the college should be given more funding for more classes. In addition, the increase in enrollment generates revenue. This revenue should be used to reduce class size by hiring more professors and GTAs.

A reduction in class size will improve the quality of education here, especially in the introductory level classes. As one who studies economics, I understand that K-State needs to keep its costs down. However, K-State should not save a few bucks so the administrators can afford their green fees by sacrificing the quality of education and the quality of the GTA staff here.

— Phillip E. Mayer
Graduate Teaching Assistant in economics

Athletic department pursues monopoly on football tickets

Editor,

I have observed with fascination the past couple of weeks the flap over student football tickets being used by people other than students of Notre Dame and K-State.

Since one of the arguments cited for this behavior has to do with money, you might be interested to know that economists have a phrase to describe it, a concept taught in an intermediate microeconomics class. Price discrimination occurs when a supplier sells the same product (game tickets) to different groups (students and non-students) for different prices. These different prices are not caused by the different costs a selling to the different groups of consumers.

Two conditions must occur for price discrimination to be possible. 1. Each group must have a different demand for the product. The seller must be able to segment the market and sell at a lower price to lower-demand consumers and likewise to the higher-demand consumers. 2. The seller must also keep the lower- demand consumers from reselling to the higher-demand consumers at an obviously higher price. This can be accomplished a number of ways: ticket scalping laws, which Kansas does not have, but K-State, KU and other original ticket sellers have lobbied the Legislature for years to pass. The other method is to require the owners of the lower-priced tickets to "prove" they are students.

The reasons for using complicated pricing schemes are simple. Athletic departments want to have the ability to be the only sellers of their tickets.

Finally, to all those Cornhusker fans who might be purchasing worthless tickets because K-State increased enforcement of their price discrimination policy, I can only say caveat emptor on Nov. 11.

— Antoni Firner
1982 graduate
Prairie Village, Kan.

Greene wins Olympic gold

By BOB BAUM
The Associated Press

SYDNEY, Australia — On a chilly Australian night, the future of American sprints shone brighter than Marion Jones' chrome shoes.

Track and field might be a dying sport in the United States, but in the shortest of all Olympic races, it is as alive as the playful sparkle in Maurice Greene's eyes.

After runaway blowouts in the 100-meter dash, Jones and Greene are the world's fastest woman and man. Nobody is a close second.

Jones is 24; Greene is 26.

"The future looks real good for the next couple of years," Greene said.

Jones won in 10.75 seconds. Her margin of victory — 0.37 seconds — was the second-largest in Olympic 100-meter history, men or women. Greene won by a comfortable .12 seconds and never was in any kind of trouble in his 9.87-second performance.

"Maurice just destroyed us," silver medalist Ato Boldon said.

Beyond their speed, the two don't have a whole lot in common. Jones is a portrait of poise and grace, Greene, of Kansas City, Kan., is brash and a bundle of energy.

But both are in their first Olympics, and both burst into tears after crossing the finish line.

Jones had stayed up all night visualizing the race. One thing for sure, she thought, she was not going to cry.

"I was like, 'There's no way. I was going to cross that line and be a cool cat. I'm going to run, I'm going to celebrate,"' she said.

"Then when you cross that line and everything all of a sudden just hits you when you realize that you can be described as an Olympic champion, finally, it was very emotional."

She sobbed and sobbed, then grabbed an American flag and the flag of Belize, the country where her mother was born.

Jones' husband, C.J. Hunter, wore a huge smile and allowed himself a rare moment of satisfaction. Hunter, who withdrew from the Olympic shot put because of knee surgery, usually is as serious as his wife is sweet.

"She's worked very hard," he said, "but this is only the beginning."

Greene won't run again until the 400-meter relay because he pulled up short with a sore hamstring and failed to qualify in the 200 at the U.S. trials. Jones has just a couple of days off before she resumes her quest to be the second Olympic track athlete to win five gold medals.

Still ahead are the 200, long jump and both relays.

"I wish her the best, because I wouldn't even try it," Greene said. "I was very tired last year after (the world championships in) Seville after running all the rounds in the 100, running all the rounds in the 200 and the 400 relay."

"She's a phenomenal athlete, and it's going to take a phenomenal athlete to accomplish that."

With his shaved head and a diamond stud in each ear, Greene seems more impish than emotional. His race over, he threw his shoes into the crowd.

"I got what I came for," he said, "and the crowd got a couple of souvenirs."

The champions' personalities were on display on the medals stand.

Greene was presented the gold by International Olympic Committee president Juan Antonio Samaranch. Greene kissed the medal, even tasted it, then held it high to the crowd. As the national anthem played, Greene bit his lip.

"Actually, I was trying not to cry," he said. "I was just overwhelmed with the excitement of everything. When I get nervous, my tongue comes out of my mouth and I start biting my lip. Ato was right behind me saying 'Don't cry. Not yet.' I was very nervous up there."

Jones studied the medal, seemed to be trying to read it, then ran her fingers over it. It was something she had coveted, and now she finally owned it. As the anthem neared its end, she managed a big, bright smile.

Her shoes were shiny silver, but the medal was gold.

"There was a rumor, perhaps it was a rumor, that one of my competitors said, 'She's wearing silver shoes. That's what she must be running for,"' Jones said. "But I guess I cleared that up."

MORE INFO?
Look for coverage of Nathan Leeper in Tuesday's Collegian. Leeper placed 11th in high jump.

UCS offers skill workshops

By COLLEEN FOOTE
Kansas State Collegian

University Counseling Services wants to help students become more successful in school and in life by achieving emotional intelligence.

UCS is sponsoring "Tools for Success," workshops focusing on a variety of skills to help students deal with everyday issues. The first workshop, "Optimism," was Sept. 18.

"Optimism is one of the best qualities a person can have," said Jon Ulven, a psychology intern at Lafene Health Center. "People who are optimistic achieve more academically and physically."

According to Ulven, optimism helps students deal with bad news, such as receiving low grades or dealing with bad relationships. People who are optimistic tend to handle bad news easier than people who are less optimistic, Ulven said.

This year's workshops will be different from previous years because every seminar focuses on positive aspects instead of negative ones. Workshop themes include, "Hope," Oct. 2; "Being Successful," Oct. 16; "Emotional Self Awareness," Oct. 30 and "Stress Management," Nov. 13.

Dan Wilcox, psychologist at Lafene Health Center, said all of the seminars are hands-on and practical to deal with students' busy lives. The workshops help students learn and gain emotional intelligence, he said.

"Being emotionally intelligent is one of the most important and beneficial skills for everyday life," Wilcox said. "It helps us manage all issues that occur throughout life."

Ryan Elder, junior in construction science and management, attended past workshops and said they helped him deal with stress.

"I used to constantly stress out about school," Elder said. "The workshops taught me how to handle and control my stress."

Wilcox said he hopes students will take the opportunity to attend these workshops. Many students think there is a stigma attached to counseling and do not take advantage of all the things counseling offers, he said.

"These workshops are for everyone, no matter where they are emotionally," Wilcox said. "There is a lot to gain by attending these seminars."

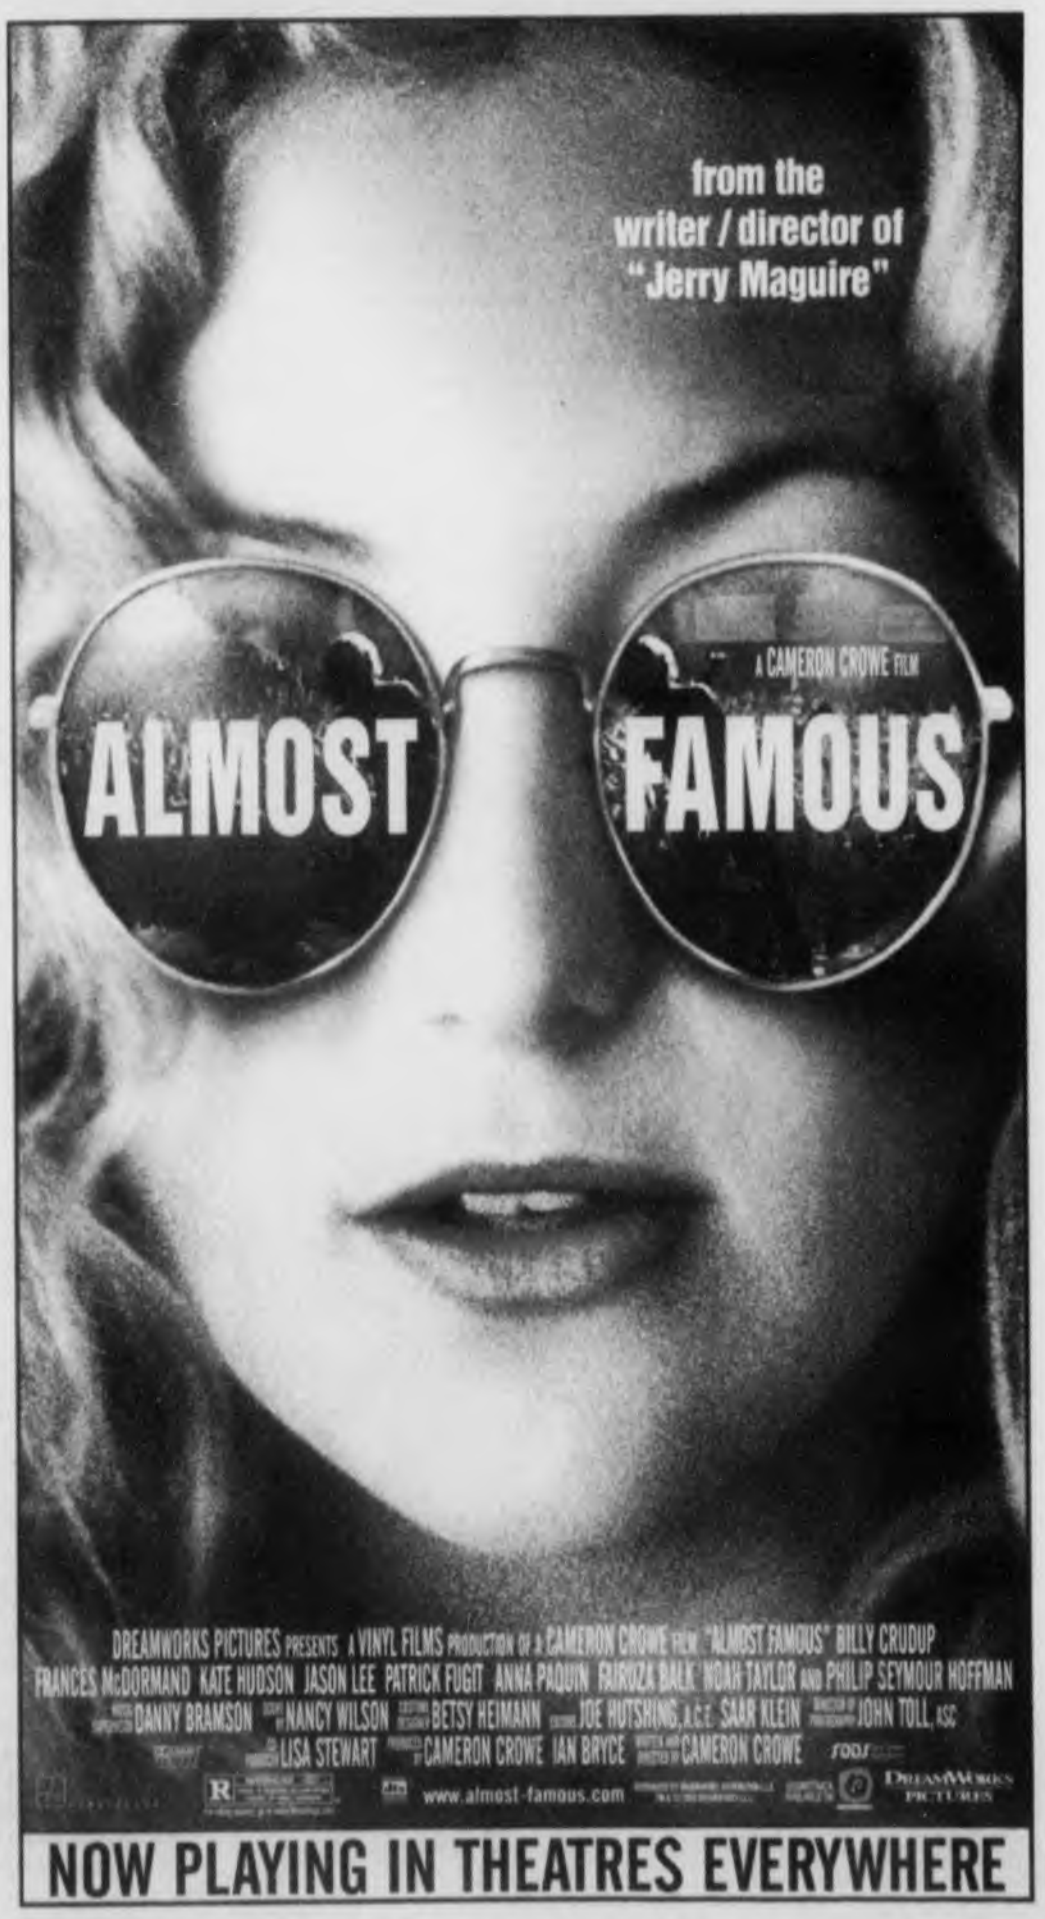
PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
Limited Delivery Area
1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center

K-State University Distinguished Lecture
What We Know About How the Universe Began (And How We Know It)
Michael S. Turner
University of Chicago
Forum Hall, K-State Union
1:00 - 2:00 p.m.
September 26, 2000
An ideal introduction for the non-scientist to the origins of the universe. Armed with bold ideas that are rooted in the deep connections between the inner space of elementary particles and the outer space of the cosmos, Michael Turner, the Bruce V. and Diana M. Rauner Distinguished Service Professor at the University of Chicago and a member of the National Academy of Sciences, will describe exciting new progress in extending our understanding of the universe back to within fractions of a second of its beginning.
Admission is free. ALL ARE WELCOME.

FREE Nights & Weekends*
Starting with rate plans as low as $19.95

Nokia 5120
$39.99*

ALLTEL
The power to simplify



Manhattan Retail Store
515 Fort Riley Blvd. • 785-539-9595

Manhattan Wal-Mart
628 Tuttle Creek Blvd. • 785-776-4955

Manhattan Authorized Agents

HB Stereo	785-537-4690	Varney's Book Store - Town Center	785-539-5395
Varney's Book Store	785-539-0511	Varney's Book Store - KSU Union	785-770-2199

* One-year contract required. Address in the ALLTEL Kansas service area only. $25 service order fee required. Nights & Weekends available 8pm-6:59am Monday-Thursday and 8pm Friday to 6:59am Monday. Equipment may not be available at all locations. Offer ends 9/30/00. Some conditions apply.

NOW PLAYING IN THEATRES EVERYWHERE

DIFFERENT BALLGAME

K-State deals with penalties, mistakes despite 55-10 win over North Texas

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

Head coach Bill Snyder said before playing North Texas on Saturday that it would be a much different game than the Cats' previous contest against Ball State.

He turned out to be right.

Against Ball State, everything that K-State tried succeeded, but the same didn't hold true against North Texas (0-4), even though the Cats (4-0) won 55-10, Snyder said.

"There were certain areas that we weren't very good at, things that need to be corrected," Snyder said. "Above all, I'm concerned about just the discipline of doing things right, regardless of what the circumstances might be."

That lack of discipline was evident in nearly all areas of the game, but especially apparent in the team's nine penalties for 77 yards, Snyder said.

"We were penalized far too much," he said. "That's a discipline thing as much as anything else."

However, Snyder said his disappointment extended beyond penalties, as the play of the second-string on both sides of the ball left something to be desired.

"I thought there were times, early in the ball game, I thought we played well just as we did last week," Snyder said. "I thought we took up where we left off, and then we put some number two's in the ball game, and they didn't hold up their end of the bargain, really on both sides."

By not performing to their capabilities, the second string players allowed North Texas to nearly double its offensive output. The Mean Green ended up with 138 net yards, 66 of which came on one play in the fourth quarter, Snyder said.

"We get our number two's on the field, and we get a safety that gets flat run over from his toes to the tip of his head," Snyder said. "You take that away and they're looking at maybe 50 yards of total offense."

Also making their mark on the list of disappointments were the special teams — especially kickoffs, Snyder said. With the wind in his face, kicker Jared Brite couldn't punch the ball past the 15-yard line.

"I'd hate to tell you where we were trying to kick it," Snyder said. "He hasn't hit where we wanted to yet."

Poor kickoffs, however, were just one of many mistakes made by special teams.

"I thought we kind of stunk the place up, really," Snyder said. "I don't think we were very good outside of blocking a couple punts. Coverage was a little sporadic on our kickoff unit. Our punt team was dead in the rear."

The mistakes weren't the result of the cold, rainy weather, either, Snyder said.

"Weather doesn't have anything to do with it. Either you play or you can't," he said.

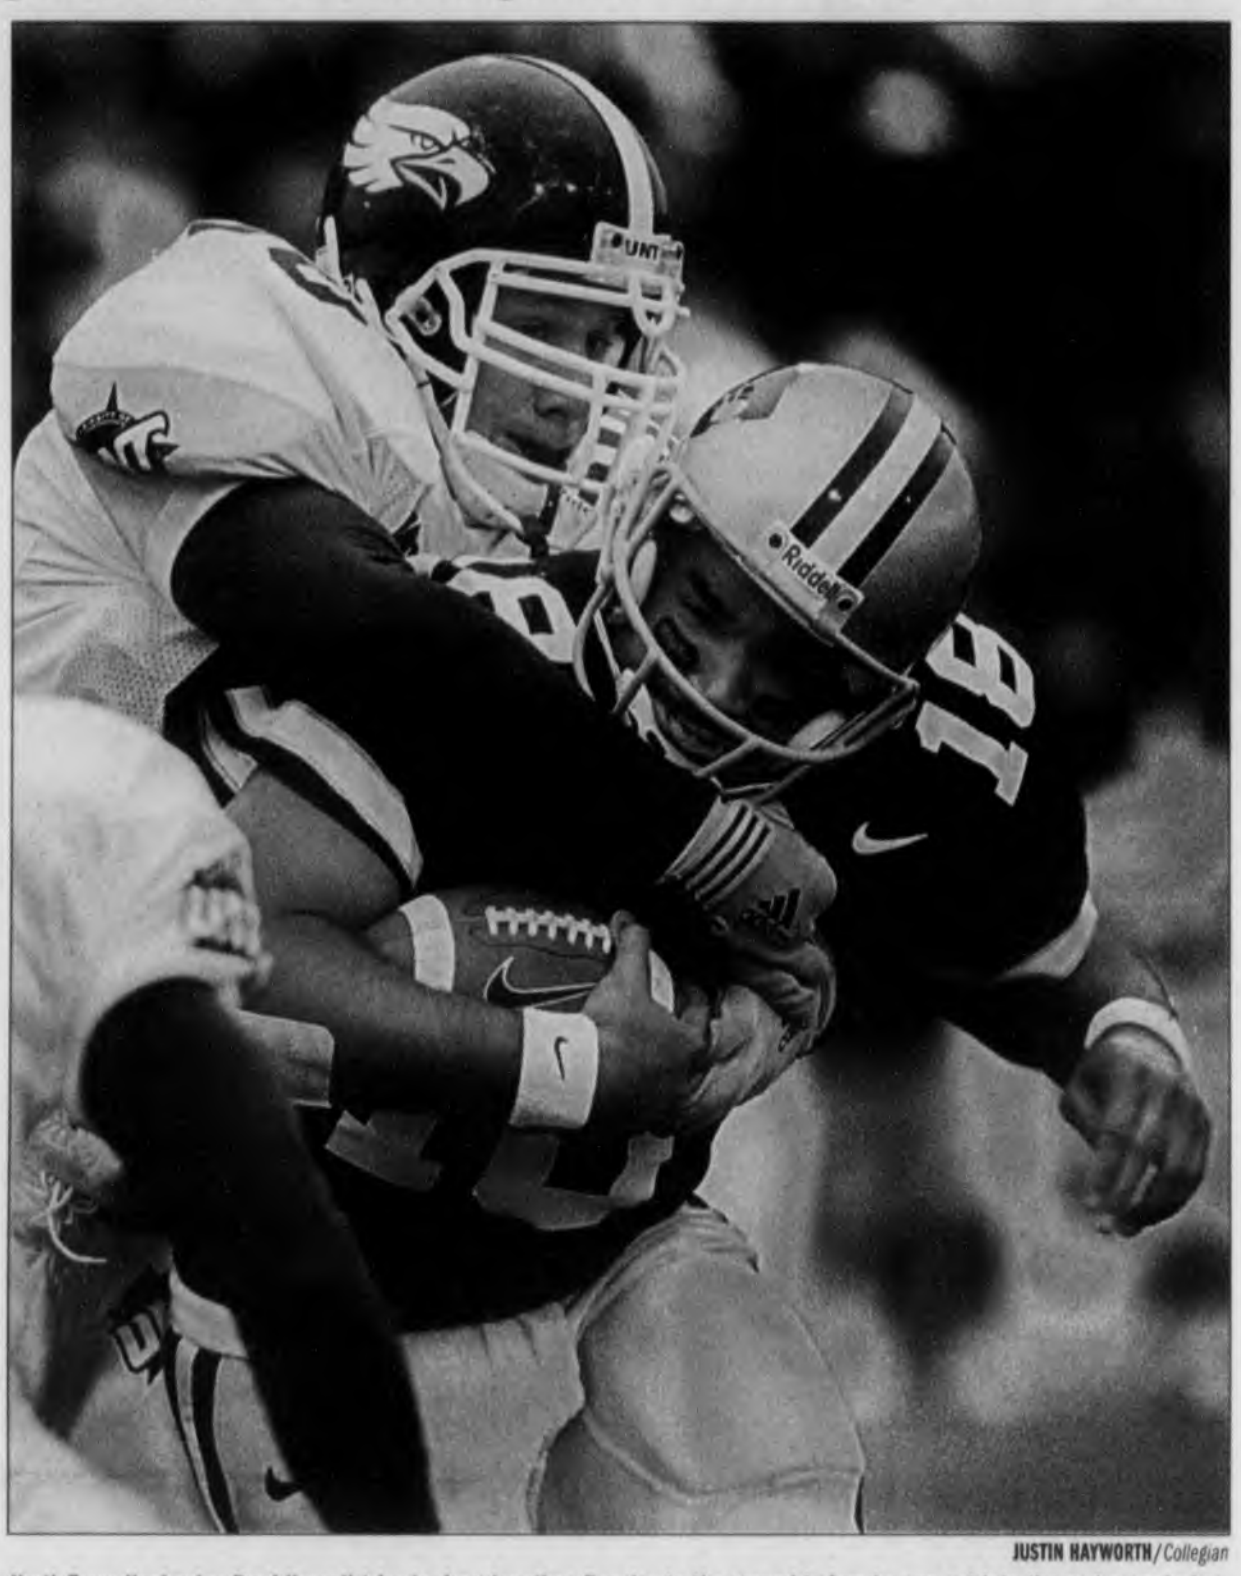
Special teams might have struggled, but K-State did immediately take control of the game with two blocked punts in the first quarter, one by Brice Libel and the other by Chris Claybon. The result was a mental advantage for the Cats, Claybon said.

"Football's a field-position game, and on fourth down you at least expect to get the ball out of your own end," he said. "A blocked punt is pretty demoralizing, and it affects the whole team's mentality."

One similarity between the Ball State and North Texas games was the defense's ability to shut down the opponent's passing game. Ball State eked out five yards, and North Texas could only muster 35 though the air.

The statistics don't lie, linebacker Ben Leber said. The Cats can't defend the pass much better, especially when the defensive line keeps putting pressure on the offense's signal caller.

"I don't think there's much more we can do on our passing defense," Leber said. "We've got great interior lineman doing their job, getting in the quarterback's face, and that makes it a lot easier when the quarterback can't even get the ball off."



Just as the defense excelled, so did the offense at times. K-State, mostly led by its starters, mounted 38 points and 265 net yards by halftime. In the second half, the second team, with a few exceptions, continued the offensive dominance.

One player was conspicuously absent, though, from the field of play. Running back Rashad Jackson, whose 68 rushing yards last week ranked second on the team, did not see a single snap against North Texas.

The reason, offensive coordinator Ron Hudson said, was that Jackson has not been taking care of business off the field.

"The biggest thing with Rashad Jackson is he has to learn to do the little things off the field right," Hudson said.

"And when I say right, I'm talking about going to class, being on time, going to the training room, going to the study table, and until he does those things right in this program, you're going to face the consequences."

JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

North Texas linebacker Brad Kassell tries to drag Jonathan Beasley to the ground before he can get into the end zone during the first half of Saturday's game at KSU Stadium. Beasley rushed for five touchdowns on the day, setting a new school record.

MATT STAMEY/Collegian

Chris Claybon jumps in and gets a hand on North Texas punter Jason Ball's punt in the first quarter of Saturday's game.

Week in K-State sports

Monday
Men's golf – Kansas Invitational in Lawrence.

Wednesday
Volleyball – Texas, 7 p.m. at Ahearn Field House

Saturday
Football – at Colorado, 2:30 p.m.
Volleyball – at Missouri, 7 p.m.
Cross country – Stanford Invitational in Palo Alto, Calif.

Beasley breaks school record

By DAN SMITH
Kansas State Collegian

Saturday's game against North Texas gave Wildcat fans the opportunity they've been waiting for.

K-State supporters were able to see both senior quarterback Jonathan Beasley and freshman Ell Roberson take a significant number of snaps.

For Beasley, it was a game of statements. Beasley rushed 12 times for 60 yards and broke Pat Jackson's 10-year-old record for most rushing touchdowns in a game with five.

"Guys were out there executing and blocking, and I was able to get the ball in the end zone," Beasley said of the K-State offensive line that gave up only one sack in the game. "It was a great team effort today."

Beasley's longest touchdown run was his last. With 7:43 to play in the third quarter, Beasley scampered 16 yards into the North Texas end zone to put the Wildcats up 47-3.

"I can't draw it up any more than that," offensive coordinator Ron Hudson said of Beasley's 12-for-15, 202-yard passing performance. "We were very pleased with Jonathan today."

Hudson and the Wildcats weren't the only ones impressed with Beasley's performance, either.

"I certainly have a hard time finding out how people around here get on Beasley," North Texas head coach Darrell Dickey said, "because he is a great quarterback."

Dickey's sentiments proved accurate when looking at the final stat sheets, as Beasley's numbers were a stark contrast to that of Roberson's.

The freshman quarterback didn't break any records on Saturday. In fact, producing at all on offense, after entering the game with 2:07 left in the first quarter, was a struggle for Roberson.

Roberson, who ended the day 3-for-7 for 15 yards and an interception, started off on the wrong foot. After fumbling on his first play for a nine-yard loss, the Wildcats had to settle for a 38-yard Jamie Rheem field goal.

His second drive was also unsuccessful, and this time, K-State didn't wind up with any points. After a delay-of-game penalty pushed the Wildcats back to the North Texas 37-yard line, Roberson was intercepted for the first time in his collegiate career by the Mean Green's Lawrence Ellis.

After a North Texas punt gave the ball back to K-State on the 50, Roberson completed a screen pass to running back Chris Claybon for a loss of four yards on first down.

On the ensuing third down, Roberson was sacked by Brad Kassell and fumbled again. This time, North Texas recovered the loose ball.

"I was trying to make the big play, and it just wasn't happening for me," Roberson said of the mistakes. "I just have to calm down."

Roberson did turn things around somewhat in the second half, relying more on his scrambling abilities to gain yards. Roberson wound up leading the Wildcats in rushing, finishing the game with 65 yards.

"I thought (Ell) did fine," head coach Bill Snyder said. "He made a few management mistakes, but by and large I think he took up where he left off last week."

GAME STATS

K-STATE	55
NORTH TEXAS	10

POINTS BY QUARTER

N. Texas	0	3	0	7	10
K-State	24	14	17	0	55

First quarter
K-State – Beasley 1 run (Rheem kick), 9:51
K-State – Beasley 1 run (Rheem kick), 5:55
K-State – Scobey 1 run (Rheem kick), 3:50
K-State – Rheem 38 FG, 0:32
Second quarter
N. Texas – Ball 43 FG, 8:45
K-State – Beasley 2 run (Rheem kick), 2:50
K-State – Beasley 1 run (Rheem kick), 0:01
Third quarter
K-State – Rheem 38 FG, 12:47
K-State – Beasley 16 run (Rheem kick), 7:43
K-State – Cartwright 1 run (Rheem kick), 0:00
Fourth quarter
N. Texas – Bridges 1 run (Ball kick), 13:51

ATTENDANCE: 47,926

TEAM STATISTICS	N. Texas	K-State
First downs	4	25
Rushes-yards	28-103	58-260
Passing yards	35	217
Comp-Att-Int	7-17-0	15-22-1
Total plays-yards	138	80-477
Return yards	109	49
Punts-avg.	11-25.8	3-28.7
Fumbles-lost	3-2	3-2
Penalties-yards	94	9-77
Sacks by-yards	1-16	2-6
Time of possession	24:53	35:07

INDIVIDUAL STATISTICS

Rushing – N. Texas, Wilburn 12-87, Whitehead 3-8, Hickmon 3-4, Miller 1-2, Hall 8-1, Bridges 1-1. K-State, Roberson 14-65, Beasley 12-60, Claybon 11-47, Scobey 7-47, Cartwright 7-21, Morris 4-10, Washington 3-10.

Passing – N. Texas, Hall 5-11-0-21, Bridges 2-5-0-14, McLane 0-1-0-0. K-State, Beasley 12-15-0-202, Roberson 3-7-1-15.

Receiving – N. Texas, McLane 2-17, Curtis 2-8, Massey 1-8, Wilburn 1-3, Hickmon 1-(minus 1). K-State, Morgan 4-58, Lockett 3-47, Claybon 3-33, Meier 2-39, Cartwright 1-16, Scobey 1-15, Wesley 1-9.

COACHES	ASSOCIATED PRESS
1. Nebraska (44)	1. Nebraska (39)
2. Florida State (14)	2. Florida State (30)
3. Florida	3. Florida
4. Virginia Tech	4. Virginia Tech
5. K-State (1)	5. K-State (1)
6. Washington	6. Washington
7. USC	7. Clemson
8. Clemson	8. USC
9. Michigan	9. Michigan
10. Ohio State	10. Miami Fla
11. Tennessee	11. Tennessee
12. Miami Fla	12. Ohio State
13. Texas	13. Texas
14. Wisconsin	14. Oklahoma
15. Michigan State	15. UCLA
16. Oklahoma	16. TCU
17. UCLA	17. Wisconsin
18. TCU	18. Michigan State
19. Purdue	19. Auburn
20. Auburn	20. Oregon
21. Southern Mississippi	21. Southern Mississippi
22. Illinois	22. Purdue
23. South Carolina	23. South Carolina
24. Georgia	24. Illinois
25. Oregon	25. Georgia

Running to victory

Senior quarterback Jonathan Beasley broke the 10-year-old record for rushing touchdowns in a game with five against North Texas. Beasley is the only Wildcat in history to rush for five TDs in a game, and is one of only two Wildcats to have rushed for four or more touchdowns (Pat Jackson in the New Mexico State game, Sept. 15, 1990). In addition, his five TDs fell one short of the NCAA record for rushing touchdowns in a game by a quarterback.

More on Beasley

Against the Mean Green, the QB set school records for most points scored by an individual in a game and most touchdowns in a game. Beasley's five TDs for 30 points bests the record of four scores for 28 points registered by six other Wildcats. Beasley now has eight rushing touchdowns this season and 12 for the year. His performance against North Texas marked his fourth multiple-rushing touchdown game and his third three-plus rushing TD game of his career.

Among Big 12 elite

With two blocked punts against North Texas, K-State tied the Big 12 Conference record for most punts blocked in a game. Senior Brice Libel got his third career block for the Cats, while senior Chris Claybon logged his second – both in the first quarter against North Texas.

Rheem's return

After sitting out the Ball State contest, senior place-kicker Jamie Rheem tallied 13 points against the Mean Green, connecting on two 38-yard field goals and seven extra points. Rheem sits one point away from Steve Willis for fifth place on K-State's all-time scoring chart.

Early success

K-State has scored on its first offensive possessions in all four games this year. When scoring first, the Cats are 74-7 under head coach Bill Snyder. The Cats have a 4-0 record to start the season for the 12th time in the program's history and the seventh time in the past eight seasons. K-State has also won 29 straight games in the month of September.

Meier marks

Senior tight end Shad Meier tied his career high for receptions in a game with two catches for 39 yards against the Mean Green. Meier also caught two passes in the Oct. 16, 1999, game against Utah State.

Numbers game

- With 55 points against North Texas, the Wildcats have scored 50 or more points in a game 29 times in program history, including 14 times during the Snyder era.
- Since 1990, K-State is 43-0 when gaining at least 200 yards rushing and 45-0 when holding opponents to less than 10 points.
- With the victory over UNT, the Wildcats improve to 71-6 since 1993 when scoring at least 20 points.

– compiled by Derek Boss

Cryptoquip & CROSSWORD
presented by:
1219 Moro
Aggieville
JAVA
(785) 587-8888

FOR RELEASE MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 2000

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Trail the pack
4 "Wham!"
7 "Makin' Whoopee" lyricist
11 Mesopotamia today
13 Corn spike
14 Notion
15 Carte
16 Ring decision
17 "Cheers" character
18 Breakfast food
20 Unseen problem
22 A cont.
24 Ibsen drama
28 Baseball's Casey
32 Showbiz union
33 Vaccine type
34 Bing's pal
36 Marshy territory
37 Birth-related
39 Basis
41 Sudden rainstorms
43 Impersonate
44 "— Rhythm"
46 Dangle a carrot
50 Actor Howard
53 Terhune pooch
55 Sushi wrapper
56 Largest of the seven
57 Lemieux milieu
58 In the near future
59 Arithmetic
60 — Jones Averages
61 Nathan Hale, e.g.

DOWN
1 Owl's perch
2 Square footage
3 Horde of hoods
4 Favorite
5 Erstwhile acorns
6 Mistaken
7 Kevin James sitcom
8 Fuss
9 Part of H.M.S.
10 "Platoon" locale
12 Rapper nee Dana Owens
19 Schlep
21 "Caught ya!"
23 CSA soldier
25 Amaze
26 Folk song byline
27 Droops
28 Male children
29 Catch
30 "I could — horse!"
31 Diary
35 Car-front protector
38 Journey segment
40 Choose
42 Unyielding
45 Mexican entree
47 Imitates Elsie
48 Item on stage
49 Itty-bitty
50 Water barrier
51 Neighbor of Can.
52 Healthy
54 Morning moisture

Solution time: 24 mins.

F	A	T	E	D	■	S	A	P	■	F	O	P
A	R	O	M	A	■	A	L	E	■	A	M	A
S	T	A	I	R	■	C	O	A	S	T	E	R
■	■	S	L	I	G	H	T	■	P	A	G	E
S	S	T	■	N	E	E	■	S	A	L	A	D
P	O	E	M	■	T	R	E	A	D	■	■	■
A	T	R	E	S	T	■	A	M	E	R	C	E
■	■	■	L	O	O	P	S	■	S	O	O	N
B	E	L	O	W	■	L	E	D	■	A	D	D
A	M	E	N	■	J	U	L	E	P	S	■	■
B	O	A	S	T	E	R	■	G	O	T	U	P
E	T	D	■	I	D	A	■	A	R	E	N	A
L	E	S	■	M	I	L	■	S	T	R	A	W

Friday's answers 9.22

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-25 CRYPTOQUIP

S Q F G W P S D P F P S E O G D S U S Q E S Q E Y S Q F T W Y S H W M F P S Y D Y G F H S E D P O U Q E T Y S F H M E T.

Saturday's Cryptoquip: I WAS TAKEN WITH THE MUSIC SUNG AT A BAKER'S WEDDING: "HERE CRUMBS THE BRIDE."

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: G equals C

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2000 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Legends Die Young

'Urban Legends' sequel lacks originality, good ideas

Review by Corbin H. Crable
Kansas State Collegian

Well, at least the popcorn was good.

Not as much can be said for the "thriller" "Urban Legends II: The Final Cut."

I hated the first installment when I reviewed it two years ago, and I hate the sequel now.

Jennifer Morrison stars in this sequel to the 1998 movie about killings on a college campus where she is given free reign over extremely expensive film-making equipment without supervision from a professor.

Convenient, isn't it?

Morrison, along with her peers in the film department, is clamoring for the prestigious Hitchcock Award, a piece of glass that basically ensures its recipient a directing job in Hollywood right after graduation. Ah, even more convenient.

The equation for the movie after this point is simple. Hitchcock Award + jealous brats = death. One by one, rich white kids die, with a few minority characters added in a sad attempt to make the movie's cast look diverse.

Loretta Divine was the only cast member from the original movie with the bravery to sign on for the sequel. Divine's character is a sassy security guard who saves our ditzy Abercrombie and Fitch models from certain death by showing up every time the killer is about to hack them to pieces. Once again, convenience. Hers is the only character we could remotely care about, in fact.

The identity of the killer, meanwhile, is no surprise. By process of elimination, you can determine who is behind the mask. As in any movie of this kind, just look for the character with the smallest role and the least amount of screen time, and he or she will magically appear at the end. It's not rocket science.

As for the gore, an essential element of any good horror film, don't expect very much of it. Besides one good decapitation scene, the film lacks the in-your-face gore to which we are so inexplicably drawn, and instead tries to use the element of suspense. Of course, the film ends up being about as suspenseful as an episode of "Cooking with Emeril."

Go ahead and see what the fuss is about, but just remember that you were warned. Meanwhile, I'll maintain the hope that the "Urban Legend" movies won't become a trilogy.

movie review

"Urban Legends II: The Final Cut"

Showing: Seth Childs Cinema at 4:10, 7:20 and 9:45 p.m.
Starring: Jennifer Morrison and Loretta Divine

Short stories disturb with details

Review by Kristen Dymacek
Kansas State Collegian

Thank God they're short stories.

I don't think I could have taken it if they had been any longer.

"Scar Vegas," a collection of stories written by Tom Paine, contains 10 unsettling, disturbing tales of characters on the edge of destruction.

A general who likes to wear women's underwear, a prison parolee in Las Vegas and a teen-age anarchist in Oregon are just a few of the characters Paine describes in great detail — too much detail, in fact.

Oh sure, they sound like interesting people to read about, but in reality, these aren't people you'd want to invite over to your house for Sunday dinner. These misfits are the most depressing, darkest and screwed-up people ever.

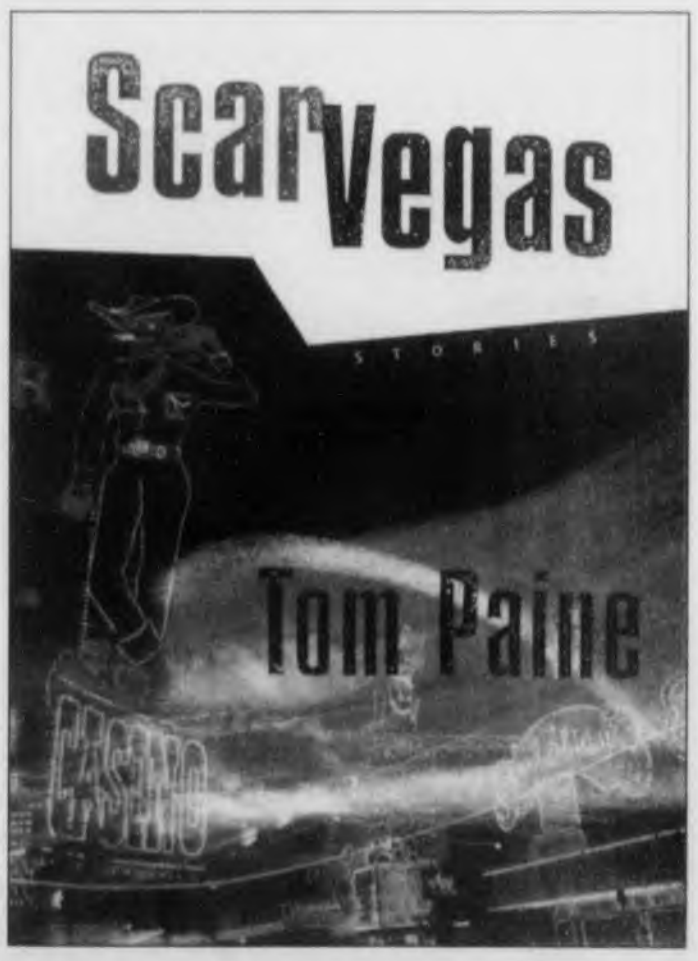
It's as if Paine looked for the most disturbing characteristics and behaviors in people, and then went one step further.

His tales seem neverending, with long paragraphs of description and little action, almost like the writings of a student in a college creative writing class. With more adjectives than a thesaurus, his character studies are nearly impossible to wade through.

As if offering an apology for the lack of action, Paine delivers a blow at the end of each tale. The problem is that the surprise endings are so strange and unusual they leave the reader stunned and asking "What? Is that the end of the story?"

His tales are on the verge of unbelievability. No two are alike, with wild plots, psychotic characters and settings ranging from the Persian Gulf and a Las Vegas casino to a Caribbean island and a Rangoon construction site.

"Scar Vegas" is Paine's attempt to try to shock, jolt and surprise, but he fails miserably because all it does is leave a feeling of disbelief and sickness.



These are definitely not bedtime stories.

book review

"Scar Vegas"

By Tom Paine

NEW RELEASES

MOVIES

"Where The Heart Is"
"American Women"
"Welcome to Hollywood"
"Waking The Dead"
"Last September"
"Final Destination"
"Screwed"
"Silencer"
"Flintstones Viva Rock Vegas"
"Screw Loose"

MUSIC

Soulfly – "Primitive"
Pearl Jam – "16/6/00: Spodnek Arena, Katowice, Poland (Live)"
Kristine W – "Stronger"
Hooverphonic – "The Magnificent Tree"
Aaron Neville – "Devotion"
Cheap Trick – "Authorized Greatest Hits"
Mystikal – "Let's Get Ready"
Shyne – "Shyne"
Irene Kral – "Kral Space"
Beck – "Stereopathic Soulmanure"

THE GONGFARMER

BY RANDY REGIER

Monkey Boy

BY BRENT ENGSTROM

SEATING

■ continued from page 1

her father, Don, who used his daughter's female roommate's student ID to enter the game.

Junior Ryan Sanshier and sophomore Jenny Grundel sat in the ICAT section for the game and were also critical of the department's decision.

"I don't like it," Sanshier said. "Now you can't have your little brother come up from high school."

Most of the criticism is centered around students not being allowed to sit with friends or family members who do not attend the university.

"I don't like it, either," Grundel said.

"It's more of a hindrance because nobody wants the responsibility of holding on to somebody else's ID."

Sophomore Missy McVicker said she doesn't like the policy either, but said for games later in the season, the policy might have more merit.

"It's pointless," McVicker said of the policy during games against poorly-ranked teams. "But I think it will serve a purpose so that it's all students and K-State fans."

VOTE

■ continued from page 1

students until the national election.

"They had a booth set up at the Career Fair, and got people to register out there," Worcester said. "They're going to be doing more to encourage students to get involved."

Matt Wolters, Governmental Relations chair, said much of the decline in voting is due to a perception of being powerless.

"A lot of students in the national election think that their vote doesn't count, and that they're just one person out of millions and millions of people that casts votes," Wolters said.

"Students will say that they're too busy, and that it takes too much time to vote, but that's really just a myth. It doesn't take any time at all."

Wolters said the committee will continue to provide information for students about registering and voting.

"Over the next three weeks we'll have a main table set up in the courtyard area in the Union, and also possibly near the food court with the necessary registration materials."

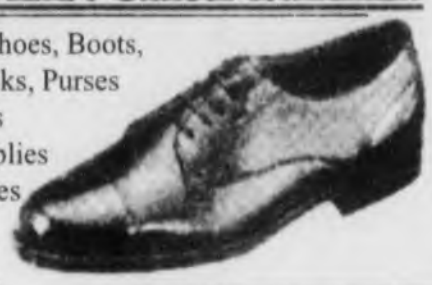
The committee also has been publicizing the online voter registration procedure that was linked to KATS on the K-State Web site.

"Currently on KATS, the university administration has put a link to the registration forms," Wolters said. "It's just a PDF-format file that you have to download, fill out and send in to whichever county you wish to be registered in."

Students who do not have time to travel to their home counties on election day now have a way to vote at their convenience.

"You can actually vote up to 20 days before the election with the new advanced voting rules that were put in place a couple years ago," Wolters said.

Step Into The Future Of Recruiting!



UMKC's Virtual Career Fair
Sept 26, 2000 - Oct 6, 2000
For complete information visit www.umkc.edu/virtualfair or call (816) 235-5520
All job seekers welcome!

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

GET IN HERE!
532-6560
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR
Repair Work On Shoes, Boots, Luggage, Backpacks, Purses And Leather Coats
Leather Craft Supplies
We Dye Satin Shoes

776-1193
216 South Fourth St.
VFW Plaza
EXPIRES 11-30-00
10% DISCOUNT ON ANY PURCHASE WITH COUPON

Fall into Birkenstock®.
Olson's Birkenstock
Aggieville
539-8571
September Sale
Arizona $10.00 off
Nashville $10.00 off
Boston $10.00 off
Birk Hiking Boots $30.00 off
© 2000 Birkenstock Footprint Sandals, Inc. All Rights Reserved
BIRKENSTOCK

Visit the Collegian online: www.kstatecollegian.com

AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE
AUTO HOME BUSINESS HEALTH LIFE

Tim Engle
K-State Grad 88
"Call us for your Health and Auto Insurance"
3320 Anderson
539-9200
American Family Mutual Insurance Co. subsidiaries
Home Office-Madison, WI 53783-0001
E-Mail tengle@amfam.com

D.A.V.
THRIFT STORE
• Affordable used clothing, furniture, kitchen items & more
• Donations accepted
• Furniture pickups available
537-9771
322 Houston
open 9-5 Mon. - Sat.
$5 BAG SALE ON ALL CLOTHING AND SHOES
20% OFF ALL OTHER ITEMS
(with coupon)
expires 10/23

Sporting Goods Auction
LONGHORNS BAR AND GRILL
Today 7:00 P.M. • 1115 Moro, Manhattan, KS
TREADMILLS • WEIGHT BENCHES • EXERCISE EQUIPMENT
KNEE BOARDS • WAKE BOARDS • TUBES • LIFE JACKETS
BARBEQUE GRILLS • SMOKER & ROASTERS • TENTS
TARPAULINS • INSTANT SHELTERS • SCOOTERS
INFLATABLE BOATS • COOLERS • GOLF CLUBS • GOLF BAGS
COLEMAN LANTERNS • COLEMAN STOVES • GAME FEEDERS
GUN CASES • AIR MATTRESSES • TROLLING MOTOR
FISHING POLES • BASKETBALL GOALS • AIR PUMPS • PUNCHING BAGS
AIR RIFLES • MUCH MORE • DELIVERY AVAILABLE
Auctioneer's Note: This sale is comprised of returned sporting goods from a major retail sporting goods supplier. Many items are still in the box and most of it is used little if at all. There is a nice selection of clean sporting goods of all kinds. Come out and enjoy an evening at the auction with us at Longhorns in Aggieville!
Free Hot Dogs served 6-7
Beverages and Refreshments sold by Longhorns throughout the auction
A GOOD TIME WILL BE HAD BY ALL!
Purple Wave Auction Company
Consignment Estate Sales Farm Auctions Business Liquidations Charity Auctions
Terms: Cash or checks with proper identification will be accepted. All merchandise must be paid for and removed the day of auction unless delivery arrangements are made. All sales are final and no warranties are expressed or implied. All information is deemed reliable but not guaranteed.

SCOREBOARD
7 BIG SCREENS
currently on satellite
• NFL Sunday Ticket
• MLB Extra Innings
• ESPN Gameplan
20 ¢ Giant Wings
(honey mustard, BBQ or spicy)
MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL
Come Play Score N Pour
20 oz. Draws $2.00
BUD GIVEAWAYS

Congratulations new initiates!
KAΘ
Love,
Your Theta Sisters

BLOOD DIRT CONTROVERSY
sound off about the cats at
GoPowercat.com
Powercat Illustrated's online supplement
http://www.gopowercat.com
message boards • chat • audio & video highlights
breaking news • recruiting • in-depth team analysis • k-state gear
©2000 Rivals.com All Rights Reserved.
GoPowercat.com is not the official team site.

McCain Auditorium's 2000-2001 Performance Series

Lilya Zilberstein, piano
SPONSOR: Meadowlark Hills
Sunday, October 1, 3 p.m.
This first-prize-winner in the Busoni Competition has performed with the Berlin Philharmonic, the Chicago, London & Vienna Symphonies, made a string of recordings for Deutsche Grammophon, and captivated audiences across the country in solo recitals. Her all-Chopin program features the Sonata No. 1, a Barcarole, four Impromptus, and Scherzo No.2. Presented in All Faiths Chapel with a pre-performance lecture by Dr. Robert Edwards.
Public $20
Senior $18
Student/Child $10

Mark Morris Dance Group
SPONSORS: The National Dance Project of the New England Foundation for the Arts, the Jeanne Wells Durkee Memorial Fund, and Friends of McCain
Friday, October 6, 8 p.m.
Seattle-born Mark Morris formed his Dance Group in 1980 and he's been making dance history ever since. His Hard Nut, a re-setting of The Nutcracker in a 1960s dysfunctional family, has become a holiday favorite and has been shown on PBS. Morris co-founded the White Oak Dance Project with Mikhail Baryshnikov and has collaborated with cellist Yo-Yo Ma, choreographing Falling Down Steps. McCain's program features My Party, Sang-Froid, The Argument, Silhouettes, and Dancing Honeymoon. All music will be performed by live musicians.
Pre-performance lecture by Elizabeth Moran.
Public $32,$28
Senior $30,$26
Student/Child $16,$14
NOTE: Q & A session with Mark Morris will immediately follow the performance.

Die Fledermaus
Tuesday, October 17, 7:30 p.m.
Join us as we raise the curtain on one of the most well loved operettas of all time, Johann Strauss's Die Fledermaus: a bubbly concoction of champagne, masquerades, amorous flirtations and practical jokes. Western Opera Theater has assembled some of the world's brightest young talents for this lively journey into the romance of Strauss's delightful melodies set in the intoxicating extravagance of late 19th century Vienna.
Pre-performance lecture by Dr. Reginald Pittman.
Public $40,$36
Senior $38,$32
Student/Child $20,$18

All events, dates and times are subject to change without notice.

Call 785-532-6428 weekdays, noon to 5 p.m.

Stop by or call the box office today. You can charge your tickets to VISA, Mastercard or Discover.

NE fa NEW ENGLAND foundation for the arts

Major funding has been provided by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Additional support provided by the K-State Fine Arts Fee, Friends of McCain, and the Heartland Arts Fund.

Hair Experts Design Team
Discover the Difference
New school year, new season and time to try something new. 15% off any service you have never experienced before.

1323 Anderson Ave.
Aggieville, Manhattan
776-4455

BLOWOUT PRICES!
79¢ Color Copies
5¢ Self-Serve Copies
$1.00 24"x36" Oversize Copies
COPY CO
MORE THAN JUST A COPY CENTER
Monday- Thursday 7a.m- 11p.m
Friday 7a.m- 9p.m
Saturday 8a.m- 9p.m
Sunday 10a.m- 11p.m
1223 Moro
Aggieville
537-2679

1116 Moro St. Aggieville (Only a few blocks south of KSU)
HUNAM EXPRESS
Chinese Food Lover's Choice
20% Off
Lunch & Dinner Buffet
Offer good till 9/30/00
Free Delivery: 537-0886
Hours: Sun. - Thurs. 11 - Midnight; Fri. - Sat. 11 - 2 am

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.
CALL 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FALL LEASING available! Call now! Fully furnished, washer/ dryer, fully equipped kitchen, alarm systems, computer lab, copier, and fax availability, fitness center/ rec room, swimming pool, reserved parking, tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. University Commons Apartments. 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

CAMPUS FIVE BLOCKS. Very large two-bedroom with air-conditioning. Clean, quiet location. Electric, gas, water, trash paid. No dogs. 537-8389.

EXCELLENT TWO-BEDROOM one block from campus. $550 per month, water/ trash paid. 341-4496.

LET US HELP you find a place to live. We may have what you need. No dogs. Leave message, 537-8389.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT. GREAT LOCATION, across street from campus. 395/ month. Water trash paid 770-8159 call evenings.

VERY NICE two-bedroom with air-conditioning. NEWLY REDECORATED, clean, quiet, convenient location. Heat, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. 537-8389.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, newly remodeled, CENTRAL AIR, two bath, washer/ dryer. 770-7230.

NEW DUPLEX. FOUR-BEDROOM, two bath, two living rooms. Available October 1. $1000/ month. Pierre St. (785)456-7655.

TWO STORY BRICK, very large, three- four-bedroom, two baths, central air, laundry hook-ups, quiet location, fenced yard, parking. 537-8389.

Trying to sell your car?
Try the Collegian Classifieds
532-6555

145 Roommate Wanted

NICE TWO-BEDROOM, two bath, furnished, washer/dryer, dishwasher, privacy deck. Sublease, tenant needed. $325/ person/ month. 537-8226.

150 Sublease

CLOSE TO CAMPUS! A very spacious one-bedroom basement apartment in a nice house. Rent: $340 a month. You only pay for electricty, phone and cable! 770-3537.

310 Help Wanted

DATA ENTRY CLERK: part-time position with busy non-profit organization. Looking for well-organized, energetic person with positive "can-do" attitude. Requires high school diploma and at least one year of data entry experience. Wage: $5.50/ hour. Job description available upon request. Please send cover letter, resume and three references to: NC-FH Area Agency on Aging, 437 Houston St., Manhattan, KS 66502 by September 29, 2000. Any questions, please call 776-9294. EOE/ AA.

FRATERNITIES· SORORITIES· CLUBS· STUDENT GROUPS. Earn $1000- $2000 this quarter with the easy Campusfundraiser.com three hour fundraising event. No sales required. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so call today! Campufundraiser.com at (888)923-3238, or visit www.campusfundraisier.com

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY Assistance Center, Director. Interim Position: This search is for internal KSU candidates only. The information Technology Assistance Center (iTAC) is the Kansas State University entry point for faculty, staff and students to find quick solutions to their IT needs. The Director supervises a full-time staff of five and several part-time employees, currently housed in Hale Library. The iTAC Director reports to the Vice Provost for Academic Services and Technology (VPAST). Salary: Commensurate with experience: $50,000- $60,000/ Annually. Qualifications: Necessary: Masters degree in some field of Information Technology or highly related field. Preferred: Ph.D. in Computer Science, Information Systems, Management Information System, Educational Technology or highly related field. For a complete description and application details contact: Rusty Taylor, Chair, iTAC Director Search Committee, 128 Bob Dole Hall, Educational Communications Center, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506, Telephone (785)532-3125 or on the World Wide Web: http://main.itac.ksu.edu/dir_pos/itac_dir.pdf or http://www.ksu.edu/vpast/position_ann.html
Review of applications will begin September 29, 2000. Start date will be negotiable upon selection of qualified applicant with target start date as soon as possible after November 1, 2000.

LANDSCAPING POSITIONS. Full-time M- F. Apply in person at Horticultural Services Inc. 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (785)494-2418 or (785)776-0397.

REAL ESTATE assistant and special projects. Need car, basic computer skills, good listener, follows instructions. 10- 20 hours/ week, flexible. Daytime 8am- 6pm, Monday- Friday. $10/ hour. Resume and references to BI Investments, PO Box 1111, Junction City, KS 66441.

WANT CASH? Sign- up your classmates for cool Internet sites, and receive a minimum of $1 per person! There's no easier way to make money! Log onto TeamMagma.com or call 1-877-866-2462.

310 Help Wanted

LEASING CONSULTANT needed immediately. Must be dependable, responsible, organized and friendly. Apply in person: Chase Manhattan Apartments.

OGDEN YOUTH Center, immediate opening, full-time youth director. Must have experience working with teens, good communication and organization skills, computer skills in MS Word and Excel. Grant writing experience and bachelors degree preferred. Must be able to work evenings. Send resume and references to Ogden Youth Center Personnel, Box 145, Ogden, KS 66517.

PHLEBOTOMIST, IMMEDIATE part-time opening in busy medical office lab. Excellent opportunity for student. Experience preferred but will train. Must be dependable and work well with patient and fellow workers. Hours: 7:30 am to 10:30 am. Apply in person at Medical Associates of Manhattan, 1133 College Avenue, Suite E-110, Manhattan, KS 66502. EOE M/F.

Spring Break Reps needed to promote campus trips. Earn easy money and travel free! All materials provided free. We train you. Work on you own time. Call 1-800-367-1252 or www.springbreakdirect.com

Spring Break 2001
Jamaica, Cancun, Florida, Barbados, Bahamas.
Now hiring campus reps. Earn 2 free trips. Free Meals. Books by Nov. 2nd. Call for FREE info pack or visit online sunsplashtours.com
1-800-426-7710

THOROUGH HOUSE cleaning under ideal circumstances for couple with no pets/ smoking/ children. Send resume to c/o Collegian, Box 1, Manhattan 66506.

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

Bobby T's
Monday Night Football
1/2 price appeetizers during the game
$1.50 bottles

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information, call (785)456-2795, www.ksu.edu/ksfc

NEED A new look? Free hair cuts, color and texture. Call for details. Hair Experts Design Team. (785)776-4455.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

100 housing/ real estate

101 Rental Wanted

FOUR 30ISH alums seeking three-bedroom, two bath apartment or house for use from October 13 at 6pm to Sunday, October 15 at noon. Will pay $400 plus deposit. Call (916)641-4065.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

Come home to relax in comfort
•Cambridge Square
•Sandstone Apts.
•Fireplaces •Carports
•Pool •Private Deck
•Laundry Facilities
•Large 2-bedroom Units
Call TODAY!!!
537-9064
Weekdays 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Showings by appointment

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, 431 Leavenworth, $360, bills paid. 539-8401.

BRAND NEW three-bedroom/ three bathroom apartment, available now, washer/ dryer included, close to campus and Aggieville. Call MDI 776-3804.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR- FIVE-BEDROOM home for rent, near campus. January 1, lease. Call (785)539-2357, 9 a.m.- 5 p.m. M- F.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for large house near campus. Large bedroom, two baths, central air, washer/ dryer. $270 plus one-fourth utilities. 776-0352.

FEMALE ROOMMATE. $265/ month, one-third utilities. Chase Manhattan Apartments. 539-7824.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. $250/ month plus one-third utilities, washer/ dryer, garage, hot tub, fireplace, sublease until June. 770-9301.

ROOMMATE WANTED for house close to vet school. $250 plus one-third utilities. 537-9943.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share a two-bedroom apartment. $250/month plus half utilities (785) 313-4182

there are PLENTY OF fish IN THE SEA . . .

SO HOOK ONE with a PERSONAL already!
103 Kedzie 532-6555

300 employment/ opportunities

310 Help Wanted

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!! Looking for part- time dealers. Multi- level market selling Indoor Air Purification Machines. Fun business, good money!!! Call Mitch at (888)814-2893.

$1500 weekly potential! mailing our circulars. For info call 203-977-1720

ARE YOU a SECONDARY EDUCATION major or GRADUATE STUDENT looking for some teaching experience? TEACHERS ARE WANTED with experience or interest in basic skills (English, communications, social studies, math and science). You must be able to operate independently, and have an interest in activity- based instruction, mastery learning, and the principles of educational psychology. Send self addressed stamped envelope to the Online High School, PO Box 1287, Manhattan, KS 66505-1287. Email to davel@network-splus.net

ARE YOU connected? Computer users wanted for free information call 1-800-310-0295. $25-$75/hour, full training, currently in 49 countries.

EQUIPMENT OPERATORS CDL Drivers Laborers. Join Kansas' fastest growing No.1 team in the sediment & erosion control industry. We're looking for experienced and entry level individuals with mechanical aptitude, full and part-time. You'll enjoy great pay while working with a great team which rewards professionalism, while having fun operating state of the art equipment. We will train the right person. We promote from within. EOE. Please Call Jim at Homestead Enterprises, (316)983-2957.

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

BUY SELL TRADE
Now Renting
Video Games, Computer Games & DVD Movies
GAME GUY
704 N. 11th Aggieville
Come get some!
537-0989

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS Camouflage clothing (including PURPLE) field jackets- Boots sleeping bags- overshoes, hunting wear. Also CARHARTT workwear. Open Mon.- Fri., 9- 5:30; Sat. 9- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS 66536. (785)437-2734.

LIKE NEW, Cannondale Mountain bike $375, Soloflex Dumbells with bench $100. Sony TV 32-inch $375. (785)537-6851.

435 Computers

YEAR OLD compact presario 1920 laptop. Like new condition. Daytime call 1-800-825-4377, after 4pm call 785-632-5980 ask for Nicole.

460 Electronic Equipment

SONY, KENWOOD, JBL, Technics, Bose, etc. Stereo and Surround. Quality used equipment, bought and sold. Call Mike (785)565-0517.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

ATTENTION K-STATE FANS. Here's your chance to attend K-STATE vs. COLORADO, Saturday, September 30, 2000. Four tickets to the game in Boulder, CO. Two rooms/ two nights lodging- Harvest Inn Motel (walking distance to the stadium and Pearl St.) Friday, September 29 and Saturday, September 30. If interested, call (785)263-2470 days, (785)263-2554 after 5p.m.

FOR SALE Two student season football tickets. (913)915-6343.

FOR SALE: Two KSU vs KU reserve seat football tickets. Call for details. (785)532-0719.

WANTED, BY KSU alumni, one student ticket to NU game. Contact Keith at Keithu@impactdsgn.net

410 Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. Open 12- 5p.m. Closed Sundays Mondays. 539-4684.

DRAFTING TABLES $50 or best offer. Great for architecture/ engineering students. Excellent shape with storage. Manhattan Area Technical College, (785)587-2800.

we kick ads.
CLASSIFIEDS • 532-6555

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1986 PONTIAC Firebird maroon A/C FM T-top. Power windows/locks. Good condition, FUN car. Call Jenny 776-8678.

1987 DODGE 600, four-door, automatic, air-conditioned, power steering, good condition, $2000 or best offer. Call (785)539-1628.

1990 PONTIAC Grand Prix four-door, power windows and locks. Air-conditioned, automatic transmission. Great school car. $2200 or best offer. (785)539-4089.

1993 FORD F150 XLT Ext. Cab. 5.8L v-8. Automatic with overdrive, 220K, with new goodyear tires, one minor dent, excellent interior condition. Power windows, locks, tilt, cruise and air. Runs great $7000. 776-4283 or (316) 271-2629

1995 DODGE Ram 2500 4x4 360 Auto. SLT Laramie. Also car stereo system. 4- JL 10 inch subs, Amps and Mids. 565-9491

1996 EAGLE Talon automatic. 59K AM/FM CD. Air conditioning custom paint, custom wheels $7500. Must see. (785) 587-9372

530 Motorcycles

1982 KAWASAKI K21000, $1300. (785)537-8878.

1992 KATANA 750, low miles, new tires. $3300 or best offer. 565-9728.

1995 KAWASAKI ZX6R Ninja. Carbon fiber, micron slipon, never wrecked. 6,600 miles. 539-8521

600 travel/ trips

630 Spring Break

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas and Florida. Earn cash and go free! Now hiring campus reps. 1-800-234-7007 endlesssummertours.com

GO DIRECT= $avings! #1 Internet-based Spring Break company offering WHOLESALE Spring Break packages (no middlemen)! Zero traveler complaints registered against us last year! ALL destinations. Lowest price guarantee! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakdirect.com

SPRING BREAK Cancun, Matzalan, Jamaica, South Padre, Florida, and Cruises. EVERYTHING included. Book your trip locally through Student Express TODAY. Best packages available. 587-0713.

WINTER BREAK/ SPRING BREAK. Ski and beach trips on sale now! www.sunchase.com or call 1-800-SUNCHASE today!

ACT NOW guarantee the best SPRING BREAK PRICES! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida & Mardigras. Reps needed. Travel free, earn$$$. GROUP DISCOUNTS FOR 6+. 800-838-8203 / www.leisure-tours.com

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.85
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.90
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.90
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

Kansas State University

STOP SURFING!!!
DO YOUR SEARCHING IN
THE 2000-2001 CAMPUS PHONE BOOK
GET YOUR COPY NOW
AVAILABLE IN KEDZIE 103 THROUGH OUT THE YEAR

000 bulletin board
100 housing/ real estate
200 service directory
300 employment/ opportunities
400 open market
500 transportation
600 travel/ trips

Monday Nite Football
On 32 TV's

10¢ WINGS DURING GAME

2 LITER BUD BOTTLES ONLY $3.95 YOU KEEP THE BOTTLE.

Rustys LAST CHANCE SALOON

BUILDING AN INTELLIGENT PORTFOLIO

Seating is limited.

Sign up today!

You're invited to the TIAA-CREF Financial Education Seminars.

Date: October 3, 4 & 5, 2000
Place: Room 207, Student Union
RSVP: Register on our website or call Teresa Nicholson at 1.800.842.2006

Taking Control of Your Personal Finances

We'll discuss the financial planning process and will focus on wealth accumulation and preservation, general information on estate planning, preservation and distribution.

Date & Time: October 3, 10:30 am
October 5, 1:00 pm

One-on-one Counseling

A TIAA-CREF Consultant will be on hand to provide free one-on-one counseling sessions, so you can get the personalized financial guidance you need to help you reach your investment goals.

Please attend the Kansas State Benefits Fair on October 4, 2000.

TIAA CREF Ensuring the future for those who shape it.™

1.800.842.2006

www.tiaa-cref.org/moc

For more complete information on our securities products, please call 1.800.842.2733, ext. 5509, to request prospectuses. Read them carefully before you invest. • TIAA-CREF Individual and Institutional Services, Inc. distributes the CREF and TIAA Real Estate variable annuities. • Teachers Personal Investors Services, Inc. distributes the Personal Annuities variable annuity component, mutual funds and tuition savings agreements. • TIAA and TIAA-CREF Life Insurance Co., New York, NY, issue insurance and annuities. • TIAA-CREF Trust Company, FSB provides trust services. • Investment products are not FDIC insured, may lose value and are not bank guaranteed. © 2000 TIAA-CREF 08/03

EVERYTHING IS 10%

OVER COST

Manhattan's never seen prices like these!

4 DAYS ONLY!

Special orders Welcome!

Mon. Sept. 25 - Thurs. Sept. 28

No other discounts advertised prices available with this sale

Corner of 12th & Laramie • Aggieville

COPENHAGEN RACING

TOUGH CO.

U.S. Tobacco

Meet
U.S. Tobacco Company Racing
Funny Car Driver

Ron Capps

for an Autograph Session

Thursday, September 28th
9:00 p.m. – 11:00 p.m.
at

Longhorn's Bar & Grill
Manhattan, Kansas

©1998 U.S. TOBACCO CO.

NOW ON SALE

Get your copy NOW

On Sale in Kedzie 103

students $3.95 • public $5.75

TODAY'S WEATHER
HIGH 80 ■ LOW 52

TUESDAY

3

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sept. 26, 2000 ■ Kansas State University ■ Manhattan, Kan. ■ Volume 105, Number 26

College sports betting under scrutiny

■ page 6

3-year grant to help under-represented students

By APRIL MIDDLETON
Kansas State Collegian

A three-year grant from Southwestern Bell and the Cargill Corporation totaling at least $10,000 per year will make expansion possible for mentoring services offered by the multicultural engineering program.

Thirkelle Howard, director of multicultural engineering, said students were interested in meeting people in their fields.

"There are over 200 under-represented multicultural students in K-State's College of Engineering," Howard said. "These black, Hispanic and Native American students need to have contact with professionals in their field."

The multicultural engineering program was established at K-State in 1977. It is designed to identify, recruit, educate and graduate multicultural students who have shown an aptitude in math or science. One of the program's goals is to foster academic and social growth. The program also assists students in making the transition into corporate society after graduation, Howard said.

The multicultural engineering program's mentoring program was developed to help meet these goals. The mentoring program operates through e-mail and face-to-face meetings.

Students will be matched with professionals of similar race, ethnicity, gender and academic major to establish regular e-mail contact. Howard said contact should occur at least once a week.

The program also hopes to bring in black, Hispanic and American Indian professionals to meet with students.

"This is a great opportunity for students," said Chris Hernandez, junior in electrical engineering and president of the Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers. "Here in the Midwest, we don't have much exposure to minority engineers that have made it. The caliber of speakers they can bring in with this money will be remarkable."

Hernandez said it is encouraging to get a chance to meet minority professionals who have reached the same goals students are striving for.

The multicultural engineering program sponsors three student organization chapters: the American Indian Science and Engineering Society, the National Society of Black Engineers and the Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers. Howard said the grant money would be used to bring professionals in and meet with students in all three of these organizations.

"We want students to have the opportunity to actually meet with multicultural professionals in their field of study," Howard said. "We will use the grant money to pay for the professionals' lodging and travel to assist them in visiting our student organizations throughout the year."

Randy Allen, junior in computer engineering and president of the National Society of Black Engineers, said the mentoring program will be beneficial to students in the College of Engineering because many students don't understand what the corporate world is like.

"A lot of students come to college unprepared. Sometimes they graduate unprepared," Allen said. "If we get a chance to meet professionals in our field we will know what will be expected of us after graduation."

Allen said students who are able to keep contact with professionals in their field have a great advantage when they enter the job market.

"It's important for students to be prepared for life after college," Allen said. "By visiting with professionals we get a chance to learn what employers expect us to know when we're done with school."

Regents to hear funding proposal

By NICK BRATKOVIC
Kansas State Collegian

Members of the Kansas Board of Regents will hear the second reading of a proposal next month that would change the way the state's universities are funded.

Regent members heard the first reading of a bill last week during the board's September meeting.

Tom Rawson, K-State associate vice president for administration and finance, said the bill would make Kansas' system for funding higher education comparable to other states by giving more control to the universities.

One key facet of the bill would be ownership of tuition, which would make the tuition part of university revenue rather than state money.

Rawson also said the proposal would change the way the universities submit budget requests.

"I think this would help us to migrate to a model that is common for other states," Rawson said. "It

See REGENTS on PAGE 10

Researchers study youth in Kansas

By APRIL MIDDLETON
Kansas State Collegian

K-State researchers are relying on students from 16 Kansas middle schools to help determine if schools that build and promote healthy environments are able to improve behavior in students.

Through K-State's Healthy Youth Places Project, students and schools will be cooperating to develop healthy environments. They will provide researchers data on the effectiveness of their efforts.

"The project focuses on teaching people to build healthy places which leads to long-term behavioral change," said David Dzewaltowski, the project's principal investigator and head of the Department of Kinesiology and the Kansas Health Foundation Professor of Community Health at K-State.

Jennie Hill, graduate student in kinesiology, said the project is designed differently than many other studies that attempt to develop healthy behaviors in children. Hill is helping in data collection and entry for the project.

"This project revolves around

See RESEARCH on PAGE 10

PLAY DAY

ABOVE: Helen Carter, 4, hugs Nikolaj Reiser, 4, on the playground at CICo Park Monday afternoon. Carter and Reiser are in preschool at Oak Grove Preschool and were there with their class to enjoy the afternoon weather.

LEFT: Irlanda Gutierrez, freshman in secondary education, closes her eyes as Nikolaj Reiser, 4, moves hair out of her eyes while they play on the playground Monday afternoon at CICo Park. Gutierrez works at Oak Grove Preschool and was at the park helping watch the preschoolers play.

PHOTOS BY JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

Former Jayhawk basketball star stabbed at Boston nightclub Monday

By JUSTIN POPE
The Associated Press

BOSTON — Paul Pierce of the Boston Celtics was stabbed in the face, neck and back while in the pool room of a nightclub early Monday and was listed in fair condition.

The 22-year-old player underwent surgery, Boston radio station WEEI-AM said, quoting an unidentified hospital source. New England Medical Center would not release information except to list his condition.

"He's doing fine. We're all hoping for a speedy recovery," coach Rick Pitino said as he left the hospital.

Pierce, a cornerstone of the struggling team, was stabbed about 1 a.m. while at a private event at the Buzz Club in the city's theater district, police spokeswoman Mariellen Burns said.

"He was very lucky. He had the angels on his side."

K.C. Jones, former Celtics standout and coach

She added that he apparently was with several friends, including at least one teammate she did not identify but several broadcast reports said was Tony Battie. The friends drove Pierce to the hospital.

Police said they were investigating witness reports that the fight involved people connected to the local rap group Made Men. A member of Made Men known as Antonio 2G was one of five people stabbed during an altercation during a rap show at the FleetCenter in April.

There were no immediate arrests in Pierce's stabbing, but police said they believed he was stabbed by one man.

"We're not sure what the altercation was about," Burns said. "We're not even sure Mr. Pierce and his friends were involved in what this altercation was about."

Former Celtics star and coach Tommy Heinsohn said Pierce had been wearing a leather jacket, which helped protect him. Burns could not confirm that.

The nightclub, which operates under different names at different times of the week, would be cited for allowing an attack on its premises, Burns said. She said there have been several other violations, including at least two assaults, at the club in the past year.

"He was very lucky," said K.C. Jones, a former Celtics standout and coach. "He had the angels on his side."

Pierce, 6-foot-7 and 220 pounds, averaged 19.5 points for the Celtics last season. He ranks second in the NBA in steals per game with 2.08.

Pierce, Boston's most complete player, played forward and guard last season for a team trying to break a streak of five seasons without making the playoffs.

He is one of the few mainstays on a club that has undergone considerable change since Pitino became coach before the 1997-98 season. Pierce is an outstanding defender and aggressive rebounder with good shooting range.

Pierce, an All-American at the University of Kansas, was drafted in the first round in 1998 after his junior season.

Kansas head coach Roy Williams said Monday he was "shocked and saddened" by the incident and called Pierce "one of the greatest young men I have ever been around."

"Right now it's just too early to tell what the final word on this will be," Williams said.

CONTACT US

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
532-0729 rdunn@collegianmail.com

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
532-0729 tehmke@collegianmail.com

Steve Dearinger Photo Editor
532-5492 sdearinger@collegianmail.com

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
532-0730 jbarrett@collegianmail.com

Sarah Bahari City & Government Editor
532-0730 sbahari@collegianmail.com

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
532-0732 kdymacek@collegianmail.com

Derek Boss Sports Editor
532-0732 dboss@collegianmail.com

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
532-0732 eschneweis@collegianmail.com

Ken Wells Online Editor
532-6556 kwells@collegianmail.com

Becky Wilson Copy Chief
532-0732 bwilson@collegianmail.com

Sara Martin Design Editor
532-0731 smartin@collegianmail.com

Jim Calvert Ad Manager
532-6560 jimcalvert@collegianmail.com

Alissa Duncan Assistant Ad Manager
532-6560 aduncan@collegianmail.com

Molly Brammer Online Ad Manager
532-6560 molly@collegianmail.com

BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Display advertising	532-6560
Classified advertising	532-6555
Delivery Problems	532-6555
Photo Reprints	532-6304

BY MAIL

Kansas State Collegian
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

ON THE WEB

www.kstatecollegian.com

The Kansas State Collegian
(USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 2000

KU professors complain of faculty discrimination

LAWRENCE — The state branch of the American Association of Professors is reviewing the tenure process at the University of Kansas after several faculty members complained of discrimination.

A team from the Kansas AAUP interviewed six current and former professors from the university's campuses in Lawrence and Kansas City, Kan., and forwarded a report to the national organization for consideration.

The state committee, which began its inquiry in April, recommended the national group investigate the way the university handled personnel files, tenure procedures and discrimination complaints.

Several lawsuits have been filed against the university for discrimination, some of them unsuccessful. The AAUP state committee did not reveal who was interviewed, but at least one faculty member who has sued, journalism professor Mike Cuenca, said the group talked to him.

Faculty members from the Lawrence campus told the state team that they do not have access to their personnel files and must sign the files turned over to tenure committees without being able to review them for accuracy.

— The Associated Press

Shawnee County sheriff appeals for authorization

TOPEKA — Former Shawnee County Sheriff Dave Meneley wants a judge to overturn a state agency's order that stripped him of the certificate he needs to work as a law enforcement officer in Kansas.

A three-member panel of the Kansas Law Enforcement Training Commission ordered Meneley in July to surrender his law enforcement certificate. The panel said Meneley had "exhibited a lack of good moral character."

At the time, Meneley called the committee a "kangaroo court" playing politics at the behest of Attorney General Carla Stovall.

His attorneys, Jonathan and Margie Phelps, said the panel "improperly, arbitrarily, capriciously and unreasonably" refused to admit any evidence offered by Meneley, including transcripts of evidence and his appeal of his ouster from office.

The request had been assigned to district Judge Nancy Parrish, but Parrish recused herself because a staff member in her office is related to a sheriff in an adjoining county. Another judge hasn't been assigned.

Meneley was ousted from the sheriff's office Feb. 24, when two Shawnee County district judges ruled that he had committed perjury on two occasions and concealed evidence.

Meneley faces a preliminary hearing starting Oct. 30 on two felony counts of misuse of public funds, 17 felony theft counts and one misdemeanor charge of using money he received as a political contribution for his personal use.

Meneley also faces retrial Nov. 13 on two counts of criminal perjury. His first trial ended with a deadlocked jury.

— The Associated Press

Many accidents caused by small group of drivers

WICHITA — Serious traffic accidents, those involving personal injury or at least $500 in damage, are concentrated among a small percentage of Kansas drivers a new study shows.

The Wichita Eagle analyzed the Department of Transportation's accident database for 1990 through 1999 and reviewed hundreds of pages of accident reports.

In the first of a series of stories, published Sunday, the newspaper said about 2,000 Kansas drivers had five or more serious accidents during the decade. At least 20 of them were involved in 10 accidents or more, and most have kept their licenses.

"I just would never have dreamed that you could have that many accidents and still retain a driver's license," said Dick Yauk, who lost two grandchildren last year in a crash that was the 10th serious accident for Wichita resident Michael Jenkins.

But state officials say there are no provisions for taking the licenses of drivers involved in numerous accidents. The state can restrict the licenses of repeat traffic offenders, although it rarely does.

"I just seem to be in the wrong place at the wrong time," said James Wadsworth of Hoisington, who had 13 serious accidents in the past decade. "It's just like everybody sees my car, and they zero in on it."

The sheer number of accidents involving such a small group — about 1 of every 1,000 licensed drivers — surprised state and local officials. Many said they had no idea there were drivers with 10 serious wrecks in a decade.

"That displays some pretty bad driving habits or the worst luck I've ever heard of," said Wichita police Lt. Ron Harris.

— The Associated Press

ON RECORD

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ An informational meeting for students interested in studying in Germany will take place at 12:30 p.m. today in Fairchild 304. Opportunities exist for six students to win scholarships for a year abroad in Germany or Switzerland. Call the Office of International Programs at 532-5990 for more information.

■ The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Harold J. Henning, "Early Embryo Loss in the Prepubertal Gilt – a Model for Miscarriage," at 12:30 p.m. today in Weber 111.

■ The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Shawn A. Noble, "Towards a Better Understanding of Conceptual Skills: the Role of Locus of Control, Self-Efficacy and Goal-Setting Habits in a Self-Regulatory System," at 2:15 p.m. today in Bluemont 452.

■ The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Ashis Mukhopadhyay, "Ellipsometric Study of Surface Phenomena," at 2:30 p.m. today in Cardwell 220.

■ Order of Omega will meet at 6 p.m. today at Pat's Blue Rib'n Barbeque.

■ KSU Juggling Club will have an organizational meeting at 6:30 p.m. today in Union 213. Free juggling lessons for all attendants. E-mail juggle@ksu.edu for more info.

■ KSU Trapshooting Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. today in Union 205. All students, faculty and staff are welcome. For more information, e-mail tgugle@flinthills.com.

■ Education Council will meet at 7 p.m. today in Bluemont 106.

■ Society for Creative Anachronisms/Shire of the Spinning Winds will meet at 7 p.m. today in the southeastern part of City Park.

■ Career & Employment Services will conduct a Winning Interviews Workshop at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday in Union 212.

■ Golden Key Executive Board will meet at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday in Union Council Chambers.

■ Individuals for Freethought will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Union 207.

■ Christian Explorers will meet at 9 p.m. Wednesday it the ECM Campus Center, 1021 Denison, for Bible discussion.

■ The K-State Community Service Program is accepting applications for the America Reads–America Counts Tutoring Program. Interested applicants must have work-study. Tutors work one-on-one with area elementary students in reading and math. For more information, contact Angie at 532-5701 or e-mail ksuserve@ksu.edu.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Riley County

Sunday, Sept. 24

■ At 6 p.m., Robert M. Culbertson, Randolph, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $2,500.

■ At 8:10 p.m., Jason D. Smith, Riley, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 8:15 p.m., Sammy L. Dunavant, Junction City, was arrested for driving without a license. Bond was set at $300.

■ At 10:40 p.m., David J. Elliott, Haymaker 131, was arrested for possession of a controlled substance.

■ At 10:40 p.m., Nicholas P. Grillo, Haymaker 123, was arrested for possession of a controlled substance.

Mondy, Sept. 25

■ At 2:07 a.m., Nikki L. Bush, 2133 Patricia Place, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 2:26 a.m., Cody W. King, Topeka, was arrested for obstructing the legal process.

K-State Police

■ No reports of note were made.

CORRECTIONS & CLARIFICATIONS

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Jenn Davoren at 532-6556 or e-mail collegn@ksu.edu.

American Legion
BINGO!
Sunday 2 p.m.
Tuesday 1:30 p.m.
Wednesday 7:30 p.m.
"Progressive Bingo"
Sundays & Wednesdays
- Win Big Bucks -
114 McCall Rd.

36 days to Halloween!
Claflin Books and Copies

WIN A TRIP FOR TWO TO AFRICA
This year the cast of MTV's 'The Real World' went to Africa.
Now you can too!
THE REAL WORLD
Enter for a chance to win at your local Council Travel office or at counciltravel.com
This trip to Africa is provided by Contiki worldwide vacations for 18 to 35 year olds
virgin atlantic
No Purchase Necessary. Open to residents of U.S., between the ages of 18 and 35 as of 9/5/00. Void where prohibited. See agency for Official Rules or go to counciltravel.com. Sweepstakes ends 10/15/00.
Council Travel
counciltravel.com
1-800-2COUNCIL

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

KSU Softball Club
Women's Fastpitch
Informational Meeting
September 21
7:30 p.m.
Union 213
Questions??? Call Jon Rich 776-7437

THAT WAS A @$#%&!# CALL
sound off about the cats at
GoPowercat.com
Powercat Illustrated's online supplement
http://www.gopowercat.com
message boards • chat • audio & video highlights
breaking news • recruiting • in-depth team analysis • k-state gear
©2000 Rivals.com All Rights Reserved.
GoPowercat.com is not the official team site.

D.A.V.
THRIFT STORE
• Affordable used clothing, furniture, kitchen items & more
• Donations accepted
• Furniture pickups available
537-9771
322 Houston
open 9-5 Mon. - Sat.
$5 BAG SALE ON ALL CLOTHING AND SHOES
20% OFF ALL OTHER ITEMS
(with coupon)
expires 10/23

teamlogogear.com
featuring officially licensed "logo" merchandise for Free Shipping
GREEK - COLLEGE - PRO
clothing-candles-pajamas-flags-backpacks-blankets-luggage-caps-tailgate party gear-jewelry & many more hard-to-find "logo" items

Fresh Eyes™

more than just a good idea...
it's a promise!
™FRESH EYES is a great deal you'll only get from the EyeDoctors!
FOR ONE PRICE
■ Complete eye examination!
■ A new pair of contact lenses every three months! (Four new pairs!)
■ Six month lens evaluation & check-up!
■ A full year supply of lens solution!
Only the EyeDoctors can bring you FRESH EYES™.. our exclusive lens system with everything you need for a full year at one affordable price. Visit the EyeDoctors soon to find out if FRESH EYES™ is for you!
The EyeDoctors™ Optometrists
DRS. PRICE, YOUNG, ODLE, HORSCH P.A. AND ASSOCIATES
(913) 537-1118
3012 Anderson ■ Manhattan, Kansas 66502

Free Nokia Phone
(some restrictions apply)
Walk & Talk
No Money Down!
authorized dealer CELLULARONE
COPY CO
MORE THAN JUST A COPY CENTER
Mon. - Thurs. 7 a.m.-11 p.m.
Friday 7 a.m. - 9 p.m.
Saturday 8 a.m. - 9 p.m.
Sunday 10 a.m. - 11 p.m.
1223 Moro-Aggieville • 537-2679

$2 TUESDAYS
5 to 8
$2 Big Beers
$2 Mixed Drinks
$1 Taco Bar
$2 Shots
$2 Bottles
Rustys
LAST CHANCE SALOON

New Community Technology Center allows for convenient access to online computers

By JAMIE BARRETT
Kansas State Collegian

Zia Ahmadi is convinced that technology is the key to future success.

Through the Community Technology Center in the Manhattan Public Library, Executive Director Ahmadi sees success as a possibility for anyone.

"Technology is always changing and we have to keep up with it," Ahmadi said. "The center provides the public with ways to access technology since it is so vital to our world and work."

The technology center was opened in association with the Community Online Resource Exchange in September 1999 and houses 14 computers that are open to the public. Ahmadi said the center thrives due to help from the community and the volunteers that work at the center.

"We are open and running due to the fact that we have volunteers to help us out," Ahmadi said. "We would not be here if it was not for them."

Nathan Fosse, junior in pre-law, is one of the volunteers at the center. He said he sees the opportunity as vital to his college experience.

"There are so many things I learn as a volunteer here that I would never learn in a classroom alone," Fosse said. "I wanted to volunteer here because there are good career incentives and it is such a great way to get experience."

Fosse said he began volunteering on Friday and wanted to get involved with the technology center because it will help him in his future plans.

"Computers and technology is imperative in out vastly changing work environment," Fosse said. "There are good career incentives for people who volunteer in the field they are interested in."

Ahmadi said the technology center attracts people from all over. He said in a given day there could be a group of high school students to businessmen using the center.

"We get people from all walks of life," Ahmadi said. "The community responds well to the center."

Jennifer Small, senior in English literature and French and volunteer for the center, said her favorite thing about the center is working with many different people.

"There are so many different people that come in here," she said. "By doing this I am learning how to help people and understand where they are coming from."

"Knowledge of technology is a requirement for our world today. Being involved with the center is a step in the right direction for everyone who uses it."

Zia Ahmadi
Executive Director, Manhattan Public Library

Small said the center is beneficial to the Manhattan community because it is a free service that all people are encouraged to use.

"Computers are essential to the future and everyone should have the chance to get to use them," Small said. "We are helping people learn."

Ahmadi said the center offers workshops to provide computer literacy for the public as well.

"We have short workshops on computer applications to help anyone who wants to learn about how to use computers and certain programs," he said.

Ahmadi said the center is a worthwhile service for people who come to use it and for the people who become involved with the center itself.

"It is a meaningful project," Ahmadi said. "Knowledge of technology is a requirement for our world today. Being involved with the center is a step in the right direction for everyone who uses it."

Educational Communication Center helps rural residents seek higher learning

By AMBER CUNNINGHAM
Kansas State Collegian

Sue Maes is out to help rural communities receive access to higher education.

Maes, senior development officer for the Educational Communication Center at K-State, will be inducted into the International Adult and Continuing Education Hall of Fame on Nov. 12 for her work with expanding adult opportunities in continuing education.

"I work with a team of people helping to develop proposals to aid educational outreach across western Kansas," Maes said.

Maes helped establish the UFM Community Learning Center, a community-based education and service center. She is also the senior associate of the Rural Clearinghouse for Lifelong Education and Development, a national organization that promotes education opportunities for rural adults.

Maes said 30 to 40 communities in Kansas have started UFM Community Learning Centers. She said some have been picked up by local Parks and Recreation facilities.

"It is so exciting when someone realizes they have the capacity to learn," Maes said. "UFM allows people to learn something new without fear of grades."

Maes said UFM is an opportunity to find a person's real passion and to empower communities to get involved.

"Anyone could teach, anyone could learn," Maes said. "Bringing people together is a fun part of my life."

Beth Tarko worked with Maes in the continuing education department, helping to write proposals and to prepare grants. Tarko said she had been affected very much by Maes.

"She always provided opportunities for people around her to advance themselves," Tarko said. "She has a willingness to give to so many people and is so involved in the Manhattan community."

It is important for communities to interact and learn from each other, Maes said.

"Community and personal improvement along with the rewards you get from helping others makes life great," she said. "It helps build a community that I want to live in."

Maes said she also enjoys the classroom time. She is currently teaching a grant writing class through K-State.

"Small communities need skills," Maes said. "They are searching for money for their communities."

However, the biggest part of Maes' job is writing proposals for grants and then spending time researching how to improve the education field.

"I am intrigued with how to make the distance learning part of the class room better," she said.

Maes said integrating multimedia in the classroom and providing hands on experience for students will enable students after graduating to use multimedia in their fields.

Helping rural adults gain access to higher education has been a job for Maes for over the past 25 years. Recognition for her efforts has finally come in the nomination for the International Adult and Continuing Education Hall of Fame.

The purpose of the Hall of Fame is to acknowledge men and women who have made distinguished contributions to the field of adult and continuing education The Hall of Fame also serves as a record and inspiration to future generations of continuing education leaders.

"This is a special recognition," Maes said. "I am honored to be among a group of colleagues so highly important to the education field."

This in not the end of the line for Maes, who said she already has her next project lined up.

"I am really excited about this new project," Maes said. "A group of peers will come together to build a set of policies about graduate distant education."

Maes said her husband's support is what helps her balance her many professional obligations with her home life.

"I have a wonderful husband who never says you're not traveling again," she said. "He is a very cooperative spouse who does laundry and cooked waffles this morning for breakfast."

Maes' husband, Dennis Hemmendinger, said he is proud of his wife's accomplishments.

"It is exciting and makes me feel as though my children have a good role model," Hemmendinger said. "Her ambition, follow-through and basic values shows that she works on a national level for causes she believes in."

call the forum:
tell us about it
395-4444

©2000 GIRLFIGHT, INC.

SCREEN GEMS
©2000 SCREEN GEMS, INC. ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.
in association with Playtex TAMPONS
Girls Night Out!
presents a
FREE ADVANCE SCREENING
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
@ Seth Childs Cinema - 2610 Farm Bureau Road
7 PM Tuesday, September 26
FREE ADMISSION* while passes last
INFO?: call 532-6571
* Passes available at the UPC Office, 3rd Floor, K-State Student Union.
Passes required. Seating is limited and not guaranteed. Please arrive early.
Presented in association with Union Program Council.
also sponsored by salonselectives
see it. do it.
K-STATE STUDENT UNION
UNION PROGRAM COUNCIL
NETWORK EVENT THEATER

New rules counterproductive to greek community

CLINT MUDRICK

What do you get when you put 40 sorority women in a frat house?

For all the possible punch lines, the reality may be the most ridiculous of all. If legislation passes through Panhellenic Council, it might soon become a finable offense for too many women of one sorority to be at a wet fraternity.

First, a little history. It was passed down from nationals to K-State sororities a year ago that sororities were no longer allowed to have functions at the houses of fraternities that have yet to pay lip service to the trend of going dry.

To those lost in the "wet" and "dry" definitions, it has nothing to do with whether we fratties use a washer or a dry-cleaner to clean our Abercrombie shirts; rather, the term refers to where alcohol is allowed within a fraternity house.

In its purest form — as in its use in "dry rush" — the term "dry" means, unequivocally, no alcohol is to be supplied to rushees. Such an application of the rule is concrete, enforceable and perfectly acceptable.

The push from nationals for fraternities to go dry has blurred the definition entirely. For insurance purposes and to ease pressure from alumni, several wet houses have recently gone dry. These houses have changed little; drinking activities are simply relocated from the basement to within individual rooms or bars.

Thus, we arrive at the present situation. Wet fraternities are now enemies of the peace. A sorority is no longer able to have a party with a wet fraternity without renting out Gumby's for the function. I can hear already the half-hearted sighs from those outside the greek community, heartbroken that we wet houses will no longer be able to afford parties and T-shirts. I'm afraid any more discussion along these lines would ignite another greek/non-greek tirade, so I'll get back to the subject.

Specifics are not yet available, but the general idea of the law being considered is as follows. If a certain percentage of a sorority is at a wet house at any given time, that sorority will be fined. Let us examine the message such a rule would be sending to groups surrounding this situation.

For sororities, at least the ones being regulated, the rule signifies that these college girls are not capable of making decisions on their own. As a result, they must be protected from the evil wet-house boys by Big Brother (in this case, Big Nationals Sister) and told where to go and when to go there. Individualism and freedom appear to be hazy terms, relative not on free will but trendy wet/dry terminology.

For wet houses, the message is slightly clearer. If we wish to continue to be able to see sorority girls in any capacity, we had better conform to the prevailing winds of greek political Correctness.

Finally and most damaging, those outside the greek community can pick up a attractive view of both fraternities and sororities. A quick look at a guest list for an upcoming party gives an illustration of the problem. Next to each woman must now be written the sorority she is in; if they are not in a house, she gets the "independent" sign, intensifying the labeling image many Greeks would like to shed.

Nationals no longer want girls to be looked at individually, but rather as members of an indistinguishable group. Failure to do so can cause a fraternity to get a sorority fined.

Has not the "generic sheep" stigma been one we in the greek community have for years been trying to avoid? Is one of the goals of the greek system to force conformity to trends? If so, this rule is perfect. If not, greek alumni need to understand negative images cannot be shed by reinforcing such beliefs with hazy terminology and elitist practices.

So what lies ahead? Rules keep getting stricter, fun keeps getting harder to come by, and we in the greek community continue to shoot ourselves in the foot with ridiculous rules enforcing trendiness and lack of individuality. Soon, if we wet houses don't say we're giving up the drink, sorority women might be prohibited by nationals to smile at us.

Clint is a junior in computer information. You can e-mail him at cmudrick@collegianmail.com.

VINCE JACOBSON/Collegian

CAMPUS fourum 395-4444

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions on topics relevant to the publication.

Weird Al was the coolest thing to come to Manhattan, since, well, ever.

■

I was wondering if we are going start having to use our IDs to get into class now.

■

I just want to say thank you to the kind gentlemen who picked me up at the far end of the parking lot and brought me to my dorm in the cold weather. Thank you.

■

Advertisement: space for rent — meat locker — because it is kind of cold in these dorm rooms where they haven't turned on the heat. Isn't that nice of them?

■

As for the person that wanted to know how we got first place when we haven't even played people in the top 20 — shut up.

■

This is another message from the Cats' Den: not only do we still not sell Coke, but we don't sell coffee, either.

■

Where can I go to sign my life away and still have a free pair of sunglasses and a waterbottle?

■

Did anyone from the equestrian team make the Olympics this year?

Historic section of Hale Library raises questions as to which buildings suit certain personalities

ZAC COOK

On second thought, I must have had way too much time on my hands. I was walking on the main sidewalk heading from Willard Hall to the K-State Student Union for lunch. There was plenty of eye candy strolling the boardwalk; however, I must have been sick because I was ignoring the sweetness. Instead, I found myself examining trees, flowers and those 2-by-4-foot, 400-pound signs that sit in front of every building.

The one I found myself staring at was "Historic Farrell Library." I pondered that for a second. Yep, Farrell seems historic. It's old, it smells funny and the cornerstone's date of birth was 1926. But in my intellectual pondering, I wondered what other signs on this campus might be privileged enough to bear the divine title of "historic." I ran all over campus checking signs. Really, I didn't. But over the next few weeks, I just checked for the aforementioned signage. No other building had it. I heard limestone shaking as the Farrell section of Hale Library laughed.

How could this thing called a library be so historic? Sure, the murals in the massive room that hosts Greek study hours are strangely reminiscent of Michelangelo, and there are lots of books in there, as well as some pretty cool stained glass. But, as Austin Powers would say, "That's about all."

I turned elsewhere to search for answers, and what I found shocked me. KSU Stadium was downright hostile. "How," Wagner asked, "may the glorious victory of my Wildcat soldiers over the demons of Husker-lore on the fortnight of November MCMXCVIII not be historic?!?"

Anderson Hall demanded a recount of historic votes. "I house your president, 12-foot doorways and creaky stairs!"

The K-State Student Union couldn't understand the injustice. "Bring me your SGA, your nude art gallery displays, your poor and huddled masses of college students and I will make them strong. I house the most diversity and historic events."

My interviews would not cease until I had reaction from all buildings. Once completed, I realized the buildings on campus represent students, each one vitally important to the collective personality of K-State. Here now are my horoscopes for a select few of K-State students' personality types. Or as Bill Engvall would say, "Here's your sign."

1) Farrell Library type. You think you are better than other students because of your title, whatever it may be. You tend to act like you rule the world and know everything because you are president/editor in chief/big man on the totem pole of a certain group. Word to your mother. Doesn't matter what kind of history your sign says you have. Try to not be so aloof, before you are mobbed by rabid squirrels with no mercy. Your job is important, but so are other people.

2) Rathbone Hall type. You think life is best managed by having a two-faced personality. One sign on the east side of the building, one sign on the north, betting that no one will ever see both at the same time and see how different the fonts are on each side of your personality. You are lying to yourself, and a greater inner peace will come when you figure your life out and live under one principle instead of two. Don't worry if you are this way; you've got close friends Durland and Fiedler to give you support. Note: If you actually have friends with these first names, I'm sorry.

3) Ackert Hall type. Right now there is beginning to be a very big hole in your life. Don't worry, things will come around before too long. In a few years, you will have a new friend, attached at the hip. The stars seem to be pointing to marriage.

4) K-State Student Union type. You are open to anything, including a nude art exhibit. You love diversity and seeing all the different people every day. You sponsor many social functions and try to do so many things at once that you get very tired and must go to bed at 11 p.m., lest you be cranky.

5) Ahearn Field House type. You are a legend on campus for something you did way back in the day. Every time people see you, they instantly say, "Hey, there is that guy that was Scurvy Boy back in the Derb!" I hope you did something that people smile about and not frown.

6) Seaton Hall type. Your life seems to be like a work in progress, similar to a freshman. In fact, you are a freshman. No, wait you must be a seventh year senior who still doesn't know what you are going to do. Your pet name is Tommy Boy.

7) Anderson Hall type. Referring to above, you feel as if you are twelve feet tall. Nothing gets you down. You are a model student and a great role model for the university. Your age doesn't seem to matter because of your happiness. Your image has probably been trademarked.

8) KSU Stadium type. Still angry that you are not recognized for much at all, you seek to further your cause by repeating a historic event of 730 days ago. You will once again host history.

Wildcats of all types, I bid you adieu. I have an interview with the Jardine Terrace Apartments, the newest recipient of a sign.

Zac is a junior in biological and agricultural engineering You can e-mail him at zcook@collegianmail.com.

Gambling addictions in need of attention

More than 5 million Americans deal with pathological gambling.

U.S. Sen. Sam Brownback, along with several others, are attempting to help this situation by stopping college sports gambling. Not only will the two proposed bills that have stemmed from this attempt have an effect in terms of collegiate athletics, but it will also have an effect on prohibiting gambling on events such as the Olympic Games.

It is one thing to have a bet with a friend about a K-State game and have the "prize" be a case of beer but it is another to bet an entire paycheck on a game. (We do realize that the paychecks of some students are worth the same of a case of beer.)

Gambling can be a fun thing to do as long as it is kept under control. Some students have blown their entire loan checks at the casinos without even realizing it. It is an addiction that can be hard to ward off.

Yet, ultimately, even with restrictions those who have a gambling problem will most likely find ways around it.

Those individuals are the ones who are responsible for their own behavior.

However, some people have the gambling addiction start before they are aware of the extent of their actions.

According to the National Gambling Impact Study Commission, 1.1 million adolescents, ages 12 to 17, are equivalent to five percent of America's 20 million teens who engage in annual pathological gambling.

Kudos to Brownback and others who are trying to keep collegiate athletics as clean as possible.

▶ OUR VIEW is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
Jenn Davoren News Editor
Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
Sarah Bahari City/Government Editor
Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
Derek Boss Sports Editor
Becky Wilson Copy Chief
Sara Martin Design Editor

MICHAEL YOUNG/Collegian

HERON EARTH

A heron wades in the shallow waters of a cove on the east side of Tuttle Creek Lake on Thursday afternoon. Herons are tall, wading birds of the stork order, which can be found in wet areas in all temperate and tropical parts of the world.

Backpacks cause back problems

By ANGIE JOHNSON
Kansas State Collegian

Carrying a backpack might be stylish and accessible, but it might not be the best thing for your back.

According to recreational services fitness consultant Travis Redeker, junior in kinesiology, it completely depends on the type of bag you choose and the way you decide to wear it.

"We definitely suggest carrying bags with two straps and wearing both straps on your shoulders," Redeker said.

Although a new line of backpacks with only one strap across the chest seems fashionable, they could possibly cause back problems later in life.

"Carrying more than 15 percent of your body weight on your back is unhealthy," Redeker said.

Besides the importance of your bag, back problems are often caused by leaning to pick up things, instead of using your legs and by practicing bad posture.

"The techniques that we start now, such as eating well, exercising and just leading a healthy lifestyle, will pay off in the long run," said Rikki Comfort, senior in nutrition and exercise and fitness consultant.

Students should also consider exercising their abdominal muscle, at the same time as their back. A routine stretching of the body becomes a healthy habit for those who exert more tension on their backs than normal.

"In the wellness center at the Rec, we have posters for students to get an idea of what they can do on a regular basis to keep their backs in shape," Comfort said. "We have exercises like the cat stretch, upper trunk raise, and lower trunk rotation, that we suggest to students having trouble with their backs."

Concentrating on the amount of weight forced on your back, your type of backpack and your posture will prevent long-term difficulties associated with your back.

"I have owned the backpack that I wear for about four years and keep wearing it because it is so comfortable," Stacey Levendofsky, freshman in psychology, said.

Levendofsky said she does not experience too many problems with her backpack, but has soreness that could be caused by a variety of things.

"Occasionally my back is sore, but I've never thought that it would actually be the bag that I use to carry books," she said.

Redeker said it is important that students are aware, although it may not seem significant now, that your backpack really does make a difference.

READERS WRITE

Political debate to be open to public at Beach Museum

Editor:

In the summer of 1858, in a closely contested U.S. Senate race in Illinois, a political underdog — Abraham Lincoln — challenged frontrunner Stephen Douglas to a series of political debates. Through the course of seven political debates that summer, Lincoln overcame Douglas and won the Illinois U.S. Senate seat.

One hundred and forty-two years later, the two main candidates for the president of the United States are preparing to continue the tradition of engaging in political debates. Republican George Bush and Democrat Al Gore have agreed to debate at least three times — on Oct. 3, at 8 p.m. in Boston; on Oct. 11, at 8 p.m. in Wake Forest, N.C.; and on Oct. 17, 8 p.m. in St. Louis.

The Department of Speech Communication is pleased to participate in DebateWatch 2000 and sponsor debate forums for each of the three presidential debate forums.

At these forums, speech communication faculty will speak briefly about the importance of political debates and political speech. As a group, we will then watch the presidential debates and then following the debates, talk about the issues each candidate raised.

We view these forums as excellent opportunities for voter education and citizen participation in this important political process. These political debates will possibly provide the closest and best look we will have to see and hear from the two candidates who wish to lead the country for the next four years.

Please plan to attend the first DebateWatch 2000 presidential debate forum. It will begin at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 3 in the UMB Theatre in the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art on the K-State campus. Free parking is adjacent to the museum. Admission is free.

If you have any questions regarding this event, please call the Department of Speech Communication at 532-6875 and ask for either David Procter or Susan Stanfield.

David E. Procter,
head, Department of Speech Communication, Theatre and Dance

Bicyclists disregard rights of pedestrians on campus

Editor,

This is an open letter to all the idiot bikers out there. Not that I'm saying all bikers are idiots, nor are all idiots bikers. Even some of my best friends ride bikes. Yet, ever since I arrived on this campus, a certain population of the bike-riding community has been the bane of my existence.

There are days when I literally fear for my life once I set foot outside my door. The number of times I've nearly been hit by a speeding biker zipping in and out of pedestrians is simply mind-boggling.

I also never cease to be amazed by the stupidity of some of these people who have managed to reach the upper echelons of education. Can you not read? Do you not see the "Dismount" signs painted all over campus sidewalks? What part of "get off your bike and walk it" don't you understand? It simply amazes me the lack of consideration that some people have for the other 20,000 students they go to school with.

Speaking of stupidity, when I was running at City Park the other night, I witnessed a biker dash through an intersection at full speed, blatantly ignoring a stop sign, and coming within inches of being hit by a car.

Maybe it wouldn't be so fun if the tables were turned on you and you got hit, would it? Maybe we need to get the bike cops back. Maybe these rogue bikers should just slow down, relax and obey the laws.

Marshal Funk
Goodnow 221

Parking problems relieved if students walk to campus

Editor:

Parking has been a problem at K-State for years prior to this situation. The solution might not be to build additional temporary parking at a cost of almost $400,000 smack-a-roos, but to think about utilizing spaces that are readily available on the east side of the football stadium.

This would come at the expense of students who may have to leave a few minutes earlier than normal, but in comparison, if you walk from the K-State Student Union meter lot to the north side of campus, it all equals out to around the same distance.

Walking across campus has been accomplished by many students in the past. I'm having a difficult time understanding why they can't get a little exercise now.

Derrick D. Hardin
1995 alumnus

395-4444

Marie's Costumes
COSTUMES
ACCESSORIES
WIGS • MAKEUP
HATS • SHOES
PROPS • MASK
ALL SIZES
539-5200
2011 FT RILEY BLVD • MANHATTAN

WENDY'S OLD FASHIONED HAMBURGERS
NOW HIRING
For Days and Late Night Positions
FULL OR PART TIME
ABOVE AVERAGE COMPENSATION
• Discounted Meals
• Flexible Schedule
• Crew Incentive Programs
• Medical Insurance
• Retirement Plan
APPLY TODAY
WORK TODAY
at
3006 Anderson Ave.
or
421 N. 3rd St.
EOE/Drug Free Workplace

The Barn At Kimble Cliff
"We sell memories"
ANTIQUES & Collectibles
Open Fri, Sat. & Sun. 1-5:30 PM
Weekdays By Appointment
(785) 539-3816
6782 Anderson Ave.
Manhattan, KS 66503

LONGHORNS BAR & GRILL
Club Tuesday
• non-stop dance party • no country music
$1.50 wells
$2.00 pitchers

5 HUGE MOUNTAINS!
16th ANNUAL Steamboat
NATIONAL COLLEGE WEEK
Complete College Ski Package
from only $189
(1-888-754-8447)
1-88U-SKITHIS
For more info www.Uskithis.com

TACO HUT
"Where good friends get together since 1969"
WEDNESDAY SPECIALS
Sancho or Burrito $1.65
Taco Dinner $2.45
Drive thru now open!
MON. thru THURS. 10:30 P.M.-10:00 P.M
FRI 10:30 A.M.- 11:00 P.M.
SAT. 11:00 A.M.- 11:00 P.M.
SUN.11:00 A.M.- 10:00 P.M.
2809 CLAFLIN 539-2091

50¢ TACOS chicken or beef hard or soft shell
$1 Margaritas (Reg. or Strawberry)
4:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.
$1 Draws
$2 Coronas
Taco Tuesday
Bobby T's
OPEN 11 p.m. - 2 a.m. 3240 Kimball Ave 537-8383

We are excited to announce
Angela Albin
has joined our professional staff!
Angela is offering
$5 off haircut good through Oct. 31
"START A NEW BEGINNING"
Call now for an appointment
NEW BEGINNINGS HAIRSTYLING & TANNING
1130 Westport Dr. #6• Manhatttan • 537-1003

MANHATTAN JEWISH CONGREGATION
1509 WREATH AVE. • 539-8462
invites faculty and students to:
High Holy Days Services
September 29, Rosh Hashanah
Erev Rosh Hashanah, 7:30 p.m.
September 30, Morning Service 10 a.m.
October 8, Yom Kippur
Kol Nidre, 7 p.m.
October 9, Morning Service, 10 a.m.
Afternoon Service 4:30 p.m.
Yiskor (Memorial) Service, 5:30 p.m.
Concluding Service, 6 p.m.
Havdalah Service, 7 p.m.
Break-The-Fast following Havdalah
HILLEL
For information about rides to services and about HILLEL, call Andrea: 776-0597 or 532-6441

SINCE 1979
AUDIO JUNCTION, INC.
307 Ft. Riley Blvd.
587-4646
Mon.- Fri. 10-7
Sat. 10-5
ROCKFORD FOSGATE AMPLIFIER & SUBWOOFER COMBO

Rockford Fosgate Punch
100z² Amplifier
200 Watts

Rockford Fosgate Punch
XLC 10" Subwoofer
PLUS, A CARPETED ENCLOSURE!
RETAILS FOR $319, ON SALE FOR $219
Rockford Fosgate
*AMERICAN MADE 3-YEAR WARRANTY

Former K-State high jumper finishes 11th in Olympic Games

Nathan Leeper of the US clears the bar at 2.32 meters in the men's high jump final. Leeper is a former K-State student.

GABRIEL BOUYS/ AFP PHOTO

By JASON ARY
Kansas State Collegian

On a good day, he can go out and jump 7 feet, 8 1/2 inches.

Unfortunately for one-time K-State track member Nathan Leeper, last Sunday was not one of those days.

While the preliminaries solidified Leeper as a legitimate medal contender, the former Big 12 high-jump champion finished 11th overall in the high jump competition at the Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia.

Last Friday, Leeper had competed in the high jump preliminaries, qualifying for the finals with a jump of 7 feet, 5 1/4 inches. His jump tied him with 12 other jumpers for the best mark of the day and, ironically, only those 13 jumpers who cleared that height qualified for the finals.

Joining Leeper in the finals for the United States was former Arkansas track star Kenny Evans. Defending gold-medalist Charles Austin, who won the gold for the U.S. in Atlanta by setting the current Olympic record with a jump of 7 feet, 10 1/2 inches, failed to qualify, only clearing 7 feet, 2 1/2 inches.

On Sunday, Leeper competed in the high jump finals, although he did not perform as strongly as he did during preliminaries.

While Leeper had jumped higher than anyone else in the world this year in outdoor competition, he could only muster a jump of 7 feet, 4 1/2 inches on the event's final day.

Russian Sergey Kliugin went on to earn the gold with a jump of 7 feet, 8 1/2 inches, which matched Leeper's best jump this year. Cuba's Javier Sotomayor took the silver with a jump of 7 feet, 7 1/4 inches, while Abderrahmane Hammad of Algeria took home the bronze with a jump of 7 feet, 7 1/4 inches as well.

Going into the games, Leeper knew the Russians were a serious threat to bring home the gold.

"They have several guys that can go out and jump 7-10 on any given day," said Leeper in an interview earlier this month. "Kliugin and (Vyacheslav) Voronin have been jumping especially well."

Leeper and his family are currently still in Sydney for the Olympic Games and were unavailable for comment.

Yet, the Protection, Kan., native won't be in Sydney for long. Shortly after the Olympic Games conclude, Leeper will travel to the Middle East to compete in the Grand Prix Final in Qatar. After wrapping up half-way across the globe, he plans to return to Manhattan to relax.

"I'm sure I'll relax, watch some TV, and play some golf for awhile," Leeper said earlier this month. "Then it'll be back to yet more training and competing."

PHOTO ILLUSTRATION BY JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

The National Gambling Impact Study Commission reports that more than 5 million Americans suffer from pathological gambling and another 15 million are at risk for it. U.S. Sen. Sam Brownback and college basketball coaching legend Dean Smith are leading the push to ban college sports gambling.

gameday gambling

Brownback proposes legislation to ban legalized gambling in collegiate sports

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

Gambling on amateur athletics is a widespread problem in the United States. Just ask the National Gambling Impact Study Commission.

The NGISC reported that more than 5 million Americans suffer from pathological gambling and another 15 million are at risk for it.

However, those statistics include about 1.1 million adolescents, ages 12 to 17, as 5 percent of America's 20 million teenagers engage in severe pathological gambling each year.

"Banning legalized gambling on amateur sports serves notice that betting on college games or student athletes is not only inappropriate, but can also result in significant social cost," U.S. Sen. Sam Brownback said in a Sept. 12 news release. "The NGISC report recognized the potential harm of legalized gambling by stating that sports gambling 'can serve as gateway behavior for adolescent gamblers, and can devastate individuals and careers.'"

Brownback and several other sponsors of legislation, including college basketball coaching legend Dean Smith, are leading the push to ban college sports gambling (S.2340, the Amateur Sports Integrity Act, and H.R.3575, the Student Athlete Protection Act).

"This bipartisan legislation is in direct response to a recommendation by the National Gambling Impact Study Commission," Brownback said, "which called for a ban on all legalized gambling on amateur sports.

"(The ban) is supported by the National Collegiate Athletic Association, coaches, teachers, athletic directors, commissioners, university presidents, school principals and family groups from across the country."

However, the two proposed bills won't only ban legalized gambling on amateur athletics, but on venues, such as the Olympic Games.

"These games are looked upon as a symbol of world peace and national pride," Brownback said. "We do not need the seedy influences of gambling to tarnish the games and the athletes who represent our country."

NGISC studies found that estimates of illegal sports betting in the United States range from $80 billion to $380 billion annually.

In its final report, the Commission also cites a University of Michigan study revealing more than 45 percent of male collegiate football and basketball athletes admit to betting on sporting events.

Five percent of those male student athletes provided information for gambling purposes, admitting they bet on a game in which they participated, or accepted money for performing poorly in a game.

Brownback is the original cosponsor of the Amateur Sports Integrity Act, introduced by U.S. Sen. John McCain. Earlier this year, Brownback received a letter of support on this issue which was signed by 65 college coaches.

Both K-State men's head basketball coach Jim Wooldridge and women's head coach Deb Patterson have been out of town on recruiting trips and were unavailable for comment concerning their personal opinions on the gambling issue.

Golf team overcomes conditions, finishes 6th

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

Wet weather conditions weren't enough to stop sophomore Miranda Smith at Sunday's Mary Fossum Invitational in East Lansing, Mich.

Her round of 73 tied the lowest of her collegiate career as she tied for seventh individually. Smith's best finish ever.

"I played pretty good yesterday," Smith said Monday, "but there's always room for improvement. Mostly, I knew it was going to be tough and that everybody's going to make mistakes with the weather we had, so I was just trying to keep hitting on the greens.

"I was pretty happy with it. I can always improve, but with the conditions and everything, I just can't complain."

Individual results

T7 Miranda Smith, 37-36 – 73

T12 Edie Murdoch 38-37 – 75

T34 Christine Boucher 33-45 – 78

T34 Elise Carpentier 38-40 – 78

T46 Carrie Chambers 37-42 – 79

Up next, the Wildcat women will travel to Waco, Texas, for the Oct. 1-3 Big 12 Fall Preview.

The sophomore's performance led the Cats to a sixth place in the tournament, which was cut to 18 holes due to weather conditions.

"It was just a lake out there," Smith said, "like nothing I'd ever seen before. There was so much water. There was no really dry place to hit anywhere on the course."

K-State's one-round score of 304 bettered that of Big 12 schools Nebraska and Kansas at the Forest Akers West Golf Course.

Other top Cat performers included junior Edie Murdoch, who shot a 75 for a 12th place finish, and freshman Christine Boucher.

Boucher led the tournament field after the first nine holes with a 33, but dropped to a 34th place tie after a 45 on the back nine.

"She honestly only had two bad holes," Smith said of Boucher's performance on the second half of the course. "What happened to her was a fluke — she's a great spark for the team.

"It's forgivable, it's her first year and she's not used to those kind of conditions. But we all teased her about it yesterday."

Beasley's remarkable career improvements promise success in remainder of season

FRANK FLATON

Is anyone else wondering where in the world is the real Jonathan Beasley?

After witnessing the Wildcats obliterate three straight opponents, I can't help but be confused by the K-State senior quarterback's play. That player in purple that wears No. 18, you know, the one that is throwing like a wizard and running the complicated Wildcat offense like a general, can't be Jonathan Beasley. Could it?

So, I have to ask. I have to wonder. What happened to him? Last season, Beasley was 11-1 as a starter, but, at times, struggled. He'd overthrow Quincy Morgan and Aaron Lockett. He didn't look poised. He didn't look confident. He didn't look comfortable in the pocket and his decision-making skills were lacking.

But then something happened during the summer. I don't know if the agriculture department developed a systematic genetic-cloning experiment on Beasley, or if Coach Snyder has pulled off the ole' quarterback switcheroo, but Beasley's play this season looks worlds apart from his junior campaign.

The Wildcats are still winning like last season and he can still go after the play, but his persona has changed for the better. He almost looks unstoppable.

"I don't know if my confidence has changed," he said. "I've always been up pretty high really. I think I'm a lot more consistent. I'm working hard and I know the routes better."

Consistent? That might be an understatement. Knows the routes better? Another understatement.

The new Beasley is better in every facet of his game and has flirted with perfection so far this season. He's 4-0 and is coming off Big 12 Offensive Player of the Week honors after his performance against North Texas. He's broken a 10-year-old school record and he's moving up the ranks among the nation's elite quarterbacks.

Take a gander at the statistics. He is passing for a lofty 62 percent, he's passed for six touchdowns and thrown for 831 yards. Pretty good; and it doesn't end there.

He's No. 1 in the nation in scoring with eight touchdowns, all running, and 50 points. He's No. 4 in the nation in passing efficiency with a rating of 182.55. And none of the quarterbacks ahead of him are considered to be the nation's best.

In Saturday's 55-10 win over North Texas, Beasley shined, going 12-for-15 and 202 yards. Then he started to run a little. He started K-State with a big lead, let Ell Roberson give it a try before coming back in and running his way to five touchdowns, a new K-State record, breaking Pat Jackson's 10-year-old mark.

But it's not the stats that are impressive. It's his intangibles. He can throw the long pass, run for a gain, and he can, more importantly, manage the clock and lead the team for a score.

This season he looks like he is on a mission. Last season, he was still in Bishop's shadow. This year, Roberson has gotten the attention.

But put that all aside and put your trust in Beasley. He has just one loss as the starter and he's only going to get better.

"I have a hard time wondering how he doesn't get a lot of respect," North Texas head coach Darrell Dickey said Saturday. "He is a great quarterback. He may be one of the best they have ever had."

This week, Beasley gets his first real test against a strong Colorado team. Colorado is hungry and ready for a win. But it won't matter. Look for Beasley to shine.

He will prove this weekend, without a doubt, that he's the main man in the backfield. There will be no doubt about what he can do. He's ready for a breakout game against a strong opponent.

And with a proven offensive line and all-star cast of receivers, the sky's the limit for Beasley.

Frank is a junior in print journalism. You can e-mail him at fflaton@collegianmail.com.

Cryptoquip & CROSSWORD
presented by:
1219 Moro
Aggieville
JAVA
(785) 587-8888

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Factor of "E=mc²"
5 Taxi
8 Big fiddle
12 Choir member
13 Guilty one's alibi
14 Ice-skating leap
15 Zither's cousin
17 Wheels of fortune
18 Sauce source
19 Beam of light
20 "Rumor — . . ."
21 Card player's call
22 Hair salon stuff
23 Recapitulate
26 Venezuelan city
30 Skip over
31 Scrap
32 "Aladdin" squawker
33 North African region
35 "Rubber Capital"
36 Work with
37 Bikini top
38 "Hear the ocean" shell
41 Luau bowlful
42 Kennel call
45 Beyond control
46 Greek lute
48 Kate's "Titanic" role
49 B&B
50 Use a spatula
51 Versifier
52 Foundation
53 Swampy areas

DOWN
1 Navigator's stack
2 As well
3 Command to Fido
4 Fa-la link
5 Freshly scrubbed
6 Ethereal
7 Ottoman bigwig
8 Guitar's Russian kin
9 Center of rotation
10 Big rig
11 Coin aperture
16 Make a misstep
20 That ship
21 String in a jazz band
22 Roscoe
23 Make like Niobe
24 Ms. Thurman
25 Soviet spacecraft
26 See 23-Down
27 Train component
28 Past
29 Bart, to Homer
31 Raw rock
34 Hibachi residue
35 St. since 1912
37 — and determined
38 Complain
39 "Typee" sequel
40 Olfactory organ
41 Corn recipe
42 Christmas time
43 Related
44 Knight's backup
46 Tucker's partner?
47 Vacationing

Solution time: 21 mins.

L	A	G		P	O	W		K	A	H	N
I	R	A	Q		E	A	R		I	D	E	A
M	E	N	U		T	K	O		N	O	R	M
B	A	G	E	L		S	N	A	G
			E	U	R		G	H	O	S	T	S
S	T	E	N	G	E	L		A	F	T	R	A
O	R	A	L		B	O	B		Q	U	A	G
N	A	T	A	L		G	R	O	U	N	D	S
S	P	A	T	E	S		A	P	E
			I	G	O	T		T	E	M	P	T
D	U	F	F		L	A	D		N	O	R	I
A	S	I	A		I	C	E		S	O	O	N
M	A	T	H		D	O	W			S	P	Y

Yesterday's answer 9-26

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-26 CRYPTOQUIP

O M S L L D M G Y LYBH-HOTG XYPRJGYRGB NDSJR XC NYJJGR Y MGTONDPRSNHDB.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE CONTINENTAL CITY THAT HAS THE MOST RODENTS IS CERTAINLY HAMSTERDAM.

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: L equals P

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 21 Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2000 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

AROUND CAMPUS

WHO: Kathrine Schlageck, education and public service supervisor

SCHLAGECK

Kathrine Schlageck has worked at the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art for nearly six years. As education and public service supervisor, Schlageck is in charge of the educational and public programming as well as public relations and marketing.

She said her job has given her several opportunities to meet a variety of people.

"I like the challenge of trying to do things for so many people," she said. "I spend as much time learning as I do teaching."

Schlageck also volunteers as a board member for the Mountain Plains Museum Association.

She said she also enjoys spending time with her husband, John, and their 1-year-old son, Ben.

"We usually end up spending most of our free time taking care of Ben," she said.

If you have a suggestion for an intersting person to profile in brief, contact the arts and entertainment editor at arts@spub.ksu.edu.

KELLY GLASSCOCK/Collegian

Winston Branch, visiting associate professor of art, will spend a year at K-State. Branch has been teaching at the University of California, Berkeley, for the past year and a half.

Picture Perfect

Artist spends year at K-State, provides different artistic perspective

By CHELSEA SCHMIDT
Kansas State Collegian

The time had come to make a commitment.

That commitment was to the United States.

Winston Branch, a visiting professor and associate professor in art, is spending a year at K-State as part of an invitation he received after teaching at the University of California, Berkeley, for the past year and a half.

"All good things come to America," Branch said. "It's the center of the New World."

Born in St. Lucia, West Indies, Branch has since traveled and worked in Europe and in the Caribbean. His paintings have been exhibited throughout the world.

"Basically, I'm a painter," Branch said. "Coming here this time was giving back to the experience of the diverse and cultural heritage I had inherited."

Branch is doing just that as he teaches three art classes to students at K-State. These classes include drawing, advanced painting and oil painting.

"It's a place of learning," Branch said. "I get to share experience and knowledge with the students — to give the students another perspective of the world outside their surroundings."

Experience and knowledge are not unknown to Branch. He has taught at numerous institutions and has been successful in receiving a number of awards for his paintings. He said he has been drawing since he was 7 years old.

Although art contains an extrovert quality in having to be creative, Branch said he was drawn to it for a different reason.

"I was drawn to drawing and painting because of the reticentness of living within your own imagination," he said. "I came to England and discovered that this activity had been going on a long time and that it could be taken up as a profession."

After discovering the professional aspect of art, Branch began to study and research different artists.

"I spent a lot of my early life looking at paintings and being almost entranced by them, being mystified by them," he said.

"Once I got on the first rung of the ladder, I never looked back. It was part of the journey to arrive at Kansas State."

Choosing to gain residency in the United States was not an easy decision for Branch.

"I never thought I'd be a part of it. I never thought I'd come to the Heartland," Branch said. "But, life is stranger than fiction. I realized I could paint what I wanted to paint anywhere."

As part of his stay at K-State, Branch will be giving a dialogue at 7 p.m. Thursday in the UMB Theatre at the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art. Kathrine Schlageck, education and public services supervisor for the museum, said the lectures are set up to provide students with access to artists.

"It's a great way for students to see inside the mind of the artists," Schlageck said. "He is an internationally known artist, so it's really exciting for us to have somebody like that here."

Branch will be discussing the process he took to be where he is now and the kind of painting he does.

"The painting I do is about intuitive gut knowledge," he said. "You get to the bone of things, the substance."

Branch said he can relate the attraction to paintings just as an attraction to another human being.

"There is an initial attraction, but the second phase is the dialogue," he said.

The painting must dialogue with you, in order for you to understand and enjoy it, he said.

Students in Branch's advanced painting class said they enjoy having him as a professor.

"I think he approaches the class on a student-to-student level," Janie Miller, fifth-year senior in art, said. "You get plenty of freedom, but also plenty of interaction in the art atmosphere."

Amy Stanley, fifth-year senior in art, said what she enjoys most is the freedom he provides.

"He allows us to work on our own style and to find what works best for us and explore that," Stanley said.

Comparing Manhattan to the other places that Branch has lived would be impossible, he said.

"To compare would be to negate the beauty and experience," he said.

"It's the moment that counts. I'm fortunate to have the opportunity to learn and discover about people in the Midwest."

Branch said the key to traveling is to be open to new things and ideas.

"I want to take it and enjoy it," he said. "Who knows? I may never leave. In life, you can't plan everything."

One of the things he enjoys most at K-State is the potential his students contain.

"To be experiencing the young and imaginative Americans who will lead the world soon is good," he said. "It's a great honor to be part of this educational program.

"Excellence is what K-State pursues and they brought me because they thought I had something to offer the students — a different point of view."

KELLY GLASSCOCK/Collegian

Winston Branch looks at slides of a student's work during his oil painting class in Willard Hall.

Where has he taught?

- The Hornsey College of Art, London
- Goldsmith's College of Art, London University
- Chelsea Art School, London
- Slade School of Fine Art, London
- Kingston Art School, London
- University of California at Berkeley

THE GONGFARMER

BY RANDY REGIER

Monkey Boy

BY BRENT ENGSTROM

JEANEL DRAKE/Collegian

HIGH FLYIN'

Josh Preston, sophomore in computer engineering, (left) and Tyler Jones, freshman in engineering, jump up to catch a flying disc outside Goodnow Hall on Monday afternoon.

Serbian citizens oust Milosevic

By DUSAN STOJANOVIC
The Associated Press

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — Tens of thousands of jubilant opposition supporters celebrated Monday their apparent electoral victory over President Slobodan Milosevic, who was seeking to force a runoff despite calls to accept the end of his 13 years in power.

Chanting "Kill Yourself Slobodan and Save Serbia," more than 40,000 people jammed a downtown Belgrade square to celebrate the purported victory of the pro-Western opposition challenger, Vojislav Kostunica. Thousands also gathered in the Serbia's two other major cities of Novi Sad and Nis.

But the lack of any official results more than 24 hours after polls closed Sunday raised fears that Milosevic would rig the results to force a second round of voting.

The United States and more than a dozen other countries said they would not accept fraudulent claims of victory. The United States also pledged Monday to lift sanctions against Yugoslavia once Milosevic accepts defeat.

Kostunica, a 56-year-old law professor, demanded the State Election Commission release official results within the next two days and warned if Milosevic tried to tamper with the vote, "we will defend our victory by peaceful means and we will protest for as long as it takes." His party said its own unofficial count gave him around 55 percent of the vote.

In the absence of official results, Milosevic's left-wing coalition insisted Monday that the president was ahead in the vote count, but not far enough to guarantee that he would avoid a runoff with Kostunica on Oct. 8.

At a press conference to bolster morale among the president's shocked and demoralized followers, Gorica Gajevic, Milosevic's party general secretary, said that with 37 percent of the ballots counted, Milosevic was ahead by 45 percent to Kostunica's 40 percent.

"This result gives us optimism that we can win in the first round," Gajevic said.

Ljubisa Ristic, a neo-communist Milosevic ally, insisted Milosevic could still win. "At this moment, the sample is too small for us to say, as we would like to, that our candidate won in the first round," he said.

Presidential candidates fight for education

By ANJETTA McQUEEN
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D.C. — From sleeping over in teachers' homes to reading books to inner-city children, the presidential candidates are pitching education plans with a fervor rarely seen in national politics.

Democrat Al Gore wants more teachers, school repair and preschool learning. Republican George W. Bush wants to crack down on failing schools with sanctions for private-school vouchers. He says there's an "education recession."

Yet Washington contributes just 7 cents of each dollar spent on schools. Despite campaign promises, many question whether Washington can make more than a dime's worth of difference.

"The federal government just doesn't spend the kind of money" that would make a big impact, says Maris Vinovskis, a University of Michigar history professor who served as an education adviser under both Presidents Clinton and Bush.

"It's more important to re-energize the next set of governors."

State and local taxes cover 93 percent of the $360 billion spent to run schools from kindergarten through 12th grade. State officials and school boards, not Washington, buy the textbooks, license and hire teachers and set the school calendar. The $15 billion-a-year federal K-12 budget focuses aid on the neediest children.

Governors, naturally, want more money for education, but not so much influence. "We don't look for the federal government to do it all and it shouldn't try to," said Democrat Jim Hunt of North Carolina.

hat hasn't stopped Bush from assigning blame or Gore from taking credit for a mixed bag of test results. On Monday, Bush criticized "an education recession," using scores recently released by the Education Department.

Schoolchildren's reading and science scores had risen in the 1980s, but have leveled off since 1992, the start of the Clinton-Gore administration. But math scores have risen, which Gore noted, and praised.

The same national tests show that Texas students overall are in the middle of the pack, but minority students in that state did better than minorities nationally. Bush is pointing to his state's record as he pushes his ideas for education nationwide.

"There have been more promises made on education this year than all of the other elections combined," said Linus Wright, a Dallas school consultant who once ran the city's schools.

The candidates promise to increase the number of charter schools, improve the Head Start program for preschoolers and help states take drastic steps to fix chronically low performing schools.

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
Limited Delivery Area
1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center

Once in a Lifetime
Place your wedding or engagement for FREE in this special section that runs the first Friday of every month.
Come by Kedzie 103 to spread the news today!

K-State University Distinguished Lecture
What We Know About How the Universe Began (And How We Know It)
Michael S. Turner
University of Chicago
Forum Hall, K-State Union
1:00 - 2:00 p.m.
September 26, 2000
An ideal introduction for the non-scientist to the origins of the universe. Armed with bold ideas that are rooted in the deep connections between the inner space of elementary particles and the outer space of the cosmos, Michael Turner, the Bruce V. and Diana M. Rauner Distinguished Service Professor at the University of Chicago and a member of the National Academy of Sciences, will describe exciting new progress in extending our understanding of the universe back to within fractions of a second of its beginning.
Admission is free. ALL ARE WELCOME.

DATE SEPTEMBER 26, 2000
TIME 7:30 P.M.
sponsored by DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC Kansas State University
PLACE ALL FAITHS CHAPEL
pianist/composer
JULIE RIVERS

BUILDING AN INTELLIGENT PORTFOLIO
Seating is limited.
Sign up today!
You're invited to the TIAA-CREF Financial Education Seminars.

Date: October 3, 4 & 5, 2000
Place: Room 207, Student Union
RSVP: Register on our website or call Teresa Nicholson at 1.800.842.2006

Taking Control of Your Personal Finances
We'll discuss the financial planning process and will focus on wealth accumulation and preservation, general information on estate planning, preservation and distribution.
Date & Time: October 3, 10:30 am
October 5, 1:00 pm

One-on-one Counseling
A TIAA-CREF Consultant will be on hand to provide free one-on-one counseling sessions, so you can get the personalized financial guidance you need to help you reach your investment goals.

Please attend the Kansas State Benefits Fair on October 4, 2000.

TIAA CREF Ensuring the future for those who shape it.™
1.800.842.2006
www.tiaa-cref.org/moc

For more complete information on our securities products, please call 1.800.842.2733, ext. 5509, to request prospectuses. Read them carefully before you invest. • TIAA-CREF Individual and Institutional Services, Inc. distributes the CREF and TIAA Real Estate variable annuities. • Teachers Personal Investors Services, Inc. distributes the Personal Annuities variable annuity component, mutual funds and tuition savings agreements. • TIAA and TIAA-CREF Life Insurance Co., New York, NY, issue insurance and annuities. • TIAA-CREF Trust Company, FSB provides trust services. • Investment products are not FDIC insured, may lose value and are not bank guaranteed. © 2000 TIAA-CREF 08/03

The ABC's of Leadership: Leadership Training Series
"Helping you improve your organization"
Sponsored by the Office of Student Activities and Services
Motivation
Tuesday, September 26th, 7:00 p.m.
K-State Student Union
Room 207
providing tips and Strategies for generating and maintaining member interest in the goals and mission of your organization.
OPEN TO ALL K-STATE STUDENTS!
Question? Call 532-6541

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FALL LEASING available! Call now! Fully furnished, washer/ dryer, fully equipped kitchen, alarm systems, computer lab, copier, and fax availability, fitness center/ rec room, swimming pool, reserved parking, tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. University Commons Apartments, 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

CAMPUS FIVE BLOCKS. Very large two-bedroom with air-conditioning. Clean, quiet location. Electric, gas, water, trash paid. No dogs. 537-8389.

EXCELLENT TWO-BEDROOM one block from campus. $550 per month, water/ trash paid. 341-4496.

LET US HELP you find a place to live. We may have what you need. No dogs. Leave message, 537-8389.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT. GREAT LOCATION. across street from campus. 395/ month. Water trash paid 770-8159 call evenings.

VERY NICE two-bedroom with air-conditioning. NEWLY REDECORATED, clean, quiet, convenient location. Heat, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. 537-8389.

we kick ads.
Kansas State Collegian ADVERTISING
532-6560

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, close to campus, newly remodeled, CENTRAL AIR, two bath, washer/ dryer. 770-7230, 539-1713.

NEW DUPLEX. FOUR-BEDROOM, two bath, two living rooms. Available October 1. $1000/ month. Pierre St. (785)456-7655.

TWO STORY BRICK, very large, three- four-bedroom, two baths, central air, laundry hook-ups, quiet location, fenced yard, parking. 537-8389.

Kansas State Collegian ADVERTISING
532-6560

145 Roommate Wanted

NICE TWO-BEDROOM, two bath, furnished, washer/dryer, dishwasher, privacy deck. Sublease, tenant needed. $325/ person/ month. 537-8226.

ROOMMATE WANTED for house. ONE-BLOCK FROM CAMPUS. Gas, water, and trash paid. Off-street parking. 776-5422.

150 Sublease

CLOSE TO CAMPUS! A very spacious one-bedroom basement apartment in a nice house. Rent: $340 a month. You only pay for electricty, phone and cable! 770-3537.

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information, call (785)456-2795, www.ksu.edu/ksfc

NEED A new look? Free hair cuts, color and texture. Call for details. Hair Experts Design Team. (785)776-4455.

WHY WAS the Bible almost banned? Check out Banned Book Week September 25-29 at the K-State Union Bookstore.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

100 housing/ real estate

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

101 Rental Wanted

FOUR 30ISH alums seeking three-bedroom, two bath apartment or house for use from October 13 at 6pm to Sunday, October 15 at noon. Will pay $400 plus deposit. Call (916)641-4065.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

TWO BEDROOM, walk to campus, ample parking, quiet conditions, furnished or unfurnished, reasonable rates. Laundry. Available now. 539-3638.

Come home to relax in comfort

•Cambridge Square
•Sandstone Apts.

•Fireplaces •Carports
•Pool •Private Deck
•Laundry Facilities
•Large 2-bedroom Units

Call TODAY!!!
537-9064
Weekdays 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Showings by appointment

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

BRAND NEW three-bedroom/ three bathroom apartment, available now, washer/ dryer included, close to campus and Aggieville. Call MDI 776-3804.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR- FIVE-BEDROOM home for rent, near campus. January 1, lease. Call (785)539-2357, 9 a.m.- 5 p.m. M- F.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for large house near campus. Large bedroom, two baths, central air, washer/ dryer, $270 plus one-fourth utilities. 776-0352.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, $265/ month, one-third utilities, Chase Manhattan Apartments. 539-7824.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. $250/ month plus one-third utilities, washer/ dryer, garage, hot tub, fireplace, sublease until June. 770-9301.

ROOMMATE WANTED for house close to vet school. $250 plus one-third utilities. 537-9943.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share a two-bedroom apartment. $250/month plus half utilities (785) 313-4182

300 employment/ opportunities

310 Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For info call (203)977-1722.

CUSTOMER SERVICE, a perfect match. If you have 15-75 pounds to lose, we pay you. 877-345-7179

310 Help Wanted

ARE YOU connected? Computer users wanted for free information call 1-800-310-0295. $25-$75/hour, full training, currently in 49 countries.

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!! Looking for part- time dealers. Multi- level market selling Indoor Air Purification Machines. Fun business, good money!!! Call Mitch at (888)814-2893.

DELIVERY DRIVERS needed. $5.50 per hour plus tips and mileage. Evening shift available. Please contact Hunam Restaurant, 1304 Westloop. 539-8888.

DELIVERY PERSON needed Monday - Friday for 3 hours shifts. Flexible, either 9-12 or 2-5. Must be able to lift 50+ pounds. No phone calls, apply in person. Mid America office supplies 328 Poyntz Ave. 539-8982.

EQUIPMENT OPERATORS CDL Drivers Laborers. Join Kansas' fastest growing No.1 team in the sediment & erosion control industry. We're looking for experienced and entry level individuals with mechanical aptitude, full and part-time. You'll enjoy great pay while working with a great team which rewards professionalism, while having fun operating state of the art equipment. We will train the right person. We promote from within. EOE. Please Call Jim at Homestead Enterprises, (316)983-2957.

FRATERNITIES• SORORITIES• CLUBS• STUDENT GROUPS. Earn $1000-$2000 this quarter with the easy Campusfundraiser.com three hour fundraising event. No sales required. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so call today! Contact Campufundraiser.com at (888)923-3238, or visit www.campusfundraisier.com

OGDEN YOUTH Center, immediate opening, full-time youth director. Must have experience working with teens, good communication and organization skills, computer skills in MS Word and Excel. Grant writing experience and bachelors degree preferred. Must be able to work evenings. Send resume and references to Ogden Youth Center Personnel, Box 145, Ogden, KS 66517.

310 Help Wanted

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY Assistance Center, Director. Interim Position: This search is for internal KSU candidates only. The information Technology Assistance Center (iTAC) is the Kansas State University entry point for faculty, staff and students to find quick solutions to their IT needs. The Director supervises a full-time staff of five and several part-time employees, currently housed in Hale Library. The iTAC Director reports to the Vice Provost for Academic Services and Technology (VPAST). Salary: Commensurate with experience: $50,000- $60,000/ Annually. Qualifications: Necessary: Masters degree in some field of Information Technology or highly related field. Preferred: Ph.D. in Computer Science, Information Systems, Management Information System, Educational Technology or highly related field. For a complete description and application details contact: Rusty Taylor, Chair, iTAC Director Search Committee, 128 Bob Dole Hall, Educational Communications Center, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506, Telephone (785)532-3125 or on the World Wide Web: http://main.itac.ksu.edu/dir_pos/itac_dir.pdf or http://www.ksu.edu/vpast/position_ann.html Review of applications will begin September 29, 2000. Start date will be negotiable upon selection of qualified applicant with target start date as soon as possible after November 1, 2000.

INTERN RILEY County Community Corrections has an opening for a student intern who is participating in the Kansas Career Work Study program. Duties include assisting juvenile intake staff in delivery of various field services to assigned offenders. Requirements include senior year standing in a human services field (preferably criminal justice), ability to work a flexible work schedule, including some evenings, and a valid Kansas driver's license. This position is part-time status, with the average number of hours per week expected to be in the 15-20 hour range. Experience working with juveniles is preferred. The hourly wage is $8.35 with no benefits. Applications may be obtained from the Riley County Counselor/Personnel Office, 115 N. 4th Street, 3rd Floor East, Courthouse Plaza East Building, Manhattan, KS 66502. 785-565-6464. Position open until filled. jdean@co.riley.ks.us EOE

LANDSCAPING POSITIONS. Full-time M- F. Apply in person at Horticultural Services Inc. 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (785)494-2418 or (785)776-0397.

LEASING CONSULTANT needed immediately. Must be dependable, responsible, organized and friendly. Apply in person: Chase Manhattan Apartments.

PHLEBOTOMIST. IMMEDIATE part-time opening in busy medical office lab. Excellent opportunity for student. Experience preferred but will train. Must be dependable and work well with patient and fellow workers. Hours: 7:30 am to 10:30 am. Apply in person at Medical Associates of Manhattan, 1133 College Avenue, Suite E-110, Manhattan, KS 66502. EOE M/F.

REAL ESTATE assistant and special projects. Need car, basic computer skills, good listener, follows instructions. 10- 20 hours/ week, flexible. Daytime 8am- 6pm, Monday- Friday. $10/ hour. Resume and references to BI Investments, PO Box 1111, Junction City, KS 66441.

310 Help Wanted

THOROUGH HOUSE cleaning under ideal circumstances for couple with no pets/ smoking/ children. Send resume to c/o Collegian, Box 1, Manhattan 66506.

PROGRAMMER ANALYST Kansas Farm Bureau Services, Inc. is seeking a programmer analyst or systems analyst depending on qualifications. Minimum requirements include 2 - 5 years mainframe-related experience plus: Bachelor's degree in CS, related field, or equivalent work experience. Knowledge in programming, design, and analysis. CICS, MVS/ESA, COBOL, ROSCOE, LIBRARIAN, VSAM, NATURAL, ADABAS. We provide an on-site Wellness Center and an excellent compensation package including health insurance with a minimal monthly premium, life insurance, non-contributory pension plan, plus 401(k) and participation in the Company's gainsharing compensation plan. Candidates may send their resume and cover letter to Peggy J. Goe - Employment Manager, P.O. Box 3500 - I/S, Manhattan, KS 66505-8508. Visit our home page at www.kfbs.com. Fax (785) 587-6879. We are an equal opportunity employer and encourage diversity.

Spring Break Reps needed to promote campus trips. Earn easy money and travel free! All materials provided free. We train you. Work on you own time. Call 1-800-367-1252 or www.springbreakdirect.com

STATISTICAL QUALITY Control Intern. Venator Group Inc. is a diversified global retailer that operates 4,000 stores in 14 countries in North America, Europe, Australia and Canada. Through its athletic group of specialty retail stores -- including Foot Locker, Lady Foot Locker, Kids Foot Locker, and Champs Sports, as well as its direct marketer Eastbay -- we are the leading providers of athletic footwear and apparel. We are always searching for dynamic individuals to join our Distribution Center located in Junction City. This position offers challenges in System Quality Control analysis. Responsibilities will include: Completing an engineered study of the entire facilities process quality, Identifying area that are out of control, Correct situations using statistical quality control. Qualifications: Statistical knowledge (STAT 510, STAT 511, or other high level statistics course), Superior Statistical Quality Control knowledge, Advanced analytical skills. We offer a competitive salary, tuition reimbursement and professional development opportunities in a dynamic work environment. For consideration, please submit cover letter, resume, and references to : Venator Group, Human Resources, Attn.: Associate Relations Manager, 3810 South U.S. Hwy. 77, Junction City, KS, 66441. Or Fax us at 785-761-3440. / EOE

Spring Break 2001
Jamaica, Cancun, Florida, Barbados, Bahamas.
Now hiring campus reps. Earn 2 free trips. Free Meals. Books by Nov. 2nd. Call for FREE info pack or visit online sunsplashtours.com
1-800-426-7710

WANT CASH? Sign- up your classmates for cool Internet sites, and receive a minimum of $1 per person! There's no easier way to make money! Log onto TeamMagma.com or call 1-877-866-2462.

we kick ads.
CLASSIFIEDS • 532-6555

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. Open 12-5p.m. Closed Sundays Mondays. 539-4684.

DRAFTING TABLES $50 or best offer. Great for architecture/ engineering students. Excellent shape with storage. Manhattan Area Technical College, (785)587-2800.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS Camouflage clothing (including PURPLE) field jackets- Boots sleeping bags- overshoes, hunting wear. Also CARHARTT workwear. Open Mon.- Fri., 9- 5:30; Sat. 9- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS 66536. (785)437-2734.

LIKE NEW, Cannondale Mountain bike $375, Soloflex Dumbells with bench $100. Sony TV 32-inch $375. (785)537-6851.

435 Computers

YEAR OLD compact presario 1920 laptop. Like new condition. Daytime call 1-800-825-4377, after 4pm call 785-632-5980 ask for Nicole.

455 Sporting Equipment

DUCKS UNLIMITED Banquet, Sept. 30, Council Grove American Legion. Event begins at 6p.m. Tickets at the door or call (316)767-5470.

460 Electronic Equipment

SONY, KENWOOD, JBL, Technics, Bose, etc. Stereo and Surround. Quality used equipment, bought and sold. Call Mike (785)565-0517.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

K-STATE VS COLORADO Four tickets to game. Two nights lodging, walking distance to stadium. $450 negotiable. 587-9637 Leave message.

ATTENTION K-STATE FANS. Here's your chance to attend K-STATE vs. COLORADO, Saturday, September 30, 2000. Four tickets to the game in Boulder, CO. Two rooms/ two nights lodging- Harvest Inn Motel (walking distance to the stadium and Pearl St.) Friday, September 29 and Saturday, September 30. If interested, call (785)263-2470 days, (785)263-2554 after 5p.m.

FOR SALE: Two student season football tickets. (913)915-6343.

WANTED, BY KSU alumni, one student ticket to NU game. Contact Keith at Keithu@impactdsgn.net

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1987 DODGE 600, four-door, automatic, air-conditioned, power steering, good condition, $2000 or best offer. Call (785)539-1628.

1988 FORD Mustang LX, 2.5 liter v-4, standard transmission, gray, sunroof, alloy wheels. 565-0849.

1990 PONTIAC Grand Prix four-door, power windows and locks. Air-conditioned, automatic transmission. Great school car. $2200 or best offer. (785)539-4089.

1993 FORD F150 XLT Ext. Cab. 5.8L v-8. Automatic with overdrive, 220K, with new goodyear tires, one minor dent, excellent interior condition, Power windows, locks, tilt, cruise and air. Runs great $7000. 776-4283 or (316) 271-2629

1995 DODGE Ram 2500 4x4 360 Auto. SLT Laramie. Also car stereo system. 4- JL 10 inch subs, Amps and Mids. 565-9491

1996 EAGLE Talon automatic. 59K AM/FM CD. Air conditioning custom paint, custom wheels $7500. Must see. (785) 587-9372

MUST SEE. 1979 Ford Granada, mint condition, 33,000 original miles, runs great (used to be Grandmas) $1700 (785)293-5719.

530 Motorcycles

1982 KAWASAKI K21000, $1300. (785)537-8878.

1992 KATANA 750, low miles, new tires. $3300 or best offer. 565-9728.

1995 KAWASAKI ZX6R Ninja. Carbon fiber, micron slipon, never wrecked. 6,600 miles. 539-8521

600 travel/ trips

630 Spring Break

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas and Florida. Earn cash and go free! Now hiring campus reps. 1-800-234-7007 endlesssummertours.com

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best SPRING BREAK PRICES! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Mardigras. Reps needed. Travel free, earn $$$. GROUP DISCOUNTS FOR SIX+. (800)838-8203/ www.leisuretours.com

GO DIRECT= $avings! #1 Internet-based Spring Break company offering WHOLESALE Spring Break packages (no middlemen)! Zero traveler complaints registered against us last year! ALL destinations. Lowest price guarantee! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakdirect.com

SPRING BREAK Cancun, Matzalan, Jamaica, South Padre, Florida, and Cruises. EVERYTHING included. Book your trip locally through Student Express TODAY. Best packages available. 587-0713.

WINTER BREAK/ SPRING BREAK. Ski and beach trips on sale now! www.sunchase.com or call 1-800-SUNCHASE today!

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.85
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.90
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.90
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

Kansas State University

STOP SURFING!!!

DO YOUR SEARCHING IN
THE 2000-2001 CAMPUS PHONE BOOK
GET YOUR COPY NOW
AVAILABLE IN KEDZIE 103 THROUGH OUT THE YEAR

000 bulletin board
100 housing/ real estate
200 service directory
300 employment/ opportunities
400 open market
500 transportation
600 travel/ trips

RESEARCH

■ continued from page 1

making healthy environments," she said. "It's unique because it's the first one to change environments in attempt to change behavior in children."

The Healthy Youth Places Project is being made possible through a four-year, $1.7 million grant from the National Institutes of Health to the Department of Kinesiology and K-State Research and Extension's office of community health. The Kansas Department of Health and Environment and the Department of Preventative medicine at the University of Kansas School of Medicine in Wichita are assisting in the project.

The project is one of 15 research studies funded by the National Institutes of Health to identify effective strategies to prevent disease through behavior change.

Eight of the 16 schools involved in the project receive technical assistance and training to develop programs that promote physical activities and fruit and vegetable consumption. These schools will develop after-school programs that meet the students' needs.

The other eight schools are serving as the comparison group.

Dzewaltowski said the students were assessed in the spring as sixth-graders to collect preliminary data about their level of physical activity, fruit and vegetable consumption and the determinants for those behaviors.

Researchers will follow students through seventh, eighth and ninth grade.

"Statistics show that if you promote these behaviors in children at an early age you can get sustained results," Dzewaltowski said.

He said this project is original because it follows students through several years. This method, Dzewaltowski said, should conclude with accurate results.

"It's easy to record and notice short-term behavior changes," he said. "But when you follow people across several years many of those behaviors aren't sustained."

The students involved in the project will be followed through middle school, where the environment has been enhanced to promote health. The final results will be obtained when the same students are assessed in ninth grade to see if the behaviors are sustained in a new environment.

"Studies show that young people who participate in creating healthy environments are able to sustain the behaviors they've learned," Dzewaltowski said. "That is what we are attempting to determine."

Karen Hanson, Wamego USD 320 dietitian and site coordinator, said students need to be taught the benefits of healthy behaviors at an early age in order to prevent health problems.

"Statistics show that the rate of Diabetes Type II is skyrocketing in children," Hanson said. "That is proof enough that young people need to learn how to create an environment that will help them be healthy."

Wamego Middle School is one of the eight schools receiving technical assistance for the project. Hanson said teachers have been trained, initial assessments made and the school is in the process of developing after-school programs and classroom modules.

"Our hope is that because of early intervention students will learn behaviors that are set in stone at an young age," Hanson said. "The idea of reaching these students early is critical to get long-term results."

REGENTS

■ continued from page 1

might be a bit different for Kansas, but is not all that unusual for other states."

The bill also would allow the universities more flexibility in the way they operate.

Kim Wilcox, executive director of the board, said as a result of changes under Senate Bill 345, now is the time the state is looking to reform areas of higher education.

"I think it is a good time for this type of process," Wilcox said. "We are in the process of reorganizing a lot of things in higher education, so I think it is a good time for this."

Board Chairman Clay Blair said that finance reform is a key part of the state's higher-education universities.

"Financial reform entails looking at ways we can save money and be more efficient," Blair said.

He also said it is important for the universities to continue to adapt.

"Our universities need to reinvent themselves for the 21st century," Blair said.

Other components included in the reinvention are campus technology and statewide innovation.

In other action at last week's meetings, the board approved a faculty of distinction program, one in which the state would match the interests from a private donation.

The board also began to finalize language on a long-range coordination plan, as well as plans that deal with vision, mission and a series of purpose statements. Regent Harry Craig said the board was supportive of the plan, but board members are working to refine semantics.

"In essence, we were supportive of the plan, but we asked Regent (Sylvia) Robinson to work with some of the wordsmiths and people she knows to figure out how it could be worded so it would play to the general public," Craig said.

Craig also said the regents' long range goals were approved, but the working plan is being refined in order to tone down the aggressiveness of the plan.

Get it online
kstatecollegian.com

Attention
Student Organizations!

Recognize your adviser's outstanding leadership and dedication by nominating him or her for the

Adviser of the Year Award!

Applications are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services.
The deadline is Friday, October 6 at noon.
For more information call 532-6541.

Wardrobe Sale

Now thru October 7th
Hurry in for best selection.

- Save $50.00 on any 1 suit or sportcoat & slack combination (navy blazer excluded)
- Save $125.00 on any 2 suits or sportcoat and slack combination
- Choose from our large selection of New Fall Clothing (Regular prices $295-$595)
- Short, regular, long, big & tall sizes
- Featuring Hart Schaffner & Marx and Borck Brothers Collection

(In stock merchandise only. Not good with any other offer.)

Borck Brothers
Manhattan's Leading Menswear Store
Westloop Shopping Center
Mon-Sat 9:30 - 5:30 Thursday until 8:00
785-537-8636 • www.borck-bros.com

Be SEEN
where it counts

The Royal Purple yearbook
and Thornton Studio
are coming to you for FREE portrait pictures.

TODAY
Tuesday, Sept. 26
Sigma Chi
9 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Sigma Nu
6:30 p.m. - 9:30p.m.

Tomorrow
Wednesday, Sept. 27
Tau Kappa Epsilon
9 a.m - 5 p.m.

Sigma Phi Epsilon
6:30 p.m - 9:30 p.m.

and in the K-State
Student Union Courtyard
9 a.m. - 5 p.m. every day.

Order your yearbook
for $29.95.
royalpurple.ksu.edu

2001 Royal Purple YEARBOOK

NOW ON SALE

Get your copy NOW
On Sale in Kedzie 103
students $3.95 • public $5.75

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

TODAY'S WEATHER
HIGH 81 ■ LOW 51
WEDNESDAY

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sept. 27, 2000 ■ Kansas State University ■ Manhattan, Kan. ■ Volume 105, Number 27

Mimick displays mental strength

■ page 6

Men linked to car burglary arrested Monday

By NANCY FOSTER
Kansas State Collegian

Four males were arrested and charged Monday morning in connection with the recent vehicle burglary spree in Manhattan, officials with the Riley County Police Department said.

On Monday at 2:26 a.m., a citizen alerted the RCPD that two subjects were burglarizing a vehicle in the 1800 block of Anderson Avenue, RCPD Director William Watson said.

Officers were immediately dispatched to the scene and saw two subjects running from the area upon arrival.

The officers chased the subjects on foot and located one of the suspects hiding in tall grass, Watson said in a press release. The officers were unsuccessful in apprehending the second suspect.

The suspect apprehended was a 17-year-old man from Topeka.

After the arrest, the RCPD Patrol Division teamed up with detectives for a follow-up investigation. Watson said it was through their efforts that they were able to gather enough information to find probable cause that additional stolen property was at 423 N. Ninth St., Apt. 4.

A search warrant was issued, and at around 9 a.m., officials recovered a considerable amount of stolen property and arrested three additional suspects, Watson said.

"At the present time, the officers have been able to identify property which had been stolen from 15 vehicle burglaries occurring in Manhattan," he said.

Lt. Rodney Jager said the dollar amount of items stolen is unknown.

The first suspect is being charged with vehicle burglary and obstruction of legal justice. He was released from prison to a guardian.

Patrick Baumann, Manhattan, was charged with nine counts of vehicle burglary, possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. Bond was set at $5,000.

Joshua Watkins, Manhattan, was charged with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. Bond was set at $500.

Thomas Chaline, Raytown, Mo., was charged with vehicle burglary and possession of LSD with intent to distribute. Bond was set at $2,500.

"It is uncertain as to the exact number of vehicle burglaries the above subjects have committed in Manhattan, but believed to be considerable," Watson said.

Jager said the investigation will continue.

"We will also continue to tie those arrested to other crimes in our jurisdiction," he said.

Jager asked for patience from those who have been victims of vehicle burglary and officials will work to recover their property as soon as possible.

Watson said he thanked the citizen who called in to the police.

"At this time, the Riley County Police Department wants to thank the citizen that elected to get involved — rather than looking the other way — and called us," he said. "It was through their efforts, which led to the successful conclusion of this investigation."

Tips to Avoid Burglary

Riley County Police Department Lt. Rodney Jager said several things could help decrease a person's chance of getting burglarized.

- Park in illuminated areas.
- Ensure vehicle is secure.
- Remove anything of value from car interior, such as purses or billfolds.
- Avoid false-security systems.
- Protect high-dollar stereo equipment with an alarm system.

– Nancy Foster

RIGHT: Kylie Van Dyne (middle), freshman in hotel and restaurant management, dances with her friends Wednesday evening at the first Delta Social. BELOW: Lauren Dusselier, sophomore in open-option; Summer Alford, sophomore in public relations; Lauren Tramposh, sophomore in business; and Sarah Marishaster, sophomore in marketing, sing karaoke at the Delta Delta Delta sorority house Wednesday evening. Any greek house with the letter delta in its name was invited to party at the Tri Delta house.

STORY BY NANCY FOSTER ■ PHOTOS BY KELLY GLASSCOCK

Delta identification

Fraternities, sororities unite to socialize, strengthen ties

By NANCY FOSTER
Kansas State Collegian

Curtis Johnson, Delta Chi, along with three other men, belted out the lyrics to "You've Lost That Lovin' Feeling" to a line of women. They weren't at a karaoke bar or even in Aggieville. They were on the front lawn of the Delta Delta Delta sorority house for the first Delta Social.

"You get enough people to break the ice for everyone and it makes it a lot more fun," Johnson said.

The Tri Delta house invited all sororities and fraternities on campus that had the Greek letter delta in their name — totaling four sororities and six fraternities — to their house at 7 p.m. Tuesday for an evening of dancing, karaoke and meeting new people.

"We're doing it to strengthen greek unity and to just have some fun," said Michelle Hiss, Tri Delta vice president of public relations.

She said they wanted to give the various fraternities and sororities the chance to meet new people and get to know each other a little better. While they had high hopes for the social's turnout, Hiss said the actual turnout was unexpected.

"We bought 400 name tags, and there's none left," she said.

Not only were there many people on the lawn, but also inside. Everyone who attended the social wore a name tag identifying their name and which house they were in.

"It's so we can get to know what houses people are in, and 'cause it gets kind of annoying asking everyone, 'Hey — what house are you in?'" Erin O'Connor, Tri Delta, said.

She said it also helped people identify who lived in the Tri Delta house so if they wanted a house tour, finding someone in the house would be easy.

"We're just trying to make our house more inviting and to develop greek unity," she said.

Punch, popcorn and brownies were provided for everyone. One thing that wasn't provided, however, was alcohol.

"A lot of people have been really positive, 'cause who knows how it could've turned out," Hiss said.

She said she was happy to see so many people show up to an event that was alcohol-free.

"I think this is a really good idea. I'm really sad we didn't think of it first," Krisy Harman, Kappa Delta, said. "It's really cool to see everyone out here having a good time."

Harman said she and her friends decided to come to meet new people.

See DELTA on PAGE 5

University of Chicago professor speaks about universe

By COLLEEN FOOTE
Kansas State Collegian

Not only is our 14-billion-year-old universe growing older and colder, it's also growing bigger.

Michael Turner, a cosmologist and recipient of the Bruce V. and Diana M. Rauner Distinguished Service Professor award, presented his lecture "What We Know About How the Universe Began (And How We Know It)," Tuesday at Union Forum Hall.

Turner, the chairman of the Department of Astronomy and Astrophysics at the University of Chicago, talked about his research focusing on the earliest moments of the universe.

"The universe is mind-boggling big," Turner said. "As it ages, it grows bigger and cooler."

The universe is so large that our sun is just one of billions in the universe, and also is composed of millions of galaxies, with each galaxy being millions of miles away, Turner said.

The speech focused on such theories as the Big Bang. Turner used visual images to explain that the universe is continuing to grow 14 billion years after the Big Bang. He demonstrated using the rate the universe is expanding, showing how scientists can track the universe back to zero.

"We are an accelerating universe," Turner said. "Every time we look into space, we are looking back in time."

Turner's work has led to contributions to inflationary universe theory, the origin of structure and understanding dark matter. Dark matter is essential for understanding the composition and structure of the universe, and is the reason why our universe is accelerating, he said.

"We are a flat universe," he said. "One third of our universe is made up of dark matter and two thirds is dark energy."

Turner is currently involved in a project called Super Nova Accelerator Probe, used for studying dark matter. Turner hopes SNAP will help scientists understand more about the universe's structure.

Many students took Turner's speech as an opportunity to learn more about physics and the universe.

"I found Turner's speech to be beneficial for my physics class," Camille Boisseau, junior in public relations, said. "The different perspectives he demonstrated gave me new ideas about my class topics."

Bill Reay, professor of physics at K-State, said he found Turner's speech to be excellent because it was easy to understand.

"I thought his speech was nice because he used words and terms that everyone could understand," he said. "This is a hard subject matter and he made a valiant attempt at demonstrating it."

Fifty physics students from Manhattan High School came to learn more about the origins of the universe, because it is not a subject that is often covered in high school.

"This speech was great for high school students because it covered exciting stuff going on in physics," said Fred Nelson, physics teacher at Manhattan High School. "Turner showed really cool and new things that students enjoyed."

Turner said he is excited about the advancements science has made in understanding concepts about the universe. He owes all of the advancements of understanding the origins of the universe through the contributions of technology and the interest of the general public.

"Without these things we would have never made the fabulous advancements that we have today," Turner said. "There is still a lot of exciting things to learn."

Couple dead after wreck on highway

By JESSICA PITTS
Kansas State Collegian

A couple traveling northbound on Kansas Highway 177 was killed Tuesday morning after a car accident eight miles south of Manhattan.

Wayne and Mary Miser, of Burdick, Kan., were driving a Dodge Stratus when they attempted to make a left turn from the northbound lane of K-177, to enter the eastbound ramp of Interstate 70 when a man driving a Jeep Cherokee struck them on the passenger side, said a Kansas Highway Patrol spokesperson.

The driver of the Jeep, Robert Verstraette, Manhattan, suffered slight injuries and was taken to Mercy Health Center on College Avenue. Wayne Miser, 75, and Mary Miser, 66, died at the scene as a result of injuries sustained in the accident.

Life promoted in Birth Right

By SARAH BAHARI
Kansas State Collegian

Patty Magnett was searching for her next step in life. Finding herself at a crossroads and not working at the time, she was ready to take on a new project after raising her two daughters. Magnett decided to make her life promoting life.

Magnett is reopening and will direct the Manhattan chapter of Birth Right, an organization that provides support to women and couples who are unprepared to handle giving birth to or raising a child.

■ MORE INFO?
To find out about donating time or money to Birth Right, contact Patty Magnett at (785) 293-1905.

"It's an excellent place to come talk to someone if you're not sure what's going on," Magnett said. "It's an alternative to abortion. We offer life."

Birth Right had been in operation in Manhattan since 1980 before closing this summer after the former director left on sabbatical, Margie Blindt, regional consultant for Birth Right, said.

Blindt said she is excited for Manhattan to reopen the non-profit organization and hopes it will continue to be an asset to the community.

"It's wonderful," she said. "They have served the people of Manhattan for a long time.

"I'm very happy there's a great interest in it."

While Magnett said interest is mounting, one obstacle stands in the way of opening: office space.

She said she is looking for an affordable and convenient space — a small house would make an ideal office.

Regardless of this setback, Magnett said she would like to see it open within the next two weeks.

Once the office opens, Birth Right will offer free pregnancy testing, maternity and baby clothing, baby formula, diapers, adoption information and counseling to anyone who needs it.

Everything done at the center is kept confidential, National Director Terry Weaver said. Women are never required to give last names.

See BIRTH RIGHT on PAGE 8

CONTACT US

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief 532-0729 rdunn@collegianmail.com

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor 532-0729 tehmke@collegianmail.com

Steve Dearinger Photo Editor 532-5492 sdearinger@collegianmail.com

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor 532-0730 jbarrett@collegianmail.com

Sarah Bahari City & Government Editor 532-0730 sbahari@collegianmail.com

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor 532-0732 kdymacek@collegianmail.com

Derek Boss Sports Editor 532-0732 dboss@collegianmail.com

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor 532-0732 eschneweis@collegianmail.com

Ken Wells Online Editor 532-6556 kwells@collegianmail.com

Becky Wilson Copy Chief 532-0732 bwilson@collegianmail.com

Sara Martin Design Editor 532-0731 smartin@collegianmail.com

Jim Calvert Ad Manager 532-6560 jimcalvert@collegianmail.com

Alissa Duncan Assistant Ad Manager 532-6560 aduncan@collegianmail.com

Molly Brammer Online Ad Manager 532-6560 molly@collegianmail.com

BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Display advertising	532-6560
Classified advertising	532-6555
Delivery Problems	532-6555
Photo Reprints	532-6304

BY MAIL

Kansas State Collegian
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

ON THE WEB

www.kstatecollegian.com

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 2000

Methamphetamine labs uncovered in Rice County

LYONS, Kan. — Authorities say a 1,000-gallon tank and 11 smaller ones uncovered in rural Rice County were used in the production of methamphetamine.

The larger tank contained anhydrous ammonia, an ingredient in meth, and had been stolen from the Mid Kansas Co-op in Groveland several months ago.

The 11 smaller tanks were likely used to transport the anhydrous ammonia to another location, said David Miller, a detective on the Reno County Drug Task Force, who helped find the tanks Monday.

"I've never seen anything like this before. This is very rare," Miller said. "Most of the people who are stealing anhydrous ammonia are taking tanks no bigger than a thermos. It doesn't take much anhydrous ammonia to make meth. A tank this large could produce an unlimited supply."

The 11 smaller tanks were likely used to transport the anhydrous ammonia to another location, Miller said.

The tanks were hidden under a tarp and a cover of broken tree limbs in a wooded area in Rice County. Police were led to the site after uncovering a meth lab in Hutchinson on Saturday.

— The Associated Press

Guest lecturer to discuss dynamics in King Hall

David Nesbitt, professor of chemistry and biochemistry at the University of Colorado, will present his lecture "Dynamics: From Single Collisions to Single Molecules" Thursday at 1:30 in King Hall.

"It is a great honor to be selected," Nesbitt said, "I am looking forward to interacting and connecting with people who are interested in chemistry."

Nesbitt finished his undergraduate studies in physics and chemistry at Harvard University. He received a Ph.D. in chemical physics from the University of Colorado in Boulder, Colo.

Nesbitt is developing novel combinations of atomic force, near-field optical and scanning tunneling microscopes for laser imaging.

He is considered a prominent researcher in the fields of physical chemistry and chemical physics said Joseph Ortiz, a K-State professor of chemistry.

Ortiz said Nesbitt's research is especially concerned with the use of lasers to interrogate molecules, collectively or individually, as they form complexes and participate in chemical reactions.

Nesbitt also will speak on supersonic expansions, using radicals to assist in the study of chemical reactions, the fundamental making and breaking of molecular bonds and using lasers to see individual molecules through a microscope.

"I enjoy giving lively talks, especially to other people who are also interested in the fields of chemistry," Nesbitt said.

— Lynne Hermansen

Student argument leads to double-shooting injury

NEW ORLEANS — An argument between 13-year-old and 14-year-old students escalated into a gunfight on the grounds of a middle school Tuesday, critically wounding both boys.

Witnesses told police that after an argument, the 13-year-old got a gun from someone who passed the weapon through a fence.

The 13-year-old shot the 14-year-old, then, the 14-year-old grabbed the gun and shot the 13-year-old, according to police spokesman Lt. Marlon DeFillo said.

Police recovered a .38-caliber revolver believed to have been used in the shooting at Carter G. Woodson Middle School in uptown New Orleans.

Both students appeared conscious when they were taken by ambulances to Charity Hospital, said David Bowser, a police spokesman. They were listed in critical condition, said hospital spokeswoman Jean Patterson.

There had been several fights reported at the school in the past few weeks, but it was unclear whether the shooting was related to the fights, Bowser said.

Police chief Richard Pennington said police were checking into parents' claims that there has been a gang turf battle involving students at the schools.

"We don't think this is gang related. We think it was two children involved in a fight and a third person came and gave a gun," police chief Richard Pennington said.

One parent said recent violence at the school had made her daughter fearful.

"She was afraid to come to school two weeks ago because boys were fighting," Veronica Lewis said as she hugged her daughter Neshetta, 14, outside the building. "I told her she'd be all right. Now I'm just afraid for my child."

— The Associated Press

ON RECORD

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

- University Provost Jim Coffman will present the latest installment of the Provost Lecture Series, "Diversity, Mission and Academic Work," at 3 p.m. today in Hale Library's Hemisphere Room.
- Career & Employment Services will conduct a Winning Interviews Workshop at 3:30 p.m. today in Union 212.
- Play chess at 6 p.m. every Wednesday in Union 206.
- Golden Key Executive Board will meet at 6:15 p.m. today in Union Council Chambers.
- Individuals for Freethought will meet at 7 p.m. today in Union 207.
- KSU Aikido will meet at 7 p.m. today in Ahearn 301.
- Christian Explorers will meet at 9 p.m. tonight in the ECM Campus Center, 1021 Denison Ave., for Bible discussion.
- EGS will meet at noon Thursday in Bluemont 15.
- Golden Key will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday in Union 202. Those interested in participating in the Best of America program are invited to attend.
- KSU Horticulture Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in Throckmorton 2024.
- Hillel Jewish Student Organization will meet at 9 p.m. Thursday at Java Espresso & Bakery.
- Students for Environmental Action will meet at 9 p.m. Thursday in Union Council Chambers.
- The K-State Community Service Program is accepting applications for the America Reads*America Counts Tutoring Program. Interested applicants must have work-study. Tutors work one-on-one with area elementary students in reading and math. For more information, contact Angie at 532-5701 or e-mail ksuserve@ksu.edu.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constrainits.

Riley County

Monday, Sept. 25

- At 7:47 a.m., Brian M. Blair, 2014 Seaton Ave., Apt. 3, was arrested for obstructing the legal process. Bond was set at $2500.
- At 7:59 a.m., Magdalene A. Blomberg, 601 Colorado St., was arrested for worthless checks. Bond was set at $250.
- At 8:39 a.m., Patrick A. Baumann, 423 N. 9th St., Apt. 4, was arrested for vehicular burglary.
- At 8:39 a.m., Joshua S. Watkins, 423 N. 9th St., Apt. 4, was arrested for possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of a controlled substance.
- At 9:15 a.m., Thomas Daniel Christi Chaline, Raytown, Mo., was arrested for vehicular burglary and possession of a controlled substance.
- At 1:20 p.m., Molly A. Sexton, 1312B Know Lane, was arrested for theft. Bond was set at $500.
- At 3:50 p.m., Leroy M. Daniel, 721 Yuma St., was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $500.
- At 5:14 p.m., Augusta T. Reed, no address given, was issued a notice to appear for driving on a suspended license.
- At 8:50 p.m., Martye Madaboota Madkins, 405 N. 6th St., was arrested for criminal trespass and criminal damage to property.
- At 9: 10 p.m., Jamie L. Krehbiel, 912 Moro St., was arrested for worthless checks.

Tuesday, Sept. 26

- At 2:18 a.m., Hans J. Estes, 2015 Plymouth Road, was arrested for violation of a protection order.

K-State Police

- No reports of note were made.

CORRECTIONS & CLARIFICATIONS

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Jenn Davoren at 532-6556 or e-mail collegn@ksu.edu.

BE SEEN where it counts: in the Royal Purple. portrait pictures are being taken for FREE in the K-State Student Union Courtyard from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. daily.

Happy Birthday to all September babies! Claflin Books and Copies

Fall into Birkenstock.
Olson's Birkenstock
Aggieville
539-8571
September Sale
Arizona $10.00 off
Nashville $10.00 off
Boston $10.00 off
Birk Hiking Boots $30.00 off
BIRKENSTOCK

Sick children need your help now!
Donate your life-saving blood plasma & receive $25 TODAY
(for approx. 2 hours of your time)
Call or stop by:
Nabi Biomedical Center,
1130 Gardenway, Manhattan
785-776-9177
www.nabi.com

5 HUGE MOUNTAINS!
16th ANNUAL Steamboat
NATIONAL COLLEGE WEEK
Complete College Ski Package from only $189
1-88U-SKITHIS
www.Uskithis.com

The men of ΠΚΦ would like to thank the women of ΑΞΔ for their generous donation to Push America in our recent Polesit event.

MID WEEK MADNESS...
10¢ Wings 6-9 pm
$1.50 Cosmos
$2.00 Wells
Porter's BAR
MANHATTAN, KS
706 N MANHATTAN • 537-7151

Ramblers STEAK HOUSE & SALOON
HOMEMADE CHICKEN FRIED STEAK with all the trimmings $6.95
DRINK SPECIALS
$1 Draws
$1.75 Well's
$3.75 Pitchers
8711 E. Hwy. 24 • 539-4889
Manhattan, KS

Union Program Council Events
Showing This Week
VERTIGO
FRIDAY 9/29
AND
SATURDAY 9/30
7:00 & 9:30 PM
K-State Student Union Forum Hall
ADMISSION: $1.75
Weekly Wind-downs
ADAM SANDLER MOVIE NIGHT
Happy Gilmore
THE WATERBOY
Billy Madison
Thursday, September, 28
6:00 pm
Union Station
Assisted Suicide Debate
7:00 pm
Thursday, September 28
K-State Student Union Main Ballroom
Europe and the World on $.84 a Day
Gil White Lecture
Tuesday, October 3
7:00 pm
Main Ballroom
Call the UPC Hotline for event listings!
532-6572
For Event and Membership Information:
Visit Us! 3rd Floor K-State Student Union!
Call Us! 532-6571
Visit us Online! www.ksu.edu/events

Director works with children toward positive changes

Vicki Terril is the assistant director of Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Manhattan Inc. She has been with the organization for seven years and is filling in as director until a replacement can be found.

KAREN MIKOLS/ Collegian

working in the COMMUNITY

Who: Vicki Terril
Position: assistant director of Big Brothers and Sisters of Manhattan Inc.

By NANCY FOSTER
Kansas State Collegian

Helping people is something Vicki Terril, assistant director of Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Manhattan Inc., said she always wanted to do. Working with children, however, became her desire after completing her community service work for her K-State degree.

"It seemed like I was always doing something with children, so when it was time to get an internship, I thought 'Why not with children?'" she said.

It began as an internship and eventually led to full-time employment. Now, as both the assistant director and interim executive director of Big Brothers-Big Sisters, she said working with children and seeing positive changes in their lives is what she likes best about her job.

"It's what we're about, so it's nice to have that reward," she said.

The reward is what drives her, and it comes in the form of anything from a smile to higher self-esteem to higher grades, Terril said.

"We give opportunities to children that some would never have," she said.

The Big Brothers-Big Sisters program is a non-profit organization that places children between the ages of 6 and 17 with a volunteer that spends regular time with them. A lot of the children come from either disadvantaged homes and/or just need a friend, Terril said. The "Big" commits time on a weekly or monthly basis, and spends time with the child.

As part of her job, Terril matches the volunteer with the child. She interviews them and makes sure they are compatible with the child they are placed with. Around 60 children are now on the waiting list for a Big. Finding volunteers for these children is one of the more difficult aspects of her job, she said.

"Some people think you have to have all of this experience with children, but you don't," Terril said. "You don't have to have any experience with kids to volunteer."

Those with little experience won't be placed with children that have greater needs or that might be a little more rambunctious, she said.

Danielle Buckles, senior in industrial engineering, said Terril did a good job when she paired Buckles with her little sister two years ago.

"It's worked out really well," she said.

The screening process for volunteers is another thing she feels holds people back from volunteering. She said it is nothing to be afraid of, though. It is simply a background check, reference check and a few questions to get a feel for what the volunteer is like and what they are looking for.

She also performs administrative duties, and as the interim executive director took on many new duties, such as payroll and monthly reports.

"We do good work here," she said. "We do yearly surveys, and almost all children say they have enjoyed being with their Big."

While she enjoys working with the children and her staff, she said finding money to fund their program can be the biggest challenge since they don't receive money from the government.

"That's time consuming and hard," she said.

Buckles said working for Terril has been enjoyable because of her genuine concern for others.

"She is a real fun person who's just real interested in helping other people and helping them succeed in life," she said.

Fiji chapter receives awards for high standards, efficient operation

By MAGGIE BLUNK
Kansas State Collegian

Phi Gamma Delta fraternity received recognition over the summer at their Biennial Ekklesia Convention in San Antonio.

Five undergraduates and three alumni from the K-State's Fiji house represented their chapter and came home with several awards that were challenged between 114 other chapters across the nation and Canada.

"We feel it is important to give back to the community and university," said Erik Anderson, Fiji president and senior in finance. "Awards are nice, but it's not our incentive. They just let us know how we are doing."

Trevor Stiles, a member of Fiji and sophomore in psychology, said it made the members proud to be honored in front of every other chapter in the nation.

"It feels good to know that we are doing good now," he said. "But it also lets us see where we can improve."

The Fijis received the John Templeton McCarty Chapter Proficiency Award for the 16th consecutive year. It is given out for the chapter that is efficient in operation, promotes high standards of the fraternity and adheres to fraternity laws.

The chapter also placed third in the Newton D. Baker Social Service Cup. This award is given to chapters for their involvement in social service and community service.

One of the chapter's biggest projects is the Fiji Run for Leukemia in cooperation with the Fiji chapter at the University of Kansas. Anderson said the chapters raised $34,000 last year. The group also sponsored the K-State blood drive and Dodge for a Cause, a spring dodgeball tournament organized to raise donations for worthy causes. Anderson said they sponsored a tailgate at a Manhattan High School football game last year for the Manhattan Boys and Girls Club and Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Manhattan Inc.

The convention also recognized the chapter for their academics, publications that they sent out throughout the year, as well as their chapter adviser.

"The coolest part about the convention was getting to meet other members and see how their chapters are run," Anderson said.

Anderson said each person that attended served on a committee. It impressed him to experience how the international fraternity operates; not from just a chapter level.

Justin Springer, junior in public relations, said he learned a lot of things during the convention that he believes will be valuable throughout the rest of his college experience.

"Overall, it was an amazing experience," Springer said. "It was neat to see life-lasting impressions on different people."

Springer said he sat with a 1929 UCLA graduate at the final banquet and the knowledge and dedication of the man impressed Springer.

"It makes the fraternity mean so much," he said. "People care so much about this later, it must be more than just a place to live during college."

Springer looks forward to sharing his experience with pledges that join the fraternity and that do not know how the fraternity operates. He has experienced it on a national level and now the words that he was always told mean something to him.

"The awards we received are a good measuring stick for us," Springer said. "It's great to get awards but it also shows us where we can improve. If they didn't exist, it would be hard to know where to we rank."

Home of the Wildcats

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
Limited Delivery Area
1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE
AUTO HOME BUSINESS HEALTH LIFE
Tim Engle
K-State Grad 88
"Call us for your Health and Auto Insurance"
3320 Anderson
539-9200
American Family Mutual Insurance Co. and its Subsidiaries
Home Office-Madison, WI 53783-0001
E-Mail tengle@amfam.com

BLOWOUT PRICES!
79¢ Color Copies
5¢ Self-Serve Copies
$1.00 24"x36" Oversize Copies
COPY CO
MORE THAN JUST A COPY CENTER
Monday- Thursday 7a.m- 11p.m
Friday 7a.m- 9p.m
Saturday 8a.m- 9p.m
Sunday 10a.m- 11p.m
1223 Moro
Aggieville
537-2679

YOU HAVE THE POWER TO CHANGE THE WORLD AROUND YOU!
United Way ...helping all ages in Riley County
The power of U™
• Retired and Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP)
• Manhattan Day Care
From child care for single-parent and low-income families to volunteer programs for our seniors...United Way agencies play an important role in our community.
Don't underestimate "The Power of You" to make a difference!
Please give to United Way.
United Way of Riley County
106 S. 4th Street
Manhattan, KS 66502
(785) 776-3779

99¢ Wednesdays
99¢ Coors Light Pounders (16oz)
99¢ Hamburger and Fries- 5-10
Last Chance Burgers

Get more from life.
GET MORE FROM YOUR CAREER!
VoiceStream Wireless, the country's hottest and fastest growing PCS provider, is offering high-energy individuals a future abundant with innovation and reward. At VoiceStream, we pride ourselves in our ability to adapt to change quickly while delivering the products, features and services our customers expect and demand. Just one of the reasons why we're the largest GSM carrier in the world, in terms of licensed pops, providing service to more than 1.8 million customers.
RETAIL SALES ASSOCIATES
PART-TIME • FULL BENEFITS
GREAT PAY!
You will deliver unparalleled customer service & satisfaction as you increase new business, meet/exceed sales goals and maintain merchandising standards. Previous commissioned sales experience in retail industry is necessary. Must be able to maintain a flexible schedule. (JOB CODE: MC/RSA/MKS)
At VoiceStream, our employees get more from life because they get more from their careers. We offer a commitment to career advancement, an innovative working environment, competitive salaries and excellent benefits including an exceptional 401(k) plan.
For immediate consideration, send resume including JOB CODE to: E-mail: hr-kcmto@voicestream.com or Fax: 785-770-3353. We are an equal opportunity employer.
VoiceStream WIRELESS
Get more from life.
www.voicestream.com/jobs

Students should caution against car break-ins

Even though four men were arrested and charged earlier this week in connection with the recent vehicle burglary spree doesn't mean that students should stop worrying about car break-ins.

Students should still be prepared for similar incidents to happen.

Many individuals who attend K-State come from small towns, where car doors aren't locked and keys are left in the ignition overnight.

Long gone are those days of "safe living" in Manhattan. Students need to be more cautious when it comes to leaving their personal belongings in their cars. For instance, if your CD player has a detachable face, take it with you when you leave your car. Try not to leave something in your car that would tempt a thief to break in.

It is a shame we, as a society, have to be cautious with our every action, and ultimately our every purchase, but it needs to be done.

OUR VIEW is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
Jenn Davoren News Editor
Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
Sarah Bahari City/Government Editor
Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
Derek Boss Sports Editor
Becky Wilson Copy Chief
Sara Martin Design Editor

READERS WRITE

University's Napster decision squelches academic freedom

Editor,

What does K-State have in common with top universities nationwide? Other than Truman and Goldwater scholarship statistics, apparently not much.

MIT, Stanford, Duke, and the University of North Carolina recently denied a request made by a music industry attorney to ban Napster music sharing software on their campus networks. In doing so, they cited "academic freedom" as a primary reason. This decision is in stark contrast to K-State's recent decision to ban such software.

While many believe K-State banned the use of Napster over its network for legal reasons, K-State's official reason is the costly use of bandwidth. In banning specific pieces of software, K-State fails to solve the bandwidth usage problem while needlessly limiting academic freedom on its campus. Rather than banning individual applications that might or might not use large amounts of bandwidth, K-State should have considered a policy with a per-case basis.

If a student is consuming an unfair share of campus bandwidth and that student's activities are not academic in nature, then restrictions could be placed on the student. A policy such as this would not unfairly target those who use the network for recreational purposes but use little bandwidth. It would also allow for future adaptations as software changes. Under the current policy, bans on network software other than Napster would be very difficult to enforce even if that software uses large amounts of bandwidth.

While I realize that K-State cannot afford unlimited network bandwidth, I also believe that K-State should attempt to live up to its goal of being a leading university. The four universities that refused to ban Napstet do not have unlimited monetary resources. They do, however, consider academic freedom a valuable principle. Implementing a rational and fair network use policy would be a good step toward equal footing with MIT, Stanford, Duke and UNC.

— Jon Riekenberg
senior in computer science

KING of the FOOD CHAIN

Animal-rights groups' philosophies off-target; animals prove important to human survival

RICK WOOTEN

For lunch today, I had a Whopper Jr. and Chicken Tenders at Burger King. It was a heavenly moment, eating animal flesh and savoring the combination of meat and barbecue sauce. You see, I am privileged enough to be higher on the food chain than cows and chickens. With this God-given right, I prefer to eat meat as opposed to tofu.

Many of you may have heard of an organization called People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals.

Yes, the same PETA that goes around throwing animal blood on people wearing fur and protests circuses because the elephants don't have enough nuts. Their members denounce the eating of meat, animal testing, hunting and the wearing of genuine animal fur.

While most of us agree that we should do all that we can to protect endangered species and avoid running over stray cats, there are some things that PETA advocates do that are beyond the realm of reasonable thinking people.

Every day, thousands of animals are subjected to testing of goods to ensure that they are safe for the people. Rabbits, hamsters and even dogs are used to test everything from AIDS drugs to my new bottle of shampoo. The good people at PETA are adamantly opposed to such testing because of the adverse affects that it sometimes has on the animals. Call me crazy, but if Lassie was willing to jump into quicksand to save Timmy, then wouldn't she also be willing to test out Phen-Fen after Timmy's post-Halloween pig out?

I believe that animal testing is necessary to prevent the possibility of harmful drugs being consumed by the human population.

PETA is also opposed to hunting. They say that in our modern, civilized society, hunting is a cruel practice that has outlived its time. Personally, I have never shot a deer, moose, duck or raccoon, although my cousin and I used to shoot sparrows with his pellet gun because they were crapping all over my uncle's car.

Hunting is rigorously regulated by each state to guarantee both propagation of the species and population control. How many more accidents between animals and deer would occur if we didn't have good people like Ted Nugent out there "taking care" of them for us? "The Nuge" has been verbally attacked and his children have been physically threatened by members of PETA who somehow believe that Nugent's bow hunting of boars is just cause for killing one of his kids. This is absolute lunacy, yet in a fight, I would take Nugent over someone whose most valued possession is a Salad Shooter.

I like to go fishing on a lazy Saturday. But when I go, I respect the environment around me. I don't merely toss the empty beer cans out of the boat. I fill them with water so that they'll sink to the bottom of the lake. PETA people tell me that I should not only feel suicidal for my hunt of the fish, but for the worm as well. Do you think that the worm has a family looking for him underground?

"Hey Dennis ... you seen Phil?"

"Yeah, his room got wet so he made a run for the surface."

"Damn. We were supposed to watch Monday Night Dirtball."

Sure, Phil likes dirtball. He plays offensive tackle on Eagle Claw hooks.

Members of PETA also protested the CBS network after participants of "Survivor" ate rats and insect larvae. Do insects and their larvae really need our sympathy? They probably would've been mad at me, too, after I ate a live locust on a dare for a pack of smokes. I would've digested him had he not started fluttering his wings in my throat.

The point is that humans have certain rights, as do our protected endangered species and household pets. Do I feel bad every time I feed a mouse to my python? No, it is actually pretty cool. And my family's unplanned litter of kittens would've been next had it coincided with my pilgrimage home. I consider it cruel to feed newborn kittens to snakes after their eyes have opened. Anything less would be uncivilized.

Survival of the fittest is the rule of the land. Let the snakes eat the mice, the wolves eat the deer and the dogs eat the cats. And leave me alone while I eat my tuna sandwich with extra dolphin. As the Bloodhound Gang so eloquently put it, we also are "nothin' but mammals."

Rick is a senior in radio/TV broadcasting. You can e-mail him at rwooten@collegianmail.com.

BECKY WILSON/Collegian

Internet name analysis inaccurate at describing person's true nature

KEN WELLS

So I'm minding my own business when I see a most intriguing link on an online forum. "What's in YOUR name?" it asks. Their emphasis. Frightening. It's never a good sign when capitalization and big honkin' letters make me want to dive behind furniture for safety.

My name's a pretty simple story. My parents' best friend was a man named Kenny Longley, a man who's gone on to be the head of customs at Dulles International Airport in Washington, D.C., and is now retired and runs weapons training courses for FBI agents. Great guy.

But my name is only three letters long, no longer. No "-neth," and for God's sake no "-ny." (Someone break that to my sister. I've tried, through our lawyers, but can't seem to get the point across.) It's a compromise, I figure. My parents gave me the name without my consent. (They claim it's because I couldn't talk. I favor the idea that they just didn't ask.) So I make it my own. Three letters, saves room and ink, easier to spell backwards or out of Christmas lights. Ken. Yeah.

Well, the web site's run by the Society of Kabalarians of Canada. This fact alone (a) amuses me, and I'm not sure why — I think it's Canada more than the Kabalarians (b) reminds me that none of this "analysis" should be given more than half a grain of salt and (c) reinforces the fact that this is all an advertisement for their in-depth, hardcore, no-holds-barred name analysis for which you have to pay actual money.

I'm bored, but not that bored. Plus the Kabalarian philosophy/religion babbling on their site kinda bothers me. So I plug in my three-lettered first name and. ...

Hey, let's walk through the fun together. Here, take my hand. Ow. Not so hard, dammit.

The analysis begins, "Your first name of Ken has given you a quick, active mind, which has caused you to delve into many different ideas and theories." What're they supposed to say? "Your name of Mongrel has given you a dull, plodding mind which causes you to get struck by slow-moving panda bears." That doesn't sell anyone anything. Still, they're accurate so far (polishes nails on lapel).

More wisdom: "You have a desire for association with people and, since you have no difficulty in being spontaneous and expressive with others, you have considerable ability for discussion and debate. You enjoy unexpected opportunities for meeting people, or doing things on the spur of the moment." Now, apparently they're thinking of every other "Ken" here. I enjoy these social opportunities like cats like vacuum cleaners. If you give me the choice of a birthday party or being shot in the head ... well, I'll probably be at the party, but don't think I won't at least look at the gun for a bit.

"You are apt to be indulgent in eating rich, quick-energy foods, which you crave because your nervous system becomes depleted of vitality." So every once in a while the Kabalarians (no, they have nothing to do with "Star Trek") see my soul. Big deal. They drop the ball here: "Ailments of the liver and a weak back could result." Two of the five parts of me which have consistently worked for the last ... er ... few years are my wallet-sized liver and this spiral-staircase spine of mine. That'll be all that's left of me by May. When the archaeologists excavate Kedzie Hall and find a spine, a liver, and a bunch of stuffed cows, that'll be me.

Using "Pudding" as a name gives the nugget of wisdom, "You have a bubbling, spontaneous nature and a happy-go-lucky outlook which helps smooth the pathway of life." Another attempt: "The name of Hedgehog has given you sensitivity and appreciation for the finer and deeper things in life." "Muffin" yields the insight "Although this name is well-balanced, if it is combined with a surname that is not harmonious, you would tend to worry and find it difficult to organize your efforts." This beggars the question — what surname is harmonious with "Muffin?" We can't have a worried Muffin McAllister on our hands.

A Rose by any other name would not have gland problems, according to the Kabalarians.

These "analyses" end with the Kabalarians reminding me that the analysis is not complete and can't be complete until I spring for the full pay-us-money complete-name analysis. Uh-huh. And support a quasi-religion of number-crunching Canadians with my column money. No, instead, I think I'll exploit their free name-analysis tool. Cheap entertainment, here, and that's all. No collection of letters tells us what we are. Not our names, not our report cards, nothing. Words cannot encompass the entirety of a human being. We're more than that.

Get your name analyzed. Don't linger too long, remember they're selling you something. Just gawk at the idea of reducing personalities and identities to alphabet soup. What's in a name? Eh. Letters and stuff. Soup.

Ken is a graduate student in English. You can e-mail him at sigma7@ksu.edu.

CAMPUS fourum 395-4444

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions on topics relevant to the publication.

The other day with the wind chill factored in, it was 36 degrees outside — four degrees above freezing — and we still don't have heat in Moore Hall.

■

This is to the bikers of K-State: stay off my sidewalk.

■

Phillip Mayer, as someone enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences, I would just like to say thank you.

■

Beasley for Heisman.

■

To all the Gothic freshman: go back to high school where changing your personality every day is actually cool.

■

If Beasley could throw, he wouldn't have to run them in for touchdowns.

Men's golfer continues achievements

By NICK BRATKOVIC
Kansas State Collegian

K-State junior Bryan Milberger is becoming the Cats' most consistent golfer — his statistics are living proof.

For the third time in four tournaments, Milberger placed in the top 10, he led the Cats to a third-place finish in Monday and Tuesday's Kansas Invitational, the team's best mark since 1992.

The 13-team tournament, which took place in Lawrence, featured another strong performance from Milberger, who shot rounds of 73, 74 and 73 for a combined tournament score of 220, leading all K-State golfers with an eighth-place finish.

Milberger, entering the final day of competition, had made seven birdies and was positioned in seventh place, a productive two-round performance according to head coach Tim Norris.

"Bryan played well today," Norris said Monday. "He left a couple of strokes out there, but so did everyone else. He made a double on his 16th hole, but overall he played well."

That play continued in Tuesday's final round, as Milberger shot a 1-over-par 73.

"Bryan got off to a great start," Norris said Tuesday. "He was 4-under-par after his first eight holes, so he was making a run. But there were some bogeys out there on the course to be had, and he found a few.

"He four-putted No. 18 for double-bogey, but overall he hit some great shots."

Despite his performance, Milberger would find himself trailing golfers from the University of Kansas throughout the invitational, as he finished the tournament behind four Jayhawk golfers. However, the low scores from Kansas weren't surprising to Norris, considering Alvamar Golf Club is KU's home course.

"It's tough to hang with Kansas on their home course," Norris said Monday. "They practice on this course every day, but the guys feel like they are comparable to everyone else in the field.

"If you look at where we were a year ago, playing in the last pairing and with the tournament individuals, you will see we have come a long way in just one year."

Indeed, it was the home team Jayhawks' tournament to win, as they finished first with a team score of 861.

Meanwhile, the Cats notched third with a score of 899, just seven strokes behind second place Missouri. Each Wildcat stroke added up to the third-place finish. The Cats shot two strokes higher than the Tigers in the first and third rounds, and three higher in the second round.

In addition to Milberger, two of K-State's other golfers turned in top-20 finishes, as golfers Scott McNeely and A.J. Elgert tied for 17th with round totals of 225. Elgert's performance was the best of his collegiate career, while McNeely's even-par final round of 72 helped him jump 13 spots in the tournament field.

"Scott and A.J. played well," Norris said Tuesday. "Scott has really picked up his game every round. He made some great saves out there and turned a couple of bogeys into pars."

Other Cats in the field were golfer Matt Williams, who finished 35th in the tournament, followed by Aaron Watkins, who posted 53rd place.

The Cats will get to experience a little home-field advantage of their own next week at the Jim Colbert Intercollegiate Tournament.

The 10-team field includes Big 12 schools Iowa State, Missouri and Texas Tech.

DELTA

■ continued from page 1

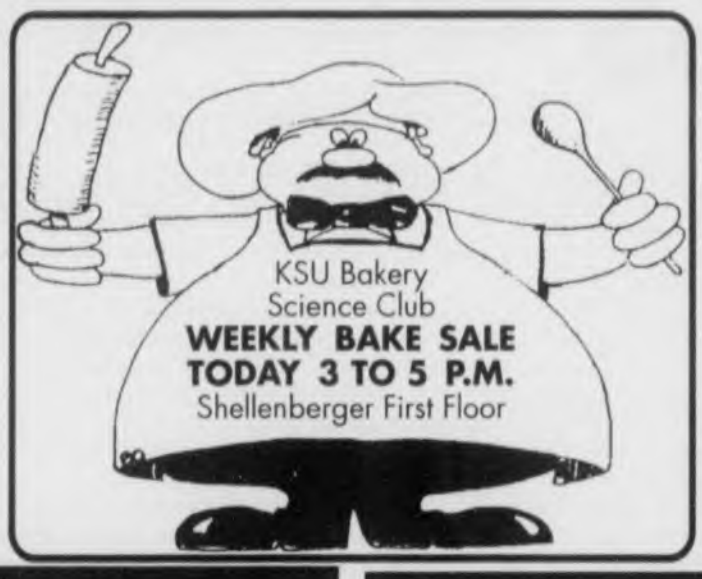
"I know everyone in our house has a friend that's an Alpha Xi, or an ADPi or a Tri Delta, and if we all come here together it gives us a chance to meet more people because it's not your normal party atmosphere. It's more casual," Harman said.

Johnson said he also came to meet new people and had succeeded.



"It's fun meeting new people, and it's fun to get all of the greeks together," he said.

Hiss said the general feeling of all who attended was positive.

"It's really fun to see all of the houses come together," Hiss said.

Don't miss your chance to get a K-State Campus Phone Book

Legal Services For Students
Dianne K. Urban, Attorney
STUDENT ACTIVITIES AND SERVICES
K-STATE STUDENT UNION 532-6541
CONFIDENTIAL
Document Preparation, Limited Representation
Free Consultations
For Enrolled K-State Students Paying the Priviledge fee
<http://www.ksu.edu/legal/>

The Answer
To The Question Is
Yes Yes Yes

Varney's Now Has Magazines

Varney's Book Store
623 N. Manhattan Ave • www.varneys.com
539-0511 • 800-362-1574

McDonald's of Manhattan Employment Opportunities

CREW POSITIONS AVAILABLE
FLEXIBLE HOURS THAT WORK AROUND YOUR CLASS SCHEDULE
Full time and part time-Competitive pay
Premium pay for opening and closing shifts
Available shifts:

5am-8am 5am-10:30am 5am-1pm
6am-10am 6am-2pm
11am-1pm 11am-4pm 11am-7pm
4pm-7pm 4pm-12am 8pm-12am

Please apply in person at 815 N. 3rd Street
or 1011 Westloop

giving state employees the power of choice

People are different, always have been. But these days it seems like our lifestyles are more diverse than ever before. Which means we all have different needs, especially in health care. So instead of a one-size-fits-all health insurance plan that limits your options, why not select a plan that leaves choices up to you? The Preferred Health Systems Insurance Company PPO lets you choose when and where you want to get your health care, who you want to get it from, and you rarely need a referral.

A product of Preferred Health Systems, the same company that offers the popular Preferred Plus of Kansas HMO, our PPO plan gives you open access to the largest provider network in the state, with nearly 4,000 providers across Kansas. You even have the option of using non-network providers if you wish. So how you manage your health care is up to you.

If you want more choice in health plans, make the Preferred choice.

Health plans with more choice
phsystems.com

Preferred Health Systems

609.2345 • 1.800.990.0345
(Outside Wichita)

PHS-183-09/00

If you're looking to move up you need choices. And that's what you'll get with a career at INTRUST. As the largest Kansas owned bank we've got positions available with opportunity for you to show your potential.

Call INTRUST Human Resources today and find out how you can get a position that rewards your good work.

Apply at INTRUST Bank OnLine, stop by or call:
630 Humboldt • (785) 565-5400
1-888-458-7366

www.intrustbank.com

Equal Opportunity Employer, M/F/D/V
Member FDIC

YES YOU CAN. INTRUST.

PHOTOS BY JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

ABOVE: Lisa Mimick spikes a ball during a home game against Baylor earlier in the season. The Wildcats will play Texas at 7 tonight at Ahearn Field House. LEFT: Mimick spikes a ball during a home game against Baylor earlier in the season.

mental toughness

Athletic talent, ability found in K-State volleyball outside hitter

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

Lisa Mimick is tough, and no one — not even her coaches or her teammates — will dispute it.

"I think great athletes are tough people, they have an element of toughness," head volleyball coach Jim McLaughlin said. "Elite athletes have that, and Lisa Mimick has it."

If Mimick does indeed have toughness, that mentality was tested more severely than ever before this season. The junior entered the 2000 season projected as the starter at outside hitter, but then broke her foot on Aug. 17, two weeks before the team's season opener at the Washington State Tournament.

The experience was the worst of her life, Mimick said.

"Just sitting and watching other people compete is probably just the hardest feeling," she said. "Having to go to Washington and sit there and watch the girls play a tournament — it was terrible. I've never felt that way before."

The injury was not unforeseeable, however. Before preseason drills ever began, Mimick realized she had a stress fracture and could have voluntarily sat out the beginning of the season after corrective surgery. Instead, she opted to play through the pain in hopes that her foot would heal itself, McLaughlin said.

"Doctors told us there were two options — she could either play until it breaks, or we could do surgery and put in a screw," he said. "Lisa wanted to play until it broke, and then there was a small chance that it could heal at the same time."

That decision did not come lightly. McLaughlin said he consulted Mimick, her family and her doctors before allowing her to play.

"I met with the doctors, and they told me play her," he said. "I asked Lisa what she wanted to do, I called her mom, and they said play her."

The decision turned out to be the wrong one, as Mimick's foot finally failed her less than three weeks into preseason drills. With the prospect of missing at the least eight weeks of the season, many athletes might have thrown in the towel, but not Mimick.

"I was really excited about this season, coming in as a junior. When that happened, I didn't know what to think," she said. "The only thing I could think of was recovering and getting back on the court."

And recover she did, recuperating from the injury twice as fast as expected.

"I kind of cut recovery time down in half. They said it would be six to eight weeks, and I'm back in three and a half," she said.

That almost superhuman healing doesn't surprise McLaughlin, but the coach said he was still amazed.

"That's a two-inch screw. When I saw that, it just blew my mind," McLaughlin said, "but what they told me was she cannot rebreak it. She could even bend the screw a little bit, and that's okay. That bone's never going to break again."

Although Mimick's bone is now impervious to destruction, her psyche may not be so strong.

See MIMICK on PAGE 8

Tonight's match:

K-State (8-3, 2-1)

Texas (3-6, 2-2)

Game time: 7, Ahearn Field House

Series: Texas leads the series 8-2, but last year the Cats swept the Longhorns in the teams' two meetings.

Game note: Texas head coach Jim Moore was the former coach of the Wildcat volleyball squad before Jim McLaughlin's arrival in 1997.

Beasley earns player of the week honors for Big 12 Conference play

Senior Jonathan Beasley was named SBC Big 12 Conference Co-Offensive Player of the Week by a select panel of media for games played on Saturday

The quarterback from Glendale, Ariz. shared the honor with Nebraska QB Eric Crouch.

Beasley captured the award after his school record five-rushing touchdown performance in K-State's 55-10 victory over North Texas.

He also established individual school records for TD's in a game and points in a game (30).

The senior scored on runs of 1, 1, 2, 1 and 16 yards, respectively, to finish with 60 yards on 12 carries. He also tallied 202 yards through the air on 12-for-15 passing.

Beasley now leads the NCAA with eight rushing touchdowns on the season.

The 6 foot, 1 inch QB is the third Wildcat to win Big 12 Conference weekly honors. Junior Aaron Lockett was awarded Special Teams Player of the Week on two occasions, while senior defensive end Monty Beisel was the season's first Defensive Player of the Week.

In addition to Beasley and Crouch's awards this week, Oklahoma linebacker Rocky Calmus and Texas cornerback Quentin Jammer shared Co-Defensive Player of the Week honors, while Michael Unger of Texas was the special teams honoree.

— Derek Boss

KSU/Colorado game will be closer than fans think

RICHARD SMITH

Any of you who are regular readers of my column know that I stand for two things above all else: griping about the Chiefs' running game and providing you with wild predictions tied to zany get-rich-quick schemes.

Kansas City still runs about as well as a '76 Chevelle, but the Chiefs won on Sunday, forcing me to draw from column B. So put your fingers on that speed dial and get ready to call your bookies, kids — it's time for more insider betting advice from Uncle Rich. Here goes:

The line on this weekend's K-State/Colorado showdown in Boulder favors the Cats by six points. Bet on Colorado to cover that margin.

You heard right. Forget everything you know about K-State. Toss out everything you think you know about Colorado. The teams' records and rules of logic don't apply to Saturday's tilt. Here are three reasons why Colorado could scare, or even defeat, K-State:

1. Because they always do.

Some things in life defy explanation, such as the popularity of the Backstreet Boys. There is no accounting for them, but they're fact nonetheless. Such is Colorado's capacity to give K-State headaches.

All-time, Colorado holds a 39-15-1 advantage (not surprising), but even over the past two years, when the Colorado program has struggled and K-State has won 22 games, the Cats have barely won each game (surprising).

The mighty Michael Bishop-led squad of 1998 barely eked out a 16-9 win at Folsom Field. Last year, K-State struggled to hang onto the win even at home, fending off a late Colorado rally for a 20-14 win.

Whatever the explanation, the tenacious Buffaloes always get up to play K-State. Coming into Saturday with an 0-3 record, Colorado will want an upset worse than ever.

2. Because they've proven themselves.

It's a funny statement to apply to a winless team, but it's true — the Buffaloes actually have proven their credentials much more thoroughly than the Wildcats. Colorado has played the most difficult non-conference schedule in the Big 12, taking on Colorado State, No. 8 Southern Cal, and No. 6 Washington.

Though they've earned their lumps, the Buffs have little to be ashamed of, losing by an average of only three points. After running that gauntlet, they know exactly what they can do, and they won't be intimidated at playing the No. 5 team in the nation.

The same can't be said of K-State. All they've proven is that they're a combined 185 points better than Iowa, Louisiana Tech, Ball State, and North Texas. So is most of the AP top 10. K-State is surely a good team, but don't fool yourself — these first four games actually have proven little. We'll get our first real look at K-State on Saturday.

3. Because they've had two weeks to prepare.

This is the big one. Colorado was idle last weekend, meaning the team will be healthy, and their coaches have had all the time in the world to nitpick, analyze and dissect everything K-State has done in its first four games.

They know play-calling tendencies. They know players' strengths and weaknesses. They know what Mario Fatafehi eats for breakfast (six boxes of Fruity Pebbles, for the record). Everything visible (and even some things invisible), they've seen — and they'll account for all of it. You don't get to be a football coach at this level without being sharp and innovative.

The Buffs will have concocted some fairly elaborate defenses to muffle K-State's passing game, and a clever offensive wrinkle or two to dupe the Mob. And if the game stays tight, that ingenuity could be all the edge that they need.

But...

Like I said, K-State is a darned good team. And in a game as close as this one should be, I'll give them the benefit of the doubt every time. My pick? K-State wins another squeaker, 21-17. The Wildcats should win, but probably won't get the blowout most fans seem to expect.

So be sure to call your bookie. Then we'll have two reasons to celebrate on Saturday night.

Richard is a senior in marketing and electronic journalism. You can e-mail him at rsmith@collegianmail.com.

teamlogogear.com
featuring officially licensed "logo" merchandise for Free Shipping GREEK - COLLEGE - PRO clothing-candles-pajamas-flags-backpacks-blankets-luggage-caps-tailgate party gear-jewelry & many more hard-to-find "logo" items

LONGHORNS
Ladies Night
$1.00 domestic bottles
Saturday watch KSU vs. Colorado on the big screen.
Doors open at 1 p.m.

TIPPMANN PAINTBALL TRADER
111 S. 5th
Hunter's Island Paintball Park
West end of Collins Lane off S. Manhattan Ave.
Open play starts at 10 a.m. Sat.
539-5979

WEDNESDAY
18 TO ENTER
21 TO DRINK
-$2.00 EVERYTHING
-10¢ WINGS Shrimp & Wings 5-9
-10¢ PEEL & EAT SHRIMP

2nd Anniversary Special offer good thur October 1-10 • open 7 days a week • evening appointments
Free Haircut with any color service
*Bring this coupon in SALON SYNERGY
539-2009 110 3rd STREET

JOE'S TAP ROOM
.99 BURGER & FRIES
Add it up! $1.00 BUSCH LITE DRAWS
BURGER, BREW & FRIES FOR UNDER 2 BUCKS!

Cryptoquip & CROSSWORD
presented by:
1219 Moro
Aggieville
JAVA
(785) 587-8888

FOR RELEASE WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 2000

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Sailor
5 Find the sum
8 Movie director Nicolas
12 Ballet bend
13 Depressed
14 Hairstyle
15 In the wings
17 In which case
18 Shred
19 Whipped
21 Sweet potato
22 Small combo
23 Conceit
26 Beer container
28 Cold-shoulders
31 Hand warmer
33 Insult
35 Determination
36 Hungry
38 San Francisco's — Hill
40 Kim Philby, e.g.
41 Semi-liquid stuff
43 Einstein's birthplace
45 Contusion
47 Lathered
51 Bank transaction
52 Very slightly gray
54 To be, in Toulon
55 Zero
56 Andy's partner
57 Mid-June honorees
58 Take a gander at 59 Nexus

DOWN
1 Stain
2 — Romeo
3 Elevator
4 Irascible
5 Apprehensive
6 Iditarod teammate
7 Resided
8 "— Arizona"
9 Leisure time
10 Gaelic
11 Suitable
16 Shipbuilding wood
20 Kues' followers
23 Cassowary look-alike
24 Starter's prop
25 Unawares
27 Tom Collins ingredient
29 Marceau portrayal
30 Pigs' digs
32 Cats
34 Puffy recipe
37 Uno + uno
39 Heavy hit
42 Laborers
44 Taj —
45 Evidenced a pinprick
46 Ecclesiastic tribunal
48 Drew Carey's nemesis
49 Harrow rival
50 Office furniture
53 "A pox upon thee!"

Solution time: 21 mins.

M	A	S	S	■	C	A	B	■	B	A	S	S
A	L	T	O	■	L	I	E	■	A	X	E	L
P	S	A	L	T	E	R	Y	■	L	I	M	O
S	O	Y	■	R	A	Y	■	H	A	S	I	T
■	■	■	G	I	N	■	G	E	L	■	■	■
S	U	M	U	P	■	C	A	R	A	C	A	S
O	M	I	T	■	O	R	T	■	I	A	G	O
B	A	R	B	A	R	Y	■	A	K	R	O	N
■	■	■	U	S	E	■	B	R	A	■	■	■
C	O	N	C	H	■	P	O	I	■	Y	A	P
A	M	O	K	■	B	O	U	Z	O	U	K	I
R	O	S	E	■	I	N	N	■	F	L	I	P
P	O	E	T	■	B	E	D	■	F	E	N	S

Yesterday's answer 9-27

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-27 CRYPTOQUIP

Z M W W H A M X J M F I J O Z T J R Z N Q T M W U J : U T I R F I M X X R A O U U I F O Q U T I H F A N J J I J.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: I SUPPOSE A PART-TIME BANDLEADER COULD BE CALLED A SEMICONDUCTOR.

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: J equals S

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2000 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

ABSTRACT ALTERNATIVES

Gallery show features interesting styles

By JJ DUNCAN
Kansas State Collegian

The art world is one filled with tradition, but the show opening at the Strecker-Nelson Gallery presents an alternative to the traditions.

The opening for the new show, "Alternative Traditions," will be at 5:30 p.m. Friday at the Strecker-Nelson Gallery. The show will run through Nov. 3, and the public is welcome to attend the opening reception.

"Alternative Traditions" is a show that presents artwork that has been composed using non-traditional techniques to express often abstract ideas. The artists for the show are each distinctive in the way they create their own styles, said Jay Nelson, co-owner of the Strecker-Nelson Gallery.

"What's happening now is that every artist sets up his own game board and plays by his own rules," he said. "All the old rules are gone, you can chuck them out the window."

The work in "Alternative Traditions" is somewhat eclectic, ranging from the ornate pottery of Marko Fields to the oil paintings of Dean Mitchell. Nelson said it is rare for Manhattan to be the host for a gallery exhibit of such non-traditional art, especially since it is a fairly conservative art community.

He said art enthusiasts in Manhattan often have more traditional tastes, so it is hoped that the show will be well received.

This show emphasizes the way the painting makes a person feel. That quality is why these works deviate from more established and accepted styles, said Suzanne Hale, registrar for the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art.

"It seems like in most people's homes the most common type of art is landscape, but there is so much more than that," she said. "Landscapes are safe, a lot of people enjoy that, which is fine because there really are some wonderful ones, but there is more variety than that."

Hale's art will be displayed alongside several other K-State faculty members' work, including Lindsay Smith, exhibitions designer for the Beach art museum.

Smith said he calls his style of work geometric abstraction and it is a style he has been using since the early 1980s.

Smith will have several works at the exhibit from what he calls his archetype series.

So far, there are 21 pieces in the series that he has been working on since 1996, he said. Though he doesn't necessarily consider his own work to be of a very alternative style, he said it is good for people to experience that work and gain something from it.

"It's always good to branch out from the norm," he said. "It's an education issue as much as anything, especially in Manhattan, which is pretty much away from any major art centers and most people aren't exposed to this type of art."

Nelson said the support for this show proves that sophisticated taste does exist in Manhattan. Not many towns the size of Manhattan can support an art gallery, especially one exhibiting art with a more avant-garde feel, he said.

This art is set apart from other styles because often times, the surfaces, media and components within a piece are all part of the finished work itself. The texture of the surface can make as much difference as the paint on it, he said.

"In this form the artist has invented everything," Nelson said.

"In traditional art you have your rules and tricks to deviate from those rules, but every time these artists begin a new work, it requires all their creative ability."

Exhibitors:
K-State faculty exhibiting at the show: Bill North, Suzanne Hale, Lindsay Smith, Judy Boyer, Jim Jones and former professor Gary Woodward. Other artists exhibiting include Ed Navone, Jane Elias Elliott, Janey Skeer, Tom Leopold, Dan Kirchhefer, Dean Mitchell and Marko Fields.

Hours:
The Strecker-Nelson Gallery is open 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday-Saturday.

JEANEL DRAKE/Collegian

Sam Nelson of the Strecker-Nelson Gallery on Poyntz Avenue hangs artwork by K-State graduate Judy Boyer on Tuesday afternoon in preparation for the show's opening. The show includes some work from K-State alumni and will open Friday.

Internationalist pianist to perform at McCain on Sunday

By LYNNE HERMANSEN
Kansas State Collegian

Composer Frederic Chopin's piano concertos will resound through McCain Auditorium this weekend.

Lilya Zilberstein, international pianist, makes a return visit to McCain to perform an all-Chopin program beginning at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Ticket info:
Tickets are $20 for general public, $18 for seniors and $10 for students. They can be ordered at the McCain box office or by calling 532-6428.

"If you ask most people who Chopin is, they know the works and they love it," said Thom Jackson, marketing and development director of McCain.

Zilberstein has been recognized by critics worldwide as one of the most exciting pianists of her generation, Jackson said, partly due to her first-place prize in the 1987 Busoni International Piano Competition.

A native of Moscow, Zilberstein graduated from the Gnessin Pedagogical Institute. She has won numerous Russian piano competitions and plays with numerous symphonies, including the Omaha Symphony in Nebraska.

"We are excited about her coming," Jackson said. "She is an outstanding piano player and a world-class pianist."

Richard Martin, director of McCain Auditorium, said Zilberstein was invited to perform at McCain a second time because of the high audience response from her previous performance.

"This is a great opportunity for students and the community to see Zilberstein perform who weren't on campus to experience her first performance," Martin said.

Jackson said the audience should enjoy Zilberstein's show because Chopin's works are lively and expressive.

"Chopin's works are known for being on the lighter side," he said. "The audience will be able to feel alive through Zilberstein's playing."

Martin said Zilberstein has a solid program.

"It's interesting playing through the kind of works people recognize," he said. "Zilberstein gives another viewpoint to Chopin's piano concertos."

He said critics have said Zilberstein's concentrated energy leaves the audience breathless.

"She plays exquisitely well, with no mannerisms," Martin said. "Her playing is good, clean and straightforward."

COURTESY PHOTO

WHAT'S HAPPENING

CAMPUS

- Arts Above the Arch featuring Winston Branch
  7 p.m. Thursday at Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art
- Film Fest Night featuring Adam Sandler movies
  6 p.m. Thursday in Union Station
- Assisted Suicide Debate
  7 p.m. Thursday in Union Main Ballroom
- Midnight Madness
  11:30 p.m. Thursday in Purple Masque Theatre
- "Vertigo,"
  7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday in Forum Hall
- Ebony Theatre poetry reading
  7 p.m. Saturday at Purple Masque Theatre
- Lilya Zilberstein,
  3 p.m. Sunday in McCain Auditorium
- "Tour Europe and the World on $.84 A Day" featuring Gil White
  7 p.m. Tuesday in Union Main Ballroom
- Violin and piano concert featuring Cora Cooper and William Wingfield
  7:30 p.m. Tuesday at All Faiths Chapel

MANHATTAN & REGION

- "The Best Man,"
  8 p.m. Thursday-Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday at the Manhattan Arts Center
- Renaissance Festival,
  10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday in Bonner Springs, Kan.

THE GONGFARMER

BY RANDY REGIER

Monkey Boy

BY BRENT ENGSTROM – MONKEYBOYCOMIC@HOTMAIL.COM

MIMICK

■ continued from page 6

The tough, determined Mimick was able to will her body to health, but the energy and emotion used in the process might take its toll, McLaughlin said.

"The only thing I worry about her is, will her competitiveness hurt her sometimes emotionally," he said. "She hurts her foot, and she's making this comeback. When you think about training and the process of improvement, there's a formula, of repetitions, of doing the right things the right way.

"She hasn't done those things in a long time, and so she wants it all back right now instead of letting the process take over."

The possibility that Mimick's psyche might not have healed at the same rate as her physical health was realized against Texas Tech on Sept. 20.

Mimick returned to the front row for the first time and, despite a season-high 20 digs, she allowed her emotions to get the better of her, McLaughlin said.

"I made an error of playing her in the front row because she just wasn't ready," he said. "She thought she was ready, but I should have not played her."

Mimick understands what happened against Texas Tech, and in typical tough form, knows how she will fix it.

"I just need to start relaxing more," she said.

McLaughlin said he has no doubt, however, that Mimick will overcome these difficulties and play to her potential.

Her ability and desire to compete place Mimick into an elite group.

"She's going to be fine," McLaughlin said.

"Of all the people I've coached over 18 years, Lisa is in the top 10 in her ability to compete. I think that is a gift. Some people have it, some people don't. Lisa definitely has it."

BIRTH RIGHT

■ continued from page 1

Weaver said this is to encourage people to seek help.

"A lot of people don't like the system. They don't trust it," she said. "They don't like to give a lot of info. So, we don't make them. All we need to know is their first name and about their pregnancy."

Magnett said before opening the Manhattan chapter, she is still looking for volunteers to donate time, money or both.

As of now, 10 people have made commitments to volunteer their time. Birth Right is also accepting cash donations to start, Magnett said. Once it is open, clothing and other items will be accepted as well.

Magnett said she hopes for a strong relationship between Birth Right and K-State.

"I hope that K-State students will find us a lot easier to talk to than trying to find an easier route if they find themselves pregnant," she said.

This organization is not about forcing people to do anything, Magnett said. It is about giving people options.

"We want to support that babies are born and have a good life," she said. "The kids are our future."

thirty years from now, will you remember...
every memory?
every face?
every name?
let us help.
Order your 2001 Royal Purple Yearbook today.
103 Kedzie Hall • 532-6555 • royalpurple@ksu.edu

Tell it like it is... 395-4444

SCOREBOARD
WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY NIGHT
$1 NIGHT
Seagrams, All domestic bottles
Calls - Captain, Quervo, etc.
Fries, Burgers, Tots
All for a buck!
$1.50 Micro & Import Bottles - Corona,Heineken,Newcastle, etc.
$2.00 Premiums - Crown, Sapphire, Absolut
1119 Moro • 776-7714 • Open at 5:00 p.m.
SCOREBOARD

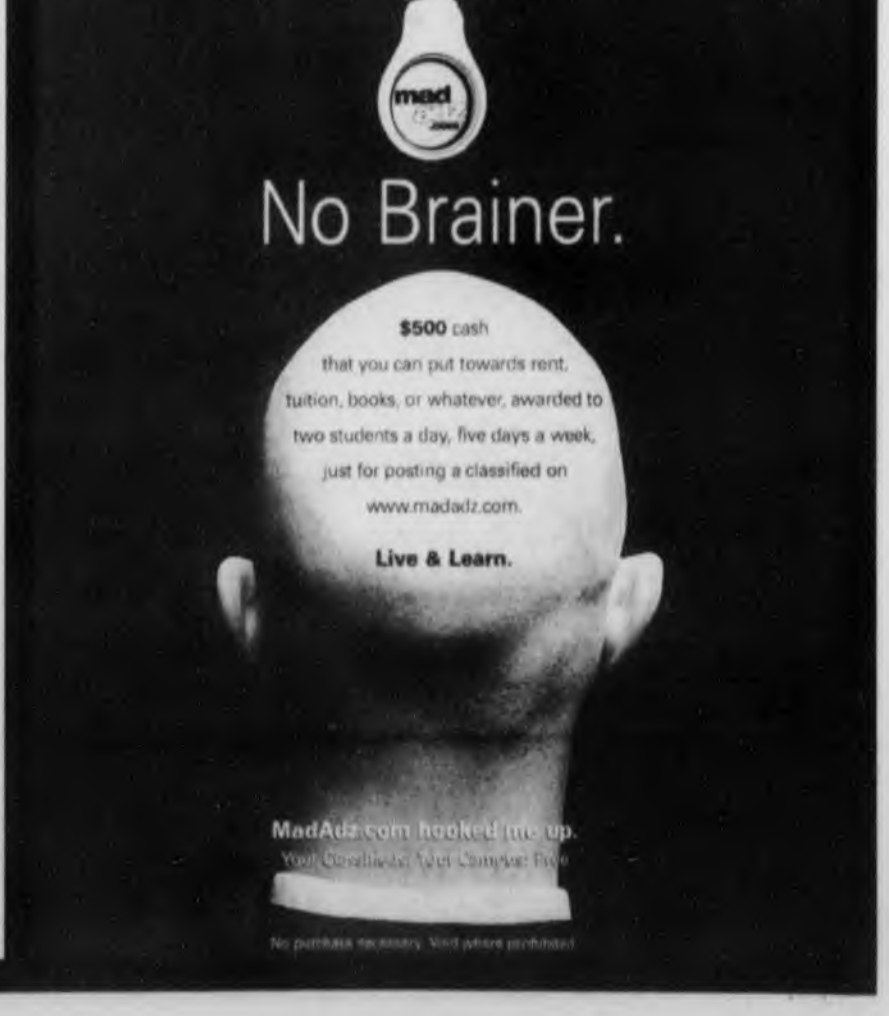
Wednesday
Steak Night
$2 U-CALL-ITS
$8.99 16 oz.K.C. strip or T-Bone
$5.99 8 oz. K.C. strip or Sirloin
Bobby T's
3240 Kimbell Ave. 537-8383

MANHATTAN JEWISH CONGREGATION
1509 WREATH AVE. • 539-8462
invites faculty and students to:
High Holy Days Services
September 29, Rosh Hashanah
Erev Rosh Hashanah, 7:30 p.m.
September 30, Morning Service 10 a.m.
October 8, Yom Kippur
Kol Nidre, 7 p.m.
October 9, Morning Service, 10 a.m.
Afternoon Service 4:30 p.m.
Yiskor (Memorial) Service, 5:30 p.m.
Concluding Service, 6 p.m.
Havdalah Service, 7 p.m.
Break-The-Fast following Havdalah
HILLEL
For information about rides to services and about HILLEL, call Andrea: 776-0597 or 532-6441

The Fantastic Look of Sterling Silver Jewelry

Back to School Sale
Save 20% Thru October
776-9067
5th & Poyntz
Manhattan
Campbell's
10 a.m. - 5:30 p.m.
Mon. - Sat.
10 a.m. - 6 p.m.
Thurs.
The Tradition Continues....

the provost's lecture series 2000-2001
3:00 - 4:30 p.m.
Wednesday, Sept. 27
Hemisphere Room
Hale Library, 5th Floor
Diversity, Mission, and Academic Work
Provost James Coffman
Presentation followed by Q & A
For more information, visit the Provost's web site: www.ksu.edu/provost/



"Crazy" Ted Varney would have loved this...
CRAZY TEXTBOOK SALE
Hundreds of selected new & used textbooks
Various fields of study
Check out these crazy low prices!
$1.00 Paperbacks
(Sept. 29 - Oct. 18)
$15.00
$2.00 Hardbacks
ALL YOU CAN CARRY!
Varney's BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE
"We Give You Our Best"
www.varneys.com
While you're in,
ADVANCE ORDERING your fall textbooks at Varney's can save you valuable time, energy, and money!
Ask our textbook staff for details.
9 a.m.-9 p.m. Mon.-Sat. 11a.m.-7p.m. Sun.
785-539-0511

HEY, SSN ___-__-____,
EXPRESS YOUR INDIVIDUALITY
WITH A CUSTOM-DESIGNED
COLLEGE RING.

NOW SAVE UP TO $200
ARTCARVED
WED. SEPT. 27 – FRI. SEPT. 29
10 A.M. – 4 P.M.
UNION BOOKSTORE
BOOKSTORE

All New. All Yours. All Free
MadAdz welcomes
Kansas State University
This is a way to get a free T-shirt
MadAdz.com will hook you up.
Limit one T-shirt per student.

No Brainer.
$500 cash
that you can put towards rent, tuition, books, or whatever, awarded to two students a day, five days a week, just for posting a classified on www.madadz.com.
Live & Learn.
MadAdz.com hooked me up.
No purchase necessary. Void where prohibited.

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FALL LEASING available! Call now! Fully furnished, washer/ dryer, fully equipped kitchen, alarm systems, computer lab, copier, and fax availability, fitness center/ rec room, swimming pool, reserved parking, tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. University Commons Apartments, 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

CAMPUS FIVE BLOCKS. Very large two-bedroom with air-conditioning. Clean, quiet location. Electric, gas, water, trash paid. No dogs. 537-8389.

EXCELLENT TWO-BEDROOM one block from campus. $550 per month, water/ trash paid. 341-4496.

LET US HELP you find a place to live. We may have what you need. No dogs. Leave message, 537-8389.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT. GREAT LOCATION. across street from campus. 395/ month. Water trash paid 770-8159 call evenings.

VERY NICE two-bedroom with air-conditioning. NEWLY REDECORATED, clean, quiet, convenient location. Heat, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. 537-8389.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, close to campus, newly remodeled, CENTRAL AIR, two bath, washer/ dryer. 770-7230, 539-1713.

NEW DUPLEX. FOUR-BEDROOM, two bath, two living rooms. Available October 1. $1000/ month. Pierre St. (785)456-7655.

TWO STORY BRICK, very large, three- four-bedroom, two baths, central air, laundry hook-ups, quiet location, fenced yard, parking. 537-8389.

Before Time Runs Out
advertise your sublease in the classifieds
Let's Rent special section
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 103 Kedzie 532-6555

145 Roommate Wanted

NICE TWO-BEDROOM, two bath, furnished, washer/dryer, dishwasher, privacy deck. Sublease, tenant needed. $325/ person/ month. 537-8226.

ROOMMATE WANTED for house. ONE-BLOCK FROM CAMPUS. Gas, water, and trash paid. Off-street parking. 776-5422

150 Subiease

CLOSE TO CAMPUS! A very spacious one-bedroom basement apartment in a nice house. Rent: $340 a month. You only pay for electricty, phone and cable! 770-3537.

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information, call (785)456-2795, www.ksu.edu/ksfc

"I KNOW Why the Caged Bird Sings" was almost banned as a "lurid tale of sexual perversion." Check out Banned Book Week September 25- 29 at the K-State Union Bookstore.

NEED A new look? Free hair cuts, color and texture. Call for details. Hair Experts Design Team. (785)776-4455.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

040 Meetings/ Events

WHO WOULD ban the Dictionary? Check out Banned Book Week September 25-29 at the K-State Union Bookstore.

100 housing/ real estate

101 Rental Wanted

FOUR 30ISH alums seeking three-bedroom, two bath apartment or house for use from October 13 at 6pm to Sunday, October 15 at noon. Will pay $400 plus deposit. Call (916)641-4065.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

TWO BEDROOM, walk to campus, ample parking, quiet conditions, furnished or unfurnished, reasonable rates. Laundry. Available now. 539-3638.

Come home to relax in comfort
•Cambridge Square
•Sandstone Apts.
•Fireplaces •Carports
•Pool •Private Deck
•Laundry Facilities
•Large 2-bedroom Units
Call TODAY!!!
537-9064
Weekdays 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Showings by appointment

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

BRAND NEW three-bedroom/ three bathroom apartment, available now, washer/ dryer included, close to campus and Aggieville. Call MDI 776-3804.

DOES $350/ month sound better than what you're paying for rent? Assume my loan and own a three-bedroom, two bath, three year old mobile home by Tuttle Creek River Pond. Call (785)776-5619, leave name and number and I'll return your call.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, in four-plex, available now. 2110 Elm. $475/ month. Water and trash paid. Washer/ dryer hookups. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR– FIVE-BEDROOM home for rent, near campus. January 1, lease. Call (785)539-2357, 9 a.m.- 5 p.m. M- F.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for large house near campus. Large bedroom, two baths, central air, washer/ dryer, $270 plus one-fourth utilities. 776-0352.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, $265/ month, one-third utilities, Chase Manhattan Apartments. 539-7824.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. $250/ month plus one-third utilities, washer/ dryer, garage, hot tub, fireplace, sublease until June. 770-9301.

ROOMMATE WANTED for house close to vet school. $250 plus one-third utilities. 537-9943.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share a two-bedroom apartment. $250/month plus half utilities (785) 313-4182

200 service directory

220 Weight Loss & / Nutrition

Body Wrapping & More
For a slimmer and trimmer you
539-8391

255 Other Services

Therapeutic Massage
50% Off First Visit $16.00
776-0022
www.flinthills.com/~tmassage

300 employment/ opportunities

310 Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For info call (203)977-1722.

ARE YOU connected? Computer users wanted for free information call 1-800-310-0295. $25-$75/hour, full training, currently in 49 countries.

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!! Looking for part- time dealers. Multi- level market selling Indoor Air Purification Machines. Fun business, good money!!! Call Mitch at (888)814-2893.

CUSTOMER SERVICE, a perfect match. If you have 15-75 pounds to lose, we pay you. 877-345-7179

DELIVERY DRIVERS needed. $5.50 per hour plus tips and mileage. Evening shift available. Please contact Hunam Restaurant, 1304 Westloop. 539-8888

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY Assistance Center, Director. Interim Position. This search is for internal KSU candidates only. The information Technology Assistance Center (iTAC) is the Kansas State University entry point for faculty, staff and students to find quick solutions to their IT needs. The Director supervises a full-time staff of five and several part-time employees, currently housed in Hale Library. The iTAC Director reports to the Vice Provost for Academic Services and Technology (VPAST). Salary: Commensurate with experience: $50,000- $60,000/ Annually. Qualifications: Necessary: Masters degree in some field of Information Technology or highly related field. Preferred: Ph.D. in Computer Science, Information Systems, Management Information System, Educational Technology or highly related field. For a complete description and application details contact: Rusty Taylor, Chair, iTAC Director Search Committee, 128 Bob Dole Hall, Educational Communications Center, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506. Telephone (785)532-3125 or on the World Wide Web: http://main.itac.ksu.edu/dir_pos/itac_dir.pdf or http://www.ksu.edu/vpast/position_ann.html
Review of applications will begin September 29, 2000. Start date will be negotiable upon selection of qualified applicant with target start date as soon as possible after November 1, 2000.

PROGRAMMER- NETWORKS Plus, the leader in providing business technology services, has openings for programmers in Manhattan. Two or more years proven experience in Visual Basic or Microsoft SQL is required, project management experience is preferred. All new hires are required to obtain Microsoft Certified Solution Developer status within 90 days of employment. $70,000- $90,000- plus health, 401(k), vacation and company paid training. E-mail resume to jobs@networksplus.com in Microsoft Word or Text format.

310 Help Wanted

INTERN RILEY County Community Corrections has an opening for a student intern who is participating in the Kansas Career Work Study program. Duties include assisting juvenile intake staff in delivery of various field services to assigned offenders. Requirements include senior year standing in a human services field (preferably criminal justice), ability to work a flexible work schedule, including some evenings, and a valid Kansas driver's license. This position is part-time status, with the average number of hours per week expected to be in the 15-20 hour range. Experience working with juveniles is preferred. The hourly wage is $8.35 with no benefits. Applications may be obtained from the Riley County Counselor/Personnel Office, 115 N. 4th Street, 3rd Floor East, Courthouse Plaza East Building, Manhattan, KS 66502. 785-565-6464. Position open until filled. jdean@co.riley.ks.us EOE

LANDSCAPING POSITIONS. Full-time M- F. Apply in person at Horticultural Services Inc. 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (785)494-2418 or (785)776-0397.

LUNCHROOM/ PLAYGROUND Supervisors- Hall Monitors needed for the 2000-01 school term. $5.15 per hour, one and one-half- two hours per day. 11a.m.- 1p.m. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, KS 66502. (785)587-2000. EOE.

OGDEN YOUTH Center, immediate opening, full-time youth director. Must have experience working with teens, good communication and organization skills, computer skills in MS Word and Excel. Grant writing experience and bachelors degree preferred. Must be able to work evenings. Send resume and references to Ogden Youth Center Personnel, Box 145, Ogden, KS 66517.

PROGRAMMER ANALYST Kansas Farm Bureau Services, Inc. is seeking a programmer analyst or systems analyst depending on qualifications. Minimum requirements include 2 - 5 years mainframe-related experience plus: Bachelor's degree in CS, related field, or equivalent work experience. Knowledge in programming, design, and analysis. CICS, MVS/ESA, COBOL, ROSCOE, LIBRARIAN, VSAM, NATURAL, ADABAS. We provide an on-site Wellness Center and an excellent compensation package including health insurance with a minimal monthly premium, life insurance, non-contributory pension plan, plus 401(k) and participation in the Company's gainsharing compensation plan. Candidates may send their resume and cover letter to Peggy J. Goe - Employment Manager, P.O. Box 3500 - I/S, Manhattan, KS 66505-8508. Visit our home page at www.kfbs.com. Fax (785) 587-6879. We are an equal opportunity employer and encourage diversity.

REAL ESTATE assistant and special projects. Need car, basic computer skills, good listener, follows instructions. 10- 20 hours/ week, flexible. Daytime 8am- 6pm, Monday- Fnday. $10/ hour. Resume and references to BI Investments, PO Box 1111, Junction City, KS 66441.

Spring Break Reps needed to promote campus trips. Earn easy money and travel free! All materials provided free. We train you. Work on you own time. Call 1-800-367-1252 or www.springbreakdirect.com

Spring Break 2001
Jamaica, Cancun, Florida, Barbados, Bahamas
Now hiring campus reps. Earn 2 fee trips. Free Meals. Books by Nov. 2nd. Call for FREE info pack or visit online sunsplashtours.com
1-800-426-7710

SUBSTITUTE TEACHERS with USD 383 2000-01 school term. Must have valid Kansas teaching certificate. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, KS 66502. (785)587-2000. EOE.

THOROUGH HOUSE cleaning under ideal circumstances for couple with no pets/ smoking/ children. Send resume to c/o Collegian, Box 1, Manhattan 66506.

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. Open 12- 5p.m. Closed Sundays Mondays. 539-4684.

DRAFTING TABLES $50 or best offer. Great for architecture/ engineering students. Excellent shape with storage. Manhattan Area Technical College, (785)587-2800.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS Camouflage clothing (including PURPLE) field jackets- Boots sleeping bags- overshoes, hunting wear. Also CARHARTT workwear. Open Mon.- Fri., 9- 5:30; Sat. 9- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS 66536. (785)437-2734.

Wildcat Pawn & Jewelry
Back to school special on ALL cd's & movies at $2.99 ea.
2309 Tuttlecreek Blvd.
539-7296

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

DOUBLE BED. Mattress, box springs and frame. Excellent condition. $75. Call 539-6306 evenings.

FOR SALE: 27 inch Sony color TV, waterbed- king size, book shelf, headboard. $150 each or best offer. Call 532-3134.

435 Computers

COMPAQ DESK Pro 590. Complete system with ethernet card installed. $200. 770-8460.

PACKARD BELL Pentium computer and color canon printer. $400 or best offer. 776-4398 mornings or evening.

PRE-OWNED LAPTOPS, in excellent condition, starting at just $399.95!!! NorthStar Solutions: 1800 Claflin Rd., #160 (near campus at the corner of Claflin and Denison).

YEAR OLD compact presario 1920 laptop. Like new condition. Daytime call 1-800-825-4377, after 4pm call 785-632-5980 ask for Nicole.

445 Music Instruments

Wildcat Pawn & Jewelry
Biggest Selection on used Electric guitars in Manhattan.
Ranging from $149.50 and up.
2309 Tuttlecreek Blvd.
539-7296

455 Sporting Equipment

DUCKS UNLIMITED Banquet, Sept. 30, Council Grove American Legion. Event begins at 6p.m. Tickets at the door or call (316)767-5470.

460 Electronic Equipment

SONY, KENWOOD, JBL, Technics, Bose, etc. Stereo and Surround. Quality used equipment, bought and sold. Call Mike (785)565-0517.

Wildcat Pawn & Jewlery
Great selection of Nintendo 64's & Playstations starting at $49.50. Also a selection of VCR's starting at $39.50.
2309 Tuttlecreek Blvd.
539-7296

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

K-STATE VS COLORADO Four tickets to game. Two nights lodging, walking distance to stadium. $450 negotiable. 587-9637 Leave message.

FOR SALE: Two student season football tickets. (913)915-6343.

WANTED, BY KSU alumni, one student ticket to NU game. Contact Keith at Keithu@impactdsgn.net

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1987 DODGE 600, four-door, automatic, air-conditioned, power steering, good condition, $2000 or best offer. Call (785)539-1628.

1988 FORD Mustang LX, 2.5 liter v-4, standard transmission, gray, sunroof, alloy wheels. 565-0849.

1993 FORD F150 XLT Ext. Cab. 5.8L v-8. Automatic with overdrive, 220K, with new goodyear tires, one minor dent, excellent interior condition, Power windows, locks, tilt, cruise and air. Runs great $7000. 776-4283 or (316) 271-2629

1995 DODGE Ram 2500 4x4 360 Auto. SLT Laramie. Also car stereo system. 4- JL 10 inch subs, Amps and Mids. 565-9491

1997 DODGE Caravan Sport. 60K, excellent condition, power everything. Must sell. $14,700 or best offer. (785)762-2429. Leave message.

EXCELLENT TOWN car with low mileage, low gas, low price and cinch to park. 1994 Geo Metro, automatic transmission only, 37,000 miles $3500, (785)539-1956, evenings.

MUST SEE. 1979 Ford Granada, mint condition, 33,000 original miles, runs great (used to be Grandmas) $1700 (785)293-5719.

530 Motorcycles

1981 HONDA CB650, red, good tires, runs great $850 or best offer. Also, 1978 CX500 electerical problems, lots of spare parts, $250. jec6619@ksu.edu or 776-3757, ask for Jon.

1982 KAWASAKI K21000, $1300. (785)537-8878.

1992 KATANA 750, low miles, new tires. $3300 or best offer. 565-9728.

1995 KAWASAKI ZX6R Ninja. Carbon fiber, micron slipon, never wrecked. 6,600 miles. 539-8521

600 travel/ trips

630 Spring Break

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas and Florida. Earn cash and go free! Now hiring campus reps. 1-800-234-7007 endlesssummertours.com

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best SPRING BREAK PRICES! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Mardigras. Reps needed. Travel free, earn $$$. GROUP DISCOUNTS FOR SIX+. (800)838-8203/ www.leisuretours.com

GO DIRECT= $avings! #1 Internet-based Spring Break company offering WHOLESALE Spring Break packages (no middlemen)! Zero traveler complaints registered against us last year! ALL destinations. Lowest price guarantee! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakdirect.com

SPRING BREAK 2001! CANCUN & BAHAMAS. EAT, DRINK, TRAVEL FOR FREE, WANTED CAMPUS REPS! Call USA SPRING BREAK, toll free (877)460-6077, for trip information and rates. 25 Continuous Years of Student Travel! www.usaspringbreak.com

SPRING BREAK Cancun, Matzalan, Jamaica, South Padre, Florida, and Cruises. EVERYTHING included. Book your trip locally through Student Express TODAY. Best packages available. 587-0713.

SPRING BREAK! Deluxe hotels, reliable air, free food, drinks and parties! Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Mazatlan and Florida. Travel Free and Earn Cash! Do it on the Web! Go to StudentCity.com or call (800)293-1443 for info.

SPRING BREAK!!! Cancun, Mazatlan, Bahamas, Jamaica & Florida. Call Sunbreak Student Vacations for info on going free and earning cash. Call 1(800)446-8355 or email sales@sunbreaks.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Cancun, Bahamas, Florida, Jamaica & Mazatlan. Call Sun Coast Vacationers for a free brochure and ask how you can organize a small group and Eat, Drink, Travel Free and Earn Cash! Call (888)777-4642 or email sales@sun-coastvacations.com

WINTER BREAK/ SPRING BREAK. Ski and beach trips on sale now! www.sunchase.com or call 1-800-SUNCHASE today!

Have you lost or found a pet?

Let us play detective for you.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie 532-655

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.85
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.90
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.90
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 bulletin board
100 housing/ real estate
200 service directory
300 employment/ opportunities
400 open market
500 transportation
600 travel/ trips

2000-2001 Campus Phone Books on sale in the Union

LOST? & FOUND
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 103 Kedzie 532-6555

BUILDING AN INTELLIGENT PORTFOLIO

Seating is limited.

Sign up today!

You're invited to the TIAA-CREF Financial Education Seminars.

Date: October 3, 4 & 5, 2000

Place: Room 207, Student Union

RSVP: Register on our website or call Teresa Nicholson at 1.800.842.2006

Taking Control of Your Personal Finances

We'll discuss the financial planning process and will focus on wealth accumulation and preservation, general information on estate planning, preservation and distribution.

Date & Time: October 3, 10:30 am
October 5, 1:00 pm

One-on-one Counseling

A TIAA-CREF Consultant will be on hand to provide free one-on-one counseling sessions, so you can get the personalized financial guidance you need to help you reach your investment goals.

Please attend the Kansas State Benefits Fair on October 4, 2000.

TIAA CREF Ensuring the future for those who shape it.℠

1.800.842.2006

www.tiaa-cref.org/moc

For more complete information on our securities products, please call 1 800 842 2733, ext. 5509, to request prospectuses. Read them carefully before you invest. • TIAA-CREF individual and institutional Services, Inc. distributes the CREF and TIAA Real Estate variable annuities. • Teachers Personal Investors Services, Inc. distributes the Personal Annuities variable annuity component, mutual funds and tuition savings agreements. • TIAA and TIAA-CREF Life Insurance Co., New York, NY, issue insurance and annuities. • TIAA-CREF Trust Company, FSB provides trust services. • Investment products are not FDIC insured, may lose value and are not bank guaranteed. © 2000 TIAA-CREF 08/03

COPENHAGEN RACING™

TOUGH CO.

U.S. Tobacco

Meet

U.S. Tobacco Company Racing

Funny Car Driver

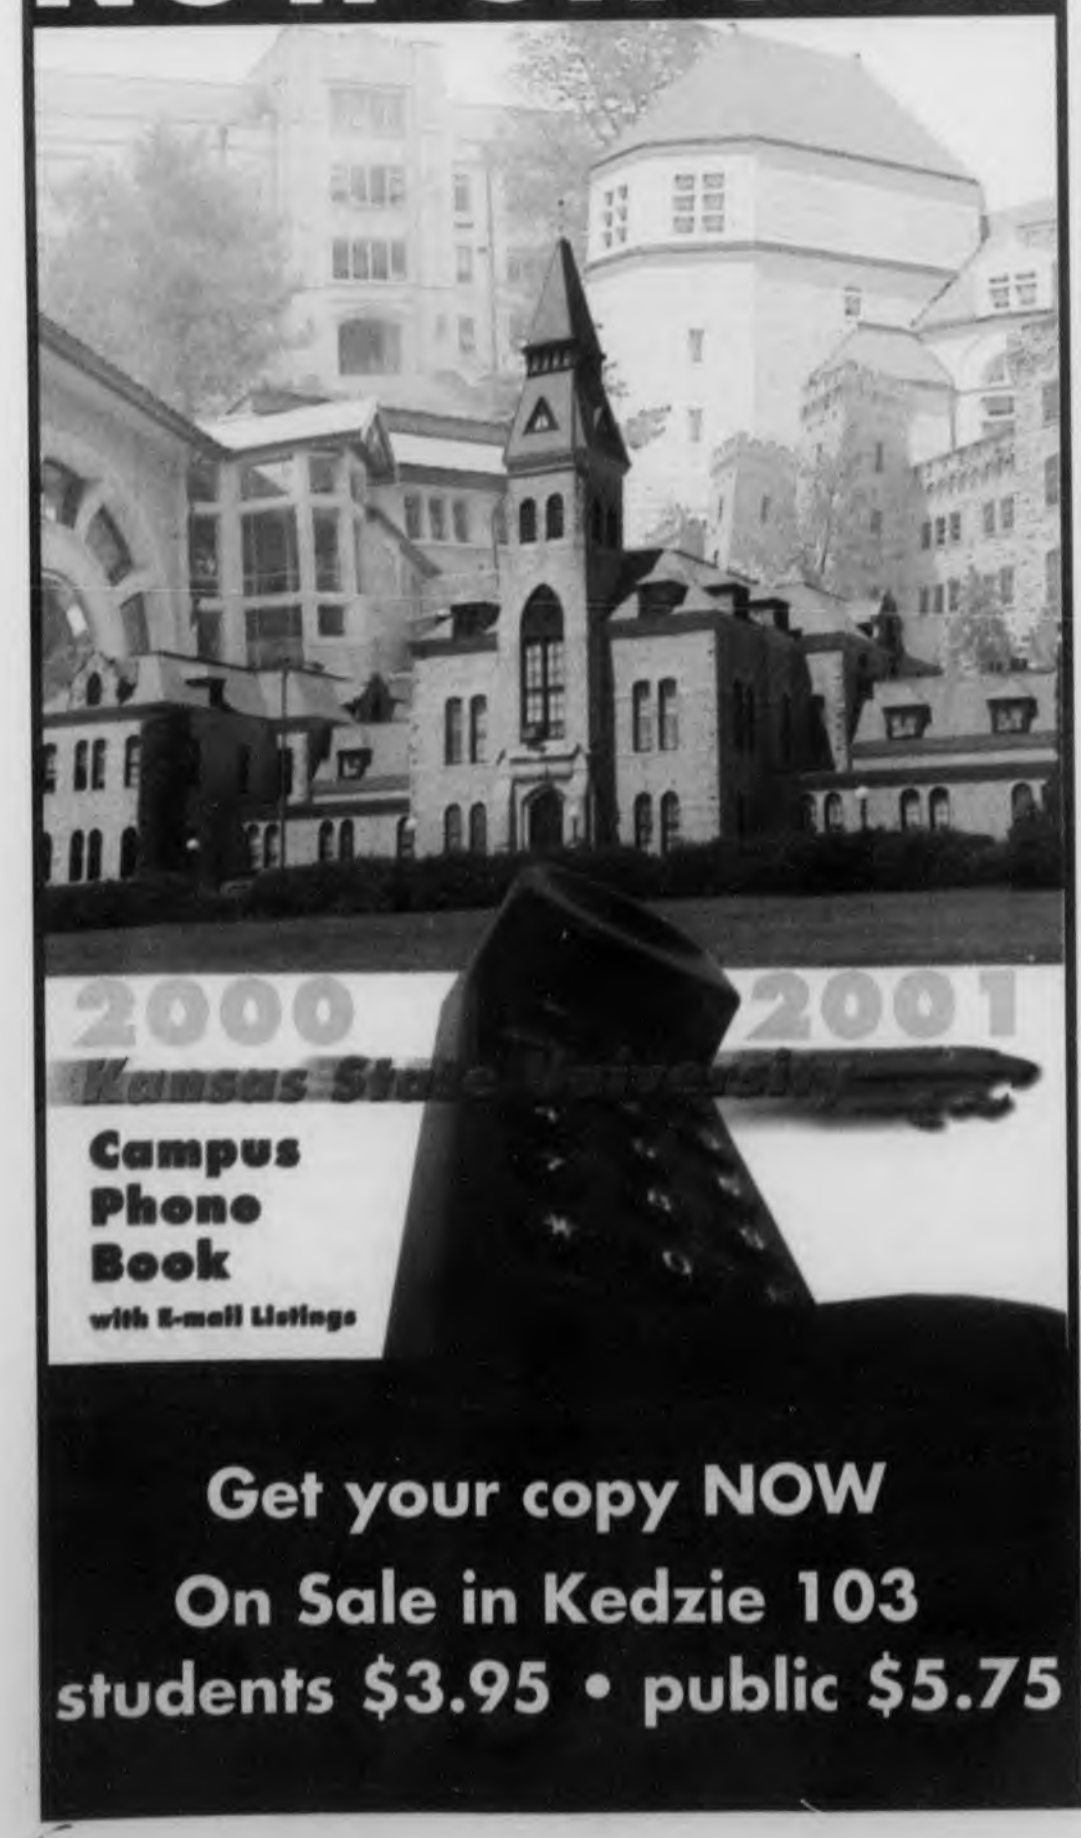
Ron Capps

for an

Autograph Session

Thursday, September 28th

9:00 p.m. – 11:00 p.m.



at

Longhorn's Bar & Grill

Manhattan, Kansas

©1998 U.S. TOBACCO CO.

NOW ON SALE

Get your copy NOW

On Sale in Kedzie 103

students $3.95 • public $5.75

SexWars

PLAY THE GAME

Check your local TV listings

www.SexWars.com

TODAY'S WEATHER
HIGH 83 ■ LOW 59
THURSDAY

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sept. 28, 2000 ■ Kansas State University ■ Manhattan, Kan. ■ Volume 105, Number 28

Volleyball women defeat Texas

■ page 6

STEVEN DEARINGER/COLLEGIAN

GETTING A FACELIFT

John Tremblay, of Restoration Water Proofing of Topeka, paints window trim Wednesday at the top of First Presbyterian Church in Manhattan.

Water level may be lowered

■ Tuttle Creek affected by Corps' plan to compensate for drought.

By SHAWN HEIN
Kansas State Collegian

A proposal to decrease the water level at Tuttle Creek Reservoir, due to drought conditions has made waves with Gov. Bill Graves.

The Army Corps of Engineers of Kansas City plans to lower the water level in Tuttle Creek, Milford and Perry lakes in order to increase the water level in the Missouri River. The increased water level in the Missouri River would help for traffic navigation.

Graves, as well as U.S. Sen. Pat Roberts, has opposed the plan. In a release statement, the governor cited his concern for possible future droughts.

The state of Kansas has taken the Army Corps of Engineers to court over the matter.

According to Kenna Rice, from the U.S. District Courts Office in Wichita, both sides stated their oral arguments in front of Judge Dale Saffels at the U.S. District Court in Topeka on Tuesday afternoon.

The temporary restraining order hearing resulted in Saffels ordering the two sides to submit briefs stating their case by this evening. Saffels said once the briefs have been submitted, no time will be wasted in making a decision.

"We want to get it done as soon as we can and get it expedited," Saffels said.

If the proposal passes, it would drop the level of Tuttle Creek Reservoir to 10,069 feet above sea level, 6 feet below normal.

Matt Enoch, an employee at Tuttle Creek State Park, said the Army Core of Engineers from Kansas City have the ultimate control of the lakes, since their primary function is for navigation to the Missouri and Mississippi

See WATER on PAGE 10

Senate vote to confirm extra seats

By BRYAN SCRIBNER
Kansas State Collegian

Students now will receive an additional 2,000 seats at home football games.

At Tuesday night's Privilege Fee Committee meeting, Athletic director Max Urick was asked to guarantee 9,500 student seats, Privilege Fee Chair Ryan Walker said.

Students still will receive season tickets at the discount rate of $100. Public tickets cost $228.

Walker said the request will be an amendment to the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' privilege fee continuance bill. The bill will be voted on at the Student Senate meeting tonight.

MORE INFO
The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' privilege fee continuance bill will now request 9,500 student seats at home football games and 5,908 seats at men's basketball games.

"I think it will go through just fine," Walker said. "It's really been a great process."

The fee continuance request is $405,695 for the fiscal years of 2001-2004. It supports all non-revenue sports such as women's basketball, equestrian and golf. The fee assesses $11.54 each semester for full-time students.

Walker said increasing the number of available student football tickets was an issue because of increased demand.

Student Senate Chair Travis Lenkner said guaranteed seating at home football games is one advantage of the fee. It does not, however, fund football or men's basketball.

"I think a lot of people are going to associate the athletic fee with football," Lenkner said.

The fee also guarantees 5,908 men's basketball seats at the student discount rate of $71, Walker said.

The expected view of the front of the new alumni center from Anderson Avenue and 17th Street. COURTESY ART

Alumni Center to become reality

By BRYAN SCRIBNER
Kansas State Collegian

The KSU Alumni Association will move back to campus after a nine-year absence.

Planning for the construction of an alumni center is in its final stages, communications director Karen Schroeder said. The center could break ground by this summer.

"It will be a place where alumni can relax," Schroeder said. "We plan to have more events in Manhattan for alumni."

The Alumni Association has been located on the fourth floor of the KSU Foundation Center since 1991. It has existed for more than 120 years.

"We strive to provide enhancement opportunities for alumni, students and all K-State supporters," Schroeder said.

Karen Walczak, K-State graduate and member of the Alumni Association, said the center would be a good place for reunions. She said its location on campus would be important.

"I think a lot of people don't even know where it is — right now it's just an office," she said. "It will finish off that corner of campus."

The idea for an alumni center originated in 1996. After choosing a construction site south of Memorial Stadium, a feasibility study was conducted in May 1997.

Fund raising for the project began in November 1997. Schroeder said funding efforts will not go public until a certain amount of money has been acquired.

The center will cost about $11 million and take about 18 months to build, Schroeder said. It will be funded through private donations.

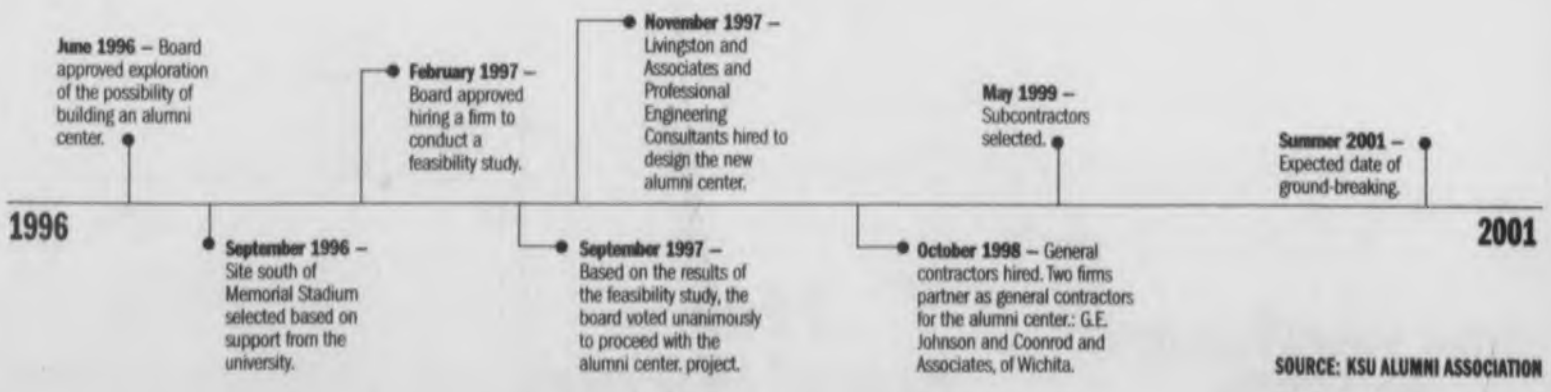
Schroeder said the center will provide a location for alumni to gather when visiting K-State. She said its location will allow for more student visibility.

Jason Augustine, sophomore in business management, said the center will give alumni an opportunity to be more involved with K-State.

"If you have it somewhere else, it's not relevant to the campus," he said.

About 60 percent of the center will be utilized by the public. Meeting rooms and board rooms will be available to all campus organizations and offices and private meeting rooms will comprise the remainder of the center.

Schroeder said the Alumni Association will form a partnership with the K-State Student Union. Catering and event scheduling will be offered by each location, and she said the two will work together to meet the needs of various organizations.



The association also will try to sponsor more events, such as the Senior Send-Off, in the new center.

"We hope they will use it like they use the Union,"

See CENTER on PAGE 10

The expected view of the rear of the new alumni center from Memorial Stadium.

SOURCE: KSU ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Men's basketball player assaults parking officer

By REED DUNN
Kansas State Collegian

A parking control officer was assaulted by a member of the K-State men's basketball team Wednesday morning, K-State Police Capt. Robert Mellgren said.

Larry Lee Reid Jr., a junior guard and transfer from Northern Oklahoma Junior College, was issued a notice to appear following a phone call made to K-State Police at 10:36 a.m. Wednesday.

Darwin Abbott, director of Parking Services, said the incident probably evolved from Reid's receipt of a parking violation. Abbott said he was not sure if the officer involved was the officer who issued the ticket.

"It may have been a question of proximity," Abbott said. "I look at it as now being a police matter. We have done the right things."

Head coach Jim Wooldridge told K-State Sports Information officials he was surprised to hear of the news, and the matter will be addressed as more information is made available.

"We are surprised by what happened today. It was an unfortunate and regrettable incident," Wooldridge said. "However, we believe in Larry and know him to be a quality individual. As a staff, we will address this matter further when the facts become clear."

CONTACT US

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
532-0729 rdunn@collegianmail.com

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
532-0729 tehmke@collegianmail.com

Steve Dearinger Photo Editor
532-5492 sdearinger@collegianmail.com

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
532-0730 jbarrett@collegianmail.com

Sarah Bahari City & Government Editor
532-0730 sbahari@collegianmail.com

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
532-0732 kdymacek@collegianmail.com

Derek Boss Sports Editor
532-0732 dboss@collegianmail.com

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
532-0732 eschneweis@collegianmail.com

Ken Wells Online Editor
532-6556 kwells@collegianmail.com

Becky Wilson Copy Chief
532-0732 bwilson@collegianmail.com

Sara Martin Design Editor
532-0731 smartin@collegianmail.com

Jim Calvert Ad Manager
532-6560 jimcalvert@collegianmail.com

Alissa Duncan Assistant Ad Manager
532-6560 aduncan@collegianmail.com

Molly Brammer Online Ad Manager
532-6560 molly@collegianmail.com

BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Display advertising	532-6560
Classified advertising	532-6555
Delivery Problems	532-6555
Photo Reprints	532-6304

BY MAIL

Kansas State Collegian
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

ON THE WEB

www.kstatecollegian.com

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 2000

Police department asks victims for cooperation

Vehicular burglary victims are being asked by the Riley County Police Department to hold calls concerning recovered property.

Even though four suspects have been apprehended in connection with a recent rash of car break-ins, RCPD officials still are in the process of sorting out recovered property.

"If we have their property, we will call them," Sgt. Connie Miller said.

Miller said the department has been bombarded with calls from victims, but officers do not have any answers because the ownership of recovered items has yet to be determined.

"As soon as ownership is determined, victims will be notified," she said. "It's not doing them any good to call us now because we haven't been able to determine ownership on everything."

— Nancy Foster

Voting registration booth available today in Union

Black Student Union and Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity are sponsoring a voter registration booth today on the first floor of the K-State Student Union.

Maurice Parks, BSU president, said group members have tried voter registration in various places around campus, but today is the first day they are locating themselves in the Union.

"We are trying to get people to see the importance of voting," he said. "Making ourselves seen in the Union is a good way to get people to register."

Parks said BSU addressed the topic of voter registration at a meeting Tuesday, and has been working to get all students interested in voting.

"It is a fundamental part of democracy," he said. "The power of democracy is the right to vote."

Registration has been successful throughout the course of the week, Parks said.

"We have had a lot of people sign up," he said. "Alpha Phi Alpha has been very successful in voter registration in the past and we are starting to do a lot better too."

— Jamie Barrett

Principal killed, 4 injured in accident near Winfield

WINFIELD, Kan. — An elementary school principal was killed in a traffic accident that left four other people critically injured.

Lisa Drendel, of Moline in Elk County, was dead at the scene after a collision late Tuesday afternoon on U.S. 160 in neighboring Cowley County, the Kansas Highway Patrol said.

She was a passenger in a van driven by John Ireland, of Howard, principal of West Elk High School. The patrol said that a truck driven by David Mundy, of Burden, went into a ditch, and that as he attempted to correct, it came back onto the highway sideways and collided with the van.

Ireland and his other two passengers, Janet Ireland, of Howard, and Conner Drendel, of Moline, were listed in critical condition Wednesday at hospitals in Winfield and Wichita. Mundy was in critical condition at a Winfield hospital, the patrol said.

Ireland and his passengers were in a school-owned van en route to a high school volleyball match in Oxford. Other school employees were driving in front of and behind them.

— The Associated Press

Lawrence commissioners work to lower utility rate

LAWRENCE — City commissioners threw their support and $10,000 from Lawrence coffers Tuesday night, behind an effort to fight increased electric rates in northeast Kansas.

The decision adds another city to Topeka's fight with Wichita officials, who are asking state and federal regulators to equalize electric rates statewide. Lawrence officials said they would consider contributing more funds if needed.

The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission has scheduled a hearing Oct. 11 on a complaint filed last year by Wichita that seeks the equalization of electric rates for Western Resources customers. The Kansas Corporation Commission is considering the same issue.

As it stands, Wichita and other customers in Western's KGE service area pay close to 25 percent more for electricity than KPL customers in northeast Kansas.

The rate disparity mainly is due to the $3 billion Wolf Creek nuclear power plant, which KGE helped build before it merged with KPL to form Western.

— The Associated Press

Kansas man claims to be actual governor of state

TOPEKA — A man who claims to be the state's true governor returned to court Tuesday, but had his trial on a misdemeanor charge delayed because he wasn't properly arraigned.

Mark Kline Drake had not been allowed to enter a plea to the charge of obstructing legal process until Tuesday, when he was supposed to have his trial in Shawnee County District Court.

Drake, from the small town of Rock in Cowley County, is accused of resisting the efforts of a Shawnee County sheriff's deputy to remove him from a courtroom in March. He tried to serve a cease and desist order on the judge presiding over a criminal trial for his wife, Paula Christine Drake.

She was convicted of having an illegal Statehouse meeting. A judge convicted Mark Kline Drake of the same charge in July 1999. They and a small group of followers met — without first obtaining a permit — at the Capitol on Jan. 11, 1999, the same day Gov. Bill Graves took his oath of office for a second term.

The Drakes believe the state's current state government is illegitimate, arguing its officials don't have proper oaths of office on file. They contend that only a relative handful of Kansans are properly qualified to vote, and a majority of them voted for Mark Kline Drake for governor in 1998.

— The Associated Press

ON RECORD

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

- College Republicans will sponsor a voter registration drive from 10:30 a.m. to noon today in the K-State Student Union. A meeting also is scheduled at 6 tonight at Java Espresso & Bakery in Aggieville.
- EGS will meet at noon today in Bluemont 15.
- Ag Ambassadors and Ag REPS will meet at 6 tonight in Waters 231.
- Student Dietetic Association will meet at 6:30 tonight in Justin 150.
- KSU Horticulture Club will meet at 6:30 tonight in Throckmorton 2024.
- Golden Key will meet at 7 tonight in Union 202. Those interested in participating in the Best of America program are invited to attend.
- Alpha Kappa Psi will meet at 7:30 tonight at the Aggieville Pizza Hut. Actives should bring $2 to help pay for pizza.
- Hillel Jewish Student Organization will meet at 9 tonight at Java Espresso & Bakery.
- Students for Environmental Action will meet at 9 tonight in Union Council Chambers.
- The K-State Community Service Program is accepting applications for the America Reads–America Counts Tutoring Program. Applicants must have work-study. Tutors work one-on-one with area elementary students in reading and math. For more information, contact Angie at 532-5701 or e-mail ksuserve@ksu.edu.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Riley County

Tuesday, Sept. 26

- At 10:25 a.m., Sherri R. Howard, 723 Allison Ave., Apt. 8, was arrested for forgery. Bond was set at $1,500.
- At 10:50 a.m., Sheryl L. Wood, 6030 Tuttle Creek Boulevard, Apt. 17, was arrested for battery. Bond was set at $1,000.
- At 11:30 a.m., Carlos J. Silva, Alma, was arrested for probation violation.
- At 3:30 p.m., Julie K. Shannon, Ogden, was arrested for worthless checks. Bond was set at $500.

Wednesday, Sept. 27

- At 1:08 a.m., Gustavo Rodriguez, Fort Riley, was arrested for reckless driving and DUI. Bond was set at $1,000.
- At 1:18 a.m., Drew R. Hojnacki, 2215 College Ave., was issued a notice to appear for obstruction of the legal process, unlawful use of an ID and minor in possession.

K-State Police

- No reports of note were made.

CORRECTIONS & CLARIFICATIONS

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Jenn Davoren at 532-6556 or e-mail collegn@ksu.edu.

Be SEEN
where it counts

The Royal Purple yearbook
and Thornton Studio
are coming to you for FREE portrait pictures.

TODAY
Thursday, Sept. 28
Boyd Hall
9 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Delta Chi
6:30 p.m. - 9:30p.m.

Tomorrow
Friday, Sept. 29
Ford Hall
9 a.m - 5 p.m.

and in the K-State
Student Union Courtyard
9 a.m. - 5 p.m. every day.

Order your yearbook
for $29.95.
royalpurple.ksu.edu

2001 Royal Purple YEARBOOK

Clear up the Clue® Mystery with Sprint PCS.

You can win $500,000.

The search is on for Miss Scarlet and the other Clue characters in this Sunday's paper. If you find them, you could win one of more than ten thousand prizes.

Grand Prize: Find Miss Scarlet in the Conservatory and win $500,000.
First Prize: Discover Professor Plum in the Ballroom and win a trip for two on the Venice Simplon–Orient-Express.
Second Prize: Spot Colonel Mustard in the Study and win a Sprint PCS Phone* by Samsung* and service.
Third Prize: Locate Mr. Green in the Kitchen and win a Clue game.

You don't have to win to save! Valuable coupons worth $20 to $100 will be in the Sunday paper along with your official game piece. Or get coupons and game pieces now at any Sprint Store, RadioShack or other Sprint PCS Select Retailer, where you can also see if you've won.

Sprint. The clear alternative to cellular.™ Sprint PCS®

To play the game and to see if you've won, stop by one of the locations below. To order a phone, visit www.sprintpcs.com or call 1-800-480-4PCS.

Sprint PCS Center:
404 Poyntz Ave.
Manhattan, KS 66502
(785) 537-3500

Also available at:
The Sprint Store At RadioShack.

For eligibility and prizes for the Clue Up the Clue Mystery with Sprint PCS Game, see official rules at Book of Game pieces. Prize claims must be postmarked by November 14, 2000. Grand prize of $500,000 payable as $25,000 annually for 20 years. To qualify for the rebate or service credit coupon savings, you must purchase a new Sprint PCS Phone* and activate on a new subscription by November 13, 2000, and stay activated for 30 days on a Sprint PCS Free & Clear Plan $29.99 or above. Offer not available to existing customers. Mail-in certificate must be postmarked by November 13, 2000. Allow 8–10 weeks for receipt of rebate or service credit. This offer is void in the U.S.A. only, except where prohibited. Offer subject to withdrawal without notice. All plans subject to credit approval. ©2000* is a trademark of Hasbro, Inc. ©2000. All rights reserved. Used with permission. ©2000 Sprint Spectrum L.P. All rights reserved. Sprint, Sprint PCS, Sprint PCS Phone and the diamond logo are trademarks of Sprint Communications Company L.P.

Students learn to live, cooperate with roommates

By ALYSON RALETZ
Kansas State Collegian

Realizing that four white cement walls will be their home for the next nine months can be scary for any student living in the residence halls. Coming to terms with a new roommate can be an even harder task.

For Lisbeth Ohse, sophomore in music education, dealing with roommates has been a constant battle.

"Freshman year, when my new roommate walked through the door, I knew we would not be close friends," Ohse said. "I could tell immediately that there were personality clashes that we would not be able to work through. After a few weeks, I realized she was someone I never would have been friends with under normal circumstances."

Ohse said she was willing to accept a roommate she didn't know because none of her friends from high school were going to attend K-State her freshman year.

As a sophomore, she said most of her friends moved into apartments, so she decided to give living with a stranger another try. She said the second attempt didn't work out.

Finally, she decided to try rooming with a friend.

"The comfort level between us is higher than with my other roommates," she said.

"I think choosing a roommate worked out better for me, but it is not always the better choice for everyone. I have known many roommates who were friends before they came to K-State and now hate each other."

Ohse said she feels the Department of Housing and Dining Services plays a role in roommate success.

"I do not feel there are lots of people that have awful experiences, but they are not getting the best experience possible," she said.

"I think it is Housing and Dining's responsibility to do its best to make sure residents do get the best experience possible."

Sarah Decke, residence life coordinator for West Hall, said she is in charge of roommate assignments for her building. She said each RLC assigns roommates for his or her residence hall.

"We stayed up all night getting to know each other and talking about our future. We have already talked about getting an apartment together next year."

Tiffany Dirks, freshman in business

"There is no guaranteed fix for an ideal roommate match," Decke said.

Decke said the hall directors were given about five days this summer to complete the assignments, but they all had their own techniques. Decke said she preferred her sorting method.

She said they are given one-page biographies of each new resident of their hall. She said she tried to narrow it down by removing all the residents that had early room preferences from last year.

After she removed roommates that had requested each other, she honored students with intensive study, academic cluster or smoking floor preferences.

Decke said she sorted the remaining residents based on their answers to several questions on their housing and dining contracts. She grouped students by the time they go to sleep, the time they wake up and whether they can study with noise.

She said students don't always fill out their contracts accurately.

"We are able to make a match as long as they are truthful with what they are putting down," she said.

She saw a resident's major and age as a secondary consideration, she said.

Decke said the end of the summer was hectic because students were canceling contracts and submitting late ones.

"As we got closer to the start of the year, it got to a point where we could not match based on preferences anymore," she said. "We kind of arbitrarily assigned roommates."

Ohse said she does not blame Housing and Dining Services for her roommate conflicts, but she did offer some suggestions to produce better roommate matches.

"The questions on the contract are pretty broad," Ohse said.

"I think they could add a couple more specific questions without making it too hard to generate pairings."

Ohse suggested more questions focused on sleeping patterns, neatness, spirituality and whether the student plans to join a greek organization.

Decke said she agreed that a question concerning greek involvement would be beneficial.

"That would be helpful because sorority women go through an intense recruitment," Decke said.

"They find they have really bonded with women from rush and then they come back and have to bond with a new roommate. The roommate is left kind of floundering. It would be nice if we could pair some greeks up."

Tiffany Dirks, freshman in business and Ford Hall resident, said she and her roommate get along well. She said they never had met before college, but were good friends right away.

"Once our parents left, it was really easy," Dirks said.

"We stayed up all night getting to know each other and talking about our future. We have already talked about getting an apartment together next year."

Ohse said she thought Housing and Dining Services has made successful matches with the current information it is using.

"The bad roommates I have seen have not been the fault of Housing and Dining," Ohse said.

Dirks said she agreed a more in depth survey by Housing and Dining Services might help with other roommate matches. She said, however, that it would be impossible for the department to know everyone's interests and produce perfect matches.

"It is Housing and Dining's responsibility to match roommates with the preferences on our contracts, but it is really just the luck of the draw," she said. "There is really not much else they can do."

MATT STAMEY/Collegian

Lisbeth Ohse (right), sophomore in music education, sits with her second roommate this year, Courtney Keith, sophomore in English, in their room in Moore Hall. Ohse has had three roommates in the past two years. Keith and Ohse both work at the front desk of Moore Hall.

Give us your opinion.

Campus Forum: 395-4444

Claflin Books and Copies
Dependable Quality Service
Résumé Service
Across from Goodnow Hall

Ramblers
STEAK HOUSE & SALOON
Thursday
Night Special
12 oz. Top Sirloin
w/baked potato, salad and dinner roll
or
"The Couples Special"
2 complete dinners for only
$12.99
8711 E. Hwy. 24
Manhattan, KS
539-4989

Steak Nite
5 to 8
8 oz. Ribeye with
Texas Toast, Fries or Baked Potato only
$5.95
99¢ Keystone Light Bottles
Rusty's LAST CHANCE SALOON
Flybox and Cassiopia Live at 10 p.

Once in a Lifetime
engagements and weddings

Sharing your engagement and wedding announcements in the Collegian the first Friday of every month.

Your engagement and wedding are special moments in your life and the Kansas State Collegian wants to help you share the news with family and friends. This semester you can put your announcement with a picture in the Collegian's "Once in a Lifetime" special section for FREE.

"Once in a Lifetime" runs the first Friday of every month.

To publish your announcement, please complete the form and take it to Student Publications, Kedzie 103 (east of the K-State Student Union). The deadline for getting your announcement in the paper will be the Wednesday preceding the publication date.

To place a FREE engagement or wedding announcement in the Collegian, complete and submit the following form with a vertical photo to Kedzie 103.

Your name_____
Address _____
City, state, zip_____
Telephone number_____
o I wish to place an engagement announcement
o I wish to place a wedding announcement
o I also want to include a photo (must be vertical)
Signature_____

Announcement Information

Groom's name:_____
Year in school:_____
Major:_____
Bride's name:_____
Year in school:_____
Major:_____
Bride's parents:_____
City/State:_____
Groom's parents:_____
City/State:_____
Wedding date:_____
Location (city/state):_____
include information below for wedding announcements
Wedding Attendants:_____
_____
Other brief details:_____

Eastside & Westside Markets'
E. Hwy. 24 W. K-18, Manhattan, KS
Fall Apple Guide:

	variety name	eating quality	cooking quality	keeping
Nov. / Oct. / Sept. / Aug.	Ekoni-Early Jon	tart	OK for pie, sauce	short
	Gala *	xtra sweet and fruity	great for apple salads	short
	Jonathan *	tangy, tart, crisp	the BEST for pies!	fair
	Ginger Gold *	tart early golden apple	OK for pie, holds shape	fair
	Golden Delicious *	flavorful, sweet, & juicy	OK for pie, add lemon	good
	MacIntosh	fruity, juicy, not hard	great for applesauce	short
	Cortland	similar to Mac's	great for apple salads	short
	Jonagold	flavorful, sweet/tart, juicy	makes a sweet pie	fair
	Red Delicious *	crunchy, sweet, juicy	lousy	fair
	Stellar Gold *	very flavorful, sweet/tart	great for apple salads	great
	Empire	sweet/tart, med. texture	good for pie	fair
	Fuji	sweet and very crisp	needs lemon	great
	Braeburn	super crisp, flavorful	good for pies	fantastic
	Rome	bland, sometimes mealy	good baker, add lemon	good
	Winesap	better after cold storage	great for pies	fantastic
	Granny Smith	tart and very crisp	great for pies	fantastic

* indicates this variety is available NOW!!!

Problems arise with proposed alumni center

There are several good reasons the KSU Alumni Association wants to move operations to a center on campus.

This new location will add more current student cooperation to ensure bridging the gap for life after graduation.

Those involved with the association will, in turn, get a better feel for the current conditions at K-State.

But there are more disadvantages than advantages. This is not to say that the association should remain on the fourth floor of the KSU Foundation Center; however, the move to campus could create a large mess.

The new location has been chosen on the south side of Memorial Stadium. This will take away from some K-State history, covering up the clear view of Ahearn Field House and the stadium.

Beyond that is an even bigger issue.

It is no secret that the K-State campus has a parking problem. By building the alumni center on campus next to Manhattan's busiest street, it is going to create a bigger problem. Students do not have enough parking spaces. We do not need more visitors or alumni taking up spots intended for students who are going to class.

With the renovations in the K-State Student Union, if the alumni needs to have something on campus, they can have their meetings or their events there.

The KSU Alumni Association deserves to have a new building, especially since it is privately funded. However, it should not cause problems with future alumni.

▶ OUR VIEW
is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Reed Dunn
Editor in Chief

Tanner Ehmke
Managing Editor

Jenn Davoren
News Editor

Erin Schneweis
Opinion Editor

Jamie Barrett
Campus Editor

Sarah Bahari
City/Government Editor

Kristen Dymacek
Arts & Entertainment Editor

Derek Boss
Sports Editor

Becky Wilson
Copy Chief

Sara Martin
Design Editor

CAMPUS fourum 395-4444

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions on topics relevant to the publication.

Last time I checked, five rushing touchdowns are worth the same amount of points as five throwing touchdowns.

■

Beasley for Heisman? Shoot, Beasley for president.

■

To all the gothic freshman, rock on. This campus needs some diversity.

■

Colorado 28, K-State 17.

■

To whoever is concerned with gothic people, go back to high school where worrying about what other people wear is actually cool.

DYING with dignity

MIAH WHITAKER

When I get morbid enough to think about how I want to die, I always picture my slightly dysfunctional family gathered around my death bed. You know, the whole peaceful "going to sleep and never waking up" thing everyone wishes for.

Unfortunately, given my lifestyle and my family history, the chances of a nice, peaceful death are slim to none. When my time comes, it's not going to be pretty. I've seen what can happen to a person in the throes of a debilitating disease. It's not something to which I'm going to look forward. As a matter of fact, it's something I'm dreading.

I don't want my children to have to look me in the face, watch me suffer and tell me that I can't be set free from the pain, because the state I'm living in has laws against assisted suicide.

Out of the 50 states, only one, Oregon, now permits physician-assisted suicide with its Death with Dignity Act. Thirty-nine states, including Kansas, have explicitly criminalized assisted suicide. Six more use common law to criminalize it. Of the remaining four states, only Ohio's Supreme Court ruled that assisted suicide is not a crime.

I've looked at the wording of Oregon's Death with Dignity Act. It says the patient must be capable of making this decision in the opinion of a court or the patient's attending or consulting physician, psychiatrist or psychologist. The patient must have counseling about this decision. And, most importantly, the patient must be suffering from a terminal, incurable, irreversible and fatal disease that will lead to death within six months.

ADAM HAYES/Collegian

Six long, excruciating, drug-filled months.

Sometimes I ask myself how my children or future spouse would feel if the time came for me to make a decision like this. Is this something I would want to put them through? I've seen what happens to someone who has to watch a loved one slowly and painfully waste away day after day. I know that is not something I would want my family to go through.

Some argue that suicide is wrong, no matter what. I believe that suicide is not the answer to depression, bad grades or a break-up. Assisted suicide only is an option when there are no more options, when the only thing left is a painful wait for the inevitable. It's one of your last choices when your body is being ravaged by a terminal disease. It's not an easy fix. There are no easy fixes when it comes to death. Every choice is painful.

I want the right to die with dignity; that's my choice.

As with all issues, there are two sides to this debate. If you're interested in learning more about the facts from both sides, go to Euthanasia and Physician Assisted Suicide: All Sides of the Issues at www.religioustolerance.org/euthanas.htm.

Or, attend the assisted suicide debate at 7 tonight in the Union Main Ballroom, sponsored by the Union Program Council. Felica Cohn, director of the Hemlock Society USA, and Faye Girsh, a senior scientist with the bioethics department at George Washington University, will be debating the issue.

Miah is a senior in English and social sciences/media. You can e-mail her at mwhitaker@collegianmail.com

Society trains college students to throw away responsibilities

AMY CUNNINGHAM

Our generation has grown up in a world without permanence, where everything is packaged for disposal. Our solutions to life come in plastic and they are sold at Wal-Mart, in bulk, at a discount. There are few consequences, few boundaries and few rules because they were disposed of long ago.

To college students, everything is disposable. At the end of the year, when our apartments are worse for the wear and furniture is trashed, we up and move, leaving our mess for someone else to clean up. Nothing is more disheartening than moving into your new apartment and discovering it was someone's old one (if I didn't see anyone living here before, surely no one must have). Nothing is more disheartening than having to discard someone else's trash.

We get out of college, which is disposable unless you want to become a career student, and we start our prepackaged lives. Our first job will be lucky to survive a year before we move on. There's one down the drain. Rarely do we spend an entire career with the same company, mostly because companies view us as disposable.

We earn income, some of which is disposable and to be spent on disposable items. We buy disposable cars and homes. Houses don't have to be built from the ground up anymore; they can be delivered directly to you on the back of a semi-trailer packaged in disposable plastic sheets.

People drive cars barely fit for a demolition derby, let alone the highway. I have one word for you: Yugo. And how long until the Toyota Echo is deposited in the junk yard, right next to the Yugoslavian wonder, rendered useless from normal wear and tear.

We meet, we court, we marry, not necessarily in that order for some. We create throw-away families. Disposable happiness. Occasionally and all too often, we divorce our disposable spouses.

Sometimes with said spouse and sometimes with any Joe off the street, sometimes before marriage and sometimes after, we create disposable kids. Sometimes we get rid of them, sometimes we keep them, sometimes we treat them like little disposable trophies when we should have given to someone who really wanted children in the first place. Sometimes we ship them off to live with our parents who thought they already had disposed of their kid problem when they finally got us moved out of the house.

It's like my mother said: "If God hadn't made puppies so cute, no one would own dogs," and if you've been to the Humane Society lately you'll know they are, incidentally, disposable in their own right. Apply that theory to children, only you can't euthanize them. After the new wears off, you can't put Little Johnny on a chain in the backyard, feed and water him once a day and call him well cared for.

By the time our kids are no longer in them, we have used thousands of disposable diapers per child and then we can't figure out why the county has to dispose of the old landfill and find a new spot for our trash. We shave our legs with a disposable razor, using shaving cream in a disposable can, and brush our teeth with a toothbrush we are told to dispose of after three months.

We attend social functions where the plates, utensils and the Styrofoam cups are all disposable. Cleanup is made easier, so the world is a better place. Right? Unfortunately, sometimes the company we keep is not disposable.

We discard the parts of our bodies with which we are unhappy. When our noses are too big for our faces, we slice and dice until we have disposed of the parts we don't like. When we are too fat, we get liposuction to dispose of our excess. When we are cranky, we go to a shrink and get on Prozac sold in disposable bottles. We love anything packaged, especially happiness.

We are taught to take the living out of life. There are books to tell you how to get along with your mate, there are clubs you can join so people can tell you how to lose weight or how to quit drinking alcohol. When we have a problem, we don't usually look to ourselves for answers. We want those packaged up and in an easy to understand format.

We have lived lives of convenience, wherein we aren't governed by the mores of society because long ago they were disposed of. And people can't understand why there is so much trash in the world.

Amy is a senior in apparel and textile marketing. You can e-mail her at amy_rc@hotmail.com

READERS WRITE

Pedistrians, bicyclists should show respect

Editor,

I would like to comment on the recent letter to the editor regarding inconsiderate bicyclists.

Being a regular bicycle rider on campus, I would like to point out the many inconsiderate people walking on campus. I can recall numerous times when someone simply has walked out in front of me while I was pedaling down the road. Many of these people see me coming, but I assume they think that I can just swerve easily around them. It is not so easy to simply swerve to miss someone who steps directly in front of you when you are moving at three or four times their speed.

I agree that more riders need to obey the dismount zones. However, I think courtesy and consideration is a two-way street. It is not solely the rider's responsibility. We all need to watch where we are going.

—Heidi Kautz
junior in animal science

K-State safety deterred by lack of bike paths

Editor,

In regards to Marshal Funk's Tuesday letter, "Bicyclists disregard rights of pedestrians on campus," there are several issues I would like to point out.

While I agree with Funk on the fact that some bicyclists are careless, the whole setup of this campus makes it impossible to commute efficiently and safely everyday.

For me living at Jardine Terrace Apartments, it is a pain to cross Denison Avenue and Claflin Road every day by bike or using my legs. I am tired of having to fight with 2 to 5 ton vehicles driven by people who don't know the rules of the road. There are no bike paths from where I live and using my 2-year-old car is useless because of the ever-growing parking problem. I used to walk, so I can relate to Funk's frustration. However, it is impossible to stay away from cars and pedestrians at the same time.

Drivers get upset at bicylists and pedestrians. Hey, listen, if you don't like the fact that people are getting much needed exercise and not polluting the environment, then stay off the roads.

Claflin from Denison to North Manhattan should be vehicle free. Wishful thinking. Denison? Now that is really pushing it. I'm still wishing.

Most of you can walk or bike. The fewer the drivers around campus, the better. Maybe if there were more bicyclists, there will be bicycle paths.

The absense of public transportation and the laziness of parking services and whoever else is the reason for this unsafe, ridiculous situation where nobody wins. Why is it so hard to have more parking? The rising standard of living, the growing student and faculty population and the number of women who own cars are the reasons for the growing demands for parking. Do you understand this, Parking Services?

But not having bicycle paths is not going to help. K-State is a great place to learn, but significant changes have to be made in order to have better parking and to keep pedestrians safer by constructing bike paths maybe underneath Denison and Claflin where we can be safe and have the right-of-way for once. People should have the right to drive to campus, but cars and bicycles do not mix, and therefore a strategy should be implemented to keep everyone safe. Even for the squirrels.

—Brendan Brady
graduate student in regional and community planning

Group promotes alcohol awareness

■ GAMMA devotes time to inform students about dangers of alcohol abuse.

By NANCY HULL
Kansas State Collegian

Greeks Advocating the Mature Management of Alcohol will attempt to take its efforts one step further this year, said Charlie Cook, special projects coordinator co-chairman for the group.

Cook, junior in mass communications, said the organization focused on influencing members of the greek system in the past, but now it's trying to reach the student body.

"We're focusing on taking time out of our lives to make a bigger impact on campus," Cook said. "We'll be more active in promoting awareness about the effects of alcohol."

GAMMA is finalizing plans to have a prerecorded announcement from Bill Snyder played on the Megatron at halftime of the Oct. 23 Homecoming football game.

Snyder will reveal the statistics of 18-24-year-olds who died from alcohol-related accidents in 1999.

In honor of the 30 deaths over the year, Snyder will ask for 30 seconds of silence. Thirty luminaries will be displayed outside of fraternity and sorority houses for added support.

Cook said GAMMA is not against drinking, but it is against careless drinking.

"We want to get across the safer message. We stress to take a cab or leave your car in Aggieville after you've been drinking," he said.

Safe-4-Spring Break, a project GAMMA conducts on campus, should be successful this year, Cook said.

As part of last spring's project, the group distributed flyers on campus that listed the top-10 destinations of vacation spots. Phone numbers of taxi cabs and public transportation in the vacation areas also were included.

"I talked to people who took the sheets with them for the attractions, and they said they actually pulled it out to call a cab," Cook said. "If four or five people use the information, it's worth it."

Matthew Painter, special projects coordinator co-chairman for GAMMA, said changes for the group include plans to become active year-round, not just in the spring.

"We'll get the ball rolling now with community service projects this semester," Painter, sophomore in open-option, said.

Golden Key is teaming with GAMMA to work with young children in local schools. A community service project is also in the works for GAMMA this semester.

GAMMA President Kari Gorrell said the true meaning of the organization will be reflected in the projects.

"Our meaning is to promote responsibility in all situations and show the effects of alcohol," said Gorrell, junior in management information systems.

Alcohol responsibility will be promoted by GAMMA, when they share a table with Lafene Health Center at the Health Fair on Oct. 11. Within the greek system, every house that pays dues to GAMMA has two representatives in the organization.

An alcohol-awareness video series will be viewed throughout GAMMA meetings this semester and representatives distribute educational information about alcohol issues to members of their houses.

"I think a lot of people don't realize how many DUIs there are or how often drunk driving occurs," Gorrell said. "If we can make people more aware of what's going on, they can be more conscience of their actions."

KICKIN' IT

Anissa Bahner, senior in elementary education, participates in a game of kickball Wednesday afternoon with students from Manhattan High School. Bahner is involved with the UFM Community Learning Center Mentoring Program, which offers a place for area teen-agers to spend time in an accepting environment.

JEANEL DRAKE/Collegian

Exchange program raises numbers

By NANCY HULL
Kansas State Collegian

Study abroad director Barry Mitchie remembers a semester in 1994, when only one student from Prague studied at K-State.

This semester, 18 Czech students from the Czech Republic are participating in the exchange program with K-State.

"In the early 90s, the program was really low volume and low intensity," Mitchie said. "Now, it's by far the most popular exchange program we have."

The Czech exchange agreements were established with Charles University and Czech Technical University in 1992.

One or two students were exchanged each year until participation expanded in 1996.

Mitchie said a combination of factors has caused the direct exchange program to grow both ways.

"It's been due to the quality of courses taught in English at both places, and there's been a number of generous scholarships," he said.

The establishment of the Joseph and Elizabeth Barton-Dobenin Scholarships was a key factor in the success of the program, Mitchie said.

Joseph Barton-Dobenin was born in the former Czechoslovakia, and he taught management courses at K-State before retiring in 1986.

Wanting to strengthen Czech-American ties, he established the scholarship program to assist both American and Czech participants in the exchange.

The majority of students involved in the exchange are architecture or engineering students, Mitchie said.

Thomas Roberts, assistant dean of the College of Engineering, said the reputation K-State has for treating the Czech students well has contributed to the popularity of the exchange.

"There is a strong trust between both schools that we will handle and treat the students well," Roberts said.

He said there also have been exchanges between members of faculty.

"The administrator-to-administrator discussions have helped," he said.

Czech engineering students benefit from studying at K-State, because of the hands-on application-focused education they receive here.

"In Europe, it's more theoretical and math focused," Roberts said. "Both countries have strengths, and we encourage the exchange."

William Richter, associate provost for international programs, said the architecture programs students experience in the exchange benefit their studies.

"Studying in other cultures is a strong component for architecture majors," Richter said.

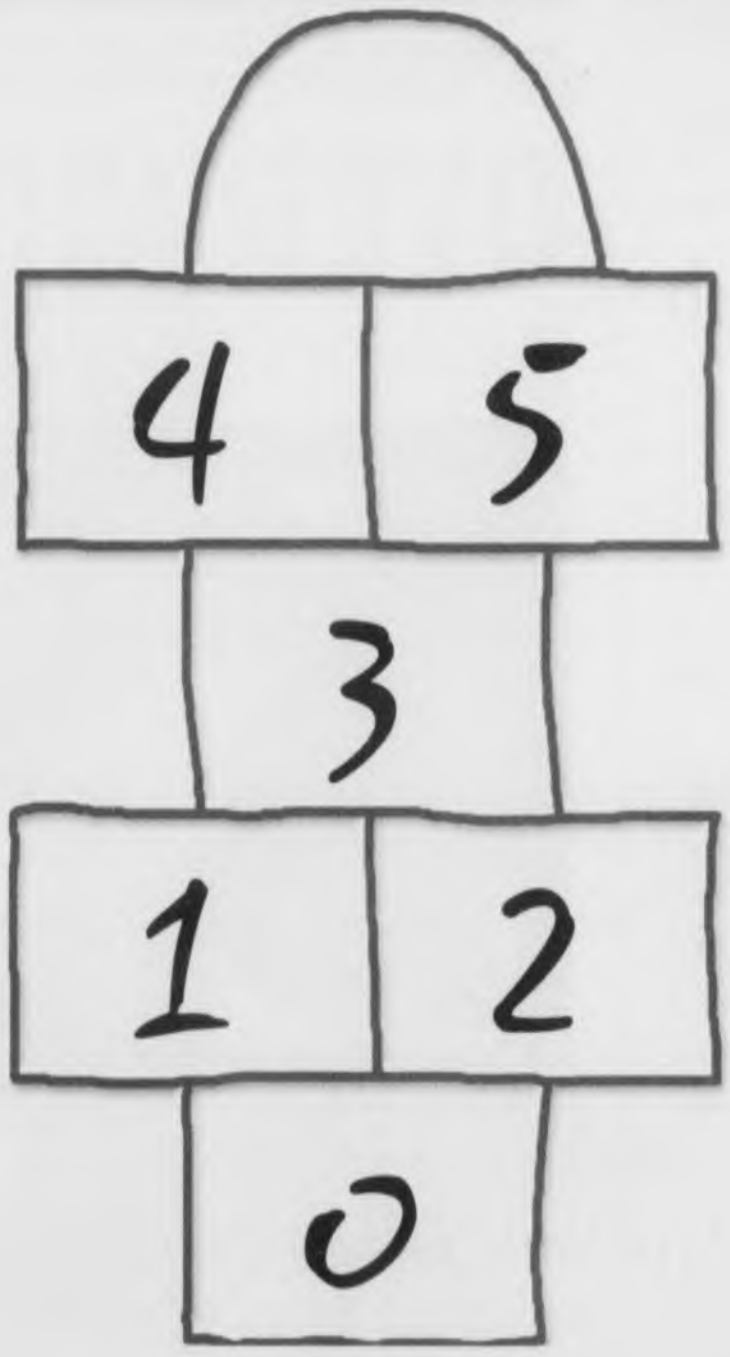
A third university in Prague, the Czech University of Agriculture, recently signed an exchange agreement with K-State.

Richter said he hopes the agriculture exchange will become as successful as the existing exchanges.

"It takes time to get the flow going between schools," Richter said. "The current relationship took time, and time can lead to another successful relationship."

5 HUGE MOUNTAINS!
16th ANNUAL ski Steamboat
NATIONAL COLLEGE WEEK
Complete College Ski Package from only $189
1-88U-SKITHIS (1-888-754-8447)
For more info www.Uskithis.com

Marie's Costumes
COSTUMES
ACCESSORIES
WIGS • MAKEUP
HATS • SHOES
PROPS • MASK
ALL SIZES
539-5200
2011 FT RILEY BLVD • MANHATTAN



PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
Limited Delivery Area
1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

HOT NEW DANCE CLUB
OUTER LIMITS
Student owned and operated.
DJ Big Daddy Bo Cephus
4904 Skyway Drive
(On K-18, next to Briggs Super Center and near the Manhattan Airport.)
Hip Hop
Open Wed- Sun
8 PM- 3 AM
18 and older
21 & over get in FREE

BLOOD DIRT CONTROVERSY
sound off about the cats at
GoPowercat.com
Powercat Illustrated's online supplement
http://www.gopowercat.com
message boards • chat • audio & video highlights
breaking news • recruiting • in-depth team analysis • k-state gear

Most K-State students have 0 to 5 drinks when they party.*

Project WELLNESS Kansas State University

1 drink = one bottle of beer, one glass of wine, one wine cooler, or one shot of liquor

www.ksu.edu/projectwellness.com

Based on a 1999 campus-wide survey of 1,297 KSU students that was representative of the K-State student population with regard to demographics such as age, GPA, college, class and gender.

Redshirt backs promise success

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

Offensive coordinator Ron Hudson calls it a new era of K-State running backs.

While fifth-year senior Chris Claybon and community college transfer Josh Scobey lead the Wildcat rushing attack this season, a trio of redshirt freshman are waiting in the wings.

Despite their limited time on the field, Rashad Jackson, Rashad Washington and Danny Morris already have opened a few eyes in 2000, especially when considering the future competition at the tailback position, K-State running backs coach Michael Smith said.

"I think it is a tough situation, but in all fairness to those kids, they knew," Smith said. "When they got here, they knew what they were getting into.

"The thing that it does bring for me is it gives me the luxury of having three guys like that and it just makes our position that much more competitive, so the person who is the starter is going to be one heck of a running back."

Smith's premonition, however, will require experience, a trait the Wildcat trio already has tasted this season.

"You can't coach what they have instinctively, that's the biggest thing," Hudson said. "That opportunity has given us the chance to look at them and see exactly what they can do. And they've done pretty well.

"I'm not sure that they're ready to get in a real close game and a hostile environment right now, just because of the experience factor, but there's no question that you can see the potential — everybody's excited about that part of it."

That excitement primarily has stemmed from the Sept. 16 Ball State game, as K-State's 76-0 blanking of the Cardinals gave the Cats' reserves a chance to show their abilities.

"Each year, we have an opportunity to get particularly our twos on the field during our non-conference schedule," head coach Bill Snyder said. "They

See FOOTBALL on PAGE 7

FILE PHOTO BY KELLY GLASSCOCK/Collegian

K-State's Rashad Jackson is grabbed by Ball State's Pete Smith in the third quarter of the Sept. 16 game at KSU Stadium. Jackson is one of three redshirt freshman seeing action on Wagner Field this season.

Lacrosse teams to compete

By DAN SMITH
Kansas State Collegian

For K-State's lacrosse teams, this weekend's Donnie Tillar Classic means remembering the past.

"We're trying to establish a tradition for the school," sophomore attack Shane Apple said.

"Tradition is what gets us going, and it's what gets us up for games."

Tradition for the 10-year-old club started with the tournament's namesake, Donnie Tillar, the program's first coach.

While coach, Tillar also was a soldier at Fort Riley, and was killed in battle during Desert Storm.

The memorial tournament is an annual event for K-State, and this year's tournament

UP NEXT

The finals of the Donnie Tillar Lacrosse Tournament are Sunday afternoon at K-State's Memorial Stadium.
The KSU Chartrand Memorial Soccer Tournament Championship match is Sunday at Manhattan's Frank Anneberg Recreation Complex. The men's title match is at 1 p.m. and the women's is at 2 p.m.

See LACROSSE on PAGE 10

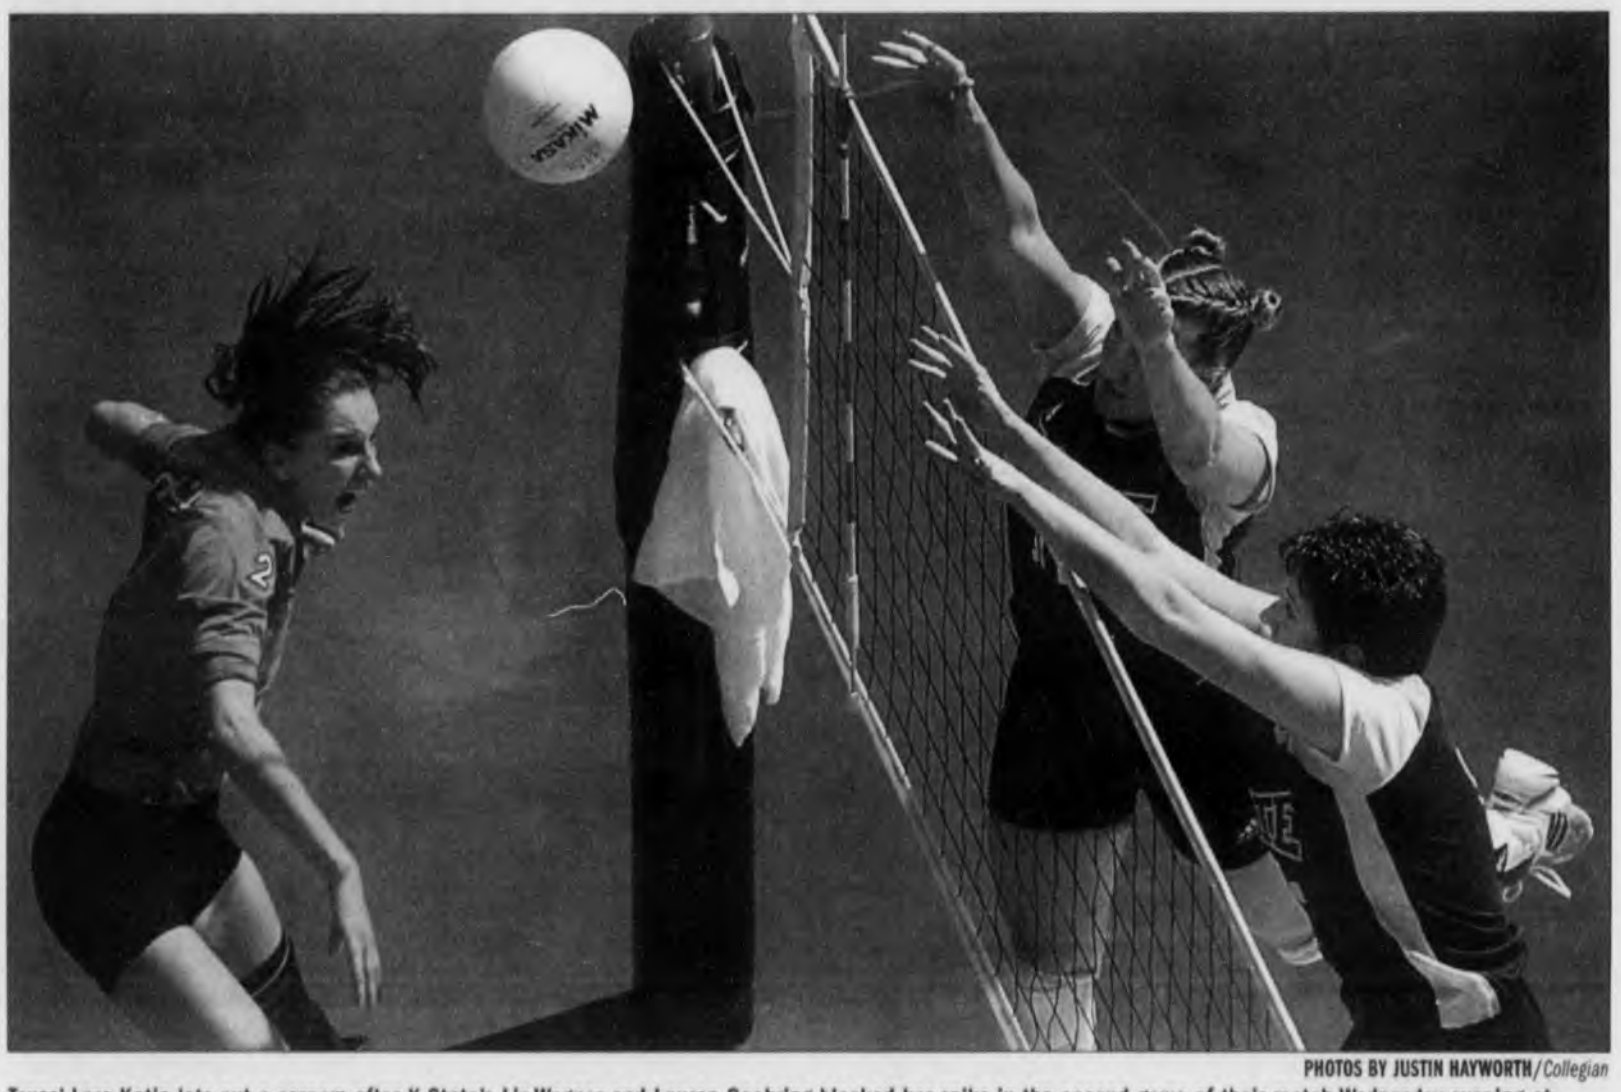
Sailing club preparing for regatta

By DAN SMITH
Kansas State Collegian

Vlastimil Kunc is ready for his club sport to become competitive again.



Kunc, graduate student in mechanical engineering, has seen both the highs and lows of K-State's club sailing program.

Three years ago, the club competed in several regattas, but, since then, the team has lacked in both the membership and funds needed to compete

UP NEXT

The team is practicing for its next regatta against in-state rival Kansas, Oct. 7 at Lawrence's Clinton Lake.

See SAILING on PAGE 7

PHOTOS BY JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

Texas' Lara Katia lets out a scream after K-State's Liz Wegner and Lauren Goehring blocked her spike in the second game of their match Wednesday evening at Ahearn Field House. The Wildcats won the match 16-14, 15-10, 15-10.

OVERWHELMING POWER

Junior volleyball player leads team to defeat Texas 3-0

Jayne Christen hugs Disney Bronnenberg after their win over the Texas Longhorns at Ahearn Field House Wednesday evening. The win move the Wildcats record to 9-3 overall and 3-1 in the Big 12.

By SAM STIERS
Kansas State Collegian

Liz Wegner's dominating power and record-breaking performance helped K-State's women's volleyball team defeat Texas 3-0 Wednesday night at Ahearn Field House.

The junior outside hitter displayed overwhelming power and precision throughout the Cats' 16-14, 15-10, 15-10 win. She finished the match with 28 kills, the most ever by a Wildcat in a three-game match.

"Liz played huge tonight," Disney Bronnenberg, junior setter, said. "She got into a rhythm real early and helped us out and opened up some other hitters. She really helped us out."

The Cats extended their domination over the Longhorns to three straight wins. K-State has taken seven straight games from Texas in the past three matches.

"Texas is better than people think," head coach Jim McLaughlin said. "They started out playing some real good teams. They're a physical team, we look small next to them, but I think we play a pretty good brand of volleyball and we keep getting better."

K-State dominated Texas early in the first game, lead by freshman outside hitter Lauren Goehring. However, the Longhorns never quit and rallied back to tie the game at 14-14.

A crucial Goehring kill gave the Cats the side out they needed to regain control of the game, and Lisa Mimic, in only her second match back from injury, would serve out the first game, 16-14.

McLaughlin said the team lacked a killer instinct early in the match.

"We've been doing that, letting teams back in games," he said. "We did that at Tech and that cost us a match. At the end of the game I was just saying, 'defense to offense transition, if we create an opportunity we need to work

See POWER on PAGE 10

Professional football player rivals Knight in lack of integrity, character

MIKE VIETTI

Jealously, envy, greed, hate — I'm pretty sure at least a few of those are part of the seven deadly sins (I can't be sure because I haven't watched "Seven" lately), but I'm betting it's rare that one person can possess all or most of them.

But that's why they call them rarities, I guess, and one such individual has popped up in the realm of professional football.

This is the one person on the planet who can rival Bobby Knight, as far as being a jerk is concerned. This wide receiver played college football at a school in southern California and was the first pick in his draft in 1996.

He went to a team that calls the biggest city in the United States home and was pretty much overshadowed for four years by a fellow wide receiver who came up from the undrafted ranks to start alongside him.

Our man became such a nuisance on this team that he was traded to a team down south for two first-round draft picks during this past summer. His current team played and lost to his former team last Sunday as he was kept to 1 reception for 1 yard, while his nemesis caught the game-winning touchdown pass for his old team.

As part of my effort to become the best sports column writer for the Collegian on Thursdays, I set out to interview this character. Even though you all know who the fruitcake is, he wanted to remain anonymous. So I will refer to him as "Mr. Keep-Jeering-Me-About-My-Failure-To-Become-A-Dominant-Receiver-And-I'll-Write-Another-Terrible-Book." Anyway, here's the interview:

Me: Thanks a lot for doing this interview, I really appreciate it.

Mr. KJ: Just give me some damn water! How can I do this thing if I can't get my throat a little wet?

Me: I'm sorry. I had no idea. Going back to the game last week, you said that the receiver you used to play with was a "Flashlight" and that you were a "Star." What did you mean by that?

Mr. KJ: Just give me a damn minute! I don't know what I meant, I was just saying it because I knew you media types wanted to cause a controversy.

Me: Well, you're the one who said it.

Mr. KJ: Just give me a damn break! Every time I talk, you guys twist my words around. I try and stay away from you guys, but you won't leave me alone.

Me: Is that why you called three press conferences for yourself last week — so you could get away from the media?

Mr. KJ: Just give me the damn benefit of the doubt!

Me: Huh?

Mr. KJ: Just give me the damn beef!

Me: Don't you mean to say, "Where's the beef?"

Mr. KJ: Just give me a damn smack to the face!

Me: Umm, I'm not sure that would be a good idea. Getting back to football, why do you think that you were traded in the off season?

Mr. KJ: Just give me my damn contract! Look at it. Would you pay a person like me millions of dollars to whine and complain all the time because I don't get enough attention?

Me: Good point. I hadn't thought about it like that. What does it feel like now that you're basically the third option on a run-oriented team?

Mr. KJ: Just give me the damn playbook! I tried to rewrite the whole thing, but our offensive coordinator figured it out.

Me: Do you sometimes wish that you hadn't shot your mouth off when you were with your old team because you might still be there if you hadn't?

Mr.: KJ: Just give me a damn plane ticket! Only now do I see the error of my ways.

Me: Really?

Mr. KJ: Just give me the damn tape recorder! I don't want that getting out to anybody.

Me: OK, you can have it — people are getting tired of you anyway. Well, thanks again for doing the interview, I hope you've learned your lesson.

Mr. KJ: Just give me the damn cover on your paper! Or do I need to say something more controversial?

Mike is a senior in print and electronic journalism. You can e-mail him at mvietti@collegianmail.com.

FOOTBALL

■ continued from page 6

normally have a fair degree of playing time. To me, it's an asset.

"You find it difficult in this day and age, as big and strong and fast and physical as players are all across the country, injuries take place. It's important to have quality young people who have game experience prepared and able to step in and take over where someone else has left off. So the more playing time that they can get, the better prepared they become to do that."

That preparation is necessary, Scobey said.

"Like I said from day one, we're all out there battling. May the best man win," Scobey said. "But this is a battle all the way to the end of the year. This is not just a battle that's going to stop next week or whatever.

"This is a battle to the end, and those guys have to be ready to step in at any time. Everybody's a snap away, that's how we feel, so it's good they got the significant playing time that they did."

Jackson highlighted that time against Ball State by finishing second on the team in rushing against the Cardinals, compiling 68 yards on seven carries and one touchdown.

"It was pretty good for him and a lot of the younger guys to be able to get on the field and showcase some of their abilities and just really get a feel of how this game is ran," Scobey said. "I think all of them looked really good out there; Rashad looked real well. He carried the ball and made some nice moves, and same with Danny Morris and Rashad Washington."

Morris tallied 25 yards on eight attempts, while Washington carried the ball four times for 13 yards and one score.

"I think it was something that they really needed as far as letting themselves know what's inside,"

"Like I said from day one, we're all out there battling. May the best man win. But this is a battle all the way to the end of the year. This is not just a battle that's going to stop next week or whatever."

– running back Josh Scobey

Scobey said, "that they can play on this level and they can compete out there just as some of us older guys."

Morris said anxiety was a factor is his debut.

"I thought I was going to be kind of nervous," he said, "but when I got out there, I just thought, 'let me just take it like it's practice, just do your job and be assignment sound.'"

That mentality gave two of the tailbacks another opportunity against North Texas on Saturday.

Morris had four carries and Washington had three, gaining 10 yards each for the game. Jackson did not play for personal reasons, Snyder said.

"That's between us here, we handle that," Snyder said. "It's just business that he has to take care of. We kind of keep those things in house, you understand that."

Washington said Jackson brings a lot to the table for the Wildcats and needs to do things right to keep contributing.

"I just think he has to do everything the coaches want him to do," Washington said. "There's things he's doing that are probably not what they're liking. So he needs to get his head up and do the right things."

Smith said he's confident that Jackson will be able to do just that.

"Rashad just has to grow up," Smith said. "He needs to take care of some things off the field, and once he does that, you'll see him back out there playing."

SAILING

■ continued from page 1

on the collegiate level.

So Kunc decided the sailing team would recruit to make the club competitive again.

He set up one of the team's boats on campus and posted flyers for informational meetings. Those efforts helped the team write a new chapter in the history of K-State sailing this fall.

That chapter began Sept. 16, when K-State ended its three-year absence from collegiate sailing by sending four Wildcats to Dallas to participate in the Southern Methodist University regatta.

Kunc, the team's commodore, said sailing could become more competitive if the team members learn something from the club's experience.

"It was our first race after three years," Kunc said. "We didn't do very well, but we learned a lot and I think we can take a lot from the race."

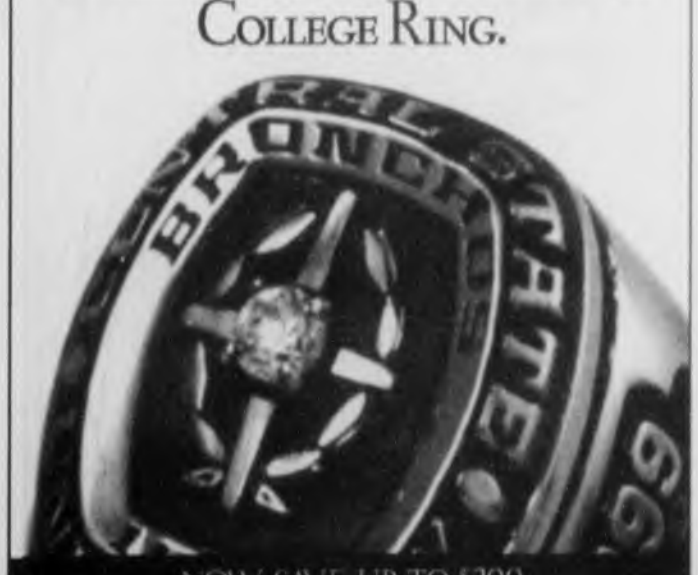
Vice commodore Andy Harvey, senior in architectural engineering, said the sailing club is starting from the ground up.

"We're kind of in a building year," Harvey said. "But we're getting a lot more members who would like to compete, and we're advertising on campus to get some more people."

Harvey, in his second year of sailing at K-State, said the club's main goal is to get its name out and let people know K-State has a sailing club and is willing to race.

"We're going to try to make it to any race we can get to," Harvey said, "so that we can build our boats back up."

The sailing club is part of the Southeastern Intercollegiate Sailing Association, and hopes to race on a regular basis against schools such as the University of Texas, Texas A&M, Baylor, SMU and Kansas in the future, Kunc said.



We are excited to announce
Angela Albin
has joined our professional staff!
Angela is offering

$5 off haircut good through Oct. 31
"START A NEW BEGINNING"
Call now for an appointment
NEW BEGINNINGS
HAIRSTYLING & TANNING
1130 Westport Dr. #6• Manhatttan • 537-1003

Gore Vidal's
The BEST MAN
Manhattan Arts Center
September 29–October 1, 2000
October 5–8, 2000
Presented by
Manhattan Community Theatre
Show times are 8:00 p.m. Thu-Sat and 2:00 on Sunday.
Shows are held at the Manhattan Arts Center,
Grosh Performance Hall located at 1520 Poyntz Ave. in Manhattan.
For ticket information, call (785) 537-4420.
Dedicated to the memory of Beverly Faw.

HEY, SSN ___-__-____,
EXPRESS YOUR INDIVIDUALITY
WITH A CUSTOM-DESIGNED
COLLEGE RING.

NOW SAVE UP TO $200
ARTCARVED

WED., SEPT. 27 - FRI., SEPT. 29
10:00 A.M. - 4:00 P.M
UNION BOOKSTORE
K-STATE STUDENT UNION Bookstore

Once in a Lifetime
engagements and weddings

Sharing your engagement and wedding announcements in the Collegian the first Friday of every month.

Your engagement and wedding are special moments in your life. Let the Kansas State Collegian share the news with family and friends. You can put your announcement with a picture in the Collegian's "Once in a Lifetime" special section for FREE.

"Once in a Lifetime" runs the first Friday of every month, with deadline the Wednesday before.

To publish your announcement, please complete the form and take it to Student Publications, Kedzie 103 (east of the K-State Student Union).

To place a FREE engagement or wedding announcement in the Collegian, complete and submit the following form with a vertical photo to Kedzie 103.

Your name_____
Address_____
City, state, zip _____
Telephone number_____
o I wish to place an engagement announcement.
o I wish to place a wedding announcement.
o I also want to include a photo (must be vertical).
Signature_____

Announcement Information
Groom's name:_____
Year in school: _____
Major: _____
Bride's name:_____
Year in school:_____
Major:_____
Bride's parents:_____
City/State:_____
Groom's parents: _____
City/State:_____
Wedding date:_____
Location (city/state):_____
include information below for wedding announcements
Wedding attendants:_____
_____

YOU'RE DRIVEN.
YOU'RE TALENTED.
AND YOU DON'T KNOW SQUAT.

Find everything you need to know about grad school at www.petersons.com/campus

Gathering information for grad school can be absolutely mind-boggling. At Petersons.com, you'll find detailed information on programs, student loan information, online practice tests and online applications. Go to Petersons.com. And un-boggle that brilliant mind of yours.

PETERSONS.COM
THOMSON LEARNING

ONLINE AND IN PRINT
AOL Keyword: Peterson's

Provost discusses increase in diversity at lecture series

By APRIL MIDDLETON
Kansas State Collegian

Minority students will make up almost 50 percent of the total population in America's schools by the year 2010.

University Provost James Coffman used this information to introduce the importance of integrating diversity into the mission statements of each department, college and the university Wednesday afternoon during his first presentation in the Provost Lecture Series.

Coffman discussed the importance of diversity in academics in his lecture, "Diversity, Mission and Academic Work."

Mordean Taylor-Archer, associate provost, said the 2000-2001 series is unique.

"This is the fifth year of the Provost Lecture Series," Taylor-Archer said. "This year, however, is the first year our own provost will speak in the series."

COFFMAN

Coffman said if he could make only one point in his presentation, it would be to stress the importance of recognizing different world views, including those of the majority and minority culture.

"The majority seems to measure success on a individual and competitive basis," he said. "That isn't the case for women and minorities, who tend to value individual work on the basis of the furtherance of the community as a whole."

Coffman said realizing that world views differ is critical to the understanding and acceptance of diversity.

"For decades, minority students have had graduation rates at K-State 75-percent below the majority," Coffman said. "Research supports the value of diversity in the success rates of minority students."

That is why promoting and encouraging diversity is so important, he said.

Coffman addressed the importance of the hiring and retention process in creating a truly diverse university setting. Once again, he said, it comes back to valuing and recognizing different world views.

"Different world views is the reason we need minorities and women," he said. "However, it often becomes a major reason we lose them."

Coffman said the issue wasn't about lowering standards or creating a two-class system. Instead, he said, it revolves around valuing the range of contributions a diverse faculty make.

"It's about valuing, applying, assessing and awarding what women and minorities bring to the university," Coffman said.

Diversity in the university, Coffman said, is important for many reasons. He said he thinks everyone would agree it was the right thing to do, but the importance goes much beyond the obvious.

"Demographic diversity is in everyone's best interest, future-diversity is relevant to the changes that are occurring, and finally, mission-diversity is essential to the work we do," Coffman said.

Coffman said the one goal of the university and individual colleges and departments needs to be to prepare students to live and work in a diverse world and provide appropriate role models.

The mentoring program, Coffman said, is critical to prepare students for life after graduation. However, students need to be exposed to mentors who can relate to their circumstances.

"If the goal is to help 'them' become like 'us' in order to be successful, then we lose the value of a multifaceted world view," Coffman said.

This idea, Coffman said, results in the loss of everything that is supposed to be gained by the mentoring process.

Carol Kellett, dean of the College of Human Ecology, discussed the importance of recruiting and retaining minority students in the open discussion after Coffman's presentation.

"Recruitment for minority students begins in preschool. The need to be told that college is a possibility for them," Kellett said. "Our faculty should be as diverse as society is if we want our students to do well."

ROYAL PURPLE
BE SEEN ordering your copy today.
103 Kedzie Hall • 532-6555 • royalpurple@ksu.edu

WEEKEND DRINK SPECIALS
CHECK OUT THESE WEEKEND SPECIALS OFFERED BY MANHATTAN AREA BARS AND RESTAURANTS.

RC McGraws
Karaoke Nite
50¢
Taco Nite
Hard or soft tacos
$1.99
Island Oasis Margarita & Hurricanes
2317 Tuttle Creek Blvd.
Manhattan, KS
776-9588

Mel's Tavern
Manhattan's Downtown Sports Bar & Grill
TEX-MEX NITE
Thursdays
50¢ Tacos
Poco Burrito $3.99
Nacho Platter $4.29
DRINK SPECIALS
18 oz. Margarita $2
Corona $2
Mike's Hard Lemonade $2
105 N. 3rd • Manhattan
(785) 776-9879

Advertise
in the KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING
118 KEDZIE • 532-6560

SCOREBOARD
WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY NIGHT
$1 NIGHT
Seagrams, All domestic bottles
Calls - Captain, Quervo, etc.
Fries, Burgers, Tots
All for a buck!
$1.50 Micro & Import Bottles - Corona,Heineken,Newcastle, etc.
$2.00 Premiums - Crown, Sapphire, Absolut
1119 Moro • 776-7714 • Open at 5:00 p.m.
SCOREBOARD

LONGHORNS
NO COVER
21 & OVER
$1.00 OFF EVERYTHING
Saturday - watch the game on the big screen
KSU vs. Colorado
doors open at 1 p.m.
TOMMOROW NIGHT
11-12p.m. Meet the Yeagerettes

ROWDY TROUTY'S
$2.50 big beers
$2.50 fishtanks
LADIES NIGHT
Dart Tourney
7:00PM Sunday
1209 Laramie • 776-2424

12TH STREET PUB
STEAK NIGHT
SIRLOIN STRIP · SIDE SALAD
BAKED POTATO · TEXAS TOAST
ALL FOR $5.95
LIVE BAND TONIGHT
FEATURING RUSTIN SMITH
$2.00 ANYTHING · NO COVER

got beer? we do.
FRIDAYS
XX Black Angus Stout pints $1.50
CRAZY CAT SATURDAYS
Wildcat Wheat pints $1.50
SUNDAYS
Fresh Beer to go 11-6pm
RESERVE YOUR KEG TODAY
Little Apple Brewing Co.
Fresh Handcrafted Beer
Certified Angus Beef
1110 Westloop 539-5500

BOBBY T'S
$2.99 Burgers -n- Quesadillas
CALLING ALL MUSICIANS!
$1.50 Draws Bud Light or Coors Light
Open Mic at 9 p.m. - 1 a.m.
537-8383 · Candlewood Shopping Area

Home of the Wildcats

e
elements of taste
Techno Tuesday
Any Martini $3.00
Wicked Wednesday
ALL Well and Call Drinks $1.50
The Wednesday Wine $3.50
Thirsty Thursday
Long Island Iced Tea & Hurricane Pitchers $10.00
Domestic Draws $.75
Domestic Pitchers $4.50
Fuego Fridays
Corona Bottles $1.50
Margaritas $1.75
Bud/Bud Light Draws $1.50
Sippin' Saturday
ALL Collins Drinks $1.50
Domestic Bottles $1.50
Game Day 16 oz. Domestic Draws $2.25
Swingin' Sundays
1/2 Price Drinks (excluding bottles of wine)
Open 5 p.m. - 2 a.m.
Serving Dinner Till 10 p.m.
Live Entertainment:
Thursday • Sept. 28 • Crooked Pinky & "Sixt"
Saturday • Sept. 30 • Ian Davidson followed by Justin Hulsey
Wednesday • Oct. 4 • Fireside Chat with Buck & Friends
11 a.m.-2a.m. Tues-Sat. • 1131 Moro • Aggieville • 770-3000

Party on the Patio every Thursday
The Irish Way
Live Music from 7-11 p.m.
O'Malleys
Home of the Black and Tan
$2.50 Parrot Bay Madros "keep the glass"
Slam a Belfast Bomber
Guinness, Harp & Bass on Tap
$2.00 Bud & Bud Light bottles
$2.00 Michelob bottles
Live Music with Podstar with special Guest Livinzin
O'Malleys Alley
1210 Moro 537-0775
Sponsored by Budweiser, Margaritaville Tequila, Guinness, & K-Rock 101.5
Next Thurs. don't miss Joker

Cryptoquip & CROSSWORD
presented by:
1219 Moro
Aggieville
JAVA
(785) 587-8888

FOR RELEASE THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 2000

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Spaces
5 "— and Circumstance"
9 Resort
12 "Sometimes you feel like — . . ."
13 Neck of the woods
14 Sleuth
15 Brian Setzer's old band
17 "Go, team, go!"
18 BB
19 Rib
21 C&W singer Oslin
22 Long
24 Rolling stone's lack
27 Gloomy
28 Enthusiastic
31 Picnic pest
32 Definite article
33 Yale student
34 Rid of rind
36 Many millennia
37 "Beau Geste" author
38 Crockett's last stand
40 Autobiography subject
41 Picture cards
43 Showed patience
47 Mount St. Helens output
48 Perfect, as a report card
51 Infinitesimal
52 "— Brockovich"
53 Rhino's feature
54 Put into words
55 Ocean motion
56 Larch or loblolly

DOWN
1 React in horror
2 Initial stake
3 "Knit one, — two"
4 Petioles
5 Treaty
6 Man-mouse link
7 Bumped into
8 Trattoria offering
9 Alien
10 Carrots' mates
11 Rue the run
16 Still
20 Paleozoic, for one
22 AOL alternative
23 Jeannie's portrayer
24 Chart
25 "Leaving — Jet Plane"
26 Author Lytton
27 Goblet part
29 Bullring cry
30 Snare
35 Wapiti
37 Bulk
39 Valuable thing
40 — tai
41 Big fish story
42 On the Love Boat
43 Lessen in strength
44 God of thunder
45 Raison d' —
46 Hamlet, e.g.
49 Numerical prefix
50 Free (of)

Solution time: 25 mins.

S	A	L	T		A	D	D		R	O	E	G
P	L	I	E		L	O	W		A	F	R	O
O	F	F	S	T	A	G	E		I	F	S	O
T	A	T	T	E	R		L	A	S	H	E	D
		Y	A	M		T	R	I	O
E	G	O		K	E	G		S	N	U	B	S
M	U	F	F		D	I	S		G	R	I	T
U	N	F	E	D		N	O	B		S	P	Y
		G	L	O	P		U	L	M
B	R	U	I	S	E		F	O	A	M	E	D
L	O	A	N		O	F	F	W	H	I	T	E
E	T	A	E		N	I	L		A	M	O	S
O	A	D	S		S	E	E		L	I	N	K

Yesterday's answer 9-28

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-28 CRYPTOQUIP

N H F V K F Q M F O V X Y P ,
Y G Y U Y F P W Y D K W B Y U
Q H Z L V O V M W L M F D N F M K U X
W H B K G V K K S S K F N Z B K .

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: CANNIBALS ARE SUCH SYCOPHANTS: THEY REALLY BUTTER UP THEIR BOSSES.

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: M equals I

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

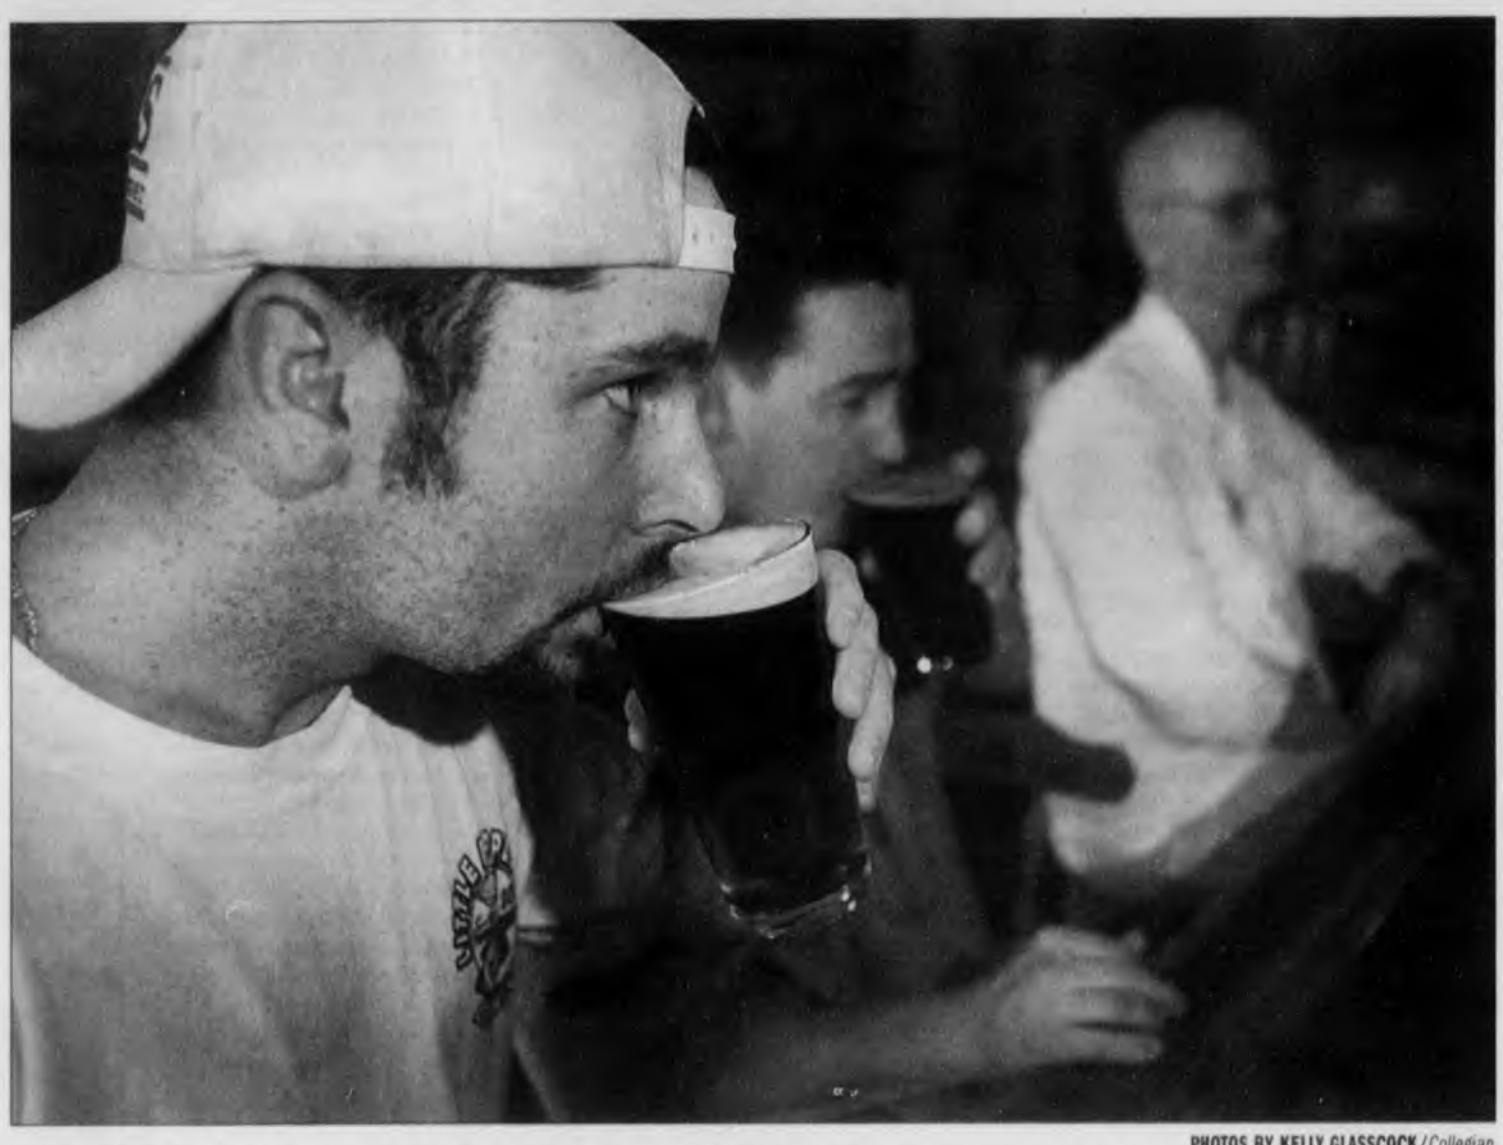
The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2000 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

MIX MASTERS

WHO: Eric Seibert, Elements of Taste

SEIBERT



Eric has been a bartender at Elements for two months.

DRINK: The Element of Tropical Sky

Two shots Charbay Ruby Red Grapefruit Vodka
Snapple Sky Passion Fruit

Combine Charbay Vodka with Snapple to taste. Shake it and pour in a small rock glass with ice. Garnish with a cherry.

ONLINE:
Learn to make this drink from the master. Go to www.kstatecollegian.com for exclusive video footage.

PHOTOS BY KELLY GLASSCOCK/Collegian

John Briden takes a drink of beer at Little Apple Brewing Co. on Wednesday afternoon. Different beers are made each season of the year at the brewery.

Brewing Season

By JJ Duncan

Area brewerys offer diverse beer choices

Seasonal Beers

Maibock – Usually brewed about May, Maibock is a pale golden to amber beer with a malty flavor.

Marzen – Usually brewed in March, but it is brought out again in the fall. Marzen is a light amber to reddish-brown beer with toasted aroma and flavor.

Bock – Usually an early spring beer. Bock is a sweet or dry beer with deep copper to dark brown color and a toasted or nutty flavor.

Doppelbock – Usually brewed in early spring. Doppelbock is a deep amber to nearly black beer with a malty sweet flavor.

Fruit Beer – Usually brewed in late spring or summer. Fruit beers are pale with traces of berry color and a light flavor.

Holiday Beer – Usually brewed in the fall. Holiday beers are amber to brown colored with a rich flavor.

Source: Little Apple Brewing Co.

Each of the four seasons offers more than a change of sports, holidays and school activities.

The changing of winter to spring and summer to fall bring about a variety of beers brewed for a specific season, including fruit beers, ales, bocks, doppelbocks and maibocks.

Lou Kaylor, head brewer at Little Apple Brewing Co., said part of the fun of drinking is finding out which beers go with the different seasons.

"Seasonal beers give people more of a variety," he said. "They can have something heavier in the fall when it's a little colder, or we have raspberry wheat for the summer, which is a lighter beer."

Kaylor said most people don't realize all the options within the spectrum of inexpensive beer. He said people should be willing to try new drinks because often they find they like the heavy dark beers that intimidate some people.

"People should come down if they want to experience a different kind of beer," he said. "Have a little taste of something. Just try something out and don't be afraid of the dark."

The type of beer that is popular often depends on the region and the taste of the crowd. But Steve Bradt, head brewer at the Free State Brewery in Lawrence, said the weather and time of year are determining factors with seasonal beers.

"Some things naturally go better with a hot day," he said. "Just like you wouldn't want a big pot roast on a hot summer day, you don't usually want that heavy beer."

Brewing the beer is a lengthy process that requires at least two weeks from the time it is mixed to the time it is served.

Kaylor, who has been the head brewer of Little Apple for more than two years, said it takes a good deal of training and honing of taste to be able to brew well.

He said he gains satisfaction from his job as a brewer because the meticulous work put into brewing the beer pleases the customers.

"The best part about being head brewer is that all the regulars who come into the bar know you," he said. "It's not so much that I'm the god of the beer or something, it's because they can sit down and have a good beer and I can joke around with them. It's a camaraderie you can only get in certain situations."

Kaylor said just as there are taste aficionados for wine, beer also has taste ratings and competitions. Kaylor will be competing in a tasting contest at the American Beer Festival Oct. 5-7 in Denver. He will enter the Stockyard Scotch Ale, for which he wrote the recipe.

"It's exciting because the ale is tasting really good right now, and I have my fingers crossed," he said. "Regardless of winning a medal or not, I think it will do very well and get high reviews."

Whether drinking an original recipe or trying other seasonals, experimentation can be fun, Vernon Tabor, patron of the bar, said.

Tabor, who brews his own beer, said the popularity of breweries has been, in part, a response to the demand for higher-quality beers. Seasonal beers give people a chance to expand their horizons.

"Seasonal beers make it so you can look forward to different things as the year goes along," he said.

THE GONGFARMER

BY RANDY REGIER

Monkey Boy

BY BRENT ENGSTROM – MONKEYBOYCOMIC@HOTMAIL.COM

POWER

■ continued from page 6

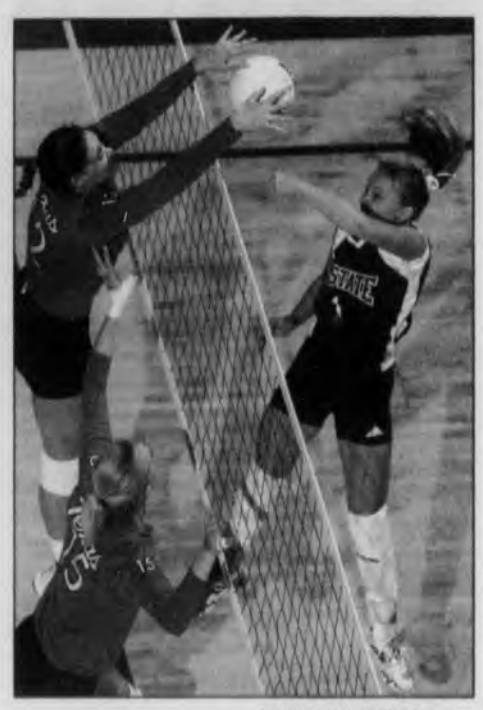
real hard to finish it.' The critical point in the match was the end of game one. We made two great plays to win the game and that kinda got us going."

The second and third games were almost identical to each other. The Longhorns came out strong in both games and grabbed the lead early.



Wegner and senior middle blocker Kelle Branting stepped up in game two compiling nine and seven kills respectively.
K-State would hold off the Longhorns and win the game 15-10.

Texas came out strong in game three of the match and took an early 4-0 lead. However, the Cats would rally behind Wegner and her 14 kills to win the game 15-10. During game three the Cats committed seven service errors and McLaughlin said serving would get the No. 1 priority in practice this week.

"I thought the serving game was critical tonight," McLaughlin said. "We're going for homeruns early, and I don't think we need to do that. We need to go for some homeruns later in the game when we're in a little bit more of a rhythm."

Wegner said the match was helpful in showing the team areas it needs to improve on, but she said she was happy with how everyone played.

"We got a head of them and then let them back into the game," she said. "That's something we need to work on and we will work on. We're still a real young team and we'll get it. It's still real early in the Big 12, so we'll keep working on those little details."

JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

K-State's Disney Bronnenberg punches a ball over the net between the hands of Texas' Kathy Tilson in their match Wednesday evening at Ahearn Field House. The Wildcats won the match 16-14, 15-10, 15-10.

The Cats will get a chance to show their improvement in their next match Saturday at Missouri.

"Every game is a challenge," McLaughlin said. "We're going to get up in the morning and start working on Mizzou. The girls are going to enjoy this win and it will take them a while to unwind, but then we've got to get back on the horse and continue to improve."

LAROSSE

■ continued from page 1

consists of five teams from three states, including Creighton University, the four-winds team (from Kansas City), Iowa State, the Minnesota Chill and nationally-ranked Missouri.

For the lacrosse team, the tournament is a way to remember what Tillar meant to the program.

"It means a lot because of what the tournament stands for," said Nick Miller, junior and lacrosse team president.

Miller also said the tournament will give the team a chance to see where they stand in the Central Collegiate Lacrosse Association.

The tournament will begin each day at 10 a.m., with Saturday's competition taking place at the the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex fields and Sunday's at Memorial Stadium.

Aside from lacrosse, K-State's club soccer teams also will be in action this weekend for the 22nd Annual KSU Chartrand Memorial Soccer Tournament in Manhattan.

Men's and women's teams from a dozen colleges will compete at the Frank Anneberg Recreation Complex for the three-day tournament that kicks-off Friday night.

The tournament is named after Edward E. Chartrand, who played for K-State before his death in 1979 at the age of 22.

"Four of the best teams in the region will be in this tournament,"

WATER

■ continued from page 1

rivers. Enoch said frequent guests of the lake should be concerned.

"The biggest effect it would make the lake inaccessible on the north end to things like boating, hunting or fishing," Enoch said. "We'd like to have more water in the lake just like anybody else."

Enoch said a difference between the actual purpose of Tuttle Creek Reservoir and its perceived use have caused problems.

"When you manage this state park, like we do you have to realize something," Enoch said. "Recreation, to the Corps of Engineers, is a secondary concern. You have to manage the park around their decisions."

Enoch said a meeting is planned with the Project Manager of Army Corps of Engineers in Manhattan at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Throckmorton 1023. The water level at Tuttle Creek will be among the topics discussed. Students are encouraged to attend.

CENTER

■ continued from page 1

Schroeder said.

Augustine, however, said he wouldn't use the center as often as the Union.

"The only way I would utilize it is if I had a group meeting," he said. "I wouldn't see it fit as a student hangout."

The three-floor building will be constructed of limestone. It will feature a banquet facility, cafe, media or technology center and a memorabilia room. There also will be K-State memorabilia displayed throughout the building.

Walczak said the center will be beneficial for current students.

"The very fact that the building is there would encourage people to become members as they graduate," she said.

Make your voice heard!
CampusFourum: 395-4444

Collingwood Grain Inc.

Will be holding interviews at
Career and Placement Services on
October 3rd.

Positions for December and May graduates
as well as internship opportunities are available.

"Crazy" Ted Varney would have loved this...

CRAZY TEXTBOOK SALE

Hundreds of selected new & used textbooks
Various fields of study
Check out these crazy low prices!

(Sept. 29 - Oct. 18)

$1.00 Paperbacks $15.00 $2.00 Hardbacks

ALL YOU CAN CARRY!

Varney's BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE
"We Give You Our Best"
www.varneys.com

While you're in,
ADVANCE ORDERING your fall textbooks at Varney's can save you valuable time, energy, and money!
Ask our textbook staff for details.
9 a.m.-9 p.m. Mon.-Sat. 11a.m.-7p.m. Sun.
785-539-0511

Year of the WILDCAT K-State Homecoming 2000

Want to show your purple pride and be a representative for K-State?

Apply to be a K-STATE STUDENT AMBASSADOR!

The Alumni Association is seeking one male and one female Ambassador for 2000-2001. Ambassadors will be elected by the student body during Homecoming Week.

Pick up an application and a complete description of duties at the Office of Student Activities and Services in the Union or at the Alumni Association, located in the KSU Foundation Center at 2323 Anderson Ave., Suite 400.

Questions? Call the K-State Alumni Association at 532-6260.

Applications are due at 5 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 4, 2000.

1 800 CONTACTS®
We deliver. You save.™

Exact same contact lenses, delivered to your dorm, for less than you're paying now.

ORDER OVER THE PHONE
We will walk you through it:
1 800 CONTACTS

ORDER ON THE INTERNET
Free shipping on web orders:
CONTACTS.com

with Hormel Foods.

We're interviewing on campus:

October 11- 12, 2000
Production Management, Industrial Engineer, Maintenance Engineer, Quality & Process Control Engineer, Staff Accountant

October 17- 18, 2000
Food Service Sales, Grocery Products Sales, Meat Products Sales

If you want to fully utilize your degree from Kansas State University, take a look at our entry level career opportunities. Hormel Foods offers exciting careers with competitive salary & benefits.

Interview with Hormel Foods; become part of a fast-paced environment in an always-changing industry!

Please check with the Career Service Center for interview location and sign-up times where a Hormel representative will be available to answer your questions.

Hormel Foods
www.hormel.com
careers@hormel.com
AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.
CALL 532-6555

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

120 For Rent- Houses

145 Roommate Wanted

FALL LEASING available! Call now! Fully furnished, washer/ dryer, fully equipped kitchen, alarm systems, computer lab, copier, and fax availability, fitness center/ rec room, swimming pool, reserved parking, tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. University Commons Apartments, 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

CAMPUS FIVE BLOCKS. Very large two-bedroom with air-conditioning. Clean, quiet location. Electric, gas, water, trash paid. No dogs. 537-8389.

EXCELLENT TWO-BEDROOM one block from campus. $550 per month, water/ trash paid. 341-4496.

LET US HELP you find a place to live. We may have what you need. No dogs. Leave message, 537-8389.

STUDIO $405 Winston Place Apartments. (785)539-9339.

VERY NICE two-bedroom with air-conditioning. NEWLY REDECORATED, clean, quiet, convenient location. Heat, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. 537-8389.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, close to campus, newly remodeled, CENTRAL AIR, two bath, washer/ dryer. 770-7230, 539-1713.

NEW DUPLEX. FOUR-BEDROOM, two bath, two living rooms. Available October 1. $1000/ month. Pierre St. (785)456-7655.

TWO STORY BRICK, very large, three- four-bedroom, two baths, central air, laundry hook-ups, quiet location, fenced yard, parking. 537-8389.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom basement apartment one block from campus. Includes washer/ dryer, dishwasher, and private parking. $210/ month. (785)537-1995.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM, two bath, furnished, washer/dryer, dishwasher, privacy deck. Sublease, tenant needed. $325/ person/ month. 537-8226.

we kick ads.
Kansas State Collegian Advertising
532-6560

ROOMMATE WANTED for house. ONE-BLOCK FROM CAMPUS. Gas, water, and trash paid. Off-street parking. 776-5422

150 Sublease

CLOSE TO CAMPUS! A very spacious one-bedroom basement apartment in a nice house. Rent: $340 a month. You only pay for electricty, phone and cable! 770-3537.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT at Chase Manhattan, January 1st- August 5th! Rent $469/ month, cable included. Carport available. 565-9210 for more information.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For infor call (203)977-1722.

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information, call (785)456-2795, www.ksu.edu/kstc

IN 1994 "Of Mice and Men" was almost banned in a high school for its "treatment of the mentally handicapped and its violent ending." Check out Banned Book Week Sept. 25- 29 at the K-State Union Bookstore.

NEED A new look? Free hair cuts, color and texture. Call for details. Hair Experts Design Team. (785)776-4455.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

100 housing/ real estate

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

101 Rental Wanted

FOUR 30ISH alums seeking three-bedroom, two bath apartment or house for use from October 13 at 6pm to Sunday, October 15 at noon. Will pay $400 plus deposit. Call (916)641-4065.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

TWO BEDROOM, walk to campus, ample parking, quiet conditions, furnished or unfurnished, reasonable rates. Laundry. Available now. 539-3638.

Come home to relax in comfort

•Cambridge Square
•Sandstone Apts.

•Fireplaces •Carports
•Pool •Private Deck
•Laundry Facilities
•Large 2-bedroom Units

Call TODAY!!!

537-9064

Weekdays 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Showings by appointment

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

BRAND NEW three-bedroom/ three bathroom apartment, available now, washer/ dryer included, close to campus and Aggieville. Call MDI 776-3804.

DOES $350/ month sound better than what you're paying for rent? Assume my loan and own a three-bedroom, two bath, three year old mobile home by Tuttle Creek River Pond. Call (785)776-5619, leave name and number and I'll return your call.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR– FIVE-BEDROOM home for rent, near campus. January 1, lease. Call (785)539-2357, 9 a.m.- 5 p.m. M- F.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for large house near campus. Large bedroom, two baths, central air, washer/ dryer, $270 plus one-fourth utilities. 776-0352.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. $250/ month plus one-third utilities, washer/ dryer, garage, hot tub, fireplace, sublease until June. 770-9301.

ROOMMATE WANTED for house close to vet school. $250 plus one-third utilities. 537-9943.

300 employment/ opportunities

310 Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

CUSTOMER SERVICE, a perfect match. If you have 15-75 pounds to lose, we pay you. 877-345-7179.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

DELIVERY DRIVERS needed. $5.50 per hour plus tips and mileage. Evening shift available. Please contact Hunam Restaurant, 1304 Westloop. 539-8888.

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!! Looking for part- time dealers. Multi- level market selling Indoor Air Purification Machines. Fun business, good money!!! Call Mitch at (888)814-2893.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY Assistance Center, Director, Interim Position. This search is for internal KSU candidates only. The information Technology Assistance Center (ITAC) is the Kansas State University entry point for faculty, staff and students to find quick solutions to their IT needs. The Director supervises a full-time staff of five and several part-time employees, currently housed in Hale Library. The ITAC Director reports to the Vice Provost for Academic Services and Technology (VPAST). Salary: Commensurate with experience: $50,000- $60,000/ Annually. Qualifications: Necessary: Masters degree in some field of Information Technology or highly related field. Preferred: Ph.D. in Computer Science, Information Systems, Management Information System, Educational Technology or highly related field. For a complete description and application details contact: Rusty Taylor, Chair, ITAC Director Search Committee, 128 Bob Dole Hall, Educational Communications Center, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506. Telephone (785)532-3125 or on the World Wide Web: http://main.itac.ksu.edu/dir_pos/itac_dir.pdf or http://www.ksu.edu/vpast/position_ann.html
Review of applications will begin September 29, 2000. Start date will be negotiable upon selection of qualified applicant with target start date as soon as possible after November 1, 2000.

TUTOR NEEDED for biochemistry (CHEM 265). Please call 770-8186.

Spring Break 2001
Jamaica, Cancun, Florida, Barbados, Bahamas.
Now hiring campus reps. Earn 2 fee trips. Free Meals. Books by Nov. 2nd. Call for FREE info pack or visit online sunsplashtours.com
1-800-426-7710

REAL ESTATE assistant and special projects. Need car, basic computer skills, good listener, follows instructions. 10- 20 hours/ week, flexible. Daytime 8am- 6pm, Monday- Friday. $10/ hour. Resume and references to BI Investments, PO Box 1111, Junction City, KS 66441.

310 Help Wanted

INTERN RILEY County Community Corrections has an opening for a student intern who is participating in the Kansas Career Work Study program. Duties include assisting juvenile intake staff in delivery of various field services to assigned offenders. Requirements include senior year standing in a human services field (preferably criminal justice), ability to work a flexible work schedule, including some evenings, and a valid Kansas driver's license. This position is part-time status, with the average number of hours per week expected to be in the 15-20 hour range. Experience working with juveniles is preferred. The hourly wage is $8.35 with no benefits. Applications may be obtained from the Riley County Counselor/Personnel Office, 115 N. 4th Street, 3rd Floor East, Courthouse Plaza East Building, Manhattan, KS 66502. 785-565-6464. Position open until filled. jdean@co.riley.ks.us EOE

LANDSCAPING POSITIONS. Full-time M- F. Apply in person at Horticultural Services Inc. 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (785)494-2418 or (785)776-0397.

OGDEN YOUTH Center, immediate opening, full-time youth director. Must have experience working with teens, good communication and organization skills, computer skills in MS Word and Excel. Grant writing experience and bachelors degree preferred. Must be able to work evenings. Send resume and references to Ogden Youth Center Personnel, Box 145, Ogden, KS 66517.

PROGRAMMER ANALYST Kansas Farm Bureau Services, Inc. is seeking a programmer analyst or systems analyst depending on qualifications. Minimum requirements include 2 - 5 years mainframe-related experience plus: Bachelor's degree in CS, related field, or equivalent work experience. Knowledge in programming, design, and analysis, CICS, MVS/ESA, COBOL, ROSCOE, LIBRARIAN, VSAM, NATURAL, ADABAS. We provide an on-site Wellness Center and an excellent compensation package including health insurance with a minimal monthly premium, life insurance, non-contributory pension plan, plus 401(k) and participation in the Company's gainsharing compensation plan. Candidates may send their resume and cover letter to Peggy J. Goe - Employment Manager, P.O. Box 3500 - I/S, Manhattan, KS 66505-8508. Visit our home page at www.kfbs.com. Fax (785) 587-6879. We are an equal opportunity employer and encourage diversity.

Spring Break Reps needed to promote campus trips. Earn easy money and travel free! All materials provided free. We train you. Work on you own time. Call 1-800-367-1252 or www.springbreakdirect.com

THOROUGH HOUSE cleaning under ideal circumstances for couple with no pets/ smoking/ children. Send resume to c/o Collegian, Box 1, Manhattan 66506.

THERE ARE PLENTY OF FISH IN THE SEA

SO HOOK ONE WITH A PERSONAL ALREADY!

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie 532-6555

310 Help Wanted

STATISTICAL QUALITY Control Intern. Venator Group Inc. is a diversified global retailer that operates 4,000 stores in 14 countries in North America, Europe, Australia and Canada. Through its athletic group of specialty retail stores -- including Foot Locker, Lady Foot Locker, Kids Foot Locker, and Champs Sports, as well as its direct marketer Eastbay -- we are the leading providers of athletic footwear and apparel. We are always searching for dynamic individuals to join our Distribution Center located in Junction City. This position offers challenges in System Quality Control analysis. Responsibilities will include: Completing an engineered study of the entire facilities process quality, Identifying area that are out of control, Correct situations using statistical quality control. Qualifications: Statistical knowledge (STAT 510, STAT 511, or other high level statistics course), Superior Statistical Quality Control knowledge, Advanced analytical skills. We offer a competitive salary, tuition reimbursement and professional development opportunities in a dynamic work environment. For consideration, please submit cover letter, resume, and references to : Venator Group, Human Resources, Attn.: Associate Relations Manager, 3810 South U.S. Hwy. 77, Junction City, KS, 66441. Or Fax us at 785-761-3440. / EOE

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. Open 12-5p.m. Closed Sundays Mondays. 539-4684.

DRAFTING TABLES $50 or best offer. Great for architecture/ engineering students. Excellent shape with storage. Manhattan Area Technical College, (785)587-2800.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS Camouflage clothing (including PURPLE) field jackets- Boots sleeping bags- overshoes, hunting wear. Also CARHARTT workwear. Open Mon.- Fri., 9- 5:30; Sat. 9- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS 66536. (785)437-2734.

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

DOUBLE BED. Mattress, box springs and frame. Excellent condition. $75. Call 539-6306 evenings.

FOR SALE: 27 inch Sony color TV, waterbed- king size, book shelf, headboard. $150 each or best offer. Call 532-3134.

Kansas State Collegian Advertising
532-6560

420 Garage/Yard Sales

2529 HOBBS- Off College Drive, 8- 12. Great deals Beanie Babies, Buddies, Disney clothing, nice rugs, Halloween/ Christmas items, oak mission desk.

TRINITY PRESBYTERIAN. Saturday, September 30, 8a.m.- noon. 1110 College Avenue. Couch, computers and monitors, Kirby vacuum, full bookcase headboard, toolbox for full size pickup, Kerosun Heater, color TV electric typewritier, household items, clothing $2 a grocery bag, toys and much more.

435 Computers

COMPAQ DESK Pro 590. Complete system with ethernet card installed. $200. 770-8460.

PACKARD BELL Pentium computer and color canon printer. $400 or best offer. 776-4398 mornings or evening.

PRE-OWNED LAPTOPS, in excellent condition, starting at just $399.95!!! NorthStar Solutions: 1800 Claflin Rd., #160 (near campus at the corner of Claflin and Denison).

YEAR OLD compact presario 1920 laptop. Like new condition. Daytime call 1-800-825-4377, after 4pm call 785-632-5980 ask for Nicole.

455 Sporting Equipment

DUCKS UNLIMITED Banquet, Sept. 30, Council Grove American Legion. Event begins at 6p.m. Tickets at the door or call (316)767-5470.

460 Electronic Equipment

SONY, KENWOOD, JBL, Technics, Bose, etc. Stereo and Surround. Quality used equipment, bought and sold. Call Mike (785)565-0517.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOR SALE: Two student season football tickets. (913)915-6343.

WANTED TWO student tickets. October 14, Oklahoma game. David at 537-8029

WANTED, BY KSU alumni, one student ticket to NU game. Contact Keith at Keithu@impactdsgn.net

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1987 DODGE 600, four-door, automatic, air-conditioned, power steering, good condition, $2000 or best offer. Call (785)539-1628.

1988 BUICK LeSabre, four-door, new tires, air-conditioning, power windows and locks, roomy and comfortable, runs great, 110K. $4500 or reasonable offer. (785)776-8558.

1988 FORD Mustang LX, 2.5 liter v-4, standard transmission, gray, sunroof, alloy wheels. 565-0849.

1989 HONDA Civic, manual, four-door, grey, wagon, 98K, runs great, air-conditioning needs work, $1800 best offer. 395-5050.

1992 PONTIAC Firebird, rare V6/ five-speed combo, 100,000 highway miles. $5800 or best offer, (785)776-8775 Erik.

510 Automobiles

1995 DODGE Ram 2500 4x4 360 Auto. SLT Laramie. Also car stereo system. 4- JL 10 inch subs, Amps and Mids. 565-9491

1987 DODGE Caravan Sport. 60K, excellent condition, power everything. Must sell. $14,700 or best offer. (785)762-2429. Leave message.

EXCELLENT TOWN car with low mileage, low gas, low price and cinch to park. 1994 Geo Metro, automatic transmission only, 37,000 miles $3500, (785)539-1956, evenings.

MUST SEE. 1979 Ford Granada, mint condition, 33,000 original miles, runs great (used to be Grandmas) $1700 (785)293-5719.

530 Motorcycles

1981 HONDA CB650, red, good tires, runs great $850 or best offer. Also, 1978 CX500 electerical problems, lots of spare parts, $250. jec6619@ksu.edu or 776-3757, ask for Jon.

1982 KAWASAKI K21000, $1300. (785)537-8878.

1995 KAWASAKI ZX6R Ninja. Carbon fiber, micron slipon, never wrecked. 6,600 miles. 539-8521

2000 HARLEY Davidson, FXDWG, purple, 250 miles, $20,000. (972)396-7035.

600 travel/ trips

630 Spring Break

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas and Florida. Earn cash and go free! Now hiring campus reps. 1-800-234-7007
endlesssummertours.com

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best SPRING BREAK PRICES! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Mardigras. Reps needed... Travel free, earn $$$. GROUP DISCOUNTS FOR SIX+. (800)838-8203/ www.leisuretours.com

GO DIRECT= $avings! #1 Internet-based Spring Break company offering WHOLESALE Spring Break packages (no middlemen)! Zero traveler complaints registered against us last year! ALL destinations. Lowest price guarantee! 1-800-367-1252
www.springbreakdirect.com

SPRING BREAK 2001! CANCUN & BAHAMAS. EAT, DRINK, TRAVEL FOR FREE, WANTED CAMPUS REPS! Call USA SPRING BREAK, toll free (877)460-6077, for trip information and rates. 25 Continuous Years of Student Travel! www.usaspringbreak.com

SPRING BREAK! Deluxe hotels, reliable air, free food, drinks and parties! Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Mazatlan and Florida. Travel Free and Earn Cash! Do it on the Web! Go to StudentCity.com or call (800)293-1443 for info.

SPRING BREAK!!! Cancun, Mazatlan, Bahamas, Jamaica & Florida. Call Sunbreak Student Vacations for info on going free and earning cash. Call 1(800)446-8355 or email sales@sunbreaks.com

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Cancun, Bahamas, Florida, Jamaica & Mazatlan. Call Sun Coast Vacationers for a free brochure and ask how you can organize a small group and Eat, Drink, Travel Free and Earn Cash! Call (888)777-4642 or email sales@suncoastvacations.com

WINTER BREAK/ SPRING BREAK. Ski and beach trips on sale now! www.sunchase.com or call 1-800-SUNCHASE today!

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less
$7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less
$8.40
each word over 20
$.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less
$9.85
each word over 20
$.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less
$10.90
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less
$11.90
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

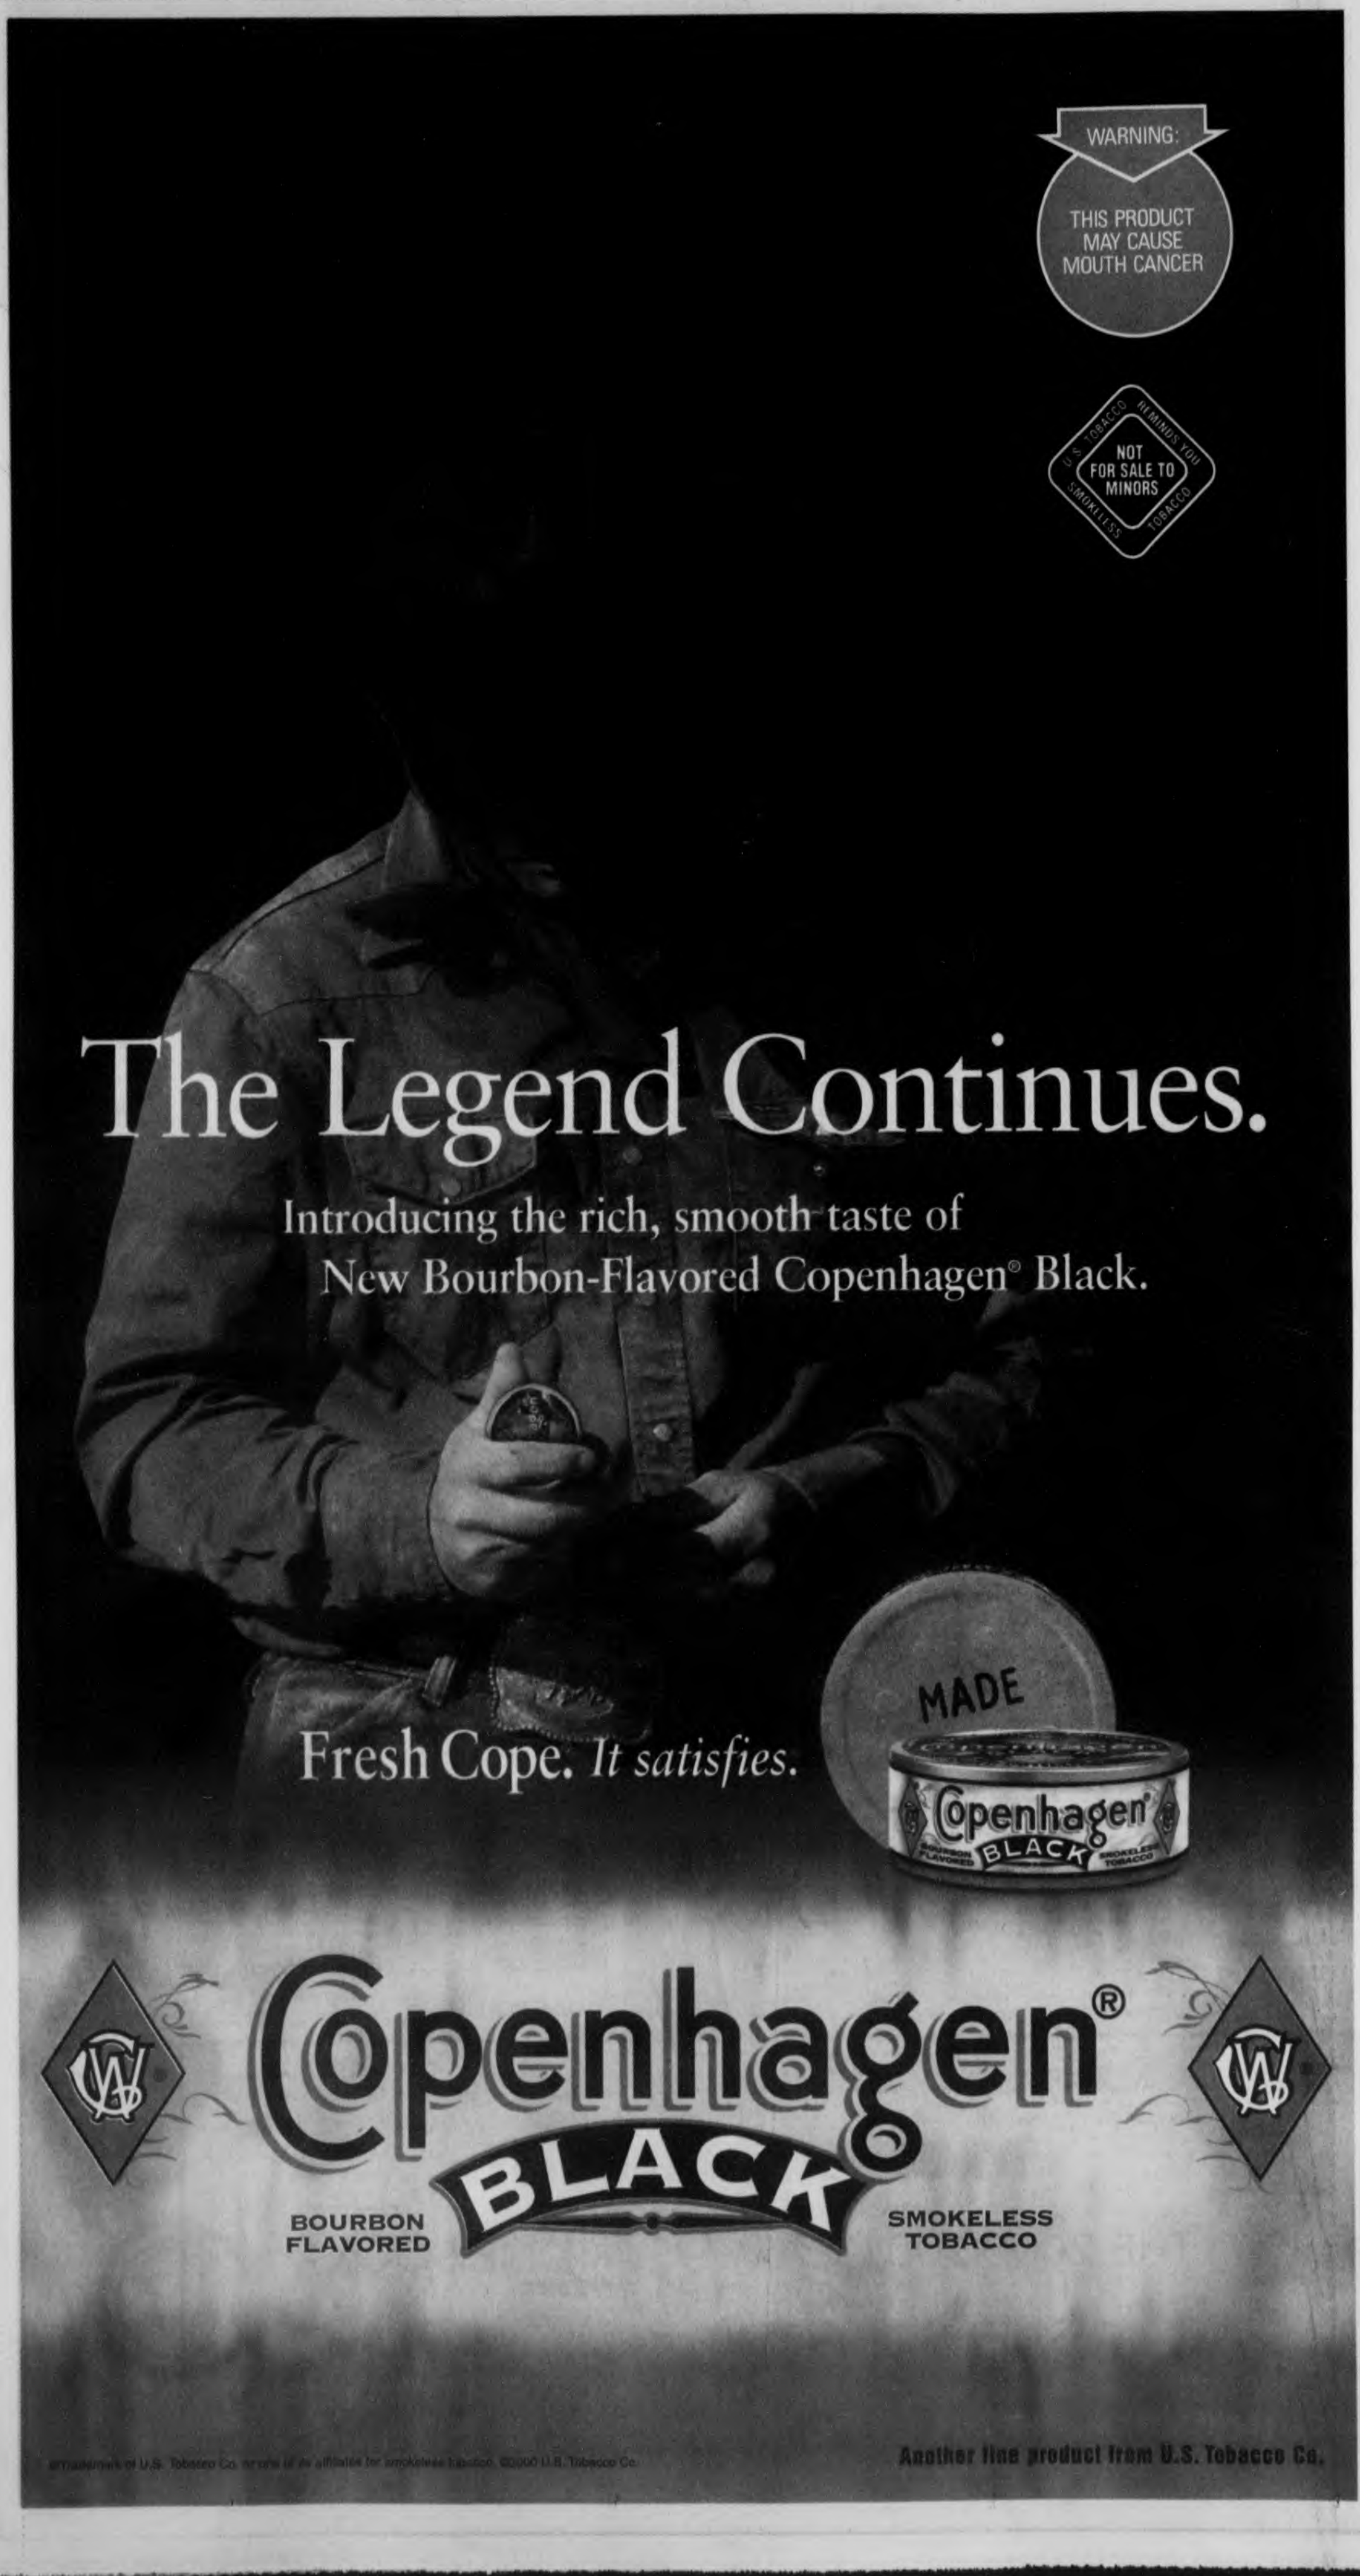
CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 bulletin board
100 housing/ real estate
200 service directory
300 employment/ opportunities
400 open market
500 transportation
600 travel/ trips

Kansas State University

STOP SURFING!!!



DO YOUR SEARCHING IN

THE 2000-2001 CAMPUS PHONE BOOK

with email

GET YOUR COPY NOW

AVAILABLE IN KEDZIE 103 THROUGH OUT THE YEAR

WARNING:
THIS PRODUCT MAY CAUSE MOUTH CANCER
U.S. TOBACCO REMINDS YOU
NOT FOR SALE TO MINORS
SMOKELESS TOBACCO
The Legend Continues.
Introducing the rich, smooth taste of
New Bourbon-Flavored Copenhagen® Black.
Fresh Cope. It satisfies.
MADE
Copenhagen
BLACK
Copenhagen®
BLACK
BOURBON FLAVORED
SMOKELESS TOBACCO
Another fine product from U.S. Tobacco Co.

TODAY'S WEATHER
HIGH 86 ■ LOW 62
FRIDAY

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

...N.COM

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sept. 29, 2000 ■ Kansas State University ■ Manhattan, Kan. ■ Volume 105, Number 29

Beisel leads by example

■ page 6

Cats gear up for high-altitude challenge

FILE PHOTO BY STEVEN DEARINGER/COLLEGIAN

Colorado wide receiver Javon Green runs away from K-State defensive end Darren Howard for a 70-yard touchdown pass during the Nov. 6, 1999, game at KSU Stadium.

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

K-State will endure a whole new football atmosphere Saturday.

Despite Folsom Field's lofty elevation of 5,345 feet above sea level, the crowd of gold and black is expected to provide the biggest environmental change for the 2000 Wildcats.

"Being in an element where the crowd is favoring the other team presents an obvious problem because of crowd noise," head coach Bill Snyder said. "It all depends on how young people want to deal with it. If the game is kept between the white lines, as we say, then I think it shouldn't impact you."

However, whether Snyder's players allow the crowd to have an effect on them will remain to be seen until Saturday, when No. 5 K-State (4-0) meets Colorado (0-3). Yet, several of the upperclassmen for the Wildcats know exactly what to expect.

Senior linebacker Jason Kazar said he remembers the feeling of playing in front of 51,655 in Boulder.

"The thing I remember about being in Colorado is that the crowd is like 2 feet away from me," Kazar said. "They're right there breathing down your neck. You can't let it affect you, but at the same time, you notice them because they're right there. It's a real hostile crowd, and they're real loud."

Although the noise level presents an obstacle for the Cats, Snyder said the atmospheric change in elevation won't pose difficulty for the squad, as he learned from his experience in 1990.

Ten years ago, when Snyder and K-State traveled to Boulder for a Nov. 17 showdown with the Buffaloes, the Cat coach took precautionary measures in transporting oxygen tanks and other equipment to the game. However, those items won't be needed for Saturday's contest.

"I threw all the oxygen tanks away," Snyder said. "The physiological information indicates that you're going to have to be there a longer period of time before the oxygen debt really can take hold in that altitude.

"So, there is no physiological evidence that there is an issue or a problem. It has never been an issue for us up there, and I don't think it's an issue for anybody else."

That said, Snyder is focusing on other

See FOOTBALL on PAGE 10

MORE INFO

No. 5 K-State (4-0) vs. Colorado (0-3)
Where: Folsom Field in Boulder, Colo.
When: Saturday
Time: 1:30 MDT (2:30 CDT)
TV: ABC
Radio: Wildcat Sports Network, WIBW-AM 580

See Page 6 for more football coverage.

FDA OKs abortion pill for U.S. use

■ Proponents of French pill RU-486 win 12-year battle to make method available.

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Food and Drug Administration on Thursday approved U.S. use of the abortion pill RU-486, a major victory for those who battled for 12 years to bring the early-abortion method to this country.

Proponents say the pill, which has been used by millions of women in 13 countries, could transform abortion in the United States by making it more accessible and more private. But it can be used only in the earliest days of pregnancy.

It could be available to doctors within a month.

"For those who choose to have an early termination of their pregnancy, this is a reasonable medical alternative," said FDA Commissioner Jane Henney.

Anti-abortion organizations have fought to keep RU-486 out of the United

See RU-486 on PAGE 10

Senate votes for additional student seats

By BRYAN SCRIBNER
Kansas State Collegian

A bill passed at Thursday night's Student Senate meeting guaranteed an extra 2,000 student seats at home football games.

The request was written as an amendment to the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' privilege fee continuance bill, which was passed at the meeting.

Privilege Fee Chair Ryan Walker said students already purchase about 9,500 tickets each year. He said the amendment assured that these tickets would be available. The athletic department previously guaranteed 7,500 seats.

Students will receive tickets at the discount rate of $100. Public tickets cost $228. The fee also guarantees 5,908 men's basketball seats at the student rate of $71.

Sports supported by the fee include all non-revenue sports. The $405,695 fee is for the fiscal years of 2001-2004. It assesses $11.54 each semester for full-time students.

Privilege fees fund all student services. Students enrolled in at least 12 hours were charged $257 this semester.

See SENATE on PAGE 8

DREAMY DAY

Donna Ekart, 1996 K-State alumna, and Larry Bowers, 1999 K-State alumnus, nap at Pillsbury Crossing on Thursday evening. "It's beautiful napping weather," Bowers said. Temperatures have been low overnight, but have been reaching the 70s or so during the day.

KAREN MIKOLS/ Collegian

Student volunteer work at hospice helps graduate work with terminal patients

By JESSICA PITTS
Kansas State Collegian

Sheryl Stemmons made a career out of volunteering.

Stemmons, a recent K-State graduate, decided to become a social worker after her experience as a hospice volunteer while a student at K-State.

"I came into the field of social work because I wanted to work with children or the elderly," said Stemmons, a licensed social worker for Stoneybrook Retirement Community. "I started volunteering with home care and then I decided to try hospice."

Stemmons said home care deals with people who need help while they are recovering from an illness, and hospice is offering support to people who are terminally ill.

"There is a great difference between the two," she said. "With a hospice client, I am there until the end, and I know they are not going to get better. It can be hard at times emotionally."

However, Stemmons also said she thinks there is a rewarding side to the time she spends volunteering.

"Most clients want to give back to me," she said. "It is a learning experience to know what it is like to experience dying. You are there as they go through the process of separating from the rest of the world."

Hospice volunteers also are responsible for helping the family through the process.

"Hospice allows for the families to be more relaxed during this hard time," Stemmons said. "My first client was at home, so I would go and sit with her so the family could leave for a little bit. When they returned, they were refreshed and able to deal with her illness a little better. That was rewarding to me to know I had made a difference."

To become a hospice volunteer, Stemmons had to complete a 12-hour training session.

"All volunteers complete the training before they are assigned a client," said Christy Ladd, volunteer coordinator for home care and hospice.

Once assigned a team, volunteers rotate responsibilities with one client.

"They usually go one at a time for anywhere between one to three hours a week. They help the nurses and they just simply are there for the client and his family," Ladd said. "Most students find it very rewarding because it corresponds with the field they are going into. It gives them practical experience."

Judine Mecseri, social services coordinator for hospice and home care, said volunteering for hospice can be beneficial for students.

"It gives them a perspective on the field they are going into," Mecseri said. "It gives them practical insight on family services and some of the ethics involved in cases like the ones the work with. Being a volunteer helps them gain experience they can take with them into their professional career."

That experience is what helped Stemmons choose her career.

"I really enjoyed hospice, but I knew I couldn't do it 40 hours a week," Stemmons said. "So, I decided to work at a retirement community because I am still dealing with hospice, but not permanently. Hospice made a big impact on me, and I want to continue that experience. This job lets me do that because there are several different sides to working with the elderly."

She also said volunteering helped broaden her perspective on dying.

"I think that one of the huge misconceptions about hospice is that we make people die faster, when really we are helping them prepare for death," she said. " This is a much more peaceful way of dying. It helps us realize that death is a natural process and nothing to be scared of."

Sheryl Stemmons, a recent K-State graduate, decided to go into the field of social work after her experience as a hospice volunteer.

JUSTIN HAYWORTH/ Collegian

K-State to be site of architectural engineering meet

By MAGGIE BLUNK
Kansas State Collegian

K-State's student chapter of the Architectural Engineering Institute will be host to the organization's national conference this weekend at the K-State Student Union and the Ramada Plaza Hotel.

The program is among the 15 accredited programs in the United States and will involve more than 155 architecture engineering students from across the nation and practicing professionals from the industry.

Dave Fritchen, head of the Department of Architectural Engineering and Construction Science, said it is an opportunity for students and professionals to interact.

"It gets students in touch with the industry," he said. "It also allows students the opportunity to talk with students from other chapters and learn about their programs."

The yearly conference took place in Boulder, Colo., last year. Allison Pacheco, faculty adviser of AEI and assistant professor, said the students who attended began planning for a conference at K-State on the drive home.

"The students preparing the conference have been phenomenal," she said. "They have done all the work."

Technical sessions, technical design tours, a product show with manufacturer representatives and interaction with professionals will all be part of the four-

See ARCHITECTURE on PAGE 8

CONTACT US

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
532-0729 rdunn@collegianmail.com

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
532-0729 tehmke@collegianmail.com

Steve Dearinger Photo Editor
532-5492 sdearinger@collegianmail.com

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
532-0730 jbarrett@collegianmail.com

Sarah Bahari City & Government Editor
532-0730 sbahari@collegianmail.com

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
532-0732 kdymacek@collegianmail.com

Derek Boss Sports Editor
532-0732 dbossu@collegianmail.com

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
532-0732 eschneweis@collegianmail.com

Ken Wells Online Editor
532-6556 kwells@collegianmail.com

Becky Wilson Copy Chief
532-0732 bwilson@collegianmail.com

Sara Martin Design Editor
532-0731 smartin@collegianmail.com

Jim Calvert Ad Manager
532-6560 jimcalvert@collegianmail.com

Alissa Duncan Assistant Ad Manager
532-6560 aduncan@collegianmail.com

Molly Brammer Online Ad Manager
532-6560 molly@collegianmail.com

BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Display advertising	532-6560
Classified advertising	532-6555
Delivery Problems	532-6555
Photo Reprints	532-6304

BY MAIL
Kansas State Collegian
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

ON THE WEB
www.kstatecollegian.com

The Kansas State Collegian
(USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 2000

Chase vehicle fire causes $1,000 worth of damage

A 1979 Chevrolet pick-up caught fire in the parking lot of Chase Manhattan Apartments on Thursday afternoon.

Battalion Chief Jerry Snyder said Manhattan firefighters responded to a call at 1:25 p.m. He said the fire, caused by an undetermined short circuit in the dash unit, resulted in $1,000 in damages to the vehicle.

"The fire was contained to the interior of the vehicle," he said.

The owner of the truck, Chris Jones, junior in mechanical engineering, was studying at a friend's apartment at the time of the fire. Jones was notified of the fire by the sounds of the firetruck alarms.

"I just heard the firetrucks pull in," he said. "I looked out the balcony, and saw my truck was on fire."

— Reed Dunn

Menninger clinic to move from Topeka to Texas site

TOPEKA — Menninger, a world-renowned psychiatric clinic that has struggled financially, is moving to Texas despite a package of nearly $100 million designed to keep it in Kansas.

Dr. Walter Menninger, the clinic's chief executive officer and president, made the announcement Wednesday to hundreds of employees after a lengthy meeting of the Menninger board of trustees.

Walter Menninger told the employees the clinic will become a partner with the Baylor College of Medicine in Houston and Methodist Health Care System.

At a news conference Wednesday, he said the three organizations will establish a national psychiatric center and a brain and behavior research institute.

The groups have signed letters of intent to move forward with the alliance, and a final agreement should be reached by February, he said.

The president and CEO also said Menninger and Baylor had committed to raise at least $200 million in endowment funds.

"We know that this alliance will allow Menninger to continue growing," he said.

Gov. Bill Graves had proposed a package of incentives worth nearly $100 million to keep Menninger in Kansas, with most of the money coming from private sources.

Walter Menninger's announcement ended months of speculation about its plans to leave Topeka and where it would relocate. Walter Menninger said the clinic started considering a move last year.

The decision was in response to financial problems that have beset Menninger for at least a decade, in part because of an increased use of drugs instead of therapy to treat mental illnesses.

Walter Menninger told employees that if the clinic didn't move from Topeka, it would be out of business within six to eight years.

"We don't intend for Menninger to be one of the casualties in the shakeout of health care," he said. "I'm certain that many people feel frustrated about this, but it is our reality."

He also said the 1,162 staffers in Topeka will be offered incentives to stay with the clinic, but some jobs will be eliminated.

— The Associated Press

Clinton calls for lifting of Yugolavian sanctions

WASHINGTON, D.C. — President Clinton called Thursday for lifting economic sanctions against Yugoslavia once a democratically elected government is installed in Belgrade.

Before having lunch with Prime Minister Wim Kok of the Netherlands, Clinton said all NATO nations should consider removing the sanctions if Yugoslav President Slobodan Milosevic is removed from power.

"I think we should all say, in unequivocal terms, as soon as there is democratic government there, the sanctions should be lifted," he said.

Milosevic on Thursday refused to recognize Kostunica's apparent victory in Sunday's elections, saying he would move ahead with plans for an Oct. 8 runoff. The State Election Commission said Kostunica earned 48.96 percent of the vote to 38.62 percent for Milosevic, but opposition poll watchers said Kostunica won 52.54 percent of the vote, compared to 32.01 percent for Milosevic.

Clinton said he is more inclined to believe the opposition's results, since the election commission met in secret and has not documented its results.

"Even they certified 4 to 38 percent," Clinton said. "I thought the case the opposition made based on their actual numbers, poll place to poll place, was pretty persuasive."

Kok agreed with Clinton's assessment of the vote, and said he also believes the sanctions should be removed.

"That double message should be very clear," Kok said. "The people said, 'We want to get rid of Milosevic.' And we say as soon as there will be a new leadership, the sanctions will be over."

Richard Holbrooke, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said the United States would move to lift the sanctions and restore Yugoslavia's rights as a U.N. member state if Kostunica takes office.

Russia has declined to join Western governments in calling on Milosevic to step down.

— The Associated Press

CORRECTIONS & CLARIFICATIONS

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Jenn Davoren at 532-6556 or e-mail collegn@ksu.edu.

ON RECORD

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ KSU Aikido will meet at 7 tonight in Ahearn 301.

■ For those interested in becoming a member of ChimpanZoo, a meeting will take place at 7 p.m. Sunday at the Sunset Zoological Park Education building.

■ Lutheran Campus Ministry -- ELCA will meet at 7 p.m. Sunday in Danforth Chapel.

■ The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Monte Selby, "Ethical School Leadership: Transforming Perspectives on Policy and Political Influence," at 1 p.m. Monday in Bluemont 341.

■ Apostolic Campus Ministry will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in Union 204.

■ Beta Alpha Psi will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in the Union Big 12 Room.

■ Christian Science Organization will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in Danforth Chapel.

■ The K-State Community Service Program is accepting applications for the America Reads*America Counts Tutoring Program. Applicants must have work-study. Tutors work one-on-one with area elementary students in reading and math. For more information, contact Angie at 532-5701 or e-mail ksuserve@ksu.edu.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Riley County

Wednesday, Sept. 27

■ At 8:44 a.m., Martye Madaboota Madkins, 405 N. 6th St., was arrested for criminal damage to property.

■ At 3:04 p.m., Ashley P. Conchola, 4440 Tuttle Creek Blvd., was arrested for possession of a controlled substance.

■ At 8:11 p.m., Desie M. Chatfield, 1116 Yuma St., Apt. B, was arrested for failure to appear, illegal tags and no insurance. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 11:02 p.m., Lindsey Matthews, 1420 Hartman Place, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 11:02 p.m., Christine Cammack, 2501 Candlecrest, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 11:22 p.m., Amanda McLeish, 517 Fairchild Terrace, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

Thursday, Sept. 28

■ At 12:09 a.m., Ryan L. Waller, Fort Riley, was issued a notice to appear for unlawful use of an ID.

■ At 12:21 a.m., Alicia Musquiz, Moore 603, was issued a notice to appear for unlawful use of an ID.

■ At 2:15 a.m., Patrick C. Morere, Topeka, was arrested for possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of a controlled substance.

■ At 4:17 a.m., Jai Vaughn Terrell Mathews, 1009 Colorado St., was arrested for probation violation.

K-State Police

■ No reports of note were made.

start early . . . drink late . . .
COME WATCH CATS PLAY
Guess the Score and Win Prizes
Home of KSU Wildcat Tea $3
SATURDAY!
Doors open at 11 a.m.
DON'T FORGET SUNDAY
$1.00 Everything
Premiums, shots, bottles, etc.
TULA'S OUT OF BOUNDS
OUT OF BOUNDS SPORTS BAR & GRILL
12TH & LARAMIE • 537-4045

Be SEEN where it counts
The Royal Purple yearbook and Thornton Studio are coming to you for FREE portrait pictures.
TODAY
Friday, Sept. 29
Ford Hall
9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
MONDAY
Oct. 2
Haymaker Hall
9 a.m - 5 p.m.
Moore Hall
6:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.
and in the K-State Student Union Courtyard
9 a.m. - 5 p.m. every day.
Order your yearbook for $29.95.
royalpurple.ksu.edu
2001 Royal Purple YEARBOOK

RETIREMENT INSURANCE MUTUAL FUNDS TRUST SERVICES TUITION FINANCING
TIAA-CREF provides financial solutions to last a lifetime.
Call us for a free consultation
Building your assets is one thing. Figuring out how those assets can provide you with a comfortable retirement is quite another.
At TIAA-CREF, we can help you with both. You can count on us not only while you're saving and planning for retirement, but in retirement, too.
Just call us. We'll show you how our flexible range of payout options can meet your retirement goals.
With TIAA-CREF, you benefit from something few other companies can offer: a total commitment to your financial well-being, today and tomorrow.
*Note: Availability may depend on your employer's retirement plan provisions contract. Under federal tax law, withdrawals prior to age 59½ may be subject to restrictions, and may also be subject to a 10% additional tax. Additional restrictions also apply to the TIAA Traditional Annuity.
With TIAA-CREF, you can receive:*
• Cash withdrawals
• Systematic or fixed-period payments
• Interest-only payments
• Lifetime income payments
• A combination of these
Guaranteed by our claims-paying ability.
CREF GROWTH ACCOUNT1
26.70% (1 YEAR AS OF 6/30/00) | 27.87% (5 YEARS 6/30/00) | 26.60% (SINCE INCEPTION 4/29/94)
CREF Growth is one of many CREF variable annuities.
TIAA CREF Ensuring the future for those who shape it.™
1.800.842.2776
www.tiaa-cref.org
For more complete information on our securities products, please call 1.800.842.2733, ext. 5509, to request prospectuses. Read them carefully before you invest. 1. Due to current market volatility, our securities products' performance today may be less than shown above. The investment results shown for CREF Growth variable annuity reflects past performance and are not indicative of future rates of return. These returns and the value of the principal you have invested will fluctuate, so the shares you own may be more or less than their original price upon redemption. • TIAA-CREF Individual and Institutional Services, Inc. distributes the CREF and TIAA Real Estate variable annuities. • Teachers Personal Investors Services, Inc. distributes the Personal Annuities variable annuity component, mutual funds and tuition savings agreements. • TIAA and TIAA-CREF Life Insurance Co., New York, NY, issue insurance and annuities. • TIAA-CREF Trust Company, FSB provides trust services. • Investment products are not FDIC insured, may lose value and are not bank guaranteed. © 2000 TIAA-CREF 08/03

DUI penalties include jail time, fines

By SHAWN HEIN
Kansas State Collegian

Mike Faust learned the consequences of drinking and driving the hard way.

Faust, junior in business, spent 48 hours in jail this month after being arrested June 3 for driving under the influence of alcohol.

Two days before his 20th birthday, Faust was stopped by police on his way home from Silverado Saloon. He was issued a DUI after registering a .10 blood-alcohol level. Despite the jail time and $500 fine, he said he was not disappointed with the decision.

"I actually thought they went kind of easy on me," Faust said. "I've heard that fines were higher in other towns."

Faust chose the 48-hour jail sentence, the maximum charge for a first DUI, instead of 100 hours of community service. Faust said he chose jail time to get it done.

The jail time was an experience he hopes to forget, he said.

"They didn't let me read or study at all," Faust said. "I just slept and watched TV. I had to share a room with nine guys."

Faust also has an evaluation ordered from the Riley County Police Department which he expects Oct. 5.

Kansas DUI laws

First conviction on a DUI can result in:
- jail sentence between 48 consecutive hours and six months or 100 hours of community service.
- fine between $200-$500.
- enroll and complete alcohol and safety action education program.
- 30-day suspension of driver's license, then restricted for one year.
- diversion agreement can be reached.

Second conviction can result in:
- jail sentence between 90 days and one year.
- fine between $500 and $1,000.
- suspension of driver's license for one year.

Source: 1999 Standard Traffic Ordinance for Kansas Cities

Faust, whose driver's license is suspended for one year, said he will have to get rides from friends to school and work. Due to the trouble the DUI has caused him, Faust said he has taken a valuable lesson from his experience.

"I wouldn't drink and drive again — definitely not," Faust said. "It's made my friends more careful, too, just cause they don't want to get into trouble too."

Kelly Schnepp, graduate student in student counseling/personal services, said these type of programs are effective on students.

"A majority of people are like 'Hey, that was dumb,'" Schnepp said. "I'd say eight out of 10 don't have a reoccurring problem."

Schnepp said the program is in place to observe and find out certain patterns of behavior. Being on time to meetings and active participation are requirements for the program.

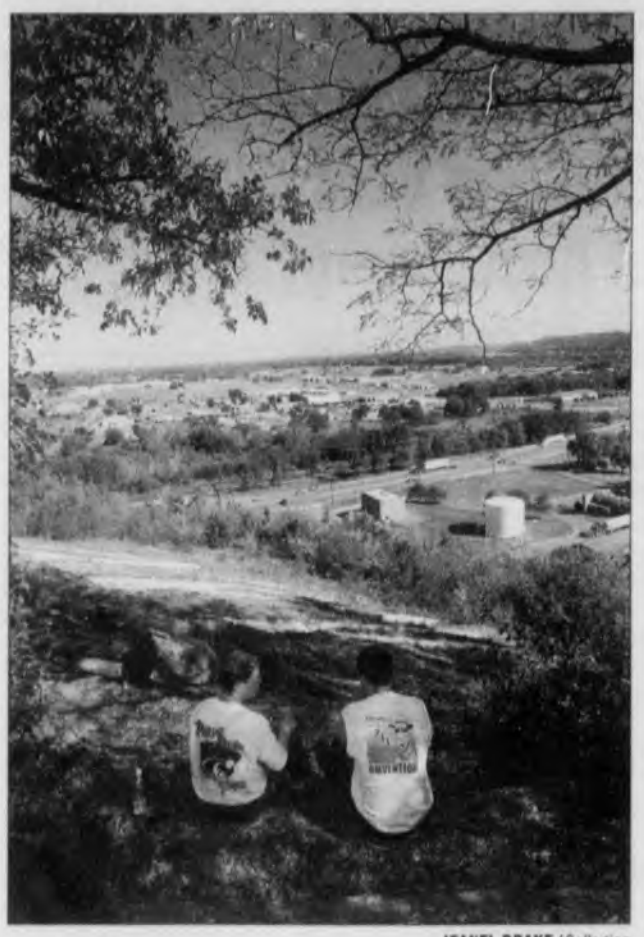
According to the RCPD, more than 70 DUIs and 30 minor in possessions have been issued between Aug. 18 and this week. Despite the large number of offenses, RCPD Lt. Buddy Mays said the numbers are easily explainable.

"I would suspect the number of alcohol-related arrests among college students is more due to sheer numbers," Mays said. "Also people that consume alcohol don't expect to get caught."

Mays said due to going back to school and the excitement of football games, drinking and partying in Aggieville increase during the fall.

While there is always a risk when large groups of people are around alcohol, Mays said there are smarter ways to party.

"Do what Fort Riley does, which seems to be working with them. They have a designated driver," he said.



Mays also said he advises not to take a car when it's not necessary.

"If you live in Aggieville, don't drive. Just walk," he said. "Also go with friends and don't have somebody else drive whose been drinking."

Alcohol-related arrests have increased nationwide. According to ABCnews.com, alcohol-related arrests increased by 24.3 percent in 1998, the largest jump in seven years. The increase was attributed to a combination of more heavy drinking among college students, better reporting of incidents as well as tougher enforcement.

Binge drinking also has increased, according to a survey by the Harvard School of Public Health. The survey showed 22.7 percent of college students reported themselves as being frequent binge drinkers. That number was up from 20.7 in 1997 and 19.8 in 1993. The survey, also on ABCnews.com, included 14,000 students from 119 colleges.

The article defined a binge drinker as a man who had at least five drinks in a row three or more times in the previous two weeks to the survey. A woman binge drinker had to have had four drinks in a row three or more times in the same amount of time.

JEANEL DRAKE/Collegian

SCENIC VIEW

FarmHouse fraternity members Todd Thompson (left), junior in philosophy, and Mark Dilts, freshman in milling science, sit atop Manhattan hill Thursday afternoon talking.

Students can reduce energy loss, reduce cost of electricity

By NANCY FOSTER
Kansas State Collegian

Patsy Brunk said she and her roommates will be putting plastic around their windows this winter.

"It helps hold in the heat and keep out the cold," she said.

Brunk, junior in apparel and textile marketing, is just one of many students finding a way to keep down their electric bills this winter.

"Everyone has always told me that's the way to do it," she said.

Gene Meyer, extension mechanical engineer, said there are several steps students can take to help ease the price of their energy bill. One easy way, he said, is to keep the thermostat set between 60 and 65 degrees.

"When gone, turn the temperature down to about 60 degrees, and you'll see a 12- to 15- percent saving," he said.

At night when residents go to bed or during the day when students are at class are two optimal times to turn down the thermostat, Meyer said.

Students have several inexpensive options of making their apartment or house more energy conservative. Tips he suggested included purchasing inexpensive storm windows, or even placing plastic around them to help insulate.

"That tends to be a real inexpensive approach that can have a big effect," Meyer said.

Reducing the use of hot water can be of help, also, Meyer said.

"Hot water uses about 25 percent of natural gas during a year," he said.

Taking short showers and lowering the water heater temperature both reduce hot water use, he said.

"Your water-heater temperature should be at no more than about 120 degrees," said Richard Nelson, energy and environmental engineer.

Choosing to use low-flow shower heads and faucets will decrease one's bill, he said, because the less water one uses, the less heat one uses.

"You use a lot less water, and you don't really feel that much of a difference in the flow," he said.

Insulating one's water heater with a blanket also will help conserve energy, Nelson said.

Drafts of air entering the living establishment should be fixed somehow, Meyer said.

"A rolled-up rug against the door can help," Meyer said. "The key is to try to be aware of the air leaks they have, to be innovative and to find low-cost ways of fixing it."

Weather stripping and caulking around doors and windows are easy solutions to draft problems, Nelson said.

"They will help keep the majority of cold out," he said.

Meyer said the reason many students experience higher energy bills during the colder months is because they continue to set the room temperature higher.

"They come in and crank it up cause they are cold instead of staying bundled up," he said.

Keeping on some of the layers — the sweatshirt and socks — will keep students warm without having to set the thermostat higher.

During daylight hours, students should raise the blinds or curtains on the apartment or house's south side. The sunlight will help heat the room.

"Take advantage of the sunlight, and then close them at night," he said.

RELIGION DIRECTORY

Blue Valley Memorial UMC
835 Church St.
539-8790 or 539-7015
Contem. service: Sat. 5:30 p.m.

Word of Faith Family Church
Meeting at Ramada Plaza Hotel
(17th & Anderson)
Sunday, 10:30 a.m.
Pastor Mike Aldrich 539-7902

First Baptist Church
Sunday Worship 11 a.m.
Church School 9:45 a.m.
For free transportation within city limits, call the church.
Pastors Karen & Alan Selig
2121 Blue Hills Rd.
539-8691
An American Baptist Congregation

First Presbyterian Church
801 Leavenworth St. • 537-0518
Sunday Schedule
Contemporary Worship at 9:15 a.m.
Sunday School for all ages at 9:15 a.m.
Traditional Worship at 10:30 a.m.

LIVING WORD CHURCH
DYNAMIC PRAISE & WORSHIP
POWERFUL MINISTRY OF THE WORD
Sunday Worship 10 a.m.
Sunday School 9 a.m.
Wednesday 7 p.m.
For Information Call 776-0940
Church Located 1 Mi. S. on Hwy. 177
(Offices: 2711 Amherst • Sun. Call 776-0980)

ECM Christian Explorers
Food, Fun & Fellowship
Sunday 5:30–7:30 p.m.
Meditation Class
Wednesday 7 a.m.
Bible Study
Wednesday 9 p.m.
1021 Denison Ave.
539-4281 or email at ecm@ksu.edu

Manhattan Mennonite Church
Sunday School 9:30 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m.
Richard & Barbara Gehring, Co-Pastors
10th and Fremont 539-4079
Welcome Students and Staff!

FIRST LUTHERAN
10th Poyntz 537-8532
Worship
Sat. 5:30 p.m., Sun. 8:30 & 11 a.m.
Sunday School all ages 9:40 a.m.

Unitarian-Universalist Fellowship of Manhattan
481 Zeandale Road. (South on K-177 across viaduct, left on K-18 1/2 mile)
Programs each Sunday at 10:45 a.m. Religious education classes for youth.
Day care for toddlers.
The Rev. David Grimm
For information call (785) 537-2349
www.flinthills.com/~unfellow/

You're Invited To CALVARY CHAPEL
A Casual Contemporary
Verse-By-Verse Bible Study
Thursdays @ 7:00 p.m.
2700 Brittany Terrace #10
"The Georgetown Apts."
(785) 539-3667
ccofmanhattan@aol.com
Come Just As You Are

St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center
MASS SCHEDULE
Tuesday-Thursday 10:00 p.m.
Friday 12:10 p.m.
Saturday 5 p.m.
Sunday 9:30 a.m., 11 a.m.
Sun. 4:30 p.m., 6 p.m.
Father Keith Weber, Chaplain
711 Denison 539-7496

ST. MARY MAGDALENE ORTHODOX CHRISTIAN MISSION
ECM Bldg, 1021 Denison, 2 South.
539-3440
Services: Divine Liturgy 9:30 AM First and Third Saturdays Monthly in the ECM Nave
Visit the K-State OCF webpage at www.ksu.edu/orthodox

Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church
Missouri Synod
776-2227
9 a.m. Sunday School & Bible Class
10:30 a.m.
Divine Worship
KSU - DANFORTH CHAPEL
christluth.@networksplus.net

Lutheran Campus Ministry
at Luther House 1745 Anderson
Sunday Evening Worship
7:15 p.m. at Danforth Chapel
www.ksu.edu/lcm-elca
Pastor Jayne Thompson (pastorj@ksu.edu) 539-4451
— Open to All —

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY CHURCH
Contemporary PRAISE & WORSHIP
8:15 & 9:30 & 11:00 AM
CHILDREN'S CHURCH offered at 1st & 3rd services
College & Young Married Bible Studies at 9:30 a.m. and 11:00 a.m.
* Youth Ministries Opportunities
* College/Career Class * Handicap Accessible
Senior Pastor: David Thompson
3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. Manhattan....537-7173
Youth Ministries.....537-7136
web site: www.westviewcommunity.com
Come as you are!

St. Luke's Lutheran Church
Saturday
6 p.m. Traditional Service
Sunday
8:30 a.m. Traditional Service
9:30 a.m. Fellowship
9:45 a.m. Sunday School & Bible Study
11:00 a.m. Contemporary Service
Campus Missionary -Pastor Eric Wood
http://www.flinthills.com/~stlukes
330 Sunset Ave. 539-2604

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH (DISCIPLES OF CHRIST)
Sunday
8:30 a.m. - Early Service
9:45 a.m. - Sunday School
10:55 a.m. - Late Service
11:30 a.m. - Live Broadcast Angel 95.3 FM
5th & Humboldt
776-8790

First Congregational Church
700 Poyntz (Poyntz and Juliette) 537-7006
Sunday School and Adult Ed. Class at 9:30 a.m.
Worship at 10:45 a.m.
Thurs. 7 p.m. Taizé Worship
Sunday Message
Who is on the Lord,s side?
Eldon Epp

ST. FRANCIS CANTERBURY
THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH AT KANSAS STATE
SUNDAY WORSHIP
5:00 PM
ST. FRANCIS CHAPEL
1823 LARAMIE
"Love the Lord your God with all your heart, soul, mind, and strength. And love your neighbor as yourself."
REV. CATHY BASCOM 532-9099

Agape Family Church
An Affiliate of RHEMA Bible Church
aka Kenneth Hagin Ministries
SUNDAY
Sunday Broadcast 9:05 a.m. on 95.3 FM
School of the Bible 9:30 a.m.
Worship Service 10:30 a.m.
Evening Fellowships 7:00 p.m.
Wednesday Service 7:30 p.m.
Everyone is welcome to come and be part of our family
STERLING HUDGINS-PASTOR
(formerly Living Water Ranch Church)
116 S. 4th, Downtown Manhattan
(785) 539-3570

Union Soul Cafe
An evening filled with jazz, conversation and coffee. Relax in the Union Station from 8-11 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 4

Peace Lutheran Church
2500 Kimball
539-7371
Worship:
Sundays 8:30 & 11 a.m.
Christian Education:
all ages- 9:45
www.flinthills.com/~peace/
Email: peace@flinthills.com
Rev. Tichard Hermstad, pastor
With Christ... Gather, Grow and Go Forth

Grace Baptist Church
2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child
◆ Sunday ◆
Morning Worship
8:15 & 10:45 a.m.
Bible Classes For All Ages 9:30 a.m.
Evening Service or Care Cells 6 p.m.
776-0424

CATS for CHRIST
MATT CARTER
Campus Minister
(785) 539-6138
E-mail:
catsforchrist@manhattankschurch.org
or visit us on the web for other activities
www.ksu.edu/cfc
Sunday
Class 9:30-10:30 a.m.
Worship 10:30-11:45 a.m.
Evening Devotional 6-7 p.m.
Student Dinner following
Church of Christ
2510 Dickens Avenue

Manhattan Baptist Church
Independent Services
Sunday
10 a.m. Bible Study
11 a.m. Morning Service
6:30 p.m. Evening Service
Wednesday
7 p.m. Evening Service
510 Tuttle Street
776-9069

JOIN THE DIRECTORY. YOUR CHURCH COULD BE HERE.
Call Alissa at 532-6560

You are welcome at . . .
First Assembly of God
Weekly Schedule of Services

Sunday	Wednesday	Thursday
Worship Services 8:30 & 11:00 a.m.	all ministries begin at 7:00	Chi Alpha Christian Fellowship
Kid's Church 8:30 & 11:00 a.m.	Prayer Meeting	7:00 p.m. for College Students
Sunday School 10:00 a.m.	Nueve Vida Ministry (Spanish)	(K-State Union room 212)
Nueve Vida 10:00 a.m.	Youth Group (grades 7-12)
Worship Choir 4:15 p.m.	Royal rangers (Boys Club)
Evening Worship 6:00 p.m.	Missionettes (Girls Club)

Nursery Provided for All Services
Rev. Todd Weston, Pastor
2310 Candlewood Dr. Manhattan, KS
(785) 537-7633 www.manhattanag.org

Efficient uses of heat, energy keep costs low

Students always are looking for ways to save money. They can do this by saving energy.

Here are several ways students can make a difference and conserve energy in the process.

For instance, keeping thermostats set between 60 and 65 degrees during the winter months can lead to energy savings of close to 15 percent.

Other options that should be implemented are things residents who live off campus can add to their house— for instance, purchasing storm windows or placing plastic around regular windows to add to insulation.

Residents should try taking cooler, shorter showers as a method of keeping their bills down. They also could insulate their water heaters with a blanket to help save energy.

Another step is to try to keep drafts from entering houses or apartments by rolling up a rug against a door.

Once you are done reading the Collegian, you can fold it in half and close the window on top of it as method of insulation.

There are so many options individuals can use that might seem foolish, but eventually they will add up. These are methods that not only can help save students money, but also are ways to help save the environment.

If individuals make a conscious effort to change their lifestyle, they will see a series of positive benefits.

▶ OUR VIEW is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
Jenn Davoren News Editor
Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
Sarah Bahari City/Government Editor
Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
Derek Boss Sports Editor
Becky Wilson Copy Chief
Sara Martin Design Editor

Fun with dating

Social scene provides memorable experiences, lessons in romance

my view

ERIN SCHNEWEIS

It all began in the fourth grade.

It was my entrance to dating hell.

It was just a friendly outing.

Technically, it was not a date. Come on, I was in the fourth grade when I went with a young man to see the movie "Twins."

His dad pulled into our driveway as I waited inside. I knew something was wrong — very wrong — when I heard my mom take a deep breath and say, "Oh, my goodness."

The door opened and there he stood in his little suit, with a dead animal fur draped over his neck. I was wearing jeans and a sweater. He looked like he was going to a masquerade and I looked like I was going to the mall.

To make a long story short, I decided he wasn't the one for me and fell for Derek the following day.

Derek was the cool kid who managed to hang on to the small, black comb the portrait people gave us earlier that month. It resided in his back pocket unless he was slicking back his hair. To top it off, he had a rat tail.

I told Mr. Suit/Dead Fur boy there were other fish in the sea.

Mr. Suit/Dead Fur boy wasn't too happy about that and threatened to kill me the next week during recess. He even showed me the rosary he was going to place on my casket. Mr. McVey, the school principal, had to resolve our problem.

In high school, dating wasn't much better. This was especially true when I tried to be sexy and say kiss me in Spanish, and ended up saying "blasphemy" instead. Then there was the prom when one of my fake pink fingernails fell off into my salad at the Country Club. There also was the day the foreign exchange student announced he wanted me to pose for his photography class — doing snow angels ... in my birthday suit.

Yet, even that pales in comparison to when I got to meet some of my dates' parents.

I had the privilege of seeing one guy's dad in his tightie whities, shocking their nine dogs with an electric cattle prod. The sad part was this didn't even faze or embarrass my date at all. I kept expecting his dad to realize that his son had company and that he needed to put some clothes on, but that didn't happen. It was our first and our last date.

KELLIE FARRELL/Collegian

One highlight was having another dad explain to me the benefits of working at Hooters.

It wasn't that big of a shock when we decided to watch a movie one day and found one of his dad's favorite flicks instead. It was a movie that didn't even have the boom-chicka-boom-boom music or a substantial plot involving a handy man "servicing" a customer. The relationship was over before the camera even switched angles.

To this day, I wonder why his dad didn't label his special tapes better. I just hope his nephew never sat down to watch "Bambi" and found himself watching something else.

Dating can be a wondrous and scary thing. With every date you never know what will happen. It can be a success or a nightmare. You might find yourself surrounded by dogs being shocked, or totally fall head over heels in love.

The point is, you have to be willing to give the notion of romance a shot. You never know — the one you might grow to love might be the stranger sitting next to you in class or the cutie next door.

If the date is a disaster, it can make a story that you will never forget, no matter how hard you try.

Erin is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail her at eschneweis@collegianmail.com

CAMPUS fourum 395-4444

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions on topics relevant to the publication.

I think it is a damn shame that the Rec is opened longer than the library.

■

91.9 really needs to work on their programming about 50 percent of the time.

■

How come whenever I beat up parking officers I don't get in the paper?

■

I am so opposed at the design for the Alumni Center Association building. It is absolutely ludicrous, but it is going to happen because the rich speak and the rest of us that care, don't.

■

What do you mean this campus needs diversity? We are the trendiest school in the nation.

■

Beasley for Heisman? Shoot, Beasley for president — give me a break, they played North Texas.

■

Whoever thinks K-State is going to lose to Colorado, move to Boulder.

■

You know we go to a redneck school when the whole back page of our school newspaper is a Copenhagen ad.

■

So we spent $11 million on an alumni center and there is still nowhere to park. Great.

■

I see the anti-alumni center journalism majors are still alive and quacking. If we need more parking what better place than the vacant lot where Kedzie now stands?

■

Alumni building or badly-needed parking? Hmmm, tough decision.

■

Colorado 28, K-State 17 — yeah, right, maybe in equestrian.

Athletes, stars have not earned title of 'hero'

my view

JOSEPH HURLA

My biggest hero stands just over 3 feet tall and weighs 34 pounds.

No, my hero is not an Olympic gymnast.

In fact, I would be very surprised to see my hero competing in any Olympic event anytime in the near future.

After all, he can't lift a shot put, doesn't know how to swim and his best time in the 100-meter dash is just less than one minute.

The only athletic event I've seen my hero compete in is arm-wrestling — and he never has lost. Granted, his wins often are aided by sympathetic opponents, but his perfect record remains intact nonetheless.

In fact, the only way I think my hero is like Olympic athletes is his use of steroids.

Not every Olympic athlete uses steroids, but there has been evidence showing that at least some do. They use it to add extra bulk, cut a few fractions of a second off of their times or give themselves some other added edge.

My hero uses them so he can grow.

My hero is a 5-year-old boy named Jeremy.

Jeremy was prescribed steroids several years ago in an attempt to help him put on a few much-needed pounds. Now tipping the scales well above 30 pounds, the attempt has added only a little weight and now is considered a small victory.

Of course, Jeremy is a small victory.

Jeremy weighed less than 1 1/2 pounds at birth. He was born three months early and had to spend those first three months in a hospital.

The first six weeks of his life were spent in a glass box that prevented everyone — including his parents — from holding him.

After that, he moved up — to an incubator. His family finally could hold him, but he still had another six weeks in the hospital.

Eventually, he was allowed to move home, but his heart and respiration had to be monitored all night.

Today, you never would know that this boy defeated death before he learned to eat solid foods. His glasses are thick and his legs are thin, but few other effects of his struggle linger today.

Jeremy is the reason I become angry when people tell me about the struggles of an athlete or that Tom Cruise is their hero.

The vast majority of athletes never will know struggle. They will train hard, overcome injuries and devote countless hours to improving themselves. An actor might work a ghastly 14-hour day on the set or be forced to endure three long hours of having their makeup applied.

This is not heroic — this is trivial.

Few of these athletes have had to fight every moment of their life in an attempt simply to extend their life. Jeremy was born with underdeveloped organs and every breath was a battle.

Olympic sprinter Michael Johnson had to overcome a pulled hamstring.

I might look up to Johnson because he goes out, day after day, running his heart out to improve his place in the history of sprinting.

But my father, Louis, is a hero. He goes out, day after day, welding for the railroad to feed and clothe his family.

Mel Gibson is a great actor and did great work to create my favorite movie, "Braveheart."

But my mother is not acting when she wakes up at 5:30 every morning to go deliver mail. She isn't acting when she comes home after work to cook for and clean up after her 10 children. There are no movies about her drives to junior high volleyball games, high school debate meets or college open houses.

These things don't make good movies. But they make great mothers. And heroes.

I always have idolized the great pitcher Nolan Ryan. I would love to be able to throw a fastball like him. But if I never am able to throw strikes at 100 miles per hour, I want to follow in the footsteps of these true heroes.

That is not to say that none of my heroes are athletes.

In fact, a great football player recently joined my list of heroes.

He towers above the other players, can outrun or run down nearly anyone else on the field and can launch a pass from one goal line to the other.

But his on-field talents are not what make him my hero. He became my hero on Tuesday. After going to the hospital with strep throat, he was told that he probably was diabetic.

Like most 7-year-olds, Jacob didn't understand all of the implications of such a diagnosis. His mother explained to him that this could mean giving himself an injection each day or, at the least, altering his diet.

Later, as his mother explained the entire situation to Jacob's older brother over the phone, Jacob interrupted the conversation to voice his concerns.

"Are you coming to my game Saturday?" he asked his brother.

Like thousands of other heroes who are faced with difficult situations, Jacob realized quickly that life goes on.

That is what makes a hero.

Running fast, jumping high, shooting well or swimming in sync does not make someone heroic. Any of these things might make someone athletic, dedicated or even inspirational.

Hero, though, is a title no amount of training can earn for you.

Joseph is a senior in public relations. You can e-mail him at jhurla@collegianmail.com

READERS WRITE

Newspaper hasty in forming conclusion on alumni center

Editor,

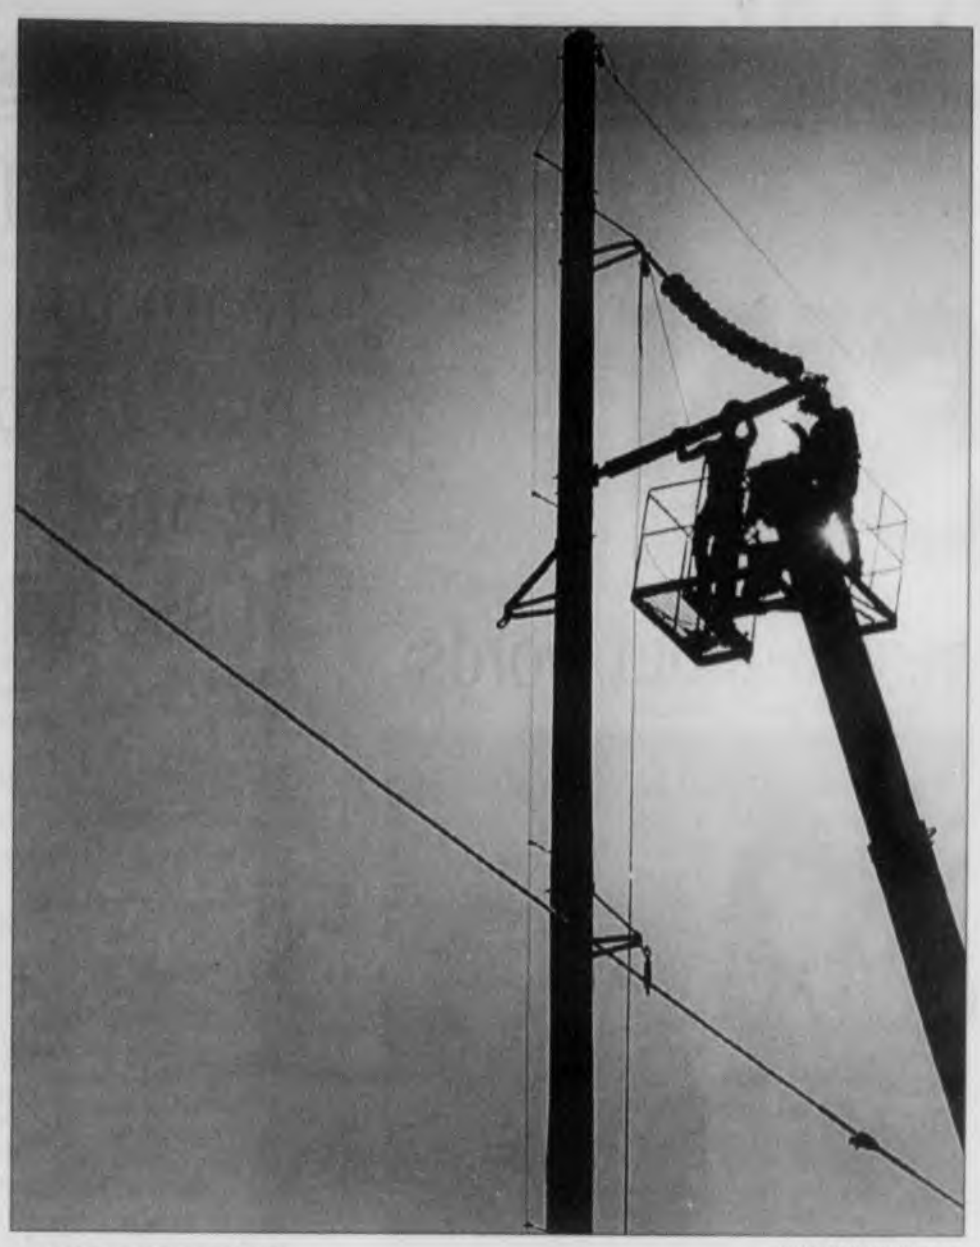
In reading the editorial Sept. 28 regarding problems with the forthcoming Alumni Center, I was astounded at how shallow those "problems" really were when considered.

First, that K-State is losing some "history" by the Center's blocking the view up Memorial Stadium to Ahearn Field House is totally irrelevant. One should not forget that Memorial used to have a semicircular arcade of columns at that end where the Center is slated to go, and looked far better than it does now, with the Stadium's south end showing scarred sides, looking rather forgotten. The Alumni Center aims to be an attractive place both from Anderson Avenue and from the field of the great old Memorial Stadium. But really, in the scope of things, does a view of Ahearn really have any bearing?

Next, and this is a continual problem, is the demand for more parking spaces, and less parking taken up by non-students. It is unfortunate that this issue continues to overshadow the real need here in Manhattan as well as on the Kansas State Campus: that a good, useful transit system is needed in order to reduce the demand for parking. You overlook that perhaps this new Alumni Center might create even more demand for potential riders (students included) of a transit system in Manhattan riding to campus.

A newspaper has to be very certain when writing an editorial that it is making a statement that is supposed to matter, and this editorial was not one that brought issues to light that make something as potentially attractive as the Alumni Center seem like a potential hurdle to daily life at K-State.

— Ryan Caviglia
junior in geography



University decision correct in banning Napster software

Editor,

In Wednesday's edition, Jon Reikerberg whines about the university's decision to ban Napster music-sharing software from the campus network.

He cries foul in the name of academic freedom. Academic freedom? Freedom to copy music you don't pay for over a computer network? That's not an academic issue. That's a piracy issue, like using the boss's photocopier to reproduce a book you're too cheap to buy.

— Stephen M. Hoffman
Salina

WORKING ABOVE

MICHAEL YOUNG/Collegian

Rick Gage (left), and Bob Martin (right), of PAR Electrical Contractors, work on replacing insulators on pole structures west of Manhattan on Wednesday afternoon. The two are completing the third of six poles that are being altered from porcelain insulators to rubber insulators.

Farmers Co-op Association goes bankrupt, affects state

The Associated Press

LAWRENCE — The Farmers Cooperative Association, the state's largest agricultural cooperative group, has filed for bankruptcy protection.

The organization filed its Chapter 11 reorganization plan Wednesday in U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Kansas City, Kan., listing both debts and assets ranging from $10 million to $50 million. The filing also showed there were from 200 to 999 creditors. It stopped buying grain on Wednesday.

The co-op, which has more than 3,500 member-owners, operates elevators in Atchison and Lancaster, Lawrence, Atchison, Meriden, Scranton, and Rushville, Mo., and several other locations.

A depressed economy led to the filing, along with dwindling federal subsidies and elimination of crop-storage programs, said Don Dumler, the co-op's president and chief executive officer. Sales fell from $100 million in 1997 to $76.7 million in 1998 and $62.7 million a year ago.

And the latest fiscal year, which closed July 31, was worse, Dumler said.

"We had two choices, really: reorganize or shut down," Dumler said. "We want to go on."

LOCALLY

Manhattan and local farmers will not be affected by this bankruptcy, officials from the Manhattan co-op said.

Just when the fall harvest moved into full swing, the co-op was forced to stop buying grain because it didn't have money to spend.

Employees at the co-op's elevators in northeast Kansas were told to accept grain only for storage, not for purchase.

Todd Howard, a partner in May-Way Farms south of Lawrence, said he could not sell his grain already stored at the co-op's south elevator in Lawrence.

"It's a horrible time for us, that's for sure," Howard said. "I hope they can get it squared away, so we can afford to patronize the co-op."

Farmers Co-op officials plan to resume buying grain by the end of the week, said Rick Abel, executive director of the Farm Service Agency in Atchison.

A large number of farmers will be affected by the filing. As a cooperative, the company is owned by the people who use it and the members share in the control of the co-op, including any profits and losses.

Producers will still be able to receive loan-deficiency payments for grain stored at Farmers Co-op, Abel said.

"Anytime you've got your livelihood sitting in a questionable situation, it's tense," Abel said. "But I don't think there's any point for a countywide panic."

The filing will not immediately affect the status of the co-op's 140 employees, who will continue to receive paychecks, Dumler said.

However other changes are on the way, but Dumler told the Lawrence Journal-World on Wednesday it was premature to talk specifics about the reorganization.

"We have to eliminate some facilities," he said. "This is a process we have to start after the filing is done."

Howard said the co-op likely had grown beyond its means.

Farmers Co-op has acquired or merged with several others in the area in the past ten years and now has 19 locations. The need to make all locations pay off has forced the co-op to lower its grain prices and raise prices on fuel, seed, fertilizer and other products, Howard said. That sent farmers looking for other sources.

Call the Fourum at 395-4444

Don't miss your chance to get a K-State Campus Phone Book

GET IT ONLINE

McCain Auditorium's 2000-2001 Performance Series

Lilya Zilberstein, piano
SPONSOR: Meadowlark Hills
Sunday, October 1, 3 p.m.
This first-prize-winner in the Busoni Competition has performed with the Berlin Philharmonic, the Chicago, London & Vienna Symphonies, made a string of recordings for Deutsche Grammophon, and captivated audiences across the country in solo recitals. Her all-Chopin program features the Sonata No. 1, a Barcarole, four Impromptus, and Scherzo No.2. Presented in All Faiths Chapel with a pre-performance lecture by Dr. Robert Edwards.

Public $20
Senior $18
Student/Child $10

Mark Morris Dance Group
SPONSORS: The National Dance Project of the New England Foundation for the Arts, the Jeanne Wells Durkee Memorial Fund, and Friends of McCain
Friday, October 6, 8 p.m.
Seattle-born Mark Morris formed his Dance Group in 1980 and he's been making dance history ever since. His Hard Nut, a re-setting of The Nutcracker in a 1960s dysfunctional family, has become a holiday favorite and has been shown on PBS. Morris co-founded the White Oak Dance Project with Mikhail Baryshnikov and has collaborated with cellist Yo-Yo Ma, choreographing Falling Down Steps. McCain's program features My Party, Sang-Froid, The Argument, Silhouettes, and Dancing Honeymoon. All music will be performed by live musicians.
Pre-performance lecture by Elizabeth Moran.

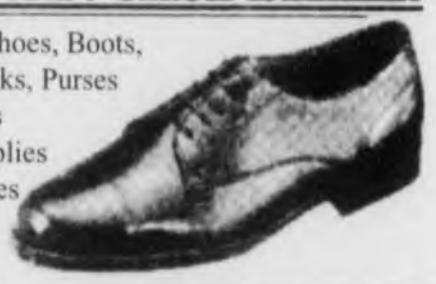
Public $32,$28
Senior $30,$26
Student/Child $16,$14
NOTE: Q & A session with Mark Morris will immediately follow the performance.

Die Fledermaus
Tuesday, October 17, 7:30 p.m.
Join us as we raise the curtain on one of the most well loved operettas of all time, Johann Strauss's Die Fledermaus: a bubbly concoction of champagne, masquerades, amorous flirtations and practical jokes. Western Opera Theater has assembled some of the world's brightest young talents for this lively journey into the romance of Strauss's delightful melodies set in the intoxicating extravagance of late 19th century Vienna.
Pre-performance lecture by Dr. Reginald Pittman.

Public $40,$36
Senior $38,$32
Student/Child $20,$18

All events, dates and times are subject to change without notice.

Stop by or call the box office today. You can charge your tickets to VISA, Mastercard or Discover.



Call 785-532-6428 weekdays, noon to 5 p.m.

NE fa NEW ENGLAND foundation for the arts

Major funding has been provided by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Additional support provided by the K-State Fine Arts Fee, Friends of McCain, and the Heartland Arts Fund.

Jager Shots $2.00
LONGHORNS BAR & GRILL
Draws $1.00
Tonight Come Meet the Yeagerettes 11-12 p.m.
Jagar Giveaways
SATURDAY - COME WATCH KSU VS. COLORADO ON THE BIG SCREEN. DOORS OPEN AT 1P.M.

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR
Repair Work On Shoes, Boots, Luggage, Backpacks, Purses And Leather Coats
Leather Craft Supplies
We Dye Satin Shoes

776-1193
216 South Fourth St.
VFW Plaza
EXPIRES 11-30-00
10% DISCOUNT ON ANY PURCHASE WITH COUPON

hastings

Payable on Death
Fundamental Elements of Southtown

OPM
Menace to Sobriety

Music

Deftones
White Pony (includes Bonus Track)

Green Day
Warning (availiable 10/3)

Come in the month of October and Register to Win an OPM Skateboard!

Grand Theft Audio
Blame Everyone (Availiable 10/3)

Taproot
Gift

Disturbed Sickness

Vast
Music For People

Bring in this coupon and ALL CURRENT LATE FEES WILL BE FORGIVEN!
hastings
Offer expires 10-12-00
4 00667 38699 6

the silent ASSASSIN

Defensive end exhibits strength, prowess without words

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

Monty Beisel can seemingly do it all. The senior defensive end's four sacks and 24 tackles are tied for the team lead in both categories. He is also second on the team in tackles for losses with five for negative 23 yards.

He can do just about anything — except be vocal.

"Monty's like a silent assassin. You don't really hear much from him," linebacker Turelle Williams said.

Silence may not be the first characteristic that comes to mind when thinking of the 6-foot, 4-inch, 265-pound pass rusher, but Beisel said he has no qualms about his quiet demeanor.

"I'm really not a leader by voice, I go out there and lead by example," he said. "I know a lot of times in practice the coaches would like to get a little more out of me in terms of vocal, but I just go out there and do my thing, and I like the product, I like what I do in the end."

Beisel may be a quiet giant, but he isn't afraid to let loose occasionally, Williams said.

"He likes to joke during practice, keep a little life in the game and not have a real serious outlook on stuff, but at the same time take care of business," he said.

By taking care of business, Beisel more than makes up for his lack of words.

"He's a big-time playmaker. He brings total dominance to the defensive end," Williams said. "You know he's going to go hard every play."

In addition to that relentless attitude, Beisel also has the talent and desire to become a premier sacker, defensive coordinator Phil Bennett said.

"He has good explosion after he sees the path to the quarterback," Bennett said. "He closes well on the ball, and he plays with great effort."

The result of that dominance is that Beisel, along with co-sack leader defensive tackle Mario Fatafehi, will make a certified run at the season sack record held by former defensive end Darren Howard.

"We're trying to get the sack record this season, 11 and a half, so that's on everybody's mind," Beisel said. "We're trying to go out there and make as many sacks as we can, and I think if we do that, we'll have a very productive defense."

While it might seem overconfident to say that sacks alone can make an effective defense, that statement isn't far from the truth, free safety Jon McGraw said.

"If you don't have a good pass rush, then the defensive secondary is in for a long day," he said. "Especially, when a quarterback's wary of hits coming, defensive linemen getting in his face, that gives us an added advantage in the secondary. It gives us a little extra time.

"In this conference, half a second is an incredible amount of time, especially when you're running routes, so every little bit of time they can cut off helps us out a lot."

The defensive backs are not the only ones helped out by the "Silent Assassin's" killer instincts. His play against the run is so tough that he actually occupies more than his share of blockers, Jason Kazar said.

"He keeps the offensive lineman on him and not on me," the senior linebacker said. "Everybody's scared about him so the ball might come out a little bit quicker, so we can get a better read. It makes the offense do things a lot quicker."

FILE PHOTO BY JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

Monty Beisel brings down Colorado quarterback Mike Moschetti in the second half of last season's game in Manhattan. The Wildcats won the game 20-14.

Offensive lineman leads team in 29 consecutive games

By DAN SMITH
Kansas State Collegian

Football, on many levels, is like war.

It's a game where players support heroes on the gridiron, and for K-State, the offensive line is that support staff.

"They would go to war with any defensive front, and any defensive team, on any day," junior tailback Josh Scobey said of the Wildcat blockers, who have provided the holes for his 212 rushing yards and four touchdowns this season. "I feel that this is an offensive line that can block for days and never stop."

In the middle of it all for the Wildcat offensive line is No. 58 Randall Cummins, the player that quarterback Jonathan Beasley calls another QB.

"He's like a second quarterback on the field," Beasley said of his senior co-captain. "He'll see something and he'll echo it just like a coach, and it helps out a lot."

That vision, as well as his ability to read defenses like an experienced signal-caller, comes from years of practice and big-game experience, Beasley said. As a result, Cummins has established himself as an anchor of the Wildcat offensive line, starting 29 consecutive games at center, a streak that dates back to his sophomore year.

"He's a warrior," Scobey said of Cummins. "This is something that he's been doing for quite a while, and I think he's a guy that's ready to throw his hat in the fire at any time."

Although Cummins has played against the toughest defenses the Big 12 has to offer, Scobey said Cummins faces his fiercest competition during K-State practices.

"I see him battle against Mario Fatafehi every day, and a guy that can battle him every day is a warrior," Scobey said. "If your not up to the challenge to battle Mario every day, then he's gonna knock your head off because he's a warrior, too."

Beasley needs only to look at K-State's defensive sack total this year (16) to see the kind of trouble associated with weak protection.

"Those guys have been able to keep guys away from me," Beasley said of the Wildcat o-line, which has only given up one sack this season. "They give me time to make the right reads, and when it's time to run, they've been able to open holes and sustain blocks."

Cummins believes the experience of the offensive line has been the catalyst of the team's early success, and said this same leadership can help make the younger Wildcats focus on what's left to conquer this season.

"We have a lot more focus," Cummins said, in comparing the experience of past K-State squads. "We have a lot of seniors, and a lot of leadership to help bring that focus and bring up the younger players and keep them focused."

However, Cummins isn't content with the success that the team has had so far, and continues to set high standards for himself and the rest of his teammates on the o-line.

"I want to be able to rush the ball as much as we can," Cummins said. "I want to be able to rush the ball for 225 yards a game and not give up any sacks."

Cummins also has a destination in mind for January 1, 2001.

"Since the end of last year, we know where we wanted to be at the end of (this) year," Cummins said. "I'd like to be in Miami."

FILE PHOTO BY STEVEN DEARINGER/Collegian

K-State center Randall Cummins blocks North Texas linebacker Corry Pertile Sept. 23 at KSU Stadium. Cummins has started 29 consecutive games at center.

Volleyball team to match up against Missouri

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

When the K-State volleyball team matches up with Missouri Saturday in Columbia, it will face a much-improved team from last year.

The Cats (9-3, 3-1) have a twelve-match winning streak over the Tigers (12-2, 3-1) dating back to 1994, but Missouri has already knocked off one higher-ranked team, Baylor, and always plays ferociously, Liz Wegner said.

"They can be really frustrating — they never give up," Wegner said. "They could be down 14-0, and they would still be screaming across the net at you, in your face, ready to go dig every ball and give everything they've got because they think they can come back and win it."

The Cats said they still think they should win, however.

"We don't want Missouri to beat us," Wegner said. "We are a better team, I would say, than they are. We know we should beat them. We should go in there and beat them."

While Missouri has the advantage of aggressiveness and its home crowd, K-State has its own edge in Wegner. Against Texas on Wednesday, the junior outside hitter broke the K-State record for kills in a three-game match with 28.

That performance was not just a fluke, either. Rather it was the result of steady improvement, which means that the Tigers could see similar play on Saturday, Wegner said.

"I think that I'm finally getting my rhythm back," she said. "I've been gradually progressing. My numbers initially this year were terrible, but I've been getting better every game slowly."

That improvement is also due to the work of setter Disney Bronnenberg, who is responsible for getting the ball to the right side of the court where Wegner waits for the kill.

"I've been working with Disney on that," Wegner said. "It's hard for Disney to push the ball to the right side, but I think she's getting better at that."

The Cats are also improving due to the play of middle blocker Lauren Goehring, who received little playing time prior to the Texas match. Yet, in three games she had 10 kills against the Longhorns. The sudden emergence of the true freshman is a result of just catching up to the pace of college volleyball, Wegner said.

"She's a freshman, she's got so much to learn," Wegner said. "I think she came in here and there was just so much thrown at her. It's overwhelming because I remember being in the same position as a freshman. It takes a little while to consume it all, and I think she's doing a great job."

Goehring has also been helped along by senior middle blocker Kelle Branting, Wegner said.

"Kelle's really helping her a lot," Wegner said. "This is the fourth year under her belt, and she knows what's it like. Lauren's really listening to her and learning a lot from Kelle."

One of the recurring weak spots in the Cats, however, is their ability to finish games. Against Texas Tech, K-State had five match point opportunities to win, but lost after being unable to capitalize. Then against Texas, although the Cats won in three games, the team still let the Longhorns make the first game close, 16-14.

To fix that problem, K-State just needs to maintain its focus, freshman outside hitter Cari Jensen said.

"We just need to dominate while we're on top and not let up," Jensen said. "We just need to focus throughout the entire game, and stay in our system and not let them take us out."

Cryptoquip & CROSSWORD
presented by:
1219 Moro
Aggieville
JAVA
(785) 587-8888

FOR RELEASE FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 2000

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 "Hollywood Squares" win
4 Off-key
8 Piglet's pop
12 "What Kind of Fool —?"
13 Gridlock component
14 Cleese cohort
15 Golf advantage
17 Ego
18 Straighten, as a phone cord
19 Pair
21 Squalid quarters
22 Type of cab
26 Halloween purchases
29 Family-friendly TV network
30 Mimic
31 "QB VII" author
32 Perched
33 Recognized
34 Smoke, for short
35 Dinner for Dobbin
36 Lean-tos
37 "Messiah" composer
39 Lindstrom or Zadora
40 Circle fragment
41 Turkey's capital
45 Satchmo's genre
48 Mr. Lecter
50 Healing gel
51 Curved molding
52 Zsa Zsa's sis
53 Garden intruder
54 Tuesday of the movies
55 Bear's residence

DOWN
1 Iolani Palace locale
2 Arabian Sea gulf
3 Sty sound
4 Swoons
5 Fortunate
6 — distance
7 Challenger's words
8 Buffalo
9 Keatsian piece
10 Every last iota
11 Ump
16 Round, flat things
20 Mustache enhancer
23 Mentally sound
24 Newspaper page
25 Stable areas
26 Oodles
27 Opera song
28 Autograph
29 Wages
32 Figure skating move
33 Uniform color
35 LBJ pooch
36 Broke a Commandment
38 "— and Confused"
39 "Politically Incorrect" assemblage
42 Out like a light for the night
43 Four-star review
44 King of comedy
45 Mandible
46 Stout cousin
47 "Sesame Street" Muppet
49 Ripen

Solution time: 25 mins.

G	A	P	S		P	O	M	P		S	P	A
A	N	U	T		A	R	E	A		T	E	C
S	T	R	A	Y	C	A	T	S		R	A	H
P	E	L	L	E	T			T	E	A	S	E
			K	T		Y	E	A	R	N
M	O	S	S		S	A	D		A	G	O	G
A	N	T			T	H	E			E	L	I
P	A	R	E		E	O	N		W	R	E	N
		A	L	A	M	O		M	E
J	A	C	K	S			W	A	I	T	E	D
A	S	H		S	T	R	A	I	G	H	T	A
W	E	E		E	R	I	N		H	O	R	N
S	A	Y		T	I	D	E		T	R	E	E

Yesterday's answer 9-29

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-29 CRYPTOQUIP

L M Q B F C J X L D O U H S Z Z K C Q O S Q J D O C O Y D C X S A D O Y M O K M Q I B C X S F S Q M O D I S Q U H D D O A D X Z M Q I .

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: FOR HER BIRTHDAY, A CANARY SALESMAN BOUGHT HIS GIRLFRIEND SOME CHEEP PERFUME.

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: X equals R

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2000 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Local restaurant provides TASTE of TALENT

By JJ DUNCAN
Kansas State Collegian

For those with a taste for live music, Elements of Taste can provide a spot for seeing new as well as more established bands.

The establishment, which opened December 1999, wasn't planned to be such a popular venue for live music, but there are no complaints from Jennifer Irsik, manager and owner of Elements of Taste. Bands just began to come in, wanting to play at the club, Irsik said.

"Honestly, I love having live bands here," she said. "I was flabbergasted that bands wanted to play here, but now we're booked all the way through January."

Irsik is enjoying the club's popularity, and she said seeing a band is a much more personal experience that usually brings stronger energy when the band is right next to the audience.

"We get some great bands in here and the atmosphere is wonderful," she said. "Yes, it's loud, but live music is supposed to be loud."

The atmosphere of Elements of Taste also makes the club distinctive. Irsik said she worked with an interior designer to give the club a modern feel with a sleek look. The club uses basic colors, hanging lights and a woven wall to contribute to the look.

Patrons said they also enjoy Elements' relaxed feel. Sara Emeson, senior in architectural engineering, said she likes the fact that it's different from other bars.

"I like the atmosphere. It's just a fun place to come," she said. "The overall feel, the lighting, the fact that it's not as crowded as other bars, it's just more relaxed here."

Irsik said she does her best to give new bands a chance by booking nearly any band that gives her a demo.

Getting the chance to gain experience by playing at Elements of Taste was a welcome opportunity, said Bree Hedman, piano player for Beihl and Hedman.

The group deviates from the norm of loud rock bands and plays an acoustic rock style with a sound they are trying to spread. Beihl and Hedman play mostly original music, and the club is a great venue for new material, Hedman, senior in mechanical engineering, said.

MATT STAMEY/Collegian

Singer/songwriter Natalie Cox, Lawrence, sings a song off her new album, "Bear Some Soul" Wednesday night at Elements of Taste. Cox has released two albums, the first called "It's a Soul Thing."

"We've played a lot in coffee shops and things like that," she said. "We kind of want to break into the bar scene, and we thought that this would be a good place to start."

Elements wouldn't be alive if it wasn't for student support, Irsik said, so she is glad to have the bands drawing students in. Right now, bands perform every Wednesday and Saturday, and Irsik said she would like to support them for as long as possible.

Hedman said she is glad her band was given a chance to perform because live music holds much more energy for everyone involved, she said.

"When you have people listening to you and wanting to hear what you are saying, that holds its own energy.

"Performance often brings out the best in a musician," she said. "It doesn't matter how much you play around in your house, you never know what you have until you play in front of people."

Digital Shelf DVD Rental
We buy video games and DVDs.
www.ksudigitalshelf.com
now online and updated
713 N. 11th
776-6959

MOVIE TIMES

SETH CHILDS CINEMA

"Coyote Ugly"
4:45, 7:30 and 9:45 p.m.
"Bring It On"
4:20, 7:10 and 9:40 p.m.
"Remember The Titans"
4:40, 7:15 and 9:55 p.m.
"Nurse Betty"
4:35, 7:05 and 9:40 p.m.
"Scary Movie"
7:25 p.m.
"Space Cowboys"
4:15, 7 and 9:35 p.m.
"Kings of Comedy"
4:15, 7 and 9:40 p.m.

"The Replacements"
4:30, 7:05 and 9:30 p.m.
"The Watcher"
4:40, 7:30 and 9:55 p.m.
"What Lies Beneath"
4:25, 7:10 and 9:50 p.m.
"Urban Legends II: Final Cut"
4:10, 7:20 and 9:45 p.m.
"Bait"
4:20 and 9:25 p.m.
"Almost Famous"
4:25, 7:15 and 9:50 p.m.

Movies at Seth Childs Cinema are $4.50 for matinees and $6.75 for evening shows.

Boulder offers variety of outdoor activities

By SARAH MCCAFFREY
Kansas State Collegian

Gliding, hiking and rock climbing are just a few activities that outdoor enthusiasts can participate in while visiting Boulder, Colo., for the football game this weekend.

"Boulder is world-renowned for rock climbing," Matt Clymer, Mountain Sports employee, said. "Rocky Mountain Park is a half hour away. Peaks Wilderness is 10 minutes away."

Known as the best boot fitters in Boulder, Mountain Sports offers many of the supplies that nature enthusiasts will need for a day in the great outdoors, including rental backpacks and tents.

Clymer said rock climbing remains popular throughout the year, but camping and biking also are in season.

He said those unfamiliar with the Boulder area can use the staff to guide them to the best trails and help them pick the best equipment.

Boulder activities

■ Mile High Gliding offers single or double rides for those wishing to see Boulder from a different angle.

Fliers can choose where they would like to fly. Mile High Gliding offers four scenic packages, the mountain flight, city flight, the aerobatics flight and the Mile High flight, the last of which is a combination of the previous three packages.

The city flight goes over the city of Boulder while the mountain flight goes over the Flat Irons area. For those with stronger stomachs, the aerobatics flight includes loop-to-loops, stalls, roller coasters and wing overs.

Flights last from 15 to 45 minutes, depending on the package chosen. Customers also have the option of choosing solo or double flights. The cost to see Boulder from a bird's-eye view ranges from $60 to $195.

More information can be found at www.milehighgliding.com or by calling (303) 527-1122.

■ Boulder Rock Club and School houses one of the five largest rock-climbing gyms in the nation, covering more than 10,000 square feet.

It takes three to 10 minutes to climb the wall, but there are multiple routes to take to reach the summit. The average climber stays anywhere from three to six hours.

Although the gym is open to the general public, not everyone can climb the first time. All climbers must pass a safety test before climbing the large wall.

Novice climbers can work on their technique by climbing the bouldering wall, a small version of the main attraction.

Lessons are available for those wishing to learn how to rock climb or just perfect their technique. Reservations should be made in advance for the $45 class, which lasts for two hours.

General admission for a full day of climbing is $14.

More information can be found at www.boulderrock.com or by calling (303) 447-2804.

Boulder attractions

■ Pearl Street Mall is an outdoor mall featuring local and chain stores including the Gap and Banana Republic. The mall has many dining options including The Med, a Mediterranean restaurant, Old Chicago and Walnut Brewery. Entertainment includes live music, painters and street performers.

■ University Hill, Boulder's college hangout, is a smaller version of the Pearl Street Mall located near campus, which features The Sink, a popular pizzeria.

■ The Rocky Mountain Alumni Association is sponsoring a pregame party at the Old Hole Sports Grill located at 990 South Onida Street in Denver. The pregame party will start at 5 p.m. A map to the Old Hole can be found at members.aol.com/rckymtnksu/.

THE GONGFARMER

BY RANDY REGIER

Monkey Boy

BY BRENT ENGSTROM – MONKEYBOYCOMIC@HOTMAIL.COM

Cross country teams to compete

By SAM STIERS
Kansas State Collegian

K-State's men's and women's cross country teams head to the prestigious Stanford Invitational, where they will compete against some of the top teams in the country this Saturday

"We look at this meet as another step towards where we want to be at when we head to the Big 12 and the Midwest regional, and ultimately the NCAA," head coach Randy Cole said. "We're going to use this as a measuring stick to see where we are fitness wise and how we compare to the top teams, Stanford and Wisconsin."

The women's team is ranked No. 3 in the country behind those two schools. The Cats have won their first two matches of the year, and Cole said the team is training well for the upcoming meet.

"All of the returning women are doing a good job running," he said. "They are all training at a high level, with the exception of a few colds. We're fairly consistent and we're gradually building ourselves up."

All four Cats who finished in the top 30 during last year's meet have returned this season, looking to improve on the team's fifth place finish. Sophomore Amy Mortimer finished 14th a year ago, her lowest career finish. She said the team will have a good idea where it stands after the meet.

"We're just real excited about the possibility to go out there and race against some good teams and see what we can do," Mortimer said. "It will be a good way to see where we're at right now and gauge what we need to do before some of the bigger meets later in the year.

Cole said it will be tough for the women's team to win the match, but if the team runs well and stays focused, the Cats could pull off the upset.

"Right now I'm happy with how I'm running, but not satisfied. I hope to keep improving throughout the season and the next couple of years."

Cole said it will be tough for the women's team to win the match, but if the team runs well and stays focused, the Cats could pull off the upset.

Meanwhile, the men's team will be led by senior Jean-Paul Niyongabo, who finished 13th overall in last year's meet, while the team notched 16th. He said the invitational will be a tough test for the Cats against some premier competition.

"This is only our third meet of the year, but it's going to be a really big one," Niyongabo said. "We're looking forward to it and everyone has been training really well — it's going to be an interesting meet. It's good to compete with top runners from around the country."

Cole said the men's team needs to improve mentally if they are to do well in the meet.

"The men are coming along well," Cole said. "We need to get beyond just getting better physically. We need to have more focus mentally and improve our race tactics."

SENATE

■ continued from page 1

Walker said Athletic Director Max Urick and Associate Athletic Director Bob Cavello helped Student Senate understand the fee more clearly.

"This has been a great process," Walker said. "This is really a great organization to be sponsoring."

Carmen Wright, member of an advisory council for student athletes, said she wanted to thank K-State students for the funding. Wright is a multi-event athlete in track and field.

"Athletes that participate in non-revenue sports don't have the wide base of revenue available to them," Wright said. "Our non-revenue sports will keep getting bigger and better."

Wright said participants in non-revenue sports are improving athletically and academically.

"Aside from being great athletes, we are very strong students," she said.

ARCHITECTURE

■ continued from page 1

day conference.

Jenny Ziegler, fifth-year senior and speaker coordinator, said she hopes to discover what area of specialization she would like to focus on.

"It'll be a great opportunity to gain technical knowledge," she said. "I don't know what I want to focus on, and hopefully it'll help me make a decision."

She said she was among the students who began planning this event and she is looking forward to sponsoring it.

"We have a strong chapter and we'd like to show off our program," she said.

Some of the individuals who will be speaking include: Mitch Holthus, "Voice of the Kansas City Chiefs; James Broaddus, Ph.D., PE, president and CEO of the Design-Build Institute of America; Craig Baltimore, Ph.D., PE, SE, professor at K-State; and Ginger Evans, PE, associate principal and vice president of Aviation at Carter & Burgess Inc., and served eight years as the associate director of aviation at Denver International Airport.

Pacheco said the professionals give students information they can't get in the classroom.

"It is an opportunity for students to interact with professionals, as well as professionals making contacts with students for internships and careers," she said.

Fritchen said the department has never had a problem getting students jobs.

"According to employers," he said, "they would definitely prefer K-Staters."

Order your Royal Purple !
$29.95
On Sale at Kedzie 103

Have you got your copy of the Campus Phone Book ?
Purchase now in Kedzie 103

A great way to earn $25 today!
Donate your blood plasma to help save kids' lives
Earn $25 cash
Call or stop by:
Nabi Biomedical Center
1130 Gardenway, Manhattan
785-776-9177
Fees and donation time may vary. Call for details.
www.nabi.com

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
Limited Delivery Area
1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center

Have a good Rosh Hashanah
Claflin Books and Copies

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING
118 KEDZIE • 532-6560

KSU Meat Sale
WEDNESDAY 3-6 p.m. & FRIDAY Noon-6 p.m.
Rm. 166 Weber Hall
BEEF
roast, steak, ground beef, bratwurst
PORK
pork chops, pork steaks, sausage, ground pork, bacon
For information call
532-1279

Free Nokia Phone
(some restrictions apply)
Walk & Talk
No Money Down!
authorized dealer CELLULARONE
COPY CO
MORE THAN JUST A COPY CENTER
Mon. - Thurs. 7 a.m.-11 p.m.
Friday 7 a.m. - 9 p.m.
Saturday 8 a.m. - 9 p.m.
Sunday 10 a.m. - 11 p.m.
1223 Moro-Aggieville • 537-2679

American Legion
BINGO!
Sunday 2 p.m.
Tuesday 1:30 p.m.
Wednesday 7:30 p.m.
"Progressive Bingo"
Sundays & Wednesdays
- Win Big Bucks -
114 McCall Rd.

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Oktoberfest
Sept. 22- Oct. 7
NESPOR'S WINE & SPIRITS SINCE 1966
Celebrate with the best German beer selection in town.
All German beer on sale.
Nespor's Wine and Spirits
1338 Westloop

You've never been to a Lacrosse game?!
Kansas State Lacrosse
Come cheer on the K-State Lacrosse Team as they battle Missouri, Creighton, Iowa State, 4 Winds, and the Minnesota Chill
Donnie Tillar Lacrosse Classic
10am - 5pm this Saturday, Sept. 30th at the KSU Rec Complex Fields
10am - 5pm this Sunday, Oct. 1st at the KSU Memorial Stadium

STUDENTS FOR THE RIGHT TO LIFE
LIFE CHAIN
PLACE:
CORNER OF ANDERSON & DENISON TIME:
2:15
DAY:
OCT. 1ST
COME AND BE THE VOICE FOR THE UNBORN

Once in a Lifetime
engagements and weddings
"She was a beautiful bride."
Once in a Lifetime,
in the Collegian the first Friday of the month.
To announce your milestone, visit Kedzie 103.
To advertise, call 532-6560.

"Crazy" Ted Varney would have loved this...
CRAZY TEXTBOOK SALE
Hundreds of selected new & used textbooks
Various fields of study
Check out these crazy low prices!
(Sept. 29 - Oct. 18)
$1.00 Paperbacks
$15.00
$2.00 Hardbacks
ALL YOU CAN CARRY!
Varney's BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE
"We Give You Our Best"
www.varneys.com
While you're in,
ADVANCE ORDERING your fall textbooks at Varney's can save you valuable time, energy, and money!
Ask our textbook staff for details.
9 a.m.-9 p.m. Mon.-Sat. 11a.m.-7p.m. Sun.
785-539-0511

CLASSIFIEDS

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FALL LEASING available! Call now! Fully furnished, washer/ dryer, fully equipped kitchen, alarm systems, computer lab, copier, and fax availability, fitness center/ rec room, swimming pool, reserved parking, tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. University Commons Apartments, 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

CAMPUS FIVE BLOCKS. Very large two-bedroom with air-conditioning. Clean, quiet location. Electric, gas, water, trash paid. No dogs. 537-8389.

EXCELLENT TWO-BEDROOM one block from campus. $550 per month, water/ trash paid. 341-4496.

STUDIO $405 Winston Place Apartments. (785)539-9339.

LET US HELP you find a place to live. We may have what you need. No dogs. Leave message. 537-8389.

VERY NICE two-bedroom with air-conditioning. NEWLY REDECORATED, clean, quiet, convenient location. Heat, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. 537-8389.

115 Rooms Available

FIRST MONTH'S RENT FREE. Room available now in four-bedroom house. Pets allowed, two bathrooms, utilities shared four ways. 1207 Houston. $300/ month. (785)770-9484.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING
532-6560

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, close to campus, newly remodeled, CENTRAL AIR, two bath, washer/ dryer. 770-7230, 539-1713.

NEW DUPLEX. FOUR-BEDROOM, two bath, two living rooms. Available October 1. $1000/ month. Pierre St. (785)456-7655.

TWO STORY BRICK, very large, three- four-bedroom, two baths, central air, laundry hook-ups, quiet location, fenced yard, parking. 537-8389.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom basement apartment one block from campus. Includes washer/ dryer, dishwasher, and private parking. $210/ month. (785)537-1995.

145 Roommate Wanted

NICE TWO-BEDROOM, two bath, furnished, washer/dryer, dishwasher, privacy deck. Sublease, tenant needed. $325/ person/ month. 537-8226.

ROOMMATE WANTED for house. ONE-BLOCK FROM CAMPUS. Gas, water, and trash paid. Off-street parking. 776-5422

150 Sublease

CLOSE TO CAMPUS! A very spacious one-bedroom basement apartment in a nice house. Rent: $340 a month. You only pay for electricty, phone and cable! 770-3537.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT at Chase Manhattan, January 1st- August 5th! Rent $469/ month, cable included. Carport available. 565-9210 for more information.

310 Help Wanted

INTERN RILEY County Community Corrections has an opening for a student intern who is participating in the Kansas Career Work Study program. Duties include assisting juvenile intake staff in delivery of various field services to assigned offenders. Requirements include senior year standing in a human services field (preferably criminal justice), ability to work a flexible work schedule, including some evenings, and a valid Kansas driver's license. This position is part-time status, with the average number of hours per week expected to be in the 15-20 hour range. Experience working with juveniles is preferred. The hourly wage is $8.35 with no benefits. Applications may be obtained from the Riley County Counselor/Personnel Office, 115 N. 4th Street, 3rd Floor East, Courthouse Plaza East Building, Manhattan, KS 66502. 785-565-6464. Position open until filled. jdean@co.riley.ks.us EOE

LANDSCAPING POSITIONS. Full-time M- F. Apply in person at Horticultural Services Inc. 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (785)494-2418 or (785)776-0397.

OFFICE ASSISTANT. Permanent part-time office position. Customer etiquette, accuracy and attention to detail are a necessity. Benefit package included. Apply in person 8a.m.- 5p.m. at Blueville Nursery, Inc., 4539 Anderson. EOE.

OGDEN YOUTH Center, immediate opening, full-time youth director. Must have experience working with teens, good communication and organization skills, computer skills in MS Word and Excel. Grant writing experience and bachelors degree preferred. Must be able to work evenings. Send resume and references to Ogden Youth Center Personnel, Box 145, Ogden, KS 66517.

REAL ESTATE assistant and special projects. Need car, basic computer skills, good listener, follows instructions. 10- 20 hours/ week, flexible. Daytime 8am- 6pm, Monday- Friday. $10/ hour. Resume and references to BI Investments, PO Box 1111, Junction City, KS 66441.

Spring Break Reps needed to promote campus trips. Earn easy money and travel free! All materials provided free. We train you. Work on you own time. Call 1-800-367-1252 or www.springbreakdirect.com

Spring Break 2001
Jamaica, Cancun, Florida, Barbados, Bahamas.
Now hiring campus reps. Earn 2 fee trips. Free Meals. Books by Nov. 2nd. Call for FREE info pack or visit online sunsplashtours.com
1-800-426-7710

TUTOR NEEDED for biochemistry (CHEM 265). Please call 770-8186.

STATISTICAL QUALITY Control Intern. Venator Group Inc. is a diversified global retailer that operates 4,000 stores in 14 countries in North America, Europe, Australia and Canada. Through its athletic group of specialty retail stores -- including Foot Locker, Lady Foot Locker, Kids Foot Locker, and Champs Sports, as well as its direct marketer Eastbay – we are the leading providers of athletic footwear and apparel. We are always searching for dynamic individuals to join our Distribution Center located in Junction City. This position offers challenges in System Quality Control analysis. Responsibilities will include: Completing an engineered study of the entire facilities process quality, Identifying area that are out of control, Correct situations using statistical quality control. Qualifications: Statistical knowledge (STAT 510, STAT 511, or other high level statistics course), Superior Statistical Quality Control knowledge, Advanced analytical skills. We offer a competitive salary, tuition reimbursement and professional development opportunities in a dynamic work environment. For consideration, please submit cover letter, resume, and references to : Venator Group, Human Resources, Attn.: Associate Relations Manager, 3810 South U.S. Hwy. 77, Junction City, KS, 66441. Or Fax us at 785-761-3440. / EOE

310 Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. Open 12-5p.m. Closed Sundays Mondays. 539-4684.

DRAFTING TABLES $50 or best offer. Great for architecture/ engineering students. Excellent shape with storage. Manhattan Area Technical College, (785)587-2800.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS Camouflage clothing (including PURPLE) field jackets- Boots sleeping bags- overshoes, hunting wear. Also CARHARTT workwear. Open Mon.- Fri., 9- 5:30; Sat. 9- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS 66536. (785)437-2734.

Wildcat Pawn & Jewelry
Back to school special on ALL cd's & movies at $2.99 ea.
2309 Tuttlecreek Blvd.
539-7296

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

DOUBLE BED. Mattress, box springs and frame. Excellent condition. $75. Call 539-6306 evenings.

FOR SALE: 27 inch Sony color TV, waterbed- king size, book shelf, headboard. $150 each or best offer. Call 532-3134.

FOR SALE: Hide-a-bed couch, good condition. $25. Must sell quickly. Call 565-0327.

420 Garage/Yard Sales

2529 HOBBS- Off College Drive, 8- 12. Great deals Beanie Babies, Buddies, Disney clothing, nice rugs, Halloween/ Christmas items, oak mission desk.

420 Garage/Yard Sales

TRINITY PRESBYTERIAN. Saturday, September 30, 8a.m.- noon. 1110 College Avenue. Couch, computers and monitors, Kirby vacuum, full bookcase headboard, toolbox for full size pickup, Kerosun Heater, color TV electric typewriter, household items, clothing $2 a grocery bag, toys and much more.

435 Computers

COMPAQ DESK Pro 590. Complete system with ethernet card installed. $200. 770-8460.

PACKARD BELL Pentium computer and color canon printer. $400 or best offer. 776-4398 mornings or evening.

PRE-OWNED LAPTOPS, in excellent condition, starting at just $399.95!!! NorthStar Solutions. 1800 Claflin Rd., #160 (near campus at the corner of Claflin and Denison).

YEAR OLD compact presario 1920 laptop. Like new condition. Daytime call 1-800-825-4377, after 4pm call 785-632-5980 ask for Nicole.

445 Music Instruments

Wildcat Pawn & Jewelry
Biggest Selection on used Electric guitars in Manhattan. Ranging from $149.50 and up.
2309 Tuttlecreek Blvd.
539-7296

455 Sporting Equipment

DUCKS UNLIMITED Banquet, Sept. 30, Council Grove American Legion. Event begins at 6p.m. Tickets at the door or call (316)767-5470.

460 Electronic Equipment

SONY, KENWOOD, JBL, Technics, Bose, etc. Stereo and Surround. Quality used equipment, bought and sold. Call Mike (785)565-0517.

Wildcat Pawn & Jewlery
Great selection of Nintendo 64's & Playstations starting at $49.50. Also a selection of VCR's starting at $39.50.
2309 Tuttlecreek Blvd.
539-7296

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOR SALE: Two student season football tickets. (913)915-6343.

WANTED TWO student tickets. October 14, Oklahoma game. David at 537-8029

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1987 DODGE 600, four-door, automatic, air-conditioned, power steering..good condition, $2000 or best offer. Call (785)539-1628.

1988 BUICK LeSabre, four-door, new tires, air-conditioning, power windows and locks, roomy and comfortable, runs great. 110K. $4500 or reasonable offer. (785)776-8558.

1988 FORD Mustang LX, 2.5 liter v-4, standard transmission, gray, sunroof, alloy wheels. 565-0849.

1989 HONDA Civic, manual, four-door, grey, wagon, 98K, runs great, air-conditioning needs work, $1800 best offer. 395-5050.

1992 PONTIAC Firebird, rare V6/ five-speed combo, 100,000 highway miles. $5800 or best offer. (785)776-8775 Erik.

1994 FORD Ranger "Splash", 4x4 Supercab Flareside. Brilliant blue metallic. Has every option. Showroom condition. (785)539-1726.

1995 DODGE Ram 2500 4x4 360 Auto. SLT Laramie. Also car stereo system. 4- JL 10 inch subs, Amps and Mids. 565-9491.

1997 DODGE Caravan Sport. 60K, excellent condition, power everything. Must sell. $14,700 or best offer. (785)762-2429. Leave message.

EXCELLENT TOWN car with low mileage, low gas, low price and cinch to park. 1994 Geo Metro, automatic transmission only. 37,000 miles. $3500. (785)539-1956, evenings.

MUST SEE. 1979 Ford Granada, mint condition, 33,000 original miles, runs great. (used to be Grandmas) $1700 (785)293-5719.

530 Motorcycles

1981 HONDA CB650, red, good tires, runs great $850 or best offer. Also, 1978 CX500 electrical problems, lots of spare parts, $250. jce6619@ksu.edu or 776-3757, ask for Jon.

1982 KAWASAKI K21000. $1300. (785)537-8878.

2000 HARLEY Davidson, FXDWG, purple, 250 miles, $20,000. (972)396-7035.

600 travel/ trips

630 Spring Break

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas and Florida. Earn cash and go free! Now hiring campus reps. 1-800-234-7007 endlesssummertours.com

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best SPRING BREAK PRICES! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Mardigras. Reps needed.. Travel free, earn $$$. GROUP DISCOUNTS FOR SIX+. (800)838-8203/ www.leisuretours.com

GO DIRECT= $avings! #1 Internet-based Spring Break company offering WHOLESALE Spring Break packages (no middlemen)! Zero traveler complaints registered against us last year! ALL destinations. Lowest price guarantee! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakdirect.com

WINTER BREAK/ SPRING BREAK. Ski and beach trips on sale now! www.sunchase.com or call 1-800-SUNCHASE today!

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information, call (785)456-2795, www.ksu.edu/ksfc

Sept. 29 & 30 Just Bill
BOBBY T's
Oct. 1 All Star DJ til 1 a.m.

DID YOU know that "Alice in Wonderland" was banned in China due to animals using human language? Check out Banned Book Week Sept. 25- 29 at the K-State Union Bookstore.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

100 housing/ real estate

101 Rental Wanted

FOUR 30ISH alums seeking three-bedroom, two bath apartment or house for use from October 13 at 6pm to Sunday, October 15 at noon. Will pay $400 plus deposit. Call (916)641-4065.

CLASSIFIED ADS
LET THEM WORK FOR YOU
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE • 532-6555

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

Come home to relax in comfort
•Cambridge Square
•Sandstone Apts.
•Fireplaces •Carports
•Pool •Private Deck
•Laundry Facilities
•Large 2-bedroom Units
Call TODAY!!!
537-9064
Weekdays 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Showings by appointment

TWO BEDROOM, walk to campus, ample parking, quiet conditions, furnished or unfurnished, reasonable rates. Laundry. Available now. 539-3638.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

BRAND NEW three-bedroom/ three bathroom apartment, available now, washer/ dryer included, close to campus and Aggieville. Call MDI 776-3804.

DOES $350/ month sound better than what you're paying for rent? Assume my loan and own a three-bedroom, two bath, three year old mobile home by Tuttle Creek River Pond. Call (785)776-5619, leave name and number and I'll return your call.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR– FIVE-BEDROOM home for rent, near campus. January 1, lease. Call (785)539-2357, 9 a.m.- 5 p.m. M- F.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for large house near campus. Large bedroom, two baths, central air, washer/ dryer, $270 plus one-fourth utilities. 776-0352.

200 service directory

300 employment/ opportunities

310 Help Wanted

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For info call (203)977-1722.

ASSISTANT MANAGER. Full-time permanent position available. Must have broad plant knowledge, retail and supervisory experience. Excellent benefit package. Apply in person 8a.m.- 5p.m. at Blueville Nursery, Inc., 4539 Anderson. EOE.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

ARE YOU connected? Computer users wanted for free information call 1-800-310-0295. $25-$75/hour, full training, currently in 49 countries.

ASSISTANT COOK needed immediately for the Riley County Senior Services Center in Manhattan, Monday through Friday. Food services experience preferred but willing to train. Benefits: sick leave, holidays, paid vacation. Application and job description available at Riley County Senior Citizens Center, 412 Leavenworth, Manhattan. Contact Lee Freeland, (785) 776-3903, for information. EOE/AA

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!! Looking for part- time dealers. Multi- level market selling Indoor Air Purification Machines. Fun business, good money!!! Call Mitch at (888)814-2893.

CUSTOMER SERVICE, a perfect match. If you have 15-75 pounds to lose, we pay you. 877-345-7179

DELIVERY DRIVERS needed. $5.50 per hour plus tips and mileage. Evening shift available. Please contact Hunam Restaurant, 1304 Westloop. 539-8888.

THOROUGH HOUSE cleaning under ideal circumstances for couple with no pets/ smoking/ children. Send resume to c/o Collegian, Box 1, Manhattan 66506.

DROWNING in your sorrows?
Find your lifesaver in the PERSONALS.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie • 532-6555

Kansas State University
GET YOUR COPY OF THE NEW CAMPUS PHONE BOOK, NOW

Having a Garage Sale?
If you're trying to sell your old stuff, let the Collegian help you. Come see us or give us a call.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie 532-6555

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.85
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.90
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.90
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 bulletin board
100 housing/ real estate
200 service directory
300 employment/ opportunities
400 open market
500 transportation
600 travel/ trips

RU486

■ continued from page 1

States since the drug debuted in France in 1988. They pledged to continue the fight.

"We will not tolerate the FDA's decision to approve the destruction of innocent human persons through chemical abortion," said Judie Brown of the anti-abortion American Life League.

Worried about anti-abortion violence that has sprung up in recent years, the FDA has increased security in some of its offices and, in an unusual move, Henney is keeping secret the names of the medical officers who reviewed the drug.

"The climate around the reproductive-rights issue and personal safety issues are in our minds," she said.

To ensure the pill is used accurately and safely, the FDA mandated that women be given special brochures called "MedGuides" explaining who is eligible for a pill-caused abortion and what side effects to expect and that they must make three trips to the doctor for the procedure.

RU-486, now known by its chemical name mifepristone, can be used only within 49 days of the beginning of the woman's last menstrual period. The woman takes three mifepristone pills. Two days later, she returns to the doctor to swallow a second drug, misoprostol, that causes uterine contractions to expel the embryo. She returns for a follow-up visit within two weeks to make sure the abortion is complete.

The FDA will allow mifepristone to be distributed only to doctors trained to accurately diagnose the duration of pregnancy and to detect ectopic, or tubal, pregnancies, because those women cannot receive mifepristone.

Also, the FDA restricted mifepristone's use to doctors who can operate in case a surgical abortion is needed to finish the job or in cases of severe bleeding — or to doctors who have made advance arrangements for a surgeon to provide such care to their patients.

Studies show mifepristone is 92 percent to 95 percent effective in causing early abortion, by blocking action of a hormone essential for maintaining pregnancy. Without that hormone, progesterone, the uterine lining thins so an embryo cannot remain implanted and grow.

The pill-induced abortion can be painful, causing bleeding and nausea. Heavy bleeding is a potentially serious side effect but one the FDA determined is rare. In safety testing of the first 2,100 American women who took mifepristone, four bled enough to need a transfusion.

A small New York company, Danco Laboratories, will market mifepristone under the brand name Mifeprex. It should be available in about a month. Abortion providers say the pill-caused abortion should cost the same as surgical abortion, but a Danco spokeswoman refused to confirm that Thursday.

The National Abortion Federation, which accredits abortion providers, said 240 of its member clinics were already prepared to offer Mifeprex, and it is training other physicians in how to use the pill.

FOOTBALL

■ continued from page 1

entities of the K-State-Colorado match-up. Offensively, the Buffaloes post a two-quarterback scheme in junior Bobby Pesavento and sophomore Zac Colvin.

"I think they're both extremely efficient quarterbacks," Snyder said. "First of all, it just jumps off the page when you see that there are no interceptions and that you're completing 60-plus percent of your passes. Both of them are doing exactly that, so that tells you something."

That passing weapon is complemented by Colorado's running game, which features true freshman Marcus Houston and junior Cortlen Johnson. Houston especially has impressed Snyder, compiling 332 yards in three games this season.

"I can't think of anybody off hand that I've seen that can do some of the things he can do," Snyder said. "His physical skills are very, very good. When he finds the creases, he's got excellent acceleration into the hole. He's a well balanced player — he can block for you and he can catch the ball in the passing game. He's got all the tools."

Those tools are evident in the Colorado aerial attack as well, led by senior Javon Green, who's caught a touchdown pass in four consecutive regular season games dating back to last year's finale against Nebraska.

The K-State secondary remembers Green from last year's Colorado contest. With the then-No. 6 Wildcats leading 20-0, the Buffaloes rallied with a pair of late Green TD's covering 64 and 70 yards, respectively.

K-State won the ball game, but junior cornerback Jerametrius Butler is intent on not letting Green loose this weekend.

"Last year, we gave him two big plays at the end of the game, so going into this game, I think he's going to have this confidence where he can really do what he wants to do against us," Butler said. "But we're really going to try to go out and do our best, shut him down, and limit his catches."

Fellow member of the secondary, junior Jon McGraw, said limiting both catches and big plays are going to be important when playing a hungry, winless team like Colorado.

"They're looking for a game to turn their season around," he said, "and this would be ideal for them to knock off a top five team, so this will be a big game."

Big game or not, Snyder said despite Colorado losing its three games by a combined 10 points, second-year Buffalo head coach Gary Barnett and his squad know they're a good football team.

"They know that the marbles just haven't fallen in the right slots up to this point in time," Snyder said, "and they know at some point in time it's going to happen if they just keep sawing away at it."

INJURY REPORT

■ Senior tailback David Allen's status is uncertain for this weekend's game with Colorado, after injuring his ankle in the season opener. "He is not practicing fully with us," Snyder said. "He is doing some things on the practice field, but he's not going through a full practice with us at this point."

■ Senior strong safety Jarrod Cooper, after straining his pectoralis muscle against Iowa, is scheduled to make his return to the playing field Saturday. Defensive coordinator Phil Bennett said Cooper is 100 percent and full go this weekend.

■ Sophomore offensive tackle Chris Bailes (knee surgery) and redshirt freshman linebacker Bryan Hickman (leg) are expected to be out for the season with their respective injuries.

Collingwood Grain Inc.

Will be holding interviews at
Career and Placement Services on
October 3rd.

Positions for December and May graduates
as well as internship opportunities are available.

The Answer
To The Question Is
Yes Yes Yes

Varney's Now Has Magazines

Varney's Book Store
623 N. Manhattan Ave • www.varneys.com
539-0511 • 800-362-1574

GRE Preparation Available

If it is, you will need to take the GRE and McNair Scholars Program and Educational Supportive Services can help you prepare.

Students pay $100 for a CD-Rom and 2 books (materials only).
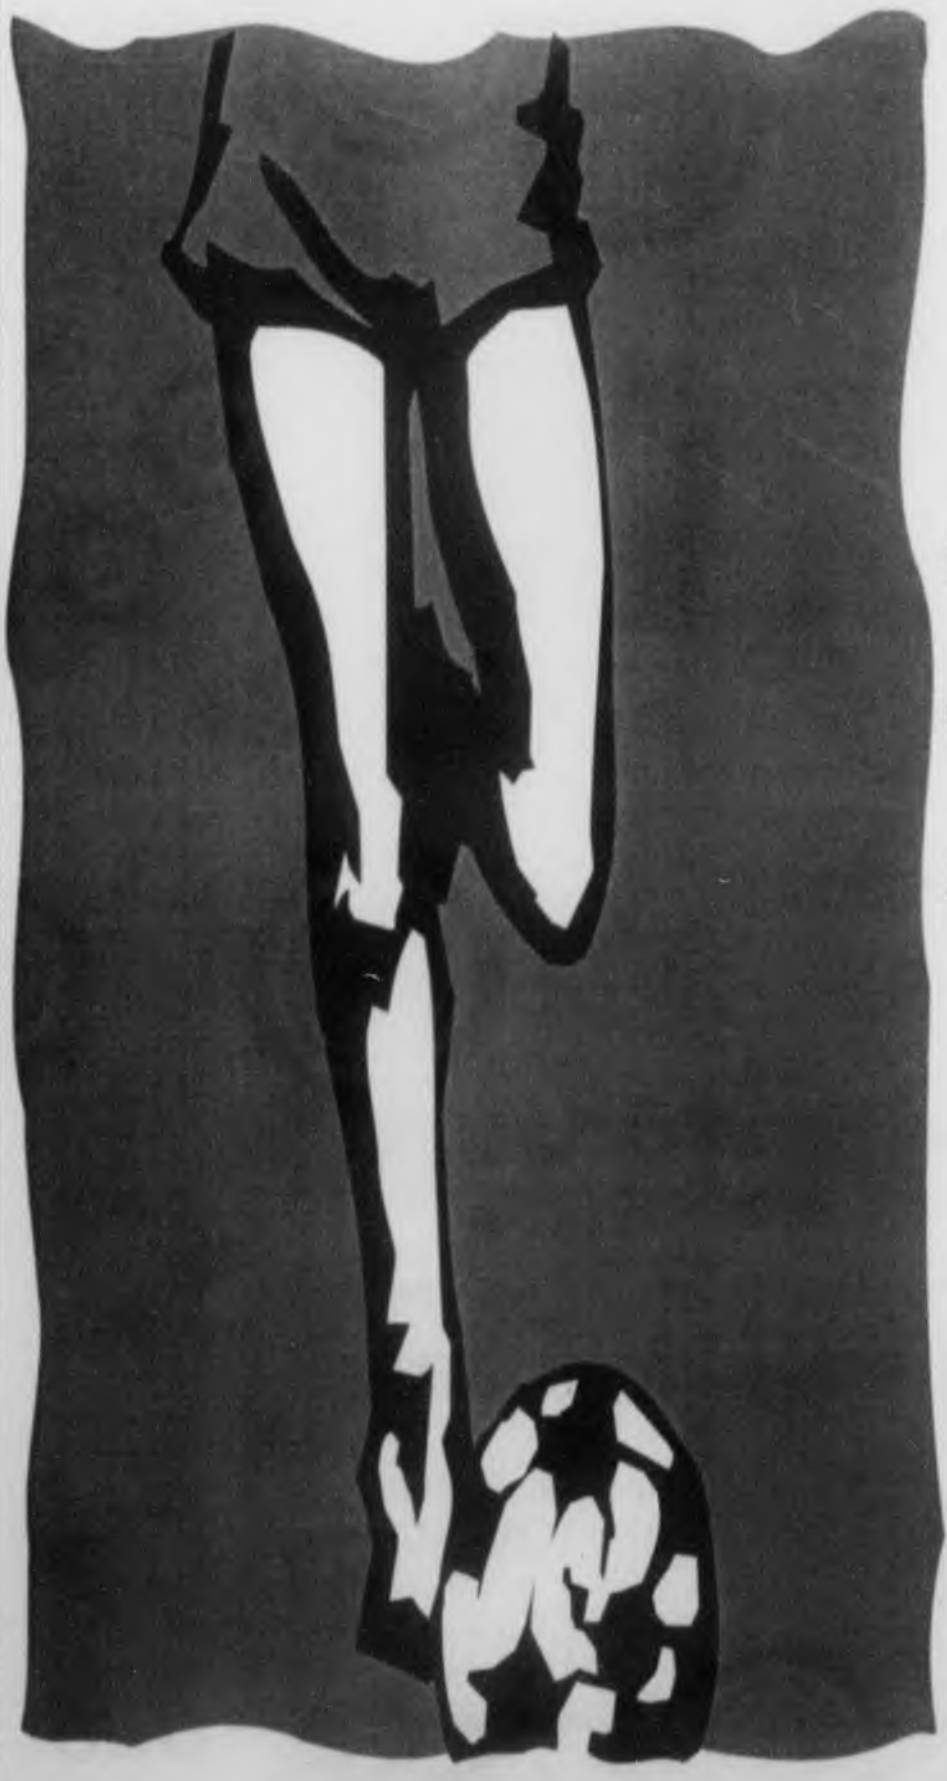
Instruction funded by EOF.

Over a six week period you will be able to attend 24 hours of class. Sessions begin in October. You may begin at any time and continue until you receive the entire course. (24 hours over 6 weeks)

Interested?
Call 532-6137 • Stop by 201 Holton • E-mail jontv@ksu.edu



Kryptallos
"The Store Not To Be Missed"
Gifts • Jewelry • Clothing

Enchanting Gifts For All

• Sterling Silver Jewelry
Rings, Chains & Bracelets
• Decorative Accessories
• Soap • Candles • Incense
• Cards • Gifts • Lamps

708 N. Manhattan • Aggieville

The 22nd annual

KSU-ED Chartrand Memorial

Featuring men's and women's college teams from the Big 12 and across the Midwest.

And it's free.

Sept. 29 - Oct. 1, 2000

SEE KSU AND KU BATTLE IT OUT TONITE UNDER THE LIGHTS!

Anneberg Park
Manhattan

For tournament details and times:
www.chartrand-soccer.org

TODAY'S WEATHER
HIGH 90 ■ LOW 58
MONDAY

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Oct. 2, 2000 ■ Kansas State University ■ Manhattan, Kan. ■ Volume 105, Number 30

K-State moves up to No. 4
■ page 6

Rape reports in Manhattan up from 1999

Preventative Tips

■ Know your rights – Your body belongs to you and you alone.

■ Know your responsibilities – Decide what you do and do not want to do.

■ Communicate with your partner – Make your wishes clear and never assume consent.

■ Trust your instincts – If you feel uncomfortable, get out of the situation, even if you have to make a scene.

■ Get involved in your community – Take a stand against behavior and images that trivialize and condone sexual violence.

Source: Manhattan Crisis Center

By LYNNE HERMANSEN
Kansas State Collegian

Rape is on the rise in Manhattan.

Incidents of rape and sexual assault have increased in the past year.

Last year, 11 sex offenses were reported in Manhattan, and so far in 2000, there have been 19.

In Riley County, excluding Manhattan, six sex offenses were reported in 1999, and four have been recorded so far in 2000.

In the past two years, campus police have received no reports of rape.

"It makes me feel more comfortable on campus, knowing that no rapes have been reported, and that we have a fairly safe campus," Darcy Kemmis, sophomore in pre-med, said.

Students view campus as safe but still take precautions.

"Even though I feel safe on campus, I still try not to walk by myself at night," Kemmis said.

Some students said they try to find rides with friends or walk home with friends.

"I feel safe walking alone, but I don't take chances," Heidi Goff, sophomore in early childhood education, said.

Preparation for unsafe situations also is important for some students.

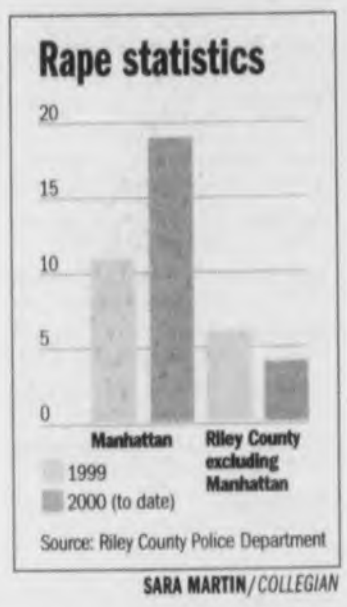
"Even though we have a safe campus for the most part, it never hurts to build up an awareness," Michelle Maynes, freshman in secondary education, said.

Rape, as defined by Kansas state law, is sexual intercourse with a person who does not consent to the sexual intercourse. The law goes into further detail, stating it is unlawful when a victim is overcome by force or fear, unconscious, physically powerless, has a mental deficiency or disease, under the influence of alcohol or drugs or younger than 14.

Students are advised to practice prevention tips and safety awareness.

"Students should use the common sense rules, such as walking with friends, being alert and aware of surroundings," Lt. Patrol Commander Richard Herrman said. "Try to avoid talking to suspicious strangers, and always be forceful in your replies."

On Wednesday, West Hall organized a three-hour self-defense class for its residents.



"They taught moves that I had never thought of before," Maynes said. "It gave us things to think about."

Besides self-defense moves, the class gave awareness tips to help the residents learn how to protect themselves in unwanted situations.

"You can't learn everything that you need to know to save your life in three hours," Maynes said. "It could happen whenever and wherever, one never knows, so it helps to protect yourself."

Maynes said the class was beneficial to freshmen and new students.

"Especially being a freshman in new surroundings, it helps to be aware and prepared to protect yourself," she said.

SARA MARTIN/COLLEGIAN

Cats compete against Hawks in blood drive

■ Semi-annual contest for donations begins today.

0 PINTS Battle for BLOOD

By JAMIE BARRETT
Kansas State Collegian

K-State students will need to shed some blood this week in order to beat the University of Kansas in the semi-annual blood drive competition.

Nancy Powell, representative for Red Cross Blood Services, said the competition between K-State and KU brings in the most blood within the central plains region.

"Last year, K-State won the competition and was the largest blood provider in the region," Powell said.

The drive will be from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. today through Friday in the K-State Student Union and from 4 to 9 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Chester E. Peters Recreational Complex. Putnam Hall will be the site of a residence hall blood drive from 1 to 7 p.m. on Thursday. Powell said walk-in donors are welcome.

Stacey Huerter, junior in elementary education and member of the blood drive coordinating team, said the competition between K-State and KU drives many people to donate blood, but this year there will be a slight change.

"KU is not having their drive until later, so we will not be able to see any numbers for several weeks," she said.

Huerter said she doesn't think the fact that KU won't be having their drive until later will discourage volunteers.

"We have had registration teams out signing up people, and we are expecting plenty of people to be walk-in donors as well," Huerter said.

Huerter said the blood drive coordinators are trying new ways to get people to come and donate, one being drawings for the people who come in.

"We will have drawings throughout the day as an incentive for the people who come to donate," Huerter said. "Another interesting thing we will have is a map of the different regions where blood goes so donors can see that their blood may possibly end up near where they are from."

Powell said the blood drive provides blood for 100 hospitals around Kansas. She said blood from the K-State drive goes to counties all over Kansas except for the northeast portion of the state.

"I think it makes students happy to know their blood could be going to help people from the area they are from," she said.

Powell said the blood drive is already looking to be successful due to the campus organizations involved with recruiting.

"There were many organizations

See BLOOD on PAGE 6

PHOTOS BY JEANEL DRAKE/Collegian

Manhattan resident Ann Crusch and her 5-year-old daughter, Phoebe, look through microscopes at different types of insects as part of the Visitor's Day at Konza Prairie Research Natural Area on Saturday. The days events drew about 1,100 people. BELOW: The desert tarantula was one of many arachnids shown at the Konza Prairie Biological Station's Visitor's Day on Saturday. The Konza Prairie is six miles south of Manhattan on McDowell Creek Road.

U.S., European Union make trade agreement

By MARTIN CRUTSINGER
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The United States and the European Union reached agreement Saturday to delay imposition of a possible $4 billion in economic sanctions against the United States in a trade dispute involving tax breaks for American exports.

The deal was announced by the Clinton administration, which had been negotiating against a midnight Saturday deadline for overhauling U.S. tax laws to come into compliance with the adverse ruling from the World Trade Organization.

Under the procedural agreement, Congress will have until Nov. 1 to pass the legislation. The EU agreed not to impose any penalties until a separate WTO panel can rule on whether the new legislation complies with WTO rules.

"The United States and European Union today demonstrated a commitment to avoid escalating trans-Atlantic trade tensions and managing this WTO trade dispute responsibly," U.S. Trade Representative Charlene Barshefsky said in a statement.

The dispute involves the biggest case the United States has lost before the Geneva-based WTO, which ruled that America's system of granting tax breaks to U.S. companies that send goods abroad did not comply with WTO rules.

Congress faced a Sunday deadline from the WTO for passing new legislation. When it became clear that the deadline would not be met, the administration began negotiations with the EU in an effort to postpone any threatened sanctions.

A more public prairie

■ Guests invited to experience Konza life during Visitors' Day.

By DALAENA NEFF
Kansas State Collegian

Arline and John Novak are impressed with what K-State researchers are doing with the Konza Prairie.

"We just think that the prairie is super," Arline Novak said. "That is why we made a point to come out here and see what all has been done."

The Novaks were just two of the many guests of the Konza Prairie Biological Station's Visitors' Day on Saturday.

The Konza Prairie Research natural Area, six miles south of Manhattan on McDowell Creek Road, has its Visitors' Day once every two years.

David Hartnett, director of the biological station and professor of biology at K-State, said Visitors' Day allows the public to see parts of the prairie they normally would not be allowed to see.

"The reason for this is because most land area is closed to public access because of research, but Visitors' Day allows the public to see parts of the prairie and learn about the research activities," Hartnett said.

There are 2,000 acres of the total 8,600 acres of Konza open to the public year-round, Hartnett said. This area is located on the north part and includes three hiking trail loops that are open from dawn till dusk, he said.

Hartnett said the Biological Station was founded in 1971 to preserve the endangered prairie.

See OPEN HOUSE on PAGE 6

CONTACT US

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
532-0729 rdunn@collegianmail.com

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
532-0729 tehmke@collegianmail.com

Steve Dearinger Photo Editor
532-5492 sdearinger@collegianmail.com

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
532-0730 jbarrett@collegianmail.com

Sarah Bahari City & Government Editor
532-0730 sbahari@collegianmail.com

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
532-0732 kdymacek@collegianmail.com

Derek Boss Sports Editor
532-0732 dboss@collegianmail.com

Erin Schnewels Opinion Editor
532-0732 eschnewels@collegianmail.com

Ken Wells Online Editor
532-6556 kwells@collegianmail.com

Becky Wilson Copy Chief
532-0732 bwilson@collegianmail.com

Sara Martin Design Editor
532-0731 smartin@collegianmail.com

Jim Calvert Ad Manager
532-6560 jimcalvert@collegianmail.com

Alissa Duncan Assistant Ad Manager
532-6560 aduncan@collegianmail.com

Molly Brammer Online Ad Manager
532-6560 molly@collegianmail.com

BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Display advertising	532-6560
Classified advertising	532-6555
Delivery Problems	532-6555
Photo Reprints	532-6304

BY MAIL
Kansas State Collegian
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

ON THE WEB
www.kstatecollegian.com

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 2000

CSU makes merger plans with 3 Colorado colleges

FORT COLLINS, Colo. — Officials at Colorado State University are still mulling over a recommendation to make three smaller state colleges branches of CSU.

CSU President Albert Yates said he wants to make sure the proposal in a new report would not harm the university's reputation or hurt the institution financially.

"The reason we are talking about this, pure and simple, is because of the success and stature of CSU, without which the system is nothing," Yates said. "If there is something risking the reputation of CSU, harming it in any way, then everybody loses."

CSU currently anchors a system that includes the University of Southern Colorado in Pueblo and Fort Lewis College in Durango.

A study by outside consultants has recommended bringing Adams State College in Alamosa, Western State College in Gunnison and Mesa State College in Grand Junction into the CSU system.

State Board of Agriculture members, who govern the CSU system, will discuss a response to the report by the Northwest Education Research Center on Oct. 11, when they meet in Durango.

CSU is a major research university with a $500-million budget and 23,098 students. It offers graduate and doctoral programs in numerous disciplines.

The three state schools have budgets of about $20 million each and a combined enrollment of about 10,000. They offer few, if any, graduate programs and have different undergraduate admission requirements.

Yates said how these substantial gaps would be bridged need to be answered before CSU would endorse the proposal.

The agriculture board will send its response to the Northwest Education Research Center consultants by Oct. 15. and they will issue a final version of their report by Nov. 1.

— The Associated Press

CORRECTIONS & CLARIFICATIONS

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Jenn Davoren at 532-6556 or e-mail collegn@ksu.edu.

ON RECORD

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ KSU Potter's Guild's annual pottery sale will run from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., today through Wednesday on the northeast side of the K-State Student Union.

■ The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Monte Selby, "Ethical School Leadership: Transforming Perspectives on Policy and Political Influence," at 1 p.m. today in Bluemont 341.

■ KSU Aikido will meet at 7 tonight in Ahearn 301.

■ Apostolic Campus Ministry will meet at 7 p.m. tonight in Union 204.

■ Beta Alpha Psi will meet at 7 tonight in the Union Big 12 Room.

■ Christian Science Organization will meet at 7 tonight in Danforth Chapel.

■ Phi Eta Sigma will meet at 9 tonight in the Union Big 12 Room.

■ Future Financial Planners will meet at 5 p.m. Tuesday in Justin 247.

■ Hispanic-American Leadership Organization will meet at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday in Hale Library Tower Room 3.

■ Career & Employment Services will conduct a Résumé-Building Workshop at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday in Union 213.

■ KSU Creative Arts Therapists will meet at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday in Nichols 13.

■ Society of Women Engineers will meet at 6:20 p.m. Tuesday in the Union Courtyard.

■ International Interior Design Association will meet at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in Union 209.

■ Pre-Nursing Club will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Union 206.

■ Alpha Epsilon Delta will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Union Big 12 Room.

■ KSU Trapshooting Club will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Union 205. All students, faculty and staff are welcome.

■ Society for Creative Anachronism/ Shire of the Spinning Winds will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the southeast part of Manhattan City Park.

■ Block and Bridle will meet at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday in Weber 123 for yearbook pictures. Please wear business attire.

■ A beginning sign language class will be offered beginning Tuesday, Oct. 10, and will run through March 13. Classes will meet from 6:30-7:30 p.m. Tuesdays at the College Height Baptist Church, 2320 Anderson Avenue. Registration deadline is Oct. 6. For more information, contact instructor Julie Carver at 539-7740 or jycarver@flinthills.com.

■ The K-State Community Service Program is accepting applications for the America Reads–America Counts Tutoring Program. Applicants must have work-study. Tutors work one-on-one with area elementary students in reading and math. For more information, contact Angie at 532-5701 or e-mail ksuserve@ksu.edu.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Riley County

Thursday, Sept. 28

■ At 8:30 a.m., Kenneth R. Codding, Pawhuska, Okla., was arrested for worthless checks, failure to appear and probation violation. Bond was set at $3,500.

■ At 11:22 a.m., Juan A. Beatty, Topeka, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $5,000.

■ At 12:43 p.m., George A. Raby, Jr., Louisville, Kan., was arrested for identity theft. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 2:45 p.m., Phillip J. Guillen, 1004 Thurston St., was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $200.

■ At 9:25 p.m., Ronyel N. Boyd, Ogden, was arrested for battery. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 9:30 p.m., Diomi M. Boyd, Ogden, was arrested for battery. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 9:57 p.m., Annie E. Hurt, 1111 Vattier, Apt. 10, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 11:09 p.m., John J. Wedel, 1219 Claflin, Apt. 2, was issued a notice to appear for obstruction of the legal process and unlawful use of a driver's license.

Friday, Sept. 29

■ At 12:07 a.m., Clayton M. Schartz, 508 Denison Ave., was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 12:44 a.m., Katherine Ducharme, Goodnow 303, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 3:04 a.m., Lawrence C. Conner, Wamego, was arrested for disorderly conduct.

■ At 3:04 a.m., Thomas J. Leathers, 1611 Laramie St., Apt. 3, was arrested for disorderly conduct and possession of a suspended driver's license.

■ At 3:55 a.m., Jason D. Myers, 920 Moro St., was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $2,185.

■ At 8:27 a.m., Carlos J. Silva, Alma, Kan., was arrested for failure to appear.

■ At 2:16 p.m., Darnell E. Dell, 1308 Flint Hills Place, was arrested for criminal threat. Bond was set at $1,500.

■ At 2:46 p.m., Ralph D. Webber, 600 Colorado St., was arrested for probation violation.

■ At 3:22 p.m., Annette Y. Black, Junction City, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $200.

■ At 4:53 p.m., Chad M. Herman, 805 N. 5th St., was arrested for reckless driving.

■ At 8:25 p.m., Derek Falk, 527 Bertrand St., was issued a notice to appear for urinating in public.

■ At 10:34 p.m., Paul W. Jefferis, 1230 Claflin Road, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

Saturday, Sept. 30

■ At 1:21 a.m., Steven J. Hodges, 830 Kearney St., was issued a notice to appear for open container.

■ At 4:07 a.m., Charles O. Brown, 711 Allison Ave., Apt. 5, was arrested for obstructing the legal process, possession of drug paraphernalia, possession of opiates, possession of controlled substance and no drug tax stamp.

■ At 11 p.m., Gregory D. O'Bryan, St. Louis, Mo., was issued a notice to appear for intoxicated person in the roadway.

Sunday, Sept. 31

■ At 12:20 a.m., Kristin A. Brinkman, 1010 Thurston St., was issued a notice to appear for unlawful use of a driver's license.

■ At 12:38 a.m., Jonathan Harold Lee Mullins, 4440 Tuttle Creek Blvd., was arrested for driving on a suspended license. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 12:39 a.m., Aaron M. Connett, 324 Poliska Lane, was arrested for battery of a law officer. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 1:11 a.m., Percy I. Aikens, Fort Riley, was arrested for disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

■ At 1:40 a.m., Joe L. Hall, Jr., 805 Fremont, was arrested for falsely reporting a crime. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 2 a.m., Joshua L. Jones, Norfolk, Neb., was arrested for battery.

K-State Police

■ No reports of note were made.

GET YOUR FOOT IN THE DOOR.

You're about to graduate and put your education to work. You've got your whole future ahead of you and you're ready to get started. Here's how:

Gap Inc. needs talented, enthusiastic people to help take our business to the next level. That's why we're looking for recent college graduates for entry-level positions in:

• College Manager-in-Training

Gap Inc. has come a long way since we started as a single jeans store in 1969 in San Francisco. Today our three distinct brands—Gap, Banana Republic and Old Navy—are leading retail brands and have revenues topping $11.6 billion.

We offer unlimited career opportunities, thousands of locations and excellent benefits. Take a step in the right direction. Watch your career grow at Gap Inc.

We will be hosting on-campus interviews on October 26th, 2000. Interested? Drop off your résumé to your campus career center by October 9th, 2000.

GAP INC.
WHERE TO WORK.

Gap Inc.
Gap
Banana Republic
Old Navy

EOE

JEANEL DRAKE/Collegian

Ten-year-old Meagan Goscha (left) and Doni O'Dell, 11, remove wood chips from their shoes in front of the new playground equipment at Redbud Estates. The equipment was purchased by the management at Redbud in order to give the 300 children living in the area a new place to play.

Manager improves housing with addition to playground

By SARAH BAHARI
Kansas State Collegian

Ten-year-old Brock O'Dell spent most of his weekend outdoors.

O'Dell, along with about 15-20 other children, played on the newly dedicated playground at Redbud Estates, a 378-unit mobile home community.

"It gives kids a chance to have something new to play with besides merry-go-rounds and swings," O'Dell said. "All we used to be able to do was go to the old park, and it wasn't very much fun, and the wood was rotting."

The new $30,000 addition, which features a rock-climbing wall, a few slides and monkey bars, will keep children busy, David Williams, father of three children, said.

"It gets them out of trouble, keeps them active, and they can release energy," he said. "It's better than them running around on the streets."

The playground is one of several improvements General Manager Paul Bowman has made or plans to make to improve the image of the mobile home community.

"We provide affordable housing," he said. "Sometimes affordable housing means slums. We're trying to also provide a quality place."

One of the most significant changes Bowman has made is automatic evictions for arrests for narcotics or violent acts of any sort.

When Bowman became manager in February he made the policy, but he reemphasized it one month ago. Since that time, two people have been evicted because of the policy.

"It's to clean up the community," he said. "It's bad for kids to see that happening."

Bowman said the policy has already helped.

"We've had very few arrests of any sort in the last few months," he said. "We're finding we're also having better retention rates."

Better retention leads to a stronger community feel since neighbors are getting to know each other better, Bowman said.

Out of the approximately 800 residents at Redbud, Bowman estimated that about 300 are college students.

There are several benefits to students living there, he said.

"It is quiet — quieter than dorms or some apartments," he said. "It's conveniently located and inexpensive."

There are still improvements to be made to the estate, including street repair, updating the 150 trailers Redbud owns and construction of a club house, Bowman said.

1st impression important when answering business phones

By NANCY FOSTER
Kansas State Collegian

There is a correct way to answer the phone.

Patricia Howell, assistant director of employee relations and training said there are four steps to follow when answering the phone when on the job. First, greet the caller. Second, state your department or unit name. Third, introduce yourself, and lastly, offer your help.

She said the first contact with people is crucial in making a good impression.

"Yet we put our most inexperienced people there," she said. "Many times, we put students there who haven't had the professional experience."

To help students and workers learn how to better answer the phone, Howell taught a Basic Telephone Skills class. Classes took place Thursday afternoon and Friday morning, but Howell said more will be offered throughout the year.

She said that when people on campus answer the phone, they have the whole weight of the campus on their shoulders, and that is why the first impression is so important.

One tip of advice Howell offered was to smile when picking up the phone.

"True, they don't see the smile, but they can hear it, and it communicates greater enthusiasm," she said.

Answering the phone with enthusiasm and friendliness is highly important, she said.

"One thing we don't want to do is practice on the caller," she said.

Practicing answering the phone with other office staff is a good idea, she said. It eliminates practicing on the caller, and allows one to try using different telephone features, such as hold and transfer.

Eating and drinking while on the phone are a big no, she said.

"People can hear that, and it's magnified on the phone," Howell said.

Articulation is also very important, she said.

"They are depending solely on auditory communication, so you really need to articulate," she said.

Other tips of advice included: answer the phone within three rings, hold transmitter portion of telephone directly in front of mouth, don't carry on two conversations at once and make sure the caller is on hold before discussing with others.

The class also gave tips on taking messages, transferring calls, placing callers on hold, how to handle upset callers and closing conversation politely.

Tekina Deters, student office assistant in human ecology, said she was glad her supervisor recommended that she take the class.

"It was very helpful," she said. "It was really good to get the experience."

Terri Savage, office assistant in human resources, said her supervisor also recommended she take the class.

"He thought it would be good to pick up some skills that I wasn't aware of or didn't know," she said.

Savage said she was glad she did, because she learned several things. One main thing she learned was how to better handle upset callers.

"I thought it was going to be nothing, but it was really good," Savage said. "I learned things that I'll use."

STATEMENTS TO AVOID WHEN TAKING MESSAGES

Employees might unknowingly leave customers with negative perceptions when making telephone statements. Here are examples of some common statements to avoid:

1. I'm sorry. Helen is still at lunch.
2. I don't know where he is. May I take your number and have him call you?
3. I think she is still having coffee. I'll have her call you.
4. She is in the middle of a crisis. Would you like to leave a message?
5. He is at the doctor's office.
6. She went home early.
7. I'm sorry, Mr. Smith has not come in to work yet.
8. Henry takes forever to answer the phone.
9. Julie must be in the bathroom. Would you like to leave a message?

joes
Big Monday at Joe's
10¢ Killer Wings 5-9 p.m.
$2.00 Big Bud and Bud Light Draws
"Keep the Cup"
Chiefs vs. Seahawks
Tons of Bud Prizes
JOE'S TAP ROOM Home of The Kamikaze

Proteus and Valentine love the same girl.
So now Julia is dressing up like a man.
And meanwhile a couple of clowns are running the show.
This could get messy.
TWO GENTLEMEN OF VERONA
KSU Theatre presents
a comedy by Mr. William Shakespeare
October 5-7, 11-14
Nichols Theatre 8 p.m.
$6 for students and seniors
$9 for everybody else
Call the McCain box office at 532-6428 from noon to 6:00 p.m.

Wardrobe Sale
Now thru October 7th
Hurry in for best selection.
• Save $50.00 on any 1 suit or sportcoat & slack combination (vest blazer excluded)
• Save $125.00 on any 2 suits or sportcoat and slack combination
• Choose from our large selection of New Fall Clothing (Regular prices $295-$595)
• Short, regular, long, big & tall sizes
• Featuring Hart Schaffner & Marx and Borck Brothers Collection
(in stock merchandise only. Not good with any other offer.)
Borck Brothers
Manhattan's Leading Menswear Store
Westloop Shopping Center
Mon-Sat 9:30 - 5:30 Thursday until 8
785-537-8636 • www.borck-bros

Delivers the latest!
OPEN LATE! GUMBY'S Pizza & Pub OPEN LATE!
702 N. 11th Street
770-3333
Sunday 11a.m. - 2 a.m.
Mon. - Wed. 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.
Thur. - Sat. 11a.m. - 3:30 a.m.
Checks add 50¢
770-3333 Fast Delivery, Dine-In, Carry-Out
GUMBY'S VALUE MEAL
Choose Any One of the Following: FOR $6.99 + Tax
1. 14" 1-Topping Pizza
2. 12" 1-Topping Pizza & 1 Soda
3. 10" 2-Topping Pizza & 1 Soda
4. 10 Wings & 1 Soda
5. 10" Pokey Stix & 1 Soda
6. 10" Cheese Pizza and 5 Wings
7. 12" Pokey Stix & Soda
8. 10" Cheese Pizza & 2 Pepperoni Rolls
9. 5 Pepperoni Rolls & 1 Soda
10. 14" Pokey Stix
CARRY-OUT SPECIALS
16" 1-Topping $6.99
14" 1-Topping $5.99
BONUS BUYS MENU with any food purchase
• 10 Wings...ONLY $3.99
• Medium Pokey Stix ONLY $3.99
• 4 Pepperoni Rolls...ONLY$2.99
THE BIG ASS
One 20" Massive 1-Topping Pizza
$10.99
2 for $19.99
Additional Toppings $1.30 per pizza
EVERY PIZZA GETS A FREE RANCH • EVERY MONDAY IS DOUBLE RANCH DAY!

Be SEEN
where it counts
The Royal Purple yearbook and Thornton Studio are coming to you for FREE portrait pictures.
TODAY
Monday, October 2
Haymaker Hall 9 a.m - 5 p.m.
Moore Hall 6:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.
TUESDAY
Oct. 3
Marlatt Hall 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Van Zile Hall 6:30 -9:30 p.m.
Order your yearbook for $29.95.
royalpurple.ksu.edu
2001 Royal Purple YEARBOOK

Blood donation victory good for reputation

It is almost a given that K-State will triumph over KU this weekend on the football field.

Yet there is something else that those who bleed purple can do to surpass our crimson rival.

Donate blood.

The drive will start today and finish up Friday in the K-State Student Union, from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. There also will be an opportunity to donate blood from 4 to 9 p.m. today, Tuesday and Wednesday at Chester E. Peters Recreational Complex. The residence hall blood drive will be from 1 to 7 p.m. on Thursday in Putnam Hall.

Last year, K-State won the competition and proved itself to be the largest blood provider in the region.

We have a reputation to uphold, a reputation that will help provide 100 hospitals around Kansas with much needed blood.

It isn't necessarily about the competition — that is just an added bonus. More so, it is a chance to help out those lives that depend on it.

Kudos to the pre-veterinary club, the residence halls, Golden Key National Honor Society, Phi Gamma Delta, the Red Cross Blood Services and the blood drive coordinating team. All of those groups are doing something to make a positive difference.

Take the initiative to do something that will not only benefit the reputation of K-State, but also benefit those who are surviving by the generosity of others.

▶ OUR VIEW
is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Reed Dunn
Editor in Chief

Tanner Ehmke
Managing Editor

Jenn Davoren
News Editor

Erin Schneweis
Opinion Editor

Jamie Barrett
Campus Editor

Sarah Bahari
City/Government Editor

Kristen Dymacek
Arts & Entertainment Editor

Derek Boss
Sports Editor

Becky Wilson
Copy Chief

Sara Martin
Design Editor

Dodging presidential character

Bush failed to fulfill commitment that kept him from Vietnam War

TERRY WELCH

How soon we forget.

During the 1992 presidential campaign, much was made of Bill Clinton's use of a student deferment to keep from being drafted and sent to Vietnam. One Air Force general, as a matter of fact, was relieved from duty when, after the election, he referred to his commander-in-chief as a "pot-smoking draft-dodger" in front of the press.

Now, eight years later, George W. Bush, a draft-dodger, is a short step away from the presidency, and everyone seems not to have noticed.

Many people would like to say that you cannot compare Clinton's action and Bush's. Bush, after all, joined another branch of service, so was unavailable to serve in Vietnam. I say that, in a way, you're right. You can't compare the actions of Clinton and Bush. You can't compare their actions because Clinton was actually qualified to receive his deferment.

Remember that, no matter what you may think of the man, Clinton is one smart guy. He attended Oxford on a Rhodes Scholarship during the Vietnam War. Clearly, he was the type of man for whom the student deferment was intended.

Bush, on the other hand, received a score of 25 percent on a pilot aptitude test, yet passed over a waiting list of more than 500 in gaining a coveted Air National Guard commission. At the time his father was a Texas senator and, no matter what Bush might say now, politics was obviously involved in his being accepted.

Ben Barnes, speaker of the Texas House in 1968, admitted in a sworn deposition in 1999 that he had made calls to Guard officials on Bush's behalf at the behest of a Bush family friend.

I will admit that I understand, as most should, Bush's desire to avoid Vietnam. I would like to think that, as a veteran myself, I would have chosen a different path than he, but who can say?

What cannot be understood (and should not be overlooked) is that after receiving an opportunity to avoid service in wartime, Bush did not fulfill the commitment that kept him out of the war and was basically AWOL for an entire year.

In May 1972, Bush requested a transfer to an Air National Guard unit in Montgomery, Ala., in order to assist with a Republican senate race. (The transfer was, by the way, denied by the Air Reserve Personnel Center, but Bush went anyway.) This request was a strange move for a man who now touts his "love" of flying, as the unit in question was a postal unit. One possible explanation for this move was unearthed by London's Sunday Times, which discovered that, later in that year, Bush would be grounded for failing to take a physical that included a drug test. The policy was a new one in 1972, implemented only one month before Bush requested his transfer to Alabama.

But Bush would still have had to take the drug test in Alabama. The only way he could have avoided it was to simply not show up.

Which is exactly what he did.

From May 1972 to May 1973, there is no record in Bush's military service record that he fulfilled even one day of his 36-day military obligation. Retired Gen. William Turnipseed, commander of the Alabama unit, has backed this up, saying that Bush never reported for service in his unit.

It should be remembered that, while Bush has admitted to having something of a wild youth, he has commented about drugs only to say, in 1999, that he could have passed the strictest oath required for federal service, which says that the applicant has not used illegal drugs in 25 years. Bush, therefore, has only said that he hasn't used drugs since 1974, when he was already out of the Air National Guard.

Bush has denied allegations that he went AWOL, but not strongly. He said, through a spokesperson, that he had "some recollection" of attending his required drills.

As Bush attacks Gore on issues of character and military readiness, we should keep in mind his actions during the Vietnam War and remember a statement he made to National Guard Review in 1998.

In an interview, Bush was recalling the camaraderie among Air National Guardsmen when he said, "I can remember walking up to my F-102 fighter and seeing the mechanics there. I was on the same team as them, and I relied on them to make sure that I wasn't jumping out of an airplane. There was a sense of shared responsibility in that case. The responsibility to get the airplane down. The responsibility to show up and do your job."

Terry is a senior in English. You can e-mail him at twelch@collegianmail.com

TIA TOMS/Collegian

CAMPUS fourum 395-4444

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions on topics relevant to the publication.

OK, so they're going to put a building at the end of Memorial Stadium. The way I figure, we have a semester and a half of a good grass, Z lot, until they put a building on it.

■

I guess it looks like Project Wellness' ad space has been bought out by Project Mouth Cancer.

■

To the guy who was complaining about only getting $10,000 a year for being an economics GTA: that is a lot more than English GTAs get. Just thought I would let you know.

■

I don't think I am the only one who thinks that $11 million is an obscene amount of money to pay for a glorified Alumni Association building. It's ridiculous.

■

If the Cats' Den doesn't sell Coke or coffee, then what good is it?

■

How come we have so many vending machines and so many classrooms that don't allow food or drink? Man, that's weird.

■

I don't think you guys write enough about the football team. I think you guys should really write more about football.

■

I wonder why, in this "diverse" school of ours, we haven't seen an African-American Willie the Wildcat yet.

■

Colorado 28, Kansas State 17 — maybe in 1990. Live in the now.

■

Colorado is the best 0-4 team in the country.

READERS WRITE

Student warns of landlord's treatment, broken promises

Editor,

For me, saying that Mike Lin is a good landlord would be like saying I would like to pass kidney stones.

Several years ago, a few of my roommates and I rented a house from Mike Lin of Linwood Management.

When we toured the house, we mutually agreed it was in need of lots of work, and Lin made many verbal promises of what would be fixed by the time we moved in. Some of the improvements included replacing sheet rock that crumbled to the touch, a bathroom to be remodeled, plus improvements to other bathrooms, among other things. I now know we were naive in trusting him to do the things he agreed to do. When we moved in nothing had been done.

Lin says he has his properties inspected. Had it not been for the city code inspector and the fire marshal who we called on to visit the place, who knows if anything would have ever been done. Both inspectors had more than five pages of improvements to be made or legally we could not live there.

Next, we had to struggle to get our back door replaced, which was just a flimsy interior house door without a deadbolt. And of course, there was the month my bedroom had no electricity.

After several weeks of unreturned phone calls, I used the Kansas Residential Landlord Tenant Act as a reference in a letter saying I would not pay any rent until the problem was fixed. For two months, one of my roommates was not able to sleep in his basement bedroom because it was not suitable for living in.

While living there, we should have fenced off the yard and bought goats. The front yard was mowed three times, and the backyard only once throughout the entire year. By the time we moved out the backyard was waist high.

Speaking of the backyard, the washing machine drained down the back wall of the house. I brought an old piece of house guttering from home so it would at least drain away from the house.

After having Mike Lin as a landlord for a year and constantly fighting to have a livable and safe residence, I have a hard time seeing how a person could live with such little conscience by treating people so poorly.

It doesn't matter that he has good properties when the matter at hand is the unlivable properties he knowingly rents to students. The most immaculate house or apartment in town would not be worth renting if he were the landlord. It would not be worth the trouble.

— Jamie Rogers
senior in music education

Military retirees' campaign effort misleading, partisan

Editor,

On the Sept. 25 5:30 p.m. CBS Network Evening News, the anchor, Dan Rather, aired a segment that stressed recent military retirees — people who gained eagles and then stars during the Clinton administration — are lining up behind the Republican candidate for president, George W. Bush.

Claiming ultraconservative, patriotic status, and also claiming under the Constitution they now have the right to express their views because they have spent their lives protecting the Constitution, these regular general officers and admirals in retired status are making no secret of their desire for a conservative, corporate-oriented Republican administration, that will spend a great deal of money in the military area to come out of the election.

I agree with their claim that freedom of speech is a constitutionally guaranteed right. I honor the fact these men did protect our Constitution in peace and war. I have no problem at all with individual political activity on behalf of the candidate of their choice. I have no problem with individuals joining with citizens of their home communities in working together for the election of a particular candidate.

But when it comes to gathering together on the same stage, perhaps politically influencing personnel presently serving in the Armed Forces, as the newscast suggested, then I join many other Americans in expressing not only concern, but also a sense of outrage and of disappointment. We must all be concerned when generals and admirals join together on the same stage as a single group to engage in a political partisan campaign. We must be concerned because such activity sends a chilling message to those presently serving in uniform with regard to the outcome of this year's election.

To countrymen serving in the armed forces, should anyone — anyone at all, regardless of rank or of status within the military framework — attempt to manipulate your vote, through any means, you then have the duty to report this action to the proper authority. If you feel the chain of command is unresponsive to your concerns, then you still have the moral and ethical duty to do what is legal and right. Such action calls for courage.

To those in uniform receiving complaints, you too have a right, duty, mission, responsibility of proper moral and ethical response. Because someone above you is of higher rank and somehow attempts to impede investigation of improper political activity within the ranks, you too must find the courage and the pride and the wherewithal to be like George Washington in his response to his rebelling officers at the Newburgh winter encampment who wanted him to overthrow Congress and become king.

Washington said no, pointing out that the military is a tool of a free society to defend itself and as such must answer to civilian authority and not ever attempt to be above it. You must be wise, and most of all you must live up to the oath you took, to preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States from all enemies, foreign and domestic. As Americans, you have no other choice.

— Richard Fulton
Kansas Veterans For Gore State coordinator

Professor uses football to explain laws of physics

By DALAENA NEFF
Kansas State Collegian

One of Jonathan Beasley's passes or Mario Fatafehi's tackles is much more than just a part of football. Dean Zollman, professor of physics, and Larry Noble, of the Department of Kinesiology, say it's part of physics.

The tackles, forces of nature, shape of the football, and equipment all relate to physics, Zollman said.

The conservation of momentum is explained through a tackle, he said.

"In a collision, if there is no outside forces acting on something, the momentum before will be the same after the collision," he said. "If a ball carrier that is a relatively small person goes fast and collides with a larger person, they will go back in the direction of the larger person. That is why it is better to tackle someone in front of them, instead of behind."

The forces of nature that effect football is something that everyone knows, but they don't think about it as physics, Zollman said.

Zollman said Newton's Third Law is applied to football when the field is wet.

"This law says that when a foot applies force to the ground, the ground will then apply force back to the foot," he said. "If the contact between the foot and the ground is good, the force will be strong, and we'll move forward. If the force is not strong, the runner will fall down."

Zollman said the shape of the football has a large effect on the game, also.

"Sometimes physics is difficult to students, so if we can relate these concepts to something they are interested in, they'll remember it,"

Dean Zollman, professor of physics

"The people that started this knew the shape of the ball interacted nicely with the air. The spiral means stability," he said. "You can't throw a basketball as far as the football."

Zollman said the air molecules have the ability to speed up or slow down the football.

"Forces of the air molecules will either slow down or speed up the football, depending on if the air molecules are going the same way. If the air molecules are going opposite, it will bang into the football and slow it down," he said.

Each air molecule only has a little bit of momentum, Zollman said.

"Newton's Second Law says if you've got a certain momentum going and you want to change that momentum, the interaction time makes the difference," Zollman said.

An example, he said, would be dropping an egg into a box of styrofoam peanuts. There are small forces applied to it as it stops, so it will not break.

"The same thing is applied to football pads," Zollman said. "When the forces are smaller, they will be less likely to break bones and cause damage. Two shoulder pads sinking into each other is a much slower force than two shoulders."

The concept of friction has to do with the texture of the helmets, Zollman said.

"In 1930s football, they used leather helmets. This can create high friction between it and the ground," he said. "These helmets stick to the ground and since the body would still be moving, they are more likely to cause neck injuries."

With the modern helmet that has a smooth surface, it can reduce neck injuries because is allows it to slide, Zollman said.

Zollman said it is not critical to know the physics of football, but it could make it more enjoyable.

"For most people, the are still going to see whether or not they like the game by who wins, but this gives you one more level of understanding of why things are the way they are, and I think this would increase the enjoyment," Zollman said.

Zollman and Noble use the physics of football as a teaching aide. Noble said they have created a video disk that explains physics through a large variety of sports.

"Sometimes physics is difficult to students, so if we can relate these concepts to something they are interested in, they'll remember it," he said.

The project of creating this video disk was funded by the National Science Foundation, Noble said. This disk is available for sale to high schools and colleges.

Video Discovery is the company that markets the disk, and it has licensed them to do so, Noble said.

"This project has brought in well over $100,000 in revenue to the university. It has been over 10 years since we started, and we are still getting many sales. We feel very good about it's appeal, and it's really been gratifying," Noble said.

Jesse Hale, sophomore in mechanical engineering said he thinks using the physics of football as a teaching aide is a good idea.

"It would bring in into terms with all the people that didn't understand," he said.

However, Hale said he has never thought about physics while watching a football game.

"Nobody thinks about physics during football, except maybe a physics teacher, but I think it'd be a good tool," he said.

Get it online
kstatecollegian.com

Congratulations New Initiates

love,
your Kappa Sisters

PIT STOP AUTOMOTIVE

WINTER SPECIALS
• Tune-Ups • Brakes
• Exhaust • Shocks

OIL CHANGE (Up to 5 qts.) $12.95
TRANSMISSION SERVICE Fluid w/ Filter (most cars) $79.95
Coolant Exchange with New Antifreeze $59.95
4 WHEEL COMPUTER ROTATION AND BALANCE $29.95
Includes free brake inspection for cars and light trucks (By appointment)
MOST CARS
Wilbur Hunter-ASE & Ford Certified 42 Years Experience

1629 FAIRLANE • MANHATTAN • 785-539-6650

Eastside & Westside Markets'
E. Hwy. 24 W. K-18, Manhattan, KS
Fall Apple Guide:

	variety name	eating quality	cooking quality	keeping
Aug. / Sept.	Ekoni-Early Jon	tart	OK for pie, sauce	short
	Gala *	xtra sweet and fruity	great for apple salads	short
	Jonathan *	tangy, tart, crisp	the BEST for pies!	fair
	Ginger Gold *	tart early golden apple	OK for pie, holds shape	fair
	Golden Delicious *	flavorful, sweet, & juicy	OK for pie, add lemon	good
	MacIntosh	fruity, juicy, not hard	great for applesauce	short
	Cortland	similar to Mac's	great for apple salads	short
	Jonagold	flavorful, sweet/tart, juicy	makes a sweet pie	fair
Nov. / Oct.	Red Delicious *	crunchy, sweet, juicy	lousy	fair
	Stellar Gold *	very flavorful, sweet/tart	great for apple salads	great
	Empire	sweet/tart, med. texture	good for pie	fair
	Fuji	sweet and very crisp	needs lemon	great
	Braeburn	super crisp, flavorful	good for pies	fantastic
	Rome	bland, sometimes mealy	good baker, add lemon	good
	Winesap	better after cold storage	great for pies	fantastic
	Granny Smith	tart and very crisp	great for pies	fantastic

* indicates this variety is available NOW!!!

K-State vs. KU Blood Drive Challenge

GIVE BLOOD TODAY!

Come in to donate and register to win a FREE gift certificate.

K-State Union Rooms K, S, & U from 10:30 - 4:30
Rec Center from 4:00 - 9:00

This ad sponsored by Alpha Epsilon Delta

Kansas State University–Ft. Riley

Class Schedule Term 1-2001

October 16–December 16, 2000

Monday/Wednesday 1630–1930

Course Title	Course Number	Credit Hours	Bldg/ Room
Principles of Microeconomics (P)	ECON 120	3	215/226
Intermediate Macroeconomics (P)	ECON 510	3	215/227
Expository Writing I	ENGL 100	3	7604/13
Environmental Geology: Water & Air	GEOL 115	3	7604/12
Intermediate Algebra (P)	MATH 010	3	7604/14
Public Speaking II (P)	SPCH 321	3	215/231

Monday/Wednesday 1700–1930

Elementary Stats & Social Science (P)	STAT 330	3	215/B31

Monday/Wednesday 1930–2230

American Lit: Realists & Moderns	ENGL 272	3	7604/12
World Regional Geography	GEOG 100	3	7604/5
The U.S. and World Affairs (P)	HIST 543	3	7604/13
College Algebra (P)	MATH 100	3	7604/10
Plane Trigonometry (P)	MATH 150	3	215/231
Business & Economic Statistics II (P)	STAT 351	3	215/B31
Accounting for Investing & Finance (P)	ACCTG 241	3	7604/7

Tuesday/Thursday 1630–1930

Expository Writing II	ENGL 200	3	7604/13
The Holocaust (P)	HIST 596	3	7604/14
Intro To Music	MUSIC 250	3	215/231
U.S. Politics	POLSC 325	3	7604/10
Industrial Psychology (P)	PSYCH 560	3	7604/5
Police and Society (P)	SOCIO 362	3	7604/12

Tuesday/Thursday 1930–2230

College Algebra	MATH 100	3	7604/5
Intro To Political Science	POLSC 110	3	7604/10
Psych. Of Childhood & Adolescence (P)	PSYCH 280	3	7604/12
Social Organization (P)	SOCIO 440	3	215/231
Public Speaking I	SPCH 106	3	215/230
Intro to Women's Studies	WOMST 105	3	7604/13

Tuesday/Thursday 1630–1930 and Saturday 0830–1030

Intro to Information Technology Oct. 16–28, 2000	CIS 101	1	215/B35
Spreadsheet Applications (P) Oct. 31–Nov. 11, 2000	CIS 102	1	215/B35
Database Applications (P) Nov. 14–Dec. 2, 2000	CIS 103	1	215/B35
Word Processing Applications (P)	CIS 104	1	215/B35

Enrollment Information
Registration
- Military enrollment began September 5, 2000.
- Civilian enrollment begins October 10, 2000.
- Civilian online, telephone, or fax enrollment begins on the second day of civilian enrollment. A Privacy Act Statement with an original signature must be received for the enrollment to be official.
- Enrollment after the first week of classes requires Instructor/Department approval.
- Military enrollment includes active duty military, retired military, reserve components, family members, DOD/DAC, ROTC Cadets and veterans.

Cost
$100.00 per undergraduate credit hour.

Drop Dates
100% refund if you drop in writing before the second class meeting.
50% refund if you drop in writing on or before November 3, 2000.
Withdrawals after November 3, 2000 will be recorded on transcript.

If you stop attending class and do not process a drop form you will receive a grade of "F".

No drops after November 17, 2000.

PLEASE CHECK WITH OUR OFFICE JUST PRIOR TO CLASSES STARTING FOR POSSIBLE CHANGES IN THE SCHEDULE!!!!!!!

Course/Schedule Notes
0800–1700=8:00 a.m.–5:00 p.m.
0830–1030=8:30 a.m.–10:30 a.m.
0830–1230=8:30 a.m.–12:30 p.m.
1200–1300=12:00–1:00 p.m.
1630–1930=4:30–7:30 p.m.
1700–1930=5:00–7:30 p.m.
1700–2100=5:00–9:00 p.m.
1730–1930=5:30–7:30 p.m.
1930–2230=7:30–10:30 p.m.

Special Assistance
Kansas State University is dedicated to making academic courses accessible to all persons. Contact the Registration Office at 785. 532.5566 or 1.800.432.8222 at least two weeks prior to the beginning of the course if you have a physical or learning disability which would require special accommodations.

For information, call: 239.8246 at Fort Riley or 532.5566 at the Division of Continuing Education in Manhattan or 1.800.432.8222 in the surrounding area.

K-STATE Kansas State University

DCE Division of Continuing Education

This program information, as well as registration information, is available via the World Wide Web at the following address: http://www.dce.ksu.edu/dce/fortriley/term1-2001

OPEN HOUSE

■ continued from page 1

American has been destroyed," he said. "Less than 5 percent remains due to settlers and people using it for farm land."

Hartnett said it is important to keep the prairie that exists in this area preserved.

"The tallgrass prairie is North America's most endangered ecosystem," he said. "Most of it that remains is in our own backyard."

The Nature Conservancy provided the funds to purchase the prairie land, but K-State manages the area.

"The conservancy owns 7,600 acres, and K-State owns 1,000 acres, and K-State leases and manages the entire land as a research facility," Hartnett said.

The most historical piece purchased with this land was the Dewey Ranch, Hartnett said. The ranch includes a three-story limestone ranch house and a large two-story limestone barn that now serves as the station headquarters, he said.

Hartnett said the history of the prairie's name comes from Katharine Ordway.

Ordway donated the money to the conservancy to purchase the land, but requested it be named after the American Indian tribe that lived in this area and gave Kansas its name.

There are many things researchers must do to take care of the prairie, Hartnett said. One aspect of the prairie that concerns many people is burning.

"People new to the area do not understand why there is so much burning. The unfamiliar assume fires are bad," Hartnett said.

Fire is an important and natural part of the system.

"Fire is essential for the prairie," Hartnett said. "It is known that if the prairie is not burned, it will disappear in a matter of a few decades."

Ryan Rehmeier, graduate student in mammalian ecology, is directly involved with the Konza burning.

Rehmeier said they use a "ring-fire technique" to have a controlled prairie fire.

"We have the Konza split into 60 water-shed treatment units," he said. "The fire is started on the down-side of the wind, and we make a circle of fire around the water-shed. This helps maintain the fire."

Rehmeier said there are annual, two-year, four-year, 10-year and 20-year burns, and that there are many benefits to prairie burning.

"It increases production for the next year, because the seedlings have plenty of light. The cleaning of the litter creates more light," he said.

The Novaks said they understand the importance of the burning.

"Prairie burning is necessary. Burning has been an agent for renewal for thousands of years. If it wasn't for the burning, it wouldn't be a prairie, it'd be a forest," Arline Novak said.

John Novak said it is important for people to have the opportunity to see the effects the researchers at Konza are doing.

"Because of things like this, people are becoming more and more aware of the natural mix and scheme of things. It is more effective, and now they are seeing it is more economic," he said. "The prevailing mindset used to be natural disaster instead of natural renewal."

A new addition to Konza's Visitors' Day was the live animal exhibit. This included many live reptiles, amphibians, insect and mammal displays.

Mardee Matlack, a volunteer for Visitors' Day, showed her common king snake to the public. She also was involved in catching and displaying other animals.

Matlack said she thought the animal exhibit was a good addition.

"It puts more for the kids. This gives them a better opportunity to have a hands-on experience and to see them live," she said.

Matlack said her husband got her interested in these types of animals.

"My husband and I believe education of reptiles and amphibians is the key to having people not kill them because of their fear," she said. "If we start educating at a young age, they won't be as scared and willing to kill them."

Tom Van Slyke, Konza site manager, said the final count for the day was 1,081 people.

"It was spread out extremely well over the day, and it was our most successful year yet," he said.

BLOOD DRIVE

■ continued from page 1

such as the pre-veterinary club, the residence halls and Golden Key who have helped recruit and are volunteering for the drive," Powell said.

Max Lehman, junior in civil engineering and Phi Gamma Delta member, said the blood drive is a philanthropy for the Fiji's, and they have been active in recruitment and will serve as volunteers for the drive as well.

"The blood drive is something we enjoy doing," Lehman said. "We participated in it last spring, and this semester we have been working on recruiting people in greek houses.

"We got guys voicing the blood drive in different houses and really got the word out to a lot of people."

Powell said students should take the time to come donate not only to beat KU, but because giving blood is an easy way to make a difference and do something that could have an effect on someone's life.

Collingwood Grain Inc.

Will be holding interviews at Career and Placement Services on October 3rd.

Positions for December and May graduates as well as internship opportunities are available.

Congratulations New Deltas on your Initiation!

❤ Your ΑΔΠ Sisters

Mandy Achilles, Jill Anderson, Brooke Barrett, Rebecca Briggeman, Molly Brooks, Loretta Bunck, Sarah Call, Tracy Carpenter, Sunny Craig, Megan Curtin, Julie Davenport, Courtney Davis, Brianna Gaskill, Brooke Gates, Melissa Gaunt, Andrea Grace, Katie Hedberg, Erin Hickey, Heather Hogan, Kelsey Holste, Becky Howe, Jennifer Isaac, Katie Ketchum, Kristi King, Heidi Kreutzer, Jenny Lynn, Michelle Marks, Michelle Marquez, Erica Martin, Meghann Martin, Jenny Messerly, Ali Miller, Christyn Murdock, Tara O'Connor, Jamie Oder, Kathy Olson, Lindsey Porter, Jennifer Prieb, Heather Queen, Lindsey Rein, Abbie Rondeau, Laura Ross, Lindsay Shaw, Molly Toll, Marissa VanDover, Leslie VanNordstrand, Sarah Voos, Heidi White, Angela Williams, Beth Younger

ΑΔΠ

Union Soul Cafe

An evening filled with jazz, conversation and coffee. Relax in the Union Station from 8-11 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 4

Union Soul Cafe will also be on Nov. 1 and Dec. 6
Provided by St. Francis Canterbury and Lutheran Campus Ministries

2000 2001

Don,t lose touch.

Get a K-State Campus Phone Book

FOOTBALL, WINGS AND BEER... WHAT CAN BE BETTER?

Seattle vs. Kansas City Tonight! Guest score & win prizes

10¢ wings Mondays are back!

$1 Domestic Draws

START EARLY... DRINK LATE

12th & Laramie

5 HUGE MOUNTAINS!

16th ANNUAL ski Steamboat

NATIONAL COLLEGE WEEK

Complete College Ski Package from only $189

1-88U-SKITHIS (1-888-754-8447)

www.Uskithis.com

中國屋

Chinese Chef

Authentic Chinese Food

DINE IN or CARRY OUT

DRIVE THRU

DAILY SPECIALS

$3.95

Phone 537-1111

2704 Anderson Ave.

Daily Special $ 3.95

Hours Open :

Mon. - Thurs. 11:00 am - 10:00 pm

Fri. - Sat. 11:00 am - 10:30 pm

Why Not... Do something Cool!

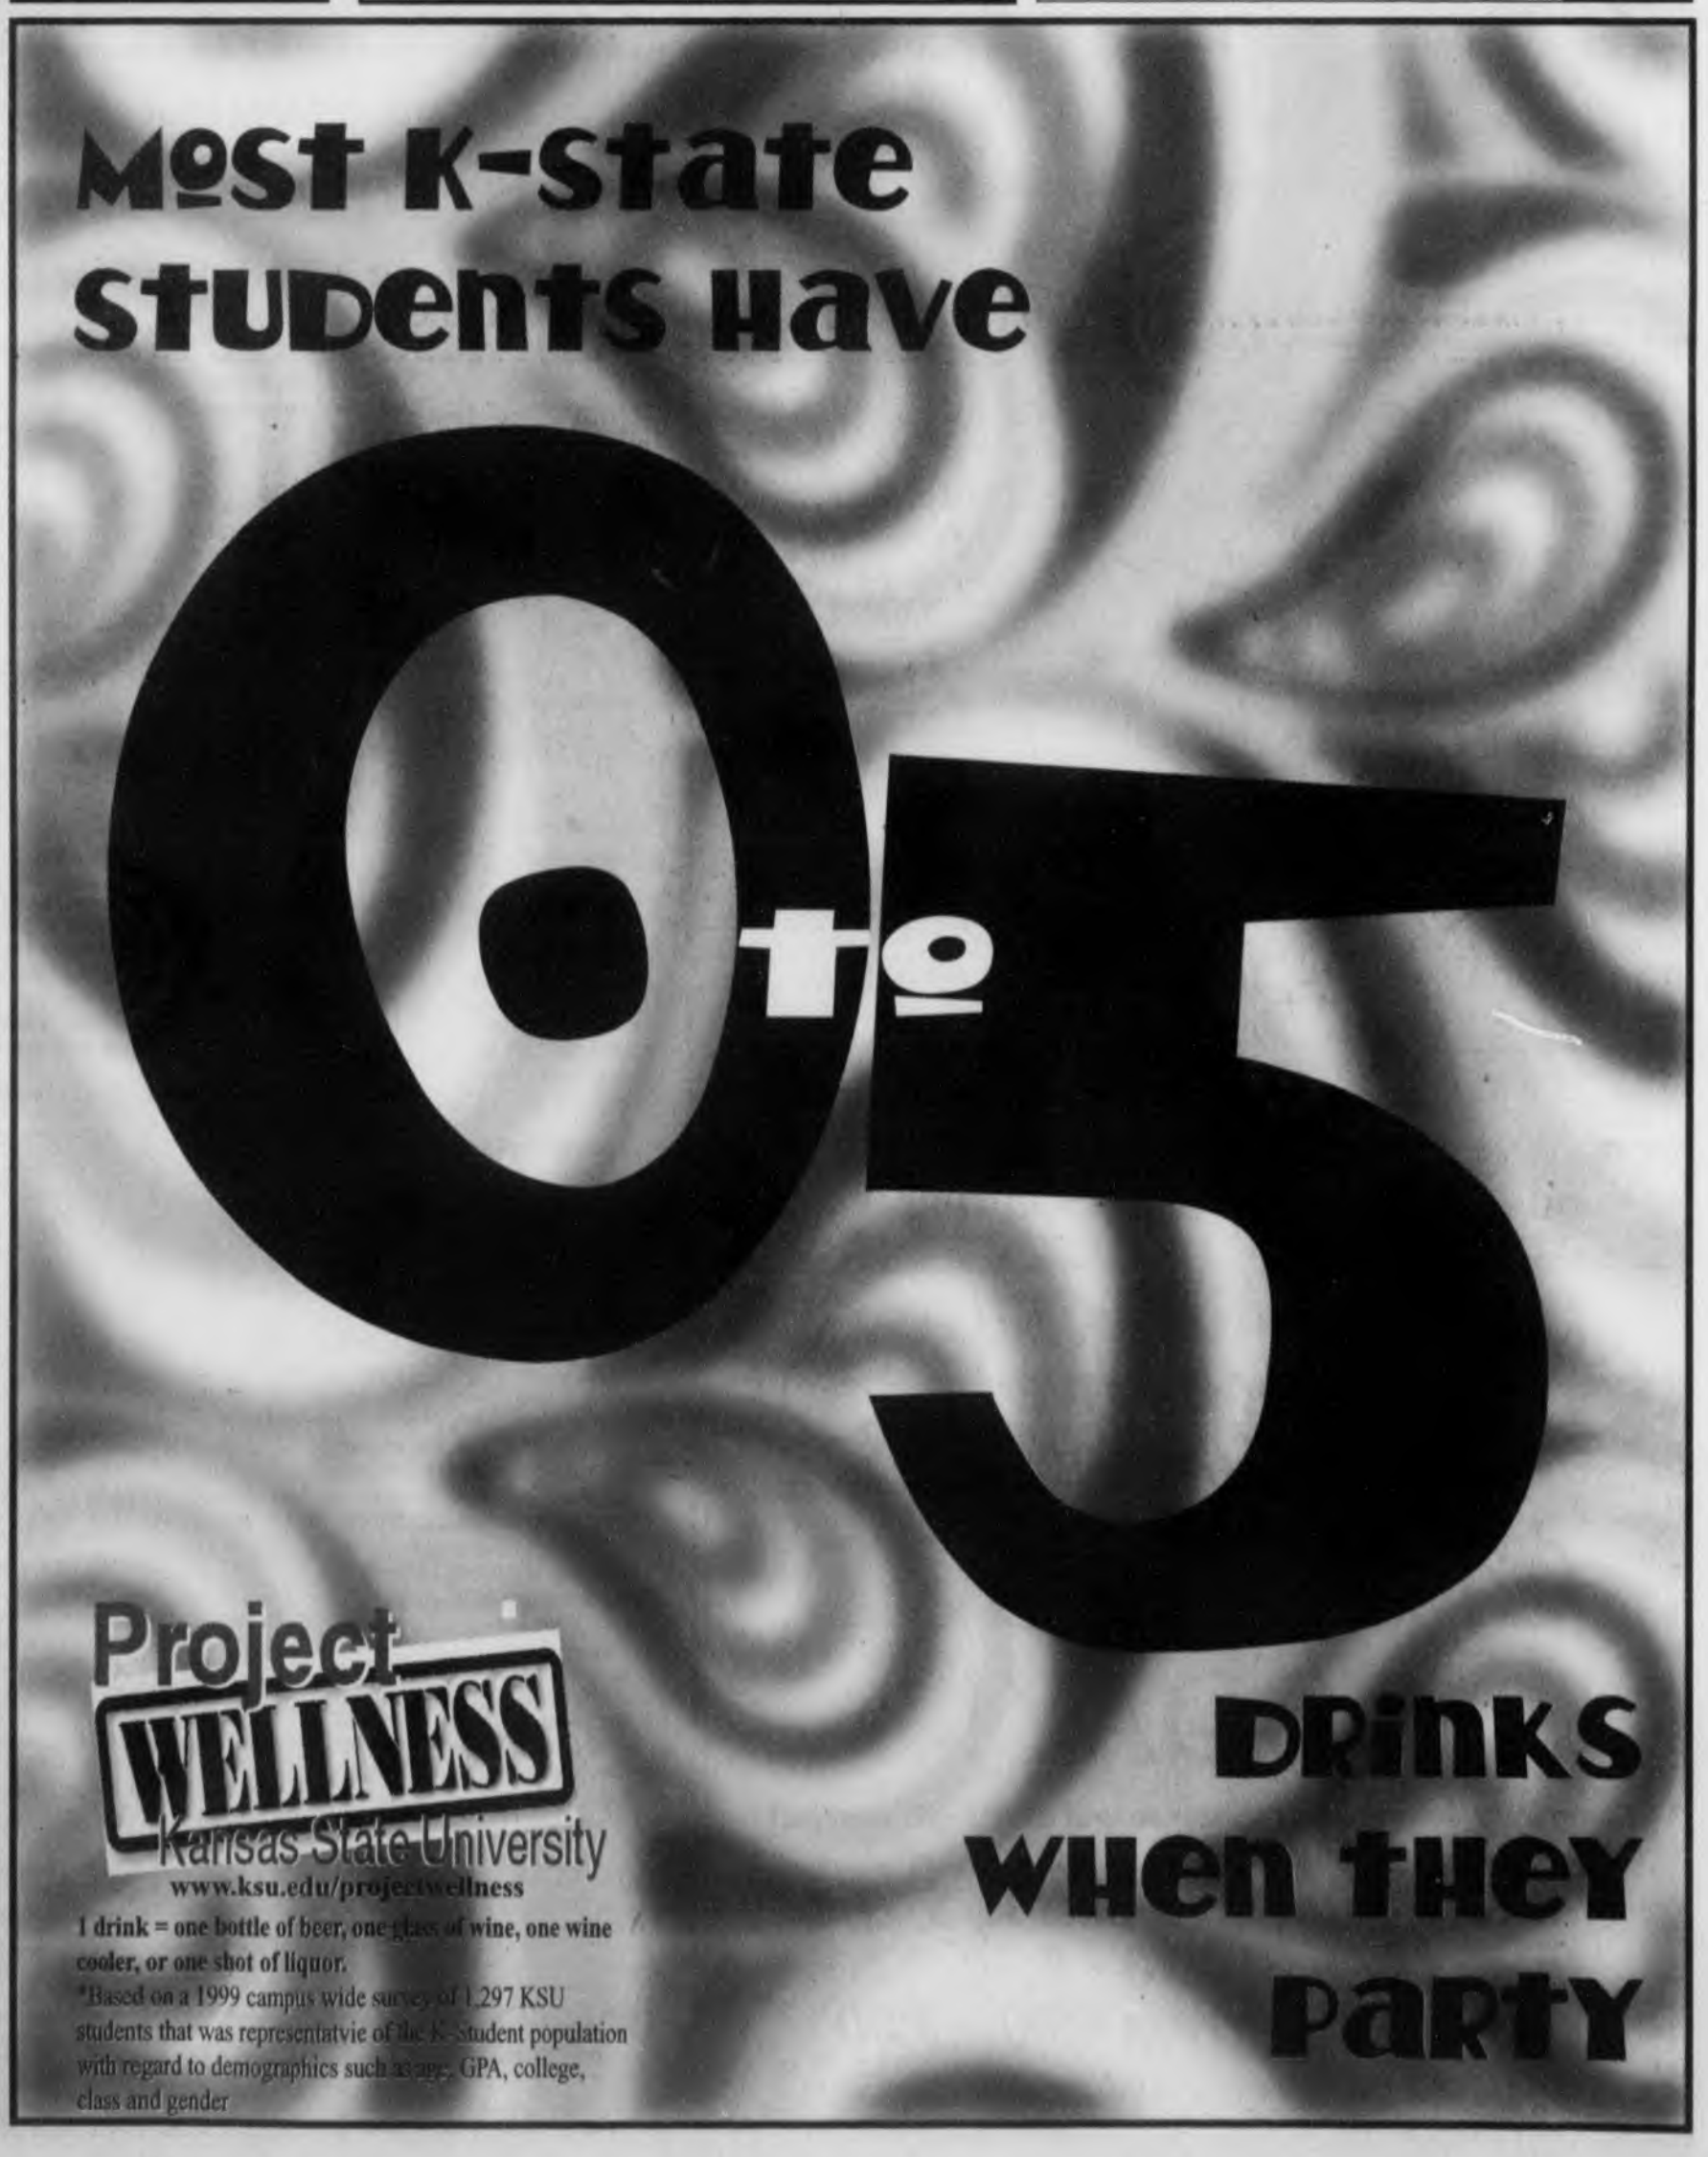
getthatgig.com

Extraordinary jobs and careers- the poeple who have them and how to get them!

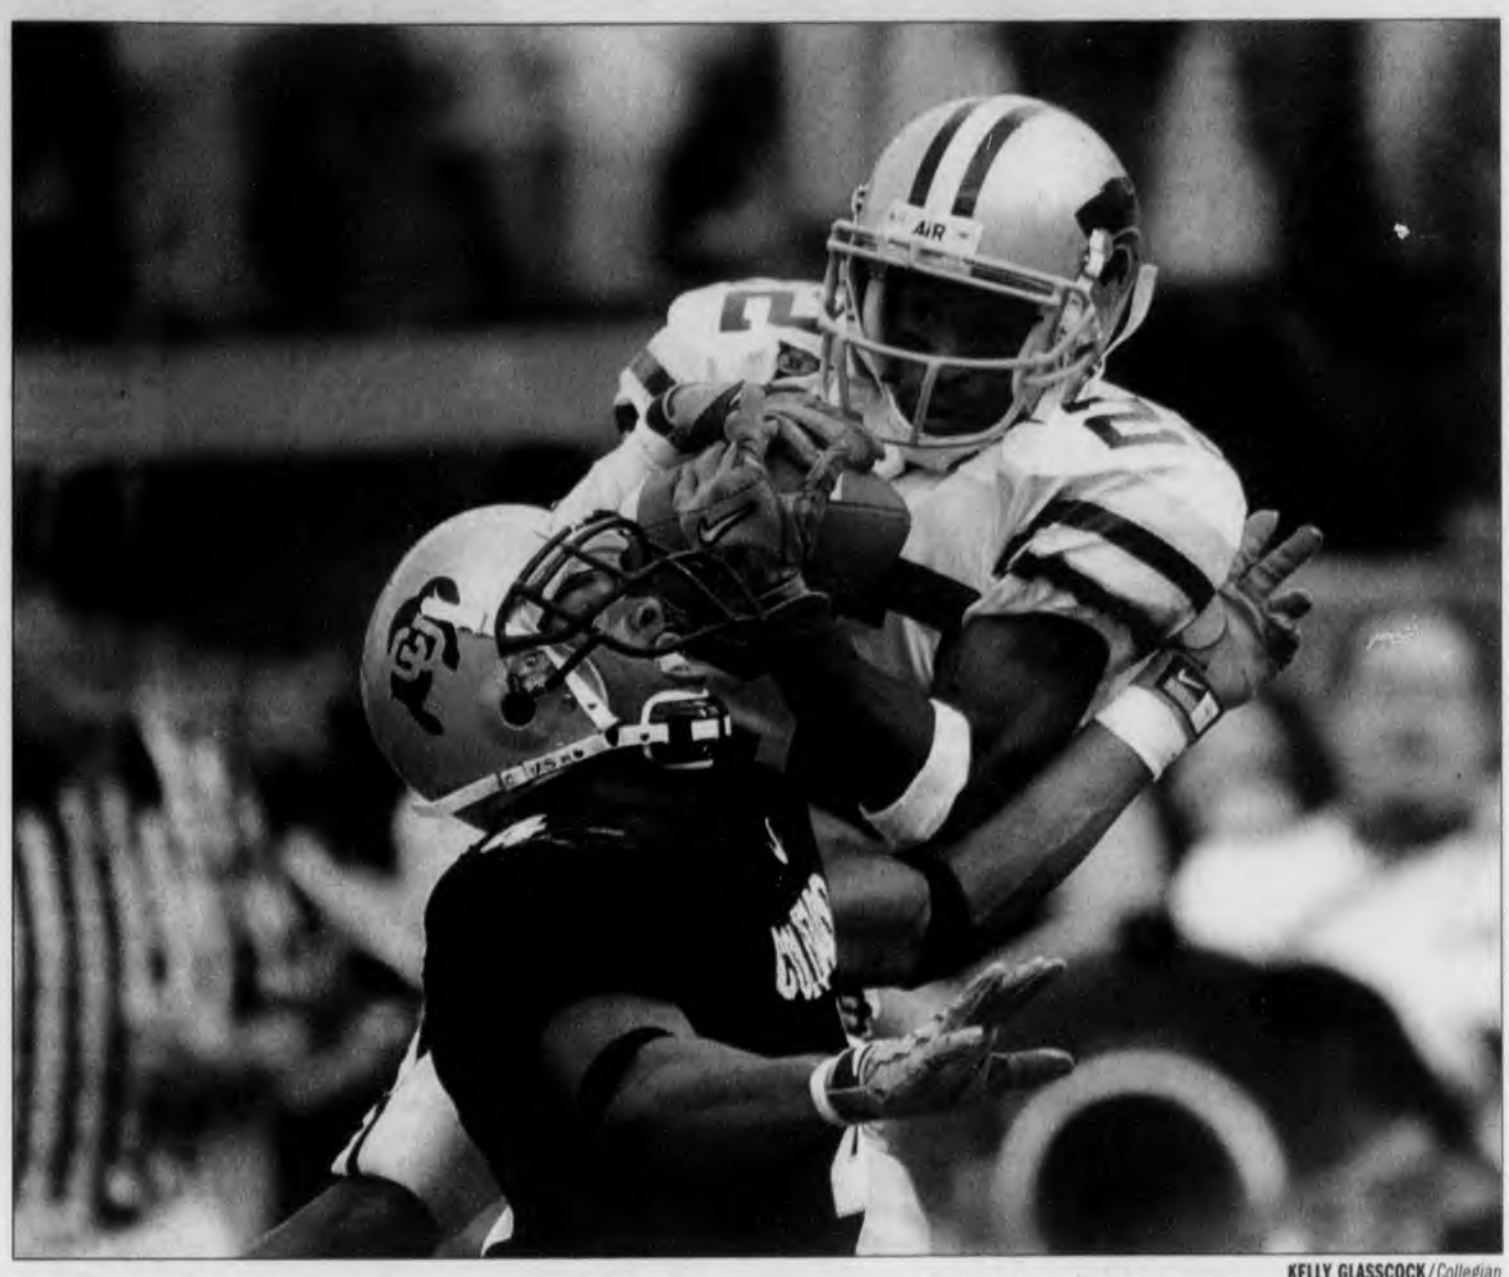
PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS

776-5577

Limited Delivery Area



1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center



Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

- Free pregnancy testing
- Totally confidential service
- Same day results
- Call for appointment

Located across from campus in Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

KELLY GLASSCOCK/Collegian

Aaron Lockett pulls in an 8-yard touchdown pass from Jonathan Beasley in the second quarter of Saturday's game. Lockett had three catches for 63 yards.

More to prove

Despite football team's 44-21 victory over Colorado, Wildcats work to overcome national criticism

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

Saturday's final K-State-Colorado game statistics were relatively close. The score wasn't.

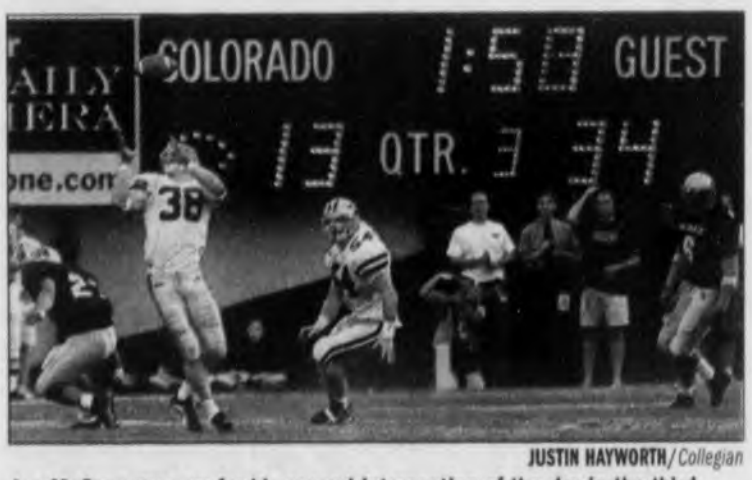
The fourth-ranked Wildcats (5-0) opened Big 12 Conference play with a 44-21 victory over Colorado (0-4) in front of 51,896 fans in Boulder, Colo.

However, whether the win silenced K-State's national critics remains to be seen.

"If they knock us, they have to knock Colorado, and they have to knock the teams that played Colorado," senior wide-out Aaron Lockett said. "It's hard to judge us compared to teams that played Colorado, but I think we came out on ABC and made somewhat of a statement."

However, head coach Bill Snyder was not so quick to agree.

"I don't know if we've proven anything," he said. "We're a 5-0 football team, and that's about all I can say about us right now."



Regardless, making a statement on national television wasn't necessarily one of the Wildcats' focuses heading into the CU contest.

"We don't really care what 'the country' says," senior strong safety Jarrod Cooper said. "We're just trying to take it one day at a time, one game at a time, one practice at a time."

That mentality paid off for K-State Saturday in its road opener, as Lockett admitted it was difficult to play amid a sell-out crowd at Folsom Field.

"It's rough — the fans are on your back 24-7," he said. "It definitely is a field where there is a lot of tradition. I think you notice that when you play against a team like Colorado. They play very hard, and they came out and played hard today, and we were able to overcome that."

The Cats overcame that element with the help of more than 6,000 K-State fans that made the trip to Boulder.

JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

Jon McGraw goes up for his second interception of the day in the third quarter of Saturday's game in Boulder, Colo. McGraw returned the interception 71 yards for a touchdown, giving the Cats a 41-13 lead.

"I think it was a great feeling for us," Lockett said. "We came out and felt like we were in Manhattan right there from the start."

In fact, much of K-State's play

See GAME on PAGE 8

KELLY GLASSCOCK/Collegian

Jarrod Cooper defends on a pass to Colorado's Daniel Graham during second-quarter action Saturday afternoon. Cooper was flagged for a pass interference penalty.

Cooper returns from injury, continues progress on field

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

Coop's back.

That factor was one of many items of interest connected with Saturday's K-State-Colorado contest.

And for senior strong safety Jarrod Cooper, dreadlocks and all, he couldn't be any happier.

"It felt great — it felt super-great — to be back walking around with the team and not picking up the tee," he said.

After suffering a season-opening Aug. 26 injury to his pectoral muscle against Iowa, Cooper was forced to sit out the Cats' three home games, only seeing action when he occasionally ran out to midfield and picked up the tee after senior Jamie Rheem's kickoffs.

However, the Colorado game was full-go for Cooper, defensive coordinator Phil Bennett said, and conversely, the senior responded.

"I played OK, a little rusty, a little thing here and there," Cooper said, "but my body felt okay."

That healthiness enabled the Pearland, Texas, native to compile six tackles for the day, five unassisted and one for loss, as well as one third-down stop.

Although Cooper said he's still getting back to full playing capacity, he said Saturday was a productive day for him.

"It was good. I'm still working on it, I'm still trying to get back," he said. "I'm not all the way there yet, but I'm definitely working on it."

That mentality was evident in several Cat defensive series versus the Buffaloes, to the point that Bennett actually had to settle Cooper down.

"Second half, things were a little weird, and coach sometimes gets mad at me because I get too excited, and I just try to run and tackle the running back," he said.

"And I know the running back Cortlen Johnson — I was looking at him the whole time and he kept on looking at me, and it kept on just throwing me off, so I missed the tight end once or twice. As a whole, I thought it wasn't too bad, though. It was a good team effort from everybody."

Perhaps Cooper's greatest joy in returning to the Cat lineup was the response he received from many K-State supporters.

"They're the greatest fans in America," he said. "I always feel like I've got to perform my best, not only for my team, but for my fans, because they're our fans. That's what they came to see."

GAME STATS

K-STATE 44
COLORADO 21

POINTS BY QUARTER

K-State	13	21	7	3	44
Colorado	6	7	0	8	21

First quarter
K-State – Meier 10 pass from Beasley (Rheem kick), 12:03
K-State – Scobey 3 run (Rheem kick blocked), 9:47
Colorado – Flores 41 FG, 7:19
Colorado – Flores 48 FG, 6:18
Second quarter
K-State – Morgan 10 pass from Beasley (Rheem kick), 10:00
Colorado – Ochs 17 run (Flores kick), 6:59
K-State – Scobey 1 run (Rheem kick), 5:57
K-State – Lockett 8 pass from Beasley (Rheem kick), 0:11
Third quarter
K-State – McGraw 71 interception return (Rheem kick), 1:48
Fourth quarter
Colorado – Minardi 2 pass from Ochs (Ochs run), 8:59
K-State – Rheem 28 FG, 3:27

ATTENDANCE – 51,896

TEAM STATISTICS	K-State	Colorado
First downs	18	16
Rushes-yards	36-153	35-137
Passing yards	293	267
Comp-Att-Int	15-26-0	20-34-2
Total plays-yards	62-446	69-404
Total return yards	144	23
Punts-avg.	6-45.2	7-36.9
Fumbles-lost	4-2	0-0
Penalties-yards	9-65	11-59
Sacks by-yards	2-21	1-7
Time of possession	28:09	31:51

INDIVIDUAL STATISTICS
Rushing – K-State, Beasley 14-68, Scobey 12-66, Claybon 4-20, Cartwright 1-3, Lazetich 1-3, Lockett 1-(minus 2), Team 3-(minus 5). Colorado, Johnson 20-59, Ochs 9-38, Nemeth 2-22, Hollowell 2-18, Reed 1-1, Cormier 1-(minus 1).
Passing – K-State, Beasley 15-25-0-293, Team 0-1-0-0. Colorado, Ochs 15-24-1-208, Pesavento 5-9-0-59, Cormier 0-1-1-0.
Receiving – K-State, Lockett 3-63, Morgan 3-23, Claybon 2-81, Wesley 2-51, Clark 2-42, Meier 2-28, Scobey 1-5. Colorado, Graham 7-100, Green 4-64, Minardi 3-51, McCready 2-26, Nemeth 2-25, Cormier 1-1, Hollowell 1-0.

COACHES

1. Nebraska (37)
2. Florida State (21)
3. Virginia Tech
4. K-State (1)
5. Clemson
6. Michiga
7. Ohio State
8. Miami Florida
9. Florida
10. Texas
11. Washington
12. Oklahoma
13. Auburn
14. TCU
15. Oregon
16. USC
17. UCLA
18. Southern Mississippi
19. Georgia
20. Mississippi State
21. Tennessee
22. Wisconsin
23. Oregon State
24. Northwestern
25. Michigan State

ASSOCIATED PRESS

1. Florida State (42)
2. Nebraska (28)
3. Virginia Tech
4. K-State (1)
5. Clemson
6. Michigan
7. Miami Florida
8. Ohio State
9. Oregon
10. Oklahoma
11. Texas
12. Florida
13. Washington
14. TCU
15. Auburn
16. UCLA
17. Southern Mississippi
18. USC
19. Georgia
20. Mississippi State
21. Tennessee
22. Northwestern
23. Oregon State
24. Wisconsin
25. Notre Dame

First half success

The Wildcats' 34 points in the opening half were the most scored by a Colorado opponent in a half since Sept. 22, 1984, when Notre Dame led the Buffaloes 38-0 at the intermission in South Bend, Ind.

Historic points

K-State's 44 points against Colorado on Saturday marked the most ever scored by a Wildcat team against the Buffaloes in program history. The previous all-time best came in a 38-6 win at Manhattan in 1984. The 44 points were also the most Colorado has allowed since Oct. 21, 1995, when it lost at home to then-No. 2 Nebraska by the same 44-21 count.

Inflated yardage

Last year in Manhattan, K-State and Colorado only combined for 411 total yards (CU 214, KSU 197). Saturday, the Wildcat offense racked up 446 yards against CU, its second-most ever against the Buffs. Colorado also added 404 total yards as the two teams combined for 850.

Big gainer

Wildcat quarterback Jonathan Beasley's 74-yard pass play to Chris Claybon was the longest against CU since 1992, when Baylor's J.J. Joe hit David Mims for an 80-yard score.

Back-to-back success

K-State's victory over the Buffaloes was the second straight win for the Cats in Boulder, accomplishing the feat for the first time in school history.

Scoring firsts

The Wildcats have scored on their first possession in all five games this season. Meanwhile, Colorado's two first-quarter field goals were their first points in an opening period this year.

Stiff "D"

Although the Cats have turned the ball over 10 times this season, K-State's top-ranked national defense has only surrendered 13 points to the opposition. Conversely, the Wildcat offense has turned 13 opponent turnovers into 45 Cat points.

Meier sees the end zone

Tight end Shad Meier recorded his first-ever touchdown reception against CU, a 10-yard catch from Beasley on the Cats' opening drive.

PAT streak snapped

Senior place-kicker Jamie Rheem's streak of 33 consecutive successful extra-point attempts was snapped Saturday, as his second PAT attempt of the day was blocked by the Buffaloes.

Lott of tackles

Senior Warren Lott registered nine tackles in the first quarter alone against Colorado, three solo and six assisted, unofficially. The linebacker, who made his first career start as a Wildcat, finished with a team-high 14 tackles for the day.

Injury report

– Senior strong safety Jarrod Cooper made his return to the Wildcat lineup Saturday, recording six tackles including one for loss.
– Tailback David Allen made the trip to Boulder but was in street clothes for the game. The senior is still recovering from a severe ankle sprain suffered in the Iowa season opener.
– Colorado's highly acclaimed true freshman tailback Marcus Houston, who led the team with 332 rushing yards heading into Saturday's contest with K-State, was suffering from a hip flexor and did not play Saturday.

– compiled by Derek Boss

GAME

■ continued from page 7

reflected that of previous wins at KSU Stadium this season as well.

After the Cat defense held the Buffaloes to a three-and-out on their opening drive, Lockett took the CU punt, juked a couple would-be tacklers, and raced down the right sideline to the Colorado 25-yard line.

"We're always looking for a spark early in the first quarter," Lockett said, "and I was fortunate to be that spark today."

That 49-yard punt return certainly relaxed Snyder early in the ball game.

"I feel a heck of a lot better about it when you're starting that close to the goal line," he said, "provided you get it in."

And get it in the end zone they did; the Cats went 25 yards in three plays, capped by tight end Shad Meier's 10-yard touchdown reception from senior quarterback Jonathan Beasley.

After another CU offensive three-and-out, Lockett made another big play for the Wildcats, this time as a wide receiver.

Beasley found the 5-foot-7-inch Tulsa, Okla., native over the middle for a 55-yard strike, setting up junior Josh Scobey's three-yard TD run. Senior Jamie Rheem's extra-point attempt was blocked, but the Cats still led 13-0.

After a pair of Buffalo field goals by Jeremy Flores, K-State and Colorado would trade touchdowns on their next two scoring drives.

However, the Cats might have sealed Colorado's fate after adding another score 11 seconds before the end of the first half.

After driving 35 yards in five plays, Beasley hit Lockett on a short fade to the left corner of the end zone for an eight-yard TD, giving K-State a 34-13 advantage at the half.

"I think it's always an emotional lift if you can leave the field with some positive things taking place, and I think that was the case," Snyder said of the way the first half ended. "There was a strong feeling about our football team. "Basically, it all boils down to understanding you still have 30 minutes of football to play, and so those emotions are short-lived. You have to get on with your business and understand this is a football team that's come back against us before, and trust the fact that they will attempt to do it again."

In fact, last year in Manhattan, K-State led 20-0 at the break before watching Colorado storm back with two TD passes of 64 and 70 yards to Javon Green. Although the Buffs lost the game in 1999, the Cat secondary was intent on not allowing much of the same this season.

K-State held Green to four catches for 64 yards Saturday against the Wildcats' double coverage, including one reception for a measly four yards after three quarters of action.

"Javon Green is a good receiver, he's going to be going places," Cooper said. "But he can't shake two people. If we can't get him with one, we'll stick two on him, and that's all we did."

Colorado head coach Gary Barnett said there was an obvious answer to Saturday's final outcome.

"It's pretty simple — we played bad, they played good. That's what it comes down to," Barnett said. "We were not good enough today — that's the bottom line."

Yet, despite the circumstances of the win, as well as the national criticism, Beasley said it doesn't matter what people think of the Wildcat program.

"We don't really care," he said. "We've got KU next week, we're going to get ready for them. So if it quiets the critics, it does; if it doesn't, it doesn't. All we can do is go out there and play."

Linebacker makes Wildcat debut

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

K-State linebacker Warren Lott tackles Colorado running back Cortlen Johnson during the first half of Saturday's game at Folsom Field in Boulder, Colo. Lott had seven solo tackles and seven assists in the 44-21 win over Colorado.

STEVEN DEARINGER/ Collegian

Warren Lott had only seen limited action in the Wildcats' first four games, so Saturday's contest at Colorado might have seemed an unusually stressful time for the senior to make his starting linebacker debut.

Lott, however, knew if his coaches had confidence in him, he could handle that pressure.

"I could feel the pressure, but the coaches rely on me," Lott said. "They felt like I could deal with everything that's happening, coming down here on a weekend and starting, actually having a chance to get on the field and playing. Actually, it felt good. I like having the pressure on me."

The stress of starting against Big 12 foe Colorado was nothing compared to what Lott had planned for himself before the 2000 season even began.

In fact, he had actually envisioned making his grand entrance against football powerhouse Nebraska.

The opponent aside, however, Saturday's experience was everything Lott said he had dreamed of, especially after losing a year of eligibility following his transfer from Clemson and a subsequent knee injury.

"It was everything and more," Lott said. "I wanted my first start to be the Nebraska game, but I want to play, though, so it's going to have to be way before then. This was my first start ever since I left Clemson and came here. I was just so happy. I've been out for almost a year and half because of a knee injury."

After such a long wait, it might have been understandable if Lott had taken several plays to settle his nerves down. Instead, nerves got the better of him for only the first play, Lott said.

"After that, all hell was breaking loose," he said. "Our offense put seven points up, our defense held them three downs, our offense scored again. Somebody came up to me on the sideline and said, 'Warren, you know you made that tackle,' and I was just like, 'I'm just glad we went three and out.'"

K-State's ability to force Colorado into three-and-outs on its first two possessions was largely due to Lott's ferocious play on the field.

In the first quarter alone, he unofficially made nine tackles and would end up with 14 for the game.

He might have been playing the best game of his life, but Lott didn't know it.

"I was so in the zone and so hyper that I didn't realize it," he said. "They put me on the field to see what I could do, and I'm glad I didn't let the coaches down."

Lott has improved greatly during the season and continued to do so during the game, defensive coordinator Phil Bennett said.

"He's athletic, and he's a guy that's just gotten better and better each quarter," he said.

Lott might have lived up to the coaches' expectations, but he didn't play a perfect game. In fact, Lott was partially responsible for Colorado's first touchdown in which quarterback Craig Ochs ran 17 yards untouched into the end zone. Lott didn't get the defensive call made like he should have, Bennett said.

"He's never been in the game calling signals," he said. "It wasn't that he wasn't playing hard, but he's got to take more control in calling the signals."

Lott agreed that he needs to improve in this area.

"Terry Pierce, Turelle Williams and me are responsible for making the defensive calls," he said. "Every now and again, we had a couple plays that half the team got it, half the team didn't. We got burnt a couple times."

The miscommunication was not the result of crowd noise, but rather because of Colorado's unexpected offensive schemes, Lott said.

"I don't think the crowd was a big factor," he said. "They ran so many different formations that we didn't have the right personnel on the field. We'd have miscommunications or miss the call. But like (linebacker) coach (Jim Gush) said, we're gonna correct this all this week."

What doesn't need to be corrected is Lott's ability to make big plays, a skill that results from just striving to become a great linebacker, Lott said.

"Coach (Gush) says there's a lot of players on the field, and you have to be able to play," he said. "You have to be able to get off blocks, make tackles; make tackles when people don't think you should make tackles, and I did a little bit of that."

Lott did so much tackling, actually, that the game seemed to fly by, he said.

"Time flies when you're having fun," Lott said.

Let the Collegian take you to Lawrence.
Look for the KU roadtrip on Wednesday.

SCOREBOARD
7 BIG SCREENS
currently on satellite
• NFL Sunday Ticket
• MLB Extra Innings
• ESPN Gameplan
MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL
Pint Night
you keep the glass
20¢ Giant Wings
(honey mustard, BBQ or spicy)

Haynes West Welcomes...
Denice Hatfield
Hair Stylist
Specializing in current trends

Specials on Aveda, Redkin, & Biolage
Haynes West
2815 Anderson
785-539-2929
Haynes Aggieville
785-539-5512

Manhattan / Shoe Repair
216 S. 4th • 776-1193
REPAIRING
•SHOES•BOOTS•PURSES•BACKPACKS• •LEATHER COATS•LUGGAGE•LEATHERCRAFT• DYEING SATIN

OPEN
8-5:30 M-F
8-1:00 Sat.
10% DISCOUNT ON ANY PURCHASE WITH COUPON
expires 10-31-00

coupon clipper
clip here & SAVE
coupon clipper

Call 532- 6560
to advertise in the Coupon Clipper.

BEAT THE CLOCK
MONDAYS
The Time is the Price!
6-8 p.m. for Large One Topping Pizzas.
Add $3 for a Specialty Pizza.
Gambino's Pizza®
OPEN FOR LUNCH
537-9090

15% OFF Greek Merchandise
Party Favors/ Screen Printing
WILDCAT Spirit
Featured Fraternity/Sorority
ΑΧΩ/ΣΚ
ΔΥ/ΦΔΘ
716 N Manhattan Ave.
#776-5461
*IN-Stock Items Only
*Discount for featured groups only.
Expiration date Oct. 8, 2000

PRO Fitness in Aggieville 539-7095
Unlimited Month of Tanning
$19
10% off Glutamine
when mentioning this ad
EXPIRES Oct. 8, 2000

Best Party Place in Town
Memory Lanes Cosmic Bowling
FLASHBACK LOUNGE
Karaoke • Cosmic Bowling • Greek Parties
Free Pepsi with purchase of another
539-0371 Next to the Holidome 539-2788

BUY 1 MEAL GET 1 FREE AT EQUAL OR LESSER VALUE
EXCLUDING SPECIAL OF THE DAY
Safari Jack's Watering Hole
Valid only Sunday - Thursday
710 N. Manhattan Expires 1/01/01

COTTONWOOD RACQUET CLUB
3615 CLAFLIN 776-6060
25% OFF
any pro shop merchandise
Coupon must be presented.
Expires Oct. 22, 2000
COTTONWOOD RACQUET CLUB

Little Caesars
MONDAY madNess
NEW! 1 BIG BIG! LARGE PIZZA
14" WITH 1 TOPPING
$5.99 CARRYOUT Plus tax
NO LIMITS
Valid Mondays only at participating locations for a limited time. No coupon necessary. ©1998 Little Caesar Enterprises, Inc.

Little Caesars® Pizza
Two great pizzas! One low price: Always! Always!
MANHATTAN (Westloop Center) 539-3333

HUNAM Restaurant & Mongolian BBQ
Sat - Thur
$1.00 off
Please present coupon
Reg. $6.95
1304 Westloop
539-8888
Evening buffet
(not valid with any other offer) • Free Delivery
(minimum $9 purchase)

Cryptoquip & CROSSWORD
presented by:
1219 Moro
Aggieville
JAVA
(785) 587-8888

FOR RELEASE MONDAY, OCTOBER 2, 2000

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Untalkative one
5 "Awesome!"
8 Colombian city
12 Fashion trend
13 Prior to
14 Literary conflict
15 Composer Khachaturian
16 "Moby-Dick" crewman
18 Awkward sort
20 Page numbers
21 Pressing tool
23 First of the 50 (Abbr.)
24 Roddenberry's brainchild
28 Ego
31 Pollol preceder
32 Missionary Junipero
34 Carnival venue
35 Goofs
37 Use a telescope maybe
39 Church perch
41 Cold-water predatory bird
42 Dormant
45 Sauntered
49 Hoagy Carmichael classic
51 Hope/Crosby "Road" destination
52 Melody
53 Cow word
54 Ceaselessly
55 Not up
56 Simile center
57 Knight's counterpart

DOWN
1 Mountaineer's foothold
2 Zhivago's love
3 "Oh, oh, oh, what —"
4 Autobiography
5 Does museum work
6 Illustrations
7 Unwilling to listen
8 Heavy wires
9 Singer Christina
10 Crazy
11 Cartoonists' supplies
17 Staff
19 Doggy-bag fill
22 Nuts, slangily
24 "He Said, — Said"
25 Craggy peak
26 1980 comedy movie
27 Volcanic island near Java
29 Columnist Smith
30 Enemy
33 Jack-in-the-pulpit
36 Get real angry
38 Tied up the telephone
40 Marry
42 "Thin Man" pooch
43 Half a ticket
44 Cougar kin
46 Pinatubo outflow
47 Type of school
48 Tragic
50 "Mayday!"

Solution time: 27 mins.

O	O	O		F	L	A	Y		B	O	A	R
A	M	I		A	U	T	O		I	D	L	E
H	A	N	D	I	C	A	P		S	E	L	F
U	N	K	I	N	K		T	W	O
			S	T	Y		H	A	N	S	O	M
M	A	S	K	S		P	A	X		A	P	E
U	R	I	S		S	A	T		K	N	E	W
C	I	G		H	A	Y		S	H	E	D	S
H	A	N	D	E	L		P	I	A
			A	R	C		A	N	K	A	R	A
J	A	Z	Z		H	A	N	N	I	B	A	L
A	L	O	E		O	G	E	E		E	V	A
W	E	E	D		W	E	L	D		D	E	N

Yesterday's answer p-30

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-8873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

10-2 CRYPTOQUIP

G V ' E W N C U D H V H D S V S U G W K D N T K U K E V M S W Z H T V N C K B H M K V Z H M V K M V M H C K M B E.

Saturday's Cryptoquip: I THINK THAT THE INFAMOUS WOMAN CAUGHT STEALING A CLOCK WILL FACE TIME.

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: M equals R

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2000 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

TITAN TOUCHDOWN

Football movie surpasses audience expectations

Review by CORBIN H. CRABLE
Kansas State Collegian

I must admit, the thought of Jerry Bruckheimer pairing up with Walt Disney Studios seemed a bit scary at first. The PG rating didn't help, either.

However, anyone who has seen "Remember the Titans" probably will agree with me when I say the movie surpassed my expectations.

Bruckheimer and director Boaz Yakin team up to create a movie, based on a true story, about a black man (Denzel Washington, "The Hurricane," "Malcolm X") who becomes the head coach of a newly integrated football team.

Set in 1971, the movie deals with the racial hardships that Washington, as Coach Boone, endures as he tries to make a name for his team amidst oppression from other teams and the community, as well as racial dissension among his own players.

Besides Will Patton ("Armageddon"), who plays the assistant coach of the team, the cast is made up of virtually unknown actors and actresses.

However, in this case, unknown doesn't necessarily mean untalented. These players act their parts well and will evoke much emotion from the audience. (When I saw it, certain scenes were met with applause and even a standing ovation.)

COURTESY PHOTO

While "Remember the Titans" definitely isn't your run-of-the-mill football drama, some critics already have dismissed its theme of struggling toward racial equality as overdone and cliche.

I believe, however, the message of the movie is that injustice toward minorities still occurs in all aspects of society, even in sports, and that must be recognized.

The emotional scenes dealing with racism, luckily, are offset by scenes with verbal and visual comedy, giving a movie with a serious topic many lighthearted moments. Most of the comedy is delivered by Hayden Panettiere, who plays the super-fan daughter of the assistant coach. The 9 year-old girl is the most devoted fan of the Titans and is just as fascinated with football as her male counterparts.

In the tradition of the football drama ("Rudy" comes to mind), the characters' struggles and triumphs, both on the field and off, are inspiration to strive toward our goals and to challenge the adversity that gets in the way.

movie review

"Remember the Titans"

Showing: Seth Childs Cinema at 4:40, 7:15 and 9:55 p.m.
Starring: Denzel Washington and Will Patton

Irish-based family group aims for American popularity

Review by REED DUNN
Kansas State Collegian

Appearances on late-night talk shows gave the Corrs exposure to American airwaves, and they are now trying to increase their popularity in the states with the release of "In Blue."

The Irish-based group debuted at the top of the charts in the United Kingdom with the album and the first single, "Breathless."

Producers of "In Blue" have worked with American artists such as Shania Twain and Sheryl Crow, which is evident in the sounds of the Corr's album.

"Breathless" has lead singer Andrea Corr sounding like an Irish-influenced Shania Twain. The sound is a blend of modern pop and traditional Irish sounds, which is what sets the group apart from other internationally successful artists.

Celtic instrumentation from the group's previous work has been replaced with electronic textures in many of the tracks of "In Blue," but there is still Irish influence in the sibling quartet.

The instrumental "Rebel Heart" is most like the sounds from the group's previous albums, but is not comparable without the voices of the Corrs.

"Irresistible" provides a satisfying dose of Irish accent that is missing from the instrumental track.

Even though the group is trying to market to an American audience, its international talent is evident. The music delivers a light, soothing sound, which is a step away from anything comparable American artists have done.

After having reached the ultimate level in other countries, the group deserves to make it to the top of American charts. The music, though molded around American success stories, is distinct and perfected, and the quartet provides something a little different with each track.

COURTESY PHOTO

music review

"In Blue"

By: The Corrs

Digital Shelf DVD Rental
We buy video games and DVDs.
www.ksudigitalshelf.com
now online and updated
713 N. 11th
776-6959

NEW RELEASES

Music
Radiohead – "Kid A"
Paul Simon – "You're The One"
Green Day – "Warning"
Robbie Williams – "Sing When You're Winning"
Travis Tritt – "Down The Road I Go"
Indigo Girls – "Retrospective"
Doobie Brothers – "Sibling Rivalry"
Richard Buckner – "The Hill"
Kenny Rogers – "There You Go Again"
The Sea and Cake – "Oui"
Luis Miguel – "Vivo"
Van Morrison and Linda Gail Lewis – "You Win Again"
"Left Behind" Soundtrack

Movies
"American Virgin"
"East West"
"Bossa Nova"

Rejected letters to advice columnists compiled in comedic book

Review by JENN DAVOREN
Kansas State Collegian

Crossword puzzles can be a great way to pass classtime, but the crackle of a folding newspaper could alert professors to your divided attention.

For an alternative to, say, actually paying attention in class, try the pocket-sized "Dear Alice: Rejected Letters to Advice Columns from Completely Insane Idiots," perfectly shaped for smuggling into lecture halls.

Author Steven Ryniak has put together a collection of letters, supposedly rejected by reputable advice columns in more than 60,000 newspapers across the country, in a hilarious book from Muse World Media.

Advice is never offered for the losers included in "Dear Alice." Instead, readers are given the opportunity to imagine their own words of wisdom for the desperate, including the owner of a stoner cat and a man with an inexplicable craving for nuts after being bitten by a squirrel.

Problems range from the insane (an employee at a tampon factory needs help avoiding ridicule) to the mundane (a high school student searches for meaning behind Homer's "The Illiad"). Then there's the 45-year-old man caught having sex with his living room furniture, a young woman constantly pursued by elves and the 22-year-old man who wants his boyfriend to understand he's straight.

A personal favorite is a submission from a worried woman whose son has spent more than a decade is college. Poor mom began to worry about her son when she first caught a glimpse of his class schedule, with courses like "The Romantic Sonnets of Ziggy Marley and the Melody Makers." After spending $25,000 on her child's education, mom is wondering whether Special Studies might actually be a major.

He's probably the kind of person who reads the newspaper in the middle of class.

book review

"Dear Alice: Rejected letters to Advice Columns from Completely Insane Idiots."

By: Steven Ryniak

THE GONGFARMER

BY RANDY REGIER

Monkey Boy

BY BRENT ENGSTROM – MONKEYBOYCOMIC@HOTMAIL.COM

Buy Your K-State Phone Book in Kedzie 103

Buy Your K-State Phone Book in Kedzie 103
Buy Your K-State Phone Book in Kedzie 103

Order your
2001 Royal Purple YEARBOOK
only $29.95
on sale in Kedzie 103

Haynes West Welcomes...

Liz Nely
Hairstylist skilled in all areas of hair & skin care with a European background

Specials on Aveda, Redkin, & Biolage

Haynes West
2815 Anderson
785-539-2929
Haynes Aggieville
785-539-5512

eCollegian
www.kstatecollegian.com

WE HAVE YOUR SIZE
(32-38) (cup A, B, C, D, DD, E, F, G)
WE HAVE YOUR STYLE
H_2O bra, purple, push up, smooth, lacy
Patricia's UNDERCOVER Lingerie
1224 MORO • AGGIEVILLE • M-Th 10-7 Fri. & Sat. 10-5

BLOWOUT PRICES!
79¢ Color Copies
5¢ Self-Serve Copies
$1.00 24"x36" Oversize Copies
COPY CO
MORE THAN JUST A COPY CENTER
Monday- Thursday 7a.m- 11p.m
Friday 7a.m- 9p.m
Saturday 8a.m- 9p.m
Sunday 10a.m- 11p.m
1223 Moro
Aggieville
537-2679

Year of the WILDCAT K-State Homecoming 2000

Want to show your purple pride and be a representative for K-State?

Apply to be a K-STATE STUDENT AMBASSADOR!

The Alumni Association is seeking one male and one female Ambassador for 2000-2001. Ambassadors will be elected by the student body during Homecoming Week.

Pick up an application and a complete description of duties at the Office of Student Activities and Services in the Union or at the Alumni Association, located in the KSU Foundation Center at 2323 Anderson Ave., Suite 400.

Questions? Call the K-State Alumni Association at 532-6260.

Applications are due at 5 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 4, 2000.

McCain Auditorium's 2000-2001 Performance Series

Mark Morris Dance Group
SPONSORS: The National Dance Project of the New England Foundation for the Arts, the Jeanne Wells Durkee Memorial Fund, and Friends of McCain
Friday, October 6, 8 p.m.
Seattle-born Mark Morris formed his Dance Group in 1980 and he's been making dance history ever since. His Hard Nut, a re-setting of The Nutcracker in a 1960s dysfunctional family, has become a holiday favorite and has been shown on PBS. Morris co-founded the White Oak Dance Project with Mikhail Baryshnikov and has collaborated with cellist Yo-Yo Ma, choreographing Falling Down Steps. McCain's program features My Party, Sang-Froid, The Argument, Silhouettes, and Dancing Honeymoon. All music will be performed by live musicians.
Pre-performance lecture by Elizabeth Moran.
Public $32,$28
Senior $30,$26
Student/Child $16,$14
NOTE: Q & A session with Mark Morris will immediately follow the performance.

Die Fledermaus
Tuesday, October 17, 7:30 p.m.
Join us as we raise the curtain on one of the most well loved operettas of all time, Johann Strauss's Die Fledermaus: a bubbly concoction of champagne, masquerades, amorous flirtations and practical jokes. Western Opera Theater has assembled some of the world's brightest young talents for this lively journey into the romance of Strauss's delightful melodies set in the intoxicating extravagance of late 19th century Vienna.
Pre-performance lecture by Dr. Reginald Pittman.
Public $40,$36
Senior $38,$32
Student/Child $20,$18

Inti-Illimani
Friday, October 27, 8 p.m.
The seven members of this Chilean-based ensemble have enraptured audiences with their special blend of instrumentals and vocals for decades. Playing more than 30 wind, string, and percussion instruments, they have traveled the world weaving an extra-ordinary cultural tapestry and taking audiences on a tour through the love and pain of daily life. You won't want to miss the ensemble that's recorded more than 30 albums and performed for Amnesty International on stage with Bruce Springsteen, Mercedes Sosa, Sting, Wynton Marsalis and Peter Gabriel.
Public $20
Senior $18
Student/Child $10

All events, dates and times are subject to change without notice.

Call 785-532-6428 weekdays, noon to 5 p.m.

Stop by or call the box office today. You can charge your tickets to VISA, Mastercard or Discover.

NE fa NEW ENGLAND foundation for the arts

Major funding has been provided by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Additional support provided by the K-State Fine Arts Fee, Friends of McCain, and the Heartland Arts Fund.

SINCE 1979
AUDIO JUNCTION, INC.
307 Ft. Riley Blvd.
587-4646
Mon.- Fri. 10-7
Sat. 10-5

ROCKFORD FOSGATE AMPLIFIER & SUBWOOFER COMBO

Rockford Fosgate Punch
100z² Amplifier
200 Watts

Rockford Fosgate Punch
XLC 10" Subwoofer

PLUS, A CARPETED ENCLOSURE!
RETAILS FOR $319, ON SALE FOR $219
Rockford Fosgate
*AMERICAN MADE 3-YEAR WARRANTY

"Crazy" Ted Varney would have loved this...
CRAZY TEXTBOOK SALE
Hundreds of selected new & used textbooks
Various fields of study
Check out these crazy low prices!
(Sept. 29 - Oct. 18)
$1.00 Paperbacks
$15.00
$2.00 Hardbacks
ALL YOU CAN CARRY!
Varney's BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE
"We Give You Our Best"
www.varneys.com
While you're in,
ADVANCE ORDERING your fall textbooks at Varney's can save you valuable time, energy, and money!
Ask our textbook staff for details.
9 a.m.-9 p.m. Mon.-Sat. 11a.m.-7p.m. Sun.
785-539-0511

CLASSIFIEDS

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.
CALL 532-6555

LET'S RENT

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FALL LEASING available! Call now! Fully furnished, washer/ dryer, fully equipped kitchen, alarm systems, computer lab, copier, and fax availability, fitness center/ rec room, swimming pool, reserved parking, tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. University Commons Apartments, 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

CAMPUS FIVE BLOCKS. Very large two-bedroom with air-conditioning. Clean, quiet location. Electric, gas, water, trash paid. No dogs. 537-8389.

EXCELLENT TWO-BEDROOM one block from campus. $550 per month, water/ trash paid. 341-4496.

LET US HELP you find a place to live. We may have what you need. No dogs. Leave message, 537-8389.

STUDIO $405 Winston Place Apartments. (785)539-9339.

VERY NICE two-bedroom with air-conditioning. NEWLY REDECORATED, clean, quiet, convenient location. Heat, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. 537-8389.

115 Rooms Available

FIRST MONTH'S RENT FREE. Room available now in four-bedroom house. Pets allowed, two bathrooms, utilities shared four ways. 1207 Houston. $300/ month. (785)770-9484.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, close to campus, newly remodeled, CENTRAL AIR, two bath, washer/ dryer. 770-7230, 539-1713.

TWO STORY BRICK, very large, three- four-bedroom, two baths, central air, laundry hook-ups, quiet location, fenced yard, parking. 537-8389.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom basement apartment one block from campus. Includes washer/ dryer, dishwasher, and private parking. $210/ month. (785)537-1995.

145 Roommate Wanted

ROOMMATE WANTED for house. ONE-BLOCK FROM CAMPUS. Gas, water, and trash paid. Off-street parking. 776-5422.

150 Sublease

CLOSE TO CAMPUS! A very spacious one-bedroom basement apartment in a nice house. Rent: $340 a month. You only pay for electricty, phone and cable! October's rent free! 323-0459.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT at Chase Manhattan, January 1st- August 5th! Rent $469/ month, cable included. Carport available. 565-9210 for more information.

310 Help Wanted

LANDSCAPING POSITIONS. Full-time M- F. Apply in person at Horticultural Services Inc. 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (785)494-2418 or (785)776-0397.

REAL ESTATE assistant and special projects. Need car, basic computer skills, good listener, follows instructions. 10- 20 hours/ week, flexible. Daytime 8am-6pm, Monday- Friday. $10/ hour. Resume and references to BI Investments, PO Box 1111, Junction City, KS 66441.

Spring Break 2001
Jamaica, Cancun, Florida, Barbados, Bahamas.
Now hiring campus reps. Earn 2 fee trips. Free Meals. Books by Nov. 2nd. Call for FREE info pack or visit online sunsplashtours.com
1-800-426-7710

TUTOR NEEDED for biochemistry (CHEM 265). Please call 770-8186.

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information, call (785)456-2795, www.ksu.edu/ksfc

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

FOUND BLACK CD holder on Manhattan Ave. Call Laura at 532-5712

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

050 Parties-n-More

Bobby T's
Monday Night Football
1/2 price appetizers during the game
$1.50 bottles

100 housing/ real estate

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

Come home to relax in comfort
•Cambridge Square
•Sandstone Apts.
•Fireplaces •Carports
•Pool •Private Deck
•Laundry Facilities
•Large 2-bedroom Units
Call TODAY!!!
537-9064
Weekdays 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Showings by appointment

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

BRAND NEW three-bedroom/ three bathroom apartment, available now, washer/ dryer included, close to campus and Aggieville. Call MDI 776-3804.

DOES $350/ month sound better than what you're paying for rent? Assume my loan and own a three-bedroom, two bath, three year old mobile home by Tuttle Creek River Pond. Call (785)776-5619, leave name and number and I'll return your call.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for large house near campus. Large bedroom, two baths, central air, washer/ dryer. $270 plus one-fourth utilities. 776-0352.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for nice furnished two-bedroom, two bath dishwasher, washer/ dryer, private deck. Tenant needed $325/ month. 537-8226.

300 employment/ opportunities

310 Help Wanted

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!! Looking for part- time dealers. Multi- level market selling Indoor Air Purification Machines. Fun business, good money!!! Call Mitch at (888)814-2893.

ASSISTANT MANAGER. Full-time permanent position available. Must have broad plant knowledge, retail and supervisory experience. Excellent benefit package. Apply in person 8a.m.- 5p.m. at Blueville Nursery, Inc., 4539 Anderson. EOE.

CIVIL ENGINEERING graduate teaching assistant for part-time instruction at KSU at Salina. Knowledge of KDOT Soils, Aggregate, and Concrete lab techniques a plus. Send letter of inquiry and resume to: CIT2 Program, 2310 Centennial Rd., TAC Building, Suite 119, Salina, KS 67401. Application deadline October 15.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

310 Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For infor call (203)977-1722.

ARE YOU connected? Computer users wanted for free information call 1-800-310-0295. $25-$75/hour, full training, currently in 49 countries.

CUSTOMER SERVICE, a perfect match. If you have 15-75 pounds to lose, we pay you. 877-345-7179.

DELIVERY DRIVERS needed. $5.50 per hour plus tips and mileage. Evening shift available. Please contact Hunam Restaurant, 1304 Westloop. 539-8888.

OFFICE ASSISTANT. Permanent part-time office position. Customer etiquette, accuracy and attention to detail are a necessity. Benefit package included. Apply in person 8a.m.- 5p.m. at Blueville Nursery, Inc., 4539 Anderson. EOE.

OGDEN YOUTH Center, immediate opening, full-time youth director. Must have experience working with teens, good communication and organization skills, computer skills in MS Word and Excel. Grant writing experience and bachelors degree preferred. Must be able to work evenings. Send resume and references to Ogden Youth Center Personnel, Box 145, Ogden, KS 66517.

Spring Break Reps needed to promote campus trips. Earn easy money and travel free! All materials provided free. We train you. Work on you own time. Call 1-800-367-1252 or www.springbreakdirect.com

410 Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. Open 12- 5p.m. Closed Sundays. Mondays. 539-4684.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS Camouflage clothing (including PURPLE) field jackets- Boots sleeping bags- overshoes, hunting wear. Also CARHARTT workwear. Open Mon.- Fri., 9- 5:30; Sat. 9- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS 66536. (785)437-2734.

435 Computers

COMPAQ DESK Pro 590. Complete system with ethernet card installed. $200. 770-8460.

PRE-OWNED LAPTOPS, in excellent condition, starting at just $399.95!!! NorthStar Solutions: 1800 Claflin Rd., #160 (near campus at the corner of Claflin and Denison).

460 Electronic Equipment

SONY, KENWOOD, JBL, Technics, Bose, etc. Stereo and Surround. Quality used equipment, bought and sold. Call Mike (785)565-0517.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

WANTED TWO student tickets. October 14, Oklahoma game. David at 537-8029.

WANTED: FOUR reserved tickets for Oklahoma game. Call (785)776-3554.

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1987 DODGE -600, four-door, automatic, air-conditioned, power steering, good condition, $2000 or best offer. Call (785)539-1628.

1988 BUICK LeSabre, four-door, new tires, air-conditioning, power windows and locks, roomy and comfortable, runs great, 110K. $4500 or reasonable offer. (785)776-8558.

1988 FORD Mustang LX, 2.5 liter v-4, standard transmission, gray, sunroof, alloy wheels. 565-0849.

1989 HONDA Civic, manual, four-door, grey, wagon, 98K, runs great, air-conditioning needs work, $1800 best offer. 395-5050.

1991 MAZDA Protege. Power, manual, four-door. 132K. $2150 negotiable. 1993 Mazda 626 automatic, loaded, 115K, four-door. $4150 negotiable. Call 770-9218.

1992 PONTIAC Firebird, rare V6/ five-speed combo, 100,000 highway miles. $5800 or best offer, (785)776-8775 Erik.

1997 DODGE Caravan Sport. 60K, excellent condition, power everything. Must sell. $14,700 or best offer. (785)762-2429. Leave message.

EXCELLENT TOWN car with low mileage, low gas, low price and cinch to park. 1994 Geo Metro, automatic transmission only. 37,000 miles $3500. (785)539-1956, evenings.

MUST SEE. 1979 Ford Granada, mint condition, 33,000 original miles, runs great (used to be Grandmas) $1700 (785)293-5719.

530 Motorcycles

1981 HONDA CB650, red, good tires, runs great $850 or best offer. Also, 1978 CX500 electrical problems, lots of spare parts, $250. jce6619@ksu.edu or 776-3757, ask for Jon.

1982 KAWASAKI K21000, $1300. (785)537-8878.

530 Motorcycles

2000 HARLEY Davidson, FXDWG, purple, 250 miles, $20,000. (972)396-7035.

2000 YAMAHA R-6. Mint, V and H pipe, jetted, tinted windshield, new rear 190, two Shoei helmets. 3.5K. $7200. 537-8381.

we kick ads.
CLASSIFIEDS • 532-6555

600 travel/ trips

610 Tour Package

WINTER SKI TRIPS
Steamboat CO
January 8-15, 2001
3/4/5/6 or 7 nights
1•800•SUNCHASE
steamboat.skitripsusa.com

630 Spring Break

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas and Florida. Earn cash and go free! Now hiring campus reps. 1-800-234-7007 endlesssummertours.com

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best SPRING BREAK PRICES! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Mardigras. Reps needed. Travel free, earn $$$. GROUP DISCOUNTS FOR SIX+. (800)838-8203/ www.leisuretours.com

GO DIRECT= $avings! #1 Internet-based Spring Break company offering WHOLESALE Spring Break packages (no middlemen)! Zero traveler complaints registered against us last year! ALL destinations. Lowest price guarantee! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakdirect.com

SPRING BREAK 2001! CANCUN & BAHAMAS. EAT, DRINK, TRAVEL FOR FREE, WANTED CAMPUS REPS! Call USA SPRING BREAK, toll free (877)460-6077, for trip information and rates. 25 Continuous Years of Student Travel! www.usaspringbreak.com

NOBODY DOES BREAKS BETTER!
January 8-15, 2001
WINTER SKI TRIPS
Steamboat CO
Breckenridge CO
Vail CO
Aspen CO
Winter Park CO
Voted #1
Feb 24-Mar 31, 2001
Panama City FL
South Padre TX
Daytona Beach FL
Destin FL
Hilton Head SC
SPRING BEACH TRIPS
Best Prices
Feb 25-Apr 1, 2001
SPRING SKI TRIPS
Steamboat CO
Breckenridge CO
www.sunchase.com
1•800•SUNCHASE

630 Spring Break

WINTER BREAK/ SPRING BREAK. Ski and beach trips on sale now! www.sunchase.com or call 1-800-SUNCHASE today!

700

710 Legal Notice

(PUBLISHED IN the Kansas State Collegian) Oct. 2, 2000.

STATEMENT OF OWNERSHIP MANAGEMENT AND CIRCULATION OF THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN. (Required by 39 U.S.C. 3685)

Date of filing: Sept. 28, 2000.

Title of Publication: Kansas State Collegian. Frequency of Issue: Daily except Sat. and Sun. during school year. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday during summer session.

Location of headquarters of General Business Offices of the Publishers: Room 103, Kedzie Hall, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506.

Publisher: Student Publication Inc., Kedzie Hall, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas.

Director, Ronald E. Johnson, Kedzie Hall, K.S.U., Manhattan, Kansas 66506.

Editor: Reed Dunn, Kedzie Hall, K.S.U., Manhattan, Kansas 66506.

Managing Editor: Tanner Ehmke, Kedzie Hall, K.S.U., Manhattan, Kansas 66506.

Owner: Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall, K.S.U., Manhattan, Kansas 66506.

Extent and nature of circulation:

Average No. copies each issue during preceding 12 months, total number copies printed, 10,684; paid circulation, sales through dealers and carriers, street vendors and counter sales, 10,101; mail subscriptions, 176; total paid circulation, 10,101; free distribution by mail, carriers or other means, 29; copies distributed to news agents but not sold, none; total distribution, 10,630; office use, left-over, unaccounted, spoiled after printing, 25; total, 10,655.

Actual number of copies of single issue published nearest to filing date: total number copies printed, 11,763; paid circulation, sales through dealers and carriers, street vendors and counter sales, 10,713; mail subscriptions, 163; total paid circulation, 10,876; free distribution by mail, carrier or other means, 862; copies distributed to news agents but not sold, none; total distribution 11,738; office use, left-over, unaccounted, spoiled after printing, 25; total 11,763.

Ronald E. Johnson
Director

Collegian Classifieds will REEL in your customers
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie
532-6555

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less
$7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less
$8.40
each word over 20
$.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less
$9.85
each word over 20
$.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less
$10.90
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less
$11.90
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

Kansas State University

STOP SURFING!!!
DO YOUR SEARCHING IN
THE 2000-2001 CAMPUS PHONE BOOK
GET YOUR COPY NOW
AVAILABLE IN KEDZIE 103 THROUGH OUT THE YEAR

000 bulletin board
100 housing/ real estate
200 service directory
300 employment/ opportunities
400 open market
500 transportation
600 travel/ trips

This paid advertisement appears the 1st day of each month to promote Recreational Services' programs and events.

Rec Report

www.recservices.edu

Recreational Services' Office Located in Peters Recreation Complex

Swimming at the Natatorium

Whether it's hot and humid, cold and rainy, or just plain yucky outside, you can no longer use the weather as an excuse to not work out.

One of K-State's best kept secrets has a workout designed to fit every weather condition and everyone's needs. Water aerobics are a great way to get in shape and tone your muscles. They are offered every day at the KSU Natatorium, located next to Ahearn Fieldhouse.

Water aerobics has traditionally been thought of as a workout for older people; however, that stereotype is fading fast.

"Our water aerobics classes are designed for people of all ages, both male and female", said Amanda Forsyth, Graduate Assistant for Fitness and Wellness at the Rec Center.

There are many different benefits to doing water aerobics. They enhance cardiovascular fitness and flexibility. Water provides more resistance than air does, so you will actually see quicker results when you exercise in the water.

Water also provides buoyancy and support for your body. This means that the jarring effects of exercise on your body are greatly reduced when you are in the water. Water aerobics is also a great way to rehabilitate any sprains, strains, fractures or dislocations.

There are two different types of exercise sessions available at the Natatorium. Aqua Aerobics provides a great workout using the water's resistance. Neither swimming ability nor head submersion are required for these classes. Deep Water Jogging combines water buoyancy and resistance for high intensity exercise. Flotation belts are provided for these classes. All KSU students and pool facility use card holders can attend the water aerobics sessions. Aqua aerobics are held Monday through Friday at 11:30 a.m. and at 7:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday. Deep water jogging is held on tuesdays and Thursdays at 7:30 p.m.

Pool Action

Water Aerobics and Water Jogging offer great workouts for toning and strengthening muscles. The decreased impact on hard surfaces keeps joints healthy and strong. Stop by the Natatorium to enjoy these fun and energizing exercise sessions.

Water Aerobics: Monday-Friday 11:30a.m. - 12:30 p.m.
Monday and Wednesday 7:30 - 8:00 p.m. and 8:30-9:30 p.m.

My Favorite Workout

Carol Ann Holcomb has been exercising all her life. She has been using the KSU Natatorium for her workouts since coming here in 1979. She has even had the same locker for the past 21 years.

Holcomb, an Associate Professor for the Department of Human Nutrition, works out at the pools two to three times each week for about 45 minutes each day. Her favorite way to spend her time is swimming laps using a variety of strokes. "Swimming gives you maximal fitness with minimal stress, both physical and psychological, " Holcomb said.

Being in the Department of Human Nutrition, Holcomb knows a lot of great reasons why you should swim.

"Water offers resistance without impact," said Holcomb, " It is also a great way to build strength, endurance and flexibility. Swimming is also a great exercise for people with asthma."

Holcomb looks forward to her visits to the pool each week. "The pools are easily accessible, and are free for students to use," she said.

Nutrition Notes

Remember Mom's advice to eat breakfast? Well once again it looks like she was right.

Breakfast eaters seem to "rise and shine" above non-eaters. Breakfast eaters learn better in the classroom, control their weight better, and have lower blood cholesterol,which reduces heart disease risk. Getting started may be the biggest challenge.

If time is the issue,choose simple breakfasts such as:

- Cereal-ready to eat or hot instant types-with fruit and yogurt or milk
- A peanut butter sandwich with applesauce instead of jelly
- Bagel topped with low-fat cheese and a piece of fruit
- Blend milk,fruit,and yogurt for a breakfast shake
- Leftovers cheese pizza,sliced beef, even pasta, all provide energy to get going

Breakfast doesn't have to be fancy or traditional to meet nutritional needs. So plan something easy and tasty for your breakfast tomorrow!

American Dietetic Association

Who's Who at the Rec

Brian Estes has been lifeguarding at the Natatorium since he came to K-State four years ago. Having lifeguarded here in Manhattan while he attended high school, he naturally decided to look for a job at the pools. Estes is a senior in Kinesiology, so working at the pools also goes along well with his major. There are a lot of areas of his job that he enjoys but the one thing he likes the most is all of the people. "I really enjoy getting to see and meet new people," said Estes. "Working here has taught me how to use my people skills to find solutions to problems." Estes will graduate in December of this year.

When Jill Lanzrath began to look for a job, she knew she wanted to lifeguard. This native of Newton, Kansas, is a sophomore in Public Relations. Lanzrath had two years prior experience lifeguarding when she began working at the Natatorium last year. "I really enjoy lifeguarding," said Lanzrath," I think it is very relaxing." Working at the pools has also given her an opportunity to develop her people skills. "I like getting to meet and see so many different people, " Lanzrath said. "It also gives me the opportunity to learn how to deal with a lot of people and keep a good attitude about it." Lanzrath plans on graduating in 2004. She would like to move out-of-state and work in a big city, pursuing a career in public relations.

Words of Wellness — THEY CAN, WHO BELIEVE THEY CAN.

Intramural Mania

October Dates to Remember

5	Entry Deadline for Student Golf	5:00 p.m.	Recreation Complex
8	Student Golf Tournament (Fraternity)	tee times	Rolling Meadows Golf Course
12	Entry deadline for Volleyball and Individual Sports	5:00 p.m.	Rec Services office
15	Student Golf Tournament (Women, Res Hall & independent)	tee times	Rolling Meadows Golf Course
17	Captains'/Managers' Volleyball Meeting Individual Sports Play Begins	5:00 p.m.	Recreation Complex
18	Volleyball Play Begins		Recreation Complex
19	Entry deadline for Cross Country and Inner Tube Water Polo	5:00 p.m.	Rec Services office
22	Cross Country Meet	2:00 p.m.	Warner Park
25	F/S Volleyball Begins		Recreation Complex
26	Entry Deadline for Bowling	5:00 p.m.	Recreation Complex
27	Intramural Team Points posted	5:00 p.m.	Recreation Complex
29	Inner Tube Water Polo play begins	assigned times	Natatorium

Volleyball Official Employment Opportunity

High quality instruction is provided in the rules, mechanics and techniques of officiating volleyball. Pay begins at $6.50/hr. Call John at 532-6980 for additional information. No application form required. Attendance is required at both training clinics. To be eligible, you must be a Kansas State University student and must be enrolled in a minimum of 1 credit hour during the fall semester.Graduate assistants are not eligible for employment.

Training Clinics
Monday, Oct. 16, 5:00 p.m., Recreation Complex
Tuesday, Oct. 17, 6:30 p.m., Recreation Complex

Faculty Staff Volleyball

Entries will be accepted October 9-12. Leagues will be offered on Wednesdays at 6p.m. with play beginning Wednesday, October 25. The Faculty/Staff division is open to all current and retired KSU faculty and staff,visiting professors and graduate assistants. Spouses may participate if husband and wife participate on the same team.

Outdoor Rental Center

The Outdoor Rental Center is open through November 6 for your canoeing and camping needs. We offer a full line of tents, canoes, sleeping bags, backpacks, stoves, lanterns, etc., and our rates are very reasonable. Give us a call at 532-6894 for your equipment needs!

Rec Check

Rec Check provides program and facility information 24 hours a day by dialing 532-6000. Call Rec Check for Recreation Complex and Pool hours, exercise sessions Intramural deadlines and more!

Entry Policies:

- Facility users must be affiliated with KSU – student, faculty/staff or alumni association member.
- Cards are not sold to the general public.
- Call the Recreational Services office at 532-6980 for details.

WELLNESS RESOURCE CENTER

The resource room offers many services to Rec users. These services include a wide range of fitness tests, which include sub max VO2, flexibility, body fat, grip strength, muscular endurance, and blood pressure evaluation. Blood pressure checks can be requested any time a Rec Services fitness consultant is available. If you are new to the Rec, we are happy to introduce you to our facility and the equipment. We hope that you'll come by and check us out.

Working It Out

Wildcat Work outs offer many benefits to improve your health and wellness. To name a few, they are a great way to boost your self esteem, give you more energy,help you sleep better, control your weight, help you relieve stress, and will give you a chance to meet new friends. Recreational Services provides several classes throughout the week that vary in levels of intensity and aerobic style. For a schedule of daily sessions,call Rec Check at 532-6000 or check out www.recservices,ksu,edu

One of the more popular exercise classes offered is H.I.I.T. (High Intensity Interval Training), which is from 8:05-8:35p.m. on Tuesday's and Thursday's in the small gym. This class will definitely change your aerobic capacity and get that heart rate up as you incorporate step,toning,and sprints throughout the workout.

Locker Rental

Beginning October 1, locker rentals for the fall semester will be 1/2 price. A locker from October-Dec 31 will be $6.25 for a single locker and $11.25 for a double locker. Locker rentals include towel service. Stop by the Recreational Services office during business hour, Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

Rec Connection

Access Recreational Services' web site for complete information about:

- Facilities & Programs
- Exercise Sessions
- Intramurals
- Wellness Information

www.recservices.ksu.edu

RC - Rec Complex
P - Pools at Natatorium

October 2000
Recreational Services Activity Calendar

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
1 RC NOON - MIDNIGHT P 1:00PM - 5:00PM P 7:00PM - 10:00PM	2 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Entries begin/Student Golf	3 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 5:00PM - 6:00PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM	4 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM	5 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 5:00PM - 6:00PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Entry Deadline/Golf, 5:00PM	6 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM	7 RC 9:00AM - 10:00PM P 1:00PM - 5:00PM P 7:00PM - 10:00PM
8 RC NOON - MIDNIGHT P 1:00PM - 5:00PM P 7:00PM - 10:00PM Student Golf, Rolling Meadows	9 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Volleyball & Individual Sports Entries Begin	10 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 5:00PM - 6:00PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM	11 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM	12 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 5:00PM - 6:00PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Volleyball & Individual Sports Entry Deadline, 5:00PM	13 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM	14 RC 9:00AM - 10:00PM P 1:00PM - 5:00PM P 7:00PM - 10:00PM Watch for adjusted time due to home football game
15 RC NOON - MIDNIGHT P 1:00PM - 5:00PM P 7:00PM - 10:00PM Student Golf, Rolling Meadows	16 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Entries Begin Cross Country & Inner Tube Water Polo	17 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 5:00PM - 6:00PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Volleyball Cpt/Mgr Mtg, Rec Plex, Small Gym	18 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Volleyball & Individual Sports Begin	19 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P NO EARLY MORNING SWIM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 5:00PM - 6:00PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Cross Country & Inner Tube Water Polo Entry Deadline 5:00PM	20 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM	21 RC 9:00PM - 10:00PM P 7:00PM - 10:00PM Adjusted hours K-State vs Texas Tech
22 RC NOON - MIDNIGHT P 1:00PM - 5:00PM P 7:00PM - 10:00PM Cross Country Meet at Warner Park	23 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Entries Begin/Bowling	24 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 5:00PM - 6:00PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM	25 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM Faculty/Staff Volleyball Begins	26 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 5:00PM - 6:00PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Entry Deadline/Bowling 5:00PM	27 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM	28 RC 9:00AM - 10:00PM P 1:00PM - 5:00PM P 7:00PM - 10:00PM
29 RC NOON - MIDNIGHT P 1:00PM - 5:00PM P 7:00PM - 10:00PM Inner Tube Water Polo Begins	30 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Entries Begin/Sports Trivia Contest & Swim Meet	31 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM P 11:30AM - 2:30PM P 5:00PM - 6:00PM P 7:30PM - 10:00PM

 Pool use on Tuesdays and Thursdays, 5:00 PM - 6:00 PM, is shared with the Department of Kinesiology. Participation is restricted to adult, fitness swimming and water jogging only.

Volleyball Official's Mtg. 5 p.m., Oct 16, at the Recreation Complex.

TODAY'S WEATHER
HIGH 83 ■ LOW 59
TUESDAY

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Oct. 3, 2000 ■ Kansas State University ■ Manhattan, Kan. ■ Volume 105, Number 31

3
Madness attracts crowds
■ page 6

K-State enrollment continues to increase

By JESSICA PITTS
Kansas State Collegian

K-State is reporting a record enrollment for the fall 2000 semester.

Total enrollment is 21,929 students, compared to the previous record high of 21,543 students that was set last year.

"The record number of students enrolled is a direct result how we treat students," said Pat Bosco, dean of student life and associate vice president for institutional advancement. "The word of mouth is incredible. It is the response of quality undergraduate classroom experience and the amount of direct attention the faculty places on the individual needs of the students."

WEFALD

numbers game

Total K-State enrollment reached an all-time high, breaking the record set last year. Here is a look at those numbers.

	1999	2000	Change
Total enrollment	21,543	21,929	+ 386
Manhattan	20,620	21,003	+ 383
Salina	923	926	+ 3

SOURCE: K-State News Services

New freshman enrollment is 3,308 at the Manhattan campus and 218 at the Salina campus, for a total of 3,526, up from a year ago.

"It is clear that more and more of the state's best and brightest want to come to K-State to be a part of our winning team," K-State President Jon Wefald said. "Students are choosing K-State because of the high quality of our academic programs, our low cost and our friendly atmosphere. K-State is simply the No. 1 choice of the top Kansas high school students."

A record number of new undergraduate students — freshmen and transfer students — enrolled at the Manhattan campus also has increased.

The number of 4,924 is up more than a hundred students from 1999.

"This is great for the school because the school is state-funded by the numbers of enrollment," Bosco said. "There is an increase in funding based on an increase in students."

In a spring 2000 survey, students indicated they chose K-State mainly because they thought the university has high-quality academic programs, low cost and a friendly campus.

"I decided to transfer to K-State because I felt like they offered a quality education at an inexpensive rate," Jeremiah Gudding, junior in public relations, said.

Bosco said he can't predict whether

See ENROLLMENT on PAGE 3

Minority enrollment also rises

By LIL CROSBY
Kansas State Collegian

K-State has what many other universities want — growing diversity and multiculturalism on campus. Enrollment statistics released last week indicate that K-State's minority and multicultural student population is increasing.

According to 20-day enrollment statistics, K-State's record-number headcount is 21,929 students on both the Manhattan and Salina campuses. This total includes 1,716 minority students and 1,004 non-resident internationals.

The largest increase in minority enrollment is in the category of black students, with 622 students, which is up from 546 last year. Hispanics comprise a total of 538 students in comparison to 487 last year. Multiracial students jumped to 139 versus 89 students last year.

"This is very exciting news, and it is consistent with our goal to make K-State a multicultural and diverse environment," said Mordean Taylor-Archer, associate provost for diversity and dual career development. "But we must continue to pay equal attention to recruit multicultural students and ensure their success."

Doretha Henry, senior in social science, said she welcomes the increase in minorities on campus.

See MINORITY on PAGE 3

Big 12 final seats go on sale today

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

Remaining public tickets for the fifth annual Dr Pepper Big 12 Football Championship game at Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City, Mo., will go on sale today.

In a joint endeavor, the Big 12 Conference and the Kansas City Chiefs have announced that 19,200 tickets will be available through Ticketmaster for the Dec. 2 contest, which will be sold for $45, $50, $55 and $60 based upon seat location, with a limit of eight tickets per order.

Tickets can be purchased via telephone or on the Internet beginning at 10 a.m. today. Telephone orders will be accepted by calling (800) 676-5488, through Ticketmaster in Kansas City, Mo., at (816) 931-3330 or at www.Ticketmaster.com.

However, tickets will not be sold through the Big 12 Conference, at the Arrowhead Stadium box office or on-site at Ticketmaster outlets.

K-State Sports Information Director

See TICKETS on PAGE 8

Professor files complaint of discrimination

By MICHELLE BERTUGLIA
Kansas State Collegian

A female professor in K-State's College of Business Administration has brought a gender discrimination complaint against the university.

Diane Swanson, assistant professor of business, filed a complaint with the Kansas Human Rights Commission in Topeka against the university for what she said was differential treatment without a legitimate cause, creation of a hostile work environment, violations of confidentiality of evaluations and violation of internal procedures abuse of power.

Swanson said the problems stemmed from her 1998 evaluation, after which she informally asked J. Bruce Prince, her department chairman at the time, if his evaluation was based on her gender. She said Prince then wrote a formal memo to

See COMPLAINT on PAGE 8

Battle for BLOOD
145 PINTS

The blood drive continue from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. today through Friday in the K-State Student Union and from 4 to 9 p.m. today and Wednesday at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex. Putnam Hall will be the site of a residence hall blood drive from 1 to 7 p.m. on Thursday.

day at the park

PHOTOS BY KELLY GLASSCOCK

ABOVE: Brett Bandy picks wild flowers with his family at Warner Park on Monday evening.

LEFT: Stasia Bembenek, second-year student in veterinary medicine, and her dogs Bacchus and Luca wait for a friend to take a run through Warner Park.

Campus organization offers students chance to view, discuss debates

By CHARLIE MORASCH
Kansas State Collegian

ELECTIONS 2000

As George W. Bush and Al Gore face each other in three debates over the next two weeks, K-State students have the opportunity to join in on presidential politics.

DebateWatch 2000, sponsored by the Department of Speech Communication, Theatre and Dance, will begin at 7:30 tonight at the UMB Theatre in the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art.

"We invite whoever would like to come — students, people from the community, anybody," David Proctor, head of the department, said.

K-State is just one of many campuses that will be host to the debate and discussion.

"DebateWatch is a national organization, so these DebateWatch parties will be going on all across the country," Proctor said.

Susan Stanfield, K-State debate coach, said that DebateWatch parties could have an effect on future presidential debates.

"That fact that it goes on nationwide provides a means for the Commission of Presidential Debates to get a look at what the average voter sees when they view the debate," she said. "They will make decisions about format suggestions, and ways to improve the debate in four more years."

The UMB Theatre was chosen because it can seat a large number of people, but DebateWatch sponsors aren't sure about the number of people in attendance.

"When we did this in '96 there wasn't a great deal of interest, but I think that was because the election wasn't as close," Stanfield said. "A turnout of 40 or 50 for each of the debates would probably be a nice turnout."

Proctor said the event will consist of the viewing of the actual debate, followed by discussion with other K-State students.

"We'll all watch the debates together, then break into some groups afterward and talk about what we heard," Proctor said.

Proctor said the groups will address whether the candidates covered the issues or not, and how they liked the debate.

"Its almost like a debate party," he said.

Although the actual debate doesn't begin until 8 p.m., those who attend should plan on arriving early.

"It starts about 8 p.m. so we're asking people to come about 7:30 so we can go over some ground rules and get everybody comfortable," Proctor said.

Attendees of DebateWatch should understand that the event is for educational purposes, and shouldn't expect a party convention atmosphere, Proctor said.

"It was originally created to serve as an educational vehicle for the presidential debates," Proctor said. "It's not a time for Democratic or Republican rallies to come down and everybody chants, 'Go, Al Gore,' or 'Go, George Bush.' It's more of a time for everyone to get together, watch the debate and talk about what we learned in these debates."

CONTACT US

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
532-0729 rdunn@collegianmail.com

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
532-0729 tehmke@collegianmail.com

Steve Dearinger Photo Editor
532-5492 sdearinger@collegianmail.com

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
532-0730 jbarrett@collegianmail.com

Sarah Bahari City & Government Editor
532-0730 sbahari@collegianmail.com

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
532-0732 kdymacek@collegianmail.com

Derek Boss Sports Editor
532-0732 dboss@collegianmail.com

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
532-0732 eschneweis@collegianmail.com

Ken Wells Online Editor
532-6556 kwells@collegianmail.com

Becky Wilson Copy Chief
532-0732 bwilson@collegianmail.com

Sara Martin Design Editor
532-0731 smartin@collegianmail.com

Jim Calvert Ad Manager
532-6560 jimcalvert@collegianmail.com

Alissa Duncan Assistant Ad Manager
532-6560 aduncan@collegianmail.com

Molly Brammer Online Ad Manager
532-6560 molly@collegianmail.com

BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Display advertising	532-6560
Classified advertising	532-6555
Delivery Problems	532-6555
Photo Reprints	532-6304

BY MAIL

Kansas State Collegian
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

ON THE WEB

www.kstatecollegian.com

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 2000

Nader, Buchanan strive for inclusion in debate

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Ralph Nader and Pat Buchanan don't agree on much, but they're standing together in contending they both should be included in the presidential debates.

Both plan to be in Boston for the first debate Tuesday. However, they will be outsiders looking in, barred from a national forum that could have given their flagging third-party campaigns a boost.

Buchanan, the Reform Party candidate, and Green Party nominee Nader fell far short of the level of support required by the sponsoring bipartisan Commission on Presidential Debates.

"The citizens of this country will lose out ... as Mr. Gore and Mr. Bush are allowed to sidestep issues and solutions," Nader said Monday while campaigning in Concord, N.H.

Buchanan called the exclusion a willful act of malice and discrimination.

"It cheats the American people of the right to hear a candidate whose campaign they're paying for," he said in an interview.

Nader and Buchanan have received 3 percent support or less in recent national surveys. These same polls, however, show a third or more would like to see a four-way debate, with Buchanan and Nader joining Democrat Al Gore and Republican George W. Bush.

The presidential debates sponsored by the commission — the others are scheduled for Oct. 11 in Winston-Salem, N.C., and Oct. 17 in St. Louis — have a potential of reaching millions of voters, and could be crucial in attracting people who might not be swayed through traditional campaigning.

Both Buchanan and Nader have used former wrestler Jesse Ventura to show how debates can influence elections. Ventura barely mustered 10 percent in Minnesota polls before participating in candidate debates in the gubernatorial election, which he won.

Either Bush or Gore could have pushed to include minor party candidates in the debates. They also could have pressed the larger television networks to have a four-way discussion, but in a race as close as theirs, they want to go one-on-one against each other and not have a lot of distraction from third or fourth party candidates who might steal their votes, said Cal Jillson, a Southern Methodist University political science professor.

Republicans learned their lesson in 1992, when Ross Perot got to debate Bill Clinton and President Bush. Perot ultimately earned 19 percent of the vote in November — possibly drawing enough GOP votes to cost Bush the election, many Republicans believe.

—The Associated Press

New bank to take place of Manhattan restaurant

Getting cash on the way to the movie theater soon will be a little easier.

Beginning early next year, Manhattan residents can stop at the Community First National Bank across from Seth Childs Cinema on Farm Bureau Road.

The building, formerly occupied by Raoul's Escondido restaurant, is under construction to accommodate the new business.

Rob Stitt, president of Community First National Bank, said he was looking for a location on the west side of Manhattan because of the growth that part of the town has experienced.

"We think it's much needed," he said.

The building's renovations include new offices, a vault and teller booths. Everything from the restaurant is being torn out.

The bank is a new brand-start up with local investors, Stitt said. There will only be a staff of six people, including himself.

"We're small but mighty," he said.

BHS Construction company received the bid as contractors for the new bank. Stitt expects the costs will exceed $500,000 when it's all said and done.

Wayne Sloan, president of BHS Construction, said he expects the project to be completed by the end of January.

— Jennifer O'Neill

ON RECORD

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ KSU Potter's Guild's annual pottery sale will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. today and Wednesday on the northeast side of the Union.

■ Future Financial Planners will meet at 5 p.m. today in Justin 247.

■ Hispanic-American Leadership Organization will meet at 5:30 p.m. today in Hale Library Tower Room 3.

■ Career and Employment Services will conduct a Résumé-Building Workshop at 5:30 p.m. today in Union 213.

■ KSU Creative Arts Therapists will meet at 5:30 p.m. today in Nichols 13.

■ Society of Women Engineers will meet at 6:20 tonight in the Union Courtyard.

■ International Interior Design Association will meet at 6:30 tonight in Union 209.

■ Pre-Nursing Club will meet at 7 tonight in Union 206.

■ Alpha Epsilon Delta will meet at 7 tonight in the Union Big 12 Room.

■ KSU Trapshooting Club will meet at 7 tonight in Union 205. All students, faculty and staff are welcome.

■ Society for Creative Anachronism/ Shire of the Spinning Winds will meet at 7 tonight at the southeast part of Manhattan City Park.

■ Block and Bridle will meet at 7:15 tonight in Weber 123 for yearbook pictures. Please wear business attire.

■ Microbiology Club will meet at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday in Akert 324.

■ A beginning sign language class will be offered beginning Oct. 10, and will continue through March 13. Classes will meet from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays at the College Height Baptist Church, 2320 Anderson Avenue. Registration deadline is Oct. 6. For more information, contact instructor Julie Carver at 539-7740 or jycarver@flinthills.com.

■ The K-State Community Service Program is accepting applications for the America Reads-America Counts Tutoring Program. Applicants must have work-study. Tutors work one-on-one with area elementary students in reading and math. For more information, contact Angie at 532-5701 or e-mail ksuserve@ksu.edu.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Riley County

Sunday, Oct. 1

■ At 4 p.m., Michael P. Osborne, Jr., Ogden, Kan., was arrested for theft. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 4:25 p.m., Eric Moore, Fort Riley, was arrested for battery, aggravated battery, criminal damage to property and intimidation of a witness. Bond was set at $2,000.

■ At 8:10 p.m., Richard G. Whitesell, 5260 W. 63rd Ave., was arrested for DUI and possession of a controlled substance.

Monday, Oct. 2

■ At 12:59 a.m., Weylan J. Bosse, 1919 Platte St., was arrested for driving on a suspended license. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 1:36 a.m., Russell G. Pennington, 1500 Oxford Place, was issued a notice to appear for allowing loud and disturbing noise.

■ At 2:16 a.m., Douglas A. Atchison, 831 Leavenworth St., was issued a notice to appear for transporting an open container.

■ At 2:16 a.m., Cynthia S. Dominey, 831 Leavenworth St., was issued a notice to appear for obstruction of the legal process.

■ At 7:33 a.m., Steven Bell, Junction City, was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $3,000.

K-State Police

■ No reports of note were made.

CORRECTIONS & CLARIFICATIONS

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Jenn Davoren at 532-6556 or e-mail collegn@ksu.edu.

Get more on the

www.kstatecollegian.com

BUILDING AN INTELLIGENT PORTFOLIO

Seating is limited.

Sign up today!

You're invited to the TIAA-CREF Financial Education Seminars.

Date: October 3, 4 & 5, 2000
Place: Room 207, Student Union
RSVP: Register on our website or call Teresa Nicholson at 1.800.842.2006

Taking Control of Your Personal Finances

We'll discuss the financial planning process and will focus on wealth accumulation and preservation, general information on estate planning, preservation and distribution.

Date & Time: October 3, 10:30 am
October 5, 1:00 pm

One-on-one Counseling

A TIAA-CREF Consultant will be on hand to provide free one-on-one counseling sessions, so you can get the personalized financial guidance you need to help you reach your investment goals.

Please attend the Kansas State Benefits Fair on October 4, 2000.

TIAA CREF Ensuring the future for those who shape it.℠

1.800.842.2006

www.tiaa-cref.org/moc

For more complete information on our securities products, please call 1.800.842.2733, ext. 5509, to request prospectuses. Read them carefully before you invest. • TIAA-CREF Individual and Institutional Services, Inc. distributes the CREF and TIAA Real Estate variable annuities. • Teachers Personal Investors Services, Inc. distributes the Personal Annuities variable annuity component, mutual funds and tuition savings agreements. • TIAA and TIAA-CREF Life Insurance Co., New York, NY, issue insurance and annuities. • TIAA-CREF Trust Company, FSB provides trust services. • Investment products are not FDIC insured, may lose value and are not bank guaranteed. © 2000 TIAA-CREF 08/03

Clear up the Clue® Mystery with Sprint PCS.

You can win $500,000.

The search is on for Miss Scarlet and the other Clue characters in this Sunday's paper. If you find them, you could win one of more than ten thousand prizes.

Grand Prize Find Miss Scarlet in the Conservatory and win $500,000.

First Prize Discover Professor Plum in the Ballroom and win a trip for two on the Venice Simplon–Orient-Express.

Second Prize Spot Colonel Mustard in the Study and win a Sprint PCS Phone* by Samsung™ and service.

Third Prize Locate Mr. Green in the Kitchen and win a Clue game.

You don't have to win to save! Valuable coupons worth $20 to $100 will be in the Sunday paper along with your official game piece. Or get coupons and game pieces now at any Sprint Store, RadioShack or other Sprint PCS Select Retailer, where you can also see if you've won.

Sprint. The clear alternative to cellular.™ Sprint PCS®

To play the game and to see if you've won, stop by one of the locations below. To order a phone, visit www.sprintpcs.com or call 1-800-480-4PCS.

Sprint PCS Center:
404 Poyntz Ave.
Manhattan, KS 66502
(785) 537-3500

Also available at:
The Sprint Store At RadioShack.

For eligibility and prizes, see the Clue® Up the Clue Mystery with Sprint PCS Game, see official rules on back of game piece. Prize claims must be postmarked by November 14, 2000. Grand prize of $500,000 payable as $25,000 annually for 20 years. To qualify for the rebate or service credit coupon savings, you must purchase a new Sprint PCS Phone,™ and activate on a new subscription by November 19, 2000, and stay activated for 30 days on a Sprint PCS Free & Clear Plan $29.99 or above. Offer not available to existing customers. Mail-in certificate must be postmarked by November 19, 2000. Allow 8–10 weeks for receipt of rebate or service credit. Void where prohibited. Offer subject to withdrawal without notice. All plans subject to credit approval. CLUE® is a trademark of Hasbro, Inc. ©2000. All rights reserved. Used with permission. ©2000 Sprint Spectrum L.P. All rights reserved. Sprint, Sprint PCS, Sprint PCS Phone, and the diamond logo are trademarks of Sprint Communications Company L.P.

Manhattan stores make preparations for holiday season, early shoppers

By LYNNE HERMANSEN
Kansas State Collegian

Santa Claus rode into Manhattan stores last month.

Manhattan businesses shelves have been stocked with Christmas merchandise in preparation for the holiday season.

The Country Gift Shop ... Christmas opened Sept. 1 for the first time at Manhattan Town Center, giving early Christmas shoppers a head start.

"We wanted to get a piece of the Christmas market, and to help advertise for the main store," Larry Williams, store manager, said.

The store has seen a significant amount of floor traffic as customers begin browsing through Christmas items. The store has not seen a high amount of sales, and employees expect to see more revenue as the holidays approach.

Williams said sales have been higher when temperatures have dropped, and customers typically do not find interest in Christmas shopping while the weather is still warm.

"The temperature has more to do with Christmas buying then the time of year," Williams said. "In September, the weather was fairly warm. Once the snow, sleet and cold hits, we will draw in more customers."

Some holiday stores remain open year round for shoppers looking for collectibles.

"There is a little bit more traffic along these lines," Williams said. "Santa collectors, angel collectors or seasonal item collectors can find what they are looking for in these shops."

The store's main items are for holiday decorating.

"We assume that sales will pick up by November 1 at the latest," Williams said. "Most likely they will drop again by December 5 through the 10th, because most families' homes are decorated by this time."

Wal-Mart's holiday season starts early as the store receives Christmas shipments by the beginning of October.

"It takes a while to get all the items out," Roy Hulett, store manager, said. "Christmas hits our shelves gradually, as more space is made available. It gives customers a sneak preview of things to come."

Wal-Mart puts Christmas items out early every year, and continues to sell more as Christmas comes closer.

"The new items sell-out early," Hulett said. "One advantage of stocking the shelves early with Christmas merchandise is so we are able to give customers the popular items they were unable to get the year before."

Some students have difficulty getting a jumpstart on the holiday shopping madness because of a shortage of money.

"I haven't found the time to begin shopping for the holidays as of yet," Stacie Morrison, junior in business management, said "I normally start a little bit before Thanksgiving, and try to finish up before everyone else starts their holiday shopping."

Students find other priorities in their lives more important before the holidays.

"I haven't gone shopping, because I have been consumed with school," Emily Schutz, junior in pre-nursing, said. "School is my number one priority in October."

Students find early Christmas shoppers to be at an advantage over the people who begin holiday shopping later.

"I think they are ahead of the game. It gives them more of a choice of what they want, before items run out at the end," Schutz said.

Students see early shopping as saving themselves lots of heartache.

"I think it's wonderful that people are able to start shopping early. It causes less stress for them in the future," Morrison said. "However, I think that they also miss out on the sales that crop up the closer Christmas gets."

Rachel Gordinier, senior in family studies and human services, takes advantage of stores' early holiday season.

"I normally have money at the beginning of the school year with loans," Gordinier said. "I am usually broke by the time finals roll around."

Gordinier said it is better for her to spend money along the way instead of a bulk amount before Christmas.

"I do not want to end up blowing $300 in the end," Gordinier said. "I think I save more money buying presents through out the semester."

Gordinier said she formed her habit of early Christmas shopping from her mother.

"She would always start early in preparation for the holidays. It's grown into a family tradition," she said.

Gordinier said she likes not having to wait and worry about gift options that will be available by the time Christmas comes.

"I like being prepared in advance, other things also pop up, such as birthdays, and I like being able to choose what I give to people as presents," she said.

MINORITY

■ continued from page 1

"This year, I've seen a drastic increase in minorities on campus compared to when I got here four years ago," she said. "Maybe we can have more power when it comes to voting in the student government elections and have a voice in the decision-making processes."

Black and Hispanic students are represented predominantly in the freshman class. This is consistent with studies that indicate substantial increases in minority enrollments this year and in the future.

"We are definitely moving in the right direction, but we need to do more," Taylor-Archer said.

Carlos Etter, senior in management information systems, said he sees the reason for the increase differently.

"It's the hype of a successful sports team, instead of the school's reputation," he said. "They need a recruitment and retention program to target minorities at this school."

Rosario Ibarra, senior in accounting and Spanish, has three siblings at K-State and one who has graduated. Ibarra said she believes K-State needs to have more incentives for minority students.

"K-State needs more scholarships in order to attract more minorities," Ibarra said. "I came here because my relatives were here, then my brother and sisters came."

Despite these record-breaking numbers, other ethnic groups show little or no increases in enrollment. Statistics show Asian student enrollment is almost unchanged, with 284 students, compared to 283 from last year, and American Indian enrollment dropped from 143 to 133.

Internationally, K-State is host to 231 Chinese students and 177 Indian students, in addition to about 600 students from about 100 nations around the world, including Djibouti, Qatar, Uzbekistan, Zimbabwe and Tanzania. There is an increase of 68 international students this year in comparison to last year.

Takashi Tomono, junior in horticultural therapy, also is from Tokyo and said he was not recruited to come to K-State, but found the school on the Internet.

"I think they should have more programs than the international orientation we attend when we first arrive," Tomono said. "It would help students more."

ENROLLMENT

■ continued from page 1

increasing enrollment will be a continuing trend for the university because qualified admissions goes into effect this fall. According to qualified admissions, incoming students must meet one of three qualifications: score a 21 on an ACT test, be in the top one-third in graduating class or have a 2.0 grade point average in a prescribed college-bound curriculum.

"This will be the first time in history students will have to meet those minimum qualifications," Bosco said. "That is an unknown variable on predicting if this trend will increase. Also, we will have to continue to be competitive in rewarding scholarships to have the increase in enrollment continue. Those are two variables that we can't predict until the numbers are in."

5 HUGE MOUNTAINS!
16th ANNUAL ski Steamboat
NATIONAL COLLEGE WEEK
Complete College Ski Package from only $189
1-88U-SKITHIS (1-888-754-8447)
www.Uskithis.com

Ramblers
STEAK HOUSE & SALOON
T-Bone Tuesday
14 oz. USDA Choice T-Bone with all the Trimmings.
(Baked potato, salad & dinner roll)
Drink Specials
$1 Old Mil Light Bottles
$1.50 Domestic
$3.75 Pitchers
8711 E. Hwy. 24
Manhattan, KS
539-4989

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Our prices will really SPOOK you!
$4 Haircuts
$10 Bleach Tipping (for guy's)
All services performed by students under supervision of licensed instructors
512 Poyntz • 776-4794
Hurry in!
Specials end October 31.
CRUM'S BEAUTY COLLEGE

Collingwood Grain Inc.
Will be holding interviews at Career and Placement Services on October 3rd.
Positions for December and May graduates as well as internship opportunities are available.

50¢ TACOS
chicken or beef
hard or soft shell
4:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.
$1 Margaritas (Reg. or Strawberry)
$1 Draws
$2 Coronas
Taco Tuesday
Bobby T's
OPEN 11 p.m. - 2 a.m. 3240 Kimball Ave 537-8383

Greek Night
*No Cover
*18 and over welcome
$1.00 Big Beers
(Miller Lite, Coors Light, Bud Light, etc.)
Bradley J on the Tunes - All dance Music
SILVERADO SALOON

Now at 2 Locations
Rose MUFFLER HOUSE
"Our business is exhausting"
Mon.-Fri. 7:30a.m.-5:30p.m.
MUFFLERS & TAILPIPES
DUAL SYSTEMS
AUTOS (American & Foreign)
RVs LIGHT & HEAVY DUTY TRUCKS
CUSTOM PIPE BENDING
COMPLETE BRAKE SERVICE FOR AMERICAN, FOREIGN, & LIGHT TRUCKS
SHOCK ABSORBERS & STRUTS
2329 Sky-Vue Ln.
776-8955 or 1-800-439-8956

Rose HOUSE OF TINT
"A Division of Rose Muffler House"
GLASS TINTING SERVICES AVAILABLE FOR YOUR AUTO, HOME OR BUSINESS
DRAWTITE
TRAILER HITCHES - SALES & INSTALLATION
2049 Ft Riley Blvd
537-4247 or 1-888-537-4229
Take advantage of our courtesy van for rides to school and home while your vehicle is being serviced.
Both Locations!
FREE ESTIMATES

"Crazy" Ted Varney would have loved this...
CRAZY TEXTBOOK SALE
Hundreds of selected new & used textbooks
Various fields of study
Check out these crazy low prices!
(Sept. 29 - Oct. 18)
$1.00 Paperbacks
$15.00
$2.00 Hardbacks
ALL YOU CAN CARRY!
Varney's BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE
"We Give You Our Best"
www.varneys.com
While you're in, ADVANCE ORDERING your Spring 2001 textbooks at Varney's can save you valuable time, energy, and money!
Ask our textbook staff for details.
9 a.m.-9 p.m. Mon.-Sat. 11a.m.-7p.m. Sun.
785-539-0511

Mobile homes provide quality living conditions

No more chuckling is allowed when you hear the phrase "trailer park." It's time for the stereotypical negative images of mobile home communities to stop.

Management of local communities are working to shed this stigma, making aesthetic improvements to the areas to draw good people in, as well as evicting tenants with unfavorable criminal records to drive the bad ones out.

This work to make safer communities should be commended. Specifically, the management of Redbud Estates, a 378-unit local mobile home community, deserves applause.

There, a $30,000 playground was dedicated Saturday during a community-wide celebration. Suddenly, children are outside playing catch and climbing the monkey bars, giving Redbud Estates more of a community feel. Neighbors are getting to know each other, creating a more closely-knit environment. A fall contest has neighbors competing for prizes for the best Halloween decorations and nicest patios.

In addition to these improvements and activities, residents of mobile home communities are getting a good deal financially. With the concerns about affordable housing, maybe more people should consider these areas the next time they go to renew their leases.

In fact, more than one-third of the 800 Redbud residents are students, and many more reside in other local mobile home communities.

So it's time to rethink the preconceived notions that go with a mobile home address. Instead, pat that classmate on the back and be jealous that he or she probably pays one-half the amount of rent as everyone else.

▶ OUR VIEW
is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Reed Dunn
Editor in Chief

Tanner Ehmke
Managing Editor

Jenn Davoren
News Editor

Erin Schneweis
Opinion Editor

Jamie Barrett
Campus Editor

Sarah Bahari
City/Government Editor

Kristen Dymacek
Arts & Entertainment Editor

Derek Boss
Sports Editor

Becky Wilson
Copy Chief

Sara Martin
Design Editor

CAMPUS fourum 395-4444

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions on topics relevant to the publication.

To hell with Bush. I am voting for the guy who keeps giving K-State number one votes in the AP poll.

■

Hey, Jonathan Beasley, I've got two words for you — very impressive.

■

I think it is disgusting how, in Kansas, the person who votes for a Democrat basically throws the vote away because the state will almost always vote Republican in the electoral college.

■

The first step to a multicultural Willie the Wildcat — show up for tryouts and have a creative skit.

■

Hey, I am glad to see you are printing pictures of color, besides just athletes and people dealing with diversity. Thanks, keep it up.

■

Is it just me, or does Terry Welch have an unhealthy obsession with George W. Bush?

■

News flash: Just because no rapes are reported does not mean that they didn't happen.

SHOWDOWN

This weekend's game spurs comparisons between rival teams, schools

CLINT MUDRICK

At long last, the week of reckoning has arrived. This reckoning doesn't come in the form of fire, brimstone or any of that exciting stuff. Rather, it comes in a flurry of insults flung from west to east, from Riley to Douglas counties, from one of the best football teams in the nation to … well … the University of Kansas.

The football aspects of this rivalry will no doubt be covered in great detail in the days that follow, so I will focus on other differences between ourselves and our friends up in Lawrence by the Kaw.

First, a request. I hate to take the wind out of University Daily Kansan writers' sails, but if the best they can do is "Ag U," "Cow-tipping U," and so on, it might be time for Jayhawks to pray to the gods of originality for a novel insult.

K-State has highly acclaimed architecture, engineering, journalism and business schools; in fact, all of our colleges are well recognized by both local and national firms. But we are farm boys, according to our Lawrence counterparts.

Yes, K-State has an agriculture school. Yes, we have a veterinary college. Then again, we live in Kansas. Agriculture is a viable major in a state that is among the nation's leaders in agricultural output, perhaps a good deal more viable than KU's Kiswahili and Danish classes (I'm not lying, look it up) given our state's position in the environment.

Perhaps that is the fundamental difference between K-State and KU. Our university has a sense of its location and understands what can best benefit its students, whereas the Jayhawks seem more at home pretending to be out in Beverly Hills somewhere.

Don't believe me? Let me tackle the subject of terminology. K-State has President Jon Wefald, a man who isn't afraid to get his hands a little dirty and talk a little trash on Texas (of which, by the way, I am still immensely proud). KU has Chancellor Robert Hemenway, who gives a yearly convocation that in no way degrades any state or school. Advantage: K-State.

Next, K-State has the lovable and charming Classy Cats, whose name says it all. The Jayhawks have the Crimson Girls, a name that evokes images of anything but classy spandex-clad girls. Advantage: K-State.

I could continue, but to do so would be restating the obvious. Thus, I will move on to my conclusion: the 12 wishes of Jayhawks everywhere.

■ An official mascot change from the Jayhawks to the J. Crews. After all, the Jayhawk is merely a mythical bird, whereas J. Crew supplies clothing for trendy guys everywhere.

■ A basketball season where the official comment in March is not "wait till next year." As charming as that is, I lost the faith after '92.

■ A football team.

■ A team whose last claim to fame didn't come during the Reagan administration (Isn't Danny Manning dead by now?)

■ Relocation from Lawrence to wherever "Dawson's Creek" is filmed.

■ A coach who could add "reached Sweet Sixteen in past five years" to his basketball accolades and god-like status in Lawrence.

■ A change in the university mission statement to, succinctly, "free hemp."

■ A nationwide sale on those black stretch pants.

■ A free Tibet, or at least some new Beastie Boys-backed trendy cause to jump behind.

■ For Roy Williams to be knighted and bronzed, as well as to have the pledge of allegiance replaced with the "I'm stayin'" speech.

■ Sweater vests, sweater vests and more sweater vests.

And finally, the No. 1 wish of Jayhawk students: relocation down Interstate 70 to the university that boasts more Rhodes, Marshall and Goldwater scholars than nearly any other public school in the nation, occasional $1 anythings at Scoreboards and the best football program in the nation. So yeah, maybe we do tip cows, but I'd rather be at a school with a cow-tipping Jarrod Cooper than an American Eagle Eric Chenowith any day.

By the way, how many Jayhawk basketball fans does it take to change a light bulb? Five: one to change it, the other four to talk about how bright the bulb will be next year.

VINCE JACOBSON/Collegian

Clint is a junior in computer information systems. You can e-mail him at cmudrick@collegianmail.com

Travel away from K-State gives insight on aspects of life

ZAC COOK

Well, I am jotting this column in between sessions in rainy Seattle, or as the locals would say, "SoDo Mojo." I apologize for randomness, some of which might have come from my kickball head injuries of last Sunday. My hand still is swollen and typing is difficult, but I will deliver.

Now I know what it feels like traveling away from K-State and learning so much more than I could gain from a classroom. I don't know if it was the homeless people, skyscrapers, or just the new atmosphere.

So as I sit here in Seattle, I am reminded of what I have learned so far on this trip, and how important it is to get involved while you are a student at K-State. Involvement brings a world of opportunities, as you learn more about the people you already know and you meet fantastic new people.

Plane rides are boring, and especially painful for college students who had to get up at 4:30 a.m. So, for the 40-minute jaunt to St. Louis, I napped like a kitten. Thanks to the overcrowded airport, we circled the Gateway city a couple extra times. St. Louis to Seattle is about four hours. That's a long time in a 16-inch wide seat. I studied for a while, then became delirious. Lucky for me, I was sitting next to a student from the University of Illinois. He and I began the discussions of problems at our schools, ranging from parking to football tickets.

As the flight attendants served us, we talked pop (or soda for him). Illinois is a Coke campus, like our rival the University of Kansas. We talked about how much prices were jacked by each company after signing exclusive contracts. Thinking of Pepsi ripping us off made me mad.

So I asked more about parking. He said their parking is terrible even though they have a shuttle system. I told him we'd make it work. I told him we were cool because we have a smoke-free bar and they don't.

He started griping about the Big Ten referees that single-handedly stole the Michigan game from the Illinois, and my mind wandered.

So I started thinking, of all things, about promoting the student activity center. I thought ahead to later this fall and the student referendum. Suddenly, the a promotional slogan hit me: "Drink water — Build the SAC." What does water have to do with it? SAC is a awesome idea and students will benefit from programming going on within it. The only drawback seems to be the fee issue.

Even if it costs $10 per semester in fees, we should build it. Worried about a $10 privilege fee increase? Think about this: the average Wildcat student spends around $150 per semester on Pepsi products. I don't know about you, but I would rather have 15 new buildings on campus and drink water every day, than to live my life high on caffeine and sugar.

The math is stunning: 20,000 students buying an average of two bottles of Pepsi a week for 10 years, produce $14,400,000. Please, everyone, just stop drinking Pepsi. Just buy my water. Then I can retire by the time I leave college.

I was going to run the idea by someone, but my ESC colleagues were busy at the time. Justin was sleeping in the tornado position. You know the one, where in grade school they would line you up by the wall and make you get down on the floor. Not comfortable.

Julie, Samira and Kristen all were studying away, which I found to be almost impossible in the plane. Two 10-year-olds directly behind me rocked my seat so much I couldn't begin to think about physics.

Cory, well, he was up a couple of rows, folding currency into bowties. $100 bowties are cool, so it was cause for photos of me wearing a $100 bowtie. The mob is watching me, so I can't tell you whose $100 it was.

Once everyone had given up on studying, sleeping and folding, we tackled another issue. A girl came sliding down the isle, pulling herself along with her hands. More than one of us asked, "Why aren't planes handicap accessible?"

We couldn't think of a good reason, except for the airlines wouldn't make as much money. Is profit worth making a disabled person scoot along on the floor just to go the bathroom?

We rolled into Seattle just fine, got to the Sheraton and decided to catch the last Mariners home game. Once again money came to the forefront. We bought $14 tickets in section 331 for $15, not too bad since we got them from scalpers. We entered the stadium (without showing our student IDs).

Once seated, the first vendor came by. I saw it was $5.50 for a 16-ounce beer. I felt lucky that I still was 130 days short of legal and couldn't be highway robbed like that. That's $132 per case!

My eyes were opened even wider when I found that local calls were almost a buck and Internet access was 20 cents per minute. But I can't complain. Now I know what it is like out here.

My advice to you: Get involved, learn as much as possible, and watch out for the homeless people. From Seattle, this has been Zac Cook reporting live from the NAESC 2000 conference at the Seattle Sheraton. Good night.

Zac is a junior in biological and agricultural engineering. You can e-mail him at zcook@collegianmail.com

READERS WRITE

Rape, sexual assault statistics misleading

Editor,

This letter is in regards to the front-page article in the Monday issue of the Collegian titled "Rape reports in Manhattan up from 1999." While I applaud the Collegian for running this story, there was a noticeable oversight in the content of the article.

The first presumption that cannot be made about rape is that we know about all cases. Unfortunately, the tone of the article assumed that rape reports are equivalent to actual rapes. It might or might not be the case that "rape is on the rise in Manhattan," but more possibly it could be that more women are willing to report these violations than in years past. This is an incredibly important element to remember when you are dealing with victims of sexual assault.

There are so many misleading statistics when dealing with rape and sexual assault that is easy to miss the big picture. However, there are two relatively credible statistics that most accurately describe the problem of sexual assault in higher education. About 1 in 1,000 college women report acts of sexual assault or rape every year. And although that in and of itself should be completely unacceptable, the more disturbing statistic is that one in four college women are victims of sexual assault or rape. That is an extremely high percentage of sexual assaults or rapes that go unreported, unnoticed, unresolved and unpunished every year.

Now look around the room you're in right now. Can you pick out the one in four that will be the victim? Maybe it will be that woman in the corner that no one seems to talk to or know. Maybe it's your best friend sitting next to you, wondering why you're staring at her right now. The point is that we need to look beyond all the numbers and research and put a stop to the mentality that anyone has the right to strip anyone else of their freedom, dignity or respect.

It is extremely difficult to convince yourself to report such a personal act of violence. Having to tell your friends and your family that something like that happened, then having to confront the person who did that to you is quite a bit to ask. I can't speak from direct experience, but after my sister was raped this summer and one of my best friends was assaulted not too long ago, I've had to sit next to the person and watch them try to sort out what to think, how to feel and what to do next.

By no means do I assume to know everything about rape and what the victims go through. As hard as anyone can try, no one truly can empathize with the pain, anger and shame that come along with such a personal act of violence. There are, however, some things that people can do to help victims of sexual assault.

I wish the Collegian article would have dealt more directly with the fact that the numbers of reports are up, and not with rape on the rise, because it could have been a very effective article. I applaud the preventive tips and pointing out that there are educational programs available to make women more aware of the risks involved in our society. I also would urge anyone who has been a victim of sexual assault or rape to talk to someone about it. The way to stop rape is to make sure that rape is clearly not an accepted act, and if only a handful of cases of rapes and assaults are reported, what is the deterrent?

— Matthew Killingsworth
Delta Chi chapter president senior in public relations and advertising

ONLINE
See more letters to the editor at www.kstatecollegian.com

ONLINE
The men's golf team is in third place after 36 holes at the Jim Colbert Intercollegiate. For photos, point your browser to www.kstatecollegian.com.

let down

Volleyball team drops out of top 25 after loss

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

When the K-State volleyball team traveled to Missouri on Saturday, the Cats faced a team they had defeated 12 consecutive times — and they lost 3-0.

The defeat dropped the Cats out of the USA Today/AVCA Coaches top 25 for the first time since Sept. 1998, a span of 28 consecutive weeks.

K-State might have been a little overconfident, especially after just beating perennially tough Texas on Wednesday, head coach Jim McLaughlin said.

"Coming off the Texas game, people were thinking, 'Wow, these guys are really good,'" he said. "I think you have to leave the losses behind, and you have to leave wins behind, and I don't know if we left Texas behind. You have to be able to handle success and continue to improve.

"Maybe we walked into it thinking, 'Hey we've never lost to these guys.' We'll never walk into it again. We're not good enough to be overconfident."

K-State (9-4, 3-2) might have been somewhat cocky, but Missouri (13-2, 4-2) also played tremendous volleyball, and the Cats would have had to play well every game to leave with a victory, McLaughlin said.

"They're the type of team that you have to be on your game from start to finish to beat them at their place," he said. "We played one OK game out of three, and that's not K-State's way."

Part of the reason the Cats were unable to win a game was their inability to hit the ball well. Outside hitter Cari Jensen, who up until the Missouri game hit the ball remarkably well, had to be pulled in the second game because of her poor hitting percentage. The freshman actually had more errors than kills.

"She was hitting far below her own standards. She was just having a bad day," McLaughlin said.

Jensen was replaced by Lisa Mimick, who answered with 10 kills. Mimick, playing in her fifth match after suffering a foot injury, finally played the way she is capable of, McLaughlin said.

"She was good, and that was an encouraging thing," he said. "She got involved a little bit more in the match emotionally and just said, 'okay it's time for me to play,' and she did."

K-State also had 17 service errors in the match, which amounted to one-third of Missouri's sideouts, outside hitter Liz Wegner said.

"It's frustrating because that's the only way you score points," she said. "We started missing some serves, and we got a little tentative, and then that causes you to miss some more serves. We just didn't serve well, and I don't know why."

That reason might have been the result of just trying too hard, McLaughlin said.

"We were really going for it," he said. "And when you're aggressive, you're going to make some errors. I just think we made too many, and it got us. It comes with the maturity of knowing when to go for it and when to make the opponent handle the ball.

"We're going for the home runs too early."

JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

Lauren Goehring spikes the ball in the an early season game against Virginia Tech at Ahearn Field House. Goehring recorded a career high 15 kills in the Wildcats loss to Missouri Saturday.

Cat runners finish 3rd in California

By DEREK BOSS
Kansas State Collegian

With top-ranked Stanford and No. 2 Wisconsin amid the tournament field this weekend, the K-State women's cross country squad expected a challenge.

And a challenge it received.

However, despite the stiff competition, the third-ranked Wildcats duplicated their ranking with a third-place finish at the Stanford Invitational.

Up Next

K-State hosts its only home meet of the year today at Warner Park against Missouri-Kansas City. The relay meet is set to begin with the women at 5 p.m., while the men get underway at 5:45 p.m.

The Cat women were led by senior Korene Hinds, who notched third place overall with a time of 17:10 at Stanford Golf Course, despite battling 90 degree-plus temperatures throughout the race.

Sophomore Amy Mortimer, after winning K-State's two previous meets this year, finished four seconds behind Hinds, in securing a fifth-place finish and senior Annie Wetterhus tallied 13th overall with a time of 18:04.

"Korene and Amy began the race in the top 10, and after a mile and a half, they were in the top 4," head coach Randy Cole said. "The last quarter of a mile Korene passed a couple of runners to get third.

"Annie worked her way up and ran a smart race. The conditions dictated that the pace would not be real fast."

The host Cardinals won the team competition, compiling 61 points, while No. 17 Washington edged the Cats by six with 91 points, good for second place. Second-ranked Wisconsin dropped to fourth place overall, running without defending NCAA champion Erica Palmer.

Cole said the Cat women ran well in the meet, but there's always room for improvement.

"We ran OK, but we can run better," he said. "We need to continue to get stronger fitness-wise and close our gaps between our runners. It was an exciting race and I thought we really got in the mix with some good schools."

Meanwhile, the K-State men struggled to a 12th place finish in the 18-team field with 319 points. The Stanford men, like the women, won the tournament title, posting the top-three individual times en route to 28 team points. UC Santa Barbara notched second for the meet, followed by UCLA in third.

Junior Shadrack Kimeli continued his early season success for the Cats, as he was the team's top finisher for the third consecutive meet, finishing fourth overall Saturday.

However, Kimeli was one of the only bright spots for the men, Cole said.

"We were just pretty flat. Shadrack showed he can run well against good competition and took a good step forward, but otherwise the guys need to step up their effort," he said.

Senior Jean-Paul Niyongabo was among the top 15 runners before being pushed and knocked down, dropping him back to 41st position.

— K-State Sports Information contributed to this article.

Rowing team battles wind, competition

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

K-State women's rowing kicked off the season with impressive performances at the Head of the Des Moines on Saturday.

The Cats' top finisher was the Novice 4+ boat, which won its event with a time of 19:23.0. Although the boat of all newcomers faced wind speeds of 21 miles per hour, it still finished more than 30 seconds ahead of second-place Iowa. The performance marked the fifth year in a row K-State has won the Novice 4 at this event.

Up Next

Women's crew will return to action Oct. 15 at the American Royal Fall Rowing Classic in Kansas City, Mo.

The result was impressive for more than just the streak, however. The boat just blew away the competition, head novice coach Kevin Harris said.

"I felt they raced awesome," Harris said. "It was a beautiful thing to see — we are really proud of them. It's a tough position to be in when you are racing a crew like Iowa."

In the Women's Open 8 competition, both K-State boats finished in the top third in a field of 24 teams. The KSU-A boat placed second to Iowa with a time of 16:32.0, while the KSU-B boat finished eighth with a time of 117:32.0. Overall, the entire team had a productive day, head coach Jenny Hale said.

"I think we had a good day," she said. "Compared to where we were last year at this time, we had a very good day. All four coxswain did great. In terms of steering the course, they did a great job."

Wrapping up the rowing finishes, all three K-State boats finished in the top 10 in the Women's Open 4+. KSU-A finished eighth with a time of 19:40.0, KSU-B placed 10th with a time of 19:44.0, and the Novice 4+ placed ninth with a time of 19:44.0.

The Wildcat boats also finished third, fourth and fifth in the Women's Open Pairs race, respectively.

In addition to giving the Wildcats their first competition, the Head of the Des Moines also allowed the team to measure themselves against other teams that they will see throughout the season, Hale said.

"This is a low-key race," Hale said. "The fact that Iowa and KU are here is a good barometer for what we need to work on. We've got to go back and work on some technical issues."

K-State will have plenty of time to work on those issues. It won't take to the water again in competition until Oct. 15.

Cats face uphill battle as one of nation's top teams

FRANK FLATON

Suddenly, for no apparent reason, it's becoming unsafe to be good.

The first six weeks of college football have provided more excitement, more good plays, more jolting tackles and, of course, possibly more upsets than in any other season.

The college football world has been flipped upside down. No one is safe. The dominant are falling, and teams that nobody expected to win are pounding people.

Last week alone, seven top-25 teams lost to unranked opponents and three in the top 10 went down. And that's just one week.

This year's Fall Fiasco has seen national title contender Alabama lose in the first game of the season, South Carolina started its season at 4-0, rebounding from a winless season in 1999, unranked Mississippi State killed Florida, Wisconsin was rattled by Cincinnati, Oregon shocked Washington, and Clemson, of all teams, is posed for a national title run led by Heisman candidate Woodrow Danzler.

Catch your breath — because there's more still to come. Throw all the predictions and assumptions away and get ready for six more weeks of upsets. And lots of them.

So the question pops up: are the Wildcats good enough to bypass the weird upsets that college football seems to be favoring? That's an easy answer.

Of course they are. K-State is playing football as good as anyone in the country. Florida State has weaknesses. Nebraska's and Virginia Tech's defenses are vulnerable. And Clemson hasn't been tested yet.

The Wildcats, though, look nearly perfect. Special teams — excellent. Offense — superb. Defense — unstoppable.

But, unfortunately, it might not matter. Because nothing matters these days. Anyone, especially the top ranked teams in the country, can be beaten.

Nearly every sports reporter in the country has been dogging the Cats for their cupcake schedule. They needed to prove to the rest of the country that they still can beat the good teams.

The Wildcats went to Colorado and rolled. Now the world knows they're for real, but unfortunately that might hurt more than it helps.

In the past, K-State could roll through the Big 12 regular season virtually unnoticed and sneak into the title hunt late in the year. Now, the world knows they can compete. KU and Texas Tech might play a little harder to knock them off.

K-State will overcome, though. It will beat Nebraska on Nov. 11 and play Virginia Tech in the national championship game. And here's why:

1. They're ranked No. 4 and not No. 3.

Nobody is safe in the top five, but any ranking is better than the cursed No. 3.

Alabama was ranked three — UCLA beat them. Michigan No. 3. — UCLA beat them. Florida No. 3. — Mississippi State beat them. Now it's Virginia Tech's turn. But they don't play anyone until late in the year. So the Wildcats can coast at No. 4 until Nov. 11 and the showdown against the Huskers.

2. Bill.

Coach Snyder has instilled a winning tradition and his program is well-organized and well-prepared. He's a smart man and he knows that any team can win on any given night. His players know this and they prepare solidly for every game. They don't look ahead of opponents. And they usually don't take anyone for granted.

3. And last, but not least ... the Wildcats are on a mission.

Most of these players went through the heartbreak of 1998 and the disappointment of 1999. They've been so close. And they want it bad. All the elements are there — a strong quarterback, great receivers, good running game ... and so on and so forth. They're hungry and confident.

The Wildcats know exactly where they want to be. Where's that?

"I don't know about everyone else, but I want to be in Miami," senior center Randall Cummins said.

Enough said.

Frank is a sophomore in print journalism. You can e-mail him at fflaton@collegianmail.com.

The Barn At Kimble Cliff
"We sell memories"
ANTIQUES & Collectibles
Open Fri. Sat. & Sun. 1-5:30 PM
Weekdays By Appointment
(785) 539-3816
6782 Anderson Ave.
Manhattan, KS 66503

LONGHORNS BAR & GRILL
Club Tuesday
• non-stop dance party • no country music
$1.50 wells
$2.00 pitchers

Step Into The Future Of Recruiting!
UMKC Career Services Virtual Career Fair
UMKC's Virtual Career Fair
Sept 26, 2000 - Oct 6, 2000
For complete information visit www.umkc.edu/virtualfair or call (816) 235-5520
All job seekers welcome!

CITY FARMERS SURPLUS
OPEN: Tue.-Fri. 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Sat. 10 a.m.-5 p.m.
Closeouts, bankruptcies, blemishes, liquidation, major department store returns, surplus & lots more!
- Truckload Weekly -
- New Merchandise Daily -
New Mattress Sets Starting at:
Twin....$100
Full....$140
Queen....$180
King....$230
539-8579
121 S. 4th St.
Downtown, Manhattan

Cryptoquip & CROSSWORD
presented by:
1219 Moro
Aggieville
JAVA
(785) 587-8888

FOR RELEASE TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3, 2000

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Strike-breaker
5 Bullring bravo
8 Movie pig
12 Skin opening
13 Perched
14 Pedestal occupant
15 Czech track star Zatopek
16 Fire starter
18 Viscous black liquid
20 Brewers' ovens
21 Rowing need
22 One will hold the mayo
23 Overwater
26 Toni Morrison novel
30 Always
31 Boxer
32 Actress Thompson
33 Youthful pudginess
36 Ballroom dance
38 Antique
39 Part of RSVP
40 First five, maybe
43 Not merely lite
47 Volition
49 Thoroughfare
50 Cash drawer
51 Gibson or Brooks
52 "Born Free" lioness
53 Drunkards
54 Shell out
55 "Monopoly" card

DOWN
1 Some homes are built on it
2 Singer Perry
3 Met melody
4 Loud outcry
5 Felix's roommate
6 Cowardly Lion portrayer
7 Greek vowel
8 Indigestion aid, for short
9 Commotions
10 Gravy vessel
11 Right angles
17 See 4-Down
19 Light brown
22 Bender
23 Society newcomer
24 Actor Stephen
25 Scepter topper
26 Historic boy king
27 The whole shebang
28 Wager
29 Red Sox legend, familiarly
31 Beatnik's apartment
34 Mountain airs?
35 Took a jet
36 Humor
37 Batman's butler
39 Astronaut Ride
40 P.M. periods
41 Vivacity
42 Speaker of Gaelic
43 Dog's bane?
44 Characterization
45 Facility
46 Age (Sp.)
48 Mischievous tyke

Solution time: 27 mins.

C	L	A	M		R	A	D		C	A	L	I
R	A	G	E		E	R	E		A	G	O	N
A	R	A	M		S	T	A	R	B	U	C	K
G	A	L	O	O	T		F	O	L	I	O	S
			I	A	O	N		D	E	L
S	T	A	R	T	R	E	K		S	E	L	F
H	O	T		S	E	R	R	A		R	I	O
E	R	R	S		S	T	A	R	G	A	Z	E
		P	E	W		S	K	U	A
A	S	L	E	E	P		A	M	B	L	E	D
S	T	A	R	D	U	S	T		B	A	L	I
T	U	N	E		M	O	O		E	V	E	R
A	B	E	D		A	S	A		D	A	M	E

Yesterday's answer 10-3

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

10-3 CRYPTOQUIP

S A B X T O N I B X . S T G M T V B R N O B M T N M J T N C B T A J S Z T B N P U S A Z C U N R P S G S T V I M O.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: IT'S COMPLETELY TYPICAL OF A PASTRY CHEF TO MAKE RATHER TART REMARKS.

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: B equals T

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2000 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

AROUND CAMPUS

WHO: Bernard Pitts, executive director of the K-State Student Union

PITTS

Bernard Pitts spends his days in the K-State Student Union, but it's not to study, eat or bowl.

Pitts, executive director of the Union, serves as the CEO for the Student Union Corp. and supervises student activities.

He said he enjoys working at K-State because of the high standards set by the campus.

"There's a commitment to higher education," he said.

Pitts and his wife, Candace, have a son named Myles.

When he's not working at the Union, Pitts enjoys golfing, gardening and reading.

"I'm a Stephen King fanatic," he said. "He's bizarre."

If you have a suggestion for an interesting person to profile in brief, contact the arts and entertainment editor at arts@spub.ksu.edu.

ABOVE: Tyler Lansdown, junior in theater, laughs at the crowd Thursday night during a reading in the Purple Masque Theatre. Everyone was welcome to participate at Midnight Madness, an event where members of the audience volunteer to read student-written plays. BELOW: Chance Mullen, junior in theater, grabs Melanie Bean, junior in mass communications, while Keenan Ramos, freshman in theater, reads a line during a skit at Midnight Madness.

COMPLETE MADNESS

Theater program continues to grow

By JJ DUNCAN
Kansas State Collegian

Loud vulgarity, rude behavior, offensive entertainment and college students chanting "orgy" isn't confined to Aggieville on a Saturday night.

Midnight Madness, notorious for its irreverence and energy, has taken place at 11:30 p.m. on the last Thursday of every month in the Purple Masque Theater since fall 1998. It allows the audience to see short plays written and performed by students with actors chosen from the audience who have never seen the scripts.

So many variables are involved that there is no way to predict what will happen next, especially with such a rowdy crowd, said Christopher Piatt, host and student coordinator for Midnight Madness.

"It is its own beast, and sometimes it gets out of hand," said Piatt, fifth-year senior in theater. "You have an entire room of class clowns competing for laughs, and anything can happen."

The spontaneity and the sheer energy are what draw people to the performances, Nathan Jackson, senior in theater, said. Jackson said he has been performing in the student-written plays since he was introduced to the event last year.

"When the audience comes, and they've never been to Midnight Madness before, and you have them all chanting 'orgy' out of nowhere, they're amazed," he said. "They heard it was funny, but not only is it funny, but it's weird and they didn't expect anything like it. You can't expect anything like Midnight Madness."

Although Jackson is a theater major, anyone is welcome to step up and act in the plays, Piatt said.

For each Midnight Madness a subject is chosen and posted usually the Monday before the event. This means all of the plays pertain to one subject and all of them are fresh. Though there is one subject, each play is individualistic, with the voices of different writers showing through, Piatt said.

"People are writing plays specifically for the topic, which is wonderful," he said. "When you have 12 plays about one subject you realize how diverse the writers around here are."

Since Midnight Madness began, it has developed a reputation for vulgar, sometimes offensive, performances. Those who haven't seen it before might be shocked. Though the energy lends itself to the atmosphere, sometimes the lewdness gets out of hand, Roger McCauley, senior in architecture, said after his first attendance of the event.

"There were a couple of plays that drifted too much into the vulgarity," he said. "It was still a lot of fun, though, and I'll probably be back again."

The plays are not screened, so it is easy for playwrights to get away with a production that has no merit and is only meant to be offensive. When a play uses vulgarity, shocks the audience, but also is provocative, that is an admirable achievement, Piatt said.

"If you can write a play that is packed with filthy language and sexual innuendo and makes the crowd squirm and scream for more, then at the end it has a twist and an overriding message that is really good, if that play is well written, you win," he said. "The problem is when writers think that the language and the sex is enough, and it's not enough."

Many of the plays are written to garner laughs from the energetic audience. This happens not only because the writers want to see people laugh at their material, but also because the audience sometimes turns to material with a more serious tone, Piatt said.

The comedy will always be a driving force behind Midnight Madness, but it would be nice to see more serious material mixed in with it, said Vi Tran, junior in theater performance.

"Personally, I would like to see more material with artistic merit," he said. "More and more we see plays just written for the laugh, and I would like to see plays that ruffle people's edges and educate them."

Midnight Madness has evolved since the time it began. At the first show, most of those in attendance were theater students who were persuaded to go with extra credit. Now there are often crowds of more than 100 that are filled with people not affiliated with theater department, Piatt said.

Piatt said he and co-host Aubrey Kershner both feel an acute attachment to Midnight Madness. Since Piatt helped to begin the small project, which has turned into a popular monthly event with a strong following, he said it has special importance.

"Every senior talks about having those emotional last things they do, and I think probably my one emotional thing that will happen to me my senior year will be my last Midnight Madness," he said.

Dave Woodruff, fifth-year senior in elementary education, pretends to fly as he acts out a role for a piece at Midnight Madness on Thursday night.

PHOTOS BY KELLY GLASSCOCK

THE GONGFARMER

BY RANDY REGIER

Monkey Boy

BY BRENT ENGSTROM – MONKEYBOYCOMIC@HOTMAIL.COM

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.
CALL 532-6555

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FALL LEASING available! Call now! Fully furnished, washer/ dryer, fully equipped kitchen, alarm systems, computer lab, copier, and fax availability, fitness center/ rec room, swimming pool, reserved parking, tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. University Commons Apartments, 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

CAMPUS FIVE BLOCKS. Very large two-bedroom with air-conditioning. Clean, quiet location. Electric, gas, water, trash paid. No dogs. 537-8389.

EXCELLENT TWO-BEDROOM one block from campus. $550 per month, water/ trash paid. 341-4496.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

LET US HELP you find a place to live. We may have what you need. No dogs. Leave message, 537-8389.

STUDIO $405 Winston Place Apartments. (785)539-9339.

VERY NICE two-bedroom with air-conditioning. NEWLY REDECORATED, clean, quiet, convenient location. Heat, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. 537-8389.

115 Rooms Available

FIRST MONTH'S RENT FREE. Room available now in four-bedroom house. Pets allowed, two bathrooms, utilities shared four ways. 1207 Houston. $300/ month. (785)770-9484.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, close to campus, newly remodeled, CENTRAL AIR, two bath, washer/ dryer. 770-7230, 539-1713.

TWO STORY BRICK, very large, three- four-bedroom, two baths, central air, laundry hook-ups, quiet location, fenced yard, parking. 537-8389.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom basement apartment one block from campus. Includes washer/ dryer, dishwasher, and private parking. $210/ month. (785)537-1995.

150 Sublease

CLOSE TO CAMPUS! A very spacious one-bedroom basement apartment in a nice house. Rent: $340 a month. You only pay for electricty, phone and cable! October's rent free! 323-0459.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT at Chase Manhattan, January 1st- August 5th! Rent $469/ month, cable included. Carport available. 565-9210 for more information.

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information, call (785)456-2795, www.ksu.edu/ksfc

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

FOUND BLACK CD holder on Manhattan Ave. Call Laura at 532-5712.

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

100 housing/ real estate

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie 532-6555
A REAL Life-Saver

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

Come home to relax in comfort

•Cambridge Square
•Sandstone Apts.

•Fireplaces •Carports
•Pool •Private Deck
•Laundry Facilities
•Large 2-bedroom Units

Call TODAY!!!
537-9064
Weekdays 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Showings by appointment

THERE ARE PLENTY OF FISH IN THE SEA . . .

SO HOOK ONE with a PERSONAL ALREADY!
103 Kedzie 532-6555

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

BRAND NEW three-bedroom/ three bathroom apartment, available now, washer/ dryer included, close to campus and Aggieville. Call MDI 776-3804.

DOES $350/ month sound better than what you're paying for rent? Assume my loan and own a three-bedroom, two bath, three year old mobile home by Tuttle Creek River Pond. Call (785)776-5619, leave name and number and I'll return your call.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for large house near campus. Large bedroom, two baths, central air, washer/ dryer, $270 plus one-fourth utilities. 776-0352.

FOUR BLOCKS from campus, $200/ month. Utilities split six ways, washer/ dryer. 537-2374.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for nice furnished two-bedroom, two bath, dishwasher, washer/ dryer, private deck. Tenant needed $325/ month. 537-8226.

200 service directory

255 Other Services

Therapeutic Massage
50% Off
First Visit $16.00
776-0022
www.flinthills.com/~tmassage

300 employment/ opportunities

310 Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For infor call (203)977-1720.

RAMADA PLAZA Hotel. Work With Winners! We want smiling people committed to providing Personal Best Hospitality. Hiring Room Attendents for Saturday and Sundays, $6.50 PER HOUR. Meals, travel discounts, bonus's and more in a fun environment. Ramada Plaza Hotel, 1641 Anderson Avenue. E.O.E.

REAL ESTATE assistant and special projects. Need car, basic computer skills, good listener, follows instructions. 10- 20 hours/ week, flexible. Daytime 8am-6pm, Monday- Friday. $10/ hour. Resume and references to BI Investments, PO Box 1111, Junction City, KS 66441.

ASSISTANT MANAGER. Full-time permanent position available. Must have broad plant knowledge, retail and supervisory experience. Excellent benefit package. Apply in person 8a.m.- 5p.m. at Blueville Nursery, Inc., 4539 Anderson. EOE.

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!! Looking for part- time dealers. Multi- level market selling Indoor Air Purification Machines. Fun business, good money!!! Call Mitch at (888)814-2893.

CIVIL ENGINEERING graduate teaching assistant for part-time instruction at KSU at Salina. Knowledge of KDOT Soils, Aggregate, and Concrete lab techniques a plus. Send letter of inquiry and resume to: CIT2 Program, 2310 Centennial Rd., TAC Building, Suite 119, Salina, KS 67401. Application deadline October 15.

CUSTOMER SERVICE, a perfect match. If you have 15-75 pounds to lose, we pay you. 877-345-7179.

LANDSCAPING POSITIONS. Full-time M- F. Apply in person at Horticultural Services Inc. 11524 Landscape Ln., St George, KS 66535. (785)494-2418 or (785)776-0397.

OFFICE ASSISTANT. Permanent part-time office position. Customer etiquette, accuracy and attention to detail are a necessity. Benefit package included. Apply in person 8a.m.- 5p.m. at Blueville Nursery, Inc., 4539 Anderson. EOE.

RAMADA PLAZA Hotel. Work With Winners! We want smiling people committed to providing Personal Best Hospitality. Hiring Room Attendents for Saturday and Sundays, $6.50 PER HOUR. Meals, travel discounts, bonus's and more in a fun environment. Ramada Plaza Hotel, 1641 Anderson Avenue. E.O.E.

Spring Break Reps needed to promote campus trips. Earn easy money and travel free! All materials provided free. We train you. Work on you own time. Call 1-800-367-1252 or www.springbreakdirect.com

Spring Break 2001
Jamaica, Cancun, Florida, Barbados, Bahamas.
Now hiring campus reps. Earn 2 free trips. Free Meals. Books by Nov. 2nd. Call for FREE info pack or visit online sunsplashtours.com
1-800-426-7710

TUTOR NEEDED for biochemistry (CHEM 265). Please call 770-8186.

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

we kick ads.
CLASSIFIEDS • 532-6555

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. Open 12- 5p.m. Closed Sundays Mondays. 539-4684.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS Camouflage clothing (including PURPLE) field jackets- Boots sleeping bags- overshoes, hunting wear. Also CARHARTT workwear. Open Mon.- Fri., 9- 5:30; Sat. 9- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS 66536. (785)437-2734.

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

OAK DESK, $300; Bridgestone bike, $300; speakers, $50 each; window ale, $200; vintage Singer Sewing Machine, excellent condition, $100. 776-1032.

435 Computers

COMPAQ DESK Pro 590. Complete system with ethernet card installed. $200. 770-8460.

PRE-OWNED LAPTOPS, in excellent condition! starting at just $399.95!!! NorthStar Solutions: 1800 Claflin Rd., #160 (near campus at the corner of Claflin and Denison).

460 Electronic Equipment

SONY, KENWOOD, JBL, Technics, Bose, etc. Stereo and Surround. Quality used equipment, bought and sold. Call Mike (785)565-0517.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOR SALE: ICAT KSU vs. Nebraska ticket. Best offer. 395-3523.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

WANTED: FOUR reserved tickets for Oklahoma game. Call (785)776-3554.

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1987 DODGE 600, four-door, automatic, air-conditioned, power steering, good condition, $2000 or best offer. Call (785)539-1628.

1991 MAZDA Protege. Power, manual, four-door. 132K. $2150 negotiable. 1993 Mazda 626 automatic, loaded, 115K, four-door $4150 negotiable. Call 770-9218.

1997 DODGE Caravan Sport. 60K, excellent condition, power everything. Must sell. $14,700 or best offer. (785)762-2429. Leave message.

1999 FORD Mustang. Excellent condition. 11,000 miles, lots of extras. 770-9820 after 5. Leave message.

EXCELLENT TOWN car with low mileage, low gas, low price and cinch to park. 1994 Geo Metro, automatic transmission only, 37,000 miles $3500, (785)539-1956, evenings.

530 Motorcycles

1981 HONDA CB650, red, good tires, runs great $850 or best offer. Also, 1978 CX500 electrical problems, lots of spare parts, $250. jce6619@ksu.edu or 776-3757, ask for Jon.

2000 HARLEY Davidson, FXDWG, purple, 250 miles, $20,000. (972)396-7035.

2000 YAMAHA R-6. Mint. V and H pipe, jetted, tinted windshield, new rear 190, two Shoei helmets. 3.5K. $7200. 537-8381.

600 travel/ trips

610 Tour Package

WINTER Steamboat CO
SKI TRIPS
January 8-15, 2001
3/4/5/6 or 7 nights
1•800•SUNCHASE
steamboat.skitripusa.com

630 Spring Break

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas and Florida. Earn cash and go free! Now hiring campus reps. 1-800-234-7007 endlesssummertours.com

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best SPRING BREAK PRICES! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Mardigras. Reps needed. Travel free, earn $$$. GROUP DISCOUNTS FOR SIX+. (800)838-8203/ www.leisuretours.com

GO DIRECT= Savings! #1 Internet-based Spring Break company offering WHOLESALE Spring Break packages (no middlemen)! Zero traveler complaints registered against us last year! ALL destinations. Lowest price guarantee! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakdirect.com

WINTER BREAK/ SPRING BREAK. Ski and beach trips on sale now! www.sunchase.com or call 1-800-SUNCHASE today!

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING
532-6560

Still need a job this fall?

The Collegian needs a carrier who is available Monday-Friday between 6-8 a.m. with a reliable vehicle. Approximately $310 a month.

Applications available in 103 Kedzie.

Application deadline is Friday, Oct. 6.

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.85
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.90
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.90
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

Kansas State University

STOP SURFING!!!
DO YOUR SEARCHING IN
THE 2000-2001 CAMPUS PHONE BOOK
GET YOUR COPY NOW
AVAILABLE IN KEDZIE 103 THROUGH OUT THE YEAR

000 bulletin board
100 housing/ real estate
200 service directory
300 employment/ opportunities
400 open market
500 transportation
600 travel/ trips

COMPLAINT

continued from page 1

dean of the business department to ask for an investigation. The dean then asked the Office of Affirmative Action to investigate the evaluation.

"I did not ask for the investigation," Swanson said. "When Office of Affirmative Action uncovered the illegal things, then there was the foot-dragging of the business department."

Once a complaint reaches the AAF office, Dawn Anderson, associate director of the Office of Affirmative Action, said there is a certain procedure each case must follow.

According to the faculty handbook, once the complaint is filed, a staff member from the AAF office and responsible administrator from the department of the complaint form an administrative review team to review the case.

First, the team interviews the complainant and drafts a written statement. Once the statement is written, the complainant then is asked to review and if they so choose, sign the statement.

The team then presents the complainant statement to the respondent or person accused of the discrimination, first in letter form and then reviews the complaint in a meeting with the respondent. The team then drafts a statement of the respondent's response and asks them to sign it. The office then can interview other parties who might have knowledge about the case.

The AAF office will then decide from all of the information gathered whether a violation has occurred. If it has, the AAF office will then make suggestions for sanctions to be taken against the respondent. Anderson said these sanctions can range from a verbal warning to a dismissal.

Swanson's case went through the above procedure and the AAF office found there was a violation of gender discrimination. Sanctions then were suggested by the office, but Swanson said she had to bring in an ombudsman to enforce them.

She said part of the problem of the AAF comes from the fact that although they can recommend sanctions, they can't enforce them, even though it is the job of the department.

Last spring, Faculty Senate formed a task force to review the AAF Office. Mickey Ranson, president of Faculty Senate, said the report was made, and there is talk between the administration and Faculty Senate about how to implement certain parts of the AAF review.

Swanson said in her case, the process has taken too long.

"Minimal justice was done, and what was done took forever," Swanson said.

Swanson said the process has dragged on for two years and she still is not satisfied. That is why she said she filed with the KHRC.

James Coffman, university provost, declined to elaborate on the university's position on the case.

He said since the complaint is a matter of personnel, it would be addressed as it comes forward.

Swanson said it is important for the university to know she doesn't see herself as a victim.

"I have no resentment about this," she said. "I have a good life and I am not a victim."

She said her biggest concern is that the system within the university for dealing with these issues has been broken.

"I think they are in total denial that the system is broken and is not serving their staff," she said.

TICKETS

continued from page 1

Doug Dull said if Wildcat fans purchase one of the more than 19,000 tickets available for the Big 12 Championship, the ticket is their's no matter if K-State plays in the game or not.

However, once the participants in the Dec. 2 game are determined, each of the schools qualifying will be given about 8,000 additional tickets that will be sold by the teams' ticket offices.

In a press release, Big 12 Commissioner Kevin Weiberg said he's looking forward to the conference title game as well as its new site, as the previous four Big 12 Championships were at the TWA Dome in St. Louis.

"There is a great deal of excitement surrounding the first Dr Pepper Big 12 Championship game in Kansas City," Weiberg said. "We have had some great games in the past, and the atmosphere at this event is one of the best in college football.

"Arrowhead Stadium is a wonderful venue for the championship."

Kickoff for the nationally-televised game, featuring the winners of the Big 12 North and South divisions, is set for 7 p.m.

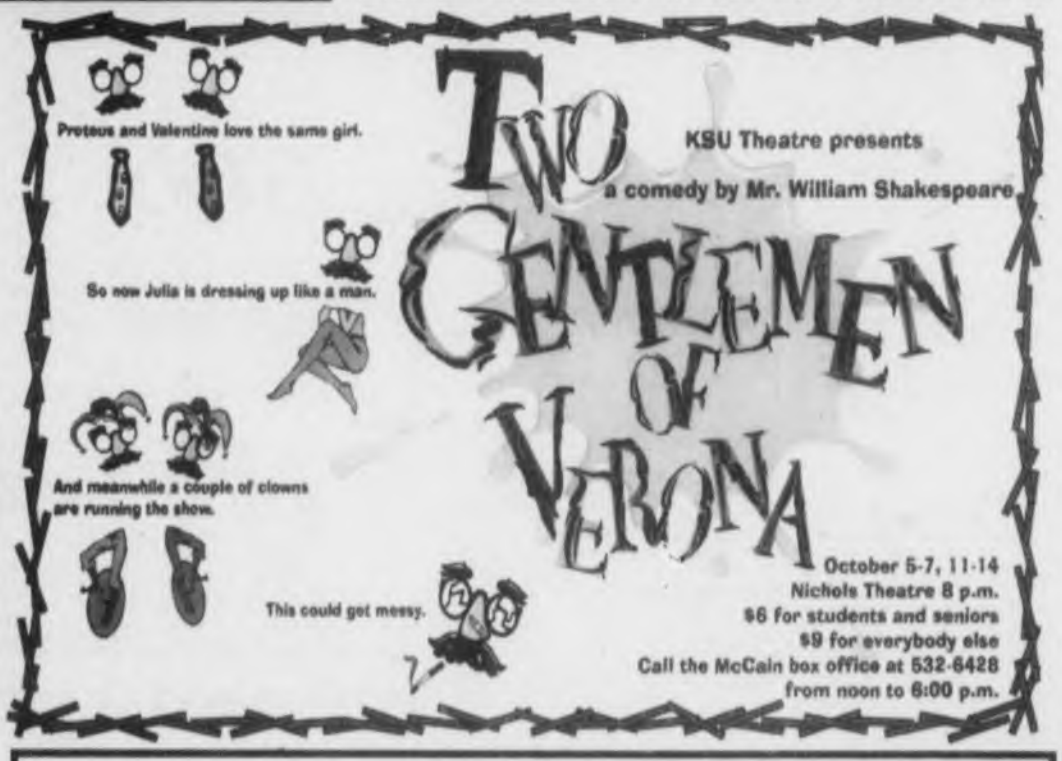
In addition to game tickets, the Chiefs will offer fans two different tailgate party options.

The "VIP Tailgate Tent" will feature live music, an all-you-can-eat silver platter buffet with open bar and exclusive facility use for $50.

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
Limited Delivery Area
1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center

Step Into The Future Of Recruiting!
UMKC Career Services Virtual Career Fair
UMKC's Virtual Career Fair
Sept 26, 2000 - Oct 6, 2000
For complete information visit www.umkc.edu/virtualfair or call (816) 235-5520
All job seekers welcome!

Union Soul Cafe
An evening filled with jazz, conversation and coffee. Relax in the Union Station from 8-11 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 4
Union Soul Cafe will also be on Nov. 1 and Dec. 6
Provided by St. Francis Canterbury and Lutheran Campus Ministries



Claflin Books and Copies
You're first string on our team!
1814 Claflin Road
776-3771

HOT NEW DANCE CLUB
OUTER LIMITS
Student owned and operated
DJ Big Daddy Bo Cephus
4904 Skyway Drive
(On K-18, next to Briggs Super Center and near the Manhattan Airport.)
Hip Hop
Open Wed- Sun
8 PM- 3 AM
18 and older
21 & over get in FREE

We are excited to announce
Angela Albin
has joined our professional staff!
Angela is offering
$5 off haircut good through Oct. 31
"START A NEW BEGINNING"
Call now for an appointment
NEW BEGINNINGS HAIRSTYLING & TANNING
1130 Westport Dr. #6• Manhatttan • 537-1003

got memories?
2001 royal purple yearbook
The 2001 Royal Purple yearbook ORDER FORM
Name
Local Address
Local Phone #
K-State E-mail
By filling out credit information, the student consents to charging the above amount to their credit card.
All sales are final.
Student Publications • 103 Kedzie
KSU • Manhattan, KS 66502
785.532.6555
Payment Method
☐ Please charge $29.95 to my credit card.
Card Number
Expires
Signature
☐ I am paying by check or cash in Kedzie 103.
(Please bring this with you or mail it with your payment)
☐ Please ship my yearbook to my permanent address because I will be unable to pick it up during yearbook distribution (April 24-28) and add $5.95 to your payment.
(Please include your permanent address as well)
Total $
103 kedzie hall • 532-6555 • royalpurple@ksu.edu

Don't miss your chance to get a K-State Campus Phone Book

Free Nokia Phone
(some restrictions apply)
Walk & Talk
No Money Down!
authorized dealer CELLULARONE
COPY CO
MORE THAN JUST A COPY CENTER
Mon. - Thurs. 7 a.m.-11 p.m.
Friday 7 a.m. - 9 p.m.
Saturday 8 a.m. - 9 p.m.
Sunday 10 a.m. - 11 p.m.
1223 Moro-Aggieville • 537-2679

RC McGraws
Tuesday Cat's Night Special!
Hot Wings Basket $1.99
Drink Specials
Draws $.99
Old Milwaukee Light Bottles $.99
Come in and watch a tape of last Saturday's Football Game.
2317 Tuttle Creek Blvd.
Manhattan, KS.
776-9588

Congratulations to our new Initiates
Love in AOT,
Your KΔ Sisters

with Hormel Foods.
We're interviewing on campus:
October 11- 12, 2000
Production Management, Industrial Engineer, Maintenance Engineer, Quality & Process Control Engineer, Staff Accountant
October 17- 18, 2000
Food Service Sales, Grocery Products Sales, Meat Products Sales
If you want to fully utilize your degree from Kansas State University, take a look at our entry level career opportunities. Hormel Foods offers exciting careers with competitive salary & benefits.
Interview with Hormel Foods; become part of a fast-paced environment in an always-changing industry!
Please check with the Career Service Center for interview location and sign-up times where a Hormel representative will be available to answer your questions.
Hormel Foods
www.hormel.com
careers@hormel.com
AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

WIN A TRIP FOR TWO TO AFRICA
This year the cast of MTV's 'The Real World' went to Africa.
Now you can too!
THE REAL WORLD
Enter for a chance to win at your local Council Travel office or at councilltravel.com
This trip to Africa is provided by
Contiki worldwide vacations for 18 to 35 year olds
virgin atlantic
No Purchase Necessary. Open to residents of U.S., between the ages of 18 and 35 as of 9/5/00. Void where prohibited. See agency for Official Rules or go to councilltravel.com. Sweepstakes ends 10/15/00.
Council Travel
councilltravel.com
1-800-2COUNCIL

K-State vs. KU Blood Drive Challenge
GIVE BLOOD TODAY!
Come in to donate and register to win a FREE gift certificate.
K-State Union Rooms K, S, & U
from 10:30 - 4:30
Rec Center from 4:00 - 9:00
This ad sponsored by Association of Residence Halls

TODAY'S WEATHER
HIGH 70 ■ LOW 57
WEDNESDAY

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Oct. 4, 2000 ■ Kansas State University ■ Manhattan, Kan. ■ Volume 105, Number 32

Lawrence offers shopping, dining for visitors

■ page 8

330 PINTS

Battle for BLOOD

The blood drive continues from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. today through Friday in the K-State Student Union and from 4 to 9 p.m. today at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex. Putnam Hall will be the site of a residence hall blood drive from 1 to 7 p.m. on Thursday. The goal for the drive is 875 pints.

Union addition reviewed

By NANCY HULL
Kansas State Collegian

Funding solutions for a $4.8 million student activities center addition to the K-State Student Union were presented to Privilege Fee Committee on Tuesday by Student Body President Jake Worcester.

Before a fee is approved to finance the construction of the facility, 60 percent of the students who vote in the referendum on Nov. 2 must vote in favor of the center.

An approved referendum would establish an increase in the student privilege fee of $6.50 per student per semester for a 15-year period. The yearly $218,000 from the fee would provide debt service to aid the construction of the center. $750,000 from the existing privilege fee reserves account will also aid the construction if the referendum passes.

Worcester said he'd like to secure funding through as many sources as possible to keep the student privilege fee low. He said if the referendum is passed in November, funding will also possibly come from the KSU Foundation and other private sources.

"Our goal is to raise as much money for the center through the privilege fee as possible," Worcester said.

The proposed three-floor activities center on the east side of the Union would provide 120 cubicle spaces for student organizations.

Conference rooms, computer labs, a work room and storage space would be provided for organizations.

Organizations will receive cubicle space on a first come, first serve basis, or they can apply for office space. If more than 120 organizations request cubicles, applications will be submitted.

See CENTER on PAGE 12

Presidential CLASH

PHOTOS BY STEVEN DEARINGER/Collegian

ABOVE: Luke Willis, junior in secondary education, gives his opinion about the presidential debate during a discussion session following the debate at Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art on Tuesday night. RIGHT: Dave Woodruff, fifth-year senior in elementary education, watches the presidential debate in the Beach art museum Tuesday night. More than 35 people attended the debate watch at the museum.

Students gather to watch debate

By CHARLIE MORASCH
Kansas State Collegian

As 75 million viewers saw the first presidential debate between Al Gore and George W. Bush on Tuesday night, a group of 35 K-State students watched in an educational and politically charged environment.

ELECTIONS 2000

Sponsored by the Department of Speech Communication, Theatre and Dance, the first of three DebateWatch 2000 events took place in the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art in the UMB Theatre.

After the 90-minute debate, a discussion moderated by David Proctor, department head, weighed the issues raised by the candidates and the strengths and weaknesses of each candidate.

Responses to the debate were mixed.

"Gore came across as a more powerful speaker," Tim Jones, Manhattan resident, said. "They both had their strong points, but now I'm leaning towards Gore."

Gavin Heathcock, sophomore in marketing, said he disagreed.

"I thought Bush won," Heathcock said. "Gore's facial expressions seemed like he was kissing up. People might say that Bush was more blunt, but I personally like that — it seemed more real to me."

Elizabeth Gunn, senior in secondary education, said she is undecided.

"I thought they both looked good," Gunn said. "I like both candidates for different reasons, so I wish we could combine them, but I haven't made up my mind yet. I thought that the candidates seemed to be along the same lines but they had different ways of saying it."

After the debate, Proctor began discussion about several topics by asking questions. One of the issues many students felt were dodged by candidates was education.

"They only talked about testing teachers, not paying them," Gunn said. "You can't get good people to teach if you don't pay them."

The tax issue was debated long enough for audience members to become somewhat frustrated at the candidates.

"I was tired of the way the candidates wouldn't shut up about the tax proposals," Jones said.

Others shared appreciation for the tax discussion.

"I believe the most important issue

See DEBATEWATCH on PAGE 12

Gore, Bush argue issues of presidential campaign

By SANDRA SOBIERAJ
The Associated Press

BOSTON — Vice President Al Gore and Texas Gov. George W. Bush clashed over tax cuts, Medicare prescription drug benefits and campaign finance Tuesday night in their first debate of the fall, a pivot point in the closest White House contest in a generation.

Combative from the outset, Gore charged that his rival's tax plan would "spend more money on tax cuts for the wealthiest 1 percent than all of the new spending he proposes for education, health care, prescription drugs and national defense all combined."

But Bush, standing a few feet away on a debate stage at the University of Massachusetts, said Gore's economic plan would offer tax cuts only to the middle class.

"Everybody who pays taxes ought to get relief," he said. At the same time, he said, Gore's blueprint would produce

See DEBATE on PAGE 10

City to restrict parking on Fremont

By SCOTT ALDIS-WILSON
Kansas State Collegian

An ordinance that will eliminate a number of parking spaces on Fremont Street was approved by the Manhattan City Commission on Tuesday night.

However, the number of spaces has yet to be decided.

The version that was adopted with a 4-1 vote, with Commissioner Roger Reitz voting against, set no specific limits. As a result, the second reading of the ordinance, required to finalize it, will be placed on the commission's general agenda for the Oct. 17 meeting.

The ordinance, designed to allow better visibility near the intersection of 12th and Fremont streets, originally recommended the establishment of a "no parking anytime" zone 185 feet east and 175 feet west of the 12th Street center line.

City Engineer Scott Crain said 19 accidents have been recorded in the area between Jan. 1, 1993 and July 15, 2000; 13 of them mentioning sight distance as a contributing factor.

Commissioner Ed Klimek suggested the ordinance was sound by engineering standards but was an overreaction to the situation.

"I think we've not taken into account the real-life situations of this intersection," he said.

Larry Fox, owner of a duplex on Fremont and house manager for the nearby Delta Sigma Phi house, said the intersection was no different than North Manhattan Avenue and Laramie Street or several intersections along 14th Street.

"If you start here, where does it end?" he said.

In other business, the commission voted unanimously to sell land in the Manhattan Corporate Technology Park to Nantek Inc. at $13,500 per acre and $1,350 per acre at option to buy.

Though no specific lots have changed hands, Nantek president and CEO Robert Rosander said the company was most interested in buying lots 19 and 20 totaling 5.85 acres, plus an option on the 3.57-acre lot 21, to establish a 20,000-square-foot building.

Nantek, founded in 1995, develops nanoparticles that each measure one to 10 billionths of a meter.

Rosander said the particles have shown potential applications in environmental remediation, biowarfare protection, industrial catalysts and odor control.

Commissioners praised the business as the type of economic growth that the business park was established for.

"I think what we're doing in these examples is what economic development needs to be about," Commissioner Carol Peak said. "We have a nice niche here that we need to be strongly supporting."

The commissioners also unanimously voted to remove traffic lights at the three-way intersection of 3rd Street and Poyntz Avenue in favor of stop signs.

The lights, just west of the Manhattan Town Center, have been flashing red since late November 1999 due to equipment malfunctions.

Hearings commence to clarify dismissal of former professor

By JESSICA PITTS
Kansas State Collegian

A dismissal hearing began Tuesday at the request of a former tenured K-State professor who said he was fired unfairly.

Steve Wiest, former associate professor of horticulture, was dismissed in June for chronic low achievement after a series of unsatisfactory annual reviews.

Wiest, represented by Junction City Attorney Peter Rumbold, said the head of the Department of Horticulture, Tom Warner, gave him unfounded sub-satisfactory reviews.

"I was not the only one that evaluated him," Warner said. "Other tenure faculty in our department also evaluated him. His dismissal was not because of my evaluations, but because of a combination of several reviews."

K-State's policy on faculty reviews, passed by Faculty Senate and administration in 1996, states that any professor who has two unsatisfactory annual reviews in a row will be fired, tenured or not. Wiest had three unsatisfactory reviews, in 1996, 1997 and 1998.

Wiest said his complaint is that his reviews were invalid and that Warner used the rule to get rid of him.

"I had never received any sub-satisfactory annual reviews before the three from 1996-1998," Wiest said.

Warner said Wiest is using an excuse for his lack of productivity on performance standards.

Those standards include how often a professor's work is published, how much grant and research funding he brings in and work with graduate students.

"I judged him fairly in all these areas," Warner said. "In fact, when other faculty evaluated him by his request, they gave him an even lower rating than I did. I don't see how he thinks I was out to get him."

Wiest was sent a letter in June 1999 telling him he would be fired, effective June 2000. He said he did not contest the dismissal because he thought he would get a hearing because of his tenure status.

In university ranks, tenure has always been sacrosanct, meaning a professor with this academic rank can usually not be fired without extreme circumstances.

Wiest came to K-State in 1980 and was tenured in 1983. He said he is not challenging the university's rule about firing tenured professors, but rather his complaint is the unfounded reviews.

The hearing is expected to continue today and will reconvene on Oct. 12.

"This is a very lengthy and complicated process," said Mickey Ransom, Faculty Senate president and professor in agronomy. "I don't expect something that is this in-depth to be a short process."

CONTACT US

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
532-0729 rdunn@collegianmail.com

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
532-0729 tehmke@collegianmail.com

Steve Dearinger Photo Editor
532-5492 sdearinger@collegianmail.com

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
532-0730 jbarrett@collegianmail.com

Sarah Bahari City & Government Editor
532-0730 sbahari@collegianmail.com

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
532-0732 kdymacek@collegianmail.com

Derek Boss Sports Editor
532-0732 dboss@collegianmail.com

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
532-0732 eschneweis@collegianmail.com

Ken Wells Online Editor
532-6556 kwells@collegianmail.com

Becky Wilson Copy Chief
532-0732 bwilson@collegianmail.com

Sara Martin Design Editor
532-0731 smartin@collegianmail.com

Jim Calvert Ad Manager
532-6560 jimcalvert@collegianmail.com

Alissa Duncan Assistant Ad Manager
532-6560 aduncan@collegianmail.com

Molly Brammer Online Ad Manager
532-6560 molly@collegianmail.com

BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Display advertising	532-6560
Classified advertising	532-6555
Delivery Problems	532-6555
Photo Reprints	532-6304

BY MAIL

Kansas State Collegian
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

ON THE WEB

www.kstatecollegian.com

The Kansas State Collegian
(USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 2000

Wichita woman files suit against Firestone tires

WICHITA — A Wichita woman is the latest to file a lawsuit against troubled tire maker Firestone, claiming the company stalled refunds for its recalled tires.

Michel Barnes has asked the court to order Firestone to reimburse customers so they can replace the tires more quickly.

The Firestone recall was two months away when the front tires of Barnes' 1995 Ford Explorer shredded in June, she said.

Barnes paid to have the two front tires replaced. But she began worrying about the new tires, as well as the two old ones, when Firestone issued a recall of about 6.5 million tires.

"I called the toll-free number about 10 times, and all I got was a fast busy signal or a recording that all circuits were busy," Barnes said.

When she finally got through, she said she learned it would take up to eight weeks to get new tires, or she could pay for them herself and wait for reimbursement.

Her suit contends such a practice discourages people from replacing defective tires.

"I don't think it's right to make people put it off and keep them driving on tires that could be dangerous," said Derek Casey of Hutton & Hutton, the Wichita firm representing Barnes.

Firestone faces more than 100 lawsuits across the nation. The lawsuits need court approval to become class actions, and lawyers say that ruling could be from six months to a year away.

— The Associated Press

Water, energy bill passes Congress; veto promised

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Sen. Pat Roberts, R-Kan., is hopeful that a threatened veto won't materialize over the $23.6 billion bill for water and energy programs, which contains about $30 million for flood control and other projects in Kansas. The Senate approved the measure on a 57-37 vote Monday.

It passed the House last week on a 301-118 vote. President Clinton has promised a veto because it would block administration efforts to allow a springtime rise in the Missouri River, in order to protect endangered fish and birds and help upstream recreation.

The dispute pits barge and farming interests against environmental groups, but it also is a regional issue. Upriver interests in Montana and the Dakotas oppose those below, where the 2,500-mile waterway flows past Nebraska, Iowa and Kansas and through Missouri before emptying north of St. Louis at the Mississippi River.

The largest earmark is $5.1 million to finish levee construction along the Arkansas and Walnut rivers, said Rep. Todd Tiahrt, a member of the House Appropriations Committee.

Tiahrt and Moore voted for the measure, while Reps. Jerry Moran and Jim Ryun voted against it.

According to Roberts and Tiahrt, other projects that would receive funds include:

— Topeka — A $200,000 study on improving city levees to reduce flooding.

— Newton — $250,000 for the Sand Creek Ecosystem Bank Restoration Project.

— Wichita — $3.5 million for a feasibility study on recharging the Equus Beds groundwater aquifer by capturing flow from the Little Arkansas River.

The bill also includes nearly $25 million for maintenance and operation of 17 Corps of Engineers lakes in Kansas.

— The Associated Press

Embryos screened in lab to aid in fight of disease

MINNEAPOLIS — In the first known case of its kind, a couple had several embryos created in a lab and selected one to produce a child that was free of a genetic disease and able to provide a transplant to save the life of his 6-year-old sister.

Last week, doctors at the University of Minnesota infused blood from the umbilical cord of 5-week-old Adam Nash into his sister, Molly, to try to fight Fanconi anemia, a rare genetic disease that could kill her because she can't create her own bone marrow.

Doctors should know within about a week if stem cells contained in Adam's cord blood are helping Molly develop healthy marrow cells.

It is widely considered ethical to screen embryos for genetic diseases because it is best for the child, said Jeff Kahn, director of the university's Center for Bioethics.

But the case of the Nash family, from Englewood, Colo., is different. The cells that grew within Lisa Nash's womb into Adam also were selected for traits that would benefit someone else — his sister.

It is the first time genetic testing has been used by parents to select a child who is both free of a disease and the best tissue match for a sibling who needs a transplant to fight that disease, said Dr. Charles Strom of the Reproductive Genetics Institute in Chicago, where Lisa and Jack Nash had Adam conceived.

The Nashes wanted additional children, but had been afraid to conceive because both carry a faulty version of the Fanconi gene, meaning each child would have a 25 percent chance of developing the disease.

"We wanted a healthy child," Lisa Nash said before the transplant. "And it doesn't hurt him to save her (Molly's) life."

— The Associated Press

ON RECORD

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Homecoming student organization competition handbooks are available at the Office of Student Activities and Services, on ground floor of the K-State Student Union.

■ KSU Potter's Guild's annual pottery sale will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. today on the northeast side of the Union.

■ Career and Employment Services will conduct a Winning Interview Workshop at 4 p.m. today in Union 207.

■ K-State Ambassador applications are due at 5 p.m. today at the KSU Alumni Association, 2323 Anderson Ave., Suite 400. Please call 532-6260 with any questions.

■ Microbiology Club will meet at 5:30 p.m. today in Ackert 324.

■ Play chess from 6 to 10 p.m. every Wednesday night in Union 206.

■ Golden Key Executive Board will meet at 6:15 tonight in Union Council Chambers.

■ KSU Aikido will meet at 7 tonight in Aheam 301.

■ Manhattan Jaycees will meet at 7 tonight at the Aggieville Pizza Hut.

■ Christian Explorers will meet at 9 tonight at ECM Campus Center, 1021 Denison Ave., for Bible discussion.

■ College Republicans will have a candidate information booth from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Thursday in the Union, followed by a meeting at 6 p.m. in Union 202.

■ American Indian Science and Engineering Society will meet at 5 p.m. Thursday in Seaton 133.

■ Native American Student Body will meet at 5 p.m. Thursday in Union Stateroom 1.

■ Beta Gamma Sigma Business Honorary will meet at 6 p.m. Thursday at 1910 Montgomery Drive for a guest speaker.

■ The Wildlife Society will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday in Ackert 221.

■ Students for Environmental Action will meet at 9 p.m. Thursday in Union Council Chambers.

■ Hillel Jewish Student Organization will meet at 9 p.m. Thursday at Java Espresso & Bakery.

■ A beginning sign language class will be offered beginning Oct. 10, and will continue through March 13. Classes will meet from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays at the College Heights Baptist Church, 2320 Anderson Avenue. Registration deadline is Oct. 6. For more information, contact instructor Julie Carver at 539-7740 or jycarver@flinthills.com.

■ The K-State Community Service Program is accepting applications for the America Reads-America Counts Tutoring Program. Applicants must have work-study. Tutors work one-on-one with area elementary students in reading and math. For more information, contact Angie at 532-5701 or e-mail ksuserve@ksu.edu.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Riley County

Monday, Oct. 2

■ At 11 a.m., Patrick F. Ellis, Clifton, Kan., was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $10,000.

■ At 3 p.m., Michael T. Murphy, 2400 Charolais Lane, was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 4:30 p.m., Michelle R. Ziegler, 5600 W. 59th Ave., was arrested for battery.

■ At 7:20 p.m., Allen J. Arceneaux, Jr., 811 El Paso Lane, was arrested for possession of drug paraphernalia, possession of a controlled substance, no drug tax stamp and reckless driving.

■ At 7:20 p.m., Quinn'Dale M. Jackson, 922 Riley Lane, was arrested for failure to appear, possession of drug paraphernalia, possession of a controlled substance and no drug tax stamp.

Tuesday, Oct. 3

■ At 12:10 a.m., Eric J. Shaffer, 801 Bluemont Ave., was arrested for possession of drug paraphernalia, possession of a controlled substance and DUI.

K-State Police

■ No reports of note were made.

CORRECTIONS & CLARIFICATIONS

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Jenn Davoren at 532-6556 or e-mail collegn@ksu.edu.

BLOWOUT PRICES!
79¢ Color Copies
5¢ Self-Serve Copies
$1.00 24"x36" Oversize Copies
COPY CO
MORE THAN JUST A COPY CENTER
Monday- Thursday 7a.m- 11p.m
Friday 7a.m- 9p.m
Saturday 8a.m- 9p.m
Sunday 10a.m- 11p.m
1223 Moro • Aggieville
537-2679

Wednesday Steak Night
$2 U-CALL-ITS
$8.99 16 oz. K.C. strip or T-Bone
$5.99 8 oz. K.C. strip or Sirloin
Bobby T's
3240 Kimbell Ave. 537-8383

Haynes West Welcomes...
Liz Nely
Hairstylist skilled in all areas of hair & skin care with a European background

Specials on Aveda, Redkin, & Biolage
Haynes West
2815 Anderson
785-539-2929
Haynes Aggieville
785-539-5512

Hair Experts Design Team
Discover the Difference
Do you want your hair to "whisper" with the shades of fall? Or are you more of a "talker"? Maybe your style is to "SHOUT", look at me! New Metro Color from Redken and the Hair Experts can give you the newest, hottest, trends in colors and cuts.

$5 off First Metro Color of First Color Service not valid with any other offer
expires 11-30-00
20 HEDT
1323 Anderson Ave.
Aggieville, Manhattan
776-4455

United Way ...helping all of us when it's most needed
The power of U™

YOU HAVE THE POWER TO CHANGE THE WORLD AROUND YOU!
Riley County Chapter
• American Red Cross
• Salvation Army
Most people are aware of the emergency/disaster services provided by The Red Cross and The Salvation Army, but did you know that The Red Cross sponsors swimming classes for children?
And did you know that The Salvation Army provides prescription and rent assistance to low-income families right here in Riley County?
Don't underestimate "The Power of You" to make a difference! Please give to United Way.
United Way of Riley County
106 S. 4th Street
Manhattan, KS 66502
(785) 776-3779

ON SALE NOW!
The Next Dimension of Irish Dance
SPIRIT of the DANCE
NEW MILLENNIUM

Sunday, November 5 • 7:00 P.M.
BRAMLAGE COLISEUM
Kansas State University
Tickets at the Coliseum Box Office or CHARGE BY PHONE
Toll Free 1-888-597-7827

State treasurer files suit against NCAA for ticket refunds

By MELANIE COFFEE
The Associated Press

OLATHE, Kan. — State Treasurer Tim Shallenburger has sued the National Collegiate Athletic Association, claiming it owes Kansas $666,590 for money not returned to people who sought Final Four basketball tournament tickets and didn't get them.

The suit Shallenburger filed Tuesday in Johnson County District Court involves money sent to the collegiate sports organization for its annual drawings for the tickets.

The NCAA, formerly headquartered in the Kansas City suburb of Overland Park, Kan., should have given the money collected between 1985 and 1995 to the state's Unclaimed Property Division instead of keeping it, Shallenburger said.

"This money does not belong to the NCAA," Shallenburger said. "It belongs to hundreds of people who sent in money for Final Four tickets over a period of many years, could not get the tickets and never got a refund."

The NCAA, now based in Indianapolis, agrees that it owes Kansas money but disputes the amount.

Part of the $666,590 is money the NCAA got for ticket sales, money that was not returned to people who were not picked to get tickets.

The NCAA says it attempts to return the money but could not locate everyone.

The rest of the money the state is seeking includes interest and penalties for not complying with the law, Shallenburger said.

"I think it's really important to note that we at no time suggested that we didn't have a responsibility to pay this," NCAA spokesman Wally Renfro said.

Renfro said the NCAA, governing body of much of college athletics, will prepare for a trial because it believes the amount Kansas is seeking is incorrect.

"The state treasurer has admitted that the original claim was wrong, and we believe it is still wrong," Renfro said.

"The NCAA has an obligation to pay the state of Kansas what's due to its citizens, but we also have an obligation to our member schools to pay only what is due."

In July, Shallenburger said the NCAA owed $1.8 million, later reducing the amount after the NCAA produced various documents supporting its position.

"We have said from the time we became aware of the applicability of the law that we clearly owe the state of Kansas for those ticket request refunds," Renfro said.

"I think simply to date we have had a disagreement with Mr. Shallenburger's office and the state auditing firm on how and what the exact calculation of that amount is."

On Friday the NCAA sent the state a check for $370,225, the amount it believes it owes.

But Shallenburger said the state has returned the check.

"It is my impression that the NCAA believes that they're the ones to determine if and when they comply with our law and to what extent they comply," Shallenburger said.

He said if the state wins the lawsuit his department would work to get refunds to residents of Kansas and other states who sent in money for the annual ticket drawings and didn't get it back.

The refunds would range from $40 to $72 a ticket.

Part-time job becomes full-time position

By JAMIE BARRETT
Kansas State Collegian

Serving everyone from toddlers to college students, Jennifer Bergen, head of children's services at the Manhattan Public Library, makes sure her job is as diverse as possible.

"What I love about the children's room is all the different people that come in here and the way we serve everyone," Bergen said. "I could be picking out books for a toddler or helping an elementary education major find some storybooks. No matter what, we have an interesting and fun job here."

Bergen began her work at the public library as a student page when she was an undergraduate student at K-State. Bergen said she did not expect her part-time job would turn into a full-time librarian job, but when it did, she was not surprised.

"I worked in Topeka for a while after graduation, but came back here to take this job after a few years," she said. "I have always loved working with children, so this is a good job for me."

Bergen began her job as head of children's services in June 1999. For Bergen, being involved with literature is something she feels comfortable with, and she attributes her accomplishments to being involved with literature at an early age.

"When I was a child, there were certain books I read that I would get really involved with," she said. "I would fall in love with the stories and the characters. There was that special school librarian that influenced me to love literature as well."

Bergen coordinates daily story times, works on weekly programs, orders books and helps patrons during the course of a normal day.

KAREN MI... / Collegian

Jennifer Bergen is the head of children's services at the Manhattan Public Library. She helps with programs that engage youth in reading.

She said although she has daily duties she must perform, her job always provides new challenges.

"There is a conglomeration of things I do every day," she said. "I am always trying to help patrons who come into the library as well as think of new and creative things to do like parties and story times."

Being a children's librarian not only requires patience, but creativity and a positive attitude are essential.

Courtney Thaden, children's librarian, said she thinks Bergen has made the children's library a comfortable environment for people of all ages through her positive attitude.

"Jennifer gets her job done by creating an inviting place for everyone to come," Thaden said. "We see a mix of people from young to old and Jennifer does a great job of making the children's library appealing to all ages."

Bergen said the thing she enjoys most about her job is reaching out to children within the community.

"It is really rewarding to me to help a child who is a reluctant reader get involved in a book," Bergen said. "I like it when children realize that reading can be enjoyable and not all reading is just textbooks."

Fred Atchison, public library director, said it takes a special kind of person to do the type of job Bergen does.

"Jennifer is a person who could do a variety of things," Atchison said. "She has chosen to do this job and devote her time to the library and the children. That is a reflection of someone who puts their personal life and values aside for the sake of their job."

working in the COMMUNITY

Who: Jennifer Bergen
Position: head of children's services at Manhattan Public Library

Bergen said she wants the Manhattan community to realize what the public library has to offer, and as long as she does that, she feels successful.

"I think the main thing I want to accomplish is for people to see the library as a positive influence and resource for kids," she said. "We have so many things to offer and when people come in here and see that it makes me go home happy."

CAMPUS FOURUM: 395-4444

Aggieville's Ultimate Dance Party
•$1.50 wells, calls, bottles, & shots
94.5's DJ's Blasting the Tunes
SILVERADO SALOON
18 and over welcome.

99¢ Wednesdays
99¢ Coors Light Pounders (16oz)
99¢ Hamburger and Fries 5-10
Visit the LAST CHANCE SALOON

Once in a Lifetime
engagements and weddings

Sharing your engagement and wedding announcements in the Collegian the first Friday of every month.

Your engagement and wedding are special moments in your life. Let the Kansas State Collegian share the news with family and friends. You can put your announcement with a picture in the Collegian's "Once in a Lifetime" special section for FREE.

"Once in a Lifetime" runs the first Friday of every month, with deadline the Wednesday before.

To publish your announcement, please complete the form and take it to Student Publications, Kedzie 103 (east of the K-State Student Union).

Your name
Address
City, state, zip
Telephone number
o I wish to place an engagement announcement.
o I wish to place a wedding announcement.
o I also want to include a photo (must be vertical)
Signature
Announcement Information
Groom's name:
Year in school:
Major:
Bride's name:
Year in school:
Major
Bride's parents:
City/State:
Groom's parents:
City/State:
Wedding date:
Location (city/state):
include information below for wedding announcements
Wedding attendants:

Be SEEN where it counts
The Royal Purple yearbook and Thornton Studio are coming to you for FREE portrait pictures.

TODAY
Wednesday, Oct. 4
West Hall
9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Putnam Hall
6:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.

Tomorrow
Thursday, Oct. 5
Salina Campus
9 a.m - 5 p.m.

and in the K-State Student Union Courtyard
9 a.m. - 5 p.m. every day.

Order your yearbook for $29.95.
royalpurple.ksu.edu
2001 Royal Purple YEARBOOK

Ban of software positive change for university

It has been the controversy that has plagued the country.

It is a debate that has stemmed issues such as censorship, pirating, government control and the violation of the First Amendment. It has opened up the gates to debate what should and should not be offered on the Internet. The debate also has caused lawsuits against Napster from bands such as Metallica.

It no longer is just a national dilemma, however. It has hit close to home, right here on campus.

K-State officials this spring banned the software that allows Napster and similar programs to run. And with that ban, as with any other, controversy has arisen.

Many students are upset because they don't agree that university officials should have power over what they download from the Internet.

It is time to step back and examine why university officials have enforced this new rule.

This policy is in the best interest of the student body as a whole. Yes, that might be hard to comprehend when you don't want to have to purchase a whole compact disc just for one song.

With the use of programs such as Napster, large amounts of memory are used, leading to slow e-mail access and other essential learning tools that thrive on technology. Granted, e-mail can be used as both entertainment and educational devices, but Napster is strictly entertainment.

On this particular issue, K-State officials are in the right.

▶ OUR VIEW
is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Reed Dunn
Editor in Chief

Tanner Ehmke
Managing Editor

Jenn Davoren
News Editor

Erin Schneweis
Opinion Editor

Jamie Barrett
Campus Editor

Sarah Bahari
City/Government Editor

Kristen Dymacek
Arts & Entertainment Editor

Derek Boss
Sports Editor

Becky Wilson
Copy Chief

Sara Martin
Design Editor

CAMPUS fourum 395-4444

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions on topics relevant to the publication.

Hey, K-State fans. Tired of donating thousands for a few plastic seats? Well, now you can make a difference for the whole university. That's right — for only half a million dollars, you can place your moniker on a shiny new parking garage and earn the title of students' favorite alumni. Don't delay. Land is going fast.

■

Instead of watching the K-State football team whoop up on the KU football team, I am going to watch the K-State drum line whoop up on the KU drum line. Go, drum line.

■

I was wondering if Terry Welch is sponsored by the Young Democrats, or does he just not have anything else to write about?

■

If Willie the Wildcat was black we would still be leaving people out. How about we make Willie a calico cat and then everybody will be happy.

■

I think Willie should be able to be a girl, and we call her Wilma.

■

Frank, did you not watch the second half of the Colorado/K-State game? K-State had no defense.

■

How about a George W./Jonathan Beasley ticket in November?

■

About the diversity of Willie the Wildcat, I don't know if wildcats actually have a race or not.

■

Two words for the guy that wrote in about Jonathan Beasley — pud team.

■

Someone needs to tell Fort Riley we are at peace time right now.

A Landlord's Playground

Legal options available for Manhattan tenants in need of solutions

KEN WELLS

■ MORE INFO?
See www.keln.org/bibs/keefer.html for an annotated bibliography of the KRLTA, and www.ksu.edu/legal/index.html has assorted legal services for students.

There's been plenty of hubbub in the paper as of late about landlords and the conditions in which they expect their renters to live. There's a lot of harsh words being thrown about, accusations ricocheting around, more noise than Britney Spears slamming her fingers in the door of a Porsche. My only question is why did it take so long for this to come to light, where it belongs?

I've had lots of landlords — most of 'em, it seems. Some have been patient, saint-like, even. Others, well, have been ... antithetical, to put it nicely (Lesson one: never rent from anyone with cloven hooves).

I've had faceless corporations for landlords. I've had local residents rent to me. I've lived in a friend's house. None were perfect, but I learned a little from each.

One thing I'm reminded of every year is that renters will get shafted on a religious basis. Why? They can't write the lease. How many people have read their lease carefully, much less blurted, "Uhm, hey, I don't like this paragraph here, what say we cross that out, hmm?"

No, Manhattan is the landlords' playground, it's their ball, their whistle, and you can only play as long as they like. Bend over and think of England while you sign the lease, bubba, and try not to squirm this time.

But there's hope.

And I finally found a document which could've saved me so much pain and money all these years: the Kansas Resident Landlord Tenant Act.

If you are a present or future renter and you haven't read this delicious piece of legislation, get up, walk out of class, get out of the car if you have to and find it right now. Assuming you can't, let me hit the highlights.

KSA 58-2546: Even if you don't sign a lease, the second your landlord accepts or you give rent, your lease is fully active. So you might as well read it first.

KSA 58-2547: This one's important. You cannot waive your rights as guaranteed by the KRLTA. If you sign a lease saying your landlord can come in anytime without warning (keep reading: I'm sure you can't), that's not legally valid. The KRLTA covers you, regardless of what your lease says.

KSA 58-2550: The ever-elusive security deposit. How many of us ever get these back? Well, if your landlord decides to keep some or all of the deposit, they are required to let the renter know exactly why and how much — itemized — within 14-30 days from the tenancy's end. If they don't, the landlord is liable for 1 1/2 times that deposit.

KSA 58-2554(c): Renters must have access to cable TV. Nice to know TCI's lobbying still is paying dividends.

KSA 58-2556: The landlord can make rules about how the renter lives on the property, but only for the sake of, and time to quote directly, "convenience, safety, peace and welfare of the tenants." Rules must be applied equally to all tenants, and the tenants should be told what the rules are. If the landlord decides to change the rules, those rules are not enforceable unless the renter agrees to them in writing (Ever read something and just "know" it's going to come in handy someday?).

KSA 58-2557: Outside of emergency, the landlord can come in only with "reasonable" notice and at "reasonable" hours. Tricky word, "reasonable." But that does NOT mean knock-knock-unlock-barge-in. Try photocopying this part of the law and taping it to your front door if your landlord can't understand subtlety.

KSA 58-2572: Renters can complain to government agencies about code violations, and the landlord cannot raise their rent, decrease service or evict the renter in retaliation. Landlords have to find a more imaginative way to get revenge.

KSA 58-2566: There are times when, due to late rent, the landlord has the right to sever the lease, but the second they accept late rent, they waive that right. Don't let them hold it over your head.

There's a lot more in the KRLTA than this. Color the paper with yellow and black magic marker and pretend these are the Cliffs Notes to the KRLTA. Read the rest. There's a lot about tenant obligations I left out because, well, I have more faith in a wronged landlord's ability to make a renter pay than I do in a renter's ability to get a fair shake in this town (A smidgen of personal advice: keep a log of communication with your landlord. Just a small notebook, jot down every conversation, no matter how trivial. Pray you won't need it, but if you do, you'll thank yourself).

I hope you get a landlord like I have now. I wish you could sleep secure and confident that you were being taken care of, not taken advantage of. And I believe most landlords in this town want the best for their tenants. But it's those few who will actively profit from the ignorance, desperation, patience and fear of their renters which ignites my fury.

If you find yourself in the clutches of one of Manhattan's bad apples, there are ways out. You are not in this alone, and God knows you're not the first. Give Dianne Urban a call, 532-6541, and set up an appointment to talk. Tell her Ken sent you and that the German government dropped the charges.

This city isn't perfect, and it won't get any closer to it unless we individually and together — start cleaning it up. Don't take less than what you deserve.

Ken is a graduate student in English. You can reach him at sigma7@ksu.edu.

BECKY WILSON/Collegian

Marijuana should join ranks of legal substances

RICK WOOTEN

"Hank, why do you roll smoke?"

This simple question is contained in the chorus of one of the more popular songs in the Aggie Lounge jukebox where I work. The mass of people in the bar invariably cry out, "To get stoned!" But the even bigger question is why is it illegal for Hank Williams Jr. to carry on his "family tradition?"

There are many mood-altering substances that one can purchase legally. Juan Valdez and his donkey showed up in the weirdest places to remind us of his wonderful Colombian coffee. Everyone remembers what happened to Beavis after chugging a pitcher of double mocha. And I've seen people go into Java Espresso & Bakery as absolute drones and come out as perky as Kathie Lee Gifford on Cody's birthday. Yet, for some reason, coffee isn't illegal.

Pop is another substance with the devilish drug called caffeine. Let us get this clear as well. In Kansas, we call cola "pop." It isn't "soda" until you get east of that arch thing in St. Louis, which I believe is the real reason why it was built in the first place.

Jolt Cola was the closest you could get to heaven as a youngster. The liquid fun in those cans could almost make your teeth disappear on contact. The stuff was the exact antidote for Ritalin and simple possession of a six-pack made you the coolest kid in the whole trailer park. You only opened a can on special occasions. For instance, when you had a birthday or when you got a new Atari game. A tablespoon could keep you playing "Asteroids" for hours. Yet, for some reason, pop isn't illegal.

The prohibition of alcohol was one of the worst mistakes in our nation's history. Organized crime flourished and still haunts us to this day. If I hadn't been drinking earlier, I would remember which amendment it was that had to be passed to repeal prohibition. Obviously, America wised up and let the beer flow freely again. But alcohol does have its bad side. For example, when you work all day at The Lou on a Friday and don't get a chance to eat, then polish off a 1.75 liter bottle of whiskey. I've been told that in that situation, people start stripping their clothes off to a Dixie Chicks song and chase girls around the yard with their pants around their ankles, but I wouldn't remember. And when you wake up in your closet the next day somehow covered in Cheese Whiz, you don't even want to remember. Yet for some reason, alcohol isn't illegal.

The trouble is that the use of marijuana is no worse than the use of alcohol, and only abusers of mood-altering substances should worry about the effects of dependency. A friend of mine who died of cancer last year had trouble getting an appetite after his chemotherapy. While back in Topeka visiting him, his mom asked me if I knew where to find marijuana for him so that he might be able to eat. The Jack Daniels that he drank might have done a little to help ease the pain, but did little to help him at the kitchen table. His suffering could have been lifted, yet for some reason marijuana is illegal.

It is estimated that almost three-quarters of a million people were arrested last year for marijuana offenses, with 87 percent of those being for simple possession. What amount of time and tax dollars were wasted on trying to solve a nonexistent problem?

Why is it that some mood-altering substances are legal and others are not? Why can't marijuana be legalized and regulated the same way as tobacco and alcohol?

The answer, my friend, is blowing in the wind.

Everybody, let's get stoned.

Rick is a senior in radio/TV broadcasting. You can email him at rwooten@collegianmail.com.

Sorority earns national awards

By ANGIE JOHNSON
Kansas State Collegian

Standing out among the many chapters across the nation was not a problem for members of the Kansas Beta chapter of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Executive officers of the house attended a leadership seminar that took place exclusively for Pi Phi members in Denver last June. The K-State chapter won various awards for outstanding accomplishments.

"We have always done well in the past, but we never assume that we will receive the same awards again," said Sara Tirrell, chapter president senior and in pre-medicine and anthropology.

The highest acknowledgement given to the Kansas Beta chapter at the conference was the Balfour award, representing achievements in all areas. It was presented to the top chapter out of 132 in the nation.

"Our house doesn't necessarily concentrate on awards," Tirrell said. "Instead, we focus on having a solid house internally, but the Balfour served as a secondary bonus and exciting accomplishment."

The Balfour award, named after a significant alumni member, was based on campus involvement, community service, scholarship, philanthropy and other aspects. Specifically, the Kansas Beta chapter focused on what kind of house it represents on campus.

"Our alumni and visitors can see first hand what kind of house we are when they visit," Megan Winter, junior in mathematics, said. "We are active and get along really well with each other, which positively influences our nominations for awards."

> "I believe the fact that K-State has such an amazing greek system with campus support makes a difference by helping to build a successful chapter."
>
> Erin Robertson, chapter vice president

Another outstanding recognition collected was the Pi award for scholarship, granted to the chapters obtaining an overall grade point average of 3.14 and above. The president also received an honorable mention for advancement from her previous term.

"In comparison to other chapters that attended the seminar, we really stood out as being the strongest house," said Erin Robertson, chapter vice president and senior in elementary education. "I believe the fact that K-State has such an amazing greek system with campus support makes a difference by helping to build a successful chapter."

Besides the awards given, the seminar provided leadership speakers, assisted individual officers and gave the members an opportunity to meet women from other chapters. The central theme of the seminar was making Pi Phi a life decision.

"We could definitely see that there was a trend in our personalities and interests. It shows that our house has a lot in common not only locally but nationally," Robertson said.

Kansas Beta chapter members credited many of their awards to all of their strong alumni and campus support.

LEADER OF THE PACK

Amy Mortimer leads the pack of K-State cross country runners Tuesday evening at Warner Park. Mortimer teamed up with Cate Holston to win the K-State relays.

KELLY GLASSCOCK/ Collegian

Fraternity wins honors at workshop

By COLLEEN FOOTE
Kansas State Collegian

K-State's Sigma Chi fraternity received two top awards at the national fraternity's 53rd annual leadership training workshop.

For the eighth consecutive year, the chapter received the Peterson Significant Chapter Award, the highest single honor that an undergraduate chapter can receive. The award recognizes outstanding achievement in several different facets of fraternity life, including chapter and member character and reputation, as well as campus activities and leadership.

"Our chapter is highly regarded by our national office," said Mac Krause, senior in industrial engineering. "We feel we really stick out through our campus involvement and leadership."

The annual leadership training workshop was hosted by K-State's Sigma Chi chapter for the third time in the last four years. More than 2,000 Sigma Chi representatives from North America attended the workshop.

"The leadership training workshop holds different conferences and meetings on risk management and better ways to enhance each chapter," said Matt Carpenter, senior in public relations and advertising. "These workshops lead to better ways to enhance and improve every Sigma Chi chapter."

Among the activities the K-State Sigma Chi chapter sponsors is Derby Days, an annual philanthropy. Last semester's event raised $13,000 for the Children's Miracle Network.

"Derby Days is a great philanthropy because we involve having a good time and educating our chapter and other greek chapters about the Children's Miracle Network," said Drew Peine, senior in finance.

"Through hospital visits we were able to witness firsthand and realize the importance of our philanthropy."

The chapter also received the Legion of Honor Award for the third time in the last four years. This honor is the top award a chapter can receive for academics and recognizes it for having an outstanding educational program and high scholastic standing.

Five members of the K-State chapter were awarded scholarships for their commitment to the fraternity and their scholastic achievements.

"We strive for academic excellence," Peine said. "We stay consistently above K-State's all-greek grade average."

The chapter feels their new member program is one of the reasons why they always do well nationally and locally.

"Our chapter does a great job with our new member program," said Eric Payne, new member educator and senior in public relations. "We help and prepare them for college life through academics and leadership."

Hair Experts Design Team
Discover the Difference
Enter to win a $100, $50 or $25 Gift Certificate. Ask our designers during your appointment in October, how you can be our next winner!
1323 Anderson Ave.
Aggieville, Manhattan
776-4455

5 HUGE MOUNTAINS!
16th ANNUAL Ski Steamboat
NATIONAL COLLEGE WEEK
Complete College Ski Package from only $189
1-88U-SKITHIS (1-888-754-8447)
www.Uskithis.com

TIPPMANN PAINTBALL TRADER
111 S. 5th
Hunter's Island Paintball Park
West end of Collins Lane off S. Manhattan Ave.
Open play starts at 10 a.m. Sat.
539-5979

Sick children need your help now!
Donate your life-saving blood plasma & receive $25 TODAY
(for approx. 2 hours of your time)
Call or stop by:
Nabi Biomedical Center,
1130 Gardenway, Manhattan
785-776-9177
www.nabi.com

LONGHORNS
Ladies Night
$1.00 domestic bottles

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

G.R.E. Preparation Available
If you are applying to Graduate School and need to take the GRE, the McNair Scholars Program and Educational Supportive Services can help you prepare.
Students pay only $100 for materials (CD-Rom and 2 books)
Instruction funded by E.O.F.
Sessions begin in October. You may begin at any time and continue until you receive the entire course (24 hours over 6 weeks).
Interested?
Call 532-6137 • Stop by 201 Holton • E-mail jontv@ksu.edu

Ramblers STEAK HOUSE & SALOON
HOMEMADE CHICKEN FRIED STEAK with all the trimmings $6.95
DRINK SPECIALS
$1 Draws
$1.75 Well's
$3.75 Pitchers
8711 E. Hwy. 24 • 539-4889
Manhattan, KS

SPRING BREAK CRUISE
March 19, 2001
5 Day Carnival Cruise
Visit: Grand Cayman, Cozumel, Tampa
*Not included: airfare, taxes, tips
Only $260.00 per person creative TRAVEL
Call 539-0531
3003 Anderson Ave.
Manhattan

Kansas State University–Ft. Riley
Class Schedule Term 1-2001
October 16–December 16, 2000

Monday/Wednesday 1630–1930

Course Title	Course Number	Credit Hours	Bldg/ Room
Principles of Microeconomics (P)	ECON 120	3	215/226
Intermediate Macroeconomics (P)	ECON 510	3	215/227
Expository Writing I	ENGL 100	3	7604/13
Environmental Geology: Water & Air	GEOL 115	3	7604/12
Intermediate Algebra (P)	MATH 010	3	7604/14
Public Speaking II (P)	SPCH 321	3	215/231

Monday/Wednesday 1700–1930

Elementary Stats & Social Science (P)	STAT 330	3	215/B31

Monday/Wednesday 1930–2230

American Lit: Realists & Moderns	ENGL 272	3	7604/12
World Regional Geography	GEOG 100	3	7604/5
The U.S. and World Affairs (P)	HIST 543	3	7604/13
College Algebra (P)	MATH 100	3	7604/10
Plane Trigonometry (P)	MATH 150	3	215/231
Business & Economic Statistics II (P)	STAT 351	3	215/B31
Accounting for Investing & Finance (P)	ACCTG 241	3	7604/7

Tuesday/Thursday 1630–1930

Expository Writing II	ENGL 200	3	7604/13
The Holocaust (P)	HIST 596	3	7604/14
Intro To Music	MUSIC 250	3	215/231
U.S. Politics	POLSC 325	3	7604/10
Industrial Psychology (P)	PSYCH 560	3	7604/5
Police and Society (P)	SOCIO 362	3	7604/12

Tuesday/Thursday 1930–2230

College Algebra	MATH 100	3	7604/5
Intro To Political Science	POLSC 110	3	7604/10
Psych. Of Childhood & Adolescence (P)	PSYCH 280	3	7604/12
Social Organization (P)	SOCIO 440	3	215/231
Public Speaking I	SPCH 106	3	215/230
Intro to Women's Studies	WOMST 105	3	7604/13

Tuesday/Thursday 1630–1930 and Saturday 0830–1030

Intro to Information Technology Oct. 16-28, 2000	CIS 101	1	215/B35
Spreadsheet Applications (P) Oct. 31-Nov. 11, 2000	CIS 102	1	215/B35
Database Applications (P) Nov. 14-Dec. 2, 2000	CIS 103	1	215/B35
Word Processing Applications (P)	CIS 104	1	215/B35

Enrollment Information
Registration
• Military enrollment began September 5, 2000.
• Civilian enrollment begins October 10, 2000.
• Civilian online, telephone, or fax enrollment begins on the second day of civilian enrollment. A Privacy Act Statement with an original signature must be received for the enrollment to be official.
• Enrollment after the first week of classes requires Instructor/Department approval.
• Military enrollment includes active duty military, retired military, reserve components, family members, DOD/DAC, ROTC Cadets and veterans.

Cost
$100.00 per undergraduate credit hour.

Drop Dates
100% refund if you drop in writing before the second class meeting.
50% refund if you drop in writing on or before November 3, 2000.
Withdrawals after November 3, 2000 will be recorded on transcript.

If you stop attending class and do not process a drop form you will receive a grade of "F".

No drops after November 17, 2000.

PLEASE CHECK WITH OUR OFFICE JUST PRIOR TO CLASSES STARTING FOR POSSIBLE CHANGES IN THE SCHEDULE!!!!!!!

Course/Schedule Notes
0800–1700=8:00 a.m.–5:00 p.m.
0830–1030=8:30 a.m.–10:30 a.m.
0830–1230=8:30 a.m.–12:30 p.m.
1200–1300=12:00–1:00 p.m.
1630–1930=4:30–7:30 p.m.
1700–1930=5:00–7:30 p.m.
1700–2100=5:00–9:00 p.m.
1730–1930=5:30–7:30 p.m.
1930–2230=7:30–10:30 p.m.

Special Assistance
Kansas State University is dedicated to making academic courses accessible to all persons. Contact the Registration Office at 785. 532.5566 or 1.800.432.8222 at least two weeks prior to the beginning of the course if you have a physical or learning disability which would require special accommodations.

For information, call: 239.8246 at Fort Riley or 532.5566 at the Division of Continuing Education in Manhattan or 1.800.432.8222 in the surrounding area.

K-STATE
DCE
This program information, as well as registration information, is available via the World Wide Web at the following address: http://www.dce.ksu.edu/dce/fortriley/term1-2001

HOME ADVANTAGE

Men's golf team places 2nd at Colbert Hills

By NICK BRATKOVIC
Kansas State Collegian

Every stroke counted for the K-State men's golf team in its second-place finish at the Jim Colbert Intercollegiate Tournament.

Sparked by the play of freshman A.J. Elgert, who shot a team-best 71, the Cats placed second behind Illinois State and picked up a victory over Big 12 Conference and district opponent Missouri.

"We managed to get a big victory over the Tigers. That is a big win with respect to district play," head coach Tim Norris said.

A district win for the Cats factors in at the end of the year, when regional competition and qualifying tournaments approach.

However, the district win didn't come easy for K-State.

Entering the third round of play Tuesday, K-State trailed Missouri by two strokes and Illinois State by nine.

However, the Cats were able to shoot a round of 305 on the final day for a second-place finish. It was the type of second-day improvement K-State has experienced throughout the young season, and Norris said the team continues to improve as the players short games progress.

"I think we are much improved over where we were at this time last year," he said. "It is being able to manage a game from 50 yards in, and it's the ability to hit out and make putts."

Elgert said his short game improved as the tournament progressed. He had a double bogey on an early hole, but managed to make key putts to keep his round low.

"I kind of slipped early with a double bogey," Elgert said. "But I tried not to get rattled and just kept playing."

ONLINE
See the both women and men's golf statistics at www.kstatecollegian.com.

K-State placed three players in the top 20, as both junior Bryan Milberger and freshman Aaron Watkins tied for 13th with tournament scores of 230 apiece. Elgert said the individual results are an indication that the team will improve throughout the season.

"I think we have a lot of talent on this team," Elgert said. "I think once we settle in, then things will turn around."

Another reason for optimism is the team's access to Colbert Hills.

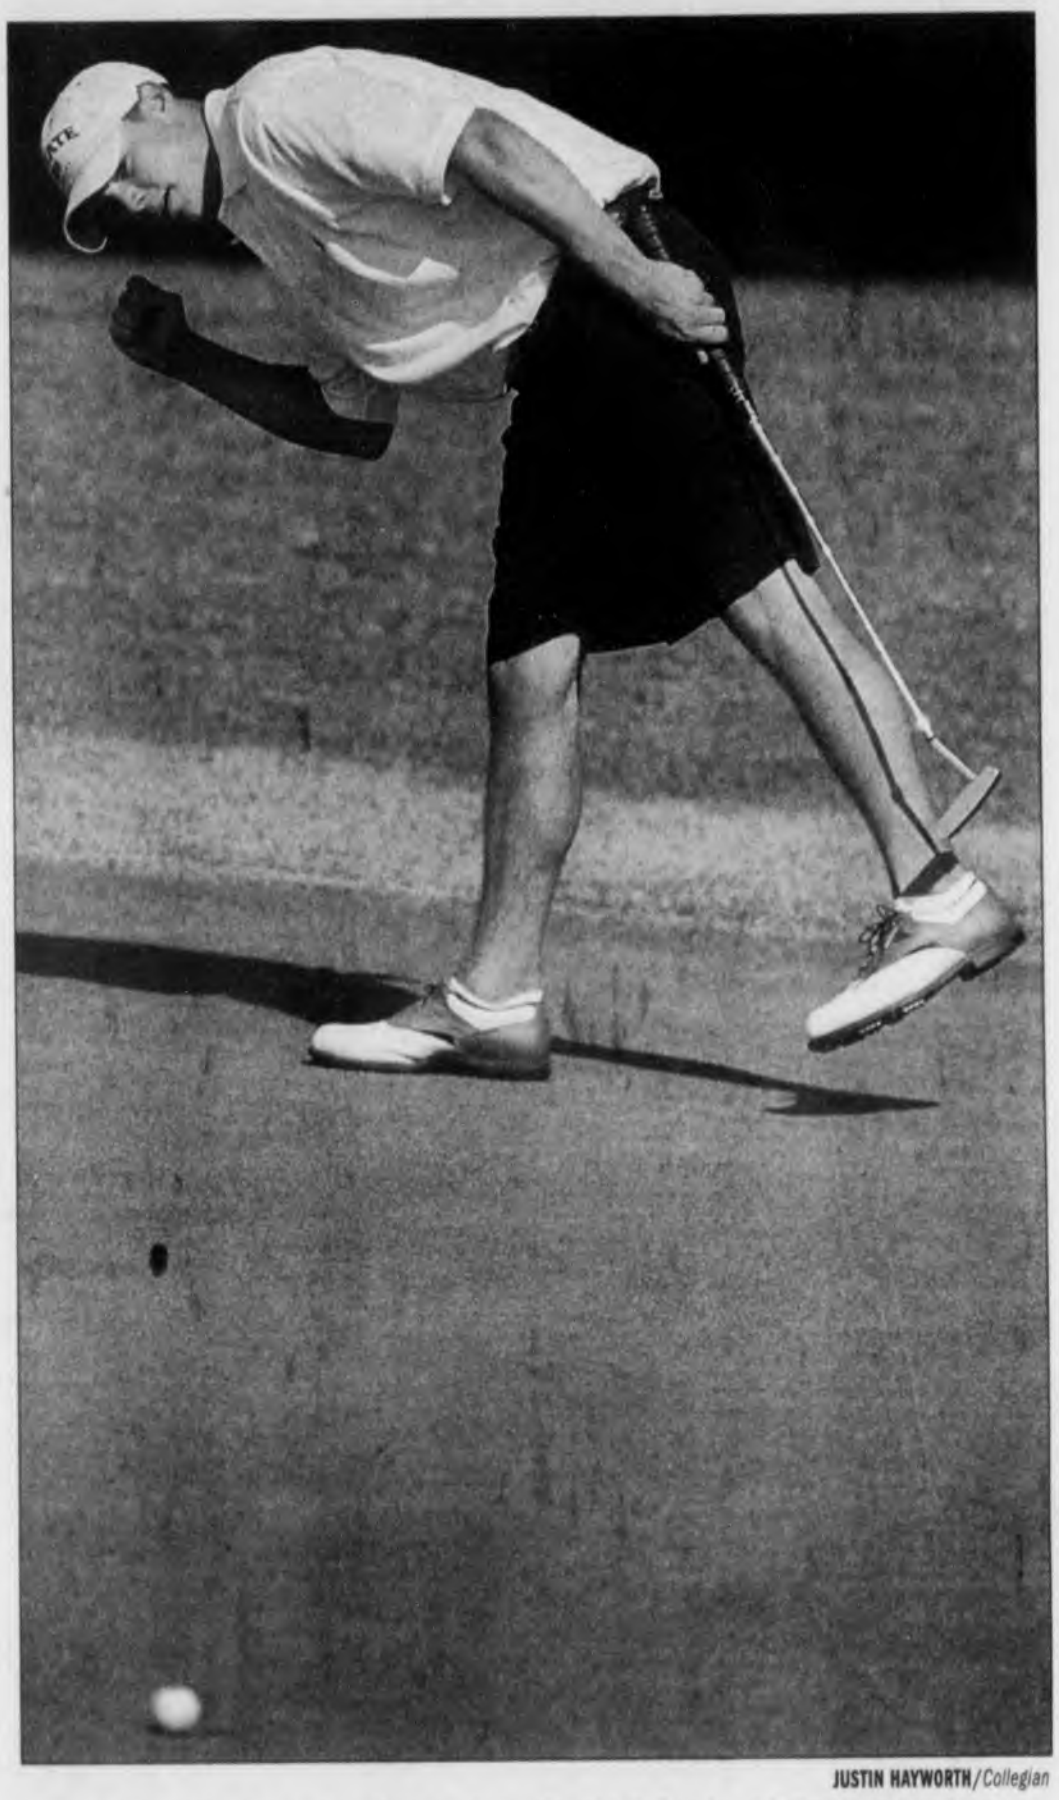
Players said they enjoyed playing their home course, which gave them an edge in competition.

"A big part of it is the comfort level," Elgert said. "I knew each hole before the tournament even started, having played it every day."

It was K-State's first home meet since 1998, and Norris said a home tournament is a necessity for building the program.

"I thought the course held up well over two days," Norris said. "My first year here, we held a tournament over at the country club, and last year we couldn't do it because of construction over there. So it was nice to host the tournament.

"To be a credible program you have to host a tournament."



But perhaps more significant than simply having a two-day tournament in Manhattan is the progress a player can make from playing Colbert Hills, Elgert said.

"After only a month and a half, I have already improved," he said. "Playing this course every day can only help you improve."

KELLY GLASSCOCK/Collegian

Scott McNeely lines up his putt Monday morning as K-State is host to its first golf tournament at Colbert Hills.

JUSTIN HAYWORTH/Collegian

Aaron Watkins responds as his ball falls into the cup for a birdie Tuesday at Colbert Hills Golf Course. The team was host to its first meet at Colbert Hills.

Women golfers set school record in Big 12 Fall Preview, improve overall tournament score

By DAN SMITH
Kansas State Collegian

K-State's women golfers excelled in the second round of Monday's Big 12 Fall Preview.

In fact, the team set a school-record for 18 holes with an all-time low score of 298 on the par 72, 5,991-yard course at Ridgewood Country Club in Waco, Texas.

The Wildcats improved their overall score by 21 strokes after a first-round 319 and were in ninth place going into Tuesday's final day of competition, but that's where they would stay.

As promising as the Cats looked in Monday's 36 holes, the team lost a step in the final round, remaining in ninth place overall after shooting a dismal 313, a whole 35 strokes off tournament pacesetter Oklahoma State.

"Yesterday, we were lucky to shoot 319 in the first round," head coach Kristi Knight said. "We really battled and struggled. But we came together in the second-round.

"We hit the ball better and made some putts. Everything kind of fell into place."

K-State's second 18-hole score Monday was only two strokes over the Cowboys' tournament-best 296, also in second round competition.

After each of the Wildcat golfers improved their scores on the second day, all except Christine Boucher posted higher scores in the final round.

The freshman finished tied for 28th, after improving her score in each of the tournament's three rounds, shooting a final day 76 to finish with K-State's second-best individual score of 233.

Tied for 12th going into Tuesday's action, junior Edie Murdoch dropped nine spots to finish in a tie for 21st after shooting her worst round of the tournament — an 80. However, the Cat individual leader for the tournament set a personal career record during Monday's play, after shaving one shot off of her previous personal best of 72.

Last year, the Cats finished eighth in the tournament, shooting a 945 team score.

— K-State Sports Information contributed to this article.

Unranked Wildcat volleyball team challenges KU tonight on their home court

By MICHAEL NOLL
Kansas State Collegian

When the KU volleyball team matches up with K-State tonight at 7 in Ahearn Field House, the Jayhawks will meet a team they haven't seen since 1998 — an unranked Wildcat squad.

After getting swept by Missouri last Saturday, the Cats dropped out of the USA Today/AVCA Coaches' top 25 for the first time in 28 weeks.

The drop occurred just four weeks after K-State entered the season ranked No. 17.

K-State's plummet out of the polls is due to an inflated preseason ranking, rather than a disappointing early season, head coach Jim McLaughlin said.

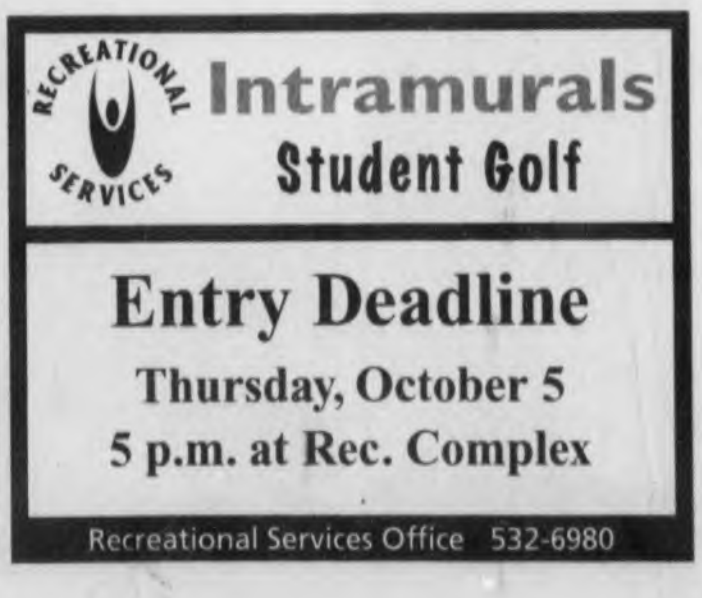
"We weren't 17th at the end of last season, and we were beating some good teams," McLaughlin said. "Maybe we don't deserve to be ranked. I want it because we deserve to be there."

An absence from the polls doesn't change the Cats' plans, though, as a Big 12 Championship still is attainable as long as K-State continues to improve.

"Our main goal is to just be better, so if we do that, the Big 12 Championship will take care of itself," McLaughlin said.

Before K-State (9-4, 3-2) makes a run at a conference championship, however, they must take care of business and beat the Jayhawks (11-4, 2-4). To do so, the Cats will have to forget the polls and their poor performance at Missouri, outside hitter Liz Wegner said.

"We've got to put it behind us," she said. "We're going to go out there and get back on track. We've got to come with our A-game and expect a battle out there."



One difference between tonight's game against Kansas and Saturday's loss at Missouri is the health of Wegner. Before the Missouri contest, the junior missed two practices with a sore foot, and as a result, her timing was off and she hit poorly.

However, she has practiced every day this week and should be back to 100-percent for KU.

While Wegner struggled Saturday, K-State was encouraged by the play of freshman middle blocker Lauren Goehring, who's finally beginning to live up to her preseason potential. Goehring was named a high school All-American by National Recruiting Service but struggled early this season. Against Missouri, however, Goehring hit a career-high 15 kills and .393 hitting percentage.

Wildcat soccer club returns from Sept. 2 loss to Jayhawks with 1-0 victory

JEANEL DRAKE/Collegian

Steve Taylor (right) of K-State and his opponent from KU played in Friday night's 22nd annual Ed Chartrand Memorial Soccer Tournament at Frank Anneberg Park. Taylor scored the only goal that night, leading K-State to a 1-0 win over KU.

By DAN SMITH
Kansas State Collegian

When it comes to collegiate sports rivalries, K-State and KU rate near the top of the list.

However, sophomore Jason Ingram said the intrastate rivalry not only exists on the field but reaches into other arenas of competition as well.

"Any time you put K-State and KU together, there's going to be a rivalry," Ingram said. "I don't care if it's cooking dinner, we'll see who does it better."

At any rate, the fight for bragging rights in the kitchen was put aside on Friday night as the two schools could go head-to-head in soccer, kicking off the 22nd annual Ed Chartrand Memorial Soccer Tournament at Frank Anneberg Park.

K-State players entered the game with memories of the Jayhawks still fresh in their minds, as the Cat club team was defeated 2-0 by KU in their meeting Sept. 2. Yet, sophomore Nick Seglie said it felt good to participate in such an intense rivalry.

"It's the biggest game. It's kind of like a grudge match," Seglie said. "It's ugly, and whoever wants it most usually wins the game."

Both teams seemed to want this game equally Friday, holding each other to a scoreless tie for much of the game.

However, after a late goal, K-State turned up the defensive pressure and held out for a 1-0 shutout over KU.

K-State's win over the Jayhawks kicked off the weekend tournament that featured 14 teams, but the Wildcats fell to Oklahoma State in their next game and were shut out by second place Oklahoma in the semifinals.

Eight teams from the Big 12 and six other Midwestern teams competed in the memorial to Chartrand last weekend.

Wichita State beat Oklahoma 2-0 for the men's title, and Drake took first in the women's division over KU, rounding out a great weekend of competition that was all dedicated to the man they called "Fast Eddy."

Inheriting the nickname because of his quickness on the field, Chartrand played left wing for the K-State Soccer Club from 1974 to1978 before his sudden death. Hours after his graduation from K-State, Chartrand suddenly collapsed in his parent's home.

Chartrand's brother, Art, and other teammates decided to remember "Fast Eddy" by creating and dedicating an invitational tournament to him that very year. Since then, the women's division is growing rapidly, one of the recent changes in the tournament Art Chartrand said his brother would admire.

"I think my brother would be real proud of the fact that we now have a lot of women's teams competing," Art Chartrand said of the six-team women's division.

Art Chartrand said the ultimate goal for the memorial tournament is to become the premier fall invitational for the Big 12. The tournament already features corporate sponsors and trophies, and perhaps the biggest incentive is the $500 scholarship that is awarded each year to a K-State soccer player voted on by current team members.

This year's scholarship went to junior Nevada Raitt, the team's president and vocal leader. Raitt has high expectations for the soccer club this season, including a trip to regionals in Lubbock, Texas and said the victory over KU was something they needed.

"It was huge," Raitt said. "We had to prove that we could beat them before getting into regionals. We had to prove that we were a good enough caliber team to be out there with them.

BURGER KING
Supporting KSU's most talented students!
UPC PROUDLY PRESENTS THE BURGER KING
Lunchtime Lounge
Come and enjoy the entertainment! FREE!
WEDNESDAY:
KSU Jazz Quartet
12 pm to 1 pm Union Courtyard
SPONSORED BY UPC SPECIAL EVENTS & BURGER KING!

Shear Dynamics
Hair & Nail Design
1125 Laramie • Laramie Plaza
In Aggieville
(785) 776-9100
WELCOMES ERICA
Salon Services Offered
acrylic nails, facials, and massages
Salon hours
Mon. - Tues. 9 a.m. - 6 p.m.
Fri. - Sat. 9 a.m. - 8 p.m.
Wed. - Thurs. 9 a.m. - 8 p.m.
Open Mondays and Evenings
25% off these services w/ERICA
• Cuts • Perms • Updo's • Colors •
• Manicures • Pedicures • Waxing •
MasterCard VISA
expires 10-10-00

Body First
*2308 Anderson Ave. * (785)-587-8300*
www.bodyfirst.com
Specials of the Month of October
• Free Sauna Session with the purchase of any service.
• Package of four one hour massages is only $120.00.
• One hour message is only $25.00 with a KSU student ID
Expires on the last day of October 2000
We now accept advertised specials from any other message therapy establishment. Just bring in their specials and we will meet their price.
Call for an appointment today
M-F 8a.m.- 7p.m. and
Sat 9a.m.- 6p.m.

McCain Auditorium's 2000-2001 Performance Series

Mark Morris Dance Group
SPONSORS: The National Dance Project of the New England Foundation for the Arts, the Jeanne Wells Durkee Memorial Fund, and Friends of McCain
Friday, October 6, 8 p.m.
Seattle-born Mark Morris formed his Dance Group in 1980 and he's been making dance history ever since. His Hard Nut, a re-setting of The Nutcracker in a 1960s dysfunctional family, has become a holiday favorite and has been shown on PBS. Morris co-founded the White Oak Dance Project with Mikhail Baryshnikov and has collaborated with cellist Yo-Yo Ma, choreographing Falling Down Steps. McCain's program features My Party, Sang-Froid, The Argument, Silhouettes, and Dancing Honeymoon. All music will be performed by live musicians.
Pre-performance lecture by Elizabeth Moran.
Public $32,$28
Senior $30,$26
Student/Child $16,$14
NOTE: Q & A session with Mark Morris will immediately follow the performance.

Die Fledermaus
Tuesday, October 17, 7:30 p.m.
Join us as we raise the curtain on one of the most well loved operettas of all time, Johann Strauss's Die Fledermaus: a bubbly concoction of champagne, masquerades, amorous flirtations and practical jokes. Western Opera Theater has assembled some of the world's brightest young talents for this lively journey into the romance of Strauss's delightful melodies set in the intoxicating extravagance of late 19th century Vienna.
Pre performance lecture by Dr. Reginald Pittman.
Public $40,$36
Senior $38,$32
Student/Child $20,$18

Inti-Illimani
Friday, October 27, 8 p.m.
The seven members of this Chilean-based ensemble have enraptured audiences with their special blend of instrumentals and vocals for decades. Playing more than 30 wind, string, and percussion instruments, they have traveled the world weaving an extra-ordinary cultural tapestry and taking audiences on a tour through the love and pain of daily life. You won't want to miss the ensemble that's recorded more than 30 albums and performed for Amnesty International on stage with Bruce Springsteen, Mercedes Sosa, Sting, Wynton Marsalis and Peter Gabriel.
Public $20
Senior $18
Student/Child $10
All events, dates and times are subject to change without notice.
Call 785-532-6428 weekdays, noon to 5 p.m.
Stop by or call the box office today. You can charge your tickets to VISA, Mastercard or Discover.
NE fa NEW ENGLAND foundation for the arts
Major funding has been provided by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Additional support provided by the K-State Fine Arts Fee, Friends of McCain, and the Heartland Arts Fund.

"Crazy" Ted Varney would have loved this...
CRAZY TEXTBOOK SALE
Hundreds of selected new & used textbooks
Various fields of study
Check out these crazy low prices!
$1.00 Paperbacks
(Sept. 29 - Oct. 18)
$15.00
$2.00 Hardbacks
ALL YOU CAN CARRY!
Varney's BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE
"We Give You Our Best"
www.varneys.com
While you're in, ADVANCE ORDERING your Spring 2001 textbooks at Varney's can save you valuable time, energy, and money!
Ask our textbook staff for details.
9 a.m.-9 p.m. Mon.-Sat. 11a.m.-7p.m. Sun.
785-539-0511

All New. All Yours. All Free
MadAdz welcomes
Kansas State University
The first three students in each category to place ads will get a free T-shirt. Just another way in which MadAdz.com will hook you up.
Limit one T-shirt per student.
mad
No Brainer.
$500 cash that you can put towards rent, tuition, books, or whatever, awarded to two students a day, five days a week, just for posting a classified on www.madadz.com.
Live & Learn.
MadAdz.com hooked me up.
No purchase necessary. Void where prohibited.

Restaurant roaming

Lawrence offers variety of restaurants, breweries

By SARAH MCCAFFREY
Kansas State Collegian

Besides multiple stores and shops, Massachusetts Street also offers a range of restaurants, breweries and eateries.

La Prima Tazza

La Prima Tazza espresso shop features one of the largest bulk coffee selections in town as well as fresh espresso, tea, Italian soda and candy.

The coffee shop, which celebrates its 10-year anniversary this month, is located in the old Kaw Valley Line ticket station.

Morgan Shortle, senior in industrial design at the University of Kansas, said La Prima Tazza is a good place to go just to get out of the house and get homework done.

"It's a different atmosphere," she said. "It's more of a relaxed place."

Barista Jill Bredahl said the shop's laid-back atmosphere helps to draw the people.

"It has a community feel," she said. "People like the fact that it's locally owned and operated."

She said the most requested blend at La Prima Tazza is the Cafe Tikal, a dark Viennese mixture.

The experience of the staff is an asset to many customers. Most of the staff has worked at the shop for several years.

"You can probably get any kind of drink if you can describe it," manager Laurel Wimberg said.

Sylas and Maddy's Homemade Ice Cream

At Sylas and Maddy's Homemade Ice Cream, customers decide what's on the menu.

The ice cream shop takes suggestions from customers as to what the next flavor of the month should be. The winning suggestion is named after the customer and crowned flavor of the month.

More than 40 different flavors of homemade ice cream are available, ranging from Monkey Mash and Maddy's Mud to traditional ice cream flavors like chocolate and peaches-n-cream. The store also makes waffle cones from scratch.

The most popular flavors are Gold Rush and Da Bomb, assistant manager Lindsey Garcia said.

Gold Rush is a blend of Oreos, caramel and pralines. Da Bomb is made of cookie dough, Oreo cookies and chocolate chips.

Garcia said the restaurant is a popular place for families during the week but students frequent it as well.

"Friday and Saturday nights, it's mostly students," she said.

Brown Bear Brewing Co.

Sylas and Maddy's Homemade Ice Cream offers more than 40 different flavors.

The Brown Bear Brewing Co. offers drinks specials and live entertainment for students in Lawrence.

At 8 Saturday night, the brewery will feature DJ Randy and a mix of top 40 hits and dance music.

"We're the only brewery that has entertainment every night except Sundays," Seth Roberts, kitchen manager, said.

The bar is a popular weekend hangout for KU students.

"On Friday nights it's really packed," Brad Schepers, house manager, said. "From 11:30 on, it's wall-to-wall people."

The brewery also features seven microbrews on tap.

The favorite brew of customers is Quantrill's Red, named after the raid on Lawrence during the Civil War. After the raid, the Brown Bear was one of two buildings left untouched.

Roberts said that atmosphere is created by the customers as well as what the brewery has to offer.

"It's harder to get in so there's an older crowd here," he said.

Free State Brewery

At Free State Brewery, diners can order their favorite microbrew while soaking in the atmosphere of an authentic trolley station.

The brewery is located in the old Kaw Valley Trolley station. The, station was renovated to accommodate the restaurant but the original wooden ceilings are still intact.

The menu includes drink specials as well as steaks, salads and vegetarian items.

"There are a potpourri of items to offer," Alex Hamilton, restaurant manager, said.

The brewery portion of the restaurant is a small scale operation, producing only 3,300 barrels a year. He said the microbrewery produces many specialty lagers and ales which are available on tap.

"It runs the gamut from light beers to very dark beers," Hamilton said.

Hamilton said the bar is a hot spot for fans after the game.

"It's busy, raucous and lots of fun," he said.

ABOVE: Brown Bear Brewing Co., on Massachusetts Street in Lawrence, offers drinks specials and live entertainment for students. BELOW: Aside from Sylas and Maddy's Homemade Ice Cream, the store also makes waffle cones from scratch.

PHOTOS BY EVAN SEMON/Collegian

Shopping opportunities available for football fans

By SARAH MCCAFFREY
Kansas State Collegian

Massachusetts Street in Lawrence offers a variety of eclectic shopping opportunities for football fans before and after the game Saturday.

The Casbah

The Casbah brings goods to the Lawrence area that often are difficult to find elsewhere.

"We try to carry different products," co-owner Terri Faunce said. "We try to be unique and not overlap with what other people sell."

The store carries many out-of-the-ordinary items such as Buddha statues and tiled house numbers from Spain.

The owners make trips to New York three times a year to visit the gift and home shows and come up with ideas of what would interest their customers.

"We just pick out different things that we like," Faunce said.

The store also obtains some of its merchandise from customers. Faunce said items such as the tiled house numbers from Spain were brought in by customers and sold to the store..

Faunce said the most popular items that the store carries are Chinese Mary Jane slippers and paper lamp shades.

"We offer enough variety that it suits a lot of different people," she said.

The store also features several different clothing lines.

Sales clerk Angie Stewart said that much of the student business deals with the clothing and jewelry lines.

The store's eclectic offerings draw customers not only from Lawrence but also from surrounding communities. Faunce said that many people from the Kansas City area and Topeka come in regularly to buy items they can't find elsewhere.

"We definitely get a lot of day trippers," she said.

EVAN SEMON/Collegian

Southwest and More, on Massachusetts Street.

Southwest and More

Maria and Don Martin decided they wanted to share their love of the American Southwest with the people of Lawrence. Two years ago, they opened Southwest and More on Massachusetts Street.

"We love to travel to the Southwest," co-owner Maria Martin said. "We have a real strong interest in American Indian art as well as Western art. After a few years of thinking about it, we just bit the bullet and opened up the shop."

Southwest and More carries gift items such as authentic foods, Southwestern novelty gifts, western wear and genuine American Indian jewelry as well as a wide selection of Southwestern art.

"With the exception of the cowboy art, most comes directly from the artist," Martin said. "For the most part, they are all American Indian artists, from Navajo weaving and baskets to paint and pottery. All of the American Indian artists we have in the gallery live in Lawrence or Topeka."

She said Southwest and More's most popular artists include Luther Narcomey, Patricia Sebola and Mel Cornshucker.

Narcomey specializes in impressionistic oil paintings, while Sebola is well known for her small animal pieces and Cornshucker is popular for his artistic oven ware.

Martin said many shoppers from areas surrounding Lawrence make the trip to Southwest and More to find one-of-kind southwest items.

"We've been told by visitors that it's the next best thing to being in the Southwest," she said.

Vormehr and Youngquist Gallery

Vormehr and Youngquist Gallery offers a variety of services from framing diplomas to custom designed T-shirts and Big 12 jewelry. All of the artwork and design concepts are done in the store by the two owners.

"It appeals to the person that doesn't want a billboard and that wants something a little more subtle and a little more artsy," co-owner Gail Youngquist said.

Vormehr and Youngquist Gallery is a haven for K-State fans in Lawrence. Youngquist is a K-State graduate, and her partner, Vicki Vormehr, is a KU graduate.

"It's sort of like we're a house divided within the shop," Youngquist said.

The large selection of K-State merchandise the gallery carries sometimes sparks the intrastate rivalry.

Youngquist said they would rather celebrate the state of Kansas than start a conflict between the schools.

She said many K-State alumni from the Lawrence area come into the store to have diplomas framed or K-State artwork produced.

Lawrence sports bar voted No. 1

By SARAH MCCAFFREY
Kansas State Collegian

With 27 televisions, two big screens and almost 60 beers onhand, it's no surprise J.B. Stout's was voted the No. 1 sports bar in Lawrence.

Customers repeatedly come back to the bar for more than beers and college sports.

"It's more of an upscale place to watch a game," customer Mark Hansen said. "They have the best burgers in town. Cigars are available, too."

Hansen said the satellite dish at the bar brings in a lot of fans who can't catch their favorite football game at home. The bar also has the ESPN college sports package.

Many customers enjoy the relaxed atmosphere offered by J.B. Stout's, on Wakarusa Street.

"It's a place where you can come with friends or come with family," customer Elizabeth Baird said.

J.B. Stouts is a favorite gathering place of many Wildcats.

"I get a lot of K-State alumni," Jim Lund, director of operations, said. "They're in for all of the K-State games."

When K-State and KU fans are both at the bar, the intrastate rivalry becomes evident, said Stacy Cook, a K-State graduate enrolled at the University of Kansas in graduate studies and waitress at J.B. Stout's.

She said the fans engage in playful banter between the tables of purple and blue, but the KU side usually is a little more vocal than the other.

"When they lose, it gets quiet and people leave," Cook said.

Cryptoquip & CROSSWORD
presented by:
1219 Moro
Aggieville
JAVA
(785) 587-8888

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Anderson's was "High"
4 Box-office sign
7 Matador's competitor
8 Type of cheese
10 Slacks
11 Arrest
13 "Price is Right" query
16 They (Fr.)
17 "Oh, God!" star
18 Verily
19 Rubik's baffler
20 Nuisance
21 Disreputable
23 Beach land
25 Presentation
26 Adverse destiny
27 Charged bit
28 First Little Pig's material
30 Hot tub
33 Eventually
36 Go places
37 Really peeved
38 Filch
39 Trawler equipment
40 Conclusion
41 Petrol

DOWN
1 Ice-bucket accessory
2 Judaism branch (Abbr.)
3 "Citizen Kane" sled
4 Under oath
5 Streamlets
6 Norway's capital
7 Rear of the plane
8 Sports-page datum
9 Twain hero
10 — Beta Kappa
12 Downey co-star
14 July birthstone
15 Snitch
19 Cornfield comment
20 Lapdog, for short
21 Session with a photographer
22 Advanced class
23 Make like an eagle
24 Type of wind
25 Family member
26 Waggish
28 Lucky number
29 Step
30 Numerical info
31 Household members
32 Exist
34 Archibald of basketball fame
35 Vicinity

Solution time: 26 mins.

S	C	A	B		O	L	E		B	A	B	E
P	O	R	E		S	A	T		I	D	O	L
E	M	I	L		C	H	A	R	C	O	A	L
C	O	A	L	T	A	R		O	A	S	T	S
			O	A	R		J	A	R
D	R	O	W	N		T	A	R	B	A	B	Y
E	E	R			P	U	G			L	E	A
B	A	B	Y	F	A	T		W	A	L	T	Z
			O	L	D		S	I	L
A	B	C	D	E		F	A	T	F	R	E	E
F	R	E	E	W	I	L	L		R	O	A	D
T	I	L	L		M	E	L		E	L	S	A
S	O	T	S		P	A	Y		D	E	E	D

Yesterday's answer 10-4

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone/rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

10-4 CRYPTOQUIP

J D M A X B J E B C M D A M :

Q H C Z E Z C Z T W .

Q H M X C B J D T E X D A

C D E D A A Z T W .

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: IN THE SOUTH, I EXPECT MOST PEOPLE OFTEN LIKE TO DRINK FROM DIXIE CUPS.

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: E equals C

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 2000 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WHAT'S HAPPENING

CAMPUS

- "Masks From Many Cultures" art exhibit opening, 10 a.m. Wednesday, second floor of Willard Hall.
- "Two Gentlemen of Verona," 8 p.m. Thursday-Saturday, Nichols Theatre.
- Mark Morris Dance Group, 8 p.m. Friday, McCain Auditorium.
- "Shaft," 7 and 9:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 8 p.m. Sunday, Forum Hall.
- Ken Little: A Lecture on Sculpture, 10:30 a.m. Saturday, Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art.

MANHATTAN & REGION

- Madden 2001 PlayStation Tournament, 8 p.m. Wednesday, Game Guy.
- "Adventures Through The Looking Glass" art exhibit, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday-Friday, Monday and Tuesday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Urban Designs in Aggieville.
- "The Best Man," 8 p.m. Thursday-Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday, Manhattan Arts Center.
- Renaissance Festival, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, Bonner Springs, Kan.

If you know of upcoming events in and around Manhattan, e-mail them to arts@spub.ksu.edu.

'GENTLEMEN' of Drama

PHOTOS BY MATT STAMEY/Collegian

ABOVE: Alyson Schacherer, who plays the part of Julia in the play "Two Gentlemen of Verona," reacts to a love letter torn up by her companion, Lucetta. LEFT: Speed, played by Garrett Gottschalk, talks to Proteus, played by Ben Hensley, in the play "Two Gentlemen of Verona." The play runs Thursday-Saturday and Oct. 11-14 in Nichols Theatre.

Multiple roles provide actors with experience

By SARAH MCCAFFREY
Kansas State Collegian

An ancient tale of comedy and love is getting ready to take over the stage of Nichols Theatre.

"Two Gentlemen of Verona" by William Shakespeare will be performed by a student cast at 8 p.m. Thursday-Saturday and Oct. 11-14.

Following Shakespearian tradition, the play will be performed by a cast of 10 students covering 17 roles.

Many Shakespearian drama companies would have their actors take on several roles or characters for each performance, director Lew Shelton said.

"It enables the growth of the actors," he said.

Shelton said he chose to bring "Two Gentlemen of Verona" to the K-State community because of the opportunities it offered actors.

"We thought it would be a good opportunity to get younger actors on stage," he said.

The play consists of numerous comedic monologues and dialogues between characters. Shelton said many of the scenes have nothing to do with the main plot, which adds to the comedic value of the production.

TICKET INFO
Tickets are $6 for students and seniors and $9 for the general public. Tickets are on sale at the McCain box office from noon to 6 p.m. Groups of 15 or more receive a $1 discount.

He said the costumes also add to the slapstick feel of the production by combining different historical periods to achieve a comedic effect.

"We want a costume that says something about the character," Shelton said.

"The costumes are a mix of periods. We have period pieces and modern pieces."

Although the play is presented in Shakespearian language, Shelton said he doesn't think students will have a hard time following the plot.

"It's pretty straightforward," he said. "It takes a moment to get acclimated."

Shelton also coaches his actors to go slower and be precise with the speech at the beginning of the play to help introduce viewers to the language.

Aubrey Kershner, interim director of marketing for theater, said students should enjoy the performance.

"I'm really excited about the show," she said. "Although it's extremely ancient, it's still modern and applicable to the times."

Dance group to teach workshops, perform

By CHELSEA SCHMIDT
Kansas State Collegian

Students have the opportunity to get up close and personal with a professional dance group this week as part of the McCain Performance Series.

The Mark Morris Dance Group is working with K-State students in residency workshops Thursday and Friday and will present a question-and-answer session and give a live performance Friday in McCain Auditorium.

"His work is the cutting edge of dance theater," said Thom Jackson, marketing and development officer of McCain Auditorium.

Morris' visit begins with residency activities Thursday, which include teaching 11 classes in a 48-hour period. The classes range from beginning level to advanced in ballet, modern and jazz.

"It's a huge benefit to have an actual touring company coming in to talk about what it's like to work as a professional," Elizabeth Moran, director of dance, said.

The dance group will be providing one-on-one classes with the dance students, but these sessions also will be available to other K-State students depending on capacity. Moran said she encourages people to come in and observe, if nothing else.

She said she hopes her students gain insight from what the dance company brings and displays.

"My hope is many-fold," she said. "It's always good for them to see what is out there on a professional level. It gives a prospective of what we are working toward."

In addition to these hands-on activities, Morris will be available for a question-and-answer session at noon Friday in Nichols Theatre.

"It's a rare opportunity," Moran said. "Morris is quite an interesting and innovative choreographer who has been universally praised."

The performance Friday at 8 p.m. will feature dances choreographed by Morris in a variety of ways.

"The work is accessible," Richard Martin, director of McCain, said. "You don't have to have a degree in dance to understand what they do."

And, Moran said, the style is different than any other she's ever seen.

"He has a very shrewd sense of showmanship," she said. "It's part of what makes him exciting and intriguing. The musicality of his dancing is amazing. He's connected to the classical world, and he'll take a regular classical dance and turn it into something outrageous."

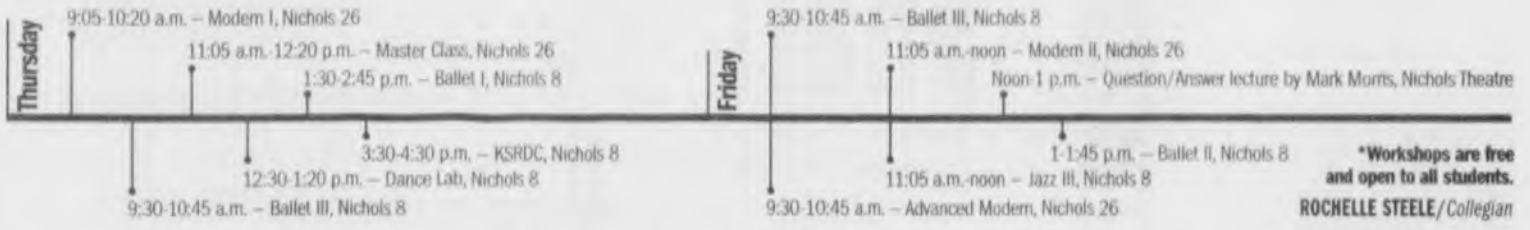
TICKET INFO
Admission is $32 or $28 for the public, $30 or $26 for seniors and $16 or $14 for students and children.

Martin, who said he really enjoys the dance group, has attended a number of its performances, and said each time he goes, he gains something different from the experience.

"How can you describe something like a dance?" Martin said. "It's the pure pleasure of seeing people move incredibly well through space."

Martin said the dancers in this professional group are unlike the stereotypical idea of dancers.

"These guys look more like the average person than like the cookie cutter image of a dancer," he said.



Jackson said he encourages students and community members to attend the event.

"To give you a visual, they did a variation of the Nutcracker by taking the Nutcracker Suite and putting it into a 1960s dysfunctional family," Jackson said. "It's that kind of genius he is."

Martin said he also encourages everyone to attend the performance Friday night.

"It is really worth the investment and the time," he said. "He's unusual, but does not ask you to bring a lot of baggage — just a curiosity and interest."

Residency workshops

*Workshops are free and open to all students.

ROCHELLE STEELE/Collegian

THE GONGFARMER

BY RANDY REGIER

Monkey Boy

BY BRENT ENGSTROM – MONKEYBOYCOMIC@HOTMAIL.COM

DEBATE

■ continued from page 1

"dramatically" bigger government with 200 "new or expanded programs" and 20,000 new bureaucrats.

"It empowers Washington," added the governor, who hastened to tell a national viewing audience he was from West Texas — not the nation's capital. Over and over, he accused Gore of "fuzzy math."

Gore and Bush met for the first of three presidential debates over the next two weeks, each man seeking advantage in a race so close that poll after poll shows them within a point or two of one another.

Their vice presidential running mates, Democrat Joseph Lieberman and Republican Dick Cheney, debate Thursday in Kentucky.

Jim Lehrer of PBS was moderator, operating under strict rules negotiated in advance by the Gore and Bush camps. It was, he said at the outset, the first of three 90-minute debates between the two main party rivals.

In a reprise of his acceptance speech at this summer's Democratic National Convention, Gore said it was important to stand up to special interests, pharmaceutical companies among them.

"Big drug companies support Governor Bush's prescription drug proposal," he said. "They oppose mine."

ELECTIONS 2000

Bush made a sour face when he heard that, and in his next breath offered a swift rebuttal.

"I've been standing up to Big Hollywood and Big Trial Lawyers," he shot back, mentioning two groups that have lavished campaign donations on Gore and Democrats.

Each man came equipped with a refrain.

For Bush, it was the accusation that Gore was practicing "fuzzy math" with his attacks, sometimes rendered as "fuzzy Washington math."

For Gore, it was a loud, audible sigh, meant to convey profound skepticism over Bush's claims about the economy, prescription drugs and other issues.

The criticism grew sharper in the debate's closing moments, when Bush criticized Gore over the fund-raising scandals of the Clinton era. He mentioned Gore's controversial visit to a Buddhist temple, where robed priests later made donations, and said Gore needed to take responsibility for what went on in the White House.

"I believe they've moved that sign, 'The Buck Stops Here,' from the Oval Office desk to the Lincoln Bedroom, and that's not right," Bush said.

Asked about a recent FDA decision approving the use of the abortion pill RU-486, Bush said, "I don't think a president can" overturn such a decision. He then restated his willingness to sign legislation banning so-called "partial birth abortions," and said Gore wouldn't.

Gore said he would ban such late-term procedures, but only if the legislation included exemptions to protect the life or health of the woman, the position Clinton has taken in vetoing two bills on the subject from the Republican-controlled Congress.

Eager to regain the offensive on a volatile issue, Gore said Bush would appoint justices to the Supreme Court who would overturn a 1973 ruling that legalized a right to abortion.

"I support a woman's right to choose. My opponent does not," he said.

On the first foreign policy issue to come up, Gore and Bush agreed they would not use force to try and remove Slobodan Milosevic from power in Yugoslavia, even though they agreed he had been defeated in recent elections and should give up power.

Gore pounced on Bush's suggestion that the Russians "have a lot of sway" in Yugoslavia and might be able to convince Milosevic to leave office. Russian President Vladimir Putin invited Milosevic and the winner of the Sept. 24 election to Moscow for talks to resolve the dispute. But Gore said Putin's unwillingness to recognize the election results was troubling.

"I'm not sure that it's right for us to invite the president of Russia to mediate this dispute there, because we might not like the result that comes out of that."

Asked about energy policy, Gore attacked Bush for proposing oil drilling in the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge.

Bush said such domestic oil exploration was preferable to continuing to import a million barrels of oil a day from Iraq's Saddam Hussein.

call the fourum at 395-4444

Haynes West Welcomes...
Denice Hatfield
Hair Stylist
Specializing in current trends

Specials on Aveda, Redkin, & Biolage
Haynes West
2815 Anderson
785-539-2929
Haynes Aggieville
785-539-5512

SCOREBOARD
WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY NIGHT
$1 NIGHT
Seagrams, All domestic bottles
Calls - Captain, Quervo, etc.
Fries, Burgers, Tots
All for a buck!
$1.50 Micro & Import Bottles - Corona, Heineken, Newcastle, etc.
$2.00 Premiums - Crown, Sapphire, Absolut
1119 Moro • 776-7714 • Open at 5:00 p.m.
SCOREBOARD

Intersession 2001
30th Anniversary
LOOK to the WEB!
May/August
Call for Proposals from Instructors
due November 15, 2000
Available Online
dce.ksu.edu/dce/intersession
For information, check with your Dean's Office or call (785) 532-5687 or (1-800-622-2578)
DCE K-STATE

toss 'em?
Sure. They're ACUVUE,
so you wear them for up to a week
then replace them with a fresh, new pair.
And at only $19.95 a six pack*
you won't even shed a tear
as you wave goodbye!
* 6 lens disposable Contact Lens Multi-Pak. Exam & fitting fees not included in price
The EyeDoctors Optometrists
DR.S PRICE YOUNG ODLE HORSCH PA AND ASSOCIATES
(785) 537-1118
3012 Anderson - Manhattan

BOOK YOUR SPRING BREAK NOW!
Cancun From $539.00 (Mexico)
Montego Bay From $589.00 (Jamaica)
Negril From $609.00 (Jamaica)
All rates based on quad bedding
NO ADD-ONS!
Prices include all taxes, flight surcharges, and handling fees!
Round Trip Airfare
Airport / Hotel Transfers
7 nights Hotel Room Accommodations
On Location Resort Staff
Daily Parties
Optional Meal Plan
AAA Travel
1203 Westloop Pl. Manhattan 776-3131 1-800 579-9470

"3 out of every 10 new business owners are under the age of 30"
–Investor's Business Daily
If you want to start your own business ...
The Rudd Family Entrepreneurial Fund would like to invest in you and your business plan.
All KSU students are eligible to apply to receive up to $250,000 in seed capital to begin a new venture of their own.
Applications and business ideas are being accepted now.
For more information call: Dr. Brian Niehoff, Rudd Fellow 785-532-4359 • niehoff@ksu.edu • www.ruddfoundation.org

NOW ON SALE
2000-2001 Campus Phone book
Students and General Public copies can be purchase in Kedzie 103
Call 532-6555 for more information

Union Program Council Events
Showing This Week
Shaft
Friday 10/6
And
Saturday 10/7
7:00 & 9:30 pm
$1.75
Sunday 10/8
8:00 pm
$1.00
K-State Student Union Forum Hall
Weekly Wind-down
Live Comedian!
FEATURING
Erik Passoja
Thursday, October 5
8:00 pm
K-State Student Union Union Station
Lunchtime Lounge with the KSU Jazz Quartet
Wednesday, October 4
Noon - 1 pm
Union Courtyard
College Bowl
Saturday, October 7
Sign up your team in the UPC office
Student Art Show Exhibit
10/9 through 10/20
$3 Per Entry
Sign up in UPC office until 10/6
Henry Holden Lecture
"Maximizing Disability Awareness On Campus"
Tuesday, October 10
7:00 pm Forum Hall
For Event and Membership Information:
Visit Us! 3rd Floor K-State Student Union!
Call Us! 532-6571
Visit us Online! www.ksu.edu/events

CLASSIFIEDS

LET'S RENT

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FALL LEASING available! Call now! Fully furnished, washer/ dryer, fully equipped kitchen, alarm systems, computer lab, copier, and fax availability, fitness center/ rec room, swimming pool, reserved parking, tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. University Commons Apartments, 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

EXCELLENT TWO-BEDROOM one block from campus. $550 per month, water/ trash paid. 341-4496.

LET US HELP you find a place to live. We may have what you need. No dogs. Leave message, 537-8389.

STUDIO $405 Winston Place Apartments. (785)539-9339.

VERY NICE two-bedroom with air-conditioning. NEWLY REDECORATED, clean, quiet, convenient location. Heat, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. 537-8389.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

CAMPUS FIVE BLOCKS. Very large two-bedroom with air-conditioning. Clean, quiet location. Electric, gas, water, trash paid. No dogs. 537-8389.

ADVERTISE YOUR SUBLEASE IN THE LET'S RENT SECTION. 103 Kedzie • 532-6555

115 Rooms Available

FIRST MONTH'S RENT FREE. Room available now in four-bedroom house. Pets allowed, two bathrooms, utilities shared four ways. 1207 Houston. $300/ month. (785)770-9484.

120 For Rent- Houses

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, close to campus, newly remodeled, CENTRAL AIR, two bath, washer/ dryer. 770-7230, 539-1713.

TWO STORY BRICK, very large, three- four-bedroom, two baths, central air, laundry hook-ups, quiet location, fenced yard, parking. 537-8389.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom basement apartment one block from campus. Includes washer/ dryer, dishwasher, and private parking. $210/ month. (785)537-1995.

150 Sublease

CLOSE TO CAMPUS! A very spacious one-bedroom basement apartment in a nice house. Rent: $340 a month. You only pay for electricty, phone and cable! October's rent free! 323-0459.

310 Help Wanted

CIVIL ENGINEERING graduate teaching assistant for part-time instruction at KSU at Salina. Knowledge of KDOT Soils, Aggregate, and Concrete lab techniques a plus. Send letter of inquiry and resume to: CIT2 Program, 2310 Centennial Rd., TAC Building, Suite 119, Salina, KS 67401. Application deadline October 15.

CUSTOMER SERVICE, a perfect match. If you have 15-75 pounds to lose, we pay you. 877-345-7179

EQUIPMENT OPERATORS, CDL Drivers, Laborers. Join Kansas' fastest growing No.1 team in the sediment & erosion control industry. We're looking for experienced and entry level individuals with mechanical aptitude, full and part-time. You'll enjoy great pay while working with a great team which rewards professionalism, while having fun operating state of the art equipment. We will train the right person. We promote from within. EOE. Please Call Jim at Homestead Enterprises, (316)983-2957.

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. Info 1-504-646-1700 Dept. KS-6438.

LANDSCAPING POSITIONS. Full-time M- F. Apply in person at Horticultural Services Inc, 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (785)494-2418 or (785)776-0397.

PROGRAMMER- NETWORKS Plus, the leader in providing business technology services, has openings for programmers in Manhattan. Two or more years proven experience in Visual Basic or Microsoft SQL is required, project management experience is preferred. All new hires are required to obtain Microsoft Certified Solution Developer status within 90 days of employment. $70,000-$90,000- plus health, 401(k), vacation and company paid training. E-mail resume to jobs@networksplus.com in Microsoft Word or Text format.

RAMADA PLAZA Hotel Work With Winners! We want smiling people committed to providing Personal Best Hospitality. Hiring Room Attendants, Houseman, Laundry Attendant, Full Time. $6.50 PER HOUR 401k, meals, travel discounts, bonus's and more in a fun environment. Ramada Plaza Hotel, 1641 Anderson Avenue. E.O.E.

RAMADA PLAZA Hotel, Work With Winners! We want smiling people committed to providing Personal Best Hospitality. Hiring Room Attendents for Saturday and Sundays, $6.50 PER HOUR. Meals, travel discounts, bonus's and more in a fun environment. Ramada Plaza Hotel, 1641 Anderson Avenue. E.O.E.

Spring Break Reps needed to promote campus trips. Earn easy money and travel free! All materials provided free. We train you. Work on you own time. Call 1-800-367-1252 or www.springbreakdirect.com

STUDENT REPS Wanted! Organize students for Spring Break. Earn cash or travel FREE! Call for details. 1-800-942-7479. www.usaspringbreak.com

TUTOR NEEDED for biochemistry (CHEM 265). Please call 770-8186.

310 Help Wanted

Spring Break 2001
Jamaica, Cancun, Florida, Barbados, Bahamas.
Now hiring campus reps. Earn 2 fee trips. Free Meals. Books by Nov. 2nd. Call for FREE info pack or visit online sunsplashtours.com
1-800-426-7710

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

400 open market

410 Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. Open 12-5p.m. Closed Sundays Mondays. 539-4684.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS Camouflage clothing (including PURPLE) field jackets- Boots sleeping bags- overshoes, hunting wear. Also CARHARTT workwear. Open Mon.- Fri., 9- 5:30; Sat. 9- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS 66536. (785)437-2734.

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

OAK DESK, $300; Bridgestone bike, $300; speakers, $50 each; window ale, $200; vintage Singer Sewing Machine, excellent condition, $100. 776-1032.

435 Computers

PRE-OWNED LAPTOPS, in excellent condition, starting at just $399.95!!! NorthStar Solutions: 1800 Claflin Rd., #160 (near campus at the corner of Claflin and Denison).

450 Pets and Supplies

COMPLETE 55 gallon set up. First $200 takes all. 537-4724.

460 Electronic Equipment

SONY, KENWOOD, JBL, Technics, Bose, etc. Stereo and Surround. Quality used equipment, bought and sold. Call Mike (785)565-0517.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOR SALE: ICAT KSU vs. Nebraska ticket. Best offer. 395-3523.

WANTED: FOUR reserved tickets for Oklahoma game. Call (785)776-3554.

500 transportation

510 Automobiles

1987 DODGE 600, four-door, automatic, air-conditioned, power steering, good condition, $2000 or best offer. Call (785)539-1628.

1988 T-BIRD, two-tone gray, clean, 131K, 27 miles per gallon, $1600 or best offer. 587-9201.

1991 MAZDA Protege. Power, manual, four-door. 132K $2150 negotiable. 1993 Mazda 626 automatic, loaded, 115K, four-door $4150 negotiable. Call 770-9218.

1997 DODGE Caravan Sport. 60K, excellent condition, power everything. Must sell. $14,700 or best offer. (785)762-2429. Leave message.

1999 FORD Mustang. Excellent condition. 11,000 miles, lots of extras. 770-9820 after 5. Leave message.

EXCELLENT TOWN car with low mileage, low gas, low price and cinch to park. 1994 Geo Metro, automatic transmission only, 37,000 miles $3500, (785)539-1956, evenings.

530 Motorcycles

1981 HONDA CB650, red, good tires, runs great $850 or best offer. Also, 1978 CX500 electrical problems, lots of spare parts, $250. jce6619@ksu.edu or 776-3757, ask for Jon.

2000 HARLEY Davidson, FXDWG, purple, 250 miles, $20,000. (972)396-7035.

2000 YAMAHA R-6. Mint. V and H pipe, jetted, tinted windshield, new rear 190, two Shoei helmets. 3.5K. $7200. 537-8381

600 travel/ trips

610 Tour Package

WINTER SKI TRIPS Steamboat CO January 8-15, 2001 3/4/5/6 or 7 nights 1•800•SUNCHASE steamboat.skitripusa.com

we kick ads. CLASSIFIEDS • 532-6555

630 Spring Break

#1 SPRING Break Vacations! Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas and Florida. Earn cash and go free! Now hiring campus reps. 1-800-234-7007 endlesssummertours.com

ACT NOW! Guarantee the best SPRING BREAK PRICES! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida and Mardigras. Reps needed... Travel free, earn $$$. GROUP DISCOUNTS FOR SIX+. (800)838-8203/ www.leisuretours.com

GO DIRECT= $avings! #1 Internet-based Spring Break company offering WHOLESALE Spring Break packages (no middlemen)! Zero traveler complaints registered against us last year! ALL destinations. Lowest price guarantee! 1-800-367-1252 www.springbreakdirect.com

MAZATLAN AND CANCUN. Airfare, seven nights hotel, transfers. Early Sign-up includes FREE meals and FREE drinks. Best quality and most reliable student travel group since 1976. Organize 15 to travel FREE! Call 1-800-942-7479. www.usaspringbreak.com

SPRING BREAK! Deluxe hotels, reliable air, free food, drinks and parties! Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Mazatlan and Florida. Travel Free and Earn Cash! Do it on the Web! Go to StudentCity.com or call (800)293-1443 for info.

SPRING BREAK!!! Cancun, Mazatlan, Bahamas, Jamaica & Florida. Call Sunbreak Student Vacations for info on going free and earning cash. Call 1(800)446-8355 or email sales@sunbreaks.com

NOBODY DOES BREAKS BETTER! WINTER SKI TRIPS January 8-15, 2001 Steamboat CO Breckenridge CO Vail CO Aspen CO Winter Park CO Voted #1 Feb 24-Mar 31, 2001 SPRING BEACH TRIPS Panama City FL South Padre TX Daytona Beach FL Destin FL Hilton Head SC Best Prices $ Feb 25-Apr 1, 2001 SPRING SKI TRIPS Steamboat CO Breckenridge CO www.sunchase.com 1•800•SUNCHASE

WANTED! SPRING BREAKERS! Cancun, Bahamas, Florida, Jamaica & Mazatlan. Call Sun Coast Vacationers for a free brochure and ask how you can organize a small group and Eat, Drink, Travel Free and Earn Cash! Call (888)777-4642 or email sales@suncoastvacations.com

000 bulletin board

010 Announcements

"LEARN TO FLY!" K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information, call (785)456-2795, www.ksu.edu/kstc

COMPUTER AIDED Drafting. Learn utility functions, layers, blocks, and standard drawing prototypes in Beginning-CAD. Intermediate-CAD expands to 3-D applications. Fall evening classes in cutting edge lab. Beginning CAD, $76, October 16- November 16 and Intermediate CAD, $76, October 16- November 16. Enrollment is limited. Call Manhattan Area Technical College, 587-2800.

020 Lost and Found

Lost and found ads can be placed free for three days.

FOUND BLACK CD holder on Manhattan Ave. Call Laura at 532-5712

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

100 housing/ real estate

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

Come home to relax in comfort
•Cambridge Square
•Sandstone Apts.
•Fireplaces •Carports
•Pool •Private Deck
•Laundry Facilities
•Large 2-bedroom Units
Call TODAY!!!
537-9064
Weekdays 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Showings by appointment

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

BRAND NEW three-bedroom/ three bathroom apartment, available now, washer/ dryer included, close to campus and Aggieville. Call MDI 776-3804.

DOES $350/ month sound better than what you're paying for rent? Assume my loan and own a three-bedroom, two bath, three year old mobile home by Tuttle Creek River Pond. Call (785)776-5619, leave name and number and I'll return your call.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, in four-plex, available now. 2110 Elm, $475/ month. Water and trash paid. Washer/ dryer hookups. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

145 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for large house near campus. Large bedroom, two baths, central air, washer/ dryer, $270 plus one-fourth utilities. 776-0352.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted $267.50/ month. Close to campus and Aggieville. Fun, relaxed environment. Call Alexandra, (913)262-0212.

FOUR BLOCKS from campus, $200/ month. Utilities split six ways, washer/ dryer. 537-2374.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for nice furnished two-bedroom, two bath, dishwasher, washer/ dryer, private deck. Tenant needed $325/ month. 537-8226.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house- one block west of stadium. (785)776-7262 for more information.

200 service directory

220 Weight Loss & / Nutrition

Body Wrapping & More
For a slimmer and trimmer you
539-8391

300 employment/ opportunities

310 Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. For info call (203)977-1720.

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!! Looking for part- time dealers. Multi- level market selling Indoor Air Purification Machines. Fun business, good money!!! Call Mitch at (888)814-2893.

DROWNING in your sorrows?
Find your lifesaver in the PERSONALS.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie • 532-6555

Still need a job this fall?
The Collegian needs a carrier who is available Monday-Friday between 6-8 a.m. with a reliable vehicle.
Approximately $310 a month.
Applications available in 103 Kedzie.
Application deadline is Friday, Oct. 6.

Classes starting to get you down?

Don't sweat it! Find a tutor in the Collegian's classifieds.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie 532-6555

400 open market

500 transportation

600 travel/ trips

Kansas State University
STOP SURFING!!!
DO YOUR SEARCHING IN
THE 2000-2001 CAMPUS PHONE BOOK
with email
GET YOUR COPY NOW
AVAILABLE IN KEDZIE 103 THROUGH OUT THE YEAR

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.85
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.90
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.90
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

TO PLACE AN AD

Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS

As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES

For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 bulletin board
100 housing/ real estate
200 service directory
300 employment/ opportunities
400 open market
500 transportation
600 travel/ trips

Protestors arrested at Boston debate

By STEVE LeBLANC
The Associated Press

BOSTON — Thousands of protesters gathered at the presidential debate Tuesday, championing issues like campaign finance reform to be included in the matchup between Democrat Al Gore and Republican George W. Bush.

At least a half dozen people were arrested and one person was taken into custody for drunkenness, police said. Dozens of protesters knocked over police barricades and sat down — arms linked — in a road leading to the debate hall at the University of Massachusetts. They chanted "Open the debate."

Officers dragged away some protesters while other officers on horseback tried to dispel the crowd. Some protesters threw items left in the street at the officers.

The incident followed a brief tug-of-war over the metal barriers between police and protesters, who shouted to officers, "We are nonviolent, how about you?"

Demonstrators from all points on the political spectrum were represented. Anti-death penalty advocates mingled with people protesting China's treatment of the Falun Gong spiritual movement. People calling for manned missions to Mars were near a group of Palestinians decrying Israeli military action.

At the debate, witnesses said a man wearing a Gore T-shirt turned from an argument between supporters of Gore and Green Party candidate Ralph Nader, grabbed a 3-foot wooden cross from a man holding it and broke it over the man's head.

"He grabbed it right out of my hand and cracked it right over my head. I was in shock," said Scott Langley, 23, of Cambridge, who said he was holding the cross in memory of death row inmates executed in Texas under Bush.

A chain of Gore backers stopped Nader supporters as they tried to move closer to the main building, and some talked of hostility between the two sides.

"I got the feeling they were standing there strictly to pick a fight," said Nader supporter Thomas Leaf.

DEBATEWATCH

■ continued from page 1

was taxes, and where they would put that money," Heathcock said. "I also really liked the energy discussion, myself being an environmentalist. The example of using Alaska was interesting."

The audience also discussed the absence of Bill Clinton's name in the debate, Bush's comments about democratic fund-raising and the attacking of violence in movies by a Hollywood-supported Gore.

Marck Nimeehy, exchange student from the Czech Republic, was particularly interested in the candidates discussion of both Yugoslavian President Slobodan Milosevic and the rest of the Balkan area.

"In my opinion, the candidates both displayed a schematic view about Europe," Nimeehy said.

"The political presentation of United States and Europe relations seemed to be unrealistic. The presence of U.S. military right now is very necessary."

Nimeehy said he was disappointed by the first debate.

"When I compare it to the Lazio-Clinton debate, the presidential debate was way too emotional and didn't focus on concrete arguments."

At the end of the discussion, and after many audience members had left, a show of hands indicated that Gore won the debate 12-4.

Proctor said the event went well.

"I thought it went great," Proctor said. "I thought that people were respectful the way they watched and the way they talked with each other."

CENTER

■ continued from page 1

The four cornerstone organizations that have been guaranteed office space in the center are Student Governing Association, Union Program Council, Greek Affairs and multicultural student organizations.

Gayle Spencer, student activities coordinator, said the center should benefit organizations that struggle to keep high numbers and remain active.

"Organizations could become more stable if they utilize the space in the center and have access to storage space," Spencer said. "The other organizations can help the smaller ones if they work closely in the same building."

Business Sen. Ashley Adams said she is concerned students who are not involved in campus organizations will not see the benefit of the center.

"Those who are graduating soon won't see the results of the center, so they don't see how the fee will benefit them," Adams said.

Worcester said students should look at the long-term benefits of a center.

"Students should be willing to commit to the future of K-State and realize what a benefit it would be," Worcester said.

Worcester said he will be working with a student activities planning committee between now and Nov. 2 to get the word out about the center with flyers, brochures and a Web site.

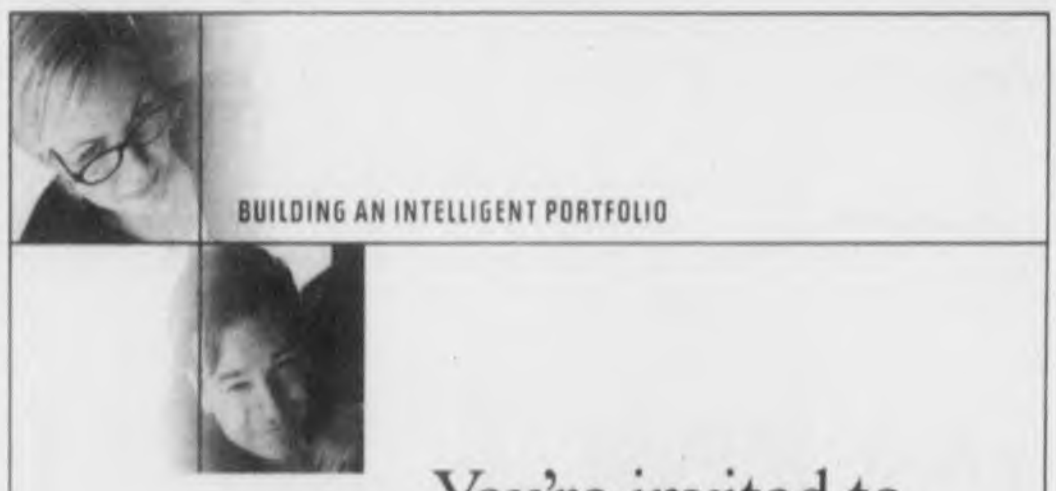
He said he hopes students will realize the center will improve campus life and increase involvement.

"The daily interaction in the center will build communications on campus," Worcester said. "This is the best way we know to build unity on campus."

Claflin Books and Copies
Dependable Quality Service
Word Processing
Across from Goodnow Hall

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
Limited Delivery Area
1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center

OUT OF BOUNDS SPORTS BAR & GRILL
1/2 PRICE WEDNESDAY!
All appetizers 1/2 off
5-7 p.m.
great drink specials
Wells $1.50
Premiums $1.75
(for Example: Jack Daniels, Captian Morgan)
Domestic Bottles $1.25
Micro & Import Bottles $1.50
NO COVER
DRAWS PINT
Domestic $1
Boulebard $1.50
TOMORROW NIGHT
10¢ WINGS dine-in only
$2 Captain Morgan
$2 Parrot Bay
$2 Captain Morgan Silver



Congratulations New Initiates

love,
your Kappa Sisters

PIT STOP AUTOMOTIVE
WINTER SPECIALS
• Tune-Ups • Brakes
• Exhaust • Shocks
OIL CHANGE (Up to 5 qts.) $12.95
TRANSMISSION Flush complete fluid exchange $79.95
Coolant Exchange with New Antifreeze $59.95
4 WHEEL COMPUTER ROTATION AND BALANCE $29.95
Includes free brake inspection for cars and light trucks
(By appointment)
MOST CARS
Wilbur Hunter-ASE & Ford Certified 42 Years Experience
1629 FAIRLANE • MANHATTAN • 785-539-6650

K-State vs. KU Blood Drive Challenge
GIVE BLOOD TODAY!
Come in to donate and register to win a FREE gift certificate.
K-State Union Rooms K, S, & U
from 10:30 - 4:30
Rec Center from 4:00 - 9:00
This ad sponsored by Pre-Veterinary Medicine Club

BUILDING AN INTELLIGENT PORTFOLIO
Seating is limited.
Sign up today!
You're invited to the TIAA-CREF Financial Education Seminars.

Date: October 3, 4 & 5, 2000
Place: Room 207, Student Union
RSVP: Register on our website or call Teresa Nicholson at 1.800.842.2006

Taking Control of Your Personal Finances
We'll discuss the financial planning process and will focus on wealth accumulation and preservation, general information on estate planning, preservation and distribution.
Date & Time: October 3, 10:30 am
October 5, 1:00 pm

One-on-one Counseling
A TIAA-CREF Consultant will be on hand to provide free one-on-one counseling sessions, so you can get the personalized financial guidance you need to help you reach your investment goals.

Please attend the Kansas State Benefits Fair on October 4, 2000.

TIAA CREF Ensuring the future for those who shape it.™
1.800.842.2006
www.tiaa-cref.org/moc

For more complete information on our securities products, please call 1.800.842.2733, ext. 5509, to request prospectuses. Read them carefully before you invest. • TIAA-CREF Individual and Institutional Services, Inc. distributes the CREF and TIAA Real Estate variable annuities. • Teachers Personal Investors Services, Inc. distributes the Personal Annuities variable annuity component, mutual funds and tuition savings agreements. • TIAA and TIAA-CREF Life Insurance Co., New York, NY, issue insurance and annuities. • TIAA-CREF Trust Company, FSB provides trust services. • Investment products are not FDIC insured, may lose value and are not bank guaranteed. © 2000 TIAA-CREF 08/03

Deliver the latest!
OPEN LATE! GUMBY'S Pizza & Pub OPEN LATE!
702 N. 11th Street
770-3333
Sunday 11a.m. - 2 a.m.
Mon. - Wed. 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.
Thur. - Sat. 11a.m. - 3:30 a.m.
Checks add 50¢
770-3333 Fast Delivery, Dine-In, Carry-Out
JAYHAWK HATER
Two Large 14" 2-Topping Pizzas for $12.99
Additional Toppings $1.00 per pizza
CARRY-OUT SPECIALS
16" 1-Topping $6.99
14" 1-Topping $5.99
BONUS BUYS MENU with any food purchase
• 10 Wings...ONLY $3.99
• Medium Pokey Stix ONLY $3.99
• 4 Pepperoni Rolls...ONLY$2.99
THE BIG ASS
One 20" Massive 1-Topping Pizza $10.99
2 for $19.99
Additional Toppings $1.30 per pizza
EVERY PIZZA GETS A FREE RANCH • EVERY MONDAY IS DOUBLE RANCH DAY!

TODAY'S WEATHER
HIGH 60 ■ LOW 38
THURSDAY

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Oct. 5, 2000 ■ Kansas State University ■ Manhattan, Kan. ■ Volume 105, Number 33

Sub. Exp. Date: --/--
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Wildcats sweep Hawks at Ahearn

■ page 6

Overseas incident leads to local cult concerns

Matt Carter, campus minister, said there are defining characteristics of the group that make the church very attractive to students searching for an intense spiritual experience. He said they typically use methods such as love-bombing, in which everyone instantly is your new best friend.

By MICHELLE BERTUGLIA
Kansas State Collegian

Four students simply were looking for a Christian church to attend while volunteering in Iman, Jordan, for the summer, but in their search they found a group that shook up their lives.

The students, Jenn Lindberg, junior in speech pathology; Katie Scheer, senior in biology; Aaron Timmons, junior in industrial engineering; and Kris Meiergerd, senior in animal science and industry, found a church, the International Church of Christ of Iman, Jordan.

After what the students described as a few intense meetings with the group, they realized this was not a church they wanted to belong to.

"We went to a church service in a rented-out apartment. There were about 50 people there," Scheer said. "One woman approached me and asked me to just meet and talk with her, but the meeting turned out to be a really intense Bible study."

Three of the four students were approached by a member of the church and asked to meet outside of the church. Scheer said after her first meeting with the church she pushed to meet again for another Bible study the next day.

After the intense meetings, Scheer said she felt uneasy about the group. Then while thinking about the group and their mannerisms, everything clicked for Scheer, she said.

This church was a subsidiary of the International Church of Christ, a church she had heard warnings of while in Manhattan.

The ICC is a fast-growing church, with subsidiaries around the world. The church usually is found in college towns and large cities. Carla Jones, director of student life, said some would call it a group with cult-like tendencies.

The ICC has a member church here. The subsidiary, Manhattan Christian Church, has been here for a year, and the arrival of this group has caused concern among some K-State faculty and students.

"As the coordinator of religious activities, I am concerned about the reported cult-like methods used by the ICC which may be harmful to our K-State community," Don Fallon, coordinator of religious

See CHURCH on PAGE 5

Presidential debate not expected to sway voters

■ Republican stratigists assert Bush held ground; Democratic supporters say Gore triumphed.

By TOM RAUM
The Associated Press

BOSTON — George W. Bush partisans insist he was the clear victor. Al Gore supporters say he had the upper hand. And undecided voters might be inclined to remain that way, at least for now.

Both sides suggest Tuesday's first presidential debate seems unlikely to sway large numbers of undecided voters in what is shaping up as the closest race in a generation.

Instead, the 90-minute session, in which Republican Bush and Democrat Gore debated their central campaign proposals, sometimes in numbing detail, tended to reinforce the views of those who already had made up their minds, strategists in both parties suggest.

Lacking a big gaffe by either candidate, or any defining moment, the race appears likely to remain excruciatingly close.

"Do I think this is going to move big numbers? No, I don't," Gore campaign manager William Daley said. "But I do think it will make it more difficult for Bush to make up the ground" needed to overtake the Democratic nominee.

Karl Rove, Bush's chief strategist, agreed that he didn't see any major shift in sentiment.

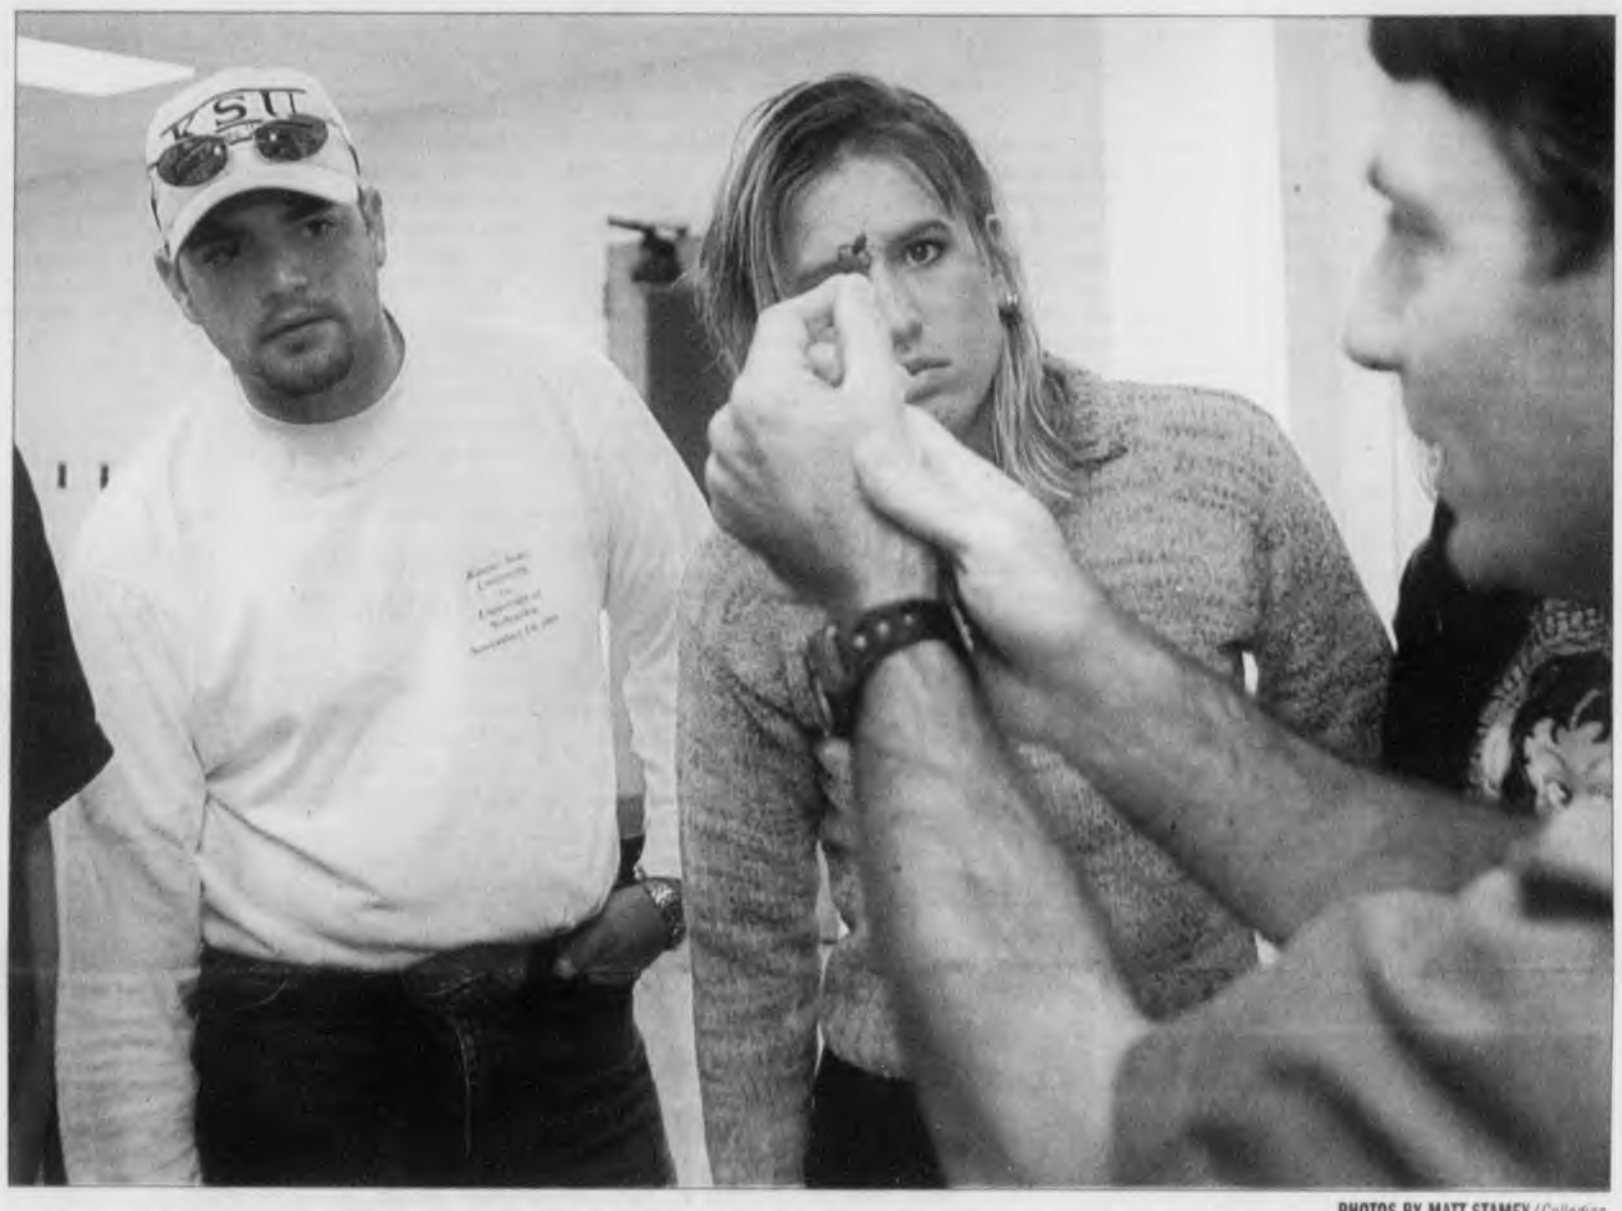
"It will have small effect on the outcome," he said. However, Rove suggested there would be a cumulative effect that he predicted would boost his candidate in the end.

"The voters who were up for grabs before the debate are still up for grabs," suggested GOP pollster Frank Luntz.

The two candidates, dressed alike in dark suit, white shirt and red tie, both accomplished what aides said they needed to.

Bush strategists said he demonstrated a command of the issues and a presidential bearing — and held his own against a far more experienced debater.

Gore backers said he successfully offered details of his programs, contrasted them with Bush's, and portrayed his agenda as one mostly benefiting the working class.



In sometimes testy exchanges, Gore and Bush debated details of their rival proposals for tax relief, Medicare overhaul, Social Security and prescription drug coverage for seniors.

Vice President Gore repeatedly criticized Bush's $1.3 trillion 10-year tax cut.

See DEBATE on PAGE 5

511 PINTS
Battle for BLOOD

The blood drive continues from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. today through Friday in the K-State Student Union. Putnam Hall will be the site of a residence hall blood drive from 1 to 7 p.m. today. The goal for the drive is 875 pints.

PHOTOS BY MATT STAMEY/Collegian

Tom Watson, senior in agricultural technology management, and Crystal Gonzalez, senior in animal science, look at the wings of an insect during their entomology 250 class. Greg Zolnerowich, professor of the class, says there are over 200 million insects for every one person on earth. BELOW: Greg Zolnerowich, assistant professor of entomology, points out the underside of an insect to his Entomology 250 class. This class has only been offered to K-State students for three semesters.

CREEPY CRAWLY CLASS

Entomology course offers opportunity to gain knowledge of insects

By ERIN DEHN
Kansas State Collegian

Students in Entomology 250 are putting away insect repellent and previous perceptions of the creepy crawly and getting a taste of a bug's life.

"A lot of people really aren't aware of how dominant insects are in the world," said Greg Zolnerowich, assistant professor of entomology and instructor of the course.

Approximately 75 percent of animal species are insects. There are about 200 million insects for every person on earth. Thus, the need for insect knowledge exists, Zolnerowich said.

"This course was designed for non-majors to expose them to a wide variety of aspects of entomology, including things like behavior, anatomy and physiology, as well as how they affect our lives," he said.

Entomology 250 is in its third semester as a K-State elective and is taught only in the fall.

Ben Giger, senior in agronomy, enrolled in the class to fulfill a requirement, but said he has enjoyed learning facts and behaviors of a variety of insects.

"It's pretty informational, seeing the different ways insects can affect people," Giger said.

Zolnerowich uses powerpoint presentations, live and preserved visuals, guest lecturers, hands-on projects and videos to familiarize students with lifestyles of the creatures.

"They got to see beetles in Australia try to mate with beer bottles," Zolnerowich said of a video clip the class watched. "I try to keep it fresh and interesting."

Sexual behavior, insects in cinema, insects and medicine and insects as food are among the many topics covered during the course.

Zolnerowich said people consume one to two pounds of insect or insect particles per year.

"So, if you like peanut butter, you're eating a lot of insects because it has a pretty high tolerance for insect fragments," he said.

Government standards exist for how many insect parts or fragments are allowed in food.

"Insects actually compare relatively

See BUGS on PAGE 5

Tickets for Dixie Chicks' Manhattan concert go on sale Friday

By REED DUNN
Kansas State Collegian

Tickets for the Nov. 16 Dixie Chicks concert at Bramlage Coliseum will go on sale at 9 a.m. Friday.

Jim Muller, associate director of Bramlage Coliseum, said officials have been working with the group since May to organize the Manhattan show.

"We're very excited and pleased to be able to bring this level of entertainment to Manhattan," he said. "We know the demand for tickets is going to be extraordinary."

The west side Bramlage lot will be opened at 6 a.m. Friday, and fans will be allowed to enter the coliseum at 7:30 a.m., Muller said. He said the area will be patrolled, and people will be asked to stay clear from the area until the lot opens the morning of ticket sales.

All tickets for the 7:30 p.m. show are reserved and cost $45.50 plus handling fees.

Muller said even though Bramlage is a smaller venue than others on the 70-city Dixie Chicks Fly Tour, ticket prices are the same.

"We do want people in Manhattan to know that is the going rate across the country," he said.

Tickets for the MusicCountry.com-sponsored event are limited to eight per order, and four per order for the first 10 rows on the floor.

Those planning on purchasing tickets at Bramlage can pay by cash, Mastercard or Visa or with a personal check with purchaser's ID.

Nicki Hedman, freshman in open-option, said she and her friends are planning a 6 a.m. trip to Bramlage to purchase tickets for the show.

"It's fun to go out and wait," she said. "It gets you pumped up for the concert."

Even though Hedman has never seen the Dixie Chicks live, she has seen them perform on television awards shows. She said she is excited to see how the group works not only as singers, but as instrumentalists.

"They're really enthusiastic and they get into the music," Hedman said. "They have a unique sound, and their songs have a lot of meaning."

MORE INFO

When: 7:30 p.m. Nov. 16
Tickets: $45.50 plus handling fees
Available where: Bramlage box office, the Ticketmaster outlet at the K-State Student Union bookstore, www.ticketmaster.com or by calling (785) 234-4545.

CONTACT US

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief
532-0729 rdunn@collegianmail.com

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor
532-0729 tehmke@collegianmail.com

Steve Dearinger Photo Editor
532-5492 sdearinger@collegianmail.com

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor
532-0730 jbarrett@collegianmail.com

Sarah Bahari City & Government Editor
532-0730 sbahari@collegianmail.com

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor
532-0732 kdymacek@collegianmail.com

Derek Boss Sports Editor
532-0732 dboss@collegianmail.com

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor
532-0732 eschneweis@collegianmail.com

Ken Wells Online Editor
532-6556 kwells@collegianmail.com

Becky Wilson Copy Chief
532-0732 bwilson@collegianmail.com

Sara Martin Design Editor
532-0731 smartin@collegianmail.com

Jim Calvert Ad Manager
532-6560 jimcalvert@collegianmail.com

Alissa Duncan Assistant Ad Manager
532-6560 aduncan@collegianmail.com

Molly Brammer Online Ad Manager
532-6560 molly@collegianmail.com

BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Display advertising	532-6560
Classified advertising	532-6555
Delivery Problems	532-6555
Photo Reprints	532-6304

BY MAIL
Kansas State Collegian
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

ON THE WEB
www.kstatecollegian.com

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 2000

Speaker in lecture series to address unequal pay

Tonight, the second Lou Douglas Lecture of the semester will address the crisis in American pay.

James K. Galbraith will present his lecture, "Created Unequal: the Crisis in American Pay," at 7:30 p.m. in Union Forum Hall. Galbraith is a professor in the LBJ School of Public Affairs at The University of Texas at Austin.

Olivia Collins, coordinator of Lou Douglas Lecture Series for UFM, said Galbraith was chosen for the lecture because of his extensive work in looking at inequality of income.

"He has studied extensively why wage and inequality is a national crisis and what to do about it," Collins said.

Collins said students should be interested in the lecture because of their preparation to enter the work force and desire to have an adequate income.

She also said Lou Douglas Lectures are beneficial for students because they allow them to go outside the classroom and hear the experts in their field of study address what is important.

"It enhances the classroom work to a real life situation," she said.

The Lou Douglas Lecture Series is celebrating its 20th anniversary of providing the community with free lectures.

The series is named after the late Lou Douglas, a professor of political science at K-State and one of the organizing founders of UFM.

— Michelle Bertuglia

Red Cross honors K-State as leading regional donor

The Red Cross Blood Services of the Central Plains Region has named K-State the college or university sponsor of the year.

The award ceremony took place in Wichita on Wednesday night during the annual Red Cross Blood Services board meeting. Terri Dunaway, blood services community manager, said the award was one of six given to the Red Cross' strongest supporters.

Dunaway said every college or university in the region of Kansas and Northern Oklahoma has a blood drive, but the magnitude of K-State's is unmatched.

"It is a wonderful award for students, faculty and staff to receive," Dunaway said. "It's an award that recognizes great teamwork across the campus."

Stacey Huerter, student coordinator for the blood drive and junior in elementary education, said winning the award is a great honor.

"It shows we have a great blood drive where everyone comes together," Huerter said.

In deciding which school would get the award, the Red Cross Blood Services looked at the key aspects of the blood drive, press, student club participation, off-campus participation and other categories.

Dunaway said K-State has incredible participation on every level.

"The amount of people involved is phenomenal," she said.

This is the first year the Red Cross Blood Services has given awards to its sponsors. Dunaway said they plan to make it a tradition.

"We want K-State to be acknowledged for all they do and have an award to show for it," she said.

— Michelle Bertuglia

Colorado court decision releases sex offenders

DENVER — A court ruling that could free more than 100 Colorado rapists, child molesters and other sex offenders from prison has alarmed victims of sex crimes and sent law enforcement officers scrambling to undo the damage.

Nine inmates were turned loose before Colorado Attorney General Ken Salazar stepped in and halted the releases Saturday. Authorities still were looking for them Wednesday.

"I, frankly, was outraged that this number of offenders could be given the green light to walk without taking as much time as could be taken under the law to make sure victims were notified," Salazar said.

He has asked the state Supreme Court for another hearing to reconsider its Sept. 18 ruling.

The ruling threw out mandatory five-year parole sentences for rapists, child molesters and other sex offenders convicted between 1993 and 1996.

Corrections officials responded by releasing nine inmates and notifying 84 paroled sex offenders they no longer had to attend mandatory therapy sessions or make visits to parole officers.

All but five of those offenders have been notified they are back on parole pending the court fight, John Suthers, Corrections Department Director, said.

If the ruling stands, it could free 112 sex offenders in prison for parole violations and release an additional 170 offenders from parole supervision and mandatory therapy, Suthers said.

An additional 600 offenders could be released from prison without parole once they complete their sentences.

"To release them without supervision is contrary to what society needs and to what they need," Suthers said.

— The Associated Press

CORRECTIONS & CLARIFICATIONS

Corrections and clarifications appear in this space. If you see something that should be corrected, call News Editor Jenn Davoren at 532-6556 or e-mail collegn@ksu.edu.

ON RECORD

Campus Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item in the Campus Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail the news editor at by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Homecoming student organization competition handbooks are available at the Office of Student Activities and Services, located on ground floor of the Union.

■ College Republicans will have a candidate information booth from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. today in the Union, followed by a meeting at 6 tonight in Union 202.

■ Career and Employment Services will conduct a Resume Critique Workshop at 3:30 p.m. today in Holtz Hall.

■ American Indian Science and Engineering Society will meet at 5 p.m. today in Seaton 133.

■ Native American Student Body will meet at 5 p.m. today in Union Stateroom 1.

■ Pre-Physical Therapy Department will meet at 6 tonight in Union 206.

■ Beta Gamma Sigma Business Honorary will meet at 6 tonight at 1910 Montgomery Drive for a guest speaker.

■ The Wildlife Society will meet at 7 tonight in Ackert 221.

■ James K. Galbraith will present his speech "Created Unequal: The Crisis in American Pay" as part of the Lou Douglas Lecture Series at 7:30 tonight in Forum Hall.

■ Students for Environmental Action will meet at 9 tonight in Union Council Chambers.

■ Hillel Jewish Student Organization will meet at 9 tonight at Java Espresso & Bakery in Aggieville.

■ A beginning sign language class will be offered beginning Tuesday, Oct. 10, and will continue through March 13. Classes will meet from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays at the College Heights Baptist Church, 2320 Anderson Avenue. Registration deadline is Oct. 6. For more information, contact instructor Julie Carver at 539-7740 or jycarver@flinthills.com.

■ The K-State Community Service Program is accepting applications for the America Reads-America Counts Tutoring Program. Applicants must have work-study. Tutors work one-on-one with area elementary students in reading and math. For more information, contact Angie at 532-5701 or e-mail ksuserve@ksu.edu.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

Riley County

Tuesday, Oct. 3

■ At 1:08 p.m., Patricia B. Foy, 430 Moro St., was arrested for theft.

■ At 2:01 p.m., Celina Smith, 1425 Yuma St., was arrested for worthless checks. Bond was set at $150.

■ At 2:05 p.m., Daniel A. Munoz, 108 Redbud Estates, was arrested for battery and assault of a law officer.

Wednesday, Oct. 4

■ At 1:49 a.m., Joshua Mueller, 1612 Osage St., was issued a notice to appear for allowing loud and disturbing noise.

■ At 2:53 a.m., Garrett J. Hopkins, 2215 College Ave., Apt. 225, was issued a notice to appear for allowing loud and and disturbing noise.

K-State Police

■ No reports of note were made.

Career FAIR

CONGRATULATIONS

2000 K-State Career Fair Door Prize Winners

ADM
Dustin Hamil — Duffel Bag
AEROTEK
Mary Schroll — Jacket
ANDERSEN CONSULTING
Benjamin Jones — Fleece Blanket
BARTLETT & WEST ENGINEERS
Sreenivasa Poleboyina — Hat
Kris Meiergerd — Hat
Katie Malm — Hat
BHA GROUP HOLDINGS INC
Ryan Robinson — Polo Shirt
BLACK & VEATCH
Renee McDaniel — Portfolio
Sara Keimig — Portfolio
BOEING
Anne Davis — Hat
Nathan Humes — Hat
Kelly Twaddle — Hat
CARGILL
Ben Baffa — Sweat Shirt
Emily Burkindine — Hat/Koozie
Laurie Hadley — T-Shirt
Jesse Haecker — T-Shirt
Kara Jagets — Hat/Koozie
Marjie Norton — Backpack
Abaigail Seim — T-Shirt
CITGO
Ziad Matta — Nylon Bag
CONOCO
Matt Corcoran — Nylon Briefcase
Brariton Ostmeyer — Nylon Briefcase
DEERE & COMPANY
Dustin Eiland — Portfolio
Wendy Dymacek — Toy Tractor
EMPORIA STATE UNIVERSITY
Jeffrey Pelton — T-Shirt
Corey Franlaen — T-Shirt
Greg Mazouch — T-Shirt
Kylie Montague — T-Shirt
Rowida Assalimy — T-Shirt
ENTERPRIZE RENT A CAR
Jess Stuart — Nylon Bag
EPIC LANDSCAPE
Denise McNabb — T-Shirt
EXXON MOBIL
Elizabeth Gregory — Saddlebag Briefcase
FARM CREDIT
Charles Lickteig — Pen
Tiffany Blake — Pen
Jessica Kail — Pen
Lynne Chen — Pen
FARMERS INSURANCE GROUP
Dustin Wiegers — Gift Bag
FISHER CONTROLS
Praveen Jella — T-Shirt
Veronique Martin — T-Shirt
GA SULLIVAN
Adam Parsons — Laundry Bag
Ryan Seematter — Laundry Bag
Dan Rader — Laundry Bag
Becky Shean — Laundry Bag
Eric Davis — Laundry Bag
Josh Stockebrand — Laundry Bag
Eric Nichol — Laundry Bag
Heidi Wade — Laundry Bag
Erin Shipley — Laundry B
Patrick Sykes — Laundry Bag
Erin Pasold — Laundry Bag
Brian Carlso — Laundry Bag
Kevin Keith — Laundry Bag
Eric Matzke — Laundry Bag
Barry Magnuson — Laundry Bag
Allen Johnson — Laundry Bag
Mary VanLeeuwen — Laundry Bag
Rochelle Hobart — Laundry Bag
Maggie Martin — Laundry Bag
Diane Hellwig — Laundry Bag
Andy Thummel — Laundry Bag
Nicole Lopez — Laundry Bag
Justin Hamilton — Laundry Bag
GARMIN
Eric Black — Hat
Jackie Ehrich — Nylon Bag
Erin Green — T-Shirt
Devin Klish — Hat
Ann Riedel — T-Shirt
Jill Rooney — T-Shirt
GE JOHNSON CONSTRUCTION
Chris Stoppel — Softsided Briefcase
Ryan Collier — Softsided Briefcase
Susan Barnes — Softsided Briefcase
Megan Mayo — Softsided Briefcase
Amy Adams — Softsided Briefcase
HORMEL
Nicole Doyle — Spam T-Shirt
Ben Hutton — Portfolio
Yue Jiao — Spam T-Shirt
Alex Sappok — Portfolio
Anna Thomas — Spam T-Shirt
HYATT REGENCY CROWN CENTER
Kim Swanson — Dinner for 2 Peppercorn Duck Club
Lucinda Goossen — Dinner for 2 Skies
IBP
Bryan Kantack — Polo Shirt
KENNEDY & COE
Jamie Regehr — Denim Shirt
Rebecca Royer — Polo Shirt
Chris Clark — Denim Shirt
Rachel Dubbert — Cross Pen Set
KOCH
Adriane Baer — Denim Shirt
Ryan Engle — Planner
MISSOURI DEPT OF TRANSPORTATION
Patty Duncan — Wildcat Sign
NEBRASKA BOILER COMPANY DIV OF AQUA-CHEM
Amanda Kramer — Hat
Julie Shannon — Hat
Megan Shumaker — Hat
TJ Dietz — Hat
Tom Redington — Hat
Sarah Grant — Hat
Anke Golde — Hat
Andrew Gaylor — Hat
Jeremiah Estes — Hat
Nadine Eckert — Hat
NESTLE
Sarah Velasquez — 9.25# Candy Bar
Damorow Jones — 9.25# Candy Bar
Nicole Harris — 9.25# Candy Bar
NEW ENGLAND FINANCIAL
Heather Dultsman — Green Duffel Bag
OLATHE PUBLIC SCHOOLS
Katie Childs — Book Bag of Stuff
David Haas — Book Bag of Stuff
RAYTHEON
Kelly Johnson — Altimeter Clock
REINKE MANUFACTURING COMPANY INC
Stephanie Lee — Jakcet
Andrew McDonnell — Jacket
SAS
Heidi Poppelreiter — Clock
SHAFER KLINE WARREN
James Metzler — Webber Grill
SPRINT
Chris Aagaard — Umbrella
Andrea Arensberg — Address Book
Jodie Barthuly — Umbrella
Matthew Bassa — Umbrella
Ben Breault — $20 Calling Card
Abrian Buroe — Umbrella
Kayla Crandall — Address Book
Travis Davis — Umbrella
Steve Degenhardt — Umbrella
Fengxia Dong — Umbrella
Michael Elder — $20 Calling Card
Laura Fiddick — Address Book
Christopher Flynn — Address Book
Shalma Gupta — Umbrella
Amanda Hageer — Address Book
Yvonne Hampton — Address Book
Kylee Hawks — Umbrella
Michelle Jones — Umbrella
Elizabeth Kelley — Umbrella
Bob O'Bryan — Umbrella
Matt Ottman — Umbrella
Sara Overstake — Umbrella
Allison Penner — Umbrella
Oliver Petri — $20 Calling Card
Jason Ritchie — Umbrella
Janelle Rosekamp — Umbrella
Kristie Scholz — $20 Calling Card
Matt Severson — Umbrella
April Spence — Umbrella
Andy Steinert — Umbrella
Gineli Tegtmeier — $20 Calling Card
Joie Tran — Umbrella
Todd Wicker — Umbrella
Keri Wills — Umbrella
Jun Zhang — Umbrella
STATE STREET
Brent Carlson — Portfolio
UNITED METHODIST YOUTHVILLE
Amy DeDonder — Portfolio
Vrushali Koranne — Portfolio
Brent Felten — Portfolio
WAL-MART
Andrew Rengel — $50 Gift Card
WALGREENS
Naomi Dewey — AM/FM Radio
WATERLOO INDUSTRIES
Jonathan Spare — Tool Chest
Eric Broce — Tool Chest
WILSON & COMPANY
Christy Crick — Knife
Tony Alt — Knife
Gina Rondash — Knife
Eric Ney — Knife
Dusty King — Knife

THANKS!

Career Fair 2000 Student Volunteers

Jennifer Adkins, Christy Agler, Veronica Aguirre, Christina Alford, Kerry Armknecht, DeAnne Avdeychik, Adriane Baer, Ben Baffa, Alicia Bailey, Lindsay Ball, Rachel Banks, Erin Barnes, Ann Barrows, Amy Baughan, Jeanna Becker, Ashley Becker, Emily Bell, Kaleb Beyer, Samuel Bieber, Natalie Blick, Lori Borthwick, Brandon Bralley, Kyle Brewer, Laura Brooks, Amber Brazle, Jessica Brown, Sarah Brown, Sara Brown, Jackie Bryant, Brent Buessing, Sabahi Bukhari, Corey Caffrey, Kara Campbell, Carolyn Campbell, Crystal Campbell, Sarah Canfield, Katie Carlson, Paul Carman, Leah Carpenter, Peter Carter, Colleen Carter, Jose Castillo, Jiayun Chen, Kelli Clark, Tony Clark, Janyce Cobbs, Michael Cochran, Michelle Compton, Ashley Coudley, Amanda Cook, Zac Cook, Kristen Corbin, Jason Crabtree, Megan Daily, Jose Davalos, Melissa Davies, Teresa Denk, Britt Desbien, Lynn Dohl, Michelle Douglass, Kristen Dreier, Megan Ebert, Zach Edgerton, Ryan Edwardson, Kim Eglish, Dustin Ehrlich, Megan Elmore, Kate Erickson, Anne Fager, Michael Faltico, Alison Felix, Brent Felten, Leslie Fitzgerald, Kari Freymuth, Wendy Friars, Jeffrey Gabrielson, Clinton Garrett, Darren Geschlen, Julie Giffen, Amanda Gigot, Shannon Gilbert, Suzie Goering, Katie Goldsberry, Elissa Good, Clint Goodman, Amanda Graham, Sarah Grant, Yvonne Hampton, Andrea Harral, Mike Hart, Shannon Hartenstein, Jason Heffner, Erik Heiar, Michaela Heiman, Elizabeth Hendrix, Justin Hendrix, Sarah Henry, Courtney Hickman, Lizzie Hight, Jimmy Hodges, Mike Hoffman, Kezia Holden, Belinda Howard, Stacey Huerter, Aaron Huerter, Melissa Israel, Julie Jacques, Kellye Janssen, Sarah Janssen, Andrea Jantzen, Joe Johnson, Marla Johnsen, David Jones, H. Christopher Jones, Meredith Kaiser, Jennifer Kampling, Stacy Kaufman, Nichole Kent, Aaron Kennedy, Brad Kingsley, Julie Kinzer, Julie Kong, Jason Krupicka, Taylor Kultala, Cory Lafferty, Alicia Lamas, Jacob Lang, Shelly Lauhhan, Amber Laughlin, Dan La Vose, Katherine Liebl, Tara Lindahl, Jessica Lincherger, Katie Lippold, Tammy Little, Sandra Lobianco, Beth Luallom, Sheila Lake, Katie MacDougall, Cali Malone, Courtney Manwarren, Jeremy Marks, Michelle Marquez, Bethany Marrevata, Melissa Masek, Tracy May, Megan Mayo, Ben McBride, Jenn McKernan, Nathaniel Megonigle, Denae Meyer, Kaylene Mick, Aaron Miller, Jessica Mink, Angie Mitchell, Mike Morrison, Stacie Morrison, Steven Muck, Melissa Nelson, Ben Nelson, Carrie Nelson, Hien Nguyen, Dingaie Ng'Ombe, Melissa Niwett, Shawna Oblander, Emanuel Oliveira, Amanda Oropeza, Josh Paen, Jarod Parker, Lance Parker, Lori Parks, Elizabeth Patterson, Kylee Peak, Shanna Pelton, Erin Peter, Leslie Peterson, Tricia Petr, Oliver Petri, Dustin Petrik, Sarah Pitz, Evelina Pierce, Eric Piper, Nyia Poffi, Julia Porter, Josh Preston, Kim Pride, Julie Purcell, Josh Paen, Tristan Pyle, Rabe Raafi, Emily Ramsey, Amy Reed, Brett Remsberg, Katie Revell, Jennifer Rice, Amy Riffel, Elizabeth Robben, Lyndae Robbins, Melanie Roben, Mewgan Robinson, Ryan Roehel, Renee Rodriguez, Sara Rojeski, Laura Rotert, Rina Rumrill, Carrie Rumrion, Ryan Sadler, Beth Sager, Alex Sappok, Angie Sattler, Megan Savage, Kristy Schneider, David Schooler, Carrie Schwartz, David Sewell, Jessica Shamet, Beth Shanholtzer, Emily Sharp, Cassandra Shive, Jenny Sholtz, Lindsey Shortz, Melissa Siefker, Larry Singer, Haley Smeltzer, Megan Smith, Ryan Snell, Mary Snyder, April Spence, Rachel Staab, Melissa Sorell, Sarah Stork, Kristin Stuberow, Emily Staggenberg, Clint Stephens, Eddie Stewart, Andrea Sturm, Lindsay Stun, Todd Stratton, Travis Stratton, Jessica Strickfaden, Katie Sturgeon, Chien-Chieh Sung, Ashley Swift, Franci Talamantez, Kelly Tauscher, Brooke Thompson, Christopher Tracy, Kerry Tredway, Jenny Tyron, Becca Umsheid, Valerie Valdivia, Carissa VanDolah, Chad Vawter, Amanda Veldkers, Derica Vetter, Luis Vicente, W. Scott Wilbert, Beth Weber, Dan Webb, Thomas Welsh, Jill Wenger, Matt Wildman, Lori Willems, Marianne Williams, Shelby Wilson, Mike Wood, Stacia Wood, Nafias Yahiya, Kelly Youssi, Julie York, Barry Young, Patty Zabkoubi, Ann Zeller, Jarret Zerbe

Career Fair 2000 Committee

Michael Beachler, College of Arts & Sciences
Diana Caldwell, Alumni Association
Jack Connaughton, K-State Student Union
Zac Cook, College of Engineering
Lucy Crowell, College of Technology & Aviation
Megan Elmore, College of Education
Barb Finnegan, College of Engineering
Tracey Fraser, Career & Employment Services
Tim Henderson, Career & Employment Services
Janet Howland, Career & Employment Services
Megan Mayo, College of Human Ecology
Cynthia McCahon, College of Business
Jackie McClaskey, College of Agriculture
Pam Monroe, College of Education
Jim Muller, Bramlage Coliseum
Karen Pence, College of Human Ecology
Allison Penner, College of Agriculture
Diane Potts, College of Architecture & Design
Brenda Schoendaller, Career & Employment Services
Marcia Schuley, Career & Employment Services
Adam Stover, College of Architecture, Planning & Design
Kelly Tauscher, College of Engineering
Roger Treaty, College of Arts & Sciences

Videographer helps football team prepare

By TRAVIS HOCHARD
Kansas State Collegian

KAREN MIKOLS/Collegian

Scott Eilert, video coordinator for the K-State football program, graduated from K-State in 1991, and worked for the Kansas City Chiefs as a videographer for a year before coming to K-State. He follows the team and films every game and practice, as well as preparing videos of upcoming opponents for the players to study.

A large part of the K-State football team's preparation involves countless hours in the weight room and grueling two-a-days in the August heat, but a significant amount of players' time also is spent watching videos. This is where Scott Eilert, video coordinator for K-State football, comes into play.

Eilert, a 1991 K-State graduate in radio and television communications, started working for K-State football in spring 1989.

"A frat buddy told me about this new coach, Bill Snyder, who would pay us $5 an hour to video tape practice, so I said, 'What the heck?'" Eilert said.

Eilert went on to work as a student assistant for three years until graduating in 1991. After graduation, he got a job as a video assistant for the Kansas City Chiefs.

"I have always been a Chiefs fan, so it was exciting to be a part of the organization," Eilert said.

Although it was a good experience, he said he felt uncomfortable with the nature of professional football.

In 1992, Eilert was hired as the video coordinator for K-State football.

"College athletics is the purest form of athletics where you can make a living," Eilert said. "The players are less concerned about money, and work their butts off simply because they love the game."

Eilert is responsible for the organization, budgeting and execution of all audio-related and video-related needs of the football department, including taping and duplication of practices and games, the creation of promotional and recruiting materials and editing opponent video tapes for game preparation.

"When I first started, I worked over 90 hours a week and even slept in my office," Eilert said. "One time, I was in this facility for 48 hours straight. I thought I was going to go nuts."

There is no off-season at the football complex — only fall, spring and other. Although he is paid on salary, Eilert works as many as 70 hours a week during much of the year.

"I put up with the hours because I love my job," Eilert said. "It's rewarding knowing that we help players prepare for the game and that it has an effect on them winning or losing. Outside of the job, it's fun to watch young players come into the program and see them develop as both a player and a person."

With the success of K-State football under Snyder, Eilert has had the opportunity to experience seven college bowls. Since 1993, he has been to the Copper, Aloha, Cotton, Fiesta, Alamo and two Holiday bowls.

"The Aloha Bowl was the hardest bowl that I worked," Eilert said. "Every day we were up at dawn and didn't finish until three or four in the afternoon."

Eilert said he attributes a large part of the success of K-State football to Snyder.

"What makes him such a great coach is not only that he is a good leader and has direction, but he shares that with his players and staff," Eilert said. "He personally provided me with direction as it relates to conducting business. I have never been so organized in my life."

Since Snyder was hired in 1989, the video department has grown into a significant part of the football program.

"When I first got here they didn't even have a video department," Eilert said. "They had a couple of video cameras and a VCR."

Now, the video department staff consists of six members including Eilert and Brian Martin, his assistant video coordinator.

"Scott is one of the best at what he does," Martin said. "He's a great guy to learn from."

The video crew, also known as the "Tenacious V," attends every practice rain or shine and travels with the team on road games.

"It gives me the opportunity to travel and see a totally different side of college football," Billy Fogo, student assistant, said.

Eilert, who is in charge of making practice run smoothly for the video staff, spends most of this time in his office editing video. Someone from the video crew runs tape to him, so he can have it on Snyder's desk by the end of practice. This allows Snyder and other coaches to scrutinize the players' performances on a daily basis.

Eilert is a founding member and executive secretary of the Collegiate Sports Video Association, founded in 1995 by nine other video coordinators in the country. The association was organized to promote his quality standards on a national level. In 1999, Eilert was voted the association's video coordinator of the year.

Colin Sorenson, student assistant, said he respects Eilert's work.

"Scott is a great guy to work for. He enjoys his work and does it with enthusiasm," Sorenson said. "You don't want to let him down. He is well-respected by everyone."

Senate proposes fee hike

By BRYAN SCRIBNER
Kansas State Collegian

Construction of a student activities center would raise student privilege fees $6.50 per semester, Student Body President Jake Worcester said.

Worcester said the proposed center would be introduced to Student Senate tonight. First readings of the bill will be Oct. 12, and final action will take place Oct. 19.

If the bill passes a studentwide vote Nov. 2, Worcester said it would have to be approved by the Kansas Board of Regents and state Legislature. The project would cost $4.8 million.

Funding for the center would be acquired through student fees, privilege fee surplus and excess university revenues. Worcester said students would be accountable for about $1.8 million and the privilege fee surplus would contribute $750,000.

Privilege fees fund student services such as Lafene Health Center and the Chester E. Peters Recreational Complex. Students enrolled in at least 12 hours were charged $257 in fees this semester.

University revenues, generated as a result of increased student enrollment, would supply about $2.1 million to the project, Keith Ratzloff, university controller, said. Since enrollment exceeded projected figures, Ratzloff said increased credit hours created a surplus.

"That money came from student fees and should be used for student needs," Ratzloff said. "We felt like it was important that money go back to student initiatives."

Construction of the three-floor center would start next fall, if the proposal is accepted in November. Worcester said it would take about two years to complete.

The new area would feature 120 cubicle spaces for student organizations. Offices would be available for about five organizations.

Come one, Come all.
Help celebrate the birthday of Jess & Kellie at the Sagon Shack
6:00 a.m.–12:00 p.m.

RECREATIONAL SERVICES
Intramurals
Student Golf
Entry Deadline
Thursday, October 5
5 p.m. at Rec. Complex
Recreational Services Office 532-6980

Marco Polo Ristorante
1. Authentic Italian Cuisine
2. Hand-Cut Steaks • Seafood
3. Weekly Specials
4. Wide Selection of Imported & Domestic Wine & Beer
5. Full Bar
11 AM - 2 PM & 4:30 PM - 9 PM
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY UNTIL 10 PM
CLOSED ON WEDNESDAYS
770-3999
Plaza West Shopping Center
3003 Anderson Ave., Suite 953

Getting Soused with Mickey Mouse
ΑΧΩ
Senior Sneak 2000
Orlando, Florida

BOOK YOUR SPRING BREAK NOW!
Cancun From $539.00 (Mexico)
Montego Bay From $589.00 (Jamaica)
Negril From $609.00 (Jamaica)
All rates based on quad bedding
NO ADD-ONS!
Prices include all taxes, flight surcharges, and handling fees!
Round Trip Airfare
Airport / Hotel Transfers
7 nights Hotel Room Accommodations
On Location Resort Staff
Daily Parties
Optional Meal Plan
AAA Travel
1203 Westloop Pl. Manhattan 776-3131 1-800 579-9470

Party on the Patio every Thursday
The Irish Way
Live Music from 7-11 p.m.
$2.50 Captain Morgan "keep the glass"
Slam a Belfast Bomber
O'Malleys
Home of the Black and Tan
Guinness, Harp, Killians Red, Fuller E.S.B., Caffreys, & Bass on Tap
$1.50 Miller Lite Pounders
K-Rock, Miller, Captain Morgan, Guinness
Live Muisc with JOKER
O'Malleys Alley
1210 Moro 537-0775
Next Week Party on the Patio Finale
Don't Miss Cry Out Live
TONIGHT OPEN - BRAND NEW O'MALLEYS
Pool, Darts Foosball
Serving O'Malleys' pies by the slice
Check out Aggieville's Newest Night Scene
Tons of Prizes

Music scene benefits from participation

Tickets for the Nov. 16 Dixie Chicks go on sale Friday.

Granted, $45.50 plus handling fees might seem a little steep for most college students' budgets. Keep in mind the fact that a group as famous as this trio is coming to Manhattan is a rare opportunity. Not only is it an opportunity to see a band that has won countless awards, but it also is a step in the right direction.

In the past, Bramlage has brought acts such as Garth Brooks, Kenny Chesney and Martina McBride to Manhattan.

They all are country singers, but that could change if there is an increase in support in these events. The Dixie Chicks is a country band that leans toward mainstream, attracting a more diverse audience than any of the other performers mentioned.

There is hope for people who do not like country. By supporting shows that bring national acts to town, there is a future that we hope will be full of other styles of music.

Going to concerts is not a cheap event, but these Bramlage tickets are going for the standard price the Chicks are charging. The best part about it is that it is right here. This is a concert that does not require driving to Kansas City, paying for gasoline, an outrageous parking price, etc.

This is a step in the right direction. If a group like the Dixie Chicks is willing to come to Manhattan, maybe more groups from different music genres soon will follow suit.

OUR VIEW is an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board and written after a majority opinion is formed. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Reed Dunn Editor in Chief

Tanner Ehmke Managing Editor

Jenn Davoren News Editor

Erin Schneweis Opinion Editor

Jamie Barrett Campus Editor

Sarah Bahari City/Government Editor

Kristen Dymacek Arts & Entertainment Editor

Derek Boss Sports Editor

Becky Wilson Copy Chief

Sara Martin Design Editor

CAMPUS fourum 395-4444

The Collegian's Campus Fourum is an anonymous call-in system that allows readers to voice their opinions on topics relevant to the publication.

Presidential debate, also known as the debate for who will have the next scandal.

■

Clint Mudrick's article yesterday was right on. It is about time that someone published the truth.

■

Call me crazy, but I would gladly spend twice the rent as those living in trailer homes and sleep better at night knowing that my home actually has a chance of surviving a tornado.

■

I see enrollment's up. I wonder if it's Hale Library or our winning football team. Hmmm.

■

This is for the person who turned my wallet in at the Rec. Thanks a lot, man. I really appreciate it.

■

I was just wondering if I am the only one that thinks that Al Gore was wearing make-up during the debate.

■

Regardless of who wins in the November election, one thing is already known: the losers are the American people.

■

Hey, professors, class begins after the bell rings, not before.

■

I don't see any difference between weed and alcohol, except alcohol kills thousands of people a year in accidents.

■

Watching the presidential debate last night made me think of a Wizard of Oz quote that is one of my favorites: "Some people without brains do an awful lot of talking."

■

Rick Wooten forgot to mention the main reason marijuana is still illegal and that is lobbying pharmaceutical companies.

Birthday raises middle-age ghosts

MIAH WHITAKER

Happy birthday to me.

Don't you just love birthdays? The thrill of celebrating your special day, the presents, the stupid-looking party hats — isn't it enough to make you want to throw something?

Today is my 25th birthday, a quarter of a century.

While I still am young compared to some of the other columnists this semester (hello, Ken), I am much older than the average traditional college student. When I compare myself to some of my part-time retail-sales coworkers, I'm practically a Methuselah.

Let's face it, I'm old.

What do I have to show for it? I'm still in college. The closest thing I have to children are a pair of ferrets. My career path has turned into a neverending detour.

I've spent the last year fighting for interviews in a job market saturated with people who have no idea what "Mork and Mindy" was.

I've met with potential employers, several years my junior, who have advised me that they would like to hire someone more in tune with the younger generation. What a difference a few years makes.

A few years ago, I couldn't get a job because I was too young and "inexperienced." Now, I'm too old and "overqualified."

I remember how embarrassed I was the first time a helpful teen-age salesperson uttered the phrase of doom, "Can I help you, ma'am?" Oh, the horror, the humanity.

Now I've made it my mission in life to spread the pain to every fresh-faced, sickeningly perky young woman who wanders into my department at work.

I'm disgusted by the fact that I am almost too old to star opposite a Hollywood leading man in his 50s or 60s.

As if it weren't enough that I don't act, and I'm not drop-dead gorgeous, now I'm almost too old to be a love interest for Harrison Ford (which is one of my lifelong dreams — isn't it everyone's?).

I think the thing that annoys me most is that I feel old. I feel like someone's great-aunt. I see people socializing at the bars, and I catch myself thinking, "Don't they have something better to do with their lives?"

